36. drowze
38. scope
39. rim
40. before
41. South American country
43. rust
45. eccentric wheel-part
48. slanderers
50. genuine
51. worthless bits
52. Hawaiian garland
53. city in Pennsylvania
54. sagacious
55. feminine name
56. debilitated

VERTICAL
1. court record minutes
2. Chicago district
3. signified
4. malt drink
5. the maple
6. injured
7. imitate
8. ship officers
9. wrongdoing
10. lairs
11. unit of work
17. small bottle cabinet
19. appendage
22. clear profit
24. Etruscan god
25. close comrade
26. macaw
28. office with emoluments and few duties
29. wooden nail
30. land-measure
32. droop
34. equivalence
37. gazed narrowly
39. efface
41. Persian fairy
42. newts
44. continent
46. operatic solo
47. lowly
48. Dutch painter
49. note in Guido's scale
50. church bench

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

M	O	T	■	S	O	A	■	S	P	R	A	T
A	R	E	■	L	A	C	■	L	I	A	N	E
T	A	L	L	E	S	T	■	E	L	I	D	E
I	L	L	E	S	T	■	R	E	A	D	■	■
N	E	S	T	S	■	F	A	T	T	E	S	T
■	■	S	E	A	R	S	■	E	R	I	E	■
M	O	P	■	S	L	I	P	S	■	S	P	A
A	R	A	S	■	T	E	S	T	S	■	■	■
N	E	T	T	L	E	D	■	R	E	L	I	T
■	■	T	E	A	R	■	C	A	N	A	D	A
B	A	I	R	N	■	F	R	I	T	T	E	R
A	M	E	N	D	■	R	E	T	■	H	A	D
R	I	S	E	S	■	A	E	S	■	E	L	Y

Average time of solution: 21 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Tiger Trackmen Here Today; Netters Victorious, 8-7

Local Tracksters Favorites In Renewal of Old Rivalry

Winding up its week of training as guest of Carolina, the Princeton university tracksters will engage the Tar Heels in a dual meet on Fetzer field cinder track at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The Princeton thin-clads have been in the Carolina camp since Monday in the renewal of an annual custom which started in 1936 and continued until the war. The Tigers engaged Duke at Durham on Wednesday and emerged with a 63 63 deadlock.

Both teams have been engaged in spirited drills on Fetzer field each afternoon this week and should be at peak strength for today's meet.

Carolina will be the slight favorite in the expected close meet today because of an advantage of squad depth. The Tigers have strong men in several events, but short depth in only the 440-yard dash and the longer distances.

The Tar Heels will rely on the field events, the hurdles and freshman sensation Bill Albans, the versatile jack-of-all-trades. Albans, a usual four or five event winner, is entered in the 100, the 220, the 220 lows and the broad jump today.

Seligman Leads Field

Bob Seligman, winner of the shot and discus at the Carolina relays last Saturday, will be Carolina's leading man in the field while Howard Cusic will lead the Tiger weightmen. Tar Heel Bob Falk, the surprising javelin expert, will be on hand to attempt to repeat his 195 ft. toss at the relays last week end.

In the hurdles Carolina will have the speedy duet of Dick Taylor and Bob Morrow in both the 120-yard highs and the 220 lows. The Princeton team will counter with captain Dana Payne as the standout in the highs and Bob Snable will take the lows.

Ron Wittreich, ace Princeton miler, and Dick Snedeker, Tiger two-miler, will be the probable favorites in their respective events. Wittreich, a 4:12.5 miler, is not expected to run into much competition while Snedeker will probably be pushed by Tar Heel Sam Magill.

Princeton May Win

The 880 may develop into another Princeton first with Bob Akely, a 1:57 half-miler, pacing the field. Frank Hooper will be the top entry for the Tar Heels.

Princeton has the cream of the material in the 440 with a strong trio of Ken Couse, Sam Howell and Joe Swerer entered. These three and Akely will pace a favored Princeton mile relay quartet.

With Albans to pace the field, Carolina will be strong in the sprints. Neither Princeton dashmen, Jim Gorter in the 100 or Dorian Fleming in the 220, is expected to top Albans.

There will be no admission charge at the meet today.

MONOGRAM MEETING

All members of the Monogram club are to meet at the clubhouse Monday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock to prepare for the party that evening with the Pi Phis.

LIFESAVING COURSE

All persons interested in taking a course in senior lifesaving this quarter meet in room 304 Woollen gym Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Wildcats Triumph Over Henderson For Second Win

Chapel Hill high school won its second straight baseball game of the season yesterday afternoon by blanking the Henderson nine on the Lumberjacks' home field, 8-0.

Joe Gravitt turned the trick for the Wildcats, giving up only six hits during the contest while his mates were blasting Henderson hurler Overton for nine. Chapel Hill also led in the error department, however, with four as compared to the home team's single miscue.

Ivalee Hill was the top Wildcat batsman with two safeties in three trips to the plate. Collier Hill contributed a double to the Chapel Hill cause.

Score by innings:

Chapel Hill	1	4	0	0	1	1	1	—	8
Henderson	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—	0

Batteries: Gravitt and Maultsby by; Overton and Wrenn.

Braves Rumored To Be Troubled With Dissension

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 8.—(UP)—A $200 fine slapped on outfielder Jim Russell for being AWOL appeared today to be the springboard for charges that dissension rips the Boston Braves.

Russell denies that he was ever fined, but a source very close to the team insisted that the fine was levied because the angular Pennsylvanian came in after hours at the Bradenton, Fla., spring training camp.

That fine apparently was the spark which set off the charges of dissension, but to just what extent these charges are true remained in doubt.

Columnist Dave Egan of the Boston Record burst the story out into the open with a column saying the Braves were "on the verge of open revolt against (Manager) Billy Southworth and his policies."

Egan said that pitcher Warren Spahn wanted to be traded, that Johnny Sain was no longer on speaking terms with Southworth, that Russell had been fined and that Clubhouse Custodian George Young had been fired.

As soon as those reports hit the Braves team, just as it arrived here from Savannah, Ga., for an exhibition game, the denials started flying.

Southworth headed the list, stoutly insisting that there was not a word of truth in the reports. Spahn termed it all "ridiculous." Sain laughed and said, "I hardly speak to anyone. That's why they call me 'Silent John.' But I'm not mad at anyone." And Russell said he was never fined.

A highly trusted source very close to the club maintained that the Russell fine was levied, but that the dissension claims were greatly exaggerated.

Today's Sports

Track

Varsity track—Carolina vs Princeton on Fetzer field at 2 o'clock.

Football Practice

Spring football scrimmage will begin around 10 o'clock this morning at Kenan stadium. Game conditions will be simulated.

Duke Stick Team Defeats Carolina By Score of 15-3

By Wuff Newell

Everybody got into the game yesterday afternoon when Carolina's lacrosse team played the freshmen squad from Duke in a practice game. The score, 15-3 in favor of Duke, does not tell the whole story, for the local team was composed not of first string talent, but of everyone on the squad from the lowliest freshman to the upperclassmen, who for one reason or another are ineligible for varsity competition.

Duke won the game, but the pride and joy of the fans was Jesse Greenbaum, star swimmer turned lacrosse player. Greenbaum did just about everything. He scored two of the Tar Heels three goals and his broken field running was reminescent of one Charlie Justice who frequently thrills fans with the same sort of galloping on the gridiron.

Once the stickman's Choo Choo scooped up the ball, he did nothing less than advance it to within scoring position, only to lose possession of it because of the lack of experience on the part of his cohorts.

During most of the first quarter—in fact, during most of the game—the Blue Devils ran circles around the Tar Heels. The visitors were superior not so much in ability as in experience, however, for most of their goals were made not by particularly good plays but by the inability of the defense to keep them away from the net.

Those who see only the score will probably hang their heads and say "Poor Tar Heels." But those who saw the contest know that nothing short of a miracle would have put the Tar Heels ahead. The Carolina team is still ragged, but is improving consistently. The Duke squad, on the other hand, has been playing the game for some time.

In the past two weeks the stickmen have shown vast improvement, and fans who have followed them since their first game have been well-pleased with the advancement they have made.

Tar Heels Defeat Williams For Season's Eighth Straight

By Joe Cherry

After getting off to a fast start, Carolina's netmen were given their biggest scare of the season before edging out a fighting Williams college team, 8-7, yesterday in a four-hour meet on the home courts.

The Tar Heels defeated the Williams outfit, 12-2, on Thursday in the first contest of their two meet series, but yesterday's competition was much more lively, with the visitors throwing a real scare into the locals.

Vic Seixas and Clark Taylor, the Tar Heel's old reliables, came through as expected, with Taylor annexing a hard-fought 6-3, 6-4 match over Stu Robinson, top ranking Williams racketman. Seixas, displaying his usual fine form, stopped Fred Scribner, 6-1, 6-2. The Carolina ace used a fine assortment of drop shots, volleys, and overhead smashes in winning his eighth straight singles match of the year.

In the third match, Schaff put the visitors back in the meet by beating Duke Wilder, 6-2, 6-4. Stan Gruner came out on top over Bud Palmer, 6-2, 6-4. Paul Kenan dropped a close 3-6, 6-3, 6-0 contest to Williams' Pete Thurber in the fourth contest of the afternoon.

Jim Winstead outlasted Joe Takamine in one of the tightest matches of the day, 12-10, 8-6, in the final top six contests. The weak reserve strength of the Tar Heels almost resulted in their downfall, with the visitors sweeping three of the four extra matches.

The Summary:

Singles: Taylor (C) defeated Robinson, 6-3, 6-4; Seixas (C) defeated Scribner, 6-1, 6-2; Schaaf (W) defeated Wilder, 6-2, 6-4; Gruner (C) defeated Palmer, 6-2, 6-1; Thurber (W) defeated Kenan, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0; Winstead (C) defeated Takamine, 12-10, 8-6; Dameron (C) defeated Treman, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5; Kent (W) defeated Kerdasher, 7-5, 7-5; Frankenheimer (W) defeated Bowman, 6-3, 6-2; Riegel (W) won over Turner by default.

Doubles: Taylor-Rice (C) defeated Scribner-Schaaf, 7-5, 6-1; Seixas-Wilder (C) defeated Robinson-Thurber, 6-1, 6-1; Gruner-Winstead (C) defeated Treman-Palmer, 6-2, 6-1; Takamine-Riegel (W) defeated Dameron-Kerdasher, 6-2, 3-6, 6-1; Kent-Frankenheimer (W) defeated Bowman-Kenan, 6-3, 6-2.

Big Four Opens

Big Four baseball competition gets under way this afternoon in Duke park in Durham when the Blue Devils take on the power-laden Wake Forest Deacons in the league inaugural.

Off of their showing thus far this season, the Demon Deacs have been rated a strong favorite to cop both the Big Four and Southern conference titles, both of which were won by Carolina last year.

The Duke hurler has yet to be announced for today's contest, but the 3:15 game time will probably find Harry Nicholas on the mound for the Deacs.

Keiser, Mangrum Tied In Masters'

Both Golfers Post 36-Hole Totals of 143 As Augusta Tourney Reaches Halfway Mark

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8—(UP)—Herman Keiser and Lloyd Mangrum, both from greater Chicago, outsmarted a stiff wind with their putters today and shared the lead in the Masters Golf tournament with 36-hole totals of 143.

Keiser, requiring only 27 putts, scrambled home in 68 today in his biggest bid for a major title since he won the Masters in 1946.

Mangrum, with a 69 in the first round, had his troubles today but began making remarkable recoveries on the back nine to score a 74 for the circuit. He threaded a 40-foot putt into the cup on his last hole to tie Keiser at 143.

They both were one under par at the tourney's half-way mark and one stroke ahead of young Johnny Palmer of Badin, who scored a 71 to go with his first day 73.

Haefner Records 145

In the 145 bracket were Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, Joe Kirkwood, Jr., of Hollywood, Cal., twice former champion Byron Nelson of Roanoke, Tex., Clayton Haefner of Charlotte, and Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, the 3-1 choice before the shooting started, had a 77 today on top of a 76 for a 153 total. He appeared hopelessly out of the title picture.

The wind blew in gusts up to 45 miles an hour across the lush acres of the Augusta National course and many a tee shot went into the woods, but Keiser kept his fairly well down the middle and on the greens he was poison.

"I wish they played every tournament on greens like these," he said.

Birdies First Hole

Keiser, who travels out of St. Andrews, Ill., birdied the very first hole with a 30-foot putt. He had a 15-footer on the 11th and an eight-footer on the 15th. He had two birdies and no bogeys on the first nine for a 34 and three birdies against one bogey on the backside.

Keiser had a lean winter on the tournament circuit, which he attributed to arthritis in his wrist. He said that Cary Middlecoff's father put him on an aspirin and soda diet and the arthritis has vanished. He had a first round score of 75, three over par, but his 68 today was four under.

Mangrum complained that he did everything wrong but his putter enabled him to bound back with two birdies on the back nine to post a respectable round of 74.

Mangrum overshot four greens as the wind caught hold of his iron shots but in addition to his 40-foot recovery putt on the 18th, he sank another beauty to birdie the 13th. He took an extra stroke on the 10th and 17th holes and had two bogeys with no offsetting birdies on the front nine.

AUTO PARTS
NEW . USED . REBUILT
Open Saturday Afternoon And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

For The NEWEST FASHIONS in MENS CLOTHING visit
THE Sport SHOP
120 E. MAIN ST.
Durham

DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL BLDV
TODAY
Hollywood Barndance
With Ernest Tubbs
—also—
Cartoon—"More On Than Off"
2 Shows Nightly—7:15 & 9:15

SALE—½ PRICE—SALE
COLUMBIA RECORDS
Every 78 R. P. M. Record In Our Huge Stock Reduced From 20 – 50%
$29.95 Columbia L. P. Attachments —Our Price $10.95
ABERNETHY'S BOOKSHOP

UNIVERSAL-INTERNATIONAL presents
FROM THE STUDIO THAT GAVE YOU "CANYON PASSAGE" Ann BLYTH
Howard DUFF
George BRENT
Zane Grey's RED CANYON
color by Technicolor
with EDGAR BUCHANAN
JANE DARWELL
Screenplay by MAURICE GERAGHTY
Based on the Novel "Wildfire" by ZANE GREY
Spectacularly filmed in the outdoor glory of the Rockies!
TODAY
CAROLINA

Always Buy CHESTERFIELD
"There is nothing like a MILD, cool smoke – that's why I smoke Chesterfields."
Fred Mac Murray
STARRING IN
"FAMILY HONEYMOON"
A UNIVERSAL-INTERNATIONAL PRODUCTION
The TOP MEN of AMERICA'S SPORTS smoke CHESTERFIELD
SID GORDON says . . .
"Sure they make a hit with me— they're better-tasting and MILDER, MUCH-MILDER . . . it's MY cigarette."
MAKE YOURS THE MILDER CIGARETTE . . . They Satisfy
MORE COLLEGE STUDENTS SMOKE CHESTERFIELDS THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE
BY LATEST NATIONAL SURVEY
Copyright 1949, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

U.S. Chinese Are Losing Old Family Life Traits

Pointing out that there are approximately 40,000 native born Chinese in the United States and approximately 37,000 foreign-born, Dr. Rose Hum Lee, associate professor of sociology in Roosevelt college, Chicago, said last night that the Chinese associations in America for conserving family life are gradually losing membership as the Chinese adopt more and more of this country's customs and cultures.

"Three types of families are now present the ones with foreign-born parents with mixed heritage and native born," she explained. As the native-born group exceeds the other two in population, will find members decreasing financial support of communities and their functions transferred to new world agencies.

It is expected that the largest study will deal more about delinquency among Chinese families, delinquency trends and crimes as the families become more a part of the larger society of this country," she declared.

Dr. Lee lectured last night at the Graham Memorial conference on Marriage and the Family because said at the University under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Hoagland Groves. Sessions will continue through this afternoon.

Other speakers yesterday included the Rev. Russell Dicks of the Duke university School of Religion and Dr. Bingham Dai, cultural analyst and lecturer in the Duke university School of Medicine.

Presiding was Prof. Charles P. Creasman of the Wittenberg college sociology department.

Seminar groups on various aspects of marriage and family counseling will continue today, as well as a Marriage Counseling Workshop and a book review.

Board to Discuss Education School At Meeting Here

The [illegible] of the [illegible] organized [illegible] of the University School of Education [illegible] will meet here [illegible] with the School and the reorganization [illegible]

In reorganizing the School last year, it replaces the Department of Education and [illegible] board, the school now [illegible] policies of the [illegible]

Former President Frank P. Graham [illegible] members to serve: Drs. O. M. Cornwell, J. Maxie Gaither, W. Carson Ryan, H. Arnold Perry, W. H. Plemmons, M. A. Bullard, K. Rutledge, George Stoney, John Couch, and J. C. Sitterson. These men represent various divisions and organizations in the University.

The board will hold its first meeting during the [illegible] and will [illegible]

Officers Elected In Phi Mu Alpha

Hal [illegible] Andrews, [illegible] from Durham, was elected president of the Alpha Rho chapter of Phi Mu Alpha national music fraternity at a meeting this week.

Other officers chosen to serve for this year are as follows: vice-president Jim Moore, Reidsville; secretary Bob MacDonald, Little Rock, S. C.; treasurer Clay Coop, Raleigh; historian, Henry Dilquist, Asheville; alumni secretary Dick Conrad, Greensboro; and warden Cliff Doll, South Orange, N. J.

ONE OF THE FEW TO SURVIVE the St. Anthony's hospital fire at Effingham, Ill., that claimed the lives of 66 persons, Mrs. June Aderman gazes proudly on her infant son, born one hour after she was rescued from the flaming structure. In charge of the hospital's nursery, Nurse Fern Riley (right), 23, perished in the flames when she refused to desert the 13 newborn infants entrusted to her care.

Learning by Mail

Some Students Escape Fuss, Bother of Ornery Professors

By Ann Sawyer

The University of North Carolina has many students who never set foot on campus. They are the students who receive their assignments in the mail instead of sitting in class; they are the students who never have to face the professor when he gets up on the wrong side of bed—they are the students in the Bureau of Correspondence Instruction.

The bureau, which is under the Extension division, has students in [illegible] and in every state in the Union. Mrs. Mary L. Cobb, who is in charge of the bureau, explained that a student is given 18 months in which to complete a course and in any particular year he or she may study what students are taking the courses; therefore the bureau takes a periodic count of its students. For the past year, according to Miss Cobb, 1662 students were enrolled in 1329 courses.

In 1942 the bureau became a member of the United States Armed Forces institute and has since that time had a total enrollment of 1015 servicemen. The enrollment in 1945-1946 was extremely heavy. Then it dropped but is picking up now, according to Miss Cobb. The servicemen students are located all around the world—Japan, Germany, Alaska, Greenland.

Only recently the Bureau received a letter from William J. Miller, who is aboard the destroyer USS Dyess in the Atlantic fleet, telling of an essay contest he had entered. Clippings enclosed announced Miller the winner of $250 in the contest. Miller, who had been at the University during the war with the NROTC, is at present taking a course in English from the bureau. Miller won second prize with the essay "The Intangible Factor That Causes Man to Re-enlist."

Miss Cobb said: "It is one of the many privileges of a correspondence degree credit while in the service, and of course we are pleased that as a result of the work done in the bureau he has won out in a contest."

– Advisers –

Continued [illegible] Emmett Mabry, Hubbert Cole, Matthews, Betty McMorris, Jean Minnow, Judy Nunnally and Ruth Whalen.

Student advisers [illegible] Smith dormitory are Doris Bell Anderson, Queen Cooper, Margaret Lewis, Nancy Cline and Alice Watkins.

Girls now living in Annex will be used in other dormitories include Charleen Greer, Polly Rudolph and Jean Ogburn.

BSU To Motor To WC Party

Members of the Carolina Baptist Student union will leave here at 6:15 tonight to attend a party given [illegible] Women's college B. S. U. at their student center. Transportation for all interested students will be provided. The group will meet in front of the Baptist church and will return that same evening.

Joint Recital Set Here on Wednesday

A joint recital will be presented Wednesday evening at 8:30 in Hill hall by Hal [illegible] Andrews, pianist, and Sam G[illegible] baritone. Assisting [illegible] P. Stedman, harp; Gretchen Mueller, [illegible] and Mr. Dorian M[illegible] Peek.

The Gui[illegible] Fine Arts guild, once an organization of 400 [illegible] members, has only 18 members [illegible] the Civil War by Union army veterans and was the first veterans' group ever organized in the South.

'Make Me A Keeng?'

Rita Will Be 'Loffed' by Fans After Marriage, Says Father

HOLLYWOOD, April 6— (AP)—Rita Hayworth's father said today that if Rita marries her Prince Aly Khan the gossips will stop criticizing her "around-the-world-romance and [illegible] her as much as ever.

"Sure I know they call [illegible] 'bad woman,'" Eduardo Cansino shrugged. "But see she marries thees Aly she weel be a princess—weeth meellions and meellions of dollars.

"And everybody weel [illegible] her again."

But even now with the Prince legally free of his blonde wife and eager to marry the madcap movie queen, her dapper Spanish father isn't sure she will.

"Who knows?" the dark-eyed dancing master said. "Lots of theengs can happen before then. She's time [illegible] close to marrying, [illegible] wans and changes her mind.

"So far [illegible] looks like she might do it [illegible] time. But well [illegible] for [illegible] and not [illegible] Rita [illegible] maybe not. We [illegible]

"You know you cannot trust thees princes," he added. "I [illegible] a time that Rita was [illegible] a dark-eyed Spanish beauty with hair as black as his own.

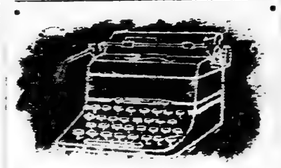
"I have heard them her once or twice. She say she wants to get married [illegible] month. But she couldn't name any date or say who's to be.

She [illegible] not [illegible] me either.

Cansino said he wasn't worried about the [illegible] Rita's been causing [illegible] since she started romancing with the prince from Mexico [illegible] the French Riviera. He [illegible] trunks and is upset much.

She [illegible] he said [illegible] The [illegible] Rita [illegible] the same. She's [illegible] Eddie [illegible] about [illegible] and—[illegible]

Freshmen to Meet WC Dates at 7:45



Betsy Ross, freshman social chairman, announced that freshman men who signed up for dates from Woman's college for tonight's dance should be in the Woollen gym lobby at 7:45.

Faculty Members To Address NCEA

A number of the Univer[illegible] are attending the [illegible] ing of the North Ca[illegible] ation, A[illegible] Asheville [illegible]

Dean Guy B. [illegible] School of Educa[illegible] a session of the D[illegible] Association [illegible] tion and [illegible] conference [illegible] for the State [illegible] tion.

Others appearing [illegible] gram include Dr. H. A[illegible] Charles M. Cam[illegible] Ellis, Dr. W. H. [illegible] W. E. Rosenstengel, [illegible] F. Milne, [illegible] tension division, and [illegible] ray, graduate assistant [illegible] department of physics [illegible] tion, and Dr. Kurt [illegible]

Chic secretarial training gives college women "career-world" start toward a satisfying business career. For illustrated catalog write College Course Dean.

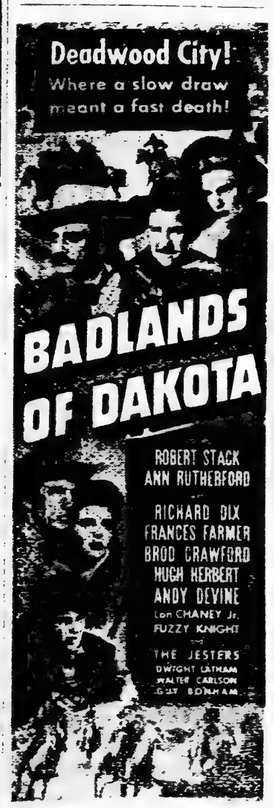
KATHARINE GIBBS

[illegible] Park Ave., NEW YORK 17 · 90 Marlborough St., BOSTON 16
[illegible] S. Wacker Dr., CHICAGO · 155 Angell St., PROVIDENCE 6

Rare Opportunity!
STUDY . . . TRAVEL
IN SPAIN
Castilian Group . Andalusian Group
Basque-Catalan Group
65 DAYS $975.00
Departures June 29 to July 2
Sponsored by:
UNIVERSITY of MADRID
For Descriptive Folder Write:
Spanish Student Tours
500 Fifth Ave., N. Y. 18, N. Y.

Astor
THEATRE
MAIN ST. — DURHAM
FRI & SAT
CLAUDE RAINS
—AS—
"THE INVISIBLE MAN"
Another Hit From
H. G. WELLS
THE INVISIBLE MAN RETURNS
SIR CEDRIC HARDWICKE
VINCENT PRICE
NAN GR[illegible]
COLOR CARTOON
"Hard Boiled Egg[illegible]

Astor
THEATRE—DURHAM, N. C.
SUNDAY ONLY—2-4-&-9



Harvey's Cafeteria
DURHAM
for evening meals of excellence
BANQUET SERVICE
No Charge For Banquet Room — —
Reserved by Appointment
2 Cafeteria Serving Counters

MEET AT THE —
MERCURY CLUB
★ No Cover Charge Or Minimum
★ Plenty Of Parking Space ★ Completely New ★ Casual Atmosphere
Bock Beer Sandwiches
Reservations Are Now Open For Spring Parties.
See Us For A Good Rate.
MERCURY CLUB
"Your Only Night Spot Operated By Students For Students"
3 MILES OUT ON GREENSBORO HIGHWAY

CAROLINA
LATE SHOW TONIGHT
SUNDAY
MONDAY

Deadwood City!
Where a slow draw meant a fast death!

TODAY
VILLAGE

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE 8B

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 8BB

HELP WANTED 8

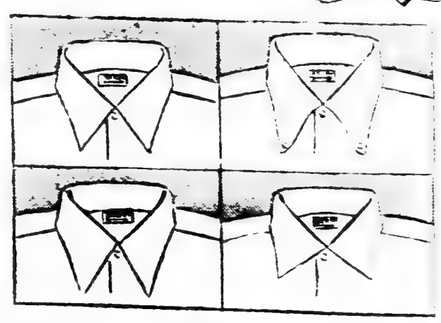
LOST 1B

WANTED TO RENT 24B

A NOTE OF THANKS

The Carrboro Pure Oil Service Station and Garage, owned and operated by Thomas Evans and Mack Poole, wishes to express to all its friends and patrons sincere appreciation for their warm friendship and loyal patronage. Since we began with our new product and in our new establishment a little over a year ago, we have exceeded by far our expectations; in March we reached our highest peak thus far. It has been impossible, we feel, to express our appreciation to each individual, but we wish in this way to thank you and to promise you our best possible service in the future. We are now prepared to give you more efficient service — from the gas tank to the rebuilding of your car motor. Call on us at any time if we can be of service to you. The number is 4167 — dial it often.

Please accept this as our personal message to you. We guarantee our service just as Pure Oil guarantees their products.



CARRBORO PURE OIL STATION

Thomas Evans & Mack Poole
Proprietors

a favorite Easter Habit!

. . . for many an Easter, college men have favored the fine fit and good looks of

Arrow White Shirts

Both oxfords and broadcloths in your preferred collar styles are now available at your Arrow dealer's. See him today for an Arrow white shirt and Arrow tie. Shirts $3.65 up, Ties $1.00 up.

ARROW
SHIRTS and TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

YOUR FAVORITE EASTER HABIT IN CHAPEL HILL IS Arrow White Shirts
at
BERMAN'S DEPARTMENT STORE

AL CAPP
L'il Abner

It's that smooth feeling — brew — at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon MILTON CANIFF

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
8-31-49

EDITORIALS

Challenge to Willie
Letter to Staff
Plans for Show

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Fair and mild.

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, APRIL 10, 7949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 139

AT WORK at his Chapel Hill studio, Louis Segovia, nationally famous neo-classical sculptor, is pictured above. Segovia is presently doing a bust of Thomas Wolfe famous author and Uuiversity alumnus. Segovia is known for his busts of such people of G. B. Shaw, Pope Benedict XV and Archibald Henderson. The Wolf bust will be the first visible memorial to the Asheville writer on the campus.

Shaw Cards To Help Make Bust Of Wolfe

By Russell T. Clay

George Bernard Shaw, noted Irish playwright, will help make possible a bust of Thomas Wolfe, late Asheville author and Carolina graduate.

The sculptor will be Louis Segovia, neo-classical artist here at the University, but Shaw will unknowingly and indirectly assist for the quality of the Wolfe bust will be dependent to a great extend on the sale of picture postal cards of a bust of Shaw sculptured by Segovia. The sale will begin in a day or two.

Eighty per cent of the proceeds from this and subsequent issues of cards will go into the making of the Wolfe bust, while the remaining 20 per cent will be donated to some department of the school.

The Shaw card is to Segovia's knowledge the first issued of the famous author and wit. Its beauty lies in the simple and naked relief of the head—one part of the body which is a study in itself.

Art postal cards are designed to further art appreciation and to provide the artist with necessary materials. The price is 10 cents, and Segovia will autograph any card from 12 o'clock to 7 o'clock daily in his studio, Quonset 26.

Segovia's decision to do a bust of Wolfe was prompted by a recent suggestion of Dr. Mary C. Engstrom of the English department.

Dr. Engstrom said that Chapel Hill is apparently forgetting Wolfe, one of its most famous alumni, and made specific recommendations for correcting the negligence. The recently formed Tom Wolfe club will aid in this program.

Except for an obscure picture or two, there is no indication on campus that Wolfe ever went to school here. An enormous collection of Wolfe manuscripts and other material, the gift of William B. Wisdom, wealthy Texan, now rests in the Houghton Rare Book library at Harvard university.

It is somewhat ironical that in Wolfe's last novel is found the following passage: "This is man, . . . he lets his poets die." Wolfe admirers are determined to prove otherwise, and the Segovia portraithead should provide an incentive to a worthy project.

For an artist who has captured likenesses of such men as Pope Benedict XV (completed a few years after the Pope's death), George Bernard Shaw, and Archibald Henderson, Segovia is both grateful and unassuming.

The Shaw Portrait-head, the sculptor's second work, was ordered by Brentano's, New York City, in 1933, to sponsor the sale of a biography of Shaw written by Dr. Archibald Henderson, retired Kenan professor of mathematics. It is now owned by the University, and is the gift of Dr. Henderson.

Upon receipt of the Shaw bust, Dr. Henderson wrote Segovia, "One might well place it between Jacob Epstein and Jo Davidson and recognize at once many of the same traits, features, and characteristics."

Dr. Henderson himself was Segovia's third subject. "Archibald Henderson: The New Crichton", a biography now on sale in a limited first edition and edited by Samuel S. Hood, contains an illustration of the Henderson bust.

Senator Frank P. Graham, Dr. Henderson, Chancellor R. B. House, Dr. S. E. Leavitt, Wolfe, and Norman Cordon will be members of a series of Segovia busts which will eventually include as many as 10 or 12 figures.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

TODAY

8:00 & 10:00—CATHOLIC Mass. Gerrard hall.

7:15 & 10:00—LENTEN Services. Holy Communion. Chapel of the Cross.

2:00—GREATER University Student Council. Roland Parker 1, GM.

3:00—DANCE Group. Roland Parker 2, 3, GM.

4:00—COSMOPOLITAN Club. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

4:30—UNIVERSITY Hour. WNAO, Raleigh. rard hall.

7:00—ALPHA Phi Omega. Roland Parker 3, GM.

8:00—CAROLINA Political Union. Grail room, GM.

TOMORROW

7:15 10:00—LENTEN Services. Holy Communion Chapel of the Cross.

1:00—NOON Watch. Gerrard hall.

4:00—YOUNG Democrats. Election of officers. Roland Parker 2, GM.

5:00—APO Pledges. Roland Parker 3, GM.

6:00—MEN'S Interdormitory council. Roland Parker 3, GM.

7:00—SIGMA Kappa Epsilon. Grail room, GM.

7:30—KARL Marx Literary society. Roland Parker 2 GM.

7:30—NAVAL Reserve air unit. NROTC annex.

8:00—LECTURE. Lewis Mumford will speak on "Problems of Regional Administration." 208 Caldwell.

8:00—JOINT Meeting of Philological club and Erasmus club. Dr. Tom Peete Cross will speak on "Some Neglected Aspects of Welsh Romanticism." University house, Durham.

Acquaint Meet Scheduled by Y Tomorrow Night

The third and final meeting in the series that the YMCA has been holding to acquaint members and future members with the Y will be held tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the Y building.

In the previous two meetings only about 60 students have been present, Bob Barrus, associate secretary of the YMCA, said, that he hoped that many more will be present at the Monday night meeting. The meeting aren't just for Y members, he said, they are also for persons who are interested and wish to know what the Y is and what it is doing. From the people who attend these meetings, whether they are present members are not, will be drawn the leaders in the Y for the coming year, Barrus said.

At the first meeting the group discussed background and functions of the YMCA, what it has done in the past, and what it is doing now on the campus.

The second meeting was taken up with an evaluation and a discussion of the function of this years program.

At tomorrow's meeting an outline will be drawn up for the coming year's program in light of the past two discussions and in relation to interests of those who will be taking part in the program.

CPU to Discuss New Pact Tonight

The Carolina Political union will discuss the Atlantic Pact tonight at its regular Sunday night meeting at 8 o'clock in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial. Donald Whitehead, professor of political science has been invited to participate in the discussion. Hans Freistadt has also been invited to present his views on the subject. All members and interested persons are urged to attend.

Herb Alexander, chairman of the CPU, announced that there are several vacancies for membership in the Union and that those interested can obtain applications at the meeting Sunday night or at the YMCA desk.

Chicago Professor Philogians' Guest

The Philogical Club will meet with the Erasmus club of Duke, tomorrow at 8 o'clock in the University house, 403 West Chapel Hill street in Durham, George R. Coffman, president, announced yesterday.

At the meeting Prof. Tom P. Cross, professor of English and comparative literature at the University of Chicago, will read a paper on "Some Neglected Aspects of Welsch Romanticism."

Car Collision Injures Eight In Carrboro

Law Students Are Among Casualties

A two-car collision at the junction of the Hillsboro and Greensboro highways in west Carrboro injured eight persons last night. Two of those hurt were University law students.

The accident occurred at 8:05 when a car supposedly driven by law student Horton Rountree ran head-on-into another driven by Grady Austin, a Negro. Rountree was coming out of the Hillsboro highway, while Austin was coming from Carrboro. Both cars were severely damaged.

In Rountree's auto were his wife, young child, and law student Ernest Parker and his fiancee. There were four in Austin's car.

Included among those injured were Rountree, who was admitted to the University infirmary for serious leg bruises; Mrs. Rountree, treated for head and foot injuries; Parker, who had lacerations, Hetter Edwards, Negro, treated for facial lacerations, Austin and another unidentified Negro for minor injuries.

Parker's fiancee, who was also unidentified, was taken to Watt's hospital in Durham to be treated for severe leg bruises. The Rountree infant was not injured.

Carrboro police officer J. H. Haithcock investigated the wreck. No charges were filed last night, although Haithcock and other witnesses said the car which Rountree was allegedly driving failed to stop for the sign at the junction.

Big Crowd Packs UVA House Party

The largest crowd this quarter jammed the University Veterans association clubhouse Friday night at the "On-the-House-Party" sponsored by the UVA.

Everything at the concession booth, including ice cream, cokes, and cigarettes was given to members and their guests without charge.

Entertainment was furnished by the KA Kadoolers band composed of Bob Lindsay, on the trombone; Vernon Suitt, piano; Bob Kirby, drum; Art Jones, guitar; Harry Northrup, tub bass; John Cooper, saxaphone; and Gil Beam, trumpet.

Short skits were presented by Pete Strader and John W. McReynolds. Grey Adams served as master of ceremonies.

Cosmopolitan Club To Hear Gibbian

Victor Gibbian, graduate student in the political science department, will address the Cosmopolitan club at its regular meeting this afternoon.

Gibbian will speak on the Virgin Islands. He is a native of the islands and well-versed in their culture.

The meeting will begin at 4 o'clock and the public is invited to attend. It will be held in Graham Memorial.

Naval Reserve Unit To Hear Henderson

Lt. R. E. Simpson, USNR, announced yesterday that the Naval Reserve Air Unit will hold its regular meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 in the NROTC annex.

Lt. H. K. Henderson will give an address on naval fleet operations and organizational planning and aviation will also be discussed.

Expense Accounts Are Due Monday

All candidates in the runoff election Tuesday must turn in their expense accounts by 6 o'clock Monday night, Al Winn, chairman of the Elections board said yesterday.

Coeds should turn in their accounts to Eleanor DeGrange at 110 Smith and men should submit theirs to Winn in 8 Steele, the chairman said.

TED YOUNG, candidate for at-large seat on the Student council in Tuesday's run-off. Young, from Florence, S. C., led the field of nine condidates in last Tuesday's general election.

Miller Is Named To Presidency Of Wolfe Club

Blanton Miller, rising senior from Boone, was named temporary chairman of the Thomas Wolfe club at an organizational meeting Thursday night.

Dr. Mary Claire Engstrom, adviser to the club, discussed recent discoveries which she had made in Chapel Hill on Wolfe's life here. She pointed out that a "Thomas Wolfe Memorial Prize in Creative Writing" was available. The prize is awarded, however, to students who have shown unusual ability in the field.

Dr. Engstrom also discussed plans for a Wolfe exhibit which has been planned in the Library next month in connection with the twentieth anniversary of the publishing of "Look Homeward, Angel," Wolfe's first novel.

The theme of the exhibition will be built around the author's years in Chapel Hill.

Louis Segovia, famous sculptor who is preparing to begin work on a bust of Wolfe, was present and discussed his plans for the work.

The group decided to meet twice a month on Wednesday nights. The programs will begin at 9 o'clock. Plans are being made at the present time to invite several Wolfe scholars throughout the state to speak here. Any interested students, faculty members or townspeople are invited to attend the club meetings.

Democrat Elections To Be Held Monday

The election of Young Democrats club officers which was scheduled for last week will be held in Graham Memorial Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Membership in the club is not required for attendance.

Musi cProgram Slated Tonight Under Stars

Group Plans Sings On Alternate Weeks

Hoping for fair weather, the University club will present "Music Under the Stars," an informal program of recorded popular and classical music, from 9 to 11 o'clock tonight in the Forest theater.

Originally scheduled to begin last Sunday night, the program had to be cancelled because of rain. If it rains tonight there will be no program.

The program is a revival of the same type of entertainment which attained popularity here before the war. At that time the programs were presented in Kenan stadium, and were one of the most popular events of the spring and summer season.

Phil Couch, who last year managed recorded concerts in Graham Memorial, will play the records which are drawn from his own collection and that of Graham Memorial, co-sponsor of the program.

Tonight's program will include recordings of works by such classical composers as Wagner, Tschaikovsky, Ravel, Debussy, Ibert, and Mozart. Along the popular vein, there will be Kostelanetz arrangements of works by George Gershwin and Richard Rodgers.

Next week, and every alternate Sunday, The University club will present the "Campus Sing," a program of community sings, and skits presented by various campus organizations.

Mumford Slated To Address UWF

Lewis Mumford, who was recently appointed a member of the National Advisery board of the United World Federalists, will be a guest at a luncheon meeting of the UWF tomorrow at 1 o'clock in the Carolina Inn, Fred Weaver, president, said yesterday.

Mumford has been engaged for lectures at the University on May 3 by the Chapel Hill chapter of the United World Federalists. At that time he will discuss "The Foundations of World Order."

Tarnation Editor Desires Staffers

Newly-elected Tarnation editor Tom Kerr put out a call for new staff members yesterday.

Kerr asked that all those who are interested in working on the humor magazine report to the publication's office downstairs in Graham Memorial tomorrow between 3 and 5 o'clock.

on the

Political Front

with Charles McCorkle

THINGS DON'T LOOK SO GOOD FOR the Student party in Tuesday's run-off election. Not only has the Campus party swung its support behind Dick Gordon and Ted Leonard for the presidency and vice-presidency, but the University party, through Leonard has promised to support CP candidates against SP candidates for legislature seats, where the UP has no one in the race.

So Bill Mackie and Al Lowenstein are now running on the SP ticket against Gordon and Leonard as doubly-endorsed candidates. And we all know what happened to John Sanders when he tried to buck a UP-CP combination in his race for secretary-treasurer.

Mackie, it is true, ran first in the first balloting, and Lowenstein didn't run too far behind Leonard. So what the SP boys have to figure out is how many votes they can pick up between now and day after tomorrow, and how many of the Campus party votes will actually go to the UP candidates. The vote in the CP meeting to support Gordon and Leonard was 15 to 9—hardly a true representation of the whole Campus party. And as we mentioned yesterday, at least one member of the party resigned after the meeting and a number more refused to back the UP candidates.

The weather on Tuesday may be the deciding factor in the election. If we have another rainy day like we did last week, the UP stands a good chance of sweeping the election. If it is a clear, warm day, you can depend on a fight at the polls, because there will probably be a large turn-out, even though the vote for run-offs around here has a reputation for being exceedingly small.

Ye'll know, at any rate, by the time the Daily Tar Heel goes to press Tuesday night or Wednesday morning, just who will be the next president and vice-president of the student body.

Training Program Planned By Coeds

NEW YORK STATE supreme court justice Meier Steinbrink presents President Truman with America's Legacy medallion at a White House ceremony. The chief executive received the award for his program "to secure full civil right for all his countrymen." Justice Steinbrink is chairman of B'nai B'rith's Anti-Defamation league.

Inauguration Of New Officers To Be Included

The three-day coed leadership training program, which includes some joint meetings with a newly instituted men's program, will begin Monday, April 18, Patsy McNutt, chairman on the woman's program, said yesterday.

The unique feature of this year's program will be the banquet for all campus officers scheduled for April 20, at 6:30 o'clock in the Carolina inn. Fred Weaver, dean of men, will be guest speaker. This event will end the leadership training program of both the men and women divisions.

The campus-wide installation of student government officers will be held Tuesday night, April 19, at 9 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

The opening meeting of the coed program will include an address on "Leadership-Fellowship" by Dorothy McCuskey, of the education department. After Miss McCuskey's talk, Al Lowenstein will discuss the general aspects of student government. Monday's program also includes short talks by Jess Dedmond and Emily Baker.

Three commission groups on "Presidents and Vice-Presidents," "Secretaries," and "Treasurers" will close the activities for Monday. Most of the training program will be held in the Main lounge of Graham Memorial.

Beginning at 7 o'clock on Tuesday April 19, the program will get under way with a talk by Randy Hamilton, instructor in the Political Science department, on parliamentary proceedure. His talk will be in the Main lounge of Graham Memorial.

Six commission groups have scheduled discussions for 7:30 Tuesday night. These include study groups on social chairmen, publicity chairmen, coed senate, legislature, women's council and house council.

The annual leadership training program is sponsored by the Coed senate. Jess Dedmond is chairman of the men's program. Approximately 80 coeds are expected to attend the meetings.

Life Features Picture Story On Dr. Graham

Life Magazine features in the current issue a three-page feature story with pictures on "Doctor Frank Becomes A Senator."

Highlighting the spread is an attractive picture of former President Frank P. Graham of the University, and Mrs. Graham, seated on the steps of their home bidding students goodbye just before departing for Washington.

Appearing in The Week's Events section of the magazine, the photos include a view of the large number of students and townspeople who attended the farewell Sunday afternoon open house at the Grahams, and a photograph of the late Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Graham with their son the day he became president of the University in 1930. The last picture in the feature includes Senator Clyde R. Hoey, who is shown greeting his new colleague in the Senate.

The Life article notes that North Carolina has often been called the South's most liberal state. "Much of its liberalism has come about directly through the impact of Frank Graham, or indirectly through his students," the story continues.

Also listed are a number of Senator Graham's achievements, including his work during the early 20's to get North Carolina's workmen's compensation law, and his accomplishments as a member of Roosevelt's War Labor board and Truman's Civil Rights commission.

GUSC Will Discuss Graham Successor

The Greater University Student Council, meeting here Sunday afternoon, will discuss possibilities for a successor to Dr. Frank Graham as president of the Greater University.

Staff Meeting

An important meeting of all members of the Daily Tar Heel news staff will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the DTH news office, incoming editor Dick Jenrette said yesterday.

Jenrette stated that any persons interested in working on the daily newspaper who are not present members of the staff are also urged to attend the meeting. New assignments for the remainder of the spring quarter and other arrangements will be discussed.

Well Searchers Find Dress Part

SAN MARINO, Calif. April 9—(UP)—A rescuer seeking three-year-old Kathy Fiscus, trapped all night and half a day in a 120-foot abandoned well, today reported sighting what he believed was the pink "party" dress she wore when she tumbled in during play late Friday.

O. A Kelly, working in a tunnel at the 85-foot level of the shaft, reported sighting the frock 10 feet below the spot where he and an assistant had torn a hole into the corroded iron casing of the 14-inch-wide well.

He said he could not be positive it was the dress.

At the same time the supervisor of the rescue crew, Engineer Raymond Hill, announced the 72-foot deep open pit from which Kelly tunneled into the pipe had to be abandoned.

Rescuers, with the aid of hard-rock equipment, turned back to a 65-foot hole, 30-inches wide, that had been drilled on another side of the well shaft and abandoned when the going got tough early today in hard shale rock.

The rescue crew, with thousands looking on, immediately began to drill through the hard rock. Hill said the men probably would not get to the 95-foot level until 5 or 6 p.m. (pst), at which time little Kathy would have been 24 hours in the shaft that may be her tomb.

The pink dress was Kathy's best, embroidered in white across the front. She wore it when she went with her mother yesterday to meet her aunt, Mrs. Hamilton Lyon, of Chula Vista, Calif., and her cousins, Staley, 10 and Gus, 5, when they arrived by train for a visit.

RDAY, APRIL 9, 1949

culty Members Address NCEA

of members of the School of Education ing the annual meeting North Carolina Education being held in ough today.

B. Phillips of the cation will address Division of High- on teacher educa- also meet with the ing committee Principals associa-ring on the pro- de Dr. H. A. Perry, Dr. M. Clarke, Dr. Gordon W. H. Plemmons, Dr. Rosenstengel, and Charles of the University Ex- sion, and Frank Mur- graduate assistant in the ment of physical educa- Dr. Kurt Wawrzyniak.

Astor
THEATRE
ST. — DURHAM, N. C.
FRI & SAT
LAUDE RAINS
—AS—
"THE INVISIBLE MAN"
Another Hit From
H. G. WELLS'
THE INVISIBLE MAN RETURNS
CEDRIC HARDWICK
CENT PRICE—
NAN GRAY
COLOR CARTOON
Hard Boiled Eggs"

eteria
Excellence
VICE Room
tment
Counters

e Shirts preferred your Arrow white shirt
$1.00up.
W TIES
SPORTS SHIRTS
TER HABIT
IS hirts
'S
STORE

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... Ed Joyner, Jr.
Business Manager ..... T. E. Holden

Managing Editor ..... Chuck Hauser, Sally Woodhull
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael, III
Ass. Ed. ..... Bill Buchan, Al Lowenstein
City Ed. ..... Herb Nachman
Ass. Spts. Ed. ..... Dick Jenrette, Buddy Vaden
Society Ed. ..... Rita Adams, Caroline Bruner
Ass. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall, Betty Huston
Circ. Mgr. ..... Owen Lewis, Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgr. ..... Owen Lewis, David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins
Bus. Off. Mgr. ..... Ed Williams

News Staff: Margaret Gaston, Jim Dickinson, Sam McKeel, J. L. Merritt, Micke McDaniels, Leonard Dudley, Lincoln Kan, Don Maynard, Gordon Huffines, Roy Parker, Mark Sumner, Wink Locklair, Jack Brown, Emily Baker, Emily Sewell, Art Xanthos, Jimmy Leesen, Ann Sawyer, Charlie Gibson, Virginia Forward, Jimmie Foust, Tom Kerr, Bunnie Davis, Jack English, Charles Pritchard, Charles Carter, George Carter, Graham Jones, Troy Williams, Dan Wallace, John Van Hecke, Bob Hennessee, Norma Neville, Mary Francis Johnston, Sam Whitehall, Helen Highwater.

Editorial Staff: Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Nat Williams.

Sports Staff: Zane Robbins, Joe Cherry, Wuff Newell, Frank Allston, Larry Fox, Lew Chapman, Bill Kellam, Morton Glasser, Carter Taylor, Billy Burgess.

Business Staff: Jane Griffin, Preston Wescott, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Alan Susman, J. C. Rush, Bootsie Taylor, Ann Green, Babs Kerr, Jackie Burke, Erwin Goldman, Jay Quinn, Allen Tate, Ed Wharton.

Society Staff: Faith Adams, Lynn Hammock, Harriet Sipple, Helen Hord, Ann Gamble, Helen Stephenson, Lucielle Conley, Jane Gower.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, M. J. White, Bob Morrell, Randy Hudson, Joe Wratten, Robert Graham, Jim White.

Letter to the Staff

Dear Staff:

Today brings to an end a full year's association between us as editor and staff in publishing the Daily Tar Heel. Each class day during that year the mast head at the top of this column has carried the names of those working on the paper. Today you will notice that the staff box is much larger than usual. It is printed in larger type and carries not only the names of the present staff but the names of everyone who has worked on the paper at any time since last September. I hope that today readers will glance through the mast and realize the amount of work those names represent. Some of the names probably do not deserve to be listed. They belong to students who started to work, couldn't stand the gaff and quickly dropped out. Other names printed there belong to students who gave so much time to the Daily Tar Heel that they flunked out of school. It is to those of you who have given as much time as you could and stuck the job out that this letter is addressed.

During this year I have been perhaps too quick to criticize your mistakes and too slow to praise your efforts. In this the fault has been mine rather than yours. You have done a good job. The publishing of a daily student newspaper is a demanding task. Whether there is enough material to print or not and whether the staff members feel like working or not, the paper must come out. Much of the time we have had fun in doing the work, but at other times the headaches and effort involved haven't seemed worth it, and at one time or another all of us would have liked to heave the paper to the bottom of Hogan's lake and forget it forever. Yet six days and nights a week you have done your jobs without complaining. You have given up parties and trips, studies and grades, meals and sleep for the sake of the paper. In return the complaints have been many and the praise has been small.

The paper has never been as good as any of us would have liked it to be, because that was impossible. Yet, if it is any compensation for your efforts, I would like to say that in my opinion you have got out the best Daily Tar Heel that has ever been published. In reading other papers from colleges throughout the country I have found few that could equal it. But we agreed at the beginning of the year that the test of the Daily Tar Heel would not be how it compared with other papers but how well it met the needs of the campus. Here, too, I think you have succeeded. You have kept in mind that the paper does not belong to the students who put it out but to the students who pay for it and read it. As a result of this attitude there have been more favorable comments and fewer complaints from the student body this year than any year I can remember.

With Tuesday morning's issue Dick Jenrette takes over as editor of the paper. He will make a good editor. All of you know him and like him. He has experience, good ideas and good judgment. I hope that all of you will work with him as you have with me to produce an even better paper than you have produced this year.

To each of you I extend my thanks for your efforts, your cooperation and your friendship, and my best wishes for your continued success with the Daily Tar Heel.

Ed Joyner, Jr.

Wash. Scene

NAP Strictly Power Politics

Murray Goldenthal

The North Atlantic Pact is in effect a vote of no-confidence in the United Nations. While not contrary to the U. N. provisions, specifically Articles 51-54, it is hardly a move to prepare for peace. Neither can it be said that it purports to invite cooperation with Russia. This does not imply that the treaty intends to kill the U. N.—it is difficult to kill something which is already dead. The U. N. came to life still-born, the result of a faulty conception. This conception was based on the apparantly incorrect assumption that the United States and Russia would cooperate; this assumption underlies the entire framework of the U. N. No provision was made to cope with the eventuality that these two super powers would fail to agree. The big joker of the veto, and various lesser jokers, like Article 51, are clear evidence of the impotency of the U. N. in the case of Big Two disagreements.

The treaty, signed on Tuesday by twelve nations, is intended as a defensive pact against any potential aggressor. It envisions a high degree of cooperation and the spirit of unity among the nations comprising the "North Atlantic Community," including for some reason Italy. The all-important Article 5 of the treaty establishes a system of collective security whereby "an armed attack against one or more of them (the parties) in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all. . . . if such an armed attack occurs, each of them, in the exercise of the right of individual or collective self-defense recognized by Article 51 of the Charter of the United Nations, will assist the Party or Parties so attacked by taking action forthwith. . . such action as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force. . ." Article 51 of the Charter refers to the "inherent right of individual or collective self-defense if an armed attack occurs against a Member of the United Nations, until the Security Council has taken the measures necessary to maintain international peace and security."

To my knowledge no such attack has occured—but the very thought of such a possibility was sufficient to evoke an indication that the North Atlantic nations are not willing to bet on the effectiveness of the U. N. Their skepticism, in view of a three year record of unblemished sterility, is quite justified. The one possible exception, that of the Palestine settlement, hardly proves the contrary. This conflict was settled by the traditional resort to arms. It is to Mr. Bunche's credit that he happened to be available at the time, however, the conditions of peace would have been settled whether he were there or not.

Let us stop deceiving ourselves—the U. N. just does not work; the fact that we wish it would—does not effect the reality of the situation. We have been misled into placing all our hopes in it, but rather than mourn, let us bend our energies toward salvaging what hopes of peace we have left. Let us start by calling a spade—just that; the North Atlantic Treaty is not intended to strengthen the U. N.—it is intended to strengthen the Western Powers. Whether we like it or not we are dealing with power politics, indeed we have never gotten away from it. It is obvious that Russia's intentions are not honorable. The treaty is one way of telling them our opinion on the matter. It is further, an effective means of indicating what sort of reaction they can expect, if our opinion as to their intentions is correct. Whether or not it will preserve peace for any length of time is impossible to estimate; it will contribute something to the cause of peace by discouraging aggression, for the present at any rate.

The Pen May Be Mightier Than the Sword

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Entertainment Scene

Plans For New Shows Underway

By Vestal C. Taylor

As the applause dies on "Apple Tree Farm," it is time to look about us and see exactly what is on the agenda for our future entertainment. "Repple Depple," Sam Hirch's original, is under way already. During the coming week rehearsals will begin on "Merchant of Venice," William Shakespeare's original, and "Livin' Can Be Easy," a Matthews and Covington original. Now that you are up to date on these matters, we will keep you posted on their progress from time to time.

While they were overshadowed by the closing performance of the "Farm," and aren't to be compared with them anyway, nevertheless, the K. A. Kadoodlers furnished several minutes of first rate entertainment at the Vet's club last Friday night. These fellows play an assortment of a sax, trumpet, a trombone, three guitars, a piano and-get this-an inverted wastepaper basket along with a wash tub with a pole stuck through it. Amazing as it seems, they make music that you like to listen to.

Following the Kadoodlers came the one and only Pete Strader with another of his "skits." It was a soup "giveaway" program this time. Pete has peddled everything on his appearances from "Blip" to "Gunk," and now it's soup. This writer had forgotten just how nice the Vet's club was until recently. In looking about the campus and town, there is no place available more attractive and yet as inexpensive to the guy looking for a place to take the madam or girl friend than this establishment below Lenior. Here's hoping those folks can arrange for good entertainment for the audience every Friday night. They are off to a good start.

Here's a note of interest to citizens from Winston-Salem and all Bob Hope fans. Hope will make an early appearance in the Twin City under the auspices of the Exchange club. Interested patrons might watch this section for further details or contact Anies Daye Jr. who is located in 22 Old East dormitory.

Before leaving the "Farm" entirely behind, it is timely to point out the purpose behind the Koch Memorial Fund.

The original purpose was to raise enough money to build a completely new theatre and dedicate it to the memory of Prof Koch. This plan called for dollars that added up into the hundreds of thousands, but drew a great amount of support from people throughout the state and even drew a pledge of astronomical proportions from the Carnegie Foundation. The University was pledged to raise $100,000 before some of the others would agree to come across. Due to lack of promotion or push or something, the plan practically folded until now the present plans call for a redoing of the Forest Theatre and calling it the Koch Memorial Forest Theatre. As a matter of fact the board of trustees has already given this plan their okay. Estimates for the job run $12,000. This is to include new rest rooms, a screen around the sides, new lighting equipment and other improvements. Of the $12,000, students, through their own efforts, have managed to raise $9,500 toward their goal since the conception of the fund in November 1945. From all indications, the "Farm" has been very successful in receipts and should add at least another $800 or 1,000. At the present time it seems that the goal will be reached in another year or two. In the meantime, those interested in the project are looking about for a benefactor.

Jim Hammerstein's father, Oscar II opened his latest show on Broadway last week. We hope it is as entertaining and as well received as his others have been.

Write Away

A Challenge To Willie

Editor:

"The conquest of power by the proletariat is the violent overthrow of the bourgeois power, the destruction of the capitalist state apparatus (bourgeous armies, police, bureaucratic hierarchy, the Judiciary parliaments, etc.)"

What a credulous crop of boobs the communists must think we are, Mr. Editor! Mama's own Willie Robertson has the red gall to tell us once again that "the Communist Party or Marxism-Leninism does not favor the use of violence." If true, then let Willie "interpret" the above excerpt from page 36 of the Program of the Communist International. If he succeeds in worming out of this one without making too big of a laughing stock out of himself, then I've got quite a few more—from Marx through Foster—which are sorely in need of a new "interpretation." We know, of course, that there's nothing wrong in importing to words and phrases meanings which were clearly not intended—for hasn't former U. S. Communist Party head, Earl Browder, taught us that inasmuch as "Communists are Marxists, Leninists, and Stalinists, we adopt such tactics as best suit the concrete conditions"? "We adopt new tactics again when changing conditions will demand it".

Now, let's lock horns, tactician Willie! I'm anxious to learn if you and your kind really do deserve to "inherit the earth." J. R. Cherry Jr.

Miller Supports Lowenstein

Editor:

The greatest assurance we can have that student freedom as we have known it here under D. Graham will continue, will be to make our Student Government as strong and efficient as is humanly possible. Our Student Legislature is one of the three cornerstones of government and upon the Vice President who will preside over this Legislature, must rest the responsibility of maintaining student freedom.

The student who holds this position must be a man of honesty and integrity, of imagination to perceive and legislate the needs of the campus. He must be a man with long experience and understanding of Student Government as provided in our Constitution.

I have decided it important enough to forego party loyalties to ask that students seriously consider Al Lowenstein's qualifications for the position of Vice President. Al has a fine record extending over three years of active participation in student affairs. He is the only man now associated with Student Government who helped write our Constitution, he has served with distinction in the Legislature, and as speaker of the Di Senate, the birthplace of student self-government, he has gained the necessary Parliamentary poise and administrative training.

There is no man on this campus who more thoroughly understands and appreciates the ideals of student freedom and self-government, so strongly defended by Dr. Graham, and who can make it work with respect from all and in fairness to all than can Al Lowenstein.

Bill Miller

Fax About Wax

Stafford Clicks Again

By Nelson Taylor

Klassification Key
* Fine
 Fair
 Futile
* Foul

Jo Stafford
 Why Can't You Behave
 Once and for Always

The times when this gal fails to click on a release are few and far between. The combination of Porter and Stafford on "Behave" is a combination hard to beat. Little Lisa Kirk who sang the same number in the stage presentation of Porter's "Kiss Me Kate" should take a few lessons from Jo. Her tone quality is fine on both of these sides with hush quality on the "Once."

Gordon Jenkins
 My Dream is Yours
 I'm Beginning to Miss You

Two more rich melodies by this fast rising master. Gordon combines strings with a smooth interpretation which comes out both dreamy and dancable. This is "Our Best to You" from WPTF in Raleigh every night from Monday through Saturday at eleven ten music.

Harry James
 Hurry, Hurry, Hurry
 Don't Cry, Cry Baby

Harry tries a little be-bop on his solos on these two sides. The work which is arranged by Hefti sounds of Elliot Lawrence with much use of muted brass. This does not reach the peaks that Harry hit on his release of late, Redigal Jump.

Charlie Ventura
* Stop 'N Go
 Pina Colada

"Go" doesn't stop. It is bop by an inspired group of musicians. You can feel this spirit in the great power of the music that comes out on this one. The beginning trumpet solo starts things at a terrific pace and an upheaval on trombone. A sax keeps things going at the same driving tempo, but the final solo sax lets the burning cool off any at all, but even then the gait is fast and furious. "Pina" doesn't keep up the precedent set by the reverse side, but it is superior bop. A bop vocal partially spoils things.

Sy Oliver
 Just in Case
 Gran'Ma Plays the Numbers

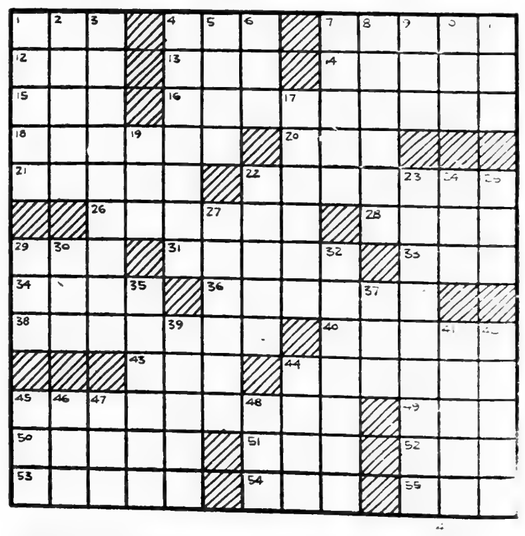
These two are fine arrangements by one of the greatest arrangers in the business. He is the finest of the arrangers before bop. (And that was the period of the best music. Then such tunes as "Deep Purple," "I've Got You Under My Skin," "Blue Moon," and "Night and Day" were being written.) "Gran'Ma" is a novelty which is cute without being disgusting while "Case" is a great arrangement in the instrumental field. Let us hope that Sy records more often henceforth.



Burns' New Book

'The Gallery's' Successor

Those who read John Horne Burns' The Gallery are unlikely to find his succeeding novel Lucifer With a Book (Harper, $3.50) a corresponding merit.

The new work consists of an attack upon the American private school. The institution considered, known only as the Academy was founded by the bequest of a rich spinster. Its head is Mr. Pilkey, a leonine go-getter and whooper-upper. Its faculty, apparently almost as numerous as Harvard's comprises a group of caricatures with an assortment of contemptible human qualities. To join this body of instructors come two young newcomers, an ex-GI and an ex-Was, personifying the liberal viewpoint. They lay about them in all directions against the surrounding narrowness and falsity. The reward of their virtue is to get kicked out.

If, as fly-leaf notices put it, there were in Mr. Burns' novel any resemblance to real persons, living or dead, his story might stir interest. But there is not. The characters throughout make no more impression than the faces of clothing dummies. The writing is ragged and pitched in the frantic key of radio give-away programs.

HORIZONTAL
1. exclude
4. point
7. meager
12. poem
13. large bird
14. swine-like animal
15. droop
16. frankly
18. check
20. live
21. to thread
22. slumberer
26. African wildcat
28. function
29. piece out
31. ankle
33. end
34. furnish
36. stronghold
38. oblique
40. wash lightly
43. large vessel
44. narrow piece of board
45. constable
49. wrath
50. occurred
51. work unit
52. end of yard
53. later
54. short piece of connecting pipe
55. secular

VERTICAL
1. clayey
2. idolize
3. personate
4. last course at a meal
5. skip
6. large cask
7. one kiloliter
8. a swift course
9. mock
10. nothing
11. examine minutely
17. tissue over cut part of steer
19. sundown, poetic
22. Pacific coast shrub
23. latent
24. Biblical judge
25. kind of cloth
27. quit
29. wing of house
30. sheep-eating parrot
32. odd
35. contrive
37. kindled
39. black snake
41. sawlike organ
42. foe
44. barren
45. yield precious metal
46. Swedish coin
47. unelevated
48. gathered

Answer to Saturday's puzzle.

A	L	M	A		A	H	A		M	E	D	E
C	O	A	L		C	A	P		A	V	E	R
T	O	T	E		E	R	E	C	T	I	N	G
A	P	T		A	R	M		E	E	L	S
		E	N	D		E	L	L	S
P	A	R	E	D		D	A	L		S	P	A
A	R	E	T	E	S		R	A	P	I	E	R
L	A	D		N	A	P		R	A	N	G	E
			E	D	G	E		E	R	E
	P	E	R	U		E	A	T		C	A	M
D	E	F	A	M	E	R	S		P	U	R	E
O	R	T	S		L	E	I		E	R	I	E
W	I	S	E		A	D	A		W	E	A	K

Average time of solution: 27 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Carolina Trackmen Defeat Princeton Runners, 79-52

Albans, Moody, Morrow Star Tar Heels Take Nine Firsts

Dual meet victory number one was chalked up yesterday at Fetzer field under sunny skies as Coach Bob Fetzer's track squad proceeded to take the princely aspect out of the Princeton Tigers' sporting picture. The Tar Heels tallied 79 points—44 of them in field events—to Princeton's 52.

As usual, freshman sensation Bill Albans dominated the Carolina side of the meet. Not quite up to par physically due to an injury incurred last week, Albans tallied 16 points—on two firsts, a second, and a three-way tie for first in the high jump. His second in the broad jump was the first time in the 19 events he has entered since last February that he has not won or tied for first place.

But Albans wasn't the whole show. Big Bob Seligman, Bob Morrow, and Jumpin' Jack Moody each took a first and a second or its equivalent. Seligman set a new meet record in the discus and placed second in the shot; Morrow placed first in the high hurdles and second in the lows; and Moody won broad jump honors and was in the three-way tie for top spot in the high jump.

Kirk Breaks Record

Bob Kirk broke the existing record in the javelin when he whipped the spear 195 feet, 8½ inches—14 feet 2½ inches better than Joe Hilton's record set back in 1939.

Sam Magill, Tar Heel distance ace was on the record breaking, too. Magill shaved one and one-half seconds off the existing two-mile mark set in 1930 by a Princeton runner. Magill took the lead in the race as he neared the three-quarter mark and steadily increased his winning margin until at the finish he was well over 100 yards ahead of second place Dick Snedeker of Princeton. His time for the eight-lap course was 9:38.5.

Distance man Ronnie Wittreich was the standout for the visiting Tigers. He was the only visitor to score 10 points or better. His marks came in the one mile and 880, finishing in both races just ahead of Carolina's Julian MacKenzie. MacKenzie was leading at the three-quarter mark of the mile, but Wittreich pulled ahead just before rounding the last turn and finished with a fast kick to beat out MacKenzie by ten yards.

Win In Breeze

The outcome of the meet was never in doubt after the first seven events. At that time the Tar Heels were well out in front and continued to widen the gap. By the time 13 events had been run off Carolina was ahead by 25 points, the score standing at 70-46.

Breaking the score down by the various events, Carolina was strongest in the field events, with 44 points tallied. Princeton collected only ten in this part of the action, but scored 19 to Carolina's eight in the dash events. Tar Heels dominated the hurdles events, limiting the Tigers to only two third places for two points. Princeton outscored Carolina 16 to 11 in the distance events.

The mile relay, usually one of the most hotly-contested events on the program, was a giveaway to Princeton. At the end of the first leg, Tiger Bob Snable had built up a ten-yard lead and five more yards were added by the end of two laps. Runners Ken Crouse and anchorman Sam Howell added 15 more yards to their lead and finished over 30 yards ahead of the Carolina team of Shields, White, Holden and Crimmins.

The Tiger Rag

880 yard run: 1. Wittreich (Princeton); 2. MacKenzie (North Carolina); 3. Akeley (Princeton). Time: 21:00.1.

Discus: 1. Seligman, North Carolina (141 feet, 5¾ inches); 2. Ogden, North Carolina (128, 8 inches); 3. Cusic, Princeton (125 feet, five inches).

Broad jump: 1. Moody, North Carolina (22 feet, 3½ inches); 2. Albans, North Carolina (21 feet, 11 inches); 3. Davis, Princeton (20 feet, 10 inches).

Pole vault: 1. House, North Carolina, (12 feet, 6 inches); 2. Tie between Russell, North Carolina and Jacob, Princeton (12 feet).

220 yard dash: 1. Gorter (Princeton); 2. Davis (Princeton); 3. Crimmins (North Carolina). Time: 22.7.

Two mile run: 1. Magill (North Carolina); 2. Snedeker (Princeton); 3. Johnson (Princeton). Time: 9:38.5.

Shot put: Cusic, Princeton (48 feet, 8 inches); 2. Seligman, North Carolina (47 feet, 7½ inches); 3. Ogden, North Carolina (43 feet, 5¾ inches).

High jump: 1. Tie between Moody, North Carolina; Joyner, North Carolina; and Albans, North Carolina (six feet).

Javelin: 1. Kirk, North Carolina (195 feet, 8½ inches); 2. Baldwin, North Carolina (174 feet, 9½ inches); 3. Jacobs, Princeton (169 feet, 1¼ inches).

Mile run: 1. Wittreich (Princeton); 2. MacKenzie (North Carolina); 3. Akeley (Princeton). Time: 4:19.5.

440 yard dash: 1. Howell (Princeton); 2. Crouse (Princeton); 3. McLain (North Carolina). Time: 50.2.

100 yard dash: 1. Albans (North Carolina); 2. Gorter (Princeton); 3. Marshall (North Carolina). Time: 10 secs.

120 yard high hurdles: 1. Morrow (North Carolina); 2. Taylor (North Carolina); 3. Payne (Princeton). Time: 14.8.

220 yard low hurdles: 1. Albans (North Carolina); 2. Morrow (North Carolina); 3. Payne (Princeton). Time: 24.7.

Mile relay: 1. Princeton (Snable, Swearer, Crouse, Howell). Time: 3.26.9.

Johnny Palmer Leads At Augusta As Tourney Goes Into Fourth Round

By William Tucker

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 9—(UP)—Johnny Palmer, a moon-faced young man from the North Carolina mountains, hammered out a one-stroke lead at the critical three-quarter mark of the Masters golf tournament today with a total of 214.

Coming in with a 70, Palmer made his score for the three rounds two under par. There was still a big scramble on for the title in tomorrow's final round, with seven men within three strokes of the leader.

Sam Snead, his putter finally working after a long lapse; Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., and surprising Joe Kirkwood, Jr. the Joe Palooka of the movies, tied for second place with 215 at the 54-hole mark.

Huge Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, Johnny Bulla of Pittsburgh and Jim Turnesa of Briar Cliff, N. Y., all had 216, even par. Clayton Haefner of hCarlotte, N. C., was a stroke back of them.

Palmer and Snead, playing together, had the bulk of a gallery of some 6,000 following them all day and the watchers were well-rewarded. But most of them missed the shot of the day, a hole-in-one by amateur Johnny Dawson of Los Angeles on the 16th.

Ironically, it was the same par three Lake hole that cost second-day leader Mangrum the lead or a tie for it after the third round. Mangrum's ball went in the Lake and he took a five and an ultimate par 72. He had been two under until he hit the water.

Palmer, 30-year-old pro from Badin, N. C., and a B-29 tail-gunner in the war, has shot consistently good golf the last two years. He was 17th in the 1947 masters but didn't show last year.

He stands sixth in money earnings this year and he won the recent Rio Grande Valley open.

He started out today in a strategic spot, one stroke behind Co-leaders Mangrum and Herman Keiser of St. Andrews, Ill., (who blew up in the third round).

Palmer got off to a fine start by putting his second shot down 20 feet from the pin on the lengthy par five second hole and was down in two. He picked up another birdie with a 20-footer on the short 6th but lost a stroke when he got trapped on the 7th.

Palmer, who was voted a Masters invitation by his fellow pros for his steady game, finished the nine with pars and picked up another stroke by laying up to where he could birdie the 11th with an 18-inch putt.

Then difficulty developed, He pushed his drive for the 13th into the pines and his second shot stuck in the tall grass. But he chipped up to where he could get down in two for a par five. He stayed par the rest of the way for a pair of 35's and a 70.

Justice, Powell Star

Kenny Powell and Charlie Justice (natch) were the standouts in yesterday's football scrimmage at Kenan stadium. It was the Reds against the Whites again in the scrimmage that ended the third week of spring football drills.

The Whites—the Justice-Powell team—scored the only three touchdowns of the session. And it was Mr. Justice and Mr. Powell who were responsible for all three. The first came on a Justice-accented run of 20 yeards through the middle of the opposing line.

Powell scored the second on a beautifully caught pass from Justice and the lanky end tallied again on an end around play. Dick Bunting and fullback Dick Weiss also showed up well.

COED SOFTBALL

Two diamonds will be available 4 to 6 o'clock Monday through Thursday this week for coeds to practice softball on. Teams should sign up for practice sessions, and the schedule will be released this week.

Carolina Netmen Meet Deacs In SC Opener Here Tomorrow

Carolina's unbeaten varsity tennismen, fresh from a string of eight straight victories, will open their Southern conference and Big Four competition here tomorrow afternoon when they play host to Wake Forest's Demon Deacons at 3 o'clock on the local courts.

Led by Captain Victor Seixas and Clark Taylor, Coach John Kenfield's netters bowled over all opposition in their first eight meets. The locals opened the season by sweeping a two game series with Michigan State, repeated this performance against Haverford, topped Harvard and Yale once each, and added wins number seven and eight against Williams college.

Four of the top seven Carolina singles players are still undefeated. These are Seixas, Charlie Rice, Stan Gruner, and Duke Wilder. Clark Taylor, Tar Heel number two man, has been beaten once.

Jim Winstead, Lasley Dameron, and Wilder have all seen action in the last two singles positions. Dameron has dropped two matches, and Wilder one. Winstead has not been in the losing column.

In the doubles competition, all the local netmen have had a hand in the wins with Seixas, Taylor, Rice, and Gruner leading the way. The chief weakness on the Tar Heel squad is the lack of reserves. Williams college almost upset Carolina Friday afternoon in a meet composed of ten singles and five doubles matches. The locals won most of the matches in which their top men played, but the weakness of reserves in the final matches almost brought about a Williams victory. The locals finally won, 8-7.

SPORTS STAFF MEETING

There will be an important meeting for all members of the DTH sports staff and all people interested in being on the staff in the sports department at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Freshman Netters Down Danville Hi In Season Opener

The Carolina freshman tennis team opened the season with a bang here yesterday in defeating Danville high school, 9-0. The Tar Heel yearlings swept every match in straight sets, allowing the visitors not more than four games in any one set.

Tomorrow afternoon while their varsity brothers are tangling with Wake Forest, the freshman club will face the junior representatives from Deacon Hollow.

Jim Hammerstein opened yesterday's matches with a straight set, 6-2, 6-2 win over Danville's number one player, Smith. Tar Heel number two man Charlie Duval followed with a 6-1, 6-2 win over Snead.

It was the same way all the way down the line, the closest match being Bret Smith's 6-4 first set. Other Tar Heel singles winners were Cecil Milton, Shahen Haroutunian, and Buck Buchanan.

The doubles combination of Hammerstein and Smith proved a winning combination as they handily wiped out Danville's Smith and Snead. Milton and Duval paired up to defeat Harrison and Anderson and Litton and Redding allowed Gardner and Williams only one game in a 6-1, 6-0 victory.

The summary.

Singles: Jim Hammerstein (C) defeated Smith, 6-2, 6-2; Charles Duval (C), defeated Snead, 6-1, 6-2; Beet Smith (C) defeated Harrison, 6-4, 6-1; Cecil Milton (C) defeated Williams, 6-0, 6-1; Shahen Haroutunian (C) defeated Gardner, 6-3, 6-1; Buck Buchanan (C) defeated Anderson, 6-2, 6-1.

Doubles: Hammerstein-Smith (C) defeated Smith-Snead, 6-4, 6-2; Milton-Duval (C) defeated Harrison-Anderson 6-1, 6-0; Litton-Redding (C) defeated Gardner-Williams, 6-1, 6-0.

Intramural Track

Tomorrow afternoon will mark the opening of the annual intramural track meet and all who are interested in participating are urged to report to Fetzer field between the hours of 4 and 6.

The program for tomorrow will consist of the preliminaries for all the field events and the 60 and 100 yard dashes. To qualify for the semi-finals in the field events one must equal or surpass a set requirement. The 24 best clockings

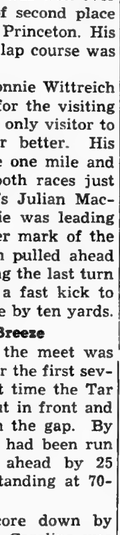
MURALS

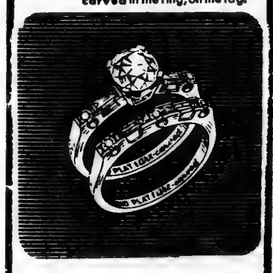
SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00—Field 1, DKE 3 vs. Lamb Chi 2; 2, Phi Gam 3 vs DKE 2; 3, Kap Sig 3 vs ZBT; 4, SAE 2 vs TEP 2; 5, Pi Kap Phi 1 vs Sig Chi 2; 6, ATO 1 vs St. Anthony; 7, SAE 1 vs Phi Kap Sig 1.

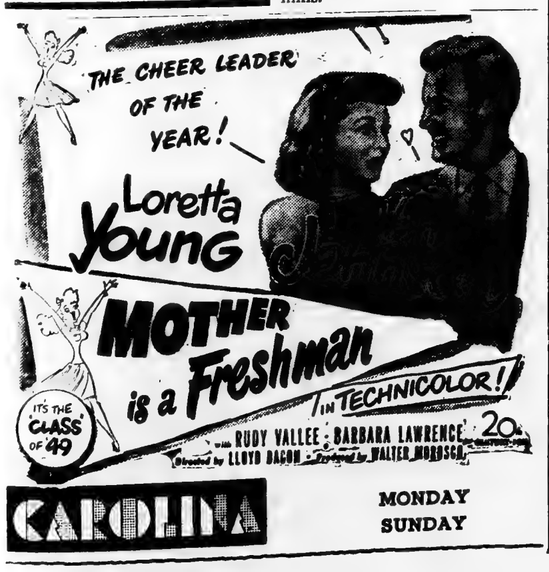
5:00—Field 1, Pi Lamb 2 vs Sig Nu 2; 2, Sig Chi 3 vs Kappa Psi 1; 3, KA 3 vs Sig Eps; 4, PiKa 2 vs Phi Kap Sig 2; 5, Kappa Sig 1 vs Kappa Psi 1; 6, Phi Delt 3 vs Phi Delt Chi.

SENIOR LIFESAVING





All persons interested in taking a course in senior lifesaving this quarter meet in room 304, Woollen gym tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.



Astor
THEATRE—DURHAM, N. C.
SUNDAY ONLY—2-4-&-9
What a King! What a Lover! What a Man!
Charles LAUGHTON Robert DONAT Merle OBERON
The Private Life of HENRY VIII
BINNIE BARNES JOHN LODER LISA DANIELSKI WENDY BARRIE
A Film Classic for Release

Durham Optical Co
215 W. MAIN ST.
TEL. F 2141
OPTICIANS

THE PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA
ORMANDY, Conducting
Page Auditorium, Duke University, Durham, N. C.
Tuesday Evening, April 26, at 8:15
TICKETS: $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 (Inc. Tax)
For reservations, write J. Foster Barnes, Duke University, Durham, N. C.; or phone Durham 122 - ext 270

"Soups on, Come and Get It"
AT
University Restaurant
★ SUPERB FOOD
★ QUICK SERVICE
★ LARGE VARIETY
See and Meet Your Friends
AT
UNIVERSITY RESTAURANT

Choose by name—choose a trusted diamond ring marked Artcarved
Nationally advertised Artcarved diamonds—never before worn—are selected and cut by Artcarved experts abroad. Registered and guaranteed for your protection by America's oldest and largest ringmaker. Let us show you the name Artcarved in the ring, on the tag.

WENTWORTH and SLOAN
Authorized Artcarved Jeweler
IT'S SMART TO SHOP IN CHAPEL HILL

CAROLINA
MONDAY SUNDAY

A NOTE OF THANKS

The Carrboro Pure Oil Service Station and Garage, owned and operated by Thomas Evans and Mack Poole, wishes to express to all its friends and patrons sincere appreciation for their warm friendship and loyal patronage. Since we began with our new product and in our new establishment a little over a year ago, we have exceeded by far our expectations; in March we reached our highest peak thus far. It has been impossible, we feel, to express our appreciation to each individual, but we wish in this way to thank you and to promise you our best possible service in the future. We are now prepared to give you more efficient service — from the gas tank to the rebuilding of your car motor. Call on us at any time if we can be of service to you. The number is 4167 — dial it often.

Please accept this as our personal message to you. We guarantee our service just as Pure Oil guarantees their products.

CARRBORO PURE OIL STATION
Thomas Evans & Mack Poole
Proprietors

Farmers Dairy The People's Choice Farmers Dairy
Vanilla Ice Cream
Our Most Popular Flavor -- Now Featured For The Entire Month Of April
Vanilla – Almost 50% of our ice cream sales is Vanilla
Our rich, creamy mix frozen to just the proper degree and with pure vanilla flavoring added. No sir, no synthetic flavoring used in this ice cream. Pure vanilla flavoring with its mellow lingering taste is what makes this flavor so popular.
Try Our Tasty VANILLA TREAT With Chocolate Sauce
Fruits
Nuts

Cereals
Cakes
Pies
IT ADDS THE CROWNING TOUCH TO YOUR MEALS
Keep a supply in your refrigerator at all times. We recommend the ½ gallon—family size.
Farmers Dairy Cooperative, Inc.

as seen in The Saturday Evening Post white elegance!

in Van Heusen® Shirts...
Luxurious elegance from every angle in these sparkling new Van Heusen white shirts. The fine closely woven broadcloth insures a high lustre that makes these white shirts really white. And Van Heusen Comfort Contour collar styling offers a new high in low-setting collar comfort. Regular and wide-spread collar models in French or single cuffs.
Ellis Stone
Durham, N. C.

KA's Honor Pledges With Magnolia Ball

A Sparrow's pool picnic and a Magnolia ball were preliminary highlights yesterday to an initiation this afternoon and tonight for the pledges of the Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Following the afternoon picnic, KA's of the Upsilon chapter danced to the music of Johnny Satterfield from 9 until midnight in the Carolina inn. For the occasion the Inn was decorated in crimson and gold and in magnolias, the colors and official flower of the fraternity.

The climax of the Magnolia ball, an annual affair, was the presentation by Marvin Lee, KA president, of a plaque for the outstanding pledge to Robert L. Kirby from Charlotte.

Kirby was named the model pledge at the conclusion of a figure in which pledges and their dates were presented through a lattice archway to form a square on the floor before a no-break dance.

Pledges presented were: Ed Anthony, Gil Beam, Bill Bostic, Jim Connelly, Dick Elliot, Howard Fogleman, Ed Gainer, Bill Giles, John Griffin, Alan Ham, Maurice Hill, Steve Horn, Harry Huntley, Dick Davenport, Robert Kirby, Ed Love, Ted McDonald, Ira Montague, Bill Moore, Jack Pennington, Johnny Robison, Tom Sloan, Vernon Suitt, Gene Wilson, George Freeman, Allen Goslen, Jack Niles, Harry Teele, Buddy Tulloch, Jim Whitlock.

PICTURED ABOVE are the four lovely sponsors for the annual Freshmen Dance which was held last night in Woollen Gymnasium from 8:30 to 12 o'clock. Reading from left to right is Miss Emily McLees, Anderson, S. C., who was escorted by Allen Tate, Gaffney, S. C., secretary of the Freshman class; Miss Bee Gatling, Charlotte, escorted by Dave Byrd, Goldsboro, chairman of the Freshmen council; Miss Vergie Allen, Greensboro, with Joe Pivott, Edenton, treasurer of the Freshmen class; and Miss Betsy Ross, Chapel Hill, social chairman of the Freshmen class, who was escorted by Dalton Ruffin, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., president of the Freshmen class. Music for the dance was supplied by Stormy Weathers and his orchestra.

Churches Plan Easter Services For This Week

Plans for Easter services, and for Spring conferences and retreats head the lists of church student activities this week.

The annual Easter Sunrise Service for the community of Chapel Hill, sponsored by the local churches and student religious organizations of the university, will be held this year at 6:00 A.M. at Gimghoul Castle. The worship service, led by Reverend Mr. Bernard Manger of the Congregational Christian Church, will be preceeded by carillon music by Carillonneur Charles Stevens and will be closed by the music of a brass ensemble of the Chapel Hill high school band.

"The Christian and Politics" will be the topic of the Methodist Supper Program Sunday night at 6 o'clock when Jean Minshew, John Huff and Ray Mills will be the speakers. Following the speeches will be the election of next year's officers.

At 8 o'clock the Church choir will present "The Seven Last Words," a sacred santata, under the direction of Gene Stryker. The cantata will feature as soloists Mr. Lanier Davis, Miss Lucille Arnott, Mrs. Helen Williams and Mr. John Brinegar.

Passover Seder, a Jewish service to inaugurate the Passover Week will be held Wednesday night, April 13, at 6:30 in the Carolina Inn ballroom. For reservation contact Rabbi Pereman's office.

Smith Elected Pi Kappa Alpha Head Last Week

Charles G. Smith was elected president of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity for the spring and summer quarters at a meeting Monday night. Other newly elected officers of the fraternity are: Chan Pegram, vice-president; Bob Daye, treasurer; Charles Bryan, dining room manager; Bill Sutton, house manager; Jim Phillips intramural manager; Joseph Maurice, member of the Interfraternity council; Carlyle Morris, University club representative; and Moncue Sibley, junior brother.

The PiKAs held an initiation ceremony Wednesday night when 31 pledge class members became active members.

Chi Psi's End Week's Events At Friday Afternoon Banquet

Following formal initiation ceremonies last week, 13 new men became members of the Alpha Sigma chapter of Chi Psi fraternity. A banquet Friday afternoon concluded the week's activities.

The newly initiated members are Frank Allston, Arlington, Va.; Charlie Melvin, Greensboro; Dick Proctor, Whiteville; Lew Chapman, Union, N. J.; Zane Robbins, Winston-Salem; Bill Edwards, Raleigh; Steve Wilson, New Bern; Bill Newman, Durham; Tommy Steed, Raleigh; Banks Talley, Bennettsville, S. C.; Bill Jones, Raleigh; Frank Eckert, Union, N. J.; and Ronald Jones, Raleigh.

Officers of the pledge class were Banks Talley, president; Tommy Steed, vice-president; Lew Chapman, secretary, and Bill Jones, treasurer.

At the Friday night banquet, pledgemaster Harvey Johnson presented the Most Outstanding Pledge award to Lew Chapman, who won the trophy on the basis of having a 96.1 scholastic average, extra-curricular work on the Daily Tar Heel, intramural activities, and interest in the fraternity.

New officers of the fraternity took office at this time. Bob Montgomery, Raleigh, was re-elected president. Other officers are: Eddie Cox, Sanford, vice-president; J. F. Colvard, Durham, secretary; and Severn Wallis, Southern Pines, treasurer.

Special guests at the initiation banquet were Walt Spearman and Dr. W. C. Morgan, Chi Psi's on the University faculty; Lynn D. Garabaldi, president of the Chi Psi alumni corporation, and Oliver Rowe, who was instrumental in re-activating Chi Psi on the Carolina campus in 1928, and other alumni.

Fashion Show to Be Presented By Carolina Independent Coeds

The Independent Coed Association will present a fashion show featuring men's and women's wearing apparel on April 26 at the Carolina theater from 7 to 9 o'clock, President Eloise Jacobi announced yesterday.

The association will model fashions by Robbins of Durham with models to be chosen from sororities, the CICA, the Town's Girls' Association, and the Monogram club.

Scenes will include a house party, dance, tea, swimming pool, summer school classes, Y court dance, and a wedding.

Miss Jacobi said that plans are well under way with many of the chairman already appointed. Committee heads are Marjorie Bradley—models; Catherine Hogis—music; Marty Hinkle—posters; Carolyn Guthrie and Jacile Taddgett—script; and Joyce Harris—tickets.

Fraternity Activities Marked By Initiations and Elections

The Alpha Tau Omega's took off to Teenie's meadow Saturday afternoon for a party honoring their new initiates. During the afternoon there was a softball game in which members and their dates participated. A picnic supper was also served.

The Sigma Chi house was the scene of a great deal of activity this weekend. Friday night the Sig's held a house dance in honor of their pledges and dates. Saturday afternoon the fraternity held its annual field day out at Hogan's lake.

Mrs. Helen Seward, the new Beta housemother moved into the fraternity house at the beginning of the quarter. A native of Petersburg, Virginia, she has been working in the library at Marion, Virginia, for the past several years.

Recently elected Beta officers for the coming year are: Norman Black, president; Bill Goforth, vice-president; Bob Gallant, corresponding secretary; Bob Whitlock, recorder; Bud Yokely alumni secretary; Paul Von Brauer, house manager; Lou Maxwell, pledge master; Bill Goforth, rush chairman; Harold Bursley and Marshall Roberts, vice-rush chairman. Ed Holmes, sergeant-at-arms; George Fiske, chaplain; and Marshall Roberts, social chairman.

The Beta's held initiation for twenty of their pledges this week. Those initiated were: William F. Black, Jacob C. Bowman, Gerald N. Bryant, Claude S. Burton, Frederick M. Council, James Curtis, William R. Cuthberts, John Clifton Fields, Richard Harter, David R. Hayworth, Millard M. Heyward, Julian M. McGee, William W. McCleud, James D. Poat, William G. Ray, Donald F. Sutphen, Dale Thomas, Hubert Glenn Jolly, James H. Williamson, and Arthur R. Wilkes.

Student Wives Circle Meets Monday Night

Circle no. 3 of the Presbyterian church will meet Monday night at 8 o'clock with Mrs. Damon Turner on Strowd hill. The circle is composed of students wives and any interested persons who would like to attend, but need transportation are asked to call 5377.

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

MAN WITH '37 FORD MOTOR THAT ... is like a kitten would like to ... that with Ford body that looks like ... car ... Phone ... o'clock weekdays. (1-1200-1)

FOR SALE 6E

1942 FLAT HOUSE TRAILER IN FAIR condition. Ideal location. Very reasonable. If ... ready to live in. Call or see Ross Collins, 126 Boyle Drive, Vinelville Village. (2-2372-1)

HELP WANTED 8

ATTRACTIVE GIRL AND TWO BOYS under 5 to ... to keep; interested in ... Desired experience for ... part time work. Phone 3216 for appointment. (2-2377-1)

STUDENTS WANTED FOR PART time night work. Call in person at the Colonial House, W. Rosemary Street. (ch 1x1)

LOST 12

GOLD WATCH: INSCRIPTION READS "To Helen from Uncle Phillips". Lost in vicinity of Lenoir Hall. Please contact Holt Hafling, Alspaugh Hall, Duke University. (1-2377-1)

SEAFOOD

Our famous New Orleans Chef really knows his seafoods — Lobsters, Shrimp, Shadroe, Frog Legs, Soft Shell Crabs, Ocean Fresh Fish at prices you can afford to pay.

Delicious Lunches as low as 45—Dozen's of Hot and Toasted Sandwiches. Delightful Dinners at night that will really please you.

LUNCHES DINNERS

PARTIES

If you are planning a party, by all means, see us. We specalize in parties, banquets and get-togethers.

Baldwin's Marine Restaurant

— We Open 7 A.M. ● We Close 7 P.M.

Easter is the time for . . .

"Joyous Notes"

Easter Cards

Add to your own happiness by sharing it with others.

WENTWORTH & SLOAN

Don't Forget That

EASTER CORSAGE

Orchids: Special $3.50 & up

Place Your Order Early at

West-Williams Flower Shop

Carrboro, N. C.

P. O. Bldg. Phone 9906

WE DELIVER

FOISTER'S CAMERA STORE

HAS All Types Of FILM For Your EASTER PICTURES

SALE—½ PRICE—SALE

COLUMBIA RECORDS

Every 78 R. P. M. Record In Our Huge Stock Reduced From 20 – 50%

$29.95 Columbia L. P. Attachments —Our Price $10.95

ABERNETHY'S BOOKSHOP

VILLAGE

TODAY

UNIVERSAL-INTERNATIONAL presents

DICK POWELL

MARTA TOREN

The Temptatious Hit of CALYPSO

VINCENT PRICE

ROGUES' REGIMENT

OF THE FRENCH FOREIGN LEGION

with STEPHEN McNALLY

MONDAY

WOMAN OF TOMORROW

will she be SADIST, BEAST, BARBARIAN, BEAUTY? will her KISSES KILL?

H·G·WELLS'

Amazing Prediction of the Future

THINGS TO COME

An ALEXANDER KORDA Production with Raymond Massey • Ralph Richardson Pearl Argyle • Sir Cedric Hardwicke and cast of 20,000

A FILM CLASSICS Inc. Release

SEE 1000 MESSENGER AIR LINERS!

SEE THE GLASS CITIES!

SEE ROCKET SHIP TO THE MOON!

CLASSIFIED COLUMNS

Door To Better Buys

USE THE DAILY TAR HEEL CLASSIFIEDS

Southern Fried Chicken — Steaks — at HARRY'S

L'il Abner — AL CAPP

Steve Canyon — MILTON CANIFF

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
8-31-49

EDITORIALS

A word on DTH Policy
Thanks For A Job Well Done
Up To The Politicians Now

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Cloudy and cooler; possible rain.

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. TUESDAY, APRIL 12, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 140

Campus Will Vote In Run-Off Election Today

Fuchs Concert Is Scdeduled For Memorial Hall Tonight

Program Is Free For All Students

By Charlie Gibson

Joseph Fuchs, widely-known violinist, will be presented by the Student Entertainment Committee tonight in an 8 o'clock Memorial Hall concert that will be admission-frêe to all University students.

Although students' admission is taken care of in block fees paid during registration, student wives, faculty members, and townspeople will also be allowed to purchase admission tickets at 75 cents each, according to Scotty Venable, SEC chairman. These tickets will go on sale when the Memorial Hall doors open at 7 o'clock this evening.

Joseph Fuchs has been touring for several years in the United States and Canada until many critics have come to consider him one of the best among exclusively American-trained concert violinists.

Born in New York City, Fuchs is the oldest of five children of whom two others besides himself have distinguished themselves in the music world—his violinist sister, Lillian, and his brother, Harry, solo 'cellist of the Cleveland orchestra.

Joseph himself was a real child prodigy, singing any tune he heard in perfect pitch at the age of two. At four he fell and hurt his left arm, resulting in a nerve injury. When the doctors suggested daily exercises to strengthen the muscles in the child's fingers, father Fuchs hit on an inspired solution and brought home an eighth-size fiddle.

At five and a half Joseph made his first public appearance as a concert violinist and was a brilliant neighborhood success. At 17 he was graduated from the Institute of Musical Art and set out for a concert tour of Europe.

Since then Fuchs has been in demand for such appearances as soloist with the New York Philharmonic symphony, a series of New York recitals, and summer festival engagements at the New York stadium, Philadelphia's Robin Hood Dell, Washington's Watergate, and Chicago's Grand Park.

On tour Fuchs plays a famous Stradivarius, dated 1722. This example of the Cremona master's art is known as the "Cadiz" from the city in Spain where its one-time owner lived. It is also called the "Cannon" because of its powerful tone.

Fuchs' program here tonight will include such selections as, Debussy's "Sonate"; Beethoven's "Romance in F"; Mozart's "Concerto in D Major, K.218"; and a special arrangement by his sister, Lillian, entitled "Jota."

Fuchs' accompanist will be Harry Kondaks.

Phi to Discuss Mercy Killings At Meet Tonight

Euthanasia, commonly known as "mercy killings," will be the topic for debate by the Philanthropic assembly and its guests meeting in Phi Hall, New East at 7:30 tonight.

A resolution reported out by Ways and Means Committee chairman, Emily Baker, would favor enactment of legislation permitting courts to issue mercy killing orders for those suffering from incurable diseases.

The courts that determine the sanity of citizens would be empowered to hand down these orders.

Assembly members who have agreed to speak for the bill include Bill Dawkins, Ed Wharton, Hugh Griffin, and Graham Jones. Among those opposing the resolution will be Ben K. Erdman, Charlie Britt, and Herman Sieber.

Speaker Pro-Tempore Baker has extended a special invitation to professors in the medical school and med students to attend tonight's meeting.

Miss Baker has also called a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee for 5:00 this afternoon.

The Publicity Committee has promised telephonic reports on the results of today's elections if any tabulations are made before the meeting adjourns.

Parliamentary procedure tests have been issued to members of the assembly by Peter Gerns, par-

Jules Art Exhibit Is Person Feature

An art exhibit by Mervin Jules, valued at $4200, is currently being exhibited at Person Hall art gallery.

Mr. Jules, Associate Professor of Art at Smith College, is one of America's outstanding painters and art educators, and his 12-painting exhibit is one of the best to reach this campus, the art department here reports.

Mr. Jules will visit the campus on April 24 to close the exhibit with a lecture on "Problems in Art Education."

The artist's works have been shown in many art centers of the world including Carnegie International, the Chicago and New York's World Fairs, in England, and the International Exposition of Modern Art in Paris.

Mr. Jules' paintings are represented in 19 of the country's outstanding galleries including: The Metropolitan Museum of Art, State Department Collection, and the Encyclopedia Britannica Collection.

The 27 year-old painter is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Maryland Institute and worked at Art Student League in New York.

CH Negro Nominated For Aldermen Board

Rev. J. H. Jones, Negro pastor of the Mt. Zion and New Hope Baptist churches in Chapel Hill was nominated at a mass meeting last night to run for the Board of Aldermen in the Chapel Hill city elections next month.

Jones was nominated on the first ballot at a meeting attended by some 300 persons, Dick Koral, publicity chairman of Jones' campaign said. Koral added that the candidate will go the the City Hall today to formally file for the race. His $65 filing fee was raised on the floor of the meeting, which was held in the Community Center.

Holy Week Program Released By Yates

Rev. David Yates announced yesterday the schedule for Holy Week in the Episcopal Church. Monday through Thursday, morning and afternoon Holy Communion services are planned. In the mornings, Communion is to be held at 7:15 and 10 o'clock. Afternoon services are scheduled for 5:15 o'clock, except on Wednesday, when the service will be at 4:30.

In addition to the regularly scheduled Holy Communion services, there will be an 8 o'clock service on Maundy Thursday.

On Good Friday Rev. Mr. Yates said there will be a three hour service from noon to 3 o'clock. Holy Baptism is scheduled for 4 o'clock Saturday.

Entry Deadline For Song Fest Set for Friday

Deadline for submitting entries for the Valkyrie Sing has been extended until Friday, Co-chairman Teeny Royall and Sue Stokes announced yesterday.

The annual competitive song fest will be held April 25 in Memorial Hall, and all campus organizations are invited to enter a group of not less than eight persons to vie for two loving cups, one to be presented to a men's group and one to a women's. Last year's winners were Sigma Chi fraternity and Chi Omega sorority.

Each entering group must submit its theme and the sings to be used to either of the co-chairmen, who can be reached on third floor McIver, and must pay an entrance fee of $2 before the Friday deadline. Miss Royall said yesterday that several groups which have already submitted their themes have failed to make their $2 payment and should do so immediately.

Rehearsal time for each participating group will be arranged during the week preceeding the Sing, and a lighting technician will be available. Performances are limited to nine minutes, and a maximum of $5 may be spent on costumes and props. Only hand props will be allowed.

Dr. Marshall Will Describe Lnnar Eclipse

Swain Hall Talk To Be Broadcast

Dr. Roy K. Marshall, director of the Morehead Planetarium, will describe the total lunar eclipse, which is scheduled to appear tonight, at 11:30 o'clock, in a 15-minute broadcast over Radio Station WPTF in Raleigh. The description will originate in front of Swain Hall, and is being arranged by the Communication Center.

Said to be the first time such a broadcast has originated in the South, the program will begin during the total eclipse, which is scheduled to begin around 9:28 when the moon will begin to pass into the shadow of the earth. By 10:28 the last remaining bright portion of the moon will vanish.

"An eclipse of the moon occurs," Dr. Marshall explains, "because the moon, in its monthly trip around the earth, passes into the earth's shadow. At the time of a full moon, the sun and the moon stand on opposite sides of the earth, and the moon rises at sunset.

"It is only occasionally that the moon passes through the shadow, however, because the moon's path around the earth is tilted a bit, and the moon usually passes above or below the earth's shadow. When the geometrical situation is just right, though, the moon does pass through the shadow and an eclipse occurs."

Room Registration Deadline For Summer, Fall Is Friday

April 15 is the deadline for room reservation deposits for the men for summer and fall sessions James E. Wadsworth, director of the Housing Office, said yesterday. Students now assigned to dormitory rooms have the privilege of reserving space for the summer and fall terms. The summer school deposit is $12, and the fall quarter deposit is $6, Wadsworth said.

Room reservation deposits must be made with the University Cashier in the basement of South Building. If a deposit is not made, the present dormitory occupant reverts to his proper place on the priority schedule, Wadsworth added.

Students in the Quonset Huts, Miller Hall, and those who live in town may apply for dormitory space by paying deposits.

A room reserved for the summer only does not entitle the occupant to that space in the fall, Wadsworth said.

Six dormitories will not be available this summer. They are Whitehead, Everett, Alexander, "C", Aycock, and Lewis. Occupants of these buildings who plan to attend summer school will be assigned to other rooms. All nongraduate students living in "B" will be given other rooms for the summer, as this dormitory will be used for graduate students. Alexander and Stacy Dormitories will be used to house new freshmen in September; therefore, students in these buildings who will return in September will be assigned to other rooms.

Fire Guts Home Monday Morning

A Negro residence located at the corner of Church and Caldwell streets was completely gutted by fire around 11:30 yesterday morning. The house was occupied by the family of Napoleon Jones, a janitor with the University.

Firemen arrived on the scene of the fire within a few minutes of the alarm, but were unable to do more than save the walls and prevent the fire from spreading to neighboring houses. They arrived too late to save any of the household furnishings.

The six-room dwelling, owned by Winslow Williams of Carrboro, is located outside Chapel Hill limits and firemen had some difficulty getting a sufficient water supply to control the fire.

No estimates of the damage was available several hours after the mishap.

Last Coed Senate Meeting Tonight

Coed Senate will hold its final meeting of the year tonight at 6:30 in Roland Parker Lounge number 1 of Graham Memorial. It will be the final session of all old members. The newly elected senators are asked to be present.

All yearly reports from the Senate committees will be due in at this time. Final approval of the Senate budget for the coming year is scheduled for this meeting. The new budget to be presented was drawn up by Barbara Ann Covington, treasurer, Jean McKeithan, chairman of the Subsidiary Organizations Committee, Marie Nussbaum, Secretary of the Senate, Patricia Denning, Dick Gordon, chairman of the Student Audit Board, and

Dames Will Hear Talk by Wettach

Mrs. Robert H. Wettach will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Carolina Dames Club to be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. She will speak on "The Pre-school Child in the Home."

"Ashby's", a Charlotte store, will display latest styles in children's and maternity clothes.

Members of the Dames Club at Duke will be special guests at this meeting.

DICK GORDON AND BILL MACKIE, above, are the two main figures in today's run-off election. Gordon, the University party candidate for the presidency has also been endorsed by the Campus party. Mackie heads the Student party ticket. The two candidates eliminated Charlie Long, CP candidate, from the race in the general election last week. Gordon is running with Ted Leonard, UP nominee for vice-president, and Mackie has Al Lowenstein as his running mate against Leonard.

GUSC Wants Life Seat On Board For Graham

The Greater University Student Council, meeting here Sunday afternoon, adopted a list of qualifications that it decided the new president of the University should have, and passed on a motion that a request be sent, as a resolution, that the Council favors Dr. Frank Graham be given a life-long seat on the Board of Trustees.

The resolution favoring Dr. Graham will be sent to Rep. John B. Umstead, for further reference.

As stated by the Council, the list of qualifications is to stimulate discussion and thought by the students of the three branches of the Greater University, in hope that the students would be assured of consideration when the time comes to select the new president.

The list of qualifications, drawn up as a statement to the students was as follows:

"We, the Student Council of the Greater University, meeting Sunday, April 10, do submit the following qualifications to our respective student bodies, which we deem desirable in the selection of a president of the Greater University. We do this in hope that it will stimulate discussion by our student bodies and assure us consideration by the Governor and the Board of Trustees in the selection of the new president of the Greater University.

1. That he be an educator, a man who understands, respects, and encourages free student thought.

2. A man of character and great courage of conviction who stands on intellectual integrity.

3. An administrator aware of the problems peculiar to education who will look with equal interest upon the welfare and needs of the three schools.

4. A man whose knowledge and understanding will influence the affairs of our time.

5. A man who appreciates the problems and traditions peculiar to this region of the country.

6. A man whose life reflects religious zeal.

We hope that no means will be spared in searching the entire nation to secure the most outstanding man. There is no person more important to the welfare of our state than the man whose duty it is to educate the youth of this state in higher education."

Taking up old business, the Council ran quickly over the proposals for the key, to be presented to members after a years serv-

(See GUSC page 4)

Invitations Are Available Today

Graduation invitations will be on sale in the "Y" from 9 to 3 o'clock today. The Grail is extending the sale due to many requests. This is the last chance to buy invitations, Bob Kirkland said. The final order will be wired tomorrow.

Student Recitals To Be This Week

Three University music students will give recitals in Hill Hall here during the coming week.

Sam Greene, Jr., of Mooresboro, and Harold Andrews, Durham, both juniors, will give a joint recital tomorrow night, at 8:30. Greene is a baritone and will be accompanied at the piano by William Waters, Roanoke Rapids. Andrews will give a piano recital.

On Thursday, Sybil Drake, Minden, La., will give her graduating piano recital at 8:30.

Greene's program will include a group of German songs by Schumann, Brahms and Wolf, and "Parsifal."

Andrews will play French Suite No. 5 in G major, by Bach; Sonata in B flat major, Op. 22, by Beethoven, and several selections by Debussy and Rachmaninoff.

Dr. Jan P. Schinhan, professor of organ and piano, will conclude the program with four selections.

Mumford To Talk To Faculty Club

The University Faculty Club will have a luncheon meeting at 1 o'clock tomorrow at the Carolina Inn. Lewis Mumford, critic, author, lecturer, and visiting professor of the School of Design at State College, will speak on "North Carolina and Decentralization."

Contest To Settle Two Top Positions

Mackie, Gordon in President Race; 42 Other Offices Set To Be Filled

By Charles McCorkle

A thundering neck-and-neck race for the presidency and vice-presidency of the student body moves into the home stretch today as the run-off spring general election reaches a climax at the ballot boxes.

Polling places will be open from 9 o'clock this morning until 6 o'clock this evening. All students, special, graduate and otherwise, are privileged to vote upon showing their official identification card, or a valid substitute obtained from Central Records office.

For the top position on the campus, Dick Gordon (UP) and Bill Mackie (SP) are still in the race. Ted Leonard (UP) and Al Lowenstein (SP) are in the running for vice-president.

Other campus-wide offices to be settled in the run-off:

For member-at-large to the Publications Board: Bill Buchan (CP) and Billy Carmichael (UP).

For three members-at-large to the Student Council: Dick Allsbrook (SP), Roy Holsten (UP), Peggy Martin (UP), Ted Young (UP).

On the men's ballot:

For three seats on the Student Council: Kyle Barnes (UP), Dan Bell (SP), Pete Peters (UP), Cam West (SP). For two junior members to the Men's Council: Charlie Fox (Selection Board), Marvin Nathan (Ind.), Bob Payne (Sel. Bd.). For two sophomore members to the Men's Council: Tommy Coxe, Bunny Davis, Garland Johnson, all nominated by the Selection Board.

On the women's ballot:

For speaker of the Coed Senate: Patricia Denning and Marie Nussbaum. For two Coed Senate seats from Spencer: Connie Conley, Mac Copenhaver, Sara Oliver.

For three seats on the Student Council: Kitty Altizer (SP), Charleen Greer (UP), Barbara Lowe (SP), Sally Osborne (SP).

For Women's Athletic Association secretary: Connie Conley and Carolina Guthrie.

For two members-at-large to the Women's Council: Nancy Curtis, Gene Denbo, Barbara Lunsford. For three seniors to the Women's Council: Pat Chandler, Patty Ann Frizzell, Barbara Payne, Harriet Williamson.

For sophomore president: Joe Privott (CP), Dalton Ruffin (UP); vice-president: Bob Evans (SP), Archie Myatt (CP); secretary: Madge Crawford (UP), Bill McLendon (SP); treasurer: Tom Mayfield (CP), Zane Robbins (UP).

For senior secretary: Amecia Eure (UP), Anita Gates (SP); treasurer: Nat Swann (SP), Jim Twine (UP).

For the Student Legislature:

Dorm Women I: Jean Cashion (SP), Marylin Meeks (CP); Dorm Women II: Daisy Belle Anderson (SP), Mac Copenhaver (UP); for three seats. Dorm Men I: Dan Ashby (CP), Jack Rock (CP), Charlie Trent (CP), Claude Wilson (SP-UP); for three seats. Dorm Men II: Graham Jones (SP), Jim Montague (CP), Ed Williams (CP), Herb Yates (SP); for three seats. Dorm Men III: Julian Albergotti (UP), Moe Huntley (UP), Sol Kimerling (SP), Bob Smith (CP); for two six-month terms. Dorm Men III: Marsden deRosset (UP), Will Landon (SP); for two seats, Dorm Men IV: Jim Houser (SP), Bobby Wilmoth (UP), Al Winn (CP); for one seat. Dorm Men V: Ed Best (CP), Tom Wharton (UP).

Voting places in today's run-off election include:

All students living in Stacy, Graham, Aycock, Lewis and Everett vote in Aycock. Those living in 'C', Grimes, Mangum, Manley and Emerson (dorm 2) vote in Mangum. Students in 'A', 'B',

(See ELECTION page 4)

on the Political Front

with Charles McCorkle

At the End of the Rope

AFTER MONTHS OF CAMPAIGNING AND POLITICKING here we are at the end of our rope—and for some of us, that goes literally. For today is run-off day, climaxing 1949 spring general elections. After today's voting (between 9 and 6o'clock at your favorite polling place), after tonight's counting, and after tomorrow's post-mortems it will all be over until next December and some more elections.

And the End of the Race

HERE ARE YOUR CANDIDATES. For president of the student body, we have two distinguished gentlemen in the run-off. Dick Gordon, running on the University Party ticket has served a year as chairman of the Student Audit Board and also spent a year as business manager of the Yackety Yack. Bill Mackie, his Student Party opponent, has been chairman of the Student Council for the past year, has served in the Legislature and was one of the writers of the first student budget under the present constitution.

For vice-president, we have Ted Leonard (UP) and Al Lowenstein (SP). Ted has spent quite a bit of time in the Legislature, serving this past year as chairman of the Elections Committee. Al has served in the Student Council and the Legislature, and was one of the original writers of the student constitution.

We're Boycotting the Weatherman

WE'RE NOT GOING TO MENTION THE WEATHER in today's column. The last time we reported that the weatherman said fair and mild, and election day turned out cold and rainy. So we don't even intend to repeat the weather bureau's prophecy for tomorrow. If you're interested, take a look at the upper right hand corner of the page. If you really want to know, don't believe what it says there.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Margaret Claston, Sam McKeel, Leonard Dudley, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Wink Locklair, J. L. Merritt, Virginia Forward, Art Xanthos, Fred McGee, Graham Jones, Emily Baker, Jack English, Bob Barnes, Hamlin Garland, Sam Whitehall, Charles McCorkle.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

It's Up to the Politicians Now

During the last few weeks the question has often been asked, "Why should I vote? What has student government done for me?" Frankly, this is the $64 question about which our campus politicans should be more concerned. In the majority of cases grand promises are made during election campaigns and then promptly forgotten. The result comes on election day when a few people come to the polls to vote. And if the truth were known, a large bloc would probably admit to voting more against personalities than for positive policies.

Looking back over the three years since the war, we can see little positive action which has come from student government which has affected the students one iota. Prices in Chapel Hill have been talked about. Talk is all. Seating in Kenan Stadium came up and there action was taken so that students received a thousand seats on the fifty-yard line. The Scuttlebutt was torn down; and, so far as the average student knows, not a murmur was raised. The parking problem was solved by restricting parking. That reminds us that any pain can be cured if you just lop off the offending part of the body. Student entertainment, vital to a well-rounded education has received about as much attention from student government as an illegitimate child at a famly reunion. Our justice system is based on a system of having the prosecutor judge the victim as soon as the prosecution is finished.

Today we will decide who will direct the destinies of our government for another year. A lot of promises have been made. The important question is whether or not those promises will be fulfilled. Will an honest attempt be made to reach solutions to student problems. Nine months hence we will have the answer, and on that answer will hang the question of whether or not student government will again be ignored at the polls. —B.T.

Thanks for a Job Well-Done

With today's issue, the Daily Tar Heel changes management. At this time the new editor and his staff would like to take the opportunity to thank Ed Joyner, retiring editor, for the hard work he and his associates have put in while giving the Carolina students one of the best collegiate papers in the country.

Probably few people on this campus realize just how much of Ed's college life has been taken up by work in publications. During 1947-48 he was managing editor, which entailed the endless task of overseeing the front page of the paper six days a week every week. His election to the editorship last year meant added responsibility, with little monetary payment in return.

When classes were out, most of his friends headed for an afternoon at the tennis courts, the golf course, or at the movie. Ed went to work in his office. We all were quick to criticize his errors, but few were those who remembered to congratulate him for the countless good features of his paper.

Ed Joyner can sit back and take a well-deserved rest now. Our hats are off to him.

A Word on DTH Policy

Something new to the Daily Tar Heel's editorial page will be tried this spring. The innovation is a Board of Editors, composed by a group of outstanding campus leaders, for the purpose of determining the paper's editorial policy on the various issues which arise. Ed Tenney, Banks Talley, Severn Wallis, and Dave Sharpe comprise the representative group.

Present plans call for these persons to meet daily for a short informal discussion of various topics of campus interest. The editorials you read on this page will be a product of the views expressed in these discussions. This system should provide the DTH's editorialists with an ample supply of subjects and enable them to present all sides of every issue.

There will be no drastic changes in the makeup of the Daily Tar Heel. The staff will be essentially the same. Sally Woodhull, who did a great job of filling in as managing editor when Chuck Hauser dropped out of school, graduates this spring and wants to curtail her activities somewhat. But she plans to take over the position of officer manager and set up a system which will bring a little more order to the office. Bill Buchan will be the new managing editor. Other key positions will be filled by C. B. Mendenhall, business manager; Billy Carmichael, sports editor; and Shasta Bryant, circulation manager.

All are working for a better student newspaper. Criticism and suggestions will be appreciated, and there are vacancies on the staff right now which are open to prospective journalists.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HONOLULU, Hawaii, April 10.—If this piece seems a trifle disjointed I have a plausible excuse to offer. It's the first time I ever flew across the ocean in a cocktail lounge.

I have been in cocktail lounges and thought the ocean was heaving under me, but this time it's literally true. Aviation has progressed to the point where you can fly from San Francisco to Hawaii on half a dozen highballs.

Ah, the modern romance of it! The smell—I mean spell—of the islands is upon me. There's a lei around my neck and peace in my soul. I think I'll go out and catch myself some poi.

I came out on the inaugural voyage of Pan-American's new stratosphere clipper; the great double-decked wonder, which features a cocktail lounge in its underbelly—if Juan Trippe will excuse the vulgarism. Some have been calling it a "maiden" voyage, but that does not seem too apt as the passengers were mostly guys.

The ship is so big you don't get around to see everybody on board, but the only dolls I spotted among the 64 passengers and crew of 10 were Miss Virginia Warren, the California governor's daughter; her young girl friend, and a stewardess who hinted, rather primly, that one is not wise to get stiff at an altitude of 25,000 feet.

This seemed a little unscientific on the part of the dame because Mr. Alfred "Mike" Flynn, of Pan-American, had just told us that the cabin is pressurized so that one gets the same pressure and oxygen as at 3,000 feet.

We were due to leave San Francisco at 9 a.m. but when we got to the airport a batch of radio operators were picketing because telephones in the stratocruisers have thrown them out of jobs.

On the list of passengers was John Shelley, president of the California State Federation of Labor, and a state AFL president does not go ploughing through picket lines—if he wishes to remain president. Gov. Warren had blithely crossed the same line the day before to dedicate the ship, and his daughter snuck through with us, but you would have thought the pickets carried high voltage the way President Shelley fell back.

He was aching to make the trip because of his craving for pineapples and also because a number of his pals were going along; one being Mr. Bernando Courtright, president of the Beverly Hills hotel.

Personally, I do not understand how a labor man gets to know the head of such a swanky hotel, but there are things about labor I never will understand. Incidentally, Mr. Mr. Courtright was able to make the trip because his missus Rosalind Courtright, is also gainfully employed. She opened her high-class singing act in San Francisco's Fairmount Hotel the night before we departed.

Mr. Courtright remarked, in his courtly old-world style, that it was nice to know money was coming in while he lolled on the beach at Waikiki.

Anyway, we delayed our take-off while the labor leader burned up the wires to New York trying to get special dispensation to crash the picket line. He must be a great special pleader because the radio operators were rehired—and at a pay boost, yet.

This whole thing was accomplished while we waited on the runway—a tedious wait, because the bar does not open until the ship leaves the ground. I expected a train butcher to come through any minute, crying: "No stratocruisers will be sold intil the highball leaves the station!"

A Subject for Discussion

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Charlie's Follies

A Grim Fairy Tale

By Charlie Gibson

Once upon a time there were two blind mice. In fact these two mice were blind enough and big enough to be considered outright rats. Why, they were so blind sometimes that they mistook the Bell Tower for Dean Carroll's grading pencil—his shaft, in other words.

These two rats did not get along too well, either. Basically, their difference of opinion was a matter of diet and taste. One of them got fat off throw-aways from the Carolina Inn vicinity, and the other one stayed slender on crumbs from the Lenior hall area.

All the time these two fought and fought over an amazing question, which was better—to have some meats on the menu for both dinner and supper the way the Inn does it or to have less choice meats but more variety from meal to meal the way Lenior does it? Yes, they fussed and they fussed, and the rat in Lenior was sure he had the biggest kick and the least cheese coming.

Their feud was getting so bad that folks were afraid both rats might boycott meats entirely, try to eat the crumbs left over from the tiny salads served in both cafeterias, and thus starve to death. Just then a rumor spread. Could it be true that during one of their tussels, the Inn rat had gotten the Lenior rat all too fat all too suddenly?

Believe it or not, this rumor was true, and the child mouse was christened Campus Rat. Now Campus was originally a beautiful child, and his skin was as smooth as pre-registration. If Campus ate at both Lenior and the Inn, then surely he could be popular with everybody, couldn't he?

Well, he tried. Unfortunately, though, the mama Lenior hall rat soon gave birth to another little stranger whose origin was so suspicious that she did not even bother about naming him. This mouse was not at all genteel. No, it was loud-squeaking, and its skin was rougher like the Chapel Hill parking problem. Yet to everybody's surprise, Campus did befriend its half-brother rat.

For a short while the youngsters were buddies, awfully chummy and blissful. But then they got so happy and planned to eat so much at Lenior and the Inn together that they almost choked themselves with dreamy speculations. The newcomer had been flattering Campus' appetite too much, you see. And when this choking-up led to a colic worse than alcoholic, both the youngsters hurried to papa rat at the Inn for an unjamming pat on the back.

Instead he slapped them in the face and laughed. This would just teach those two not to gobble up so much of his food. And mama rat, when they came back to her as second choice, roared laughing at them, too. Her crumbs were scarcer than ever, and to "L" or even to Duke with her rat-brats!

Now there is a powerful alley cat living in the basement of South building whom too many people overlook, and one day when the two young mice were dashing back and forth between mama and papa rat begging to be taken in, this tough pussy grabbed them both and—.

But wouldn't you rather that this fable ended better, that Campus at least escaped being eaten up; that he wised up somehow before it was too late, and lived happily ever after?

Moral: To err is human, to forgive is divine, but to recognize and remember the error for a LONG, LONG time is very smart.

Pitching Over-shoes

From Politics To The Beach

By Tom Wharton

Today being the day of the run-off elections, it seems only natural that it should be hacked up a bit by columnists trying to think of something to write about. It is always harder to turn out a decent sized vote on the run-off than it is for the first vote, although we can't be proud of the volume of voting that took place last Tuesday.

It is a shame that so much of our alleged Carolina Spirit only shows up in Kenan Stadium on Saturday afternoons in the fall. If some of the worldwise, back booth, Monday morning quarterbacks that profess to hate campus politics so much would settle down and realize that their seating section in Kenan Stadium on Saturday afternoons in the fall is a direct product of student government, alias, "campus politics," maybe we would have a student government that is as good as a lot of people outside think it is.

Some of the other cats who follow the popular trend to express ignorance and cynicism regarding "campus politics" are very naturally frightened by hints here and there that parking space, even the rights of students to have automobiles here, may be limited by the trustees or whatever powers-that-be. They should have paid a little attention to the campus politician that tried to solicit their vote so that he could get up on the floor of the legislature and pull for ample parking space for all student-owned automobiles "in the Planetarium if necessary."

Well, we still have a chance today to put in some good experienced men in the office of the Presidency and Vice-presidency. Of course, if one doesn't know any more about a candidate than the way his name sounds to one when one tries to pronounce it, one's ballot may be better if left blank.

* * *

With the advent of spring weather some of the local talent is migrating to the saltier atmosphere of the beaches these days. We may expect to start seeing peeled faces and bleached hair in classes, some of us lucky ones will see them in the mirror if we are able to see at all. For those of us who find it hard to conduct such long-range operations there are always the neighboring lakes. Hogan's and Eastwood by name, close by. They have their attributes too. Eastwood has some awfully nice woods, but watch out in the water. In the spring a young mud turtle's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love too.

Hogan's Lake is O. K. too even if you do have to use several blankets to pad all the rocks that stick up out of the ground out there. The boats at Hogan's are inclined to leak just a tad in places, usually in the bottom. If you don't believe that, ask Jack Taylor, prominent member of the Order of the Golden Bear, who will tell you that something was darn sure leaking in his boat out there last year about this time.

The thing that is most dangerous is probably the Monday morning in class after returning from an excursion like the ones just mentioned. The faculty has been known to take a bitter view of students who run off to the beach and such places on week ends while they have to sit here and work on their doctors' dissipations and figure up pop-quizzes to be administered Monday morning.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BACKING GORDON

Editor:

We ask to take this opportunity to endorse Dick Gordon for President of the Student Body.

Fran Angas, Scotty Venable, Vic Seixas, Bill Maceyko, Sam Magill, Bill Duncan, Bill Miller.

ENDORSE LEONARD

Editor:

In the interest of better student government and a working and revitalized student legislature, I respectfully submit to the student body at large the following statements issued by several of our campus leaders in support of Ted Leonard for vice-president of the student body.

Fletcher Harris

For a working legislature and effective student government, I urge all my friends who supported me in the general election to vote for Ted Leonard, a person of great integrity and outstanding ability.

Banks Talley

In order to have young, fresh and stimulating ideas in student government and an efficient student legislature, my support is for Ted Leonard. I ask you for the same.

Gus Johnston

If the coeds of the University want help in re-organizing their student legislature, they will find that help in Ted Leonard. I am confident that Ted will give his utmost cooperation in carrying out the plans presented to the student legislature by the investigating committee.

Fran Angos

In student government, we need well-rounded leaders. Our leaders should be those who consider the average students and not one extreme or the other. Fellow students, Ted Leonard is one of these leaders. So I urge you to cast your vote for Ted, the average student's representative.

Charlie Smith

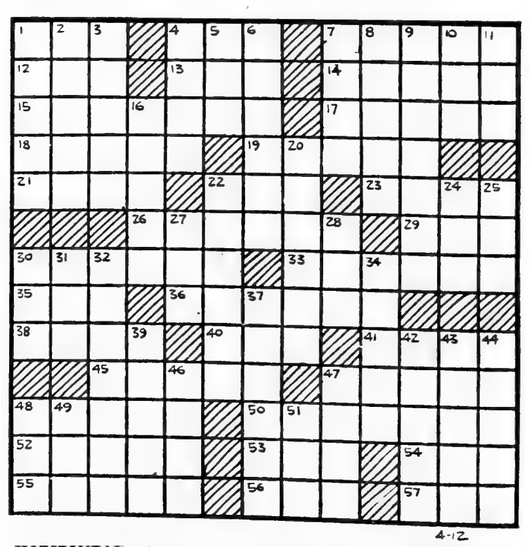
In the interest of a re-organized, invigorated coed government, I ask for the coed support of Ted Leonard in the coming run-off election. He has the dependability and initiative to work with the student legislature toward this end.

Weddy Thorpe

In the interest of a working student government that will mean more to the students than mere words, it is my belief that Ted Leonard is the man for the position of vice-president of the student body. If good government is desired, then qualified men must be selected.

Vic Seixas

FAVOR LOWENSTEIN

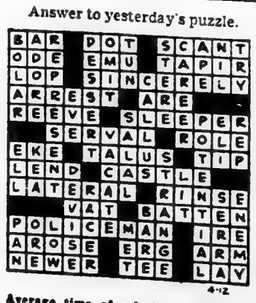


We believe the election for Vice President of the Student Body is especially important this year because the Student Legislature over which the Vice President presides, is facing decisive tests of its integrity and effectiveness.

We have known Al Lowenstein, who is one of the candidates for Vice President, and we have found him to be a hard-working person whose honesty and courage we have come to admire. His feet are on the ground, his principles are sound, and his idealism is healthy.

He served for eleven months on the committee of nine which wrote the Student Constitution. He has worked in every field of student government, and has represented Carolina creditably in dealings with other student bodies; but more than that, he has participated in many different aspects of campus life, and his outlook on student problems is free of the narrowness which can limit the usefulness of people who are active only in student government work.

We are writing this letter as individuals who have known Al in various capacities, and we speak only for ourselves. We are persons who have not always agreed with one another in the past, but we are united in the belief that he is the best qualified of the candidates running for Vice President in this important election.



Tom Eller, past President of the Student Body; Bill Miller, past University Party candidate for President of the Student Body; Chuck Northend, member UP steering committee; Harold Bursley; John Hough; Emily Baker, Speaker of the Coed Senate; Rita Adams, Editor, Coed handbook; Ferne Hughes, President of the Pan-Hellenic Council; Sam Magill, Chairman of the Graham Memorial Board of Directors; Ed Joyner, former Editor of the Daily Tar Heel; Bill Buchan, Managing Editor of the Daily Tar Heel; Pete Burks President of the Y. M.-C. A.; Barbara Lowe, President of the Women's Interdormitory Council; Basil Sherrill, President of the Law School Association.

HORIZONTAL
1. Indian moccasin
4. hostel
7. sufficient
12. anecdotes
13. female deer
14. wearies
15. children's play-suit
17. town in England
18. mental concepts
19. doubles
21. vend
22. wing
23. blast
26. pierces
29. former Senator
30. drinking toast
33. ate sparingly
35. eternity
36. bagpipe players
38. network
40. hurried
41. variable star
45. fall flower
47. mix-up
48. menu card
50. machines for dressing wool
52. constellation
53. eagle
54. equal: comb. form
55. halts
56. division of time
57. cotton fiber knot

VERTICAL
1. capital of France
2. positive pole
3. humped-back ruminant
4. March date
5. correlative of neither
6. cuddle
7. mythological king
8. bearings
9. gift
10. headed
11. S-shaped worm
16. whitens
20. prison official
22. clothing
24. affirmative vote
25. primary color
27. pinch
28. title of address
30. by
31. fish eggs
32. Great Lake
34. serfs
37. separated
39. bar oneself from acting
42. constituent of fatty oils
43. stanza
44. Greek author of fables
46. decimal units
47. numerous
48. variety of lettuce
49. aptitude
51. epoch

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

4-12

Average time of solution: 24 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Tar Heels Start Series With Demon Deacons Today

Tranavitch or Cassell Prepared To Pitch in Emerson Contest

By Buddy Vaden

The general opinion prevalent around the Big Four circuit these days is that Wake Forest is going to dethrone the defending champion Tar Heels of North Carolina for the 1949 Big Four and Southern Conference baseball crown. Some light will be thrown on the question this afternoon when Carolina will play host to the Deacons at Emerson Stadium. Game time is 4 o'clock.

It will be the first Big Four game of the schedule for Coach Bunn Hearn's crew and Hearn will start either Andy Tranavitch or Dean Cassell on the mound in an attempt to get a jump ahead of the potent Deacs. Carolina and Wake Forest are currently tied for first place in the Conference along with Richmond and South Carolina.

Both Carolina and Wake Forest have played and won two conference games. In all games—conference and non-conference—the Deacons have a record of eight wins and no defeats while the Tar Heels have played ten games, losing only the opener to Florida.

In the past contests the Tar Heels have been blessed with strong hitting—hitting that has on 13 occasions gone for two bases. No less than 12 triples have been knocked out by the defending champs. Stan Goodman and Sleepy Senter each have one home run to their credit.

With three regulars batting over the .400 mark, the Carolina lineup offers batting power hard to equal. Right Fielder Ed Lamb is leading the club with an impressive .444 mark. In his 20 hits tallied in 45 trips to the plate, Lamb had knocked out five doubles and one triple.

Shortstop Rip Ryan is coasting along with a .416 average. Despite his erratic fielding, Ryan has been a booster in the lineup and his timely hitting has accounted for many a Tar Heel run. He has crossed the plate nine times himself and has collected three triples and a double in his 36 trips to the plate.

Third man in the batting average department is Outfielder Zero Allen. Allen has tallied 12 hits in eight games for a .413 record. Following Allen is Catcher Sid Varney with a .380 average. Varney is slated to start in today's game.

Wake Forest inaugurated the Big Four schedule last Saturday with a 6-3 win over the Blue Devils of Duke. Duke Hurler Al Curtis throttled the Deacon stick attack for six innings, but the Deacs came through in the seventh with a four hit-three run barrage to break a one-one deadlock. Included among the hits was a 340-foot homer by Third Baseman Gene Hooks and a lengthy double by ace hurler Dick Vander Clute.

In all, the Deacons tallied ten hits off Curtis, two each by Art Hoch, Joe Fulghum, and Wiley Warren. Previously the Deacons had defeated Washington and Lee in their only other Conference

Coach Hearn was none too optimistic over the outcome of today's game. Hearn said he imagined "Wake Forest has the finest team in the Conference." He also said he felt his defending championship squad had been a little bit lucky so far this year.

Batting Averages

With three weeks of the baseball season gone, three regulars are still maintaining a batting average of .400 or better. Outfielder Ed Lamb is leading the parade with a .444 average racked up on 20 hits in 45 trips to the plate.

In the extra base department Lamb is leading the pack with five doubles to his credit. Rip Ryan has tallied three triples and a double to pace Lamb.

The overall picture looks like this:

PLAYER	AB	R	H	2B	3B	AVG.
Ed Lamb	45	10	20	5	0	.444
Rip Ryan	36	9	15	1	3	.416
Zero Allen	29	10	12	0	0	.413
Sid Varney	21	4	8	2	1	.380
Joe Eldridge	16	2	6	1	0	.375
Stan Goodman	30	8	10	1	0	.333
Joe Brookshire	15	4	5	0	0	.333
C. Gurganus	21	7	7	0	1	.333
John Senter	24	6	8	0	2	.250
Don Ward	12	1	3	0	0	.250
Will Hobbs	45	11	11	1	1	.244
Les Couch	15	1	2	0	1	.133
Ray Blair	10	2	5	1	0	.500
Tommy Andrew	4	1	1	0	0	.250
Dean Cassell	9	1	2	0	0	.222
Bill McGinn	5	0	1	0	0	.200

Tar Babies Face Deacon Freshmen In Opener Today

An unknown quantity will undergo its first acid test this afternoon when the Carolina freshman baseball squad journeys to Wake Forest to play the Deacon frosh in a junior Big Four contest. For the Tar Babies it will be the opening clash of tentative 16 game schedule and the first of three slated contests with the yearlings from Baptist Hollow.

Not much is known of the Wake Forest frosh but perenially the Baptists turn out superior nines and this year should be no exception. An indication of the Baby Deacs prowess could be the resounding 10-3 setback they handed the Blue Imps of Duke in their last outing.

Nevertheless, Tar Baby coaches Henry House and Jim Hamilton are fairly optimistic over the outcome and bank their hopes on the nine North Carolina boys that compose today's starting lineup. After over three weeks of continuous practice the squad has been cut down to 27 youngsters and from these 27, mentors House and Hamilton feel that their first nine can give anybody a good scrap.

In a practice game last Saturday, the Tar Babies demonstrated some powerful hitting with better than adequate hurling but a slight weakness did appear in the infield fielding. However it is hoped that some of these flaws can be ironed out by game time this afternoon.

The bulk of the Carolina hitting strength will rest on big Ben Smith, a first basemen from Wilson, centerfielder Bob Stewart of Greensboro and left-handed hitting Bill Lambert, a product of Biscoe, N. C. Another promising prospect is third sacker, Russell Whiteheart who is following the baseball footsteps of his older brother Monk Whiteheart a Tar Heel hurling great of several years past.

The chucking chores for today have been delegated to Monroe Johnson a right-hander from Spindale, N. C. who start the fray and will probably be relieved in the middle innings by Henry Schacht, a slight south-

(See TAR BABIES, page 4)

Fifteen Tilts Slated For Freshman Nine

Here is the complete schedule for Carolina's freshman baseball team.

April 12—Wake Forest there; 20—Wake Forest here; 23— N. C. State here; 26—Duke University there; 27—Greensboro High there; 28—N. C. State there; 30—Wake Forest there.

May 3—Duke University here; 5—Greensboro High here; 6—Salisbury High here; 11—N. C. State here; 14—Duke University there; 16—N. C. State there; 18 Wake Forest here; 21—Duke University here.

Tar Heel - Deac Meet Rained Out; Locals Face Albright Here Today

With their Southern Conference and Big Four debut spoiled by yesterday's rain, Carolina's varsity netmen will try again this afternoon when they play host to Albright College at 3 o'clock.

Coach Kenfield's netters, possessors of a clean slate of eight wins and no losses, were scheduled to take on Wake Forests' Deacons here yesterday, but the local percipitation forced a postponement of the meet. The two teams will meet here next Monday instead.

With Victor Seixas and Clark Taylor holding down the number one and two positions, the Tar Heels will be in the favored role again this afternoon.

Four of Carolina's top seven singles players are still unbeaten. These are Seixas, Charlie Rice, Stan Gruner, and Jim Winstead. Taylor and Duke Wilder have met defeat only once, while Laslie Dameron has been beaten twice in singles competition.

The locals are also potent in the doubles department, with Seixas, Taylor, Rice, and Gruner leading the way.

The Tar Heels compiled a string of eight victories by defeating Michigan State, Haverford, and Williams twice each, and triumphing over Yale and Harvard once each.

The Tar Heels' chief weakness is still their lack of reserve strength. Several of the substitute netters have shown marked improvement since the season began, however.

Coach Kenfield's courtmen were almost upset by Williams College in their last outing, but the locals managed to squeeze by the visitors, 8-7.

The Tar Heels have five more home meets before hitting the road. Their first meet away from home is at Charlottesville against the University of Virginia.

After their home stand is over, the Carolina netmen will undertake a Northern tour, during which they will meet some of the nation's stronger teams.

The only defeat the locals suffered last year was at the hands of their Southern Conference rival, William and Mary.

Muscling In!!!

Weight Lifting Team Added To Carolina Sports Program

By Wuff Newell

With new sports cropping up about as fast as barriers on all the paths around the Morehead Planetarium, no one will be at all surprised to learn that Carolina now has a weightlifting team. And not only has a weightlifting team sprung up here, but four of its members have just placed in the three top winners' spots in the Carolinas AAU and Southern Open Weightlifting Championships in Charlotte Saturday.

Hero of the day at the meet was little Charlie Ufen, who placed first in the 132 pound class. Ufen, by lifting a total of 545 pounds, beat Bill Watson of High Point and became the first person to defeat him in ten years.

Ufen's scores for the day were 165 pounds in the press, 160 pounds in the snatch and 215 pounds in the clean and jerk.

But he wasn't the only victorious Tar Heel. In the 123 pound class Bobby Shuman placed second by lifting a total of 395 pounds in the three Olympic lifts.

Darrell Byerly, who kept basketball fans in a state of breath-holding and excitement with his between the halves tumbling act this winter lifted a total of 570 pounds to finish second in the 148 pound class.

Byerly was joined by David Littlejohn, who placed third in the 148 pound class by lifting a total of 565 pounds.

This was the first meet the weightlifters have participated in, but they hope to take part in several more this spring. Tentative plans are being made now for a weightlifting contest with Davidson, and Ufens disclosed that they hope to have the Carolina AAU meet here next year.

The Tar Heel weightlifters are taking part in this sport on their own and are not under the direction of the physical education department.

"We've been offered a room in Woollen Gym, and we'll probably take it soon," Ufen said. The lifters now have use of a quonset hut for their practice sessions, but they expect it to be torn down any time.

The Carolina weightlifters went into this contest with only about three weeks' practice.

"Next time we hope to do even better," Ufen said.

No weightlifting contests are scheduled for the near future but the boys have big plans in mind. As for the present, they'll just keep practicing and attempting to lift heavier weights.

Today's Sports

Baseball

Varsity baseball—Carolina vs Wake Forest at Emerson stadium at 4 o'clock. Passbooks required for admission.

Golf

Varsity Golf—Carolina vs Purdue at Hope Valley country club at 1:45 o'clock.

Tennis

Varsity tennis—Carolina vs Albright on varsity courts at 3 o'clock.

Practice Sessions

Daily practice sessions continue in football, lacrosse, soccer, and track.

Intramurals

See intramural schedule.

Qualifying Starts For Mural Track; Semi-finals Next

Fetzer Field was the scene of varied track activity yesterday as fraternity and dormitory would-be cindermen ran Coach Dale Ranson's practicing trackmen a close race as they qualified for the semi-finals of the Intramural track meet.

Preliminaries in the field events for Monday's meet opened yesterday, and will continue through Thursday.

In order to qualify for the semi-finals in the field events, an entrant must equal or better the following marks: pole vault, 8 ft. 6 in.; high jump, 5 ft. 3 in.; broad jump, 17 ft. 6 in.; shot put, 34 ft.; discus throw, 90 ft.

The preliminaries for the 60 and 100-yard dashes will be held at the same time as the field events, with the top 24 men in each event qualifyng for the semi-finals in the dashes and field events will all take place Monday.

MONOGRAM MEETING

There will be an important meeting of the monogram club tonight at 7:30 the club house. All members are urged to be present to take part in the discussion of the Blue-White game and a beach party.

—BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Golfers To Meet Boilermakers At Hope Valley Course Today

Pluvian rains and Purdue golfers are forecast for Hope Valley Country Club this afternoon as the Carolina links team, undefeated in four starts, goes after the Big Fifth win from the Big Ten invaders. The first foursome departs at 1:30.

The appearance of the Boilermakers will mark the second matching of a Midwestern team against the Tar Heels in less than a week. Last Thursday, the locals got the scare of the young season from Michigan, with only a back nine rally bringing victory into the home camp.

Equal Michigans

The Indianians are said to possess a strength probably equal that of the Wolverines, which means that the Tar Heels will have their cups filled throughout the afternoon.

To cope with this threat, coach Chuck Erickson will use the same combination that he has been winning with thus far this season. That means that Harvie Ward will be leading off at the No. 1 spot paired with Bob Cox in the first foursome.

Ward has been shooting good golf throughout the opening four matches. He is averaging 69.75 for the quartet of rounds on a par 70 course. Several of the rounds were played under adverse weather conditions. Cox has been playing hot and cold. He should be up for the afternoon.

Second Foursome

The second foursome will send Roy McKenzie and Jack Brantley out at No. 3 and 4. Both had rough afternoons against Michigan, but up until then, had been playing top-flight golf. McKenzie has the second best average on the club—72.75 for the four rounds.

Rounding out the Tar Heel six will be Frank Brooks and Oliver Sapp filling the last two posts in that order. Sapp holds the distinction of being the only member of the team who hasn't lost a single point in individual competition. He has disposed of four straight opponents without damage.

The Hope Valley course is rounding into better shape as the Spring moves along. The rains will have an indefinite effect upon the 6,700 yard course with Winter rules still to be observed.

Spectators are invited to follow the foursomes with the usual gallery rules being observed.

INTRAMURAL ROUNDUP

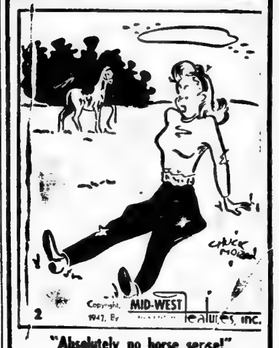
SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00—Field 1, Alexander vs C Dorm 1; 2, Emerson Misfits vs Ruffin; 3. Lewis 1 vs Manley; 4, Old West vs Mangum; 5, Bombers vs Stanley Steamers; 6, BVP vs C Dorm 2.

5:00—Field 1, Zeta 1 vs TEP 1; 2, Kappa Sig 2 vs ATO 2; 3, Phi Gam 1 vs DKE 1; 4, Zeta 2 vs Pi Kap Phi 2; 5, KA 2 vs Beta 2; 6, Old East vs Med School 2.

MURAL TRACK

All entry lists for the Intramural track meet are due in the mural office Wednesday.



OPEN HOUSE

The practice of holding open house in Woollen gym on Monday and Wednesday nights will be resumed tomorrow night, and will be continued for the remainder of the spring quarter. All members of the faculty and their wives, students, and townspeople are welcome to attend these open houses and take part in badminton, squash, handball, and volleyball.

Lacrosse Practice Tilt

The Carolina lacrosse team will meet Duke here today in the second practice game of a four game series. Previously, the Dukes, with one of the better teams in the Southern circuit, blasted the Tar Heels, 18-3.

TEEN-AGE

"Absolutely no horse sense!"

Dancing Under The Stars
Watch For The Opening
THURSDAY

THE BUCCANEER
CAR HOP · BROIL STEAKS · FINE SANDWICHES
AIRPORT RD. CHAPEL HILL

FOISTER'S CAMERA STORE
HAS All Types Of FILM For Your EASTER PICTURES

3 leading questions

Q. What is "Fenway"?
A. Name of a Boston ball park . . . also one of Arrow's famous button-down oxfords.

Q. What is "Sussex"?
A. Name of a British county . . . also Arrow's famous wide-spread collar oxford shirt.

Q. What is "Brockly"?
A. Broccoli is a vegetable . . . also Brockly is Arrow's regular collar oxford shirt.

Ask your Arrow dealer for Arrow Gordon Oxfords . . . $3.95

ARROW
SHIRTS and TIES
UNDERWEAR ✻ HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

RAIN OR SHINE IT'S "Stormy" Weathers AND HIS ORCHESTRA
FOR THE SMOOTHEST IN DANCE MUSIC
SPECIALIZING IN SORORITY AND FRATERNITY DANCES
Write 310 Pritchard Ave.
PHONE 3746

GUNG HAVE PAHTY?
Reserve your stomping ground NOW at THE MERCURY CLUB. Plenty of Parking Space, Easy rates, BEER & SANDWICHES
MERCURY CLUB
YOUR ONLY NIGHT SPOT OPERATED BY STUDENTS FOR STUDENTS
3 Miles Out On Greensboro Highway

Easter is the time for . . .
"Joyous Notes"

Easter Cards
Add to your own happiness by sharing it with others.
LEDBETTER – PICKARD

SMOKER'S PIPE HAVEN
THE LARGEST AND BEST ASSORTMENT OF PIPES in CHAPEL HILL
Sutton's Drug Store
"A Complete Drug Store"
Walgreen Agency

AUTO PARTS
NEW . USED . REBUILT
Open Saturday Afternoon And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

IN CHAPEL HILL — FOR A
"Fenway" — "Sussex" — "Brockly"
ARROW SHIRT
IT'S — Varley's MEN'S SHOP

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. FOR A small charge we can relieve you of all details connected with renting your property. Our service includes selection of desirable tenants, supervision of upkeep and collection of rents. Consult us today regarding this service. Service Insurance & Realty Co., Henderson Street. Phone F-419. (ch 1x2)

PASSAGE TO EUROPE AGAIN available on United States Maritime Vessels. For information contact Staab Travel Service, 414 Pittsboro St., Chapel Hill. (1-c2381-1)

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

MAN WITH '37 FORD MOTOR THAT purrs like a kitten would like to meet man with Ford body that looks like a cat. Contact owner at F-3361 after 4 o'clock week-days. (1-1200-1)

ALL MAKES OF LAWN MOWERS repaired, machine sharpened. Axes, hatchets, scythes also sharpened. Tripps Lawn Mower Repair Shop or see John Tripp, Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1x1)

FOR RENT 6A

DELIGHTFUL SUMMER HOME IN invigorating Litchfield Hills, Lake Waramug, New Preston, Connecticut. Secluded. Yet accessible. For particulars, call Mrs. J. C. Babcock before April 17, Carolina Inn. (3-2380-1)

Sunday Delivery Service
New York Times and New York Herald Tribune. Serving Chapel Hill and Campus.
Write Nat White or Lee Fuller P.O. Box 655, Chapel Hill

FOR SALE 6B

6 FT. METAL CABINET WITH MOVable shelves, metal chaise lounge convertible to cot, child's 4 ft. cream colored wardrobe, 4 drawer maple chest-desk, girl's 24" bike, 16" rotating electric fan on 5 ft. - pedestal. Call F-3701. (1-2378-2)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1936 BUICK IN GOOD CONDITION. Priced to sell. See E. J. Woodhouse, Davie Circle. (1-2379-1)

1940 LA SALLE COUPE. ALL KINDS of extras. Good condition. $695. Phone 4131. (ch 1x1)

HELP WANTED 8

ATTRACTIVE GIRL AND TWO BOYS under 5'10" in height interested in theatrical experience for fascinating part time work. Phone 3216 for appointment. (3-2375-1)

LOST 12

IN CAROLINA THEATER, GREEN alligator billfold containing money and identification. Call Peggy Kemrey at Infirmary, F-428. LIBERAL REWARD. (2-2382-1)

- Tar Babies -

(Continued from page 3)

paw who has plenty on the ball despite his small stature.

The starting lineup and tentative batting order in: Mark Herring, 2B; Whiteheart, 3B; Stewart, CF; Smith, 1B; Lambert, RF; Guy Smith, SS; Bill Reeves, LF; Charles Overman, C, and Johnson, P.

AF Recruit Team To Be On Campus

An Air Force cadet team, headed by Maj. James R. Wilson, will be on campus Thursday and Friday, April 21-22, to interview qualified students for cadet training with the 14th Air Force, Lt. Col. Ralph E. Keyes, aviation cadet procurement officer for the 14th Air Force, announced yesterday.

Male citizens between the ages of 20 and 26 and a half years who still have two or more years of college, or who have the ability to pass an examination designed to measure the equivalent, will have the opportunity to provisionally qualify for flight training immediately when the traveling team meets here.

Students accepted for pilot training will receive their basic training in Texas. Those who successfully complete their training will be given their wings and commissioned 2nd lieutenants in the Air Force Reserve after only one year of training. They will go on active duty upon graduation and can earn pay and allowances in excess of $4,000 a year.

Sommer To Lead Art Study Tour

Dr. Clemens Sommer of the University Art Department and Mrs. Sommer will conduct a two-months art study tour of Europe this summer, it was announced yesterday.

Their group, to consist chiefly of University students and Chapel Hillians, will fly from New York July 16 and back on Sept. 17. The tour will include a week in Paris, a week in Florence, and two weeks in Rome.

The tour, which is sponsored by the World Study Tours of the Columbia University Travel Service, will give art students an opportunity to get credit in two art courses offered in the University—medieval architecture and Italian Renaissance painting ice; plans for the Greater University day, to be held next fall, and the matter of having dinner served at each meeting, now to be served at the first and last meeting in each year.

- GUSC -

(Continued from page 1)

ENTERING HIS FIFTH YEAR AS the Nation's Chief Executive, President Harry S. Truman faces what may become one of the momentous periods in modern history. At left, President Truman is shown, serious faced, as he discusses an important document shortly after he took office on April 12, 1945, following the sudden death of President Roosevelt. At right, he is shown at work four years later.

- Election -

(Continued from page 1)

Alexander and quonset huts (dorm 3) vote in Alexander. Students in dorm 4, living in Steele, Old East, Old West, Memorial Hall, Graham Memorial and BVP, vote in Memorial Hall. Students in Whitehead, Miller and Nash trailer court will vote in Whitehead.

Victory village voters will cast ballots at the co-op. Trailerites vote in service house number 1. Town districts 2-5 vote in Memorial Hall.

Coeds living in woman's district 1, including Alderman, Mc-

Ed School Grads May Use Service

The 1949 graduates of School of Education are now ing registered by the S Placement Bureau.

The Placement Service is ated for the benefit of Univ graduates and the employ teachers and both student teachers in service are among 3,000 persons now enrolled service is free to University g uates.

Iver and Kenan, will vote derman, along with Spen Carr, Smith, and Archer will vote in Memorial Hall

THE COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
"Serving 12 million – 12 at a Time"
FREE DELIVERY
DIAL 6061
Sandwiches & Drinks
FOUR
Sandwich Minimum Order
PLEASE
Two Deliveries Nitely
9:15 AND 10:15
Monday Through Friday
CALL EARLY
HOURS: 11 A.M. – Mid. – Mon. – Thurs.
11 A.M. – 2 A.M. – Fri. – Sat.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

1:00—FACULTY CLUB. LEWIS Munford will speak. Carolina inn.

4:00—LECTURE. KASIMIR KUratowski will speak on "Applications of the Notion of Homotopy to the Theory of Functions of a Complex Variable." (Did you get that?) Phillips hall.

6.30—FRENCH CLUB. DINNER at the Carolina inn.

6:30—COED SENATE. ROLAND Parker 1. GM.

7:00—ELECTIONS BOARD. ROland Parker 2, 3. GM.

7:30—SPANISH CLUB. CALDwell "Y."

7:30—PHI ASSEMBLY. PHI hall, New East.

7:30—DANCING CLASS. RENdezvous room, GM.

7:30—ELISHA MITCHELL Scientific Society. Wayne Bowers will speak on "The Frequency Spectrum of Crystals. Joftre Coe will speak on "The Evolution of Aboriginal Cultures in the Carolina Piedmont. "Phillips hall.

8:00—VIOLIN CONCERT. Joseph Fuchs will play. Memorial hall.

8:00—DEBATE COUNCIL. GRAI
8:00—DEBATE COUNCIL. Grail room, GM.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

VILLAGE TODAY
IT'S THE CHEER LEADER OF THE YEAR!!!
Loretta YOUNG
VAN Johnson
MOTHER is a Freshman
Color by TECHNICOLOR
Directed by LLOYD BACON • Produced by WALTER MOROSCO
20th CENTURY-FOX

One of the GRANDEST of all Comedies!
UNIVERSAL-INTERNATIONAL presents
Claudette COLBERT MacMURRAY Fred those grand "EGG and I" stars in
"FAMILY HONEYMOON"
—Also—
CARTOON — SPORTLIGHT
TODAY and WEDNESDAY
CAROLINA

Come On out to
EMERSON STADIUM
Today
And See Our Team
Play
WAKE FOREST
AT 4:00
After The Game
Join The Gang
AT Aggie's

LAST DAY — ½ PRICE — SALE
COLUMBIA RECORDS
Every 78 R. P. M. Record In Our Huge Stock Reduced From 20 – 50%
$29.95 Columbia L. P. Attachments —Our Price $10.95
ABERNETHY'S BOOKSHOP

SUNDAY is EASTER

Give *
* Candy
We Wrap and Mail
Eubanks' Drug Store

RENTAL LIBRARY
BULL'S HEAD BOOKSHOP
BEAU JAMES
by G. Fowler
the life of James Walker
BROWSE • BUY • RENT

EASTER SALE
With All The Trimmings

Marlboro Button Down Oxford Shirts 2.65 Nelson Paige Bold Look Pastels 3.50
Basket Weave Shirts With Spread Collars By Donegal 3.50
Griffon Badardine Suits Reduced From $62.50 to 49.95 (Worth 70.00) 49.95
Gray Worsted Flannel Suits, Double Breasted, Reduced To 39.95
Corduroy Sport Coats (Worth 21.00) only 14.95
Seersucker Cord Coats 14.50 White Dinner Jackets By After Six 26.95
Genuine Shell Cordovan Wing Tips & Mahogany and Black Saddles With Black Sponge Rubber Soles (Well worth 20.00) 12.95
All White Buckskin Shoes With Red Rubber Soles, Sizes Through 13 9.95
Genuine Shell Cordovan Wing Tips With Double Leather Soles and Full Leather Linings (Worth 21.00) 14.95
Genuine Shell Cordovan Stitched Cap Toes With Double Leather Soles and Full Leather Linings (Worth 20.00) 13.95
Bass Black And White Saddle Oxfords (Worth 12.95) 8.95
All Wool Gabardine Slacks 13.95; Crease Resistant Bur Mil Rayon Slacks 6.95
All Wool Doeskin Flannel Slacks, In Your Favorite Shades Of Light Tan, Oxford Gray, Pearl Gray, Skipper Blue, Powder Blue, Pastel Green — Well Worth $17.00 Now Only 9.95
Last Cashmere Sale This Season — Nuknit Imported Chinese Cashmere Sweaters 15.95

We Are Never Undersold
MILTON'S CLOTHING CUPBOARD
Across From Farmers Dairy One Block Beyond New Bus Station

A NOTE OF THANKS

The Carrboro Pure Oil Service Station and Garage, owned and operated by Thomas Evans and Mack Poole, wishes to express to all its friends and patrons sincere appreciation for their warm friendship and loyal patronage. Since we began with our new product and in our new establishment a little over a year ago, we have exceeded by far our expectations; in March we reached our highest peak thus far. It has been impossible, we feel, to express our appreciation to each individual, but we wish in this way to thank you and to promise you our best possible service in the future. We are now prepared to give you more efficient service — from the gas tank to the rebuilding of your car motor. Call on us at any time if we can be of service to you. The number is 4167 — dial it often.

Please accept this as our personal message to you. We guarantee our service just as Pure Oil guarantees their products.

CARRBORO PURE OIL STATION
Thomas Evans & Mack Poole
Proprietors

L'il Abner — AL CAPP

Don't be hasty — Just BEER with us — at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon — MILTON CANIFF

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
8-31-49

EDITORIALS

Face-Lifting Campaign
Forget Quarrels
Poll Carelessness

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER
Clearing and cooler

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 141

Mackie, Leonard Win Hot Ballot Battle

Atlantic Pact Will Be Topic Of Di Senate

Resolution Asks Measure Passage

A resolution wholeheartedly endorsing the North Atlantic Pact will be proposed tonight in the Dialectic senate at 9 o'clock in New West building.

Senate bill number two proclaims the pact as a security agreement for peace rather than an encouragement of war. The bill proposes that the Di go on record as "wholeheartedly endorsing the principles of the Pact."

If the measure passed it would also put the Di on record as favoring "a resolution in the U. S. Senate declaring that an attack on any of the member states of the Atlantic Pact would be regarded as an attack on the sacred soil of the United States, and that such an attack would be met with the same action as would be used against a nation making an attack on the United States."

The measure, introduced by the Ways and Means committee, will be open to discussion by members and interested visitors.

A special executive committee meeting for all officers and committee chairmen has been called for 8:30 by President Don Shropshire.

W & L Celebrates 200th Birthday

LEXINGTON, Va., April 12—(UP)—This little college town buzzed with activity today as citizens celebrated the 200th anniversary of Washington and Lee University and the issuance of the first postage stamp ever to honor an American college.

Even fierce rivals at the Virginia Military Institute here honored the university with a regimental review.

Representatives of 114 American colleges and universities were on hand. Thirteen scholars were to be given honorary degrees.

President Harold Willis Dodds of Princeton University was scheduled for the principal address.

Meanwhile extra workers at the little post office here worked frantically. They were swamped with requests from stamp collectors in all parts of the world. Officials said collectors had sent in more than 500,000 requests.

Andrews, Greene To Present Recital

Numbers by Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, Debussy, and Wagner will be heard this evening when Harold Andrews, pianist from Durham, and Sam Greene, baritone from Mooresville, will present a recital in Hill hall at 8:30.

Andrews, a junior, is a piano pupil of Jan P. Schinhan of the University faculty. He has held several scholarships at the University, including the Kay Kyser scholarship in music for 1947-48. In 1946, he was awarded the Cooperative club scholarship to study at the National Music camp at Interlochen, Mich.

A versatile musician, Andrews is first bassoonist with the University band and Symphony orchestra. He is president of the symphony and secretary-treasurer of the band and was recently elected president of the Alpha Rho chapter of Phi Mu Alpha music fraternity for the coming year.

Sam Greene began his singing-acting career in high school. Further music and dramatic training was gained at Gardner-Webb Junior college, Boiling Springs, where he played the leads in productions of "The Life of Stephen Collins Foster," "Smilin' Through," and took part in a number of other productions.

During a year in the Navy when he was stationed at Great Lakes, Mich., Sam did solo work with the famed Blue Jackets choir and put in some time as an orchestra conductor. Last summer he worked with the "Lost Colony" company at Manteo, and he will rejoin the colony this summer.

Sam has been a music student here for three years and will be remembered best for performances in "The Bartered Bride," "The Mikado," "Pinafore," "Sweep It Clean," "Apple Tree Farm," and several appearances as soloist with the Glee club. In addition to singing and acting, Sam has studied piano and musical composition.

The program is admission-free, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Three-Man Group Named to Direct Aldermanic Race

A committee of three, composed of Dick Koral, Robert Byrd and Robert Nicks, was named yesterday to manage the campaign of Rev. J. H. Jones, Negro pastor who was nominated Monday night to run for the Chapel Hill Board of Aldermen.

Jones formally filed his candidacy for the Board yesterday morning in the Town Hall. He stated later that his platform will include planks for the improvement of streets in town, for street lights on unlighted streets, additional fire hydrants in several sections of Chapel Hill-where proper fire prevention equipment is not available and more telephones for homes which have been unable to secure them.

Koral, publicity chairman of the candidate's campaign, said yesterday that an effort will be made to build an united Negro and white backing behind the minister and to make his campaign city-wide.

Jones was nominated at a mass meeting Monday night which was held at the Negro Community Center and attended by an estimated group of 300. Among those attending were Rev. Charles Jones, pastor of the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church, Dr. Joseph Straley of the University Physics Department Henry Edwards, president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; and Leon Peace, Chairman of the NAACP local youth council.

$65 raised at the mass meeting Monday night will be used for Jones' campaign, instead of a filing fee as reported in yesterday's Daily Tar Heel. No filing fee is required for candidates to file in Chapel Hill.

Two Newcomers are 'Tough'

Negro Policemen Join Force As Local Lawmen Get Addition

If the long arm of Chapel Hill's John Law seems a bit more hefty lately, it is because he has gained a good 550 pounds since last July.

The Board of Alderman decided during the middle of last summer that it was high time Chapel Hill and Carrboro had a Negro addition to the force, primarily to handle the tough, unpredictable Negro section of Carrboro where even the bravest men fear to tread.

Jeff Foushee, proprietor of a Carrboro cafe, and Bud Hopkins, a University power plant worker, were the two Negro men selected by their community fellows to help maintain law and order within the colored section of this village.

The decision came about as disturbances became more and more acute in the vicinity of the Carrboro Negro community center. Both men have lived in Carrboro most of their lives, and both are respected in the community by black and white alike.

Foushee is over 50 years old. So is Hopkins. But they each are over six feet tall, both over 225 pounds, and, it is said, they are tough.

"Back in model-T days," said Officer W. D. Blake, of the Chapel Hill force, "Foushee and Hopkins worked in the Strowd motor company garage.

"Neither needed a jack when he wanted to look underneath an automobile, he merely lifted the model-T like a babe, with his hands. They might have used a jack to support the car after they had raised it, but only to free their hands.

"Yessir, they're tough, all right," Blake affirmed.

The two work only part-time from 7:30 until 11 o'clock at night, the period known as "rush hour" by patrolmen. Results of this innovation have been described as "excellent."

Foushee and Hopkins both are well-liked and work closely with the full-time police.

"Unfortunately," it is said about the Chapel Hill court house, "no more Negroes are likely to be added to the force for some time. The Chapel Hill budget cannot stand any further expenses."

Wadsworth Talks To Dorm Council

University Housing Director James Wadsworth addressed the Interdormitory Council at its regular meeting Monday night. Wadsworth spoke on housing problems and answered questions about the local housing situation.

The Council elected Harry Aycock, president of C dorm, as new secretary. He succeeded Frank Kilpatrick, who resigned because of class conflicts. He was made a member-at-large on the council's executive committee.

Director Wadsworth asked the council's aid in working out a suitable program for getting students into dorm rooms of their choice. He also asked for the council's suggestions on names for the presently unnamed A, B, and C dorms.

Two new dorm presidents were seated on the council. They were George Sibold of Aycock, and Sid Turner, new head of Manley.

Check Information Is Not Available

Information about delinquent checks of veterans who interrupted their training at the end of last quarter is not available at the present time, F. C. Shepherd, veteran's adviser, announced yesterday.

The veteran's adviser has requested information about the late checks from the Veterans Administration. As soon as the information is received from the Veterans Administration, the veteran's adviser will notify veterans why their checks were late.

Truman Asks Pact Passage By Senators

Calls for Treaty To 'Keep Peace'

WASHINGTON, April 12—(UP)—President Truman today asked the Senate to ratify the North Atlantic Defense Treaty as a weapon to save both freedom and peace by preventing Communist aggression.

In a special message transmitting the historic pact signed here April 4, he told the Senate the 12-nation alliance "makes clear the determination of the people of the United States and of our neighbors in the North Atlantic community to do their utmost to maintain peace with justice."

It shows any would-be aggressor, he said, that the free nations are prepared "to take such action as they may deem necessary if the peace is broken."

With his message, Mr. Truman submitted a report from Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson spelling out the treaty obligations in blunt terms.

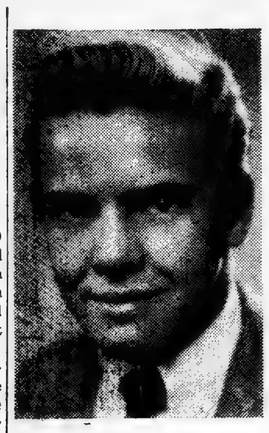
Acheson said the pact would not commit the United States to go to war "automatically" if an ally were attacked. But he emphasized that it calls for "swift and decisive" use of force by this country if Russia or any other country launches a "major armed attack" on a pact member.

The report, apparently designed to answer Congressional criticism of the pact, said it would not "obligate" the United States to ship arms to western Europe. However, the administration plans to ask Congress later to back up the treaty with a billion dollar-plus arms program.

The presidential message was read to the Senate by a clerk shortly before Mr. Truman was the honor guest at a capitol luncheon given by his former Senate colleagues to mark his fourth anniversary as president.

Forest Theater Is Tryout Scene

Tryouts for Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice" will be held in the Forest Theater tomorrow from 4 to 6 p. m., announced Kai Jurgensen of the Playmaker staff, who will direct the outdoor production scheduled for May 20, 21 and 22.



Mr. Jurgensen is particularly interested in actors and actresses with strong voices since acting in the outdoor theatre calls for a different kind of playing than in the tiny Playmakers Theater. He said, however, that anyone may tryout regardless of previous experience.

Lynn Gault is designing a very interesting set for three revolving stages, and Irene Smart is currently buying materials for the costumes which she will design for this Shakespeare favorite. James Geiger is acting as assistant director.

Student Recital Scheduled Today

There will be a student recital in Hill hall this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The program is as follows :"Sonata in C major," (Beethoven), James Weathers, piano; "Capriccio in B minor," "Intermezzo in A minor," "Capriccio in D minor," (Brahms), William Waters, piano; "Sonate," (Debussy), William Tritt, violin, and Barbara Tritt, piano; "Three Poems by Walt Whitman" (William) Richard Cox, baritone, and William Waters, piano; and "Eight Pieces for String Quartet," (Hindemith), William Tritt, violin; Bradley Stroup, violin; William Benton, viola; and Georgia Fox, violoncello.

The public is cordially invited.

TED LEONARD AND BILL MACKIE (left and right) were the winners in the two most important races in yesterday's general election run-off. Mackie won the presidency of the student body on the SP ticket over Dick Gordon (UP). Leonard (UP) beat Al Lowenstein (SP) for the vice-presidency.

Sticker Deadline Set For Faculty Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the final deadline for faculty members and full time staff employees to pick up their permanent parking permits, an announcement from the Safety committee said yesterday. At the information desk in South building these people can pick up the permits which will legalize their parking in any parking area on campus.

However, without the "A" sticker, parking in the following "staff" area will not be permitted:

(1) Parking lots south of Phillips Hall and north of Venable Hall, and the Buildings Department. (2) Parking lots between Steele and Bynum, and between Bynum and Caldwell. (3) Both sides of the street running from Cameron to Alumni.

The lots restricted and available to holders of "S" red stickers and "A" red stickers who cannot qualify for permanent permits are: (1) Parking area south of Memorial Hall and YMCA. (2) West side of the road running from Cameron to Emerson Stadium. (3) Parking areas around Swain, Smith, and Hill Halls. (4) Area south of Lenoir Hall. (5) Area south of Venable Hall. (6) Lots south of the library.

Because of the limited space in "staff" areas, part-time instructors, teaching fellows, assistants, and other part-time employees are not eligible for permanent permits, a letter from the Safety Committee to the department heads said yesterday.

Those eligible to park in "staff" areas are urged to do so in order that other restricted areas may be used by holders of red stickers.

Jewish Students To Hold Service

Jewish students on campus will celebrate the festival of the Passover tonight at a feast called a Seder service, Rabbi Samuel Perlman announced yesterday. The dinner to be held in the Carolina Inn will begin at 6:30.

The festival of the Passover is celebrated annually in commemoration of the Exodus from Egypt. The holiday lasts for 8 days, and is marked by the use of unleavened bread, matzos.

During the first two nights of the festival a Seder service is held, at which time the story of the Exodus is read.

Woman's Council Hears Cheat Case

A case involving suspicion of cheating was recently brought before the Women's Honor Council, and the student was given a warning, Joan Lucas, chairman, said yesterday. Investigation proved that the student was not guilty of cheating, and she was told to avoid any similar action leading to suspicion.

Sunrise Service To Be Observed At Local Castle

The annual Easter sunrise service for Chapel Hill, sponsored by community churches and student religious groups, will be held at 6:00 Sunday morning at Gimghoul castle.

Carillon music by carillonneur Monte Howell will preceed the service, and a brass ensemble made up of Chapel Hill high school students will open and close it. Choral group will be furnished by the elementary chorus of Orange County Training school. The ensemble is under band director Hubert Henderson, the chorus is led by Miss Francis Hargraves and Mrs. L. R. McDougle.

Rev. Bernard Munger, of the Congregational Christian church will conduct the service. A quartet of Methodist church choir members will also take part in the program.

Members of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will direct parking. There will be double parking on both sides of Gimghoul road, but the public is asked to follow the direction of parking officials.

Gordon Is Beaten By Wide Margin

Lowenstein Edged by 28 Ballots; Total Vote Reaches Only 2,504

By Charles McCorkle

Another rain-soaked, dreary election day yesterday saw Bill Mackie astound campus political experts by landsliding into the presidency of the student body, while running mate Al Lowenstein was edged out by Ted Leonard with only a 28-vote margin.

With a total vote of only 2,504 recorded, Mackie, running on the Student Party ticket, resoundingly licked Dick Gordon, the University Party standard-bearer, by a count of 1,485 to 1,019. The winner held a majority of 466 votes.

Top Nominees State Stands On Outcome

Campaign Called 'Cleanest Ever'

As the outcome of yesterday's general election run-off became apparent long before midnight last night, the four candidates in the presidential and vice-presidential races released victory and concession statements.

Dick Gordon, presidential loser running on the University party ticket, congratulated Student party opponent and winner Bill Mackie on "the finest and cleanest campaign I have ever seen on this campus.

"Although I have lost the election," Gordon continued, "I have not lost my interest in the welfare of students and our government. There is a big job to be done next year and I am sure Bill (Mackie) will appraciate all your cooperation. I want to thank all who gave their time and effort in my support during the campaign."

Mackie returned Gordon's compliment with, "Dick Gordon and his supporters have waged a fine and clean campaign. I hope that he will be as willing as he is able to work with us in the administrative branch of student government next year."

Mackie extended his "heartfelt thanks" to his supporters and campaign workers. "The success of the Student party in this election," he said, "was made possible only by the support of many individuals in all parts of the campus. I sincerely hope that this cooperation can be continued throughout the year for the best interests of the whole student body."

Al Lowenstein, losing candidate

(See STATEMENTS, page 4)

University Party vice-presidential candidate Ted Leonard captured 1,259 votes to beat Al Lowenstein (SP) with 1,231, a difference of 28 votes.

Mackie carried Town Men's Districts I and IV, while Gordon took II and III. The winner carried all men and women's dorm districts. Gordon took the one town women's district.

In the vice-presidential race, Leonard took Town Men's Districts II and III, while Lowenstein copped I and IV. District V's votes were counted with IV's. Leonard took Dorm Men I, II and V, giving III and IV to Lowenstein. The winner took the town women's vote while the loser carried the women's dormitories.

In the fight for one vacant seat on the Publications Board, Billy Carmichael III (UP) became the new member-at-large to the Board with 1,386 votes, carrying every district except Town Men's District I, which is Victory Village and the trailer court. Bill Buchan (CP) raked in 972 votes for a 414-vote defeat.

In the race for three seats at large on the Student Council, three UP candidates went into office and the single SP man running lost out. The winners were Roy Holsten (UP) with 1,482, Peggy Martin (UP) with 1,492 and Ted Young (UP) with 1,703. The loser was Dick Allbrook (SP) with 1,459.

On the men's ballot, Charlie Fox with 1,127 and Bob Payne with 1,248 won two junior seats on the Men's Council. They were nominated by the tri-partisan selection board. The loser was independent Marvin Nathan with 895 votes.

The sophomore seats on the council went to Tommy Coxe with 1,143 and Garland Johnson with 1,085. Bunny Davis was the loser with 982.

Three men's seats on the Student Council went to Kyle Barnes (UP) with 1,266, Dan Bell (SP) with 1,382 and Cam West (SP) with 1,210. The loser was Pete Peters (UP) with 1,093.

Patricia Denning won the post of speaker of the Coed Senate with 204 votes to Marie Nussbaum's 121. Three women's seats on the Student Council went to Kitty Altizer (SP) with 266, Barbara Lowe (SP) with 251 and Sally Osborne (SP) with 226. The loser, running on the UP slate, was Charleen Greer with 200 votes.

Caroline Guthrie took the post of Women's Athletic Association secretary with 166 votes to Connie Conley's 139. Two at-large seats on the Women's Council went to Gene Denbo with 183 and Barbara Lunsford with 209. The loser was Nancy Curtis with 168. Three senior seats on the

(See ELECTION, page 4)

Grad Record Exam To Be On May 2-3

The next scheduled Graduate Record examination will be held May 2 and 3. All candidates for this examination must register by Wednesday, April 13, with W. D. Perry in room 102, Peabody hall. No applications will be accepted after this deadline registration date.

on the

Political Front

with Charles McCorkle

YOU'VE GOT IT ALL OVER ME. All you have to do is look up at the top of the page and find out just who won yesterday's general campus election run-off. But at this writing, we don't know the verdict yet. We do know that the Roland Parker lounges were full of ballot counters, that the vote was not nearly as heavy as last week's, and that it rained again yesterday.

One week from last night, next Tuesday evening, the new student government officers will be sworn in at official inauguration ceremonies. One week from last night, Jess Dedmond, who has labored through a long and hard year as president of the student body, will be through with his job. Jess doesn't have much to say on the eve of his retirement, except that in a way he's glad it's over and in another way he's sorry. And we imagine that is the feeling of most of the outgoing officers. They are proud of their year's service to the students of the University of North Carolina, and they hate to leave that service. But it is a relief to shed the responsibility that rested so heavily on their shoulders for the last year.

WE HOPE, IN ALL SINCERITY, that the new president, vice-president, the other executive officers, the new legislators and the new members of the judiciary will work conscientiously and diligently in the coming year to improve student government, to correct its glaring errors and its little, unnoticed mistakes. We hope those new officers mean what they say when they take their oath of office and that they will truly carry out the duties of their new posts to the best of their ability.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $6.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Margaret Gaston, Sam McKeel, Leonard Dudley, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Wink Locklair, J. L. Merritt, Virginia Forward, Art Xanthos, Fred McGee, Graham Jones, Emily Baker, Jack English, Bob Barnes, Hamlin Garland, Sam Whitehall, Charles McCorkle.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Suaman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Carelessness at the Polls

One of the chronic problems which plague candidates for positions in the student government is the small vote which turns out on election day. Probably there is no single reason why more Carolina students don't vote, but we witnessed one very good cause at the polls yesterday.

It was raining, and there were only a trickle of voters that managed to brave their way to Memorial Hall. But inside they were denied their vote—why? because the supply of ballots had run out. The poll watchers advised each to come back later in the afternoon when more ballots would arrive. But in view of the rainy afternoon it is doubtful if they did return. There is no way to estimate the number of students who tried to vote and couldn't.

The vote yesterday was light, and we see no reason why Memorial Hall should have run out of ballots. Moreover, yesterday's carelessness was a repeat performance of the general election last week. Several residents of Aycock reported that the supply of ballots in that area also gave out.

Forget Political Quarrels Now

As the Daily Tar Heel's editorial deadline approaches, it's anybody's guess who will be the next president and vice-president of the student body. But no matter who the winners are, the student government should be in capable hands. Both sides have put forth ambitious party platforms and if properly carried out they will greatly benefit this University. However, in the past those elected have been prone to forget their campaign promises the minute the election is over. Here's hoping yesterday's winners have a little more drive and energy than their predecessors.

The current election has been a hard-fought campaign, one which has engendered some degree of ill-feeling between the rival candidates. These quarrels should be dropped immediately. There are few enough people on this campus willing to carry out the functions of student government as it is without these few constantly battling among themselves.

Campus Face-Lifting Campaign

To most students the Grail is associated with sponsoring dances and the like, but this week it is seeking new fields to conquer. It is sponsoring a general campus face-lifting campaign with the usual "stay off the grass, put your gum behind your ear, not your seat, or bury all squirrels you shoot." These periodic attempts to make our campus look less like a coed's top drawer are met by icy stares and a barrage of empty coffee cups from most students.

Let's look at a couple of dangers that might rise from abuse of our campus. First, there is this matter of short cuts between buildings. Every quarter new trails are blazed across the grass as everyone finds a shorter way to get to class. This necessitates so much wire being put up that the campus looks like a livestock pen. Probably everyone could tolerate the wire, but there is something else to consider. Just think, they might lay out another walk along the new path, and then there would be all that new clay to wade through on these rainy spring days. Surely it's not worth the risk.

"Stay off our weeds," would be a more accurate statement than "Keep off the Grass," but at least it's green, whatever it is. Except on the days on which the grass is mowed—at which time the smell of the freshly cut wild onions prevails—one is scarcely aware that the grass isn't really grass. It's not that the grass isn't planted, it's just that the campus pigeons feel that seed plays a vital role in their diet.

All this boils down to is a request for consideration on everyone's part. In the freshness of spring our campus has been a delight to everyone with its budding trees and flowers. Since it is our campus let's cooperate and keep it fresh and tidy by using the walks and trash cans.

Nat M. Williams, Jr.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

By George Dixon

KOKO HEAD, Hawaii, April 12—Hawaii talks more about statehood than any other subject—and agrees less.

You ignorant mainlanders, who don't even know enough to wear a rope of flowers around your neck, may have gotten the idea that this island paradise is united in wanting to be the 49th state. Nothing, including my "imported silk" aloha trunks, could be further from the truth.

Even those who think it would be nice for the territory to be a state can't agree on how thehy want it, or why. And those against can't get together on their reasons.

I'm beginning to understand what Joe Cook, the old vaudeville comedian, meant when he said he wouldn't imitate four Hawaiians. How can you imitate four Hawaiians when no four agree on anything?

You get the darndest arguments, for and against. One fellow confided to me, in deadly seriousness, that he was for statehood because a certain traffic cop, who keeps pinching him for drunken driving, would be heaved out by an autonomous government

Another gentleman, who represents large sugar interests, said he was for statehood because Hawaii could then have two senators and a pair of representatives in Washington as a sugar lobby.

A fellow who has obviously resisted knowledge all his life extolled the educational benefits to be derived from statehood. He said kids could get free school lunches instead of having to lug their own fish and poi.

Parenthetically I wonder if this free lunch advocate realizes the headaches that go with cuff school lunches. Our educational bureaucrats are almost driven daffy with pressure from some food interests to get their products included in the lunches.

Some apple lobbyists, potted meat lobbyists, jam, jelly, jelly-bean, jellied-doughnut and chewing gum lobbyists are constantly applying the heat to have our nation's kiddies suffering bellyaches from their products.

Only a short time ago, honest to heaven, a representative of the marbles manufacturers was pulling wires like mad trying to have a sackful of marbles included in every lunch, so the kids could shoot aggies while wolfing the indigestibles.

One of the arguments against statehood I have heard the oftenest here is that the Japs would gain control. The Japanese represent better than 32 percent of the population; the president of the territorial senate, Wilfred Tsukiyama, is a Japanese.

"We don't want two Japanese senators in Washington," declared a lady. "What would people on the mainland think of us?"

My traveling companion, Mr. Alfred ("Mike") Flynn, of Pan-American, asked this lady who was most likely to be Hawaii's first senator.

"Joseph R. Farrington!" she replied promptly. "He's our elected delegate in Washington now."

"I take it, then," said Mr. Flynn, "that Mr. Farrington is Japanese?"

The lady gave him a frozen look, and Mr. Flynn—after murmuring that delegate Farrington no doubt looked fetching in a kimono—dropped the subject.

Another agin' argument, which I thought at first was a gag, but which was advanced with deadpan gravity, is that there isn't enough room for another star on the American flag.

After listening to all these contradictions, I'm beginning to feel as if Koko Head were named after me.

Something Has Been Added

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Hodgson Concoctions

Dorm Soiree Post-Mortems

By Tookie Hodgson

Not long ago I was invited by a sporting friend of mine to attend a soiree in his dormitory room. The occasion was the First annual "get-acquainted" meeting of the Thanatopsis literary, Philanthropic, and Dry Martini Club.

Since the members of the Club were well-known to me—indeed, no finer collection of genteel inebriates ever existed anywhere—I accepted my friend's invitation with alacrity. Promptly at eight o'clock that evening, I showed up, at his threshold.

The next morning as I shooed nesting Robins from the folds of my Harris Tweed jacket, I had the definite remembrance that while nothing literary or philanthropic had occurred during the hectic hours before the dawn, there had been a good deal of attention given to Dry Martinis and the preparation thereof.

It seems that there had been a hot argument among the Club's membership as to whether or not one might have a good Martini if the ingredients of that Noble Beverage were mixed in the ratio of twenty parts of gin to one part of vermouth.

Finally, to settle the dispute, such a Martini was compounded, the volume of which sufficed to fill a Mason Jar to the very brim. Now, all that was needed was someone to drink it. All eyes turned my way. "For the honor of The University," came plaintive shouts. "For the honor of the Phi Gams!" For the honor of Murfreesboro, Tennessee, your hallowed home town!" It was all too much for me. In a very short time I was filled with Martinis as well as honor, and then, the morning. A familiar recountal, I'm sure, and one that will provoke the heartfelt commentary from a thousand manly throats to the effect that "I feel for you, but I can't feel with you."

That, however, is not the point. I do not want sympathy; rather, I want to impart a little knowledge gleaned from a certain amount of experience along the bibulous line in the hopes that future generations of booze-hoisters will profit from my fatherly words.

First of all, when one drinks, he should stay clear of untested recipes for mixed drinks. They are usually poisonous, and do no one any good. Stick to the tried-and-true beverages, which though hoary with age still retain considerable of youthful vigor. In order that you might know how to prepare a few of these sublime fluids I hereby list a few appropriate recipes below. Goodby and God bless you.

Tookie's Terror, No. 3 (I like it!)
1 fifth Gin
½ pt. Raspberry Syrup
2 oz. Creme de Menthe, white
2 oz. Fresh Lemon Juice
1 used rubber overshoe
(Steep overshoe well in punch before serving)

Beta Theta Pi Excelsior (Given to me by a Vanderbilt University Beta, who had only one kidney)
1 gal. Ethyl Alcohol
1 tspn. Grapefruit Juice
(Chill before serving)

St. Mary's Fillip
1 can Sterno
1 egg
1 tspn. Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
(Cauterize with curling iron, and serve piping hot)

Good Night, Sweet Prince Sling
1 fifth Vodka
1 fifth Bellow's Partner's Choice Blended Whiskey
1 fifth Cognac Brandy
1 fifth Singing Sam Corn Whiskey
1 fifth Hot Viennese Coffee
1 fifth Rum
3 hair pins
1 handkerchief with monogram M-H
4 ants
1 btle. Schlitz (Bottle and all)
Twist of Lemon Peel
(Serve in reasonably clean bathtub. Guest should hold their heads under for at least three minutes to get full savor of this delicious mixture.)

I unconditionally guarantee that every drink listed above has been tried by at least one person.

Tookie Hodgson.

Entertainment Front

Note To Sound And Fury

By Vestal Taylor

With all quiet on the entertainment front for the time being, this corner would like to toss out an idea for those interested in campus entertainment to chew on.

It has been realized for a long time that there is a crying need for some medium of acquiring and providing entertainment to student gatherings not to be found in a major production of the playmakers, Sound and Fury, or the Glee Club. There is a need for smaller groups to provide entertainment for small organizational, sorority, or fraternity parties and gatherings.

These groups would be available to such gatherings as would feel the need for some means of a break (often welcome) in an evening of socializing and would consist of musicians in "combos," sextets, quartets or even trios, vocalists, comedians, dancers and of course headed up by a good master of ceremonies.

To fill the ranks of these plenty of students who have not taken the time to try out and been found unsuited for the part they desired and lost heart, or newcomers to the campus who are not acquainted with the organizations on campus and have never been contacted regarding their talent.

Such an arrangement would serve a twofold purpose. It would serve to keep the best talent in practice by participation. It would serve to give neophyte performers experience and confidence by appearing before small, informal groups, who would not be as critical of their performance as would an audience across a set of foo'lights. And it would serve to build a reservoir of talent for the existing organizations on campus to draw from in cases of emergency as well as at casting time. Thus such an arrangment would provide a service to the organization desiring entertainment, to the individuals participating and to the established entertainment organizations on campus.

It is the opinion of this corner that such a function as the entertainment troupes should come under the roof of Sound and Fury since Sound and Fury is the musical-comedy organization on campus and because the troupes would be organized to offer such performances to the student groups.

Such a movement would not become the main purpose of Sound and Fury, but the administration of this body would act as the coordinating, liason agent between available talent troupes and those desiring the services of the troupes.

This is a feasible idea and has been discussed at some length, and to a small extent put into practice very successfully. It is suggested that anyone interested in such a plan contact some member, or officer of Sound and Fury and express his ideas in order that a plan may become a working actuality. It will be a benefit to all.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ON COMMUNIST TRIAL

Editor:

In answer to Bill Robertson's article of April 8, I would like to say that for the past two months I have followed the proceedings leading up to and during the trial of the eleven Communist party leaders now being heard by a Federal District Court in New York. During this time I have been impressed with one thought—the Communist defense must feel they are standing on unstable grounds. Instead of trying to prove themselves within the law they have been beating about the bush with efforts directed toward having one of the most equitable jury-picking systems in America declared illegal, and the removal of perhaps the most qualified judge on a Federal Court bench. The Communist's lawyers have frequently displayed acts of insolence, contempt, weeping, hyper-emotionalism, and "like trivia."

I, as a "conservative source," concede that the trial now in progress will have some very "grave legal repercussions." As I see it, not only the leaders are on trial, but each and every card-holder in this country also. When these men are found guilty and sentence is finally passed, one can visualize every Communist party member in America standing beside them—the cloak of fading respectibility falling about their feet.

Specifically, this is a trail of only the top eleven men of this party, but, to my mind, it shall be the forerunner of other such trials, whether they be in Chicago, Hollywood, or Chapel Hill.

T. J. Newton, Jr.

FIRST PROBLEM

Editor,

Upon entering your new office, I'll wager that your first great problem shall be the dealing with Freistadt, Cherry, and their comrades.

Now I like to read the DTH and enjoy myself, and I know you'd like to rid yourself of the criticisms which you receive in publishing the letters from the boys with the red wagons.

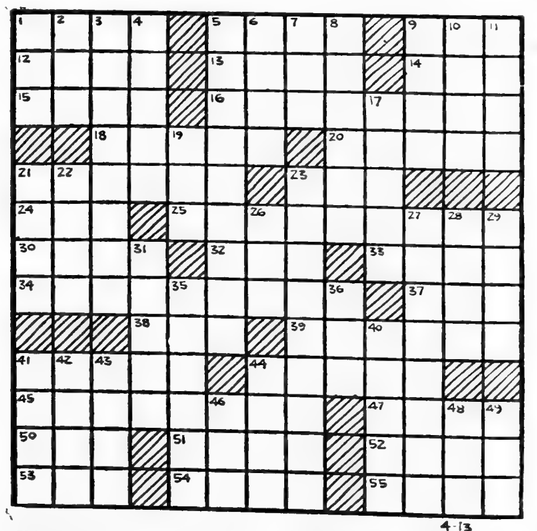
Old Hans will get technical and blow his top about a statement like this, but, I shall have to make it. Don't print my letters! I'll bet if the students here, who feel as I do, write you enough letters about anything but communism, will print them instead of the obnoxious literary composite from old Hans.

But Hans doesn't have to write; he can look in the student directory, get Cherry's address, and write until his heart is content. If he doesn't mind waiting a few days for his answers, he can even write to Japan back in the old country.

Fellow students; democratic students, that is; write letters to the DTH editor, and he will publish them! I'm sure! I Write about anything but communism. This is a good and legal way to quiet the local noise.

Bob H. Watson

Cancer Goal Set at $1,710



The goal for the Orange County current cancer drive is $1,710. Officials hope that the campaign will be successfully completed by Saturday, April 23.

There is no need to go to great lengths in telling people to support this drive generously. A few simple facts should be enough.

Cancer is the second-ranking cause of death by disease in the nation. In this county alone, 23 persons died of cancer in 1948, according to a statistical survey by the State Board of Health. Far from being an adult disease, cancer kills 2,000 children a year, and leads all other diseases as a killer at the five-to-nine age group.

Four cancer patients in Orange County have been financially aided this year by the county unit of the National Cancer Society. Of all the money received through drives and donations here, the Orange County Chapter keeps 40 per cent. Half of this goes toward patient aid for those who have cancer and cannot afford treatment; the other half goes toward education of the public through literature and films and toward support of the detection center at Watts Hospital.

The need is great and the good results are obvious, so give!

HORIZONTAL
1. dexterous
5. mineral springs
9. Scotch cap
12. Assam silkworm
13. Anglo-Indian weight
14. tint
15. cry
16. realty brokers
18. rekindled
20. tapestry
21. hallowed
23. wine vessel
24. diminutive for Abraham
25. little verses
30. brief blast of wind
32. in no manner
33. narrative
34. drawn
37. adult male
38. English cathedral town
39. experiment again
41. city in France
44. flaxen cloth
45. types of observation balloons
47. pace
50. writing fluid
51. hit on the head (colloq.)
52. web-like membrane
53. grow old
54. takes nourishment
55. entrance

VERTICAL
1. morning moisture
2. before
3. most savage
4. small candle
5. shrillness
6. bard
7. wing
8. Italian sausages
9. god of war
10. gentle breeze
11. disorder
17. religious pamphlet
19. Bulgarian coin
21. Icelandic narrative
22. adjoin
23. stars
26. decay
27. bewailed
28. Greek guerilla organization
29. dispatched
31. woody plants
35. former middle European territory
36. lair
40. seed integument
41. a continent
42. pealed
43. one of the Apostles
44. penitential season
46. Tibetan gazelle
48. Hebrew high priest
49. carressive touch

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

P	A	C		I	N	N		A	M	P	L	E
A	N	A		D	O	E		T	I	R	E	S
R	O	M	P	E	R	S		L	E	E	D	S
I	D	E	A	S		T	W	I	N	S
S	E	L	L		A	L	A		S	E	A	R
		E	N	T	E	R	S		N	Y	E
P	R	O	S	I	T		D	I	E	T	E	D
E	O	N		P	I	P	E	R	S
R	E	T	E		R	A	N		N	O	V	A
		A	S	T	E	R		M	E	L	E	E
C	A	R	T	E		T	E	A	S	E	R	S
O	R	I	O	N		E	R	N		I	S	O
S	T	O	P	S		D	A	Y		N	E	P

Average time of solution: 26 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

DITOR

forerunner of other whether they be in d, or Chapel

T. J. Newton, Jr.

ST PROBLEM

ering your new of- ager that your first, lem shall be the deal- tadt, Cherry, and ke to read the DTH self, and I bet yourself of the you receive for fters from these ad wagons.

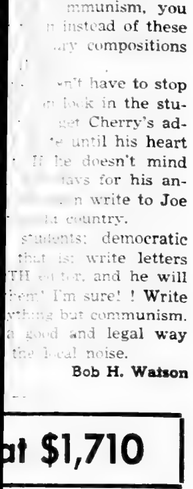
'll get technical about a state- ut, I shall have don't print such if the students as I do, will h letters about mmunism, you instead of these ary compositions

n't have to stop in lock in the stu- get Cherry's ad- until his heart If he doesn't mind days for his an- n write to Joe country.

students: democratic that is: write letters TH editor, and he will them' I'm sure! ! Write thing but communism. a good and legal way the local noise.



Bob H. Watson

at $1,710

as a killer at the five- age group.

cancer patients in County have been finan- ded this year by the ent of the National Can- ety. Of all the money through drives and do- here, the Orange County keeps 40 per cent. Half goes toward patient aid ple who have cancer and afford treatment; the elf goes toward educa- the public through lit- and films and toward of the detection center s Hospital.

is great and the are obvious, so

11 disorder
13 religious pamphlet
19 Bulgarian coin
21 Icelandic narrative
22 adjoin
23 stairs
26 delay
27 bewailed
28 Greek guerilla organization
29 dispatched
31 woody plants
35 former middle European territory
36 hair
39 seed integument
41 a continent
42 pealed
43 one of the Apostles
44 penitential season
46 Tibetan gazelle
48 Hebrew high priest
49 caressive touch

Strictly Ad Lib

By Zane Robbins

Mebbe It's Spring Fever

"WELL, I DUNNO, MEBBE it's just another form of Spring fever, but all the sports-minded residents of the College on the Hill have thoughts of love on the brain—how they'd love to see the Tar Heels make off with another Big Four title, that is." These were the caustic words of my old pal "Meatball" Hoffer as the two of us picked our way through the mob at Harry's and headed for a semi-quiet booth in the back.

"Course the boys ain't gonna have an easy time of it this year," he continued. "No team can lose seven first-stringers and a pair of first-line hurlers and not feel it where it hurts. Men like Vinnie DiLorenzo, Frank Robinson, John Gregory, Jim Hamilton, Jim Hayworth, Emmett Cheek, Jim Kelly, Ott Evans, and Kenny Black can't be replaced in the span between seasons. Professional teams would find the going plenty rough should they be called upon to field an entirely new team, a pennant winner at that, in a few short months.

"It just ain't done even in the best circles," sighed my swarthy little friend, "Even in Brooklyn it's tough."

"But," I interrupted, "we've done pretty well so far haven't we?"

Big Boys Play Rough

"YEH, I KNOW ALL THAT," quoth the sage, "but you havta take into consideration the fact that when you're playin' against the big boys you've gotta be good all the time. And believe me brother, the Big Four is just about the toughest college loop around.

"These teams always come up with something good. Carolina is a good example. They're good all right, but are they good enough? In any other league they would stand an excellent chance of copping the title with little trouble, but it won't be so easy with clubs like Wake Forest, Duke, and Davidson in the running. The batcrazy boys from Baptist Hollow will be particularly tough," moaned "Meatball". "What those guys haven't got isn't worth havin'. Why I'll bet their batboy is good enough to break into class D ball right now.

"And old Jack Coombs over Durham way isn't in the habit of turning out bad ball clubs either. The Blue Devils have had a little trouble getting started, but you can bet that when the going gets rough they'll be plenty tough to beat. As for Davidson, anything can happen. The Wildcats haven't been overly impressive thus far, in fact they've looked downright lousy some say, but once they feel the heat of a Big Four battle, you'll find them far from mediocre."

Time Will Tell

"SURE, 'MEATIE', I FOLLOW YOU, but don'tcha think the teams we've been playing are tough?" I asked.

"Natch," he replied in a slightly sarcastic tone. "Some of the teams our boys have played are the best in their section of the country, but they'd find the sledding plenty rough if they were to play out the Carolina schedule.

"Time alone will tell the whole story which is still a li'l bit hazy, but my guess is that the Big Four champ will go on to win the Eastern NCAA title. I'll even go a little bit further out on the limb," chirped "Meatie", "and predict that Carolina or Wake Forest will be the team to win both crowns. And, maybe it's just sentiment, but I think Coaches Bunn Hearn and Walt Rabb will turn out a diamond crew that will sparkle as bright as any team in the loop.

"There's plenty of talent around, but some of it just hasn't been harnessed yet, and I'm willin' to wager my last pretzel that Messrs. Hearn and Rabb will accomplish that man-sized task soon enough to come up with the Big Four laurels."

Cross Your Fingers

"PITCHERS LIKE 'DIZZY' DEAN CASSELL, Ray 'Bub' Blair, Tommy Andrew, Andy Tranavitch, and Bill McGinn can be counted upon for a barrel-full of victories if they get a little decent support, and the Tar Heels have never been a sloppy club afield.

"Big Will Hobbs, Sid Varney, and Rip Ryan, who are just about the only guys around who have seen considerable varsity action, have been hitting the ball hard all year and youngsters like Ed Lamb, "Zero" Allen, and Joe Eldridge have added more punch to the Carolina offense.

"The boys all run well, and the fielding hasn't looked bad at all. The Carolinians seem to a bunch of hustlers from the word go, and when you turn that kind of team loose on a baseball field anything can happen, and usually does.

"Oh, oh, time for my nightly chat with the members of the Chapel Hill Bookie's Association. Gotta run now, but just keep your fingers crossed, and watch for the Tar Heels to rise to the top Big Four standings. They can do it," shouted "Meatball" as he hurried out the door.

Golfers Nip Purdue, 14-13, On Final Hole

Sapp Scores a 66 As Brooks' Finale Brings Fifth Win

By Billy Carmichael III

The rain came early and the points came late at Hope Valley yesterday afternoon for the golfing Tar Heels of Carolina as the locals picked up a single point on the last hole of the last foursome to ease by some potent Purdue linksmen for a 14-13 victory and their fifth straight win of the season.

No. 5 man Frank Brooks parred the 18th hole of his match with Boilermaker Gene Nemeth and that was good enough to win the hole, halve the round and bring triumph to the Tar Heel camp.

Yet, Brooks' 18th hole point had a close battle for thrill of the day with a couple of tremendous rounds turned in by Oliver Sapp and Harvie Ward.

Like A Veteran

Sapp, the newcomer at the No. 6 slot, looked more the part of the seasoned veteran as he carded an amazing 32-34—66 for a round played mostly in the driving rain. Sapp had fourteen pars coupled with birdies on the 2nd, 8th, 9th and 12th holes. It was the best competitive round fired by a Tar Heel all season.

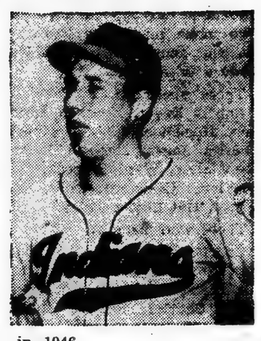
Ward, a stroke behind Sapp, faced the toughest of the Purdue team in his No. 1 match with Fred Wampler, Big Nine champion. With Wampler scoring a one-under-par 69 for the day, the Tarboro lad had to be content with halving the front nine with the Boilermaker ace and then coming back to defeat him 2 and 1 on the back side.

The first foursome was a terrific match for the majority of the 18 holes. Tar Heel No. 2 man Bob Cox had an even par 70, but in the fast field could do no better than a ½ loss to Bob Coulter who registered a 69. Cox rallied at the close of the match when, two down and two to go, he almost halved the round when his birdie putt slipped on the 18th hole.

Same Number

Ward had the same number of birdies as Sapp—on the 2nd, 10th, 14th, and 15th holes, but drew a bogey on the 13th where his second shot was trapped. He had a birdie putt on the 3rd lip out, while another on the 14th stopped less than a inch from the cup.

The second Carolina foursome was completely shut out when Purdue's Johnny Hare dropped a 35-chip on the 18th to stave off a back nine rally by Roy McKenzie and Jack Brantley. The latter two carded 73 and 76 respectively.



Bullet Bob Feller Might Surprise Critics If All Goes Well This Year

By Oscar Fraley
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 12—There is small solace for the Bob Feller fan today in the off-again on-again manner in which the Iowa farm boy has been pitching this spring, but there's a hint during the on-again periods that Bullet Bob's critics are in for a surprise this year.

They have been saying for several years now that Feller is finished. The theory is that the dazzling speed is gone from his fast one. And those who say he is "through" point to the fact that he "only" won 19 games last season.

Most pitchers should live so long. But admittedly it is not up to the calibre which has become a Feller trademark. Nothing like those 27 victories of 1940 or those 26 triumphs in 1946.

Not that he still didn't work hard at baseball. He just worked too hard overall and his pitching suffered.

So it might be slightly significant that Feller hasn't worked too hard this spring. Always one to take exceptionally fine care of himself, Bob has been bringing himself along his own way.

In his first stint, Feller went three innings against the New York Giants and in one inning allowed four runs.

Next the Cubs touched him for a run in three heats and then got two runs over the same distance. Shortly thereafter he gave San Francisco two runs and seven hits in going the route and a few days later Boudreau voiced his disappointment openly.

Feller, a well-kept 30, shouldn't be through by any means. There's a hunch in this corner that he'll prove it this season—and, maybe in the World Series if the rest of the Cleveland pitchers can keep up with the "old man" from Van Meter, Iowa.

Tar Baby Trackmen to Run Against State Frosh Today

Carolina's freshman tracksters will play host to the Baby Wolfpack cindermen of N. C. State in their first meet of the season tomorrow afternoon on Fetzer field. The field events are scheduled to get underway at 3 o'clock with the running beginning at 3:30 o'clock.

The Tar Babies have run in several meets this year but this will be the first time they have taken part in a meet that is solely for freshmen. Up to now they have had to take a backseat to their big brothers, the varsity cindermen in meets such as the Carolina Relays.

Earlier this year the junior tracksters proved their prowess by beating Duke in several indoor meets. Since taking to the out-of-doors, however, they haven't run in any freshman meets.

Coached by Dick Hollander, the Tar Babies showed up well in the Relays by taking a second and third place in the 440 relay and the sprint medley respectively.

The 440 relay composed of Cecil Pless, Romas White, James Woolcott and Willam Winslow is expected to bring home the bacon again tomorrow.

On the sprint medley team were Gordon Hamrick, Tommy Hilton, Roy Solaski and Gene Brigham. These boys placed third behind Maryland and Virginia Tech so should beat State easily.

If Gordon Hamrick lives up to the form he displayed in the indoor meet with Duke, he should end up a winner in the mile race tomorrow. He ran in the three-fourths mile run in the Duke meet, but should have had enough practice since then to make a good showing in the mile run. He also runs in the two mile event, the one which so many of the varsity runners were unable to finish in the Carolina Relays.

Notices

SAFETY COURSE

All persons interested in signing up for a water safety instructors course have been requested to attend a meeting Wednesday night at 7 o'clock in room 303, Woollen gym.

OPEN HOUSE

The practice of holding open house in Woollen Gym on Monday and Wednesday nights between 7 and 9:30 o'clock will be resumed this evening, and will be continued for the remainder of the spring quarter.

INTRAMURAL ROUNDUP

INTRAMURAL TRACK

Intramural track trials will continue through Thursday afternoon. Those wishing to qualify must report to the track officials between 3 and 6 o'clock today or tomorrow. All entry sheets for events where trials are not held are due in 311 Woollen Gym today before 6 o'clock.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00—Field 1, Town 1 vs YMCA; 2, Miller vs Hot Rocks; 3, DKE 3 vs Pi Lamb 2; 4, Phi Delt 1 vs KA 3; 5, SAE 1 vs PiKA 1; 6, KA 1 vs Beta 1; 7, Stacey vs Mangum.

5:00—Field 1, Graham vs Emerson 2; 2, Phi Gam 1 vs DKE 1; 3, Steele vs Old Grads; 4, Sigma Chi 1 vs Lamb Chi 2; 5, Sigma Chi 3 vs Sig Eps; 6, Kappa Psi 2 vs Phi Delt Chi.

GOLF SUMMARIES

Ward (C) defeated Wampler, 2½-½. Coulter (P) defeated Cox, 2-1. Best ball to Carolina, 3-0.
Hare (P) defeated McKenzie, 3-0.
Cleary (P) defeated Brantley, 3-0.
Best ball to Purdue, 3-0.
Brooks (C) halved with Nemeth, 1½-1½. Sapp (C) defeated Thomas, 3-0.
Best ball to Carolina, 3-0.
Sapp and Ward's Rounds:

Par	434	443	454	444	435	443	—35	—35	—70
Sapp	424	443	443	443	435	443	—32	—34	—66
Ward	424	443	454	344	534	343	—34	—33	—67

Wake-Carolina Game Rained Out; Albright Tennis Match Cancelled

The weatherman won another victory yesterday as rain forced the postponement of the Carolina-Wake Forest baseball game—the third game rained out thus far this season. The Carolina-Albright tennis match was also cancelled because of rain.

No attempt has been made yet to reschedule the rained out ball game. Since Wake Forest has a full schedule through the remainder of the week, the game will have to be played later this month or the first of next month. The only open date the Tar Heels have this week is today and Wake Forest already has a game scheduled.

There is a possibility that the tennis match with Albright may be played this afternoon, depending on the condition of the courts over at Wake Forest where Albright is scheduled to play today. Should the courts be bad there, the Albright team will come back to Chapel Hill and play the Tar Heels on the all-weather varsity courts.

The next home game on the Carolina baseball schedule is Thursday afternoon. The Cavaliers of Virginia will be the guests. On Friday Carolina will play host to Maryland in their third conference game of the season. On Saturday the Carolinians will journey to Laurenburg where they will meet the University of South Carolina.

Freshman Netters To Play Goldsboro

Carolina's freshman tennis team will travel to Goldsboro today in quest of its win of the season in a meet with Goldsboro High School.

Jim Hammerstein is currently the Tar Babies' number one singles player, with Charles Duval holding down the second spot. The remaining singlesmen are Beet Smith, Cecil Milton, Sharen Haroutunian, and Buck Buchanan, ranking in that order.

Combinations of Hammerstein-Smith, Milton-Duval, and Littleton-Reddington were victorious in Saturday's meet, and will probably play in that order today.

TEEN-AGE

"Absolutely no horse sense!"

NEW SPECIAL
Sirloin Steak
$1.25

THE BUCCANEER
CHAR BROIL STEAKS
FINE SANDWICHES
AIRPORT RD CHAPEL HILL

GUNG HAVE PAHTY?
Reserve your stomping ground NOW at THE MERCURY CLUB. Plenty of Parking Space. Easy rates. BEER & SANDWICHES
MERCURY CLUB
YOUR ONLY NIGHT SPOT OPERATED BY STUDENTS FOR STUDENTS
3 Miles Out On Greensboro Highway

LACOCK'S
For Better
SHOE REPAIRING

VILLAGE
TODAY
IRENE DUNNE in Lady in a Jam
PATRIC KNOWLES RALPH BELLAMY EUGENE PALLETTE Queenie Vassar
Produced and Directed by GREGORY LaCAVA
Also COLOR CARTOON

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

EASTER IS APRIL 17th
Place Your Order Today
Don't Delay
Corsages — $3.00 and Up
Also Select Potted Plants
REHDER'S CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Scott Bldg. — Phone 4851

Spring Values For You

White Dinner Jackets

Appealing is the word for these correctly styled white dinner jackets — they're so cool, so light, they fit so right. Come in now while we have your size.

from $25.00

It's spring again on the campus, and time to break out with a new spring wardrobe to impress that lovely co-ed. Before you buy, be sure to see Pritchard-Bright's selections — they'll top off any outfit at prices you can afford to pay!!

Pritchard-Bright & Co.
University Store
Washington Duke Hotel Bldg.
DURHAM, N. C.

Handsome Sport Coats

Wools, tweeds, herringbone, gabardine, covert — all the makes and models at Pritchard-Bright's. Styled to fit your body — priced to fit your pocketbook. Slacks to Harmonize.

from $22.50

Racial Question Is Settled At School

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 12.—(UP)—Confusion over a negro college being invited to attend the Alabama Art Festival at the University of Alabama has been cleared up, it was disclosed today.

Dr. A. D. Beittel, President of Talladega College, a negro school, said the college was invited to present an exhibit at the art festival and also received an invitation to attend the event this weekend. The invitation was signed by John Opper, chairman of the second annual art festival.

Recently he said, however, he received a letter from Dr. J. B. Smith head of the university art department, explaining that it would not be possible for Talladega College to be represented.

Dr. Smith said that it "would not be wise to have an interracial meeting" at the university.

"I believe they intended for us to send an exhibit," Dr. Beittel said. "But perhaps they did not intend for us to attend the festival."

Dr. Beittel explained that he had a mixed faculty at Talladega. He is white and his art instructor, Claude Clark, is negro.

The incident, he said, caused two speakers scheduled at the art festival to cancel their engagements. They were Dr. Francis Henry Taylor of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and Dr. Thomas Monroe, Curator of the Cleveland Museum of Art.

The festival will be held as scheduled at the university. It will include an exhibition of art work from the kindergarten level through the high school level. It is designed to create "art consciousness" among high school and college students.

UVA Will Feature Program Tonight

Another entertainment program similar to the probe featured by the University Veterans Association tonight at their mid-week party, President Gene Newton announced yesterday.

– Statements –

(Continued from Page 1)

for the vice-presidency on the Student party slate, said last night, "I think we have elected the best president the student body has ever had. I want to congratulate Ten (Leonard) on his election to the vice-presidency and wish him as much success with the Legislature as he had in his campaign."

Leonard, who won the secondary executive post with UP backing, thanked his supporters for their efforts in the campaign. "The election has been a hard one and a close one," he commented, "which attests to the outstanding ability of my opponent. I want to pledge to the student body that I will give them my time and energies in seeing that their Legislature is one in which they can take pride."

Formal Wear
FOR RENT
Full Dress $5.00
Tuxedos 4.00
White Jackets .. 4.00
Tuxedo Junction
601 E. Trinity Ave. - J-1373
DURHAM, N. C.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

4:00—STUDENT RECITAL. James Weathers, William Waters, William Tritt, Barbara Tritt, and Richard Cox, will perform. Hill Hall.

4:00—UNIVERSITY PARTY. Roland Parker 2, GM.

5:00—PAN-HEL Council. Grail room, GM.

6:30—PASSOVER FESTIVAL. Seder Service at Carolina Inn.

7:00—SIGMA KAPPA Epsilon. Roland Parker 3, GM.

7:30—STUDENTS For Democratic Action. Roland Parker 2, GM.

8:00—THOMAS WOLFE Club. Roland Parker 1, GM.

8:00—DAMES CLUB. Mrs. R. H. Wettach will speak on "The Pre-School Child in the Home." Main lounge, GM.

8:30—JOINT RECITAL by Sam Green and Harold Andrews. Hill Hall.

8:30—UNIVERSITY HOUR. WDUK, Durham.

9:00—DI SENATE. Third floor, New West.

– Election –

(Continued from Page 1)

Women's Council went to Pat Chandler with 203, Patty Ann Frizzell with 212 and Barbara Payne with 238. Harriet Williamson with 179 was the loser.

Dalton Ruffin (UP) won the presidency of the sophomore class with 282 votes to CP candidate Joe Privott's 268. Archie Myatt (CP) won the vice-presidency with 306 over Bob Evans (SP) with 232. The secretary's post went to Bill McLendon (SP) with 270 votes over Madge Crawford with 265. Tom Mayfield (CP) won as treasurer with 275 over Zane Robbins (UP) with 251.

The position of senior class secretary went to Amecia Eure (UP) with 366 over Anita Gates (SP) with 350. Jim Twine (UP) beat Nat Swann (SP) for treasurer by a count of 374 to 339.

Here are the results of the Legislature races. Winners are starred:

Dorm Men 1: Dan Ashby* (CP) 242, Jack Rock* (CP) 233. Charlie Trent* (CP) 256, Claude Wilson (SP-UP) 213; Dorm Men II: Graham Jones* (SP) 264, Jim Montague* (CP) 245, Ed Williams (CP) 236, Herb Yates* (SP) 298; Dorm Men III: (12-month term) Julian Albergotti (UP) 157, Moe Huntley (UP) 167. Sol Kimerling* (SP) 172, Neal Partrick* (UP) 196, Bob Smith* (CP) 197; (6-month term) Will London* (SP) 188, Marsden deRosset (UP) 128; Dorm Men IV: Jim Houser* (SP) 140, Bobby Wilmoth (UP) 105, Al Winn* (CP) 118; Dorm Men V: Ed Best* (CP) 52, Tom Wharton (UP) 50.

Dorm Women I: Jean Cashion* (SP) 112, Marilyn Meeks (CP) 63; Dorm Women II: Mac Copenhaver* (UP) 45, Daisy Belle Anderson (SP) 34.

Commerce School Honors 140 Men

An honor roll and two Dean's lists were released yesterday by the School of Commerce. They included a 13-man Dean's list who made all 'A's'; a list of 75 who made no grades less than 'B', and another list of 52 who made a 'B' average.

Those who made all 'A's':

Robert Beyer, Kenneth Black, Jack Henderson, Dewey Hinkle, Charles Jones, Hartzell LeBed, Joe Melvin, Ward Peacock, Carl Shifflett, Crawford Sites, Hal Smyre, and Ernest Tilley.

Those who made all 'B's':

Charles Adderhodt, Sam Badgett, Norwood Baker, John Borum, Charles Britt, James Brockman, Charles Brown, Robert Brown, William Brown, William Franklin Brown, Eugene Bryant, Jesse Cannady, Fitsgerald Caudle, Neill Clegg, Edward Collines, James Creech, Alfred Crisp, Henry Deal, Charles Dobbin, Darel Drummond, Carrol Fisher, Ralph Forrest, Hugh Fortescue, and George Furches.

Clyde Fussell, Henry Golding, John Green, Julian Hamrick, Page Harris, Frank Harrison, Charles Hayes, Garland Huffman, DeWitt Hyder, Wade Isaacs, Joeseph Jones, James Joyner, Mack Jones, Herbert Knight, Kenneth Knight, Dick Leach, Marvin Little.

Andrew McCall, Alger Martin, Tom Matthews, Frank Meadows, Steve Moore, William Morse, John Otterbourgh, Louis Otterbourgh, Roland Palmer, William Parrish, Oliver Phifer, Harry Phillips, Paul Plunkett, William Reese, Berry Reid, Ben L. Rouse, Charles F. Royster, Eric S. Sellers, John W. Sexton, Walter Shapiro, Brantley Shaw, Alvis Sorrell, Jack Sparrow.

James Stephenson, Jerry Strader, Edward Testerman, Charles Trice, Ernest Tucker, James Vogler, John Arch Watson, John Blake Watson, Romulus Watson, Phil Widenhouse, Clifton Wilson.

Those who averaged 'B':

Ervin Baer, Claude Barbee, Gerald Blum, Rufus Butner, Dan Campbell, Drew Colvard, Anies Day, Floyd Durham, Hugh Ervin, William Flanagan, Glenn Flinchum, Henry Foster, Ben Foust, Gilmore Freeman, Theodore Fussell, Robert Giles, Charles Gipple, Dean Grogan.

Thomas Holden, James Holt, Earl Honeycutt, Roland Horne, George Howerton, Billy Ivey, Robert Kirkland, Owen Lewis, James Lindsay, Charles Linville, Thomas Little, Zeb Little, Charles McAfee, Hugh McArver, Alexander McIntyre, Blaine Moore, James Morgan.

Lewis Nunnelee, James Owen, Creel Pickel, Harvey Renn, Lattie Rogers, Robert Ross, William Roth, Harold Sharpe, William Shrago, Bobby Stutts, Paul Swope, Lloyd Tyndall, Richard Wallack, John Webb, Lemuel Whitsett, Joseph Wratten.

Forrestal Rests In Naval Hospital

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(UP)—James Forrestal, former Defense Secretary who is suffering from "operational fatigue, brought on by overwork, was reported in "satisfactory" condition at the Bethesda, Md., naval hospital today.

Capt. B. W. Hogan, chief medical officer, said the only visitors Forrestal is seeing are his wife and 21-year old son Michael. Doctors want him to get the maximum amount of rest, Hogan said.

Chairman Millard Tydings, (D.-Md.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee, meanwhile sent Forrestal a telegram wishing him a speedy recovery from the illness "brought on by the overpowering duties of your office."

He praised Forrestal for his "outstanding service" to the nation and said "there is no doubt that history will remember the eminent manner in which you have discharged these heavy responsibilities."

SDA to Discuss Civil Rights

The Students for Democratic Action will meet tonight at 7:30 in Roland Parker lounge No. 2.

The purpose of the meeting is to make final plans for the civil rights conference to be held here next week. Chairman Bob Lindsay announced yesterday that students from all schools in the state have been invited to attend the conference, which is to be held on Saturday and Sunday, April 23 and 24.

This meeting is to take the place of the regular Tuesday night session, which was postponed to avoid conflict with the counting of votes.

Congress to Look Into Army PX's

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(UP)—The House Armed Services Committee today ordered an investigation of the multi-million dollar business done by military post exchanges, commissaries and ship's service stores.

The inquiry grew out of complaints that the military stores have grown into a tremendous business which competes with private enterprise, sometimes unfairly.

Chairman Carl Vinson, (D.-Ga.) ordered a special subcommittee to find out "to what extent these stores are necessary and to what extent they are being abused."

Vinson said the stores did a $635,211,471 business last year. He added that much of it was at overseas posts, however, "and of course we can't quarrel with that."

He said he ordered the examination at the request of the House Small Business Committee and because "I have been receiving a great many letters" on the subject.

Local Businesses To Close Monday

Chapel Hill and Carrboro stores who are members of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants Association will be closed Monday for the observance of Easter Monday, Vic Huggins, Merchant's Association head, announced yesterday.

Merchants Association stores are also being issued colored stickers which will be placed on the doors of members in a few days.

Vice-President Warns South To Beware of Leaving Party

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 12.—(UP)—Vice President Alben Barkley tonight warned the South that it would be left without a "voice in the councils of the nation" if its relationship with the Democratic party were destroyed.

Appearing for the first time in a state that cast its electoral votes for the States Rights party, Barkley appealed to a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner crowd of about 1,000 for party harmony. He did not comment on the fact that Alabama was the only state that failed to list his and President Truman's name on the ballot last November.

"The Democratic Party and the states of the South have had a long and fruitful partnership," he said. "It would be a tragic thing if that partnership were to be destroyed."

"It would leave the South without effective means of promoting its own high aspirations. It would leave that whole great area, rich in culture and tradition, without a voice in the councils of the nation.

"The Democratic party is the only party that has ever inaugurated legislation or an executive paragram which raised the standard of life among the Southern people."

The vice president, obviously hinting at the States' Rights Party, also warned against creating "fragmentary" parties.

"The worst effect of the creation of a number of fragmentary parties in America would not be merely in the disintegration of the major parties, but in the weakening of the leadership of the United States in the world," he said.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR RENT 6A

DELIGHTFUL SUMMER HOME IN invigorating Litchfield Hills, Lake Waramaug, New Preston, Connecticut. Secluded. Yet accessible. For particulars, call Mrs. J. C. Babcock before April 17, Carolina Inn. (3-2380-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1940 LA SALLE COUPE. ALL KINDS of extras. Good condition. $695. Phone 4131. (ch 1x1)

LOST 12

IN CAROLINA THEATER, GREEN alligator billfold containing money and identification. Call Peggy Kemrey at Infirmary, F-428. LIBERAL REWARD. (2-2382-1)

WILL THE GENTLEMAN WHO REmoved tan raincoat from Harry's Friday please call 7461. His coat lacks name and address printed in large, black letters inside. Thanks. (1-2384-1)

WANTED 24

STUDENT AND WIFE NEED SMALL furnished apartment for 1 year, beginning summer school. Will consider anything. Write or call J. W. H., 201 Manley. (2-2383-1)

For The NEWEST FASHIONS in MENS CLOTHING visit
THE Sport SHOP
120 E. MAIN ST.
Durham

FOISTER'S CAMERA STORE
HAS
All Types Of FILM
For Your EASTER
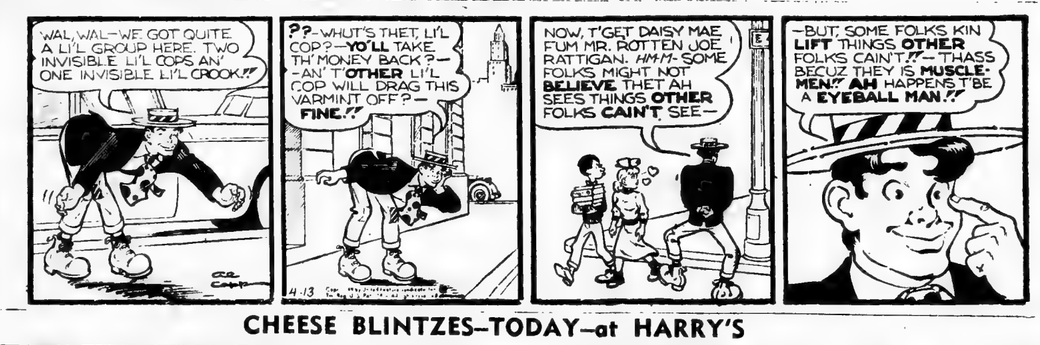
PICTURES

HAIRCUTS SHAVES
SHAMPOOS
VILLAGE BARBER SHOP
Across From Post Office on Henderson Street

Carolina – Duke
DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL BLVD
75¢ PER CAR
Tax Included
NEW POLICY!
Two Shows Nightly
Rain or Shine
7:30 — 9:30 P.M.
Another New Policy
Only The Best Pictures
No Limit To Number of Passengers —
Bring The Gang

ARE THESE YOUR CHILDREN?
If you value the life of your teen age children, don't let them ride or drive around in a jalopy. First, because it is dangerous for them and second, because it is a menace to other drivers and pedestrians.
Be Careful—the life you save may be your own!
This advertisement is published in the public interest by
Strowd Motor Co.

Two things every college man should know!



1. This is a Fraternity Brother. Always happy to paddle other people's canoes. Spends days in haze. College is mostly Greek to him. Rushes . . . for a "Manhattan" Fraternity Sportshirt.

2. This is a "Manhattan" Fraternity Sportshirt. Properly initiated with authentic fraternity insignia and pins. Also gets straight "A's" for smart tailoring and easy fit. In washable cotton-rayon mixture. Choice of exclusive "Manhattan" colors.
CAMPUS FAVORITE
Manhattan
THE MANHATTAN SHIRT COMPANY
Copr. 1949, The Manhattan Shirt Co.

Camp! Champ!
You know what it takes to be a champion on the playing field: Speed! Stamina! Performance!
On your study desk, you'll thrill to those same winning qualities in your own Underwood Champion Portable Typewriter.
You'll get along better with neatly typed homework and classroom papers.
You'll win the admiration of friends with your legibly-typed letters. You'll win more leisure for sports and other activities with the help of this speedy classmate.
So put this Campus Champ on your team. Don't delay . . . ask your Dad to get you a Champ now! Tell him to see your local Authorized Underwood Portable Typewriter Dealer or write a post card for free folder.

For illustrated, descriptive folder write to:
Underwood Corporation
Dept. C-1, One Park Avenue, New York 16, N. Y.
Typewriters . . . Adding Machines . . . Accounting Machines . . . Carbon Paper . . . Ribbons and other Supplies
Underwood Limited, 135 Victoria St., Toronto 1, Canada
Sales and Service Everywhere
UNDERWOOD
Underwood . . . TYPEWRITER LEADER OF THE WORLD

L'il Abner — AL CAPP

CHEESE BLINTZES–TODAY–at HARRY'S
Steve Canyon — MILTON CANIFF

EDITORIALS

Freshmen Lead
Pan-American Day
Long-Standing Need

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Partly cloudy and warmer

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 142

Graham Elected To Board Of Trustees

Coke Machines Installed In All Men's Dorms

Drive to Aid Cancer Fund Starts Today

Campus Campaign Is Led by IFC

The American Cancer Society's annual fund drive and membership campaign goes into full swing on the campus today under the sponsorship of the Inter-Fraternity Council, Charles Loudermilk, president of the IFC, announced last night.

"Over 3500 students now attending the University will live to see cancer strike in their homes—unless the present lethal tide of attack on one home out of two is stopped," Loudermilk said in releasing the announcement. "There is no need to remind those of the student body already acquainted with cancer to give generously to fight this most dangerous disease, but every student should lend a hand to cancer control.

"According to national statistics, approximately 1000 of the University's present student body will, sooner or later, die of cancer. Cancer today is the Number 2 killer in America, second only to heart disease, and the cancer rate is still rising, according to U. S. Public Health Service."

The President of the IFC also pointed out that North Carolina has today 12,000 cancer cases.

"Judging by the figures alone, the extreme concern of health authorities over the cancer problem is easily understandable," he commented. "But action against this killer can be taken through the American Cancer Society's threefold program of education, service, and research. Vast progress has been made in recent years. Today one-half of all cases of early cancer could be cured, for cancer is the most highly curable of all the fatal diseases. That the maximum percentage is not cured is an indictment of the intelligence of the American public. Years of research have armed the medical profession for the fight, but treatment can begin only after the patient enters the physician's office. The complete conquest of cancer rests with the individual, who can make his hope felt through continued and increasing support of the American Cancer Society."

Collection boxes have been placed in the dormitories and fraternity houses. "A few cents from each student isn't asking much," Loudermilk said, "when the donation is an investment for himself and his family."

SYBIL DRAKE

Drake to Appear In Piano Recital At 8:30 Tonight

In a recital to be presented this evening at 8:30 in Hill hall, Sybil Drake, senior pianist, will feature "Sonata in B Minor," by Scarlatti, "Rhapsodie Hongroise No. 12," Liszt, and Chopin's "Nocturne in F Sharp Major."

For the last two years, Miss Drake has been studying piano with William S. Newman, of the University music department. Before coming to the University she attended Sophie Newcomb college of Tulane university where she was a member of the University Acappella choir, Women's Glee club, and Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority.

Miss Drake is a member of the University Women's Glee club here and is vice-president of Sigma Alpha Iota music sorority. Having studied the piano for the major part of her life, Miss Drake has played before numerous organizations both in her home town, Minden, La., and at Sophie Newcomb. In Chapel Hill she appeared as guest performer for last year's "Community Sing" tour and accompanist for the Playmakers' musical comedy, "Fashion," presented last year.

To be included on Miss Drake's program are compositions by Mozart, Brahms, and Prokofieff, and the public is invited.

Concert Season Closes at Duke

The Duke University concert season will come to a close Tuesday night, April 26, when the Philadelphia Orchestra, directed by Eugene Ormandy, appears in Page auditorium.

Described by Sergei Rachmaninoff as "the world's greatest orchestra," the Philadelphia group was the first to broadcast nationally and has the largest recorded repertory of any existing orchestra.

The Duke appearance, which will mark the group's only North Carolina visit, will feature the Overture to "Egmont" and Opus 84 by Beethoven, Symphony No. 2 in D Major and Opus 43 by Sibelius, Prelude to "The Afternoon of a Faun" by Debussy, Suite from "The Miraculous Mandarin" by Bartok, and the choreagraphic poem, "La Valse" by Ravel.

Since the concert is not on the regular series, tickets are still available, according to J. Foster Barnes, director, and reservations may be obtained by writing to him.

Alumni Assembly Will Meet Here

The University alumni assembly will hold its annual meeting at the Carolina Inn, Thursday, April 21, it was announced yesterday by the alumni office. The assembly includes all officers of organized alumni associations, and officers and directors of the General Alumni Association.

Nominating of candidates for officers of the General Association will highlight the meeting. Judge Henry L. Stevens of Warsaw will preside at the assembly. The candidates names will be voted on by the 7,000 members of the association by mail-in ballot.

Gerns Makes Announcement Of Trial Plan

One Machine Set In Each Building

Installation of bottle "coke" machines in all University men's dormitories will be completed sometime today, Pete Gerns, president of the Interdormitory Council announced yesterday.

Cokes will not be available, however, for one or two days, Gerns added, in order that the dormitory janitors may be schooled in their new duties connected with the installation.

Gerns said that there will be one machine in each dorm. They will be located on the first floor in each dorm except in A, B, and C, where they will be in the basement. The machines will be equipped with coin changers and bottle collection will be handled by the janitors.

The installation of the machines culminated more than six month's work on the part of the council. A committee chairmanned by Leroy Milks has been working on the project since last October.

The machines, provided by a Durham bottling concern, will be serviced each day. Gerns said that profits derived from the sale of the Cokes will probably go into slight salary increases for dorm janitors.

In making the announcement of the installation, Gerns emphasized the fact that the machines will be on a temporary basis until the amount of bottle breakage can be ascertained. Whether or not the machines remain on a permanent basis, Gerns said, depends entirely on the dormitory men.

Gerns expressed thanks to Dean of Students Fred Weaver, H. R. Ritchie, director of the Book Exchange, Charlie Foley, member of the student legislature, and especially Milks for their cooperation and working in making the machines possible.

Officers Elected By Wesley Group

Members of the Wesley Foundation elected new officers Sunday night with Jim Brockman heading the slate as president.

Brockman, who took over presidential duties from Ed Buckner, is a senior commerce major, held the vice-presidential seat last year, and was chairman of the finance committee.

Other officers are Joe Beasley, vice-president; Bob Woody, secretary; and Jim Hutchins, treasurer.

At Monday night's business meeting, the committee chairmen were chosen as follows: Program, Pete Burgs; Finance, Marvin Lee; Commissary, Tet Hoffner; Deputations, Harold Day; Social Action, Ted Ashby; Publicity, Billy Howell: Wesley Rockets, Ed Buckner; Board of Stewards Representatives, Jim Brockman and Buddy Crone; Campus Church Relations: Pete Burks and Jim Brockman; CRIL, Jack Williams and Jack Grant; Recreation, Mattox Gray.

Y Court Creatures Cavort As Grail Taps Neophytes

Phi Group Votes Approval to Bill On Mercy Killing

The Philanthropic Assembly went on record as favoring mercy killings by the margin of a single vote in Phi Hall Tuesday night.

An amendment that would require the request of the person to be killed was proposed by Emily Baker and passed with unanimous consent.

Dr. Frank Graham was nominated by the Phi as its choice for the first Di-Phi award in an executive session following the debate. The award, established during the winter quarter through joint action of the Dialectic Senate and the Phi, will be given annually to an outstanding alumnus of the University who has made a notable "contribution to society," achieved success in his chosen field of endeavor, and been of service to the University.

Proponents of the euthanasia bill were Hugh Griffin, Peter Gerns, Emily Baker, Ben Erdman, and Graham Jones. Herman Sieber, Charles Britt, George Rodman, and Violet LaRue led the opposition.

Miss Baker told the Assembly that in a recent medical meeting a speaker asked all doctors who had not at one time or another helped an "incurable" patient to die, to stand up. No doctor got up.

Ben Erdman asked, "What is to be gained by prolonged suffering?" Herman Sieber feared that mercy killing would be used as a political device as in Hitlerite Germany and Russia.

Hugh Griffin pointed out that the New York legislature now has before it a euthanasia measure which precludes any abuse.

Charles Britt, calling euthanasia "bureaucratic suicide," described an aunt who had "all sorts of diseases" but who has outlived her doctors.

George Rodman emphasized the point that a patient who lives three more days, might live 30 days, 30 weeks, or 30 years.

The Ways and Means Committee reported a resolution for next weeks meeting that favors legalization of gambling in North Carolina.

Ben Erdman was initiated into the Assembly by Speaker Bill Duncan at the meeting.

Aquinas Club Hears Literary Criticism

The Aquinas Club, organization of Catholic students of the University, heard Curtis Clauson, junior from Waynesville, give a literary review of "The Seven-Story Mountain," best - selling non-fiction novel by Thomas Merton, at its weekly meeting in the Y building Tuesday night.

The club's regular meeting time was changed from Tuesday nights to Monday nights at 7:30, club officials said, "for the convenience of the majority of members."

Vice-President Extolls Virtues Of Patent Drug

By Charles McCorkle

The new vice-president of the student body, dressed in a breach clout, extolled the virtues of milk of magnesia, Julius Caesar spoke of Roman love affairs and a varsity footballer expounded on how to "nuzzle baby."

No, it wasn't a preview of "The Snake Pit," just yesterday's Grail initiation in the Y court.

And Ted Leonard as the red Indian "Little Hammer and Sickle," Dick Gordon as the belaureled Caesar, and Ed Washington as a baby-loving blackface act were just three of the thirteen initiates into the men's honorary society.

The open-air ceremonies began about 1 o'clock in the center of the Y court. Dortch Warriner, dressed in his skivvies and a few folds of old newsprint, served as master of ceremonies and introduced the initiates one by one to deliver short dissertations on everything from "How I Keep My Hat on in Bed" to "How to Start a Fire by Friction in the Arboretum."

But only 12 of the neophyte Grail members showed up. The 13th, missing in action, was Frank Kilpatrick, described as "The Typical Carolina Gentleman, Otherwise Known as a Squirrel-Shooter." Kilpatrick, scheduled to deliver a talk on "How to Shoot Squirrels" or "Blip," was out hunting up 13 dogs to help him in his fur-bearing hunt.

After the speeches and a bit of trouble with a weary plow horse who was pulling Caesar's "chariot" and didn't like the barking canines who tried to horn in on the act, the motley troupe began a parade which wound out Cameron Avenue and down through Chapel Hill's business district.

The other characters in the annual Grail frolic included Sam Magill, dressed in long red BVD's speaking on "Why I Am the Fastest Two-Miler in the Country" or "How I Rose to Stardom on a Bamboo Shaft," and Bill Roth as a boy scout with fire-making troubles.

Herb Mitchell, the child-bride, spoke on "Whether to Raise Pigs or Children" and groom Dave Sharpe, dressed to the teeth with the exception of his trousers, explained just how, and why, he kept his top hat on in bed.

Charlie Smith, in a T-shirt and diaper, carried on with a nipple-capped wine bottle, Fred Thompson, a hula dancer, explained "Why I Shake When I'm Awake," and Herb Yates as the famous New Orleans Cat Girl, told just how he got that way.

The final attraction on the agenda was "The Typical Carolina Coed," Ed Tenney dressed as a witch with green hair, riding a bicycle-broomstick combination, rasping out a story of a misguided landing at Katy's in Raleigh.

Legislature Meeting Cancelled Tonight

There will be no meeting of the Student Legislature tonight, Joe Leary, speaker pro tempore said yesterday. However, he asked that all former solons be present at the next assembly gathering Thursday, April 21, to wish the new legislators good luck.

Cities Can Avoid Congestion Evils, Mumford Asserts

Louis Mumford, architectural critic and lecturer from New York, told the University Faculty Club Tuesday that North Carolina cities are "fortunate" that they have not yet reached a point where decentralization is a problem.

The New York architect is now visiting professor at the School of Design and State College and is giving a series of lectures here. He was introduced at the faculty luncheon by John A. Parker, head of the University's Department of Regional and City Planning.

Mumford said that Americans have the tendency to put too much emphasis on "big things," but added that North Carolina can have cities of 500,000 population and still avoid the evils of congestion, rent profiteering, and slum areas. He contended that under present conditions this state could mold model cities through long-range planning and zoning regulations.

"When we have an over concentration of population we get apoplexy at the center and paralysis at the extremities," he said. Concentration of population probably seems necessary at first, he continued, but the automobile, telephone, television, and airplanes have made diffusion of population a practical matter.

Walter Spearman, president of the Faculty Club, announced that Dr. Roy Marshall, director of the Morehead Planetarium, will speak at the next meeting.

Movie To Be Given By CH Bird Club

A color movie on birds of the California coast will be shown at the Chapel Hill elementary school at 8:00 this evening. The movie will be given under the auspices of the Chapel Hill Bird Club and the National Audubon Society.

The film is the last of a series of five wildlife movies presented by the club.

Legislature Picks 30 For New Terms

Senator Made Ex-Officio Member On Motion Presented by Allsbrook

RALEIGH, April 13—(UP)—A motion to make Senator Frank P. Graham an ex-officio member of the University Board of Trustees was passed overwhelmingly by a joint Senate-House session of the legislature yesterday. The session elected 30 to the Board.

Senator Julian Allsbrook of Halifax County presented the motion. Senator Graham's name was considered by the joint committee on Trustees of the University, but he was not one of the 30 names sent to the joint session for approval.

During debate over the motion, Senator L. H. Fountain termed the failure of the committee to nominate Graham as "most unfortunate." He said the former University president had given the school, "prestige throughout the country."

Senator Allsbrook also suggested that the Legislature amend present laws to make all ex-presidents of the Greater University ex-officio members of the Board if they still maintained residence in North Carolina. This would apply only to Senator Graham at the present time.

Those elected to the Board included:

David Clark of Charlotte, K. Clyde Council of Wananish, B. B. Everett of Palmyra, Mrs. R. S. Furguson of Taylorsville, J. S. Finklen of Greenville, J. A. Gray of Winston-Salem, R. L. Harris of Roxboro, R. E. Little of Wadesboro, Thomas J. Pearsall of Rocky Mount, Frank Taylor of Goldsboro.

Mrs. Mae L. Tomlinson of High Point, R. F. E. Wallace of Kinston, C. Wayland Spruill of Windsor, D. L. Ward of New Bern, Mrs. Mary McIver Stanford of Orange County, John P. Stedman of Lumberton, F. D. B. Harding of Yadkinville, G. N. Noble of Trenton, H. A. Greene of Reaford, H. L. Riddle, Jr., of Morganton, Mrs. Albert Lathrop of Asheville, J. S. Rodman of Washington, L. H. Hodges of Leaksville-Spray, James L. Woodson of Salisbury, and H. P. Taylor of Wadesboro.

For six-year terms:

James H. Clark of Elizabethtown and John Geitner of Hickory.

For two-year terms:

Frank Daniels of Raleigh, R. L. Whitmire of Hendersonville and Miss Annie Moore Cherry of Red Springs.

Leader Training To Begin Monday

The annual coed leadership training program for new campus officers, sponsored by the Coed Senate, will be held at the University here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 18, 19, 20, it was announced today by Patsy McNutt, Greensboro, chairman of the program. The men students will also hold a similar program.

On Monday, the coeds will hear addresses by Dr. Dorothy McCuskey of the School of Education; Al Lowenstein, Scarsdale, N. Y.; Jesse Dedmond, Cliffside, president of the student body, and Emily Baker, Asheville. There will also be group sessions.

Tuesday evening at 7 Randy Hamilton, political science instructor will speak on parliamentary procedure in Graham Memorial. At 9 p. m. in Gerrard Hall the installation of all officers will be held.

Climaxing the program will be a banquet for the new officers at the Carolina Inn at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, with Dean of Students Fred Weaver as guest speaker.

Brandis to Take Office on July 1

The appointment of Henry L. Brandis as dean of the University Law School will become effective July 1, Chancellor Robert House said yesterday. Brandis succeeds Robert H. Wettach, who has been dean since 1941. The new dean has been a members of the Law School faculty since 1940.

The appointment was made last month by House, and was approved by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees.

Sub-Let Controls Announced Here

Persons who are expecting to sub-let their quarters for the summer at a higher rate than that by which their landlords are bound must report to the Rent Control office, located over Andrew - Henninger Department store, in order to get their rent ceiling raised, F. A. Pollard, attorney for this area announced yesterday.

Arrangements for sub-letting quarters are provided for in the new rent control law that went into effect on April 1, Pollard said. This arrangement also applies to persons living in Victory Village, Pollard said.

Another item under the new law that applies to residents of Chapel Hill is the fact that eviction control is back under the Rent Control office, and all persons who are asked to move should contact the office immediately, Pollard said.

on the Political Front

with Charles McCorkle

New Hands on the Tiller

FOR SOME IT'S ALL OVER but the swearing-in. For many others, it's all over but some more swearing. For the great political battle of the spring of 1949 has come to an end, the politicians are sheathing their knives until the next time, and the University building and grounds employes are spiking the last of the tattered political posters into their rubbish sacks.

Bill Mackie, the shining light of the Student Party, has now become the guiding light of student government. And Ted Leonard is ready to take a firm hand on the tiller of the Student Legislature. Dick Gordon and Al Lowenstein will most likely be in there plugging in whatever job needs doing and in whatever capacity they are called upon to help their student government, even though they did not win their respective races.

Facts, Figures and Charlie Long

FOR THE EDIFICATION OF THE general public, Charlie Long gave Dick Gordon exactly 21 votes. When Charlie and the Campus Party swung their support behind the top UP candidates, the SP politicoes groaned. But Gordon, who raked in 998 votes in the first ballot last week, got 1,019 votes this Tuesday—just 21 more.

Figuring the student body at 7,100, we now give you the abysmal percentage of the student body which has brains enough to exercise its privilege of voting: Last Tuesday, the total vote was 2,848—a mere 40 per cent. This Tuesday, the run-off vote dropped to a disgusting 2,504—only 35 per cent. A lot the students seem to care about who spends more than $100,000 of their money or who has the power to kick them out of school or who represents them and their University in all student governmental dealings!

Spring General Election Run-Off Box Score

	Town Men I	Town Men II	Town Men III	Town Men IV-V	Dorm Men I	Dorm Men II	Dorm Men III	Dorm Men IV	Dorm Men V	Town Women I	Dorm Women I	Dorm Women II	TOTALS
PRESIDENT
Dick Gordon (UP	15	154	135	72	127	106	114	84	47	63	65	37	1,019
Bill Mackie* (SP)	62	87	53	143	238	291	226	134	66	29	114	42	1,485
VICE-PRESIDENT
Ted Leonard* (UP)	30	155	127	90	190	204	151	102	62	58	59	31	1,259
Al Lowenstein (SP)	47	84	58	122	174	195	187	116	47	34	120	47	1,231

*Elected

EST FASHIONS in S CLOTHING visit ort SHOP E. MAIN ST. Durham

AL INTERNATIONAL presents Fred RT-MacMURRAY and "EGG and I" stars in LY HONEYMOON" HNSON - HATTIE McDANIEL Also IGHT — CARTOON TODAY ROLINA hamp!

d to get you a Champion ll him to see your local ed Underwood Portwriter Dealer or write ard for free folder.

oration

LEADER OF THE WORLD

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $3.00 per year, $2.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. .. Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins

Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

FOR THIS ISSUE . . .

Night News Editor: Charles McCorkle Sports Editor: Larry Fox

Fills Long-Standing Need

By the end of this week, Coca Cola machines will be in operation in each of the 18 men's dormitories on campus, thereby filling a long-standing need. Installation of these machines should do much to alleviate the crowded conditions that prevail each night at the Monogram Club Circus Bar.

However, these machines have been installed on a trial basis only. If the breakage of the Coke bottles runs high, the machines will be removed. The dormitory janitors will collect the bottles.

Credit for getting the machines put in largely goes to LeRoy Milks. As head of the Inter-Dormitory Council committee investigating the matter, he supplied the necessary initiative to get the University Administration to agree to the installation. It all goes to show what student government can do.

Freshmen Show the Way

A hearty "well done" is in order for the officers of the freshman class and the members of the Freshman Council for the first successful freshman class dance in several years on Saturday night.

To the officers, president Dalton Ruffin, Vice-president Julian Albergotti, Secretary Alan Tate, Treasurer Joe Privott and Betsy Ross, social chairman, goes a large share of the credit, but the majority of the credit should go to the energetic Freshman Council. The six members, Bill Prince, Mike Galifianakis, Davis Byrd, Garland Johnson, Fred Blair and Bill Bostic, spent long hours in planning the dance and carrying out their plans.

Next year Ruffin will be back at the head of the Class of '52 as the successful candidate for the presidency of the sophomore class. It just shows that a little effort will be rewarded.

F.A.

Today Is Pan-American Day

Today is Pan-American Day. Today we celebrate Inter-American Cooperation, cornerstone to a philosophy which was born when the great Simon Bolivar called to assembly the Congress of Panama in 1862, and since has woven its intriguing way through what now seems eons of Western Hemisphere political self-consciousness. We are celebrating this day as another milestone along the road of events that are knitting the states of this continent more closely together.

Only sixty years ago, Washington was the scene of the First International Conference of American States. In an atmosphere of mutual understanding the nations of this hemisphere have sought to solve their problems in eight similar conferences since. These meetings have been the knots in the hemp of friendship, tying together thoughts, trends, and time.

Our own republic is heeding Jefferson's advice that "nature has placed Latin America too near us to make its movements altogether indifferent to our interests." Since President Hoover's administration we have realized more fully that cooperation, without vainglorious search for hollow prestige, does benefit the two great ethnic groups within the framework of American relations. All 21 nations have enjoyed the inestimable advantage of being neighbors without suffering the fear of imperialism or the threat of violence. Mutual efforts will help to provide international order based on law, which will preserve independence and guarantee security more fully with each passing day.

As we celebrate Pan-American Day, let us cast aside the curtain of national egotism and strive for the ideal in international relations.

Pete Gerns

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

KAHUKU, Hawaii, April 13—Pallid Broadwayites want to come out here and go native. Dusky natives want to go to Broadway.

I don't know who has been spreading the hui (Hawaiian for "hooey"), but practically every native girl is convinced she could make a million dollars on Broadway wriggling her torso, and every man is sure he'd be a musical sensation.

The idea of wealth and acclaim on the neon-lit asphalt of Manhattan has been so well implanted that the young men and women perform like mad for nothing on the off-chance that a talent scout, or a fifth cousin of same, might be lurking in the alcoholic audience.

Night after night they shake, sing, strum and play for no recompense beyond patronizing applause, in the hope of getting away from the coconuts. The mainlanders, on the other hand, scrimp and save their coconuts for 10 days of imitating the natives.

It's very ironic!

* * *

Visitors begin spouting Hawaiian words before the welcome leis around their fat necks have started withering. They get 'em all mixed up. One of the perennial jokes around here is getting the word for feast confused with the word for powder room.

We were at a luau, or feast, in the Niumalu Hotel, where a batch of kanes and wahines (males and females) were wiggling fit to dislocate theirselves. My traveling companion, Mr. Alford "Mike" Flynn, was trying to show off his newfound linguistics.

"Play that Irish-Hawaiian thing again," he urged. "The one about the Irish family—'Lovely Hoolihans.'"

"You dope!" Snarled Mr. Vernon 'Red' McQueen, sports editor of the Honolulu Advertiser. "That's 'Lovely Hula Hands.'"

* * *

These Hawaiians, I have found, 'can be very playful. There's a spot here called Pali Hill where the wind, due to a peculiar funnel-like formation of the terrain, always blows in a gale. There's an apocryphal story that a kane, blighted in love, tried to toss himself off the cliff there and was blown 50 feet back into a treetop.

Sightseeing cars always stop at Pali Hill. The driver, with a wink to the male passengers, cautions the ladies to hold tight to their hair so their coiffures won't be ruined. While they are busy holding their heads other things happen.

* * *

One continuous bleat you hear from governmental employes in Washington is about the niggardliness of Uncle Sam in the matter of travel allowance. No matter what their official status, they are allowed only $6 a day. That's for everything—hotel, meals, tips, laundry and entertainment.

It's particularly hard on the secret service men who travel with the President. They get little more than an unskilled laborer's wages anyway—about $75 a week—and always come home from presidential junkets badly out of pocket.

I made the first leg of the trip out here, to San Francisco, on the Civil Aeronautics Board's plane. And even the lordly members of the C. A. B., who exercise supervision over multi-billions in aviation, are held down to the six bucks per diem. They wailed about losing money all the way across the continent, and —presumably—all the way back.

Well, on the theory that misery loves company these stinted agents of Uncle Sam will probably all be for Hawaii becoming the 49th state. They figure it'll learn the Hawaiians to let well enough alone.

Territorial officials don't have to scrimp on a measly $6 a day.

The 'Ace in the Hole'

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Rainy Tuesday

Fuchs Well Received

The rain Tuesday evening almost cancelled Dr. Marshall's scheduled radio description of the eclipse from the Planetarium, but it did play havoc with the Stradivarius Joseph Fuchs used in his recital in Memorial Hall. The damp atmosphere made it necessary for him to tune the instrument numerous times during the program, a situation for which he apologized.

Nevertheless, by his performance of the Mozart D Major violin concerto, Debussy's Sonate, and the famous Saint Saens showpiece, Introduction and Rondo Capricciso, Mr. Fuchs proved that he is one of the better violinists performing in the country today. The program opened with Kreisler's arrangement of a Tartini fugue, and was followed by the Romance in F of Beethoven, which contains one of the Bonn master's loveliest themes.

The Mozart concerto, the last of a series of five concerti he wrote in 1775, was distinguished by Harry Kondaks' excellent piano accompaniment. Many people object to violinists playing a concerto without orchestra, and it is admitted that a piano is often inadequate. But Mr. Kondaks seemed to be a very satisfactory substitute, and he deserved to share in the enthusiastic applause which came at the end of each offering by Mr. Fuchs.

After the Debussy Sonate, Mr. Fuchs played a "Jota," which was written two summers ago by his sister, Lillian. He explained that although she had never written a piece of Spanish music before (a "jota" is a fast Aragonese dance in 3/4 or 3/8 time, performed by two pairs of dancers who accompany themselves with castanets), she had been inspired by some music she heard in a Mexican film. "And it turned out to be a genuine 'jota,' too," Mr. Fuchs told the audience.

The recital closed with the Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso, and the rousing performance the violinist gave it led to encores by Kreisler, Rimsky-Korsakoff and Bach.

This was the last concert program of the season to be sponsored by The Student Entertainment Committee, an organization which brought to the campus Hazel Scott, The Trapp Family, two Menotti chamber operas, the Charles Weidman dancers and, of course, Mr. Fuchs. Scotty Venable, who did a commendable job as chairman, and Charlie Gibson, who gave the programs wide publicity, and the other members of the group—Harriet Sipper, Billy Carmichael, with their advisers Dr. Newman, Mr. Selden and Mr. Stanback—are to be heartily congratulated for such a varied series by such excellent artists as the ones seen and heard in the University this year.

"Wink" Locklair

To The Editor

CONGRATULATIONS

Editor:

We would like to extend publicly our heartiest congratulations to Tom Kerr on his election as Tarnation editor and at the same time our wishes for a successful year.

Also our sincere thanks go to the University Party and to the many friends who sacrificed their time and effort for us during the campaign.

Sincerely,

Lem Whitsett, Charlie Burns

LANIER FOR MAYOR

Editor:

I have been a faithful reader of the Daily Tar Heel for many years, even though I am not a student. I have never had occasion to write a letter to the editor before, but there is a matter of urgent interest to the town of Chapel Hill in which some students can help.

I am asking all students who have established their voting residence in Chapel Hill to cast their vote in the next town election for the most qualified man in town to be our new mayor—Edwin S. Lanier, who has served the University so faithfully.

Name Withheld by Request

Passing Sentence

Sympathy Of A Nation

By Jonathan Marshall

It's sort of strange that one little three-year-old girl could get the sympathy and interest of almost everyone in such a large nation.

Of course, we could pat ourselves on our collective backs and say, "Americans have warm hearts," or something equally trite. But it is more likely that most people associated themselves with Kathy Fiscus or her parents. Even the coldest human beings sometimes have a need to be warm or to love.

Nevertheless, it's strange. Thousands of people stand around and wait, watching the rescue crews at work; other thousands sit by their radios listening for news; yet, we are not half as interested in saving thousands of people when we can.

Perhaps some of the blame can be put on the press, radio, and movie sensationalism. Big blaring headlines and all the rest create a national crisis out of one child's accident, but at the same time we drift towards war and the death of thousands of children without really being too concerned.

Scare headlines aren't the only thing though; we also sit by watching thousands of children in Displaced Persons camps slowly give up hope because America won't admit them.

It is true that people sympathized with westerners during the recent blizzards, and the nation provided help. The same thing was done during the floods around Portland last year. There isn't much one can do to prevent a blizzard; however, floods can be controlled.

Maybe it's time to think of the thousands instead of just one. If people demanded it, Congress might do something on a large-scale to prevent floods, to provide a national health program, and a slum clearence program.

* * *

The Elections Committee deserves a lot of praise for the job that they did.

The Committee had the votes counted rapidly and honestly at both the first election and the run-off, and it did an excellent job of organizing throughout.

There was only one flaw in the whole election. Ballots ran out for about fifteen minutes at Memorial Hall, as mentioned in the DTH. No mention was made, however, of the fact that students in Dorm District three could not vote for a whole hour because there were no ballots.

This poll at Alexander was closed for an hour around noon. One wonders whether the close race for vice-president might not have had a different result if there had been sufficient ballots in Dorm District three.

It appears from here as if the SP would have grounds to appeal Ted Leonard's victory, for it is conceivable that there could have been an SP victory.

It will be interesting to see what Chairman Gran Childress will do.

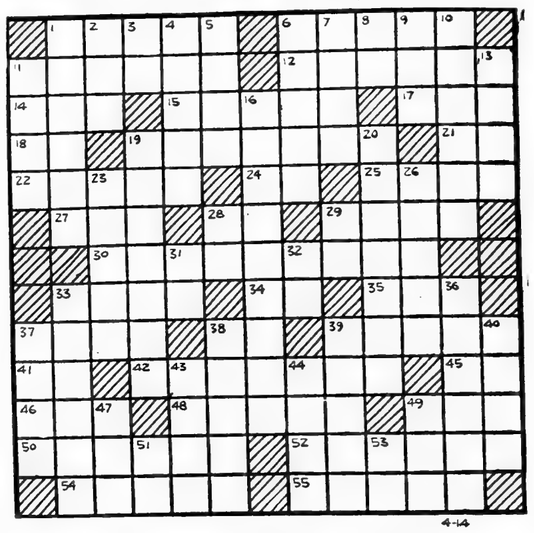
The Sounding Board

On 'South Pacific'

By "Wink" Locklair

The cheers and praise which greeted the opening of "South Pacific," the new Richard Rogers, Oscar Hammerstein 2nd music drama in New York last Thursday evening, was, of course, good if not particularly surprising news to Mr. Hammerstein's son, Jim, an eighteen year-old freshman here in the University, who lives out in Westwood.

"I saw the show in Boston during the spring holiday. It's wonderful, the best thing they've ever done," he told us the other evening. Jim flew to Massachusetts the night examinations were completed so that he could see the production in its tryout tour, which was almost as sensational as the Gotham premiere.

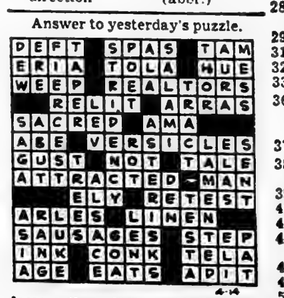


The song he likes best in the show is something called "Happy Talk," sung by Juanita Hall, who plays Bloody Mary, the scheming, highly unattractive Tonkonese woman. He didn't get to speak to Mary Martin, who co-stars with Ezio Pinza, but he has met her before.

Jim's favorite among all the lyrics his Father has written is "Ole Man River," from "Show Boat." And this business of lyrics is one which often causes embarrassing moments for him. "People think my Father wrote the music for "Oklahoma," "Carousel," and "Allegro," and they go on and on before I can tell them otherwise. He's a lyric writer—the words, you know—not the music," he said. Jim has written a song or two himself, but declares they are pretty awful. He did some work on Sound and Fury's production of "Mardi Gras" a while back, and he took part in that hospital show in Fayetteville. At the present time he is struggling—and that is the correct word, he assures me—with a course in elementary harmony over in Hill Hall. He is also anxiously waiting to be initiated into Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Hammerstein came to Chapel Hill because of the excellent things he had heard and read about The Playmakers, the Music Department, and other branches of the University. He calls Doylestown, Pennsylvania, and New York City home. He plays the piano (also plays on the freshman tennis team) and may attend Julliard this summer.

Although "Apple Tree Farm," which ran all last week in The Playmakers, was in many ways a disappointment, there were several people in it who gave the show life. Larry Peerce's excellent bit as the hand-wringing, leering George Cuddy was very enjoyable. Mr. Peerce who, like Jim Hammerstein, has a famous Father, is a very modest young man, also a freshman, and also interested in the theatre. His acting experience includes high school productions of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," "Harriet," and "The Boor," in his hometown, New Rochelle, New York. His Mr. Cuddy, a role which could have been of no importance, proves again that a minor part can often be talked about long after the show itself is forgotten. . . . The song which actually stopped the show opening night was "Is This a Dream," sung by Anne Martin. It's a nice enough song, and Mrs. Martin put it over with a great deal of charm. . . And since it is generally known that Miss Estelle Richie is a first-rate commedienne, it isn't necessary to say anything further about the performance she gave as "Annie Turner."

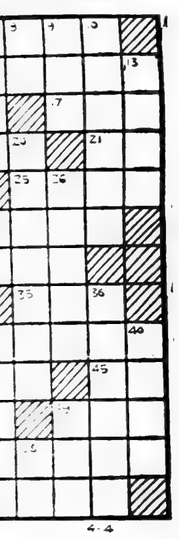


Hill Hall has a student recital scheduled for Thursday evening given by Sybil Drake, piano. The program is at 8:30. . . Sam Hirsch's farce-comedy of overseas life in a replacement depot, "Repple Depple," is in rehearsal and will be given two free performances in the Playmakers April 28-29. This is his first full-length play, although he has had four of his one-act plays produced here in the last two years, and won the Joseph D. Feldman Playwriting Award in 1947. . . Tryouts for the annual Forest Theatre Shakespeare production have been set for Thursday afternoon from 4 o'clock to 6 o'clock in the outdoor theatre across from the Monogram Club. The play, which will be "The Merchant of Venice," is announced for May 20, 21, and 22. Kai Jurgensen will direct. . . "Sound and Fury" is working on something and we hope to have some news from that direction soon.

HORIZONTAL
1. sheriff's band
6. Pacific islands
11. small greenish finches
12. species of lyric poems
14. epoch
15. donkeys
17. silkworm
18. New England state (abbr.)
19. talker
21. inside
22. tumbles about
24. personal pronoun
25. female sheep
27. resort
28. indefinite article
29. the birds
30. vexes
33. poker stake
34. diminutive for Edward
35. corded fabric
37. space
38. correlative of either
39. thin metal band
41. execute
42. retribution
45. sun god
46. printer's measures
48. fortification
49. S-shaped worm
50. navigator
52. frightens
54. glacier direction
55. listened to

VERTICAL
1. dangers
2. Anglo-Saxon money
3. note in the scale
4. clips
5. being
6. searches for
7. church recess
8. central state (abbr.)
9. lyric poem
10. eagles' nests
11. esne
13. iniquities
16. walked leisurely
19. heroically brave
20. returns to
23. adjudge
26. river in Germany
28. three-toed sloth
29. near
31. note in scale
32. paid notice
33. scents
36. analyzed grammatically
37. citrus drinks
38. Hebrew measures
39. before now
40. go by
43. cupid
44. ornamental girdle
47. perch
49. wander
51. behold!
53. river in Latvia

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.



Average time of solution: 23 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

cific'

this sum-

"Apple Tree ich ran all last Playmakers, was ays a disappoint- re were several it who gave the Larry Peerce's ex- as the hand-wring- George Cuddy enjoyable. Mr. like Jim Ham- famous Fath- modest young a freshman, and ted in the theatre. experience includ- school productions arretts of Wimpole Harriet," and "The his hometown, New New York. His Mr. role which could of no importance, ain that a minor often be talked after the show gotten. . . . The ch actually stopped opening night was a Dream," sung by artin. It's a nice nd and Mrs. Mar- over with a great harm. . . And since erally known that lle Richie is a first- medienne, it isn't to say anything about the perform- gave as "Annie a student re- for Thursday Sybil Drake, ram is at 8:30. farce-comedy in a replacement ele Depple," is in will be given two es in the Play- 26-29. This is his th play, although of his one-act here in the last and won the Joseph Playwriting Award Tryouts for the an- Theatre Shakespeare have been set for afternoon from 4 o'clock in the out- tre across from the Club. The play, be "The Merchant " is announced for 21, and 22. Kai Jurgen- Director . . . "Sound and working on something to have some news season.

4-4

9. Ionic poem
10. eagles' nests
11. esne
12. iniquities
16. walked leisurely
19. heroically brave
20. returns to
21. adjudge
22. river in Germany
23. three-toed sloth
29. near
31. note in scale
32. paid notice
33. scents
36. analyzed grammatically
37. citrus drinks
38. Hebrew measures
39. before now
40. go by
43. cupid
44. ornamental girdle
47. perch
49. wander
51. behold!
53. river in Latvia

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

The Appointed Rounds

THE UNITED STATES POST OFFICE Department which for many years has taken great pride in the fact "that neither rain, nor sleet, nor snow, nor dark of night shall stay the faithful from successful completion of their appointed rounds," is currently in for the stiffest of competition from the Carolina golf team.

The elements, it seems, don't have much affect upon the Tar Heel linksmen either who braved most of forementioned weather with a tad of unannounced fog added in last Tuesday afternoon in their appointed rounds with Purdue University of Indiana. In fact, the Tar Heels in the end not only outlasted the weather, but par and Purdue also to bring victory No. 5 in ye olde trophy case.

The victory came the way of all Tar Heel flesh on the final hole when the rain suddenly ceased from its driving pace and the sun peaked through the clouds as if in curiosity of just how the match was finally going to turn out. Up the 18th fairway came two Tar Heels and two Boilermakers, the last of the finishers. The match between No. 6 men, Frank Brooks of Carolina and Gene Nemeth of Purdue, still hung in Damoclean doubt with the wicked eye of win, tie, or loss cast upon both teams.

The Putt That Failed

THE TEE SHOTS on the par-4 18th all found their way far up the fairway, but when Brooks hit his second ball to within 10 feet of the pin, all looked dark for Boilermaker Nemeth, who didn't have much steam behind his short and erring approach shot. His third shot showed great improvement though, arriving at a position slightly inside the ball of the Tar Heel golfer.

Brooks went for a match winning birdie but the stroke fluttered off inches from the cup and Mr. Nemeth of the visitors was back in the limelight of golfing glory. The caddy held the pin. Nemeth held his putter. The rest of the assemblage merely held their breath. The lad from Purdue stroked the ball for the cup, but luckily for the Tar Heels the ball had other plans. The smoke soon cleared as the heavens had been doing, and there was nothing to do but count up 14 winning Tar Heel points and go home.

That is, everyone thought there was nothing to do, except for one fellow who remained on the green sizing up a 12-foot putt. After a respectable time for deliberation, this fellow calmly tapped the ball in the appointed hole and walked off to the clubhouse. The last putt had been merely his 66th shot of the day which is pretty good golf where 70 is par and the rain falls in the manner of manna.

The Sapp Runneth

MR. OLIVER SAPP'S 66 created quite a stir among those who by now had played up to the 19th hole because of 1) its general excellence, 2) The points it brought into the Tar Heel fold, 3) the fact that it beat by a single stroke Harvie Ward's 67 for the afternoon, and 4) that people were wondering what Sapp was doing playing down at No. 6. To the last question Sapp merely replied, "You've got to start somewhere." To the other questions he remarked the obvious, "I hit the ball." It was where he had hit it that had made the difference.

Up until the time that Sapp had come barrelling in with Brooks and Tar Heel victory the clubhouse talk had been about the match between the respective No. 1 and No. 2 men of the two teams. Tar Heels Ward and Bob Cox had taken on Boilermakers Fred Wampler, the defending Big Nine champion, and Gene Coulter. It would be a long spell before Hope Valley saw another match like that entanglement.

For the Tar Heels, Ward was playing his usual perfect golf. He went one up on the first hole, but three holes later was one down when two pars and a bogey proved too much advantage to give the Big Nine titleholder. By the time the foursome reached the turn, the rain was coming down and so were the scores. Everyone was under par but Cox, who couldn't sink a putt, and Ward, who couldn't miss one, had pulled back even with the elusive Mr. Wampler.

No Better Golf

THE BACK NINE left little to the imagination. Coulter had already chipped in a 65-footer on the front side, and the drenched but delighted gallery wondered what could be left to be witnessed. They found out on the 11th when Ward sank a big putt for his third birdie and then lipped the 12th cup going for another one. On the 15th, Cox started playing the golf he had been talking about all afternoon when he canned a 45-foot putt and put the Tar Heel best ball almost beyond the reach of the visitors.

Cox had been pulling the best of the foursome's irons out of the fire all afternoon but the short birdie putts were Sneading away from the hole everytime. At the finish the Tar Heel footballer had the ball eating from his clubs, but too late to catch the front running Mr. Coulter.

Ward finally struggled down to three-under-par which in the end managed to subdue the determined Mr. Wampler. Between them Ward and Cox had a best ball of 64, an amazingly good showing for a couple of fellows who don't have sense enough to come in out of the rain. And just to make the big boys feel the upsurge of the underlings, Brooks and Sapp carded a best ball of 63, that left little but a fresh, unsinged score card to be desired.

As the sun supposedly sank in the west behind the darkening clouds, ball-battered par, its head shaved by numerous strokes, limped from the course together with the rain-battered gallery and golfers. For the most part, all involved had seen better days, but not much better golf.

THE COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM

"Serving 12 million – 12 at a Time"

FREE DELIVERY

DIAL 6061

Sandwiches & Drinks

FOUR
Sandwich Minimum Order
PLEASE

Two Deliveries Nitely

9:15 AND 10:15

Monday Through Friday

CALL EARLY

HOURS: 11 A.M. – Mid. – Mon. – Thurs.
11 A.M. – 2 A.M. – Fri. – Sat.

Yearling Crews Capture One, Lose One

Netters Defeat Goldsboro, 8-1, For Second Win

GOLDSBORO, April 12—Carolina's visiting freshman tennis team rang up an 8-1 victory over Goldsboro High School's netmen here today for their second straight win in two starts.

It was the first time this week a Tar Heel net team had been able to compete successfully with the weather, and today's meet was plagued by a strong wind and showers during the opening matches.

The Tar Babies swept the singles matches, with Jim Hammerstein and Charles Duval pacing the visitors. The Goldsboro courtmen averted a shutout by coming from behind to win the number one doubles match.

Hammerstein got the winners off to a good start by defeating Wallace of Goldsboro, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, in the top singles match. Duval followed with a win over Winslow in straight sets, 6-1, 6-4. Beet Smith added another point to Carolina's half of the scoreboard by winning out over Hollow in a hard-fought match, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1.

Sharen Haroutunian, playing in the number four position for the Tar Babies, stopped Nobles of Goldsboro in two close sets, 7-5, 6-4. Paul Littleton continued Carolina's winning ways by whitewashing Pate, 6-0, 6-0. Jim Redding of the Tar Babies closed the singles with a 6-2, 6-0 win over Norwood.

The Tar Babies opened their season Saturday by winning over Danville, Va. High School, 9-0.

The summary:

Singles: Hammerstein (C) defeat Wallace, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1; Duval (C) defeated Winslow, 6-1, 6-4; Smith (C) defeated Hollow, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1; Haroutunian (C) defeated Nobles 7-5, 6-4; Littleton (C) defeated Pate, 6-0, 6-0; Redding (C) defeated Norwood, 6-2, 6-0.

Wallace-Winslow (G) defeated Hammerstein-Smith (C), 2-6, 6-1, 6-4; Duval-Haroutunian (C) defeated Hollow-Pate, 6-1, 8-10, 6-1; Redding-Littleton (C) defeated Nobles-Norwood, 6-0, 6-1.

Today's Sports

Baseball

Varsity baseball—Carolina vs Virginia at Emerson Stadium at 4 o'clock. Passbooks required for admittance.

Lacrosse

Varsity lacrosse—Carolina vs Duke in practice game on Navy Field at 4 o'clock.

Practice Sessions

Daily practice sessions continue in football, soccer, golf, track and tennis.

Intramurals

See mural schedule.

EXPRESS
BUSES DAILY
TO

BURLINGTON
GREENSBORO
SALISBURY
STATESVILLE
HICKORY
MARION
MORGANTON
ASHEVILLE

Leave the local terminal at
3:20 PM—12:20 AM

NO CHANGES —
NO LOCAL STOPS
REAL EXPRESS SERVICE

Also —
9 Add'l trips to same points daily

Chapel Hill Bus Terminal
311 W. Franklin St.
Phone 4281

CAROLINA TRAILWAYS

Baseballers Meet Virginia Here In Non-Conference Game Today

They'll try it again today down at Emerson. This time the University of Virginia will be furnishing the competition for Coach Bunn Hearn's potent Tar Heel baseball club. Game time is 4 o'clock.

Fireballer Andy Tranavitch will start on the mound for the Tar Heels with veteran Sid Varney behind the plate. Tranavitch was slated to pitch in Tuesday's rained out game with the Demon Deacons, and so will start today's contest.

Last year the Tar Heels split a two game series with the Cavaliers, winning the Chapel Hill game and dropping a shutout at Charlottesville. Currently the Tar Heels are sporting a won-lost record of eight victories, one defeat and one tie.

Virginia, reportedly the only team in the country with a player by the name of Bunsen Burner, will bring a strong pitching staff to Chapel Hill. Top moundsman on the Cavalier staff is Righthander Jack Leachman, who has won three games in as many starts thus far this season. Either Leachman or Bobby Charles, another righthander, will probably start against the Tar Heels. It was Charles who last year blanked the Tar Heels at Charlottesville with a 4-0 Cavalier triumph.

The trip to Chapel Hill will be the only road game in the Cavaliers' 24 game schedule. In seven games played so far this season the Virginians have won four, lost two, and tied one.

The defending Southern Conference champion Tar Heel club will put a strong lineup against the visitors. With Rip Ryan, Ed Lamb, and Zero Allen in the starting lineup, the Virginia pitching staff will be facing a formidable array of .400 hitters. Other potent batters in the Carolineup are Catcher Varney, Stan Goodman, John Senter and Will Hobbs.

Tomorrow the Tar Heels will meet Maryland at Emerson stadium in their third Conference contest of the season.

And One Rained Out

Old Jupiter Pluvius has had the winning team in the Carolina-Wake Forest freshman baseball game and for two days in a row the rookie teams have been unable to play, because of the April showers. According to Freshman Coach Henry House, however, the game will be played at the same time that the rained-out varsity game with Wake Forest is played. This game has not yet been rescheduled.

Mural Qualifying Will End Today; Finals Next Week

In the face of Ole Man Rain and the running of the freshman track meet, qualifying trials for Intramural track continued on Fetzer Field yesterday.

The weather has not affected the turnout and the finals next week should prove exciting with close finishes promised in each event.

Today is the last day for the qualifying trials in all dash and field events. There will, however, be trials in the hurdle events on Monday. All those wishing to qualify should report to the track officials between 3 and 6 o'clock.

Interest seems to be high this year as for the past few weeks the track has been crowded with fraternity and dormitory entrants conditioning for the events.

The schedule for Monday is as follows: Trials — 120 yard low hurdles; 70-yard high hurdles. Semi-finals—60-yard dash; 100-yard dash; 120-yard low hurdles; 70-yard high hurdles; 300-yard run.

Tuesday's schedule: Finals: Track events—60-yard dash; 120-yard low hurdles; 3-4 mile run; 100-yard dash; 300-yard run; 440-yard relay; 70-yard high hurdles; 880-yard relay. Field events—pole vault; high jump; shot put; discus throw; broad jump.

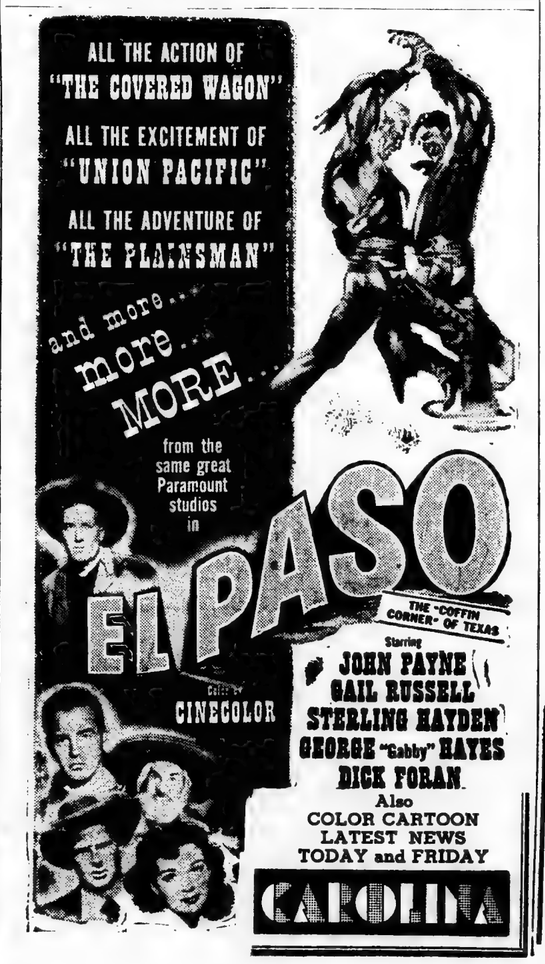
Here are the campus records for all events to be run. 60-yard dash—:06.4; 100 yard dash—:10.4; 300-yard run—:34.5; 3-4 mile run—3:33.5; 70-yard high hurdles :09.4; 120 yard low hurdle—:14.0; 440-yard relay—:38.9; 880 yard relay—1:38.5; pole vault—11' 9"; high jump—5' 10"; broad jump—21' 0"; shot put—42' 9"; discus throw—128' 7".

Tar Heel Show

Captain Vic Seixas and Clark Taylor, ace Tar Heel racquet-wielders, will square off in an exhibition match on Sunday afternoon on the N. C. State College courts in Raleigh. After their singles match, the Carolina aces will team against a pair of Raleigh Tennis Club stars.

Mural Roundup

SOFTBALL RESULTS



7	Town 1	YMCA	0
8	Phi Delt 1	KA 3	5
21	PiKA 1	SAE 1	3
11	KA 1	Beta 1	5
19	Stacy	Mangum	4
14	Emerson 2	Graham	5
9	Steele	Old Grads	8
18	Sig Chi 1	Lambda Chi 2	0
9	Sig Ep	Sig Chi 3	1
15	Phi Delt Chi	Kap Psi 2	5
19	DKE 1	Phi Gam 1	9
7	Hot Rods	Miller	0

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00—Field 1, Town 2 vs Beachcombers; 2 Chi Phi 1 vs Sig Nu 2; 3, Alexander vs Everett; 4, Town 1 vs Bombers; 5, Wes Rockets vs C-Dorm 2; 6, Steele vs Hot Rods; 7, Chi Phi 2 vs Pi Kap Phi 2.

5:00—Field 1, Emerson 1 vs Atoms; 2, Phi Delt 2 vs Phi Kap Sig 2; 3, ATO 1 vs Sig Nu 1; 4, Emerson Misfits vs Med School 2; 5, Med School 1 vs Stan Steamers; 6, Lambda Chi 1 vs Pi Lamb 1.

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

Freshmen Drop Season Opener To Wolfcub Track Outfit Here

By Wuff Newell

Rain drizzled down on Fetzer Field practically all afternoon yesterday, but it didn't stop Carolina's freshman tracksters from staging their first track meet of the season.

The junior Wolfpack of State College provided the opposition and also won the meet by a close score of 68½ to 62½.

Leading the field for the Tar Babies was Romas White, who proved to be a junior edition of Big Bill Albans. White took part in five events and finished with a grand total of one first place and three seconds. He won the 120-yard high hurdles and placed second in the pole vault, broad jump, and 220 low hurdles.

After the meet Varsity Coach Dale Ransom and Frosh Coach Dick Hollander were lavish in their praises of both White and Gordon Hamrick.

Hamrick, running for the first time in the distance events, placed first in the mile run and second in the two mile run.

"Gordon could have won the two mile run easily if his back hadn't been bothering him," Coach Hollander commented.

Probably the real hero of the meet was Wadsworth of State. He accomplished the feat of placing first in four events—the 220-yard dash, the 440-yard dash, the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard low hurdles.

The summary:

Shot put: Tie for first place between Siegel (NCS) and O'Brien (UNC), 38' 9½"; 3, Branyon (NCS), 36' 10½".

Javelin: 1. Smitherman (UNC).

(See Track, page 4)

Carolina – Duke

DRIVE-IN THEATRE • CHAPEL HILL BLVD

75¢ PER CAR Tax Included

NEW POLICY!

Two Shows Nightly
Rain or Shine
7:30 —— 9:30 P.M.

"One Way To Love"
With Chester Morris
Also Comedy, News

No Limit To Number of Passengers —
Bring The Gang

Betsy Ross . . .
Louise Horner . . .
Gene Frances Caraher .
Betty Smith . . .
Patty Ann Frizzell . . .
Gene Hines . . .
Pegge Misenheimer . . .
Peggy Martin . . .
Bobbie Bess . . .
Loraine Howard . . .

Who will she be on this campus?

Send in your ballot today for

"MISS FASHION PLATE of 1949"

Which of these ten girls is the most beautifully groomed, the best dressed, the most poised...the girl with the most personality?

What excitement! Revlon is sponsoring a contest to determine who's the fairest of them all on your campus. You vote! You choose "MISS FASHION PLATE of 1949!" You give your candidate a chance to win the Grand Prize—one week expense-free trip to New York plus thorough Revlon training—or one of the nine runner-up prizes—a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to represent Revlon on campus next fall, plus a whole year's supply of cosmetics!

What should she be like to win? 1. She must have faultless grooming from the top of her shining head to the tips of her bright fingernails.
2. She needn't have a million dollar wardrobe, but she must have a flair for clothes and accessories.
3. She must have the poise that enables her to talk engagingly to anyone of any age, anywhere or time.
4. And above all she must be brimming over with that elusive thing called personality!

Of course you know her! Your campus abounds in candidates for "MISS FASHION PLATE of 1949!" That's why Revlon asked your newspaper to preselect 10 girls! Look over their names! Who deserves to win the title "MISS FASHION PLATE of 1949?" Remember, she must excel on four counts: grooming, dress, poise, and personality!

What more natural sponsor than Revlon? Isn't it just like Revlon, foremost name in cosmetics, to dream up a contest to choose the loveliest girl on your campus? Revlon named this thrilling contest after its own product "FASHION PLATE"...the one and only cream wafer face make-up in the world! Because Revlon believes that the most beautiful women have skin that lights up and glows...skin touched with the magic of "FASHION PLATE" itself!

Important: The candidate you select will compete against nine other candidates selected by 9 other colleges and universities! Watch the papers in June for the Grand Prize winner... the lucky girl who wins a week's expense-free whirl in New York! Plus a chance to model! Plus thorough training in Revlon products and their use! A panel of beauty authorities will choose her! Look what the runners-up get: All local winners will be Revlon campus representatives next semester and will receive, free, a year's supply of cosmetics. Make sure the best girl wins! Get your ballot in today.

Ballot ▶

CONTEST CLOSES MIDNIGHT MAY 6th! Clip ballot—drop it in ballot box in this newspaper office. Watch newspaper for announcement of other ballot box locations on campus.

I nominate..... for "MISS FASHION PLATE of 1949," a contest sponsored by the Revlon Products Corp.

NAME.....

All ballots become the property of the Revlon Products Corporation

GRAND PRIZE One week's expense-free trip to New York, plus a training course by REVLON, plus a chance to become a glamorous model!

WE HAVE THE SOLE FRANCHISE
FOR
REVLON PRODUCTS
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE
"A Complete Drug Store"

Fraternity Rituals Held During Week

The Alpha Mu Chapter of Kappa Sigma initiated ten men last week. They were Jack Stratford, Graham; John Long, Statesville; Bill Spillers, Winston-Salem; Chris Carpenter, Burkeville, Va.; Billy Warren, Benson; Dick Penegar, Gastonia; Tommy Maness, Concord; Graham Knott, Kinston; John Dortch, Central Macareno, Cuba; and Bill Badgett, Mt. Airy.

R. P. Early of Raleigh was elected president of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity last week. Other newly elected officers are: Walt Cheeseborough, Asheville, vice-president; Douglas Carter, Winston-Salem, secretary; Sterlyn Hennis, Winston-Salem, historian;

Tom Blair, Charlotte, controller; Everett Hampton, Kannapolis, senior marshall; Adger Williams, Ashborough, junior marshall; Hooper Wilson, Clinton, senior member of the Inter-fraternity council; Robert Grubbs, Winston-Salem, junior member of the I.F.C.; Charles Foley, Charlotte, and Bob Goodwin, Winston-Salem, representative to the University Party; and Williard Herring, Clinton, guard.

Seventeen pledges were initiated into the Delta chapter of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity at a formal initiation last Sunday afternoon.

The new initiates are: John Brockman, High Point; Douglas Carter, Winston-Salem; Elwood Clinard, Winston-Salem; William Cowborn, Lumberton; Norman Gillis, Greensboro; Jack Green, Raleigh; Sterlyn Hennis, Winston-Salem;

James Merritt, Statesville; Hunter Morgan, Sunbury; James Thompson, Raleigh; John Weaver, Statesville; George Webb, Greensboro; Adger Williams, Ashboro; Robert Goodwin, Winston-Salem; Lacy Lucas, Greensboro; Maurice Bowden, Goldsboro; Robert Grubbs, Winston-Salem.

President James Nance administered the oath to the new members.

During an impressive ceremony last week, thirty-one pledges of Pi Kappa Alpha became brothers. The new PiKA's are: Walter Allen, Asheville; Bob Allison, Asheville; Allman Beaman, Greensboro; Bynum Brown, Murfreesboro; Sam Calvert, Managua, Nicaragua; Louis Campbell, Asheboro; Jim Cloniger, Gastonia; Joe Fesler, New Rochelle, N. Y.;

Bill Garrison, Gastonia; Joe Gray, Wilmington; Lee Griffin, Asheboro; Jimmy Hale, Winston-Salem; Lindsay Hill, Beaufort; Bill Hogshead, Greensboro; Dave Kelly, Culpepper, Va.; Howard Kivett, Statesville; Dave Foy, Atlanta, Ga.; George Lewis, Barium Springs; K. P. Lindsley, Williamston;

Thornton Long, Winston-Salem; Harry Mauney, Murphy; Andy Miller, Shelby; Nick Miller, Charlotte; Steve Neely, High Point; Jack Phelps, Winston-Salem; Charlie Reaves, Asheboro; Gene Rogers, Williamston; Bob Tally, Hamlet; Bev Warner, Roanoke, Va.; Bob Williams, Lumberton; and Woody Williams, Columbia, S. C.

Services To Have Easter-Time Theme

The Easter theme prevails in all Church services and programs this weekend and plans for conferences and summer projects occupy prominent places in student activities.

The late Reverend Peter Marshall's famous sermon, "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?" will be read by the Reverend Bernard Munger at the Maundy Thursday service of worship tonight at the Congregational Christian Church. The worship service will begin at eight o'clock.

A Fellowship Sing and get Acquainted program will be combined with a Easter service at the Baptist Student Supper Forum at the Church Sunday night at 6 o'clock. Following the program the election of officers for next years cabinet will be condeuced. Breakfast will be served at the Student House across from the Church at 9 o'clock Sunday morning preceeding the Sunday School classes at 9:30.

The regular Friday night Presbyterian Student Group meeting at 6 o'clock will continue its study and discussion of Amos and Hosea and the Sunday night Supper Program will feature a talk by Miss Nelle Morton, general secretary of the Fellowship of Southern Churchmen. Her speech will be "Worship, It's Meaning and Value."

Among the student conferences being planned for this spring and summer are the Methodist Annual Conference to be held in Raleigh April 22, 23, and 24, and the Regional Student Leadership Training Conference to be held at Lake Junaluska, June 4-11. The subject of the Annual Conference's program which will include four addresses by Dr. H. P. Powell of the Edenton Street Methodist Church in Raleigh will be "Understanding Our Christian Faith."

The Regional Student Leadership Training Conference, planned by a Committee of the National Methodist Student Commission, is to be an integral part of the ongoing program of the Methodist Student Movement.

Cast Announced For Show Here Tomorrow Night

The sons of two nationally known men, one in the field of opera and one in the field of song writing, will take part in the Rendezvous Room show tomorrow night beginning at 9:30.

Larry Pierce, son of the opera star, Jan Pierce, who took one of the leading parts in "Apple Tree Farm," will co-star with Nancy Curtis in a comic skit performance. The short comedy, which will feature singing, acting and dancing, will be broadcast over WDUK at 9:30.

Following the radio show, will be the introduction of a song, co-written by Jim Hammerstein, son of the famous song writer, Oscar Hammerstein, and Bill Bell.

Also featured at the weekly show will be the leading actors in the shows "Apple Tree Farm" and a coming Sound and Fury show, entitled "Living Can Be Easy." Members of the casts of these shows will give impromptu performances.

Crosby to Select Lambda Chi 'Girl'

Hollywood movie star Bing Crosby will select the North Carolina Lambda Chi Alpha Crescent Girl to be presented at the annual four-chapter fraternity dance at the Hope Valley Country Club April 29 in Durham.

Members of the four fraternity chapters in North Carolina at the University, State College, Wake Forest and Duke University have submitted photographs of sweethearts to Crosby to be judged.

Pat Gill of Raleigh, social chairman of the Lambda Chi Alpha chapter at Duke University, is in charge of all the arrangements connected with the dance, aided by Steve Cole of Burlington, Beverly Barge of Durham and John Hammond of Farmer, social chairmen of the chapters here, and at Wake Forest and State College, respectively.

Pi Phi Sorority Elects Officers At Recent Meet

Jane Gower, Greenville, S. C., was elected president of Pi Beta Phi sorority at their chapter meeting last Wednesday night. Other officers are Pat Sullivan, Chapel Hill, vice president; Ruth Whalen, Wilson, corresponding secretary; Lenoir Williams, Faison, recording secretary; Julie Compton, Fort Bragg, treasurer; Ruth Butler, Tallahassee, Fla., assistant treasurer; and Marie Nussbaum, Louisville, Ky., rush captain.

Harriet Williamson, Memphis, Tenn., was elected house manager; Judy Nunnally, Roanoke, Va., assistant rush captain; Jackie Lewis, Orlando, Fla., panhellenic representative; and Betty Lokey, Raleigh, and Norma Jean Dew, St. Petersburg, Fla., co-social chairmen.

Members of the Delta Delta Delta sorority enjoyed their chapter anniversary party Monday. In traditional birthday style with ice cream and cake the Tri Delts celebrated their fifth anniversary on campus.

-Track-

(Continued from page 3)

144' 6"; 2. Kosilla (NCS) 142'; 3. Foy (UNC), 140'.

High jump: 1. Winsor (UNC); 2. Splawn (NCS); 3. Cook (NCS). 5'10".

Discus: 1. Council (UNC), 113'2"; 2. Banyon (NCS), 112'9½"; 3. Siegel (NCS), 105'2½".

Pole vault: Tie for first between Garrison (NCS) and White (UNC), 11'0"; 3. Carpo (NCS) 10'6".

Broad jump: 1. Splawn (NCS); 2. White (UNC); 3. Warren (NCS). 21'1½".

Mile run: 1. Hamrick (UNC); 2. Lenard (NCS); 3. Hudson (NCS). 4:43.3.

440-yard dash: 1. Wadsworth (NCS); 2. Solaski (UNC); 3. Brigham (UNC). 0:52.6.

100-yard dash: 1. Wadsworth (NCS); 2. Henry (NCS); 3. Winslow (UNC). 0:10.4.

880-yard run: 1. Brown (UNC); 2. White (NCS); 3. Kenan (NCS). 2:08.9.

120-yard high hurdles: 1. White (UNC); 2. Cook (NCS); 3. Woolcott (UNC). 0:16.3.

Two-mile run: 1. Lenard (NCS); 2. Hamrick (UNC); 3. Hudson (NCS). 10:32.3.

220-yard dash: 1. Wadsworth (NCS); 2. Brigham (UNC); 3. Henry (NCS). 0:23.6.

220-yard low hurdles: 1. Wadsworth (NCS); 2. White (UNC); 3. Allman (NCS). 0:27.0.

One-mile relay: Won by Carolina. 3:43.0.

'Maid of Cotton'

LONDON, April 13.—(UP)—Sue Howell, American "Maid of Cotton," left by air for New York today after a two-week good-will tour of Britain and France.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE 6B

FOR SALE ELECTRIC STOVE, apartment size. Excellent condition. $70. 133 King St. (1-2389-1)

FOR RENT 6A

DELIGHTFUL SUMMER HOME IN invigorating Litchfield Hills, Lake Waramug, New Preston, Connecticut. Secluded. Yet accessible. For particulars, call Mrs. J. C. Babcock before April 17, Carolina Inn. (3-2380-1)

FURNISHED THREE ROOM COTTAGE about 1½ miles from city limits. Cottage will be vacant during both summer terms. Phone 3726. (2-c2387-1)

TWO ROOM GARAGE APARTMENT suitable for couple with baby; also one room stone cabin for couple or students—both with cooking facilities. Telephone 5231. (3-2386-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1940 LA SALLE COUPE. ALL KINDS of extras. Good condition. $695. Phone 4131. (ch 1x1)

WANTED 24

STUDENT AND WIFE NEED SMALL furnished apartment for 1 year, beginning summer school. Will consider anything. Write or call J. W. H., 201 Manley. (2-2383-1)

WANTED RIDERS TO AIKEN, S. C., or Augusta, Ga. Leave Friday, Return Monday. Have room for 3 or 4 1949 car. Call [illegible] (1-2385-1)

WANTED TO BUY 24A

A GOOD USED RECORD PLAYER, with or without changer. Contact Zane Robbins, Chi Psi Lodge. (1-1200-1)

Sunday Delivery Service
New York Times and New York Herald Tribune. Serving Chapel Hill and Campus.
Write Nat White or Lee Fuller
P.O. Box 655, Chapel Hill

ALL KINDS 24 HOUR SERVICE
Radio Repairs
Ogburn Furn. Co.

Colonial House System
THICK CHOCOLATE MILK SHAKES
"Best Around"
20c
Open:
Mon.-Thurs.—11 AM-12 PM
Fri. & Sat.—11 AM-2 AM

Durham Optical Co.
215 W. MAIN ST.
TEL. F 2141
OPTICIANS

Larger Loans on Anything of Value
DURHAM'S NEWEST AND BEST PAWN SHOP
MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Located 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

GUNG HAVE PAHTY?
Reserve your stomping ground NOW at THE MERCURY CLUB. Plenty of Parking Space, Easy rates, BEER & SANDWICHES
MERCURY CLUB
YOUR ONLY NIGHT SPOT OPERATED BY STUDENTS FOR STUDENTS
3 Miles Out On Greensboro Highway

CAMPUS CALENDAR

5:00—WORLD FEDERALISTS. Roland Parker 2, GM.

7:00—MASTER POINT bridge tournament. Main Lounge, GM.

7:30—BETA CHI. Roland Parker 1, GM.

8:30—PIANO RECITAL. Sybil Drake will play. Hill Hall.

v?: kams- SHRDL SHRDL M

AUTO PARTS
New . Used . Rebuilt
Open Saturday Afternoon And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

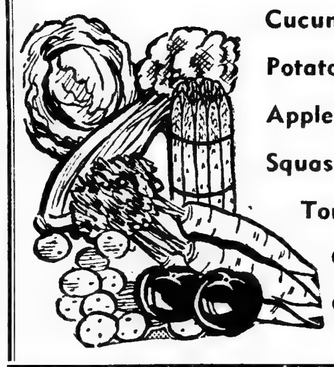
For A QUICK And DEPENDABLE HAIRCUT
See
University Barber Shop

Thousands of Savage Hordes IN A MIGHTY EPIC OF ADVENTURE
Alexander Korda presents
DRUMS
In Technicolor
SABU
RAYMOND MASSEY
DESMOND TESTER
ROGER LIVESEY
VALERIE HOBSON
And a cast of 3,000
Also
Donald Duck Cartoon
TODAY
VILLAGE

Fine Easter Foods
At A&P's Everyday Money-Saving Prices!

SUNNYFIELD OR PEACOCK SKINNED 14-18 LB. AVG.
HAMS Lb. 57c
A&P SUPER MARKETS

Fryers, Table Dressed ..... Lb. 53c
Hams, Peacock and Sunnyfield Brands Half or Whole ..... Lb. 57c
Fresh ground beef ..... Lb. 49c
Chuck roast ..... Lb. 45c
Spring leg of lamb, Whole or Half ..... Lb. 70c
Prime rib roast, Boneless .. Lb. 69c



SEAFOOD
FRESH FILLETS ..... Lb. 33c
HADDOCK FILLETS ..... Lb. 39c
FLOUNDER FILLETS ..... Lb. 49c
H & G WHITING ..... Lb. 21c

PAAS EGG DYES 3 Pkgs. 25c
WORTHMORE JELLY EGGS 1 LB BOX 27c
SUNNYBROOK GRADE A LARGE FRESH EGGS 1-Doz. Ctn. 55c
Golden Maid Uncolored Margarine 2 1-Lb. Pkg. 43c
Mild American Cheese ..... Lb. 41c

Iona Fine Flavor Peas 3 No. 2 Cans 29c
Campbell's Tomato Soup 2 10½-Oz. Cans 21c
Iona Sliced or Halves Peaches ..... No. 2½ Can 27c
Pick o' Carolina Sweet Mixed Pickles ..... 16-Oz. Jar 17c
Shortening Swift Jewel ..... 4-Lb. Ctn. 77c
Sunnyfield Self-Rising Flour ..... 10-Lb. Bag 77c
Niblets Brand Corn 2 12-Oz. Cans 35c
White House Evap. Milk 3 Tall Cans 35c
A&P Grape Juice ..... Pt. Bot. 19c

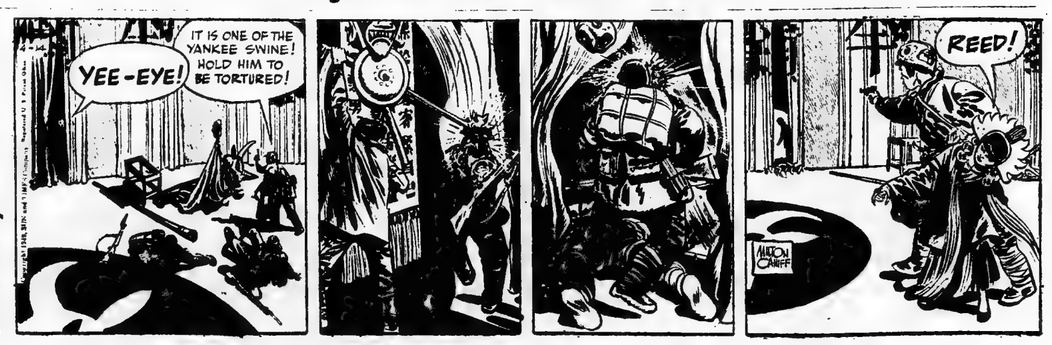
Jane Parker Chocolate Enrobed Easter Egg Cake 20-Oz. Cake 75c
Jane Parker Hot Cross Buns Pkg. 25c
Jane Parker Easter Nest Layer Cake 8" Cake 79c
Jane Parker Assorted Easter Eggs ..... Pkg. of Six 49c
Marvel Bread Home Style ..... 1½-Lb. Loaf 18c
Jane Parker Dessert Shells .. Pkg. of Four 13c
Marvel Dinner Rolls ..... Pkg. of Nine 10c

PRODUCE

Cucumbers, Fresh Green ..... Lb. 15c
Potatoes, Red Bliss ..... 5 Lb. 33c
Apples, Box Winesap ..... 3 Lb. 39c
Squash, Yellow Summer ..... Lb. 15c
Tomatoes, Fancy Carton ..... 2 For 39c
Carrots, Green Top ..... 2 Bunches 17c
Corn, Golden Bantam ..... 4 Ears 39c

Ann Page SALAD DRESSING Pt. Jar 29c
Ann Page Gelatin Desserts SPARKLE 2 Pkgs. 20c
Ann Page Strawberry PRESERVES 16-oz. Jar 33c
Ann Page Creamery Smooth PEANUT BUTTER 1-lb. Jar 35c
Ann Page STUFFED OLIVES 2-oz. Bot. 23c
Mild & Mellow Coffee 8 O'CLOCK 1-lb. Bag 40c • 3 Lb. Bag 1.15
Rich & Full Bodied RED CIRCLE 1-lb. Bag 44c • 3 Lb. Bag 1.27
Vigorous & Winey BOKAR 1-lb. Bag 47c • 3 Lb. Bag 1.35

CAMAY SOAP Bath Bar 12c
IVORY SOAP Reg. Bar 9c
LAVA SOAP 3 Bars 28c
SWAN SOAP Reg. Bar 9c
VEL Lge. Pkg. 29c
PERSONAL IVORY SOAP 3 Bars 19c
CAMAY SOAP 2 Reg. Bars 17c
IVORY SOAP Lge. Bar 15c
SWAN SOAP Lge. Bar 15c



This store will be closed all day Easter Monday—open all day Wednesday April 20.

L'il Abner — AL CAPP

Steve Canyon — MILTON CANIFF

Don't forget the CANCER FUND — HARRY'S

Y, APRIL 14, 1949

ods

Prices!

A&P

PER MARKETS

WORTHMORE
JELLY EGGS
1 LB BOX 27c

DE A LARGE
EGGS
55c

2 1-Lb. Pkg. 43c
--- Lb. 41c

arobed
ake 20-Oz. Cake 75c
uns Pkg. 25c
8" Cake 79c
Pkg. of Six 49c
1½-Lb. Loaf 18c
Pkg. of Four 13c
Pkg. of Nine 10c

CE
Lb. 15c
5 Lb 33c
3 Lb 39c
Lb. 15c
2 For 39c
2 Boxes 17c
4 Cans 39c

SONAL IVORY
SOAP
Bars 19c
CAMAY
SOAP
Reg. Bars 17c
IVORY
SOAP
15c
SOAP
15c

ores will be closed
Easter Monday
ed day Wednes-
April 20.

EDITORIALS

Need for Coalition
Quite A Combination
Parking Problem

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Clear and warm with possible showers

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. FRIDAY, APRIL 15, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 143

Senate Approves New Coed Budget

A coed budget for the year 1949-50 with a total expected expenditure of $2,720 was approved by the Coed Senate Tuesday night. The budget leaves an unappropriated balance of $570 over the expected income of $3,290.

Estimated expenses for the Coed Senate were:

Orientation, $180; coed ball, $500; May Day, $100; interdormitory council, $110; lectures, $100; conventions, $70; Southern Intercollegiate Association dues, $15; Yackety Yack space, $100; supplies and printing, $70; auditing fee, $30; postage, telephone, and telegraph, $35; and miscellaneous, $50.

For the subsidiary organizations of the Coed Senate:

Women's Glee Club, $50; YWCA, $300; Chi Delta Phi, $50; Women's Athletic Association, $300; C.I.C.A., $200; Pan Hellenic council, $125; Kappa Epsilon, $50; Town Girls association, $125; and the Valkyries, $160.

At the close of the meeting the senators all stood to give a final gesture of appreciation to Emily Baker, the retiring speaker.

Wolfe Clubbers List Purposes, Plan of Action

In a statement of purpose released yesterday by the Thomas Wolfe Club, the group set forth a goal "to establish a permanent and fitting memorial to North Carolina's internationally loved son" and to secure speakers who are qualified to conduct discussion on specific periods of Wolfe's life and works.

Chairman of the newly formed club, Blanton Miller, announced the aims and purposes of the organization after a committee of four drew up the document which combined sentiments of the members. Committee members were Jack Lawler, Rue Guthrie, Milton Boone, and Bill Buchan.

The statement of purpose reads as follows:

"The purpose of the Thomas Wolfe Club shall be to arouse and propagate interest in the life and works of Thomas Wolfe. To this end speakers will be secured who are qualified to stimulate and conduct discussions on specific periods of Wolfe's life and on objective and critical evaluations of his work.

"Further efforts will be made to establish a permanent and fitting memorial to North Carolina's internationally loved son. The club will attempt to gather additional material for the Thomas Wolfe collection in the University of North Carolina Library."

Membership in the club is open to students, faculty members, and townspeople. The next meeting of the group will be announced in the Daily Tar Heel.

Kathy's Funeral Held Yesterday

ALHAMBRA, Cal., April 13—(UP)—Funeral services were held today for tiny Kathy Fiscus in a small stone chapel here. Prominent among the hundreds who came to mourn were the hardy heroes who for 54 hours dug and sweat until they brought her up from 95 feet below the earth.

The rescue workers occupied two front rows of the chapel. The parents sat in the family pew.

Every one of the 200 seats in the chapel was filled while outside hundreds of other listened to a muffled loudspeaker which brought them the services.

A thousandr persons filed past the casket and saw the golden-haired child clutching her favorite doll and wearing a white easter dress.

Afterwards, Mr. and Mrs. Fiscus, the parents, and other members of the family traveled behind the hearse carrying the child to her final resting place in Chula Vista, Cal., 130 miles to the south.

Graham Believes Senate Measure 'Unwise' Policy

RALEIGH, April 14,—(UP)—Sen. Frank Graham expressed the belief today that the move to make him an ex-officio member of the University of North Carolina Board of Trustees would be "an unwise precedent."

A telegram from the former University president was read to the House of Representatives today by Speaker Kerr Craige Ramsey. The House is slated to take action soon on a bill passed by the Senate which would make all ex-presidents of the University ex-officio members of the board of trustees.

In his telegram, Graham said:

"I have just learned that the Senate today passed a bill that all ex-presidents of the University shall be ex-officio member of the board of trustees as long as they are residents of North Carolina.

"I believe this would be an unwise precedent. It is wise administrative policy to have the new president unemcumbered with a past president on the board. I would appreciate your reading this telegram to the House of Representatives at the first favorable opportunity. With appreciation and best wishes."

Manning Given Speaking Honor

Sam Manning, University of North Carolina, was one of three North Carolina students who won Championships in the Grand National Forensic tournament which got underway at the University of Virginia on Wednesday.

Manning received his crown for presenting the outstanding declamation in Spanish in the men's division. In all, 280 delegates are attending the tournament and representing 54 colleges and universities from all over the nation.

Other champions named Wednesday night were:

Huber Ellingsworth, Pacific University, Ore., men's champion in extemporary Spanish.

Delila Perez, Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, N. C., woman's champion in extemporaneous Spanish and also champion in impromptu speaking in Spanish.

Eleanor Adolph, Lenoir Rhyne College, women's champion in declamation in Spanish.

Church Sets Rites On 'Good Friday'

The Good Friday three-hour service will be held at the Episcopal Church today from 12 noon until 3 o'clock. Worshipers are asked to enter or leave during the singing of a hymn, which will occur approximately at each quarter-hour.

On Easter Day there will be services of Holy Communion at 8:00, 9:15, and 11:00 A.M. People are urged to make use of the earlier services, as the congestion is usually greater at eleven o'clock. The regular service of Evening Prayer and brief adddress will also be conducted at 8:00 P.M.

The Sunday School Easter Festival and presentation of the Lenten Offering will take place at 4:00 P.M. There will be an Easter egg hunt for the members of the Sunday School on Monday afternoon at four o'clock. In case of rain, it will be postponed until the first clear afternoon at the same time.

TWELVE-YEAR-OLD Augusta Schneider of Brooklyn, N. Y., is carried to an ambulance from the bank of the East River where she attempted to commit suicide. The schoolgirl was rescued by Joseph Rodriguez, working nearby. Rodriguez jumped into the water and kept the girl afloat until a policeman threw them a rope. Augusta was crying, "This is a crazy world and I don't want to live in it." The girl's parents and teachers could offer no explanations for her sudden act. (International)

June Candidates Must File Notice With Dean

Students who expect to complete the requirements for a degree at the end of the spring quarter must have filed an application for a degree card with their dean in accordance with the instructions of their particular school.

Degree candidates should check with the University cashier in the basement of South Building before leaving the University, as no degree can be awarded to students with outstanding fees.

To be eligible for graduation each candidate must pass all required courses and enough free elective work to give the required number of hours for the degree. Each candidate must check with the dean of his school and be sure he has his required work cleared.

An application card for the degree must be secured at the office of the dean of his school and filled out to show his name just as he wishes it to appear on the diploma.

The diploma and graduation fee of $5 must be paid to the cashier of the University in the basement of South.

Candidates are asked to see Harold Weaver in 312 South Building to be sure Loans, if any have been made, are in satisfactory condition. Candidates are warned to be sure that there are no unpaid bills anywhere on the University campus.

Expert Repeats Attacks On Army

WASHINTON, April 14—(UP)—Hoover Commission expert Ferdinand Eberstadt today repeated charges that the army padded its original budget dequest for the 12 months beginning next July 1.

Groups to Submit Fees, Skit Data On Valkyrie Sing

Campus organizations planning to compete in the Valkyrie Sing on Monday night, April 25, must submit their theme and the songs to be used, as well as a $2 entrance fee, today, Co-chairmen Teenie Royall and Sue Stokes announced yesterday.

All groups whose $2 entrance fee is not received today will be eliminated from the contest, the chairmen emphasized. Fees mailed to Teenie Royall, 319 McIver, will be accepted if postmarked before midnight tonight.

Rehearsals in Memorial Hall will be scheduled next Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and all groups should contact Jo Butler, Chi Omega house, to arrange a half hour period. Maximum time for each presentation is nine minutes, including getting props on and off the stage. Entrants are requested to comply with this regulation, since the number of groups participating will make the program fairly long.

Winners of the men's and women's groups will both receive loving cups to be presented at the conclusion of the program. These are rotating cups, and are retained permanently by any group which wins three years in succession.

Social Science Professors Attend Meet at University of Wisconsin

Professors Howard W. Odum and Rupert B. Vance of the Institute for Research in Social Science at the University are participating in a three-day symposium on American Regionalism at the University of Wisconsin Thursday through Saturday of this week.

The symposium, a part of the University's centennial celebration, is being held in cooperation with the Mississippi Valley Historical Association.

Professor Vance introduced "The Concept of Regionalism as a Tool for Research" at the first session Thursday.

In the last session closing the symposium, Professor Odum will speak in summary on "The Promise of Regionalism," after which Professor Louis Wirth of the University of Chicago will address the group on "The Limitations of Regionalism."

This symposium and seminar is a part also of the University of Wisconsin's larger program of Studies in American Civilization and stresses the increasing importance of regionalism in American life and in contemporary world society. Primary books in this field are Rupert B. Vance's "Human Geography of the United States," and Howard W. Odum's "American Regionalism" and "Southern Regions."

Other major participants in the symposium include Gordon Clapp, Tennessee Valley Authority; Fulmer Mood, University of California; Vernon Carstensen, University of Wisconsin; F. B. Simpkins, State Teachers College, Farmville, Va., and Rexford Newcomb, University of Illinois.

Philosopher Will Present Lecture Here

Public Will Hear Talk by Leighton

Dr. Joseph Alexander Leighton, formerly chairman of the Department of Philosophy at Ohio State University, will give a public lecture under the auspices of the Department of Philosophy here Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in Gerrard Hall. He will speak on "Democracy, Technology, and Personality."

Dr. Leighton, a Canadian by birth, attended Trinity College in Toronto, received his Ph.D. from Cornell, and the B.D. from the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass. He also attended the University of Tubingen, Berlin, and Erlange abroad.

For many years he has been recognized as a leading idealist in American philosophy as well as a social philosopher. He has served as president of the Western Division of the American Philosophical Association, and as vice-president of the Eastern Division.

Before going to Ohio State University, Dr. Leighton was professor of philosophy at Hobart College. He is the author of numerous books and articles dealing with metaphysics, religion, education, and social philosophy.

The LL.D. degree was conferred upon Dr. Leighton by Ohio State in 1948 in recognition of his distinguished career.

U.S. Earthquake Costs 20 Million

SEATTLE, Wash., April 14—(UP)—Jittery residents dug out of an estimated $20,000,000 worth of wreckage and rubble in the Pacific northyest today and seismologists warned that new tremors may follow the region's worst recorded earthquake.

The death toll, 24 hours after the earth upheaval, stood at seven, with "hundreds" injured and more than 60 hospitalized.

When Communism Gains It Is Americans' Fault, Says Craig

If Communism, Fascism or Socialism gain ground in this country, it is only because Americans are too complacent and too indifferent to do anything about them, Dr. Hardin Craig, professor of English in the University, said in an address before the Chapel Hill Rotary Club last night.

"There is nothing new about a regulated or regimented society," Dr. Craig said. "It was centuries old when Babylon was founded and long antedates the pyramids, which significantly it brought into existence. Totalitarianism has been the regular and not the exceptional thing in the government of human society. By far the greater part of the human race still live under systems which regulate the activities, the possessions, the privileges, and the ambitions of the mass of men. This regulation of society is and has always been in the interests of a chosen few.

"It has always been stultifying in its effects on humanity, always a frustration of progress, always and ultimately a gigantic failure; yet at this very time this outworn system, equipped with new labels, supported by old fallacies in new clothes, provided with new, modern, subtle, and dangerous techniques, is spreading over the world like fire in a prairie."

Dr. Craig said there is "no other government in line with nature, human nature, the course of human evolution, and, as we believe, the will of God except a government by the people in accordance with the principle of liberty under the law. Apart from this there is only tyranny, plutocracy, oligarchy, anarchy. If we could count on an unending series of benevolent despots, it might be different. But rulers too are human, and power corrupts and

(see CRAIG page 4)

Graham To Receive Initial Di-Phi Award

Planetarium Plans Near Completion

By Roy Parker, Jr.

Work on the Morehead planetarium building moved into the cleanup stages this week as the May 10 opening date approached. More than 200 workers are busy both inside and outside the structure.

Landscaping work by the Gounds Department was the most obvious of the many jobs. In the past 10 days a small army of workers has laid more than 1100 square feet of brick walk and planted over 100 azalea plants.

Inside the building, Director Roy Marshall and his assistants are moving into the last stages of assembling the many exhibits that will augment the planetarium machine itself. The instrument has been completely adjusted and last night an audience of more than 200 workers saw a private perview of the show that others will see after May 10.

The interior of the building has been completed except for minor work. A few small paint jobs and flooring work remains to be done. A total of 19 different types of flooring material has been used in the building, ranging from oak to marble.

Exhibit rooms, containing models used to explain the planetary orbits, seasons, relative size of heavenly bodies and other astranomical phenomena will be finished within the next week. A 15-inch telescope, purchased by the University before the war, is being assembled for exhibit. A set of 125-year old astronomy instruments, purchased in Europe by President Caldwell in 1824, are also being placed on exhibition.

Director Marshall termed work on the newest campus addition as coming along "very well."

Registration Lists Open Tomorrow For Local Vote

Registration for Chapel Hill's municipal election will open Saturday, April 16, and continue through the following Saturday, April 23, at Town Hall.

Registration hours will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on the two Saturdays, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays.

Citizens who have previously registered for municipal elections will not be required to register again in order to vote, but registration for a state or national election will not make a person eligible to vote in the town election.

To be eligible to vote, citizens must have been a resident of the state for at least one year, of the county for six months, and of the town for at least four months.

Persons regarded as temporary residents are not eligible to register or vote.

J. R. Greene has been appointed by the Board of Aldermen to serve as registrar.

Candidates who have filed so far are Robert W. Madry, the incumbent, and Edwin S. Lanier, alderman, for Mayor; Henry A. Whitfield, the incumbent, and John Manning, attorney, for Judge of the Recorders Court; and R. Bernice Fitch and Robert L. Fowler, incumbents, and Mrs. Roland McClamorch, Kenneth Putman and the Rev. J. H. Jones, for the three places on the Board of Aldermen.

Student Officers' Inauguration Set

Student Government officers elected during the past two weeks will be inaugurated in Di Hall at 8:30 Tuesday night, out-going President Jess Dedmond said yesterday.

Dedmond is conferring with the president-elect Bill Mackie on plans for the installation.

"The inauguration will represent the conclusion of the 1948-49 Student Government administration, and as of that meeting the responsibility for Student Government will be transferred to the hands of the new officers," Dedmond brought out.

A banquet for the new officers will be held at the Carolina Inn at 6:00 Wednesday night.

UN Asks Freedom For World News

LAKE SUCCESS, April 14—(UP)—The United Nations Social Committee today adopted article two in the treaty on International News Freedom, to facilitate "The freest possible movement" of foreign correspondents.

Harmonica Players May Organize Band

Plans for the formation of a campus harmonica group to present novelty acts and other forms of entertainment for special programs were announced yesterday by Don Sanders.

Sanders sent out a request for any students interested in joining the group to contact him by writing a card to him at 204 A dorm. All persons interested should be acquainted with and own their own chromatic harmonica, Sanders said.

Churches Select Gimghoul Castle For Easter Rites

Gimghoul Castle has been selected as the site for the annual Easter Sunrise Service for Chapel Hill residents and University students.

Sponsored by local churches and student religious organizations, the service will begin at 6 a.m., preceded by carillon music played by Monte Howell, Jr.

The minister in charge will be the Rev. Bernard Munger of the Congregational-Christian Church.

Choral music has been prepared by the elementary chorus of the Orange County Training School, Miss Frances Hargraves, director.

A brass ensemble made up of the Chapel Hill High School band, under the direction of Hubert Henderson, will open and close the service. A quartet of men's voices from the Methodist Church Choir, directed by Gene Stryker of the University Music Department, has also been planned.

Plans for the service were arranged by a committee representing the sponsoring organizations under the chairmanship of the Rev. Brooks Patten, director of the Wesley Foundation of the Methodist Church.

Di Group Passes Phi's Nomination

Sen. Frank P. Graham was officially elected Wednesday night to receive the first annual Di-Phi award when the Dialectic Senate unanimously concurred with his previous nomination by the Philanthropic Assembly.

The award, established during the winter quarter through joint action of the Di and the Phi, will be given annually to an outstanding alumnus of the University who has made a notable "contribution to society," achieved success in his chosen field of endeavor and been of service to the University.

The award will be presented at a joint gathering of the Di and the Phi in the near future. Senator Graham is a former president of the Di.

In its regular discussion, the North Atlantic Treaty received the overwhelming support of both members and visitors present in the Di hall on the third floor of New West building.

At the close of the meeting the "senators" voted 21 to 3 to endorse the defense pact recently signed in Washington. A vote of 32 to 9 was recorded in favor of the pact with both Di members and visitors voting.

Speaking for the bill, Cliff Horton called the Atlantic Pact the most far-reaching step in American foreign policy since the Monroe Doctrine.

Tom Mayfield declared, "conquests are made piecemeal. Nations attack weakness—they will not attack strength." Bill Foster defended blocks as inevitable and urged support of the pact to help preserve peace.

Bill Hipple, a visitor, declared, "The North Atlantic Pact is not a gamble— Arty Murphey countered a charge that the pact would make discussion in the United Nations more difficult by saying, "I can't see how discussion can be any more difficult in the United Nations."

Opposing the bill, Bob Barrus, visitor who spent two years in Europe after the war, questioned trying to defeat an ideology by force and urged greater economic aid instead.

Gran Childress, Di member who voted for the pact, humorously advocated instead of the pact that a great wall be built around the United States.

Hikers Will Meet At YMCA Saturday

Charles Bartlett will lead this week's YMCA sponsored hike along the eastern edge of Chapel Hill. The group will meet at 8:30 Saturday morning at the Y, it was announced yesterday.

Participants are urged to bring box lunches or to make plans to have lunch at Brady's.

The hike will be conducted through the woods below Gimghoul Castle, through Greenwood, and will continue to Brady's then back to town.

Interested students may contact the Y office for further information.

Veterans Must See Training Head Here

All public law 16 veterans who do not plan to remain in school during the summer are requested by Veterans Training Officer Wilson Honeycutt to contact the veterans office in Peabody Hall.

If the veterans do not let the veterans office know whether they will remain in school or not during the summer their checks may be delayed.

The veterans office is located in room 117, Peabody Hall, and is open on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price $5.00 per year, $2.50 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors: Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr.: Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed.: Budd Caden
Society Editor: Caroline Brumer
Aids: Mgr. Oliver Wurkins

Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Reporters: Russell Banks, Dallas, Ed Turner, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis

News Staff: Charles McGuire, Margaret Sasser, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Lee Mauldin, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack Fox, Joe Granger, James Arey, Xanthus, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Crawford, Virginia Eastwood, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Vaughn.

Sports Staff: Dick Murdock, Lou Dorsey, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zeke Robbins, and Dick Taylor.

Business Staff: Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Lewis, Ney Caden, Booster Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, Edie Dalrymple, Tom Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff: Neill Clegg, Asst., M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Simmons, Robert Graham.

Secretarial Staff: Lynn Hammock, Jane Lower, Gloria McLemore.

FOR THIS ISSUE . . .

Night News Editor: Roy Parker Sports Editor: Buddy Vaden

Need for Coalition Rule

With the campus elections over, much of the political intrigue which has been surrounding the Y-Court for the past few weeks has gone. All that remains is speculation on the results and congratulatory remarks to the successful candidates. The Daily Tar Heel would like to take this opportunity also to wish the best of luck to the winners. Those elected have proven themselves capable in their previous experiences in student government and can be counted on to continue their good work. They should be accorded the confidence of the entire student body.

The whole election was surprising, not so much in view of who was elected but rather in how the voting was distributed. For one thing, the University Party carried the town men's districts by only a very slim margin, whereas in the past the UP could always count on a big majority of the votes in those districts. The Student Party looked unusually strong in the town vote. The Campus Party and Student Party as usual carried the dormitory vote, but several of the UP candidates were able to win in some of the town districts.

The offices and candidates were fairly well divided between the three parties. The SP walked off with the most coveted victory when Bill Mackie was elected to the presidency. But the University Party has the whip hand in the legislature with Ted Leonard presiding and 23 UP legislators. The Student Party has 14 seats and the Campus Party 12. The final seat is filled by a joint UP-CP candidate.

With the president affiliated with one party and the legislature dominated by another, there is a definite need for a coalition. If some agreement can't be worked out student government could get into an awful snarl between now and [illegible].

About the Parking Problem

[illegible] come and editors go, but the Chapel Hill parking problem goes on and on and on. And to be perfectly truthful, any solution which does not step on someone's toes does not seem likely to be available in the near future. We can see no reason why complaints should be raised if restrictions were laid down prohibiting the use of cars by certain classes of students.

Other means are found to obtain a new campus, held by many, the situation will be alleviated to a great extent. [illegible] parking problem would be found if the proper University officials would rent the space made vacant by tearing down the old [illegible] and turning it into a parking lot.

[illegible] excellent [illegible] are [illegible] Traffic violations [illegible]

Quite a Combination

[illegible] combination [illegible] Carolina Dames' Club [illegible] Memorial Wednesday [illegible] Student Union [illegible] dimes [illegible] dance. [illegible] definite assertion that no [illegible] Wednesday are repeated.

[illegible] were scheduled between [illegible] when few meetings were [illegible] go back to this policy.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

KAUNAKAKAI, Hawaii, April 14—This absolutely kills me, after seeing all the undraped skin, but it develops that Hawaii has a bathing suit law requiring that one be covered from the neck to the knees.

I don't think many Hawaiians know about the law. The only reason I learned about it is that someone dug it out of the mothballs the other day and is working on the territorial legislature to repeal it.

The repealer passed the Senate and is now before the lower House. If it passes there, as seems absolutely certain, we can all go around the way we've been going—but legally, yet.

The covered-epidermis law, known as the Desha Act, was passed in 1921 at the instance of the late Senator Stephen L. Desha, who apparently had rather prim notions. Although it went on the books as a tribute to the good Senator it was never enforced—as any ogle-eyed visitor to the island can tell you.

But it's nice to know it's going to be repealed. As a law-abiding citizen it goes against the grain for me to leer illegally.

• • •

I have been studying up on folkways since coming here, and have learned that the simple natives are not so innocently childlike as they appear. They sing naive-sounding songs about flowers, and fish, and poi, but practically every line has a double meaning.

I am indebted for most of this esoteric information to Miss Mikilani Fo, a young entertainer with a large and enthusiastic night club following. Miss Fo plays the ukulele and sings seemingly guileless songs about garlands of flowers which draw rebald laughter.

Miss Fo, who looks as artless as a Sunday School teacher, has ambitions to carry her form of culture to the mainland.

I find it is very successful with visitors," she explained, demurely. "People from New York, Boston, and Washington are just as quick at catching on as natives."

I asked Miss Fo if her fascinating first name "Mikilani" had any particular meaning.

"Oh, yes," she replied, looking more ingenuous than ever. "'Lani' means 'heavenly.' My name means 'Heavenly Miki.'"

"And what does 'Miki' mean?"

"Oh," said Miss Fo," someone who gets around a lot."

• • •

I [illegible] report that our Navy is still getting around a bit, too, despite reports to the contrary. Because of the mobility, I fell down on a contract.

Before leaving Washington I was introduced by Mrs. George Vlk, wife of the old Notre Dame football star, to her sister-in-law, Radio Operator Richard Shoup, based at Pearl Harbor.

Bill he says, [illegible] Dick [illegible] said Mrs. Vlk. Her ship [illegible]

I called the Pearl Harbor [illegible] and asked to speak to Radio Operator Shoup.

I [illegible] to talk [illegible] and the [illegible] for [illegible] 300 miles [illegible]

I don't know too much about naval affairs but I bet Mrs. Vlk is wrong about the status of her son's vessel. That's a long way for a ship to go in drydock.

[illegible] a celebration [illegible] Chinese [illegible] Francisco [illegible] Hotel. It seems Mr. [illegible] a global thinker.

[illegible] over the Pal[illegible] had ordered a Peking duck [illegible] a superb song [illegible] Beverly Hills [illegible] Chinese friend Mr. [illegible] Lund was the speaker [illegible] and remarked with pretended apprehension:

"I feel very much on my own tonight. I'm the only singer they've had here who isn't backed by the Marshall Plan."

Early Easter Bunnies

Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., by arrangement with [illegible]

This 'n That

Mud-Slinging, By Gum

By Bill Buchan

My friend Wilbur A[illegible] was slightly [illegible] past election campaign [illegible] he was afraid to open his mouth pro or con about any candidate who was running for office around Mudslinging, you know.

It all started one day when Wilbur was in one of those political bull sessions at the "Y" and he casually mentioned that he did not think one particular man was qualified to hold the office he was campaigning for.

"You're slinging mud!" was the immediate retort from one of the bullers, "and we aren't going to have any of that in this election."

Now real down-to-earth rumor mongering and lying about a man is mudslinging, but Amberson thought he had the right to state his opinion of the candidates right or wrong without being accused of the obviously greatest crime against humanity.

"I think we [illegible] some mess [illegible] he complained [illegible] last night. "Why [illegible] through the [illegible] only talk about [illegible] supporting [illegible] to compare [illegible] ponents. Mr. [illegible] know."

[illegible] ridiculous [illegible]

Let's outlaw mudslinging, yes, but before we start in to do it next time, let [illegible] of the powers-that-be give a definite outline of just what the hateful dread[illegible]

Inquiring Reporter

About Our Next P[illegible]

By Murray Goldenthal

[illegible] and he [illegible] states [illegible] in this

Question: Who would you like to see appointed as the next President of the University of North Carolina and in what way do you feel he is to be qualified for the job?

[illegible] Kappa Alpha [illegible] the next [illegible] only be [illegible] room with [illegible] practical [illegible] business [illegible] a native [illegible] one with [illegible] date a [illegible] in Carolina [illegible] with the [illegible] Legislature [illegible] and neither [illegible] a fair-haired [illegible] Webb to [illegible] every[illegible] doubt [illegible] he is [illegible] deal Pre[illegible]

[illegible] Henderson [illegible] or Pres[illegible] [illegible] is a pro[illegible] news and [illegible] to run [illegible] is a man [illegible] which is [illegible] can stay [illegible] Carolina for [illegible] experience would [illegible] students [illegible] they will [illegible] I am sure he [illegible] would lead to

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

[illegible] OF WORTH PROTEST

Editor

[illegible] Student Party [illegible] of [illegible] Party [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. .. Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins

Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

FOR THIS ISSUE . . .

Night News Editor: Roy Parker Sports Editor: Buddy Vaden

Need for Coalition Rule

With the campus elections over, much of the political intrigue which has been surrounding the Y-Court for the past few weeks has gone. All that remains is speculation over the results and congratulatory remarks to the successful candidates. The Daily Tar Heel would like to take this opportunity also to wish the best of luck to the winners. Those elected have proven themselves capable in their previous experiences in student government and can be counted on to continue their good work. They should be accorded the cooperation of the entire student body.

The whole election was surprising, not so much in view of who was elected but rather in how the voting was distributed. For one thing, the University Party carried the five town men's districts by only a very slim margin, whereas in the past the UP could always count on a big majority of the votes in those districts. The Student Party looked unusually strong in the town vote. The Campus Party and Student Party as usual carried the dormitory vote, but several of the UP candidates were able to win in some of the dorm districts.

The winning candidates were fairly well divided between the three parties. The SP walked off with the most coveted victory when Bill Mackie was elected to the presidency. But the University Party has the whip hand in the legislature with Ted Leonard presiding and 23 UP legislators. The Student Party has 14 seats and the Campus Party 12. The other seat is filled by a joint UP-CP candidate.

With the president affiliated with one party and the legislature dominated by another, there is a definite need for a coalition. If some agreement can't be worked out, student government could get into an awful snarl between now and next election time.

About the Parking Problem

Editors come and editors go, but the Chapel Hill parking problem goes on and on and on. And to be perfectly truthful, a solution which does not step on someone's toes does not seem likely to be available in the near future. We can imagine the howls raised if restrictions were laid down prohibiting the use of cars by certain classes of students.

If means are found to obtain a new baseball field by next year, the situation will be alleviated to a great extent because Emerson Field will then be available for parking. Partial relief might also be found if the proper University officials would convert the space, made vacant by tearing down several quonset huts, into a parking lot.

The important thing now is to take full advantage of the facilities that are now in use. Wasted parking space is an unnecessary hardship on all the car owners. An excellent example of this wasted space is the main parking lot behind the YMCA. Almost one-third more cars could be accommodated if parking lanes were drawn up and drivers were made to park within them or made liable for traffic violations.—J.B.

Quite a Combination

A strange combination of a dance orchestra and a meeting of the Carolina Dames Club were in competition in Graham Memorial Wednesday night when both met on the ground floor of the student union building.

Reports say that the main speaker at the Dames Club meeting could hardly hear himself speak, the members of the club never had a chance. It is unfortunate that both meetings were scheduled next door to each other at the same time.

The orchestra, however, is not to be blamed for the incident. The persons who arrange the schedule of meetings in Graham Memorial should definitely ascertain that no such conflicts as the one Wednesday are repeated.

In the old days, the orchestras were scheduled between the hours of five and seven when few meetings were in session. It would be wise to go back to this policy.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon
(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

KAUNAKAKAI, Hawaii, April 14—This absolutely kills me, after seeing all the undraped skin, but it develops that Hawaii has a bathing suit law requiring that one be covered from the neck to the knees.

I don't think many Hawaiians know about the law. The only reason I learned about it is that someone dug it out of the mothballs the other day and is working on the territorial legislature to repeal it.

The repealer passed the Senate and is now before the lower House. If it passes there, as seems absolutely certain, we can all go around the way we've been going—but legally, yet.

The covered-epidermis law, known as the Desha Act, was passed in 1921 at the instance of the late Senator Stephen L. Desha, who apparently had rather prim notions. Although it went on the books as a tribute to the good Senator it was never enforced—as any ogle-eyed visitor to the island can tell you.

But it's nice to know it's going to be repealed. As a law-abiding citizen it goes against the grain for me to leer illegally.

* * *

I have been studying up on folkways since coming here, and have learned that the simple natives are not so innocently childlike as they appear. They sing naive-sounding songs about flowers, and fish, and poi, but practically every line has a double meaning.

I am indebted for most of this esoteric information to Miss Mikilani Fo, a young entertainer with a large and enthusiastic night club following. Miss Fo plays the ukulele and sings seemingly guileless songs about garlands of flowers which draw ribald laughter.

Miss Fo, who looks as artless as a Sunday School teacher, has ambitions to carry her form of culture to the mainland.

"I find it is very successful with visitors," she explained, demurely. "People from New York, Boston, and Washington are just as quick at catching on as natives."

I asked Miss Fo if her fascinating first name "Mikilani" had any particular meaning.

"Oh, yes," she replied, looking more ingenuous than ever. "'Lani' means 'heavenly.' My name means 'Heavenly Miki.'"

"And what does 'Miki' mean?"

"Oh," said Miss Fo," someone who gets around a lot."

* * *

I wish to report that our Navy is still getting around a lot, too, despite reports to the contrary. Because of its mobility, I fell down on a contract.

Before leaving Washington I was instructed by Mrs. George Vlk wife of the old Notre Dame footballist, to be sure to call her son, Radio Operator Richard Sloop, based at Pearl Harbor.

"It'll be easy to contact Dickie," said Mrs. Vlk. "His ship is in drydock."

I called the Pearl Harbor Yard and asked to speak to Radio Operator Sloop.

"I don't think you can talk to him right now," said the officer on duty. "He's 500 miles off the coast of Asia."

* * *

I don't know too much about naval affairs, but I trust Mrs. Vlk is wrong about the status of her son's vessel. That's a long way for a ship to go in drydock.

I have just had a cablegram from young Mr. Guy Cherney, who recently opened a singing engagement in San Francisco's Palace Hotel. It seems Mr. Cherney is no global thinker.

Before he took over, the Palace had featured a long, unbroken line of imported songsters—Lucienne Boyer, Jean Sablon, Charles Trenet. Mr. Cherney looked over the opening night audience and remarked with pretended apprehension:

"I feel very much on my own tonight. I'm the only singer they've had here who isn't backed by the Marshall Plan."

Early Easter Bunnies

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

This 'n That

Mud-Slinging, By Gum

By Bill Buchan

My friend Wilbur Amberson was slightly confused during the past election campaign 'cause he was afraid to open his mouth pro or con about any candidate who was running for office. Mudslinging, you know.

It all started one day when Wilbur was in one of those political bull sessions at the "Y" and he casually mentioned that he did not think one particular man was qualified to hold the office he was campaigning for.

"You're slinging mud!" was the immediate retort from one of the bullers, "and we aren't going to have any of that in this election."

Now real down-to-earth rumor mongering and lying about a man is mudslinging, but Amberson thought he had the right to state his opinion of the candidates right or wrong without being accused of the obviously greatest crime against humanity.

"I think we carried the doggone mess too far this time," he complained bitterly to me last night. "Why when I went through the dormitories, I could only talk about the men I was supporting because I was afraid to compare them to their opponents. Mudslinging, you know."

"Everyone went around with a chip on their shoulders and a 'I dare you' look in their eyes when ever they were talking politics. Heck, it just wasn't any fun."

Wilbur, as usual, has his points. Mudslinging is not a good thing. But neither is this theory that any one of the three candidates is good, but I'd like to see my man elected because he is from my party.

Politics is politics and if you're to wage any kind of campaign at all—and get any votes for your side—you've got to be able to state the true facts about a man, whether they are good or bad. It isn't necessary to drag him through the gutter, misquote him or lie about him, which is probably what real mudslingiing actually amounts too.

Before the past campaign got under way almost, everybody was accusing everybody else of mudslinging, like Wilbur said, if they merely mentioned a name without compliments. The situation got a little ridiculous before it was all over.

Let's outlaw mudslinging. yes, but before we start in to do it next time, let one of the powers-that-be give a definite outline of just what the hateful dreaded process is. Then, we can get back to some real politicing and campaign for our men without the fear of the constant, fearful charge "you're slinging mud!"

* * *

The six-to-one ration was in serious danger last weekend of being reduced. Sally Woodhull, Rita Adams and Bunny Davis all were slightly incapacitated in a series of strange events, and it looked for several hours as if the coed majority might disappear. Sally took a plunge down the Graham Memorial steps and wound up in the infirmary having a few stitches in her head while Rita met a horse at the stables whose disposition was unstable. Miss Adams wound up in a fall also, straight from the horses back to the ground. Bunny was swinging in the new swing on the Alpha Gam porch with two guys when aforementioned swing swung to the floor with Bunny's ankle in between. She's the worse injured of the three and is currently hobbling around the campus on crutches. The other two gals have no visible signs of their mishaps, but it was rumored Sunday night (mudslinging, probably) that an all-out effort was being made to exterminate the coed population.

Inquiring Reporter

About Our Next President

By Murray Goldenthal

(This column is being instituted in keeping with the Carolina Political Union's policy of arousing student interest in current issues, local, national, and international. One question in regard to current affairs will be asked every week; opinions expressed are those of the individual only, and not to be interpreted as expressing the view of any organization to which he may belong. If you have a question of this nature which you would like to have answered in this column please submit it to the CPU, Graham Memorial.)

Question: Who would you like to see appointed as the next President of the University of North Carolina, and in what way do you feel him to be qualified for the job?

Pete Gerns, President, Men's Interdorm Council: "W. W. Pierson, Dean of the Graduate School, a scholar of renown fits admirably the qualifications listed by the Greater University Student Council. He is an eminent educator, a man of character and has the courage of his convictions. Dean Pierson stands for intellectual integrity. As dean of the grad school he is well acquainted with the heads of the three schools. He is a Southerner by birth and he understands and appreciates the problems of education in this region."

Dortch Warriner, Kappa Alpha House: "I think the next President should not only be an educator, but a man with a good background of practical experience, perhaps a business man. He should be a native North Carolinian in line with the thinking of this state a man who knows his fellow Carolinians, and can work with them, particularly at the Legislature. He should be young, and neither a reactionary nor a fair-haired liberal. I feel James Webb to be eminently qualified in every regard, and although I doubt that he will be available, he is my conception of an ideal President."

Norris Grubbs, 210 Henderson St.: "Ava Gardner for President of UNC. After all, she is a prominent figure in the news and has outstanding points to recommend her. She is a native North Carolinian, which is more than Pennsylvania can say for Stassen, or Columbia for Ike. Her broad experience would enable her to give students the kind of education they will need in later life. I am sure her appointment would lead to more intimate student-faculty relations."

Jonathan Marshall, columnist DTH: "I feel that the matter should be decided by a group of educators. The students do not have the requisite experience or knowledge of the field to make an intelligent choice. Although it would be popular to choose a native of this state, the choice should not be restricted. Above all, I believe that our new President should be a man who has actually had experience as an administrator in the field of education. Success in another field cannot be deemed a qualification for the position of University President."

Tom Mayfield, Treasurer, sophomore class: General G. C. Marshall is still far and away the man most qualified for the job. His administrative ability has been amply demonstrated over the past few years and his integrity is universally acknowledged. I do not feel that we necessarily need an educator but rather a diplomat, a man with political experience. A President does very little educating, his main business is with the Legislature. A man with both prestige and contacts is greatly needed."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SP WON'T PROTEST

Editor:

There has been quite a lot of comment on the facts about inefficiency on the polls in Tuesday's run-off election; some going so far as to say that the Student Party will contest the election.

If I interpret the belief of the Student Party members correctly, they do not wish to contest the election. Most feel that it would be "chicken," if you will.

We are sorry that the errors were made. We are willing to help see that it doesn't happen again. We blame no one for the mistake.

Gran Childress

INFIRMARY VOTING

Editor:

Is it a fact that students in the infirmary have the right to vote? I have heard that this was the case, but the students on the third floor of the infirmary did not have an opportunity to vote in last Tuesday's election.

If students in the infirmary haven't been accorded this privilege, I suggest that the elections committee do something about it.

Harold Cummings

EXTEND 52-20

Editor:

Unless action is taken now, Veterans' Readjustment Compensation (52-20) will be allowed to expire next July. Until lately, it has been fairly easy to find a job Recently, things have begun to tighten up. The State Employment Security Commission estimates unemployment in North Carolina at more than 130,000 persons. That is an increase of 137% over the same period of last year.

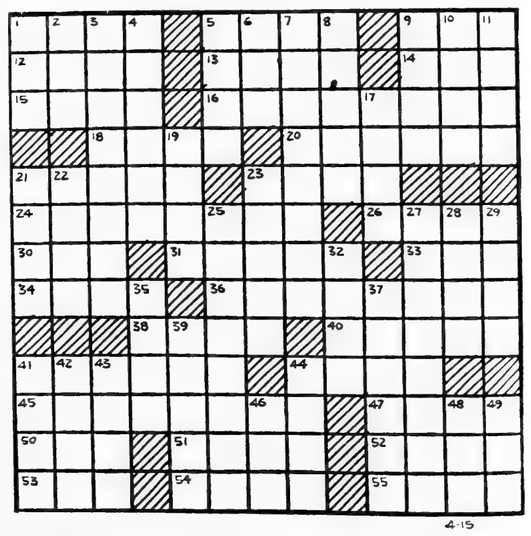
This is not simply a local tendency. National unemployment is estimated at 5,000,000. The number of veterans receiving 52-20 doubled between October, 1948 and January, 1949. At the time 52-20 is most needed, it is being allowed to die.

A bill (HR-3818) has been introduced into the House of Representatives to extend 52-20. Write to Representative Carl Durham (or your own Congressman) urging him to vote for HR 3818 to extend 52-20.

Fifty-two-twenty will be of great benefit to us if there is any delay between graduation and getting a job. Such delay will become more likely if the present employment continues. And remember that government spending for such things as 52-20 is the most humane way to minimize recession.

Bill Evans

PRAISING JOYNER



Editor:

It was with a great deal of personal pleasure that I read your editorial commending the efforts and diligence of Ed Joyner, which was printed on the first day you assumed control of the Daily Tar Heel. My intention had been to write this letter to Ed before he relinquished the reins, but his decision to retire a week ahead of th anticipated date of change made that impossible. Since that is true I am writing to you what I would have written to him.

During my career at Carolina no editor has impressed me as much, nor has exhibited such a spirit of public service as Ed, in my mind, has done. You know and I know that the campus at large does not know of the endless hours of toil, the burning of midnight oil, the loss of sleep and the general agony of keeping loose ends knit which go to make up our student newspaper. To live the life of the Daily Tar Heel editor and do a creditable job on the paper and in the classroom is indeed an accomplishment. To do that and an outstanding job in editorials and management, as Ed in my mind has done, is truly a mark of superiority. Ed would say that success this year has resulted from the work of an outstanding staff. That is like Ed. It did take them all to get the job done, but the job of keeping the wheels rolling has been Ed's, and in that he has been excellent.

As you launch into your year as editor, I feel that I could wish you no greater good fortune than that you will emulate the fine work done during the past year by your predecessor.

Jess Dedmond

HORIZONTAL
1. mail
5. Indian moccasins
9. intimidate
12. poker stake
13. plant of lily family
14. eggs
15. college official
16. toothed, as a saw
18. flaps
20. fire whistles
21. armistice
23. German philosopher
24. irrigating
26. auction
30. frost
31. welcome
33. soft metal
34. promontory
36. had recourse to
38. slender finials
40. musical pipes
41. affirm
44. insects
45. falls back
47. detail
50. Shoshonean Indian
51. halt
52. network
53. bird's craw
54. stitches
55. paradise

VERTICAL
1. cushion
2. single unit
3. acts of Congress
4. card combination
5. go by
6. malt drink
7. small bouquets
8. small, greenish finch
9. sheepfold
10. baking chamber
11. compact soft masses
17. branch of education
19. large ice mass
21. twofold
22. speed competition
23. leg joints
25. annoy
27. vouched for
28. prevaricated
29. finishes
32. lacerated
35. prophet
37. go to bed
39. bear down upon
41. lily
42. bristle
43. seethe
44. venomous serpents
46. drag behind
48. summer (Fr.)
49. adult males

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

P	O	S	S	E		S	A	M	O	A
S	E	R	I	N	S		E	P	O	D	E	S
E	R	A		A	S	S	E	S		E	R	I
R	I		S	P	E	A	K	E	R		I	N
F	L	O	P	S		U	S		E	W	E	S
	S	P	A		A	N		A	V	E	S
		I	R	R	I	T	A	T	E	S
	A	N	T	E		E	D		R	E	P
A	R	E	A		O	R		S	T	R	A	P
D	O		N	E	M	E	S	I	S		R	A
E	M	S		E	E	D	A	N		E	S	S
S	A	I	L	O	R		S	C	A	R	E	S
S	T	O	S	S		H	E	A	R	D

4-15

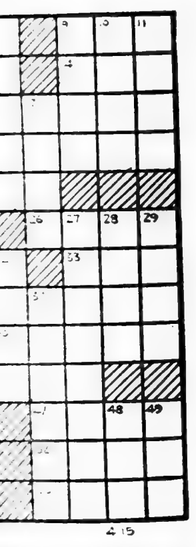
Average time of solution: 25 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

EDITOR

...18 to extend 52-20.

...wenty will be of ... to us if there is ...ween graduation ...a job. Such delays ... more likely if the ...ment continues. ... that government ... such things as 52- ... humane way to ...n.

Bill Evans



ISING JOYNER

... a great deal of ...re that I read ...commending the ...ence of Ed Joy- ... printed on the ... assumed control ... Tar Heel. My in- ... been to write this ... before he relin- ...ns, but his de- ... a week ahead of ... date of change ...possible. Since ... writing to you ... have written to

...reer at Carolina ...pressed me as ...xhibited such a ...service as Ed, ...has done. You ...w that the cam- ...es not know of ...rs of toil, the ...ght oil, the loss ...he general agony ...ose ends knit ...ake up our stu- ...r. To live the ... Tar Heel editor ...table job on the ...the classroom is ...accomplishment. To ...an outstanding job ...and management, ...d has done, is ...of superiority. Ed ...success this year ... the work of ... staff. That is ...make them all to ... but the job of ...ls rolling has ...and in that he has

...into your year ...I feel that I could ...better good for- ...that you will emu- ...k done during ...by your predeces-

Jess Dedmond

8 small, greenish finch
9 sheepfold
10 baking chamber
11 compact soft masses
17 branch of education
19 large ice mass
21 twofold
22 speed competition
23 leg joints
25 annoy
27 vouched for
28 prevaricated
29 finishes
32 lacerated
35 prophet
37 go to bed
39 bear down upon
41 lily
42 bristle
43 seethe
44 venomous serpents
46 drag behind
48 summer (Fr.)
49 adult males

Tar Heels Defeat Cavaliers, 6-5

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

The Four T Formula

THE FORMULA OF A CHAMPION IS A TOPIC that has created discussions of various degrees ever since the word was invented. The ingredients necessary and the way you put them together, can be found in almost as many forms as the recipe for deep dish apple pie. Yet, all boiled down, the elements required might well be expressed by the use of four T's—Timing, Temperament, Talent, and Time.

This formula has a simple proof to it that can be observed almost any afternoon on the local tennis courts in the person of one Vic Seixas, whose name should be followed by an outstanding list of page-filling achievements. Mr. Seixas is a champion who has all the T's right down to a T, though his game is more reality than theory, if you listen to what the men who know have to say.

The experts will tell you that Mr. Seixas has an excellent service, a tremendous volley and overhead game, but when it comes to the deep court strokes, the Tar Heel ace doesn't quit hit the ball the way the coaches say it should be hit. That boils down to the fact that Vic probably isn't as good as most of the formists he beats and the American League will be decided on the team having the most men left on base this year.

Away From Convention

SO, REGARDLESS OF WHAT some of the wags have to say, Mr. Vic goes on winning matches, and winning fans and friends, to boot. He simply blends the old four T's into a player that can play hookie from the school of convention, and beat all the poor fellows who are long on form and short on the winning ability that pays off on the scoreboard.

Seixas' timing is a marvel to behold. In tennis, timing as in any other sport, is the backbone of play, which leaves Mr. V with quite a fine spine. Too often for too many opponents, he arrives at the net just in time to catch all kinds of shots that are quickly dispatched to the land from which there is no return. This constant coming-and-going is timing which veteran Vic executes with clocklike precision.

That means you merely hit it where they aren't, and then scurry to the position where the opponent thinks you won't be. Heartless Vic Seixas is too often there—too often for most opponents. All of which brings one to Temperament, the second of the T's with which Mr. V is heartily endowed. Many champions aren't popular, but as usual our Victor is no stickler for the rules.

The proof of the pudding was exhibited when Seixas won the Billy Johnson Memorial Trophy last year for the pleayer who had contributed most to the game. Vic's sportsmanship was a major part of that contribution; sportsmanship which includes conduct on and off the court. There just isn't much room these days for part-time champions.

The Part of the Heart

IF YOU NEED ye olde fighting heart to have the proper temperament, then Seixas brilliantly scores again. Last spring, he proved that the mind could convince the body to do things it wasn't prepared to, when he rose from sickness to play in the Southern Conference tournament. Before he was through, most of his opponents wished that Vic had stayed in bed.

In the Talent department, Vic got his share when the original division was made, and since then, he has made the best use of his share. As for Time, Seixas has been at it since he was six, which proves that if you chase the tennis ball long enough, you can eventually become its master. That completes the circle of the T's which all put together, like mother, spells one big T for the tennis game of E. Victor Seixas.

Besides being quite a tennis player, Vic has become, like Charlie Justice and Harvie Ward, not only a nationally-known and ranking athletic figure, but to a great extent an ambassador of the University, who sells Carolina from the proverbial coast to coast and border to border. If the product is half as good as the salesman, the future of Tar Heel athletics is in the best of hands.

Plan for Dividing Conference Is Proposed at Lexington Meet

LEXINGTON, Va., April 14—(UP)—The Southern Conference Baseball Committee began a poll of Conference coaches today to find out how they feel about a proposal to split the loop into two divisions.

The idea would put Conference schools from Maryland Virginia and the District of Columbia into a northern division, and from the Carolinas in a southern division, according to R. A. Smith, chairman of the committee and athletic director of Washington and Lee University.

The proposal was aimed at equalizing schedules of all Conference teams, Smith said. It also would schedule an annual division-winner game between North and South to determine undisputed champion of the Conference.

Smith said home-and-home contests among teams in each division would be encouraged. However, he added, each division will have final authority on arranging schedules and determining its champion.

Any games played between teams of divisions during the regular season would not count as conference contests and such results would be ignored in determining each divisional winner, Smith said.

Low Prices? Yes!
Quality Goods? Yes!
Delivery? Yes!
It's—
FOWLER'S FOOD STORE

Cassell To Pitch Against Terps This Afternoon

By Buddy Vaden

Coach Bunn Hearn's Tar Heels, playing the part of ungrateful hosts, spoiled what started out to be a perfectly beautiful afternoon for the Cavaliers of Virginia yesterday when they sat back and let the Virginians take a four-run lead before scoring three times in the sixth inning and once again in the eighth to edge the visitors, 6-5.

There will be no letup for the hustling Carolinians this afternoon, for at 4 o'clock today they will meet the University of Maryland in their third Conference ball game of the year at Emerson Stadium. Curve-balling Dean Cassell has been given the starting pitcher's role.

Probably Can't Read

The Virginians, who apparently hadn'd read about the hot Tar Heel club lately, grabbed a four-run lead at the expense of Tar Heel pitcher Andy Tranavitch before allowing the locals a chance to strut their stuff. But after four monotonous innings in which the Cavaliers scored one run each, Ed Lamb started a fire that singed the power of Jack Leachman, the Virginia Everything Baller.

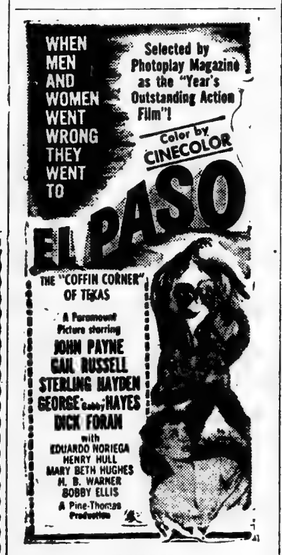
In the Big Sixth (Carolina's half), Lamb opened up on Leachman with a double to right. Catcher Sid Varney popped out to right. John Senter followed with a bounding ball to shortstop Jim Patton who tossed to third to put Lamb out. With Senter on first, Jim Ballou collected one of two hits for the afternoon on a dribbling single that baffled the Cavalier infield.

Ray Blair, who came in for Tranavitch after four and one-third innings, walked to load the bases. Leachman had apparently lost all he ever had on the ball by this time and walked Zero Allen to force in Senter. Stan Goodman followed with a timely single, scoring Ballou and Blair. Rip Ryan, who had a bad day all around, ended the inning with a strikeout. It was after Leachman walked Allen that he was yanked from the game in favor of Neal Wade.

Tie Ball—Try Again!

Virginia, still convinced that they were destined to win the ball game, evened things up with a run in the eighth. Jack Forst, Virginia second baseman, started the ball rolling with a free pass from Blair. Bud Winn sacrificed him to second and he scored one batter later when Tom Phillips singled to right.

But the Tar Heels were not to be denied. In their half of the same inning Senter scored the winning run after he walked and was sent to second on Ballou's sacrifice. Blair got on on a fielder's choice and a few seconds later Wade blew the ball game with a wild pitch, allowing Senter to score.



Goodman Homers

In the first four innings Virginia coasted along with four runs and five hits off Tranavitch. The Tar Heels scored once in the fifth on a home run by Stan Goodman that had left fielder Dave Carr doing everything but cartwheels trying to stop the ball.

The locals broke into the scoring column in the fourth inning when Ed Lamb doubled (his sixth of the season) and wheeled across the plate on Senter's single down the third base line.

Lamb maintained his steady hitting streak with two hits—both doubles—for the day. Left Fielder Ballou had a perfect day with two hits in two trips to the plate.

Blair was credited with the win. Leachman, who hasn't lost a ball game to date, was saved from doom when Wade came into the

TODAY
CAROLINA

Netmen To Meet Cincinnati U. On Varsity Courts Here Today

Victory number nine will be the goal of the Carolina tennis squad this afternoon when they take to the varsity courts to do battle with the visiting netmen from the University of Cincinnati.

So far in this still young season, the Tar Heel racquet wielders have breezed through all of their opposition to hang up an impressive undefeated slate. In fact, the only foe that has given the netters any trouble has been the weather. Ole Jupe Pluvius has shut out Coach John Kenfield's charges three times already this spring by emerging triumphant in the scheduled matches against Harvard, Wake Forest and Albright.

Individually, the Tar Heels have a lot to offer any prospective opponent. The leading light of the well-balanced Carolina six-man squad is the captain, Vic Seixas, the seventh ranking amateur netter in the country. In leading his team to its string of victories, Seixas has remained unvanquished in all of his matches, despite the fact that he has been plagued with a weak ankle that has hampered his play to a certain extent.

His ankle has been slowly getting stronger with time and the Carolina ace is hoping he can be at his peak for his ultimate goal, the National Inter-Collegiate singles championship. Twice before Seixas has competed in this tourney and last year reached the finals before being beaten. He thinks that this is his year.

Number two man, Clark Taylor, has also won his eight matches and these two pace-setters plus Charley Rice, Stan Gruner, Laslie Dameron and Duke Wilder make a formidable array of talent for any college team.

Following the Cincinnati clash today the localswill have five more home matches before they embark at the end of the month on an extensive tour north

Today's Sports

Baseball

Varsity baseball—Carolina vs Maryland at Emerson Stadium at 4 o'clock. Passbooks required for admittance.

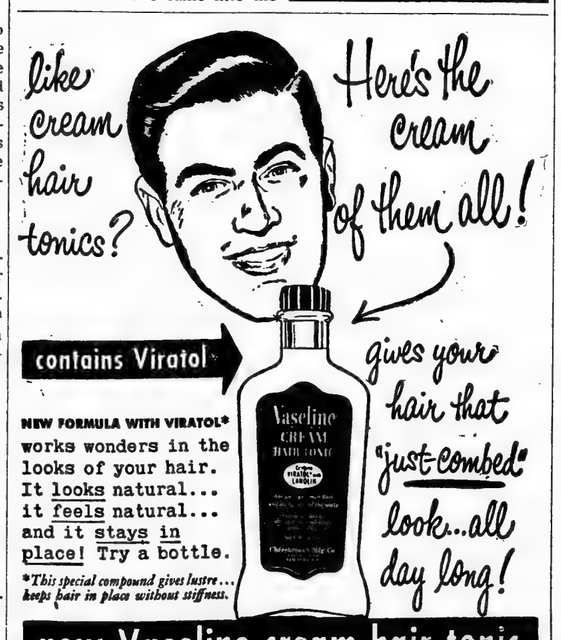
Tennis

Varsity tennis—Carolina vs Cincinnati on Varsity Courts at 3 o'clock.

Golf

Varsity golf—Carolina vs South Carolina at Hope Valley Country Club at 1:45 o'clock.

It Didn't Rain!!!



Virginia	ab	r	h	po	a	e
Forst 2b	3	1	1	2	1	0
Winn, cf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Huff, 3b	4	2	0	4	1	0
Phillips, rf	4	0	3	3	0	0
Carr, lf	4	1	2	0	0	0
Pandak, lf	1	0	0	0	0	0
Berner, c	4	0	0	8	0	0
Elliott, 1b	5	0	1	6	1	0
Patton, ss	4	0	1	1	1	1
Leachman, p	3	1	0	0	1	0
Wade, p	1	0	0	0	1	0
Totals	37	5	8	24	6	1

Carolina	ab	r	h	po	a	e
Allen, cf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Goodman, 2b	4	1	2	3	3	0
Ryan, ss	3	0	0	4	3	2
Hobbs, 1b	4	0	0	12	0	0
Lamb, rf	4	1	2	1	0	0
Varney, c	4	0	2	6	0	0
Senter, 3b	3	2	1	0	4	1
Ballou, lf	2	1	2	1	0	0
Tranavitch, p	2	0	1	0	0	0
Blair, p	1	1	0	0	0	0
Totals	31	6	8	27	10	3

Virginia	1 1 1	1 0 0	0 1 0—5
Carolina	0 0 0	1 1 3	0 1 x—6

Runs batted in: Carr, Berner, Senter, Allen, Goodman (2), Phillips. Two basehits: Phillips, Lamb (2). Three base hits: Carr. Home run: Goodman. Sacrifices: Winn, Ballou. Left on bases: Virginia 12, Carolina 8. Base on balls: Off Tranavitch 5, Leachman 5, Blair 1, Wade 1. Struck out by Tranavitch 4, Leachman 6, Wade 2, Blair 2. Hits off Tranavitch 6 in 4 1-3, Leachman 7 in 5 2-3, Blair 2 in 3 2-3, Wade 1 in 2 1-3. Wild pitch: Wade. Passed ball: Varney. Winning pitcher: Blair. Losing pitcher: Wade. Umpires: Murray and Weaver. Time 2:38.

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY
School Of Law
New York
Three-Year Day Course
Four-Year Evening Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
Member of Assn. of American Law Schools
Matriculants must be College graduates and present full transcript of College record
Classes Begin Sept. 26, 1949
For Further Information Address
Registrar
Fordham Univ. School of Law
302 Broadway,
New York 7, N. Y.

For Your Supply Of VASELINE CREAM
HAIR TONIC
In Chapel Hill
IT'S
SLOAN'S DRUG STORE

State Linksmen Down Tar Heels; Meet South Carolina Here Today

RALEIGH, April 14—North Carolina's previously unbeaten golf team suffered its first defeat of the season here this afternoon, dropping a 17-10 decision to the linksmen of State College.

The Tar Heels who had won five straight matches before today couldn't seem to master the trickery of the rocky Raleigh Country Club course and fell before the balanced shooting of the strong Wolfpack six.

Carolina's golfers will seek their first Conference win of the season this afternoon when they tee off against South Carolina, beginning at 1:45 at the Hope Valley Country Club.

The usual Tar Heel six of Harvie Ward, Bob Cox, Roy McKenzie, Jack Brantley, Oliver Sapp, and Frank Brooks will handle the Carolina clubs.

South Carolina holds an early season win over State, which defeated the locals yesterday.

Harvie Ward, Tar Heel No. 1 man, won his sixth match of the year and medalist honors to boot when he defated State's Bobbie Brackett in the feature match of the day. Ward had a 69, which was two-under-par for the course and the Tarboro lad's third consecutive sub-par green.

The Tar Heels didn't win but one other match, and that was in the second foursome. No. 4 man Jack Brantley turned back State's Turnbull, 2-1. Brantley had a 71 for the day while his partner, Roy McKenzie carded a 77 while being shutout.

The rest of the Tar Heel points came in the best ball department in the first and second foursomes.

The Carolina No. 5 and 6 men, Frank Brooks and Oliver Sapp, who had ben pourin gthe points on the Tar Heel scoreboard in earlier matches, were whitewashed for the day. Both had 78's. It was Sapp's first defeat. He had previously scored five straight shutouts of his own.

The summary:

Ward (C) defeated Brackett, 3-0. Harris (S) defeated Cox, 3-0. Best ball to Carolina, 2½-½.

Treisinger (S) defeated McKenzie, 3-0. Brantley (C) defeated Turnbull, 2-1. Best ball to Carolina 2½-½.

Saenz (S) defeated Sapp, 3-0. Wood (S) defeated Brooks, 3-0. Best ball to State, 3-0.

Blue Devils Down Lacrossemen In Practice Tilt

DURHAM, April 14—(UP)—A smooth working Duke lacrosse team maintained its perfect record against Carolina by defeating the visiting stickmen here today 12-1.

The visitors averted a shutout in the final 15 seconds when Jesse Greenbaum poked the pellet into the net f otrhe losers. Hanson was the big man in the Blue Devil attack, but he received plenty of help from the entire Duke squad as the home team posted another win over the hapless Tar Heels.

Coach Bill Darden stated after the game that the Blue Devils today proved to be the strongest oppostition the enexperienced Tar Heels have faced thus far this season.

Coach Darden's stickmen, the first lacrosse team to represent Carolina since 1941, are still seeking their first victory, having lost several games to Duke and Deleware, and one close, 2-1 tilt to the Norfolk division of William and Mary.

Mural Roundup

DEADLINE EXTENDED

The Intramural department announced yesterday that the deadline for qualifying for all field events except the broad jump, and the 100 and 60-yard dashes has been extended through Monday, with the semi-finals due to be run off Wednesday and the finals Thursday.

SOFTBALL RESULTS

13	Beachcombers	Town 2	8
5	Chi Phi 1	Sig Nu 2	4
10	Town 1	Bombers	8
7	Steele	Hot Rods	2
19	Phi Delt 2	Phi Kap Sig 2	4
12	ATO 1	Sig Nu 1	5
10	Emerson Misfits	Meds 2	0
15	Med School 1	Stan Steams	5
9	Pi Lamb 1	Lamb Chi 1	8

STOP
"Arrested for Speeding"
EVERYONE SEEMS IN A HURRY TO GET TO THE
UNIVERSITY RESTAURANT

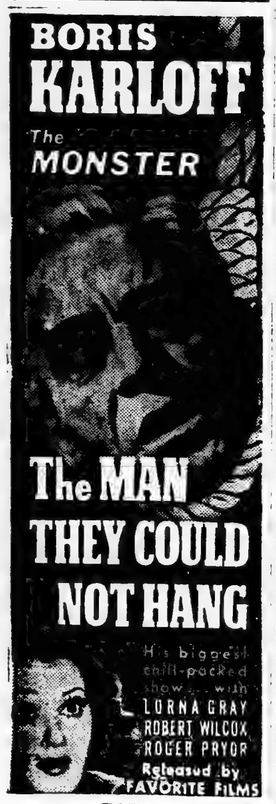
It serves her right!

MARY JANE gives the telephone in her house a real work-out.

But we're not worried a bit. We know Mary Jane's telephone is going to keep right on delivering good service year after year. Because the Bell System puts a lot of time, thought, and testing into making telephone equipment as rugged and trouble-free as possible.

Tests are constantly under way at the Bell Telephone Laboratories. There, for example, new types of telephone instruments are put through a school of hard knocks. Dials and other parts are given strength and wear tests. Even the bottom of the telephone set has been designed and checked to make sure that it will not scratch or stain furniture.

Such tests—on little things as well as on big things—help give you the world's best telephone service at the lowest possible cost.



BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Colonial House System
THICK CHOCOLATE MILK SHAKES
"Best Around"
20c
Open:
Mon.-Thurs.—11 AM-12 PM
Fri. & Sat.—11 AM-2 AM

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

Rare Opportunity!
STUDY . . . TRAVEL IN SPAIN
Castilian Group . Andalusian Group
Basque-Catalan Group
65 DAYS $975.00
Departures June 29 to July 2
Sponsored by:
UNIVERSITY of MADRID
For Descriptive Folder Write:
Spanish Student Tours
500 Fifth Ave., N. Y. 18, N. Y.

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

TODAY
VILLAGE

Greene, Andrews Give Hill Recital

By Wink Locklair

Sam Greene, baritone, who recently sang here in "Apple Tree Farm," and Harold Andrews, pianist, who has just been elected President of the Alpha Rho chapter of Phi Mu Alpha music fraternity, gave a joint recital in Hill Hall Wednesday evening.

Mr. Andrews played the French Suite No 4 in G Major by Bach; Beethoven's B Flat Major Sonata, Les Collines D'Anacapri by Debussy, and two Rachmanioff Preludes. Mr. Greene sang German Lieder by Schumann, Brahms and Wolf; operatic arias by Mozart and Wagner, and a group of songs by Dr. Jan P. Schinhan, who teaches piano, organ and theory in the University.

Although Mr. Andrews should be admired for tackling some difficult music, he did not always master the things he played. In the Bach suite there was a tendancy to hurry and to slight some of the trickier passages, faults which caused him serious trouble during the final "Gigue". And there was very little contrast in his playing of the four-movement Beethoven Sonata.

Composed before 1800, but not published until 1802, this music, particularly in the second movement, requires careful shading and timing to remain interesting. Mr. Andrews was not able to do this. However his final group of short pieces was given livelier treatment, specially the C Minor Prelude of Rachmanioff, which the pianist played with excellent results.

Sam Greene chose for his first group of songs the Wanderlied and Mondnacht of Schumann, two songs by Brahms and one by Wolf. Mondnacht (Moonlight), the fifth song in the composer's Liederkreis cycle, is a dramatic, poignant composition, a good example of Schumann at his best.

Perhaps the highlight of the evening was the Schinhan songs—one, in particular, called Rain ("All day long dat rain come down, Lord what a lonesome sound"). With the composer at the piano, Mr. Greene sang four of his songs, songs which are mysterious in quality, songs which are enhanced by beautiful parts for the piano.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

1:00—GOOD FRIDAY Service. University Methodist Church.
7:00—HILLEL Foundation. Roland Parker 1, 2, GM.
9:30—RENDEZVOUS Room Radio Show. Rendezvous room, GM.

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. FOR A small charge we can relieve you of all details connected with renting your property. Our service includes selection of desirable tenants, supervision of upkeep and collection of rents. Consult us today regarding this service. Service Insurance & Realty Co., Henderson Street. Phone F-419. (ch 1x2)

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

ANYONE KNOWING THE WHEREabouts of Mrs. Hal (Elizabeth) Fredrickson please write Miss Mary J. Ross, 6000 N. Bay Road, Miami, Florida. Urgent. (2-c2388-1)

FOR RENT 6A

FURNISHED THREE ROOM COTtage about 1½ miles from city limits. Cottage will be vacant during both summer terms. Phone 3726. (2-c2387-1)

TWO ROOM GARAGE APARTMENT suitable for couple with baby; also one room stone cabin for couple or students—both with cooking facilities. Telephone 5231. (3-2386-1)

FOR SALE 6B

ALUMINUM COVERED HOUSE trailer with porch attached. Recently repainted inside. May remain on lot. Must sell or trade immediately. No. 28 Univ. Trailer Court. (2-2391-1)

FOR SALE BLACK COCKER SPANiel—age 12 weeks — champion stock. P.O. Box 904 or 181 Jackson Circle between 2 - 6 p. m. (1-2390-1)

WANTED 2A

FURNISHED HOUSE OR APARTment for summer months or yearly. Responsible settled couple. No children or pets. Two bedrooms (minimum). Preferably — not necessarily—within walking distance of town. Call Mrs. McKimmon between 9:00 & 5 at F-425; after 7:00 p.m. and weekends at 5471. (2-2392-2)

Sunday Delivery Service
New York Times and New York Herald Tribune. Serving Chapel Hill and Campus.
Write Nat White or Lee Fuller
P.O. Box 655, Chapel Hill

BEER DELIVERED
Ice Cold
For Your Convenience
In Bottles And Kegs

K&M BEER
Delivery Service
PHONE
3536

DURING A HARD-HITTING slugfest for the "fleaweight" crown at Annapolis, Md., two future admirals take time out as the referee checks a sudden burst of tears ensuing from one of the gladiators. The youngsters, Billy Shields (left), 4, and his opponent, Billy Ogden, 5, are the sons of servicemen stationed at the Naval Academy. (International)

Instructors In Boston Carrying Case To Pope

NEWTON, Mass., April 14—(UP)—Three instructors at Boston College who were fired after they accused the President of the Jesuit institution of heresy said today they had carried their case to Pope Pius XII.

The trio, involved in a doctrinal dispute, said they had received "most cordial and paternal encouragement" from the Vatican. Meantime Rev. William L. Keleher, president of the school charged them with spreading "ideas leading to bigotry."

The instructors, all residents of nearby Cambridge, were Assistant Philosophy Professor Fahkri Maluf, Philosophy Instructor James Walsh and Assistant Physics Professors Ch[illegible]. They said they objected to the fact that Boston Co[illegible] are taught "simplistic and ex[illegible]plicitly" that:

1. There may be salvation outside the Catholic Church.
2. A man may be saved although he does not hold that the Roman Catholic Church is supreme among churches.
3. A man may be saved without submission to the Pope.

"We assure Father Keleher," they said, "that the world is going to hear some thunder from the chair of Peter very soon to destroy the heresy of liberalism the way Pope Pius X destroyed the heresy of modernism."

Father Keleher said the trio had been cautioned to stay within their own fields and leave theology to those who were adequately prepared.

"They continued to speak in class and out of class on matters contrary to the traditional teachings of the Catholic Church, ideas leading to bigotry and intolerance," he said.

Why Wear It If it does Not Fit?
JERRY the Tailor
Over
Lee's 5 &10c Store

The ORIENTAL
116 E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.
CHINESE-AMERICAN RESTAURANT

SPECIAL RATES ON PARTIES
SEE US FOR YOUR NEXT PARTY
REASONABLE RATES — AVAILABLE ANYTIME
DANCING — SANDWICHES — BEER
MERCURY CLUB
Your Only Night Spot Operated By Students For Students
3 Miles Out On Greensboro Highway

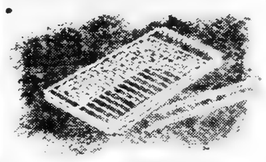
Dr. Hodge To Lead Two NC Concerts

Dr. Leslie Hodge, conductor of the Guadalajara Symphony Orchestra, will arrive in Chapel Hill this week to begin rehearsals with the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra.

Dr. Hodge has been invited by Dr. Benjamin Swalin, North Carolina Symphony director to lead the Orchestra in two concerts during the current season. He will appear with the State Symphony in Greensboro on April 18 and Fayetteville on April 22.

Dr. Hodge's appearance with the State Symphony is part of a reciprocal good will gesture to further cultural understanding and harmony between the United States and Mexico. Last November and December Dr. Swalin appeared as guest conductor with the Guadalajara Symphony. He has also been invited to conduct the Symphony of Mexico City in August.

-Craig-



(Continued from page 1)

absolute power corrupts absolutely."

Dr. Craig said that if Americans wish to combat Communism, Fascism and the other isms and continue to enjoy the blessings of liberty, "we must give our political institutions constant attention and subject them to constant reformation. We have been much to blame. We have been strong for liberty and very indifferent about law. We have so forgotten and neglected the political principles of our forefathers that we are now in the midst of an deological crisis of great urgency."

ASTOR THEATRE
DURHAM, N. C.
Southern Premiere

SUNDAY thru THUR.
April 17th—21st.

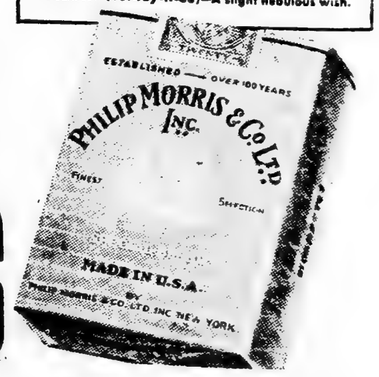
Career-minded girls from 200 colleges enrolled last year for Gibbs secretarial training. Write College Course Dean for placement report booklet "Gibbs Girls at Work."
KATHARINE GIBBS
230 Park Ave., NEW YORK 17
51 E. Superior St., CHICAGO 11

SINCE IT COSTS NO MORE
WHY TAKE LESS THAN THE BEST?
TAKE BALLANTINES' DRAFT
DELIVERED ICE COLD FOR YOUR PARTY
½ KEG $19. — (3 or more) $20. — (1 at a time)
¼ KEG $10. — (3 or more) $11. — (1 at a time)
Call F-2736
Ramshead Rathskeller's
Draft Delivery Service

LAST CALL!
Easter Gifts
Easter Candies
Easter Chocolate Bunnies
Danziger's Candy Kitchen

CAMPUS CAPERS LAFF 'N LEARN
JOHNNY LIFTS LARRY TO OLYMPIAN DELIGHTS WITH A CINEMATIC HOURI!

Use These Words With Tongue In Cheek!
(Plan to use ONE every week!)



CHIAROSCURO (kee-ar-o-skoo-ro) — A pattern of light and shade.
CIGARETTE HANGOVER—(to be whispered, never pronounced). That stale, smoked-out taste, that tight, dry feeling in your throat due to smoking.
CINEMATIC HOURI (oo-ree) — In short, a beauteous film star.
HETAIRA (het-air-ah) — A play-girl (ancient Greek type).
INCANDESCENT (in-can-dess-ent) — Glowing.
PEDICULOUS (ped-ik-u-lus) — Bug-infested.
PYTHIAN (pith-e-an) — Devoted; from Pythias, that famous friend.
SARTORIAL (sar-tor-yal) — As of a snappy set of threads.
TRINITROTOLUOL (try-ni-tro-tol-u-ol). T.N.T.
VELLEITY (vel-lay-it-ee)—A slight nebulous wish.

Here's the Moral to Complete Our Tale —

Behind our playful plot, our intentions are serious: we want you to discover for yourself the welcome DIFFERENCE in cigarettes that PHILIP MORRIS can bring you.

Established PROOF of that difference is too extensive to be detailed here—but pre-medical and chemistry students, who will be especially interested can get it in published form FREE, by writing our Research Dept., Philip Morris Co., 119 Fifth Ave., N. Y.

CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS

AL CAPP L'il Abner

Steve Canyon MILTON CANIFF

Going on a Picnic — We have all the FIXIN'S — at HARRY'S

EDITORIALS

Praise Pledge Heads
Meet Campus Leaders
Fax About Wax

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Clear and mild.

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SATURDAY, APRIL 16, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 144

Fine Arts Center Seeks Applicants

Registration for the Roanoke Island Fine Arts Center in Manteo this summer is now open, it was announced today by Mrs. Darice Parker, director of the Center.

Music, drama, and painting will be taught for the second summer session starting July 11 and ending August 20. Enrollment may be made from now on at Swain Hall at Chapel Hill.

Mrs. Parker, a member of the staff of the Extension Division of the University, has gathered an exceptional staff for this summer. The eminent artist illustrator, William Meade Prince, will be in charge of the courses in painting. The courses in music are to be offered by Paul Young of the University faculty, director of both the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs here. Instruction in speech and play directing will be offered by Miss Elizabeth Welch of the Salem College faculty.

The Center, which operated very successfully last summer, is opening again by request and is expanding its program, too, Mrs. Parker said. Courses may be taken for regular credit and applied on a degree. Those eligible for admission are graduates of a standard high school, college students, teachers desiring certificate credit, and mature students not working for credit.

The Fine Arts Center is the only school of its kind in the South. Combining studies, beach, and "The Lost Colony" five nights weekly, " a summer on historic Roanoke Island is the ideal way to vacation and go to school at the same time," the announcement said. The Center is approved by the Veteran's Administration.

Debating Squads To Enter Finals At Meeting Here

Twelve high school debating teams will meet here April 28-29 in the finals of the 37th Annual North Carolina Debating Contest.

The six affirmative and six negative teams, which will debate the query, "Resolved That The United Nations Now Be Revised Into A Federal World Government," will represent the winners in the district contests that have been held throughout the state during the past month.

The debaters will compete for the Aycock Memorial Cup which has been awarded each year since 1912 by the inter-collegiate debaters. The cup becomes a permanent possession of the high school whose team wins the state contest on two consecutive years.

The first session of the finals will be held in New East and New West at 7 P. M., April 28, and the second eliminations will be conducted in the same buildings the following morning at 10. The two remaining teams will meet in Gerrard Hall at 3 P. M. the same day and the winner will be selected.

During their stay in Chapel Hill, the debaters will be entertained by the YMCA, the Debate Council, the Di Senate and the Phi Assembly.

Ark-Seeker Gets Hot Under Collar

GREENSBORO, April 15 — (UP) — The Greensboro bible teacher who plans an expedition this summer to hunt for Noah's Ark in Turkey said today that State Department men who pooh-poohed his idea were all wet.

Dr. Aaron J. Smith's proposed expedition to Mt. Ararat, in eastern Turkey, has been under fire for a week—first by radio Moscow, who said it was really a front for an American attempt to spy beyond the Iron Curtain, and then by the State Department.

State Department authorities in Washington said they knew nothing of Smith's expedition, and denied the Russian charges. And the Department's near eastern office assistant chief, Dr. Edwin C. Wright, said the idea that the ark was on Mt. Ararat was "nonsense."

To that, Dr. Smith replied:

"He doesn't know the evidence we have. There are very few of us that really have the facts."

"We wouldn't be chasing after anything we didn't believe was there," he aded. "We wouldn't spend time and money on anything we didn't believe existed."

Paratrooper Makes Golden Gate Jump

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—(UP)—Stunt-man Robert L. Niles, 22, an ex-paratrooper, made good an old vow today by successfully parachuting off the Golden Gate Bridge.

He was the first person ever to parachute successfully from the 230-foot-high span into the treacherous tides and cross-currents of the Golden Gate channel.

Safe-Batterer Was Battering in Vain

DANVILLE, Va., April 15—(UP)—The crook who exhausted himself battering and mauling the safe at the Danville curb market gave up without reaching the money inside. Police said today he might like to know it wasn't locked.

NAACP Will Aid Negro Defendant

The Local Chapter of the NAACP met in O'Bryant's Chapel Thursday night and called for funds to aid Allen Reid, Negro, who is on trial in Wilson County for attempted rape.

Members were designated to canvass organizations in town in order to increase the amount of money raised in answer to the requests from the North Carolina Conference of NAACP chapters.

Miss Lucille Marrow sang the Negro spiritual, "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord."

The group voted to change the date of meetings to the Thursday after the second Sunday of each month.

Rev. J. Jones reported on the progress made by his committee which is to work with the NAACP-sponsored night school.

Mrs. R. Adams of the League of Women Voters, read the League's program of improvements needed in Chapel Hill and urged each member to register this Saturday and vote May 3.

Snowy Weather Whips Midwest

CHICAGO, April 15.—(UP)—Snow, sleet, rain and cold winds plagued Easter-shopping midwesterners today, but the rest of the country enjoyed pleasant weather.

Six inches of snow in Mason City, Ia., contrasted with a near-record high temperature of 83 degrees in Philadelphia.

Below freezing temperatures and snow blew down from the Rocky Mountains Wednesday. Twenty-four hours later they centered over northern Missouri.

Today the storm extended from extreme eastern Iowa to northwestern Ohio. Its center had moved to a point northeast of Detroit. However, forecaster I. W. Brunk of the weather bureau here said the snow probably would not go much farther east and the area could look for a generally clear and milder Easter.

Snow fell over eastern Iowa and the northern two-thirds of Illinois, southern and eastern Wisconsin, north and central Indiana, lower Michigan and northwestern Ohio, Brunk said.

WPTF to Play Local Program On Air Tonight

Cancer Recording Will Be Featured

The University Radio Department in conjunction with the American Cancer Fund Drive will present transcribed reading from John Gunther's novel "Death Be Not Proud" over Radio Station WPTF at 8 o'clock tonight, it was announced yesterday.

Commenting on tonight's program, Graham Poyner, assistant general manager and program director of WPTF, wrote the radio department that he thought the readings comprised one of the best productions ever to come out of Chapel Hill.

John Ehle, graduate student from Asheville, will play the lead role as narrator of "Death Be Not Proud." Gunther wrote the book about his son John Gunther, Jr., who died of a brain tumor. His son will be played by George Grizzard of Washington, D. C.

The program was arranged by John Clayton, senior from Washington, D. C., and produced by Miss Jane Grills of the Radio staff. The cast will include Hurley Parrish of Durham, Emmett Lookadoo of Shelby, Julian Kelly of Durham, and Professor Early Wynn, director of the Communication Center.

Transcriptions of reading from Gunther's novel by the Radio department have been mailed to various radio stations throughout the state in support of the Cancer Fund Drive.

Tear White House Down Says Solon

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(UP)—The White House should be torn down entirely and replaced by an exact duplicate built of materials that will last, Chairman Clarence Cannon (D.-Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee said today.

He indicated he is leading a group of House members which will attempt to wipe out a pending appropriation of $5,400,000 to renovate the present delapidated and useless structure.

But, he said, the wishes of President Truman would be binding. He wouldn't say whether Mr. Truman has expressed himself anew on the subject. The last word from the president recognized a new building would be cheaper but he advocated a rebuilding, in order to preserve the old White House as a shrine.

"This is one of the most important buildings in the world," Cannon said. "It should be built to last 500 years or more, and it cannot be done with what is remaining there now.

"The present plan is to preserve the sandstone shell of the present White House.

DURING ONE OF THE SEVERAL disturbances that marked a demonstration against two faculty members by students of the City College of New York, a girl student falls to the pavement and is helped to her feet by a fellow school striker. Police, who twice clashed with the striking collegians, stand by to keep order. The students have demanded suspension and open trial of two professors whom they charge with anti-Semitism and racial discrimination at the institution.

Winston-Salem Ready For Moravian Services

WINSTON-SALEM, April 15—(UP)—A brilliant, 177-year-old religious service will be re-lived again here tomorrow with the opening of the traditional Moravian Easter service.

Thousands of visitors poured into the city today and more were expected as lent ended tomorrow, to be on hand for the beginning of the ancient rites at 8 p.m. Saturday. City officials estimated that at least 40,000 of the faithful—many of them non-Moravians—were planning to be here for the beautiful, simple demonstration of faith.

The Moravian Easter service originated in Saxony, in 1732, when a group of Moravian youths walked to their burial ground on Easter Sunday. There, among the tombstones of their dead, they declared their belief that their loved ones would rise again as Christ rose.

The earliest settlers in this area came from Saxony, and with them came the Moravian faith and the Easter Ceremony. It has been held here every year since then, rain or shine, as the little Moravian settlement grew into a major industrial city.

Ten Moravian churches now are dotted through Winston-Salem. Several of them have brass bands, which will play a part in the service.

Saturday night's service, opening the Easter rites, will be at the Home Moravian church. A 100-voice chorus will sing the cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ."

Then in the gray light of predawn Sunday, 12 bands from the churches will march through the streets, playing and calling the faithful to worship. By 6 a.m., throngs will have packed the historic old square before the Home Moravian church.

Seventy-five-year-old Bishop Kenneth J. Pfohl will appear then, to intone the traditional exult:

"The Lord is risen!"

"He is risen indeed," the cry will come back from thousands of throats.

Afterward comes the first portion of the Easter morning litany, before the congregation moves up Church street to God's Acre, the Moravian cemetery.

Moravian graves are all exactly alike, signifying the equality in death of the faithful. Amid the symmetry of the tombs, Bishop Pfohl will complete the rites, with a 200-voice choir chanting the responses.

The city has prepared for the service with special signs directing visitors along the route of the procession. All motor traffic will be prohibited after dark tomorrow along the streets of the route, and special bus schedules are maintained to bring out-of-town worshipers to the services.

Cautious weather forecasts were for a clear Easter Sunday.

Clay Frees Wife Who Shot Mate In German Fight

FRANKFURT, April 15. — (UP) — Mrs. Wilma Ybarbo, 23, Massachusetts housewife who killed her husband during a drinking bout in their billet last fall, won her freedom today and sent word to her son Jimmy that "I'm coming home."

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American Military Governor ordered her immediate release because, he said, "the remorse of her conscience will prove punishment enough."

Mrs. Ybarbo was serving a five-year sentence for fatally shooting Sgt. John Ybarbo of Goliad, Tex. Given a 20-year sentence during the Christmas holidays last year, her term was reduced by an Army review board to five years.

Clay ordered the Malden, Mass., brunette returned to the United States by the first available transportation and there set free. She was expected to be flown to Massachusetts immediately to rejoin her son, Jimmy, 6, who went back after her trial to live with relatives there.

"I am sure that the remorse of her conscience will prove punishment enough," Clay said in a statement announcing that she would be released.

Italy Invites Square Dancers To Music Festival in Venice

Bascom Lamar Lunsford, Director of the Carolina Folk Festival, has been invited to take a group of square dancers to represent the United States at the First International Folk Music Festival to be held at Venice, Italy, September 7-11.

The invitation was extended by Dr. Duncan Emrich, Chief of the Folklore Section of the Library of Congress, who is a member of the executive council of the International Folk Music Council.

"Since the tradition of folk dancing and folk music has been naturally, rather than self-consciously, preserved in the Great Smokies region," said Dr. Emrich, "and since you have devoted a lifetime to the study of the authentic folk materials of the region—and are familiar as well with developments in the United States as a whole, it occurs to me, that it would be most appropriate if you and a group of square dancers could represent North Carolina and the United States at the Festival."

If it is not possible to take his group from the Smoky Mountain section, Mr. Lunsford was asked to locate and lead some group in Texas or Colorado.

The Italian government will pay the transportation within Italy itself and provide hospitality for the group, but expenses to and from Italy must be provided by the participating group or its sponsors. Since no funds have been set aside by the State Department for this type of gathering, nor are available through the Library of Congress, it will be necessary for Lunsford and his group to raise the necessary funds through some sponsoring organization.

"I have high hopes of going, and my participants are anxious to go also," Lunsford stated. "I have contacted Governor Scott and our two Senators, and they are well-wishers of the venture.

(See LUNSFORD page 4)

Moose Given Scholarship By Rotarians

Oxford University Chosen by Student

Roy C. Moose, senior from Mooresville, has been awarded a Rotary International Fellowship for one year of study at Oxford University in England.

He was one of 44 students to receive the Rotary scholarship which is awarded through world competition of men and women between the ages of 20 to 28 and who have completed four years of college work. Winners are permitted to select their places for study "anywhere in the world" with all expenses paid by Rotary International.

Moose, who is 26, will be graduated with a degree in English next June. He is editor of the Carolina Quarterly, a Phi Beta Kappa, past president of the University Veterans Association, former member of the student legislature and student audit board, and was a staff member of the Daily Tar Heel for two years. He served as a first lieutenant with the Air Force intelligence in Europe during the war.

Moose said yesterday that he expects to leave in August to continue his study in England.

Bradbury Plans To Give Address At Science Meet

Dr. O. C. Bradbury, professor of biology in Wake Forest College, will give the principal address at the annual meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Sciences to be held at the University of North Carolina May 6-7.

Dr. Bradbury has served as president of this organization during the last year. His topic will be "Some Ecological Phases of a Prairie Region with Special Reference to Insect Ecology," and will constitute a report on research conducted by him at Wake Forest.

The program will consist of a general session Friday afternoon when papers of general interest will be presented.

The annual banquet will be held Friday night to be followed by Dr. Bradbury's address.

On Saturday the separate divisions of the natural sciences will meet concurrently to hear reports of research by North Carolina scientists conducted in the fields of biochemistry, botany, geology, mathematics, psychology, wildlife, and zoology.

An annual feature of the Academy has been the awarding of prizes to the best of several projects carried out by North Carolina high schools. These projects consist of exhibits of biological materials for classroom use and of essays in ornithology and forestry.

Fighter Aircraft Plunges to Earth

BARKHAMSTED, Conn., April 15. — (UP) — A single engine fighter-type plane crashed and exploded in a thickly wooded section today burying parts of the wreckage in a hole 15 feet deep and scattering parts of the pilot's body over a wide area.

State police said the plane appeared to be of the type used by the National Guard, but they were unable to find out where it had taken off from or identify the pilot. Only small fragments of the body were found.

State Police Sergeant William A. Tripp said the plane apparently nose-dived into the ground and exploded. He said trees 10 inches in diameter were uprooted by the blast.

Final Berlin Split Was When Court Broke East-West

Clay Makes New Report on Situation Between Soviet, Other City Sectors

BERLIN, April 15. — (UP) — The Russians created the final split in civil government of Berlin when they forced the Berlin Supreme Court to flee from the Soviet sector into the western part of the blockaded city, Gen. Lucius D. Clay reported today.

The American Military Governor said the Russians arrested the president of the Court in February. About 85 per cent of the Court's personnel hastily moved to western Berlin and a new Court was set up in the Soviet sector.

"This step marked the east-west division of the last city-wide civil function," Clay reported. He said the split of the Berlin Supreme Court occurred Feb. 4. His report covered activities only during that month.

The division of the Court left only a few public utilities, among them the "el," operating on a four-sector basis, Clay said.

Cooperation between east and west German officials in Berlin dropped to "the technicians' level" in the operation of certain public conveyances, water and gas supply, sewage disposal and telephone systems, Clay said.

The American commander recalled that February marked the inaugural of Soviet barriers and road blocks at some streets which passed from the western sectors into the Russian district.

They were obviously designed to restrict further 'smuggling' of essential materials and goods from the east sector to the west," Clay observed.

Reporting on the cropping out of nationalism in some parts of west Germany, the general said:

"During February, the director of the office of military government for Bremen warned the political parties operating in that land (state) against an increasing tendency toward the revival of excessive nationalism in their party information sheets."

Clay's report also called attention to the Russian "peace offensive" in Germany which, he said, began to develop concrete form during February, built around Soviet propaganda for a united Germany.

Operation 'Coke' Slated Tuesday In Men's Dorms

J. S. Bennett, director of operations at the University, told Pete Gerns, president of the Men's Inter-Dormitory Council, yesterday that Coca Cola machines installed in the men's dormitories will be in operation Tuesday.

He added that the delay so far has been caused by deficient electrical appliances which are now in the process of being installed. Bennett was not available last night for further comment.

Small machines have been placed in dormitories with less than 150 occupants, but to alleviate the possible shortage of small change in the lower quadrangle a larger machine (capacity of 264 drinks) which will automatically furnish change is available in Aycock Dormitory.

The installation of Coca Cola machines came about after the Men's Inter-Dormitory Council staged an intensive campaign beginning last Fall. Other IDC groups have attempted the same project in the past, but failed.

Pete Gerns, president of the IDC, urged again yesterday that students "remember that coke machines are in their dormitories on a temporary basis, and will remain as long as no excessive breakage of bottles occurs." He added that the janitors have been instructed to collect bottles and return them to the racks.

35 High Schools Enter Contest

Thirty-five North Carolina high schools participated yesterday in the annual Physics Contest conducted by the University Extension Division. Tests for the contest were devised by members of the University Physics Department faculty and mailed to the participating high schools where they will remain sealed until the actual time of the test.

When the individual students have completed the tests they will be returned to the University for grading and the final results will be announced in about two weeks.

Other high school academic contests which will be conducted by the University's high School Relations Department, under direction of E. R. Rankin, will include a Mathematics contest to be held April 22, in which 56 schools are registered; a Latin contest on May 13, a Spanish contest on May 19, and a French contest on May 20.

All of these contests will be conducted in the same manner as the Physics contest, and the language tests will be held in three divisions, according to the number of years the students have studied.

Slaughtering of Pigs Now Going Modern

PARIS, April 15.—(UP)—Thousands of unsuspecting French pigs started their last mile today to a new electrocution chamber set up at a modern slaughter-house north of Paris.

The porkers waddle down a concrete corridor into a little metal chamber, the door slides fast, and within two seconds the victim is electrocuted and the pig falls on a marble table for immediate dressing.

Statue of St. Ann Stops 'Weeping'

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 15—(UP)—The broken statue of St. Ann, which brought the devout, the curious and the skeptical in large numbers to the home of little Shirley Ann Martin, stopped shedding "tears" today.

Eleven-year-old Shirley Ann, member of a devout Catholic family, reported at 9 o'clock that no moisture has come from the eyes of the plaster replica since she made a television appearance with the image last night.

Meanwhile, Rev. Robert E. Dillon, chancellor of the Syracuse Catholic Diocese, issued a statement saying that "It is certain that drops of liquid have appeared on the face of the statue when the young girl held it and kissed it."

However, Father Dillon added that "Whether this phenomenon is an instance of supernatural power at work has not been established."

International attention was focused on Shirley Ann when scores of witnesses said they saw "tears" drop from the eyes of the statue when she kissed it.

Moisture appeared in the painted eyes and ran down the face of the image when Shirley kissed it during the television appearance.

She has repeatedly kissed the statue since but without bringing "tears" to the statue's eyes.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Martin, refused to allow any further interviews or pictures of Shirley Ann and her statue.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North ... where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of ... Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and ... and during the official summer terms when published ... as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel ... act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per ...

DICK JENRETTE
T. E. HOLDEN

Bill Buchan
Billy Carmichael III

Jack Brown, ... Alston, Jr., ... Woodhull, ... Varden, Caroline Bruner, Oliver Watkins

Circ. Mgr. ... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ... C. B. Mendenhall

James A. Mills

... Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

... McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, ... Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack Eng... ... Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink ... Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam ...

... Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glas...

... Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, ... Bessie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, ... Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

... Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy ...

... June Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

... McCorkle — Night Sports: Joe Cherry

... for the Pledge Captains

... named Pledge Captains' Association may be ... the perplexing problem of what to do about ... Weeks. Many fraternity men say there is no ... equally large number of campus and fra... ... are continually complaining about fraterni... ... the limitations laid down by the IFC. This ... only serves to provide ill-will between ... non-fraternity men.

... at present do not permit fraternities to ... pledges in any manner. However, each time ... near and the various fraternities have their ... campus critics start yelling their heads off.

... the long-range plans of the Pledge Captains, ... eventually be replaced by a single Greek ... this week, all fraternities will carry out their ... plan were tried, regulations possibly could ...

... of whether Greek Week is instituted or not, ... Captains' Association already has done a great ... improving inter-fraternity relations. The Pledge ... led by pledges of all 23 fraternities on campus ... step in this direction.

... Captains won't be active again until next ... current organization, headed by Chairman ... Hael, deserves a lot of praise getting the As... ... to a good start. —FA

... Your Campus Leaders

... tomorrow, and for each successive Sunday, the ... editorial page will carry a feature story on ... prominent campus leaders. This column ... to acquaint the students with the men and ... chosen to direct the student government ...

... the field will not be limited to leaders in the ... There will be stories on the school's outstand... ... dramatists, and heads of the numerous clubs in ... extra-curricular setup.

... tomorrow's issue will be Bill Mackie, newly ... of the student body, and Ted Leonard, vice-... of the Legislature.

Music Review

By Wink Locklair

Sybil Drake's piano recital in Hill Hall Thursday evening brought to an end a busy week for the University Music Department and for those who enjoy listening to the talented musicians who are studying here.

With the exception of two short pieces by Prokofieff, Miss Drake's program was the classical masters—Mozart, Chopin, Brahams and Liszt. She began with two sonatas by the man generally considered to be the father of modern piano playing—Domenico Scarlatti. They were the ones in B Minor and C Major, from an edition Alessandro Longo compiled of over 545 Scarlatti fugues, sonatas and exercises. Next came another 17th century composer, also named Domenico:Domenico Paradies. A "Gigue" of his. This was followed by Mozart's brooding, grave Phantasie in C Minor, a work he composed while laboring on The Marriage of Figaro.

After intermission, Miss Drake played the F Sharp Major Nocturne and the Mazurka in B Flat Minor of Chopin. Brahms was next, his Intermezzo in B Flat Minor and Capriccio in B Minor. A march and prelude from a group of 12 short pieces labeled Opus 12 by Prokofieff, and the Liszt Hungarian Rhapsody No. 12, which she had played during an afternoon recital several weeksago, completed the list.

We liked best of all the Scarlatti and Prokofieff numbers. Chopin was not given a very romantic interpretation and the Liszt rhapsody, with its tremendous chords and octave passages, was not played with the excitement and spectacle people look for and expect. But it was a pleasant evening, all in all, and the audience applauded long enough for an encore, which was a Schubert Impromptu.

Miss Drake is a good ole Southern girl, ("Ah'd like to play uh Schubert Impromptu faw you") Louisiana, to be exact. She wore a handsome ruffled and pleated pink gown with a baby-blue sash, and at the end of the recital she was given an armful of spring flowers. Miss Drake is a member of the University Women's Glee Club and for the past two years has been studying piano with Dr. Newman.

Next Tuesday evening at 8:30 in Hill Hall four male students will take turns at the keyboard: Felder Graham, Robert MacDonald, Edwin Steed, and Will...

It Sounds Good

Letters to the Editor

Jones for Alderman

Editor:

We are supporting Rev. J. H. Jones, candidate for alderman, in the coming municipal elections and urge all students and faculty members sincerely interested in the future of Chapel Hill as a forward-looking community to join us. Mr. Jones, who is a graduate of Shaw University, a well-known pastor of three local churches and a resident of Chapel Hill for 14 years, would be a worthy member of the board of aldermen regardless of his race. We feel his election is doubly important, however, because it would give to the town for the first time a truly representative governing body. Not only does the Negro community have an active need for a representative on the board who will work for much-neeeded improvements in the colored sections, where facilities are woefully inadequate, but perhaps even more important is the fact that Chapel Hill as a whole will be a better place to live in, we believe, if it is governed by a group which collectively has direct contact with all sections of the community. Mr. Jones, if elected, will bring to the board of aldermen his years of experience with, and intimate knowledge of, almost half the town population, that half whose needs and opinions have never before had a direct channel of expression to the city hall. With Mr. Jones among them the members of the board will be able to govern with a more complete awareness of the requirements, and sentiments, of Chapel Hill as a whole. White residents have fully as much to gain by electing such a board, we believe, as Negro citizens.

If the people of Chapel Hill elect Mr. Jones we will follow the precedent set in Winston-Salem and Richmond, Va., where Negro councilmen have served successfully for the past two years. And they have served, not as representatives of a pressure group with special interests but as public spirited individuals representing a responsible citizenry. Mr. Jones, who was nominated by an overwhelming majority in a community-wide meeting held last week, has the confidence of the more than 300 people who asked him to run in this election that he will represent them honestly and wisely if elected. We are confident that as the democratically chosen candidate of his community he will serve the entire town as well, as a responsible city official.

Those who wish to help in Mr. Jones' campaign are urged to contact Robert Boyd at the Negro community center.

Martha Allen, Kent Erickson, Frances Koral, Emma McNary, D. Hilton Seals, Bill Evans Rachelle Marshall

Shades of Fulton Lewis

Editor:

The December "Alumni Review" was received this morning and both Mrs. Richards (Anne Lewis, '43) and I had read it by dinner this evening. To say that we were startled to read of charges made by a Fulton Lewis, Jr. against President Frank Graham would be a masterpiece of understatement. We were absolutely dumbfounded!

Although at this late date the subject is probably a dead one, I would like to remind two people, especially, of one little point. Those two people re, as "Spike Saunders described them to Alumni, two members (of the student body) who have publicly admitted membership (in the Communist Party). Those two, if still at the University, should have gathered the other ten or 14 "party" members and loudly defended the man who has done more than any other single person to allow them freedom of thought, speech, and action at a State University. . . . even though that thought, speech, and action be (possibly and/or probably) directed by a foreign government.

Dr. Frank Graham means "Carolina" to many past and present University students. To many more of us he means much more. I do not look upon Dr. Frank Graham as a deity; but as an excellent example of unselfish service given not only to one's own State but, more than that, to one's country.

I am sitting in my home at the present time with a .45 calibre automatic within easy reaching distance. Anne is a licensed "gun-carrier" and has her own. I believe that we have a decently factual understanding of Communism, and I also believe that it would be a strong eye-opener were the two "Members" of the "Party" to visit Malaya for a short two or three weeks. In fact, I would sincerely enjoy a serious correspondence with a Stateside Communist. I might be able to more clearly explain why they should appreciate a man of Dr. Graham's stature.

I rather believe that most of us do not possess a strong, dignified sense of justice and tolerance. . . . . which Dr. Frank Graham has; which is possibly one of the many reasons that few of us shall ever be one of the greatest College or University Presidents in the country. . . . . which Dr. Frank Graham is.

R. V. Richards ('44)

Criticizing the Grail

EDITOR:

We are not in the habit of writing letters whenever we are disturbed by campus events. We lead peaceful lives. We don't bother anybody. Nobody bothers us. Or that is, nobody had seriously interfered with our placid status-quo up until tonight. Then, from nowhere, like a bolt out of the blue appeared a horde of asses who seemingly had nothing better to do than shout their self-estimates at the top of their lungs to the whole campus. Doesn't anybody but ourselves find study necessary? Are we the only students who find it impossible to fight against the hypnosis of a repeatedly shouted slogan? We think not. We further think that the Grail Club, which was responsible for this outrage, has displayed thereby some of the most feeble judgement evidenced on this campus by any group in the past year. We don't really give a damn who was elected to its august membership; if we did, we could satisfy our curiosity by refering to the Tar Heel. We doubt whether any other student is vitally concerned with the novitiates either.

But to be brief, we are being driven slowly insane by the shouts outside our window and will not be responsible for future actions. If these people persist, then we will personally be the leaders of the year's first Southern lynch mob.

O. B. Hardison, C. B. Baldwin, H. R. Honig E. B. Van Voorhees

FAX ABOUT WAX

By Nelson Taylor

(All of the records in this column are reviewed through the courtesy of The Carolina Sport Shop.)

Klassification Key
 Fine
 Fair
* Futile
 Foul

Bill Harris
 How High the Moon
* The Moon is Low

These two show the fine work of the greatest trombone man alive today on something which is not bop. Both are in a medium tempo, with "Low" assuming a Latin American air for most of its length. "High" is played in two-four with the medium tempo. Harris is on the home range with these two and works them over with a will. You will never hear a trombone to compare with him. How that man can play!

Charlie Ventura
 Body and Soul
* Whatta You Say We Go

"Body" starts out as if it might develop into something well put together and finely executed. Charlie starts out with a terrific tenor solo that does justice to his great capabilities, but the end turns out be bop and ruins things with loss of tempo and tune. The reverse is more bop with lack of everything pertaining to "music."

Dave Barbour
* Ensenada
 Little Boy Bop go Blow Your Top

"Ensenada" starts a rumba, turns into a fox trat, goes into bop, and finally ends up a rumba. This is unusual and terribly fine, you know. It is in a minor key with the changes of tempo almost imperceptable. However, the "Boy Bop" is a flop bop.

Slaughter on Tenth Avenue
 Lennie Hayton and M.G.M. Orch.
* Kostelantez
 Diana Lynn

So we have three selections of this in town. Take your choice of which one you like best. For my money, as you can see by the ratings, I'll take the one by Hayton. It is fuller than the other two and has more punch when it is needed.

Vaughn Monroe
* Riders in the Sky
 Single Saddle

"Riders" is another of the minor key tunes with a lyric that tells of a Cowboy's Hell. This is different for the "Muscle Throat" and plenty good. Watch this thing catch fire in popularity. The over is lousy.

Pete Daily's Chicagoans
* When the War Breaks Out in Mexico
* Circus Slide

Now watch "War" climb in popularity and make a liar out of me. It stinks, but the d--- thing will catch on as a comic tune and really be a craze (though you will have to be crazy to like it). It was written back in the Spanish-American War and you know about what most of that music was like. Somewhere in the record there is a hint of Dixieland though not for long or for much. "Slide" takes you back to the circus with typical music.

HORIZONTAL
1. puppet
5. seventh king of Israel
9. scepter
12. Great Lake
13. Latvian capital
14. eggs
15. Greek letter
16. repeated
18. insertion
20. large covered vehicles
21. juvenile sport
23. African fly
26. obliterate
28. go back over in memory
32. doorway top piece
34. protective covering
35. opposed to medial
37. approaches
38. mien
40. Confederate general
41. Russian inland sea
44. wooden match
46. solaced
49. one time
52. twilight
53. peel
54. portico
55. stitch
56. diminutive for Teresa
57. seasoning

VERTICAL
1. society bud (abbr.)
2. Scandinavian coin
3. party to a lawsuit
4. thin
5. sign of zodiac
6. striker
7. sum of one's years
8. obstruct
9. wheel
10. baking chamber
11. fathers
17. reluctant
19. guides
21. inform
22. operatic solo
24. spread for drying
25. dwarfs
27. robs
29. mythological princess
30. wax
31. Gaelic
33. fold over
36. mechanical devices
39. yields
41. high cards
42. stroll
43. afresh
45. throw about
47. choose
48. former New Guinea base
50. prefix: together
51. rust

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 28 minutes. Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Trivia and Tripe

Stoplights and Cokes

By Bob Sturdivant

"Gum drops," giggled my roomie, as he slithered into the sanctum Tuesday. Upon interrogation, he blabbered something about there being a new coke machine in the hall below. Grabbing the first wrap handy, my scrumptuous Mongolian llama fur smoking jacket, I charged down to verify this outlandish remark, thinking all the while that roomie was having another touch of jungle fever.

But sure enough, there she was, all shiny and new. Most of the residents had gathered when I arrived and all were speaking in hushed tones, befitting the occasion. A few of the more brash element were even touching the phenomenon, while their fellow travelers looked on with admiration.

Even Bronco had come in for the event and everyone agreed that some sort of milestone had been reached. One note of theoretical speculation was injected when a middle-classer posed the question: "What would have happened to party platforms had this great day preceded elections?" There was no answer.

After all, what can one say to a tat like that.

* * *

Word from Dave Sharpe has it that a concerted drive will soon be launched to enroll new members in the CNCMCESFTPGRBUNCADEC.

Further information may be obtained from the above mentioned.

If something isn't done and soon about that mocking bird outside my window, I fear for my roomies' sanity. He has always possessed an aversion to the things and now this one insists on hanging around and making noise alla time.

This, however, is not the worst of it, for only yesterday roomie came running in muttering something about the bird chasing him and trying to do physical violence. Personally, I think that is taking things too far. I give fair warning, until something is done to correct this affair, I will continue to lash out against this evil in the name of roomie.

Baseballers Edge Maryland, 2-1; Linkmen Victorious

MONOGRAM MUSINGS

By Ronnie Basescu

Advent of Spring

With the advent of Spring a young man's fancy usually turns to thoughts of love and leisure, but not so in the Monogram Club (it says here), for with the first brisk wind of the new season "King Carl" calls his boys together for the annual pasttime of mangling wild onions on Navy Field in preparation for the annual slaughtering of annual opponents in the annual fall football season. This all brings us around to the annual Blue-White game which this year is scheduled to be played on April 30.

The game is a preview of next fall's football prospects. It is the culmination of five weeks of Spring practice and one week of winter practice with all hands in top shape for a hot battle.

Back in 1946 under the able leadership of Bill Pritchard, the first Blue-White game was staged before some 3,000 enthusiastic spectators. Since then the crowds at each succeeding game have nearly been doubled. Last year the turnstile recorders hit a record mark of 10,000 spectators.

This year marks the fourth in this series of games. Kenan Stadium has seen many battles but none as hard played and fought as the Blue-White game. It's in the game that the coaching staff has its eye out for prospective starters in the Fall. The boys aren't only fighting to win the game but also to get or maintain their positions in the starting line-up in the Fall, so you can bank on seeing a great contest.

Pi Phi's Rained Out

Last Monday the Club was scheduled to entertain the Pi Phi's with an outdoor wiener roast and party at Hogan's Lake. But as luck would have it Chapel Hill fog interfered so the party was forced to be held at the Monogram Club. As it turned out the party was a great success. With Joe Romano running the affair it couldn't have been anything other than one laugh after another. And Joe's main event of the evening, a bag race, turned the affair into a near riot.

This Monday evening at 5:45 the Alpha Gam sorority is having a lawn party for Monogramers. Although the Alpha Gam's lawn has always been inviting, it is even more so with the addition of a few new picnic tables. Since our spies report to us that they used imported "slave labor" in tidying up the back yard, we suggest that they use more of the "same" to re-enforce their front porch swing, lest some of our tender athletes meet the same fate as Bunny Davis.

WOW!

Laddy Terrell, while acquiring a sun tan at the beach this weekend, is looking into the prospects of a Club party down there. "Why couldn't we party and get a sun tan too?" we asked ourselves. We couldn't think of any reasonable answer so we decided to have one. Plans for the Beach Party are still in their infancy but will probably be completed at the next Monogram meeting.

Where Credit is Due

One of the most valuable members that the Club has ever had, Bill Pritchard, leaves this Saturday for a short stay of duty with the Navy. He has been an active member of the Club for the past five years. He was president of the Club in 1947 and in the same year was also Big Four Monogram representative. In 1947 and '48 he was president of the Carolina Athletic Association. With his departure the Club is losing one of its most active and able members. It has been largely through Bill's efforts that the preceding Blue-White games have been so successful. Our only hope is that this year's Blue-White game meets with as much enthusiasm and success as the ones on which Bill worked so hard.

'Jolting Joe' Di Maggio Expects To Hit, Field Again

BALTIMORE, April 15.—(UP)—Joe Di Maggio, the New York Yankees' brilliant outfielder, said today that "I have no idea of retiring from baseball" because of the ailing right heel that has forced him back to the hospital for treatment.

"I've never said anything about retiring and it doesn't enter into my present plans," the poker-faced Yankee star told a special press conference at his room in the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel.

"These things have been cured before," he said. "It's just a matter of time."

Considering the prospect of being out of baseball for the whole 1949 season, Di Maggio told the group of newsmen, "even if I couldn't get back to the Yankees this year, I feel I could come back after a year's rest.

"I have plenty of hitting ability as long as my foot holds out," he said.

Seated comfortably in an easy chair Di Maggio said he did not know just what was the matter with the heel and that he was entrusting treatment of the injury entirely in the hands of Dr. George E. Bennett of Johns Hopkins Hospital. Dr. Bennett performed the original operation for the removal of a bone spur at the close of last season.

Di Maggio said that his current treatment consisted solely of lying on a table "and having them shoot an X-Ray at me for a minute and three-quarters at a time."

He added that the treatment would last six days, ending next Tuesday, and that he did not know what Dr. Bennett would prescribe after that.

The 34-year-old San Franciscan said that he wore a block in his shoe under the arch of his right foot to relieve the pressure from his heel while walking.

Di Maggio told the reporters that there was little likelihood that another operation would be performed on his right heel.

University of North Carolina Versus
University of South Carolina
At 4:00 in Emerson Stadium
TODAY

Come Down To
Aggie's
AFTER THE GAME

And Enjoy The Excellent Food And Fine Company

Cassell Tosses Neat Four-Hitter; Gamecocks Next

By Larry Fox

Dozens of base hits didn't rustle the bushes in the outer reaches of Emerson Stadium yesterday afternon nor did a multitude of runs pour across the well-worn plate, but Carolina made judicious use of its vaunted extra-base power to edge out the visiting Maryland Terrapins, 2-1.

There will be no rest for the Tar Heels today, however, for they journey to Laurenberg to meet South Carolina in a nocturnal loop tussle originally scheduled for Chapel Hill. Tommy Andrew will be on the mound for the Carolinians as they seek their fourth straight Conference win.

Yesterday's victory marked triumph number three in Carolina's defense of its Southern Conference title and came over the team which had almost kept the locals from winning the crown last year. It was also Carolina's tenth win.

Cassell Goes Route

Dean Cassell went all the way for the Tar Heels, scattering four Maryland hits and four free passes along the way. The New Jersey speedballer was in trouble only twice during the contest. Fine fielding and three hits by Ed Lamb, who batted in both Carolina runs, one on a tremendous homer; aided the Carolina cause considerably.

Off his performance in the first inning when he walked two men in succession with one out and added a wild pitch for good measure, Cassell seemed to be a strong candidate for the title of the man most likely to be tagged with the loss, but he settled down to hold the Terps in check until seventh when they scored their only tally of the game.

Fitzpatrick had a little difficulty in the first two frames, but one pitch in the third lost him his shutout. He grooved one for Lamb and the husky rightfielder blasted it to deep left field where it landed about 20 feet from the fence and proceeded to run and hide in the foliage.

Terp Twirler Triples

That seemed to be the ball game, but in the seventh, Fitzpatrick struck a blow in his own behalf, that blow being a long triple to rightcenter field with two men gone.

A running one-hand catch by Lamb had robbed Tony Sileo of an extrabase hit immediately before the Terp hurler came to bat and saved Carolina a run there, but Stan Goodman, who has been playing great ball, offensively and defensively, for Carolina; committed his first error of the season on Al Tuminski's sharp grounder and the run came home.

Another individual streak was broken in the eighth by Will Hobbs to score Carolina's second and winning run. Hobbs, in the throes of a batting slump which had seen him go 0 for 14, poked a double down the right field line to start the inning and advanced to third when Terp catcher Hank Miles threw the ball into center field on an attempted pickoff play.

Lamb came through again with his final hit of the day to score Hobbs and sew up the ball game.

Hobbs, whose batting average was close to ducking under the .200 mark when he came up in the eighth, really showed the old college try. His double, which set up the winning run, came just after the strains of Hark the Sound had wafted down from the bell tower. Lamb, incidentally, is now hovering near .500.

Third Loop Win!!!

Maryland	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Tuminske, 2b	3	0	0	6	1	0
Brewer, ss	2	0	0	3	3	0
Smith, lf	4	0	1	3	0	1
Moeller, 1b	4	0	1	6	0	0
Miles, c	4	0	0	1	0	1
Crescenze, 3b	3	0	1	5	4	0
Cesky, cf	4	0	0	2	0	0
Sileo, rf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Fitzpatrick, p	3	1	1	0	3	0
Totals	31	1	4	24	11	2

Carolina	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Allen, cf	3	0	0	2	0	0
Goodman, 2b	4	0	0	3	6	1
Ryan, ss	3	1	1	0	5	0
Hobbs, 1b	4	1	1	16	0	1
Lamb, rf	4	1	3	1	0	0
Gurganus, c	3	0	0	4	2	1
Senter, 3b	4	0	1	1	2	0
Ward, lf	4	0	1	0	0	0
Cassell, p	2	0	0	1	1	0
Totals	31	2	7	27	16	3

Score by Innings:
Maryland—000 000 100—1
Carolina—001 000 010—2

Runs batted in: Lamb (2); left on base: Maryland (7), Carolina (10); two base hits: Hobbs; three base hits: Fitzpatrick; home runs: Lamb; stolen bases: Crescenze, Moeller; bases on balls: Fitzpatrick (5), Cassell (4); strike outs: Cassell (5); Wild pitch: Cassell (1); double plays, Tuminski-Moeller, Ryan-Goodman-Hobbs; umpires: Arrington and Carr; Time: 2:10.

See Us For Any Metal Work To Be Done
EXPERT SERVICE
Crabtree Metal Shop
CARRBORO

McKinney To Quit

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(UP)—Horace "Bones" McKinney said today he will quit the Washington professional basketball team and return to North Carolina University to work for a physical education degree.

"You've got to quit some time and I want to quit while I'm on top," the 31-year-old court star said. "Frankly, the pace is getting too fast for me and I'm getting too old to go at top speed."

McKinney, who played in 57 of the Washington Caps' 60 games this season, said he would become a player-coach of a Durham, N. C., semipro team.

He was one of the key men of the Washington team which won the Eastern division BAA championship. The Caps lost to Minneapolis in the playoff series.

King Carl Named To Coaching Staff

BETHANY, W. Va., April 15.—(UP) — Head football coaches George Sauer of Navy, Art Morton of Mississippi State and Carl Snavely of North Carolina today were named to the staff of the Ohio Valley All-Star game.

The three will join Stuart Holcomb of Purdue and Charley Caldwell of Princeton, who will pilot the Ohio and West Virginia elevens respectively in the annual game at the clinic.

The coaching school opens Aug. 15 and runs through Aug. 19, the night of the seventh interstate tussle at Wheeling.

Holcomb will instruct in the 'T' formation on the first day of the school and Caldwell will present his ideas on the single-wing the second day. Sauer, Navy's first civilian coach, will instruct in forward passing the third day.

Morton, who moved from VMI for the 1949 season, will explain the "Split 'T'" the fourth day and the closing class will be turned over to Snavely, North Carolina's veteran mentor. He will explain his version of the single wing.

Sapp, Brooks Star As Linksmen Win Over Gamecocks

By Buddy Vaden

The steady playing of Oliver Sapp and Frank Brooks brought victory number six to the Carolina golf team here yesterday as they defeated the University of South Carolina, 21½ to 5½.

Harvie Ward tied for medal honors of the match with South Carolina's Fred Smith, both men carding a 73 for the Hope Valley course. Ward scored 36 on the first nine and 37 on the way in to halve the hole with Smith at 1½-all.

Bob Cox gave Carolina best ball points with a 2-1 win over Bill Thorne. Cox carded a 76 to Thorne's 78, winning the first nine with a 38 and the match to give Carolina best ball, 2½-½.

In the second foursome Tar Heel Roy McKenzie split with Jim Dial, 1½-all. McKenzie won the first nine by two strokes and dropped the back nine by the same margin. McKenzie and Dial split match point with a 76 each.

Jack Brantley's five stroke win over Jim Clemmons gave Carolina's second foursome best ball

(See GOLF, page 4)

Wildcats Tie Hillsboro Nine

Chapel Hill High School and Hillsboro High played to an eleven-inning 9-9 tie in a four-hour marathon on the local field yesterday afternoon.

Darkness finally brought a halt to the loosely played ball game after Hillsboro pushed across the tying marker in the ninth and neither team was able to break ice in the two extra innings.

Twelve errors by the locals greatly aided the visitor's cause. The Hillsboro nine committed eight miscues.

Score by innings:
C. H. 000 323 100 00-9-10—12
Hillsboro 012 050 001 00-9- 9— 8

Lloyd, Heffner (5) and Kirk, Walker (7); T. Maultsby, Cheek (5) and Butler.

Tar Heel Netters Notch Ninth Win With 8-1 Triumph Over Cincinnati

By Joe Cherry

Carolina's varsity tennis team, receiving much-needed cooperation from the weather for the first time in a week, chalked up victory number nine here yesterday afternoon with an 8-1 decision over the University of Cincinnati netters.

Coach John Kenfield's high-riding netmen were slated to meet Wake Forest here on Monday of this week, and the locals were to play host to touring Aldbright College on Tuesday, but the weather was the deciding factor again, with both meets washed out.

Captain Victor Seixas, Carolina's automatic first point, started the Tar Heels off on the right side of the scoreboard by defeating Gregg Thomas in straight sets in the opening match.

The Tar Heel ace limited Thomas to only two games in the first set, but the Cincinnati number one netter managed to take four games before dropping the second set to Seixas, 6-4.

Old reliable Clark Taylor, playing his usual steady game, was forced to the limit before edging Appel in two nip-and-tuck sets 8-6, 6-4. Stan Gruner, playing in the third position, had to go six sets before disposing of Jim Kieter, 6-0, 5-7, 7-5.

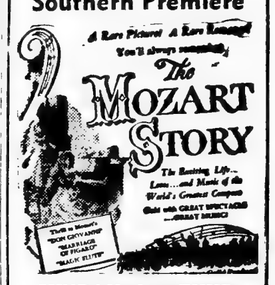
Tar Heel Charlie Rice made a brilliant comeback after losing the first set, 3-6, and limited Conway to only one game in each of the next two rounds to win 3-6, 6-1, 6-1.

In the fifth singles match, Paul Anderson provided the visitors with their only tally of the afternoon by defeating Duke Wilder, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4, in a long contest. In the singles finale, Jim Winstead routed Crandel in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2.

All three Carolina doubles combinations were victorious, with Seixas-Wilder, Taylor-Rice, and Gruner-Dameron wading through their opposition without much trouble.

The locals will attempt to open their Big Four and Southern Conference competition again Monday when they take on Wake Forest's Demon Deacons—weather permitting—in a replay of last Monday's rained out match.

In the doubles matches, the Tar Heels came out on top without much trouble. Seixas and Wilder combined forces in the feature match and easily topped Thomas-Conway, 6-0, 6-2.



Taylor and Rice were forced to fight for every point in their opening set Appel and Keiter before winning, 7-5. The local tennismen experienced little difficulty in the second and final set, however, winning, 6-2.

Gruner and Dameron added the finishing touches to a great afternoon by stopping Anderson and Yeager, 6-2, 6-love.

The Summary:
Singles: Seixas (C) defeated Thomas, 6-2, 6-4; Taylor (C) defeated Appel, 8-6, 6-4; Gruner (C) defeated Kieter, 6-0, 5-7, 7-5; Rice (D) defeated Conway, 3-6, 6-0, 6-1; Anderson (Cin.) defeated Wilder, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4; Winstead (C) defeated Crandel, 6-1, 6-2

Doubles: Seixas-Wilder (C) defeated Thomas-Conway, 6-0, 6-2; Taylor-Rice (C) defeated Appel-Kieter, 7-5, 6-2; Gruner-Dameron (C) defeated Anderson-Yeager, 6-2, 6-0.

BUY YOUR EASTER CANDY
At The
VILLAGE PHARMACY
WE HAVE CANDY BY
Whitman, Nunally, & Norris
Deliveries Any Afternoon
at 5:00
ANYWHERE IN TOWN & VICTORY VILLAGE

ASTOR THEATRE
DURHAM, N. C.
Southern Premiere

SUNDAY thru THUR.
April 17th—21st.

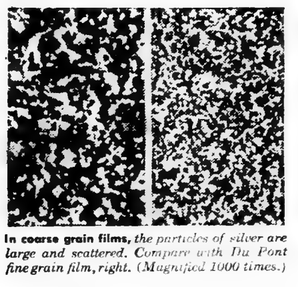
DU PONT Digest
For Students of Science and Engineering

Chemists in Pictures

How Du Pont and studio scientists solved the problem of noisy film

Who'd ever expect to find Du Pont chemists in Hollywood? When motion pictures suddenly started to talk, a whole new series of perplexing scientific problems was born, not the least of which was "noisy" film.

As you know, sound is usually recorded directly on film. If you hold a strip of motion picture film to the light, the sound track is seen as a narrow band of irregular lines. A light ray passing through the moving sound track falls on a photocell with rapid interruptions or changes in intensity. The photocell converts these interruptions into electrical impulses which, amplified, reach the theater audience as voice and music.



If the film has a coarse grain structure, it tends to give lines that are not sharp and uniform in density. Such irregularities interrupt the light ray—come out as distracting noise.

What could be done about it? Du Pont scientists of the Photo Products Department started a program of research, in cooperation with technical experts from the studios in Hollywood. They made and tested scores of film coatings. Finally there were developed films of exceedingly fine grain structures.

M-G-M and Paramount were among the first to use the new type Du Pont films. The development was heralded by the press as "another milestone in the technical progress of the industry," and in 1943 Du Pont received an Academy Award of Merit for its achievement. Now the use of fine grain films is practically universal in Hollywood. Actors, actresses speak their lines, with no technical restrictions to cramp their artistry.

Voice and music appear as a continuous band of irregular lines on this movie sound track. Any irregularity means noise.

In coarse grain films, the particles of silver are large and scattered. Compare with Du Pont fine grain film, right. (Magnified 1000 times.)

You may have a place in Du Pont research

Had you been a member of a Du Pont Photo Products research team since 1931, you might have shared in many outstanding achievements, two of which have been recognized by "Oscars."

W. L. Foy, Ph.D. in Physical Chemistry, Clark University, 1947, and A. C. Lapsley, Ph.D. in Physics, Virginia, 1947, discussing details of Color Densitometer Wiring Diagram used in connection with research on color photography.

The Photo Products Department, however, is just one of ten Du Pont manufacturing departments, all of which engage in continuous research. Operated much like separate companies, each holds challenging opportunities for young, college-trained chemists, engineers and physicists. Du Pont not only tries to select young men and women of promise, but makes a conscientious effort to help each one develop as rapidly as possible. Whatever your interests, you will find here the cooperation and friendly interest you need to do your best. As a member of a small, congenial working team, your ability can be seen, recognized and rewarded.

Don't miss reading this new booklet about Du Pont

Send for your copy of "The Du Pont Company and the College Graduate." This fully illustrated, 40-page booklet answers your questions, describes many fields which may be new to you. Tells about opportunities in research, production, sales, etc. Explains how recognition of ability is assured. For free copy, address: 2518 Nemours Bldg., Wilmington 98, Delaware.

Achievements of Du Pont scientists over the years have won two "Oscars" from Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

DU PONT
BETTER THINGS FOR BETTER LIVING
. . . THROUGH CHEMISTRY

More facts about Du Pont—Listen to "Cavalcade of America" Monday Nights, NBC Coast to Coast

With
Doris Day — Jack Carson
CAROLINA
MIDNIGHT SHOW TONIGHT
SUNDAY — MONDAY

Betsy Ross
Louise Horner
Gene Frances Caraher
Betty Smith
Patty Ann Frizell
Gene Hines
Pegge Misenheimer
Peggy Martin
Bobbie Bess
Loraine Howard

Have you cast your ballot for your "Miss Fashion Plate of 1949"?

Time is running out! Have you cast your vote for your very own "Miss Fashion Plate of 1949"?

If not, you'd better clip your ballot now! This Revlon contest closes midnight, May 6th.

Here's a review of the prizes! First! The candidate you pick will have a chance at the Grand Prize (one week expense-free trip to New York plus a Revlon make-up course) ...or one of the 9 runner-up prizes . . . an opportunity to represent Revlon on campus next fall, plus a year's supply of cosmetics.

Choose your candidate on 4 counts only . . . grooming, dress, poise, and personality.

Clip your ballot today! Drop in ballot box in this newspaper office or other locations on campus. There's a panel of beauty authorities all ready and waiting to see if your candidate will be the national Grand Prize winner.

I nominate..... for "MISS FASHION PLATE of 1949," a contest sponsored by the Revlon Products Corporation.

NAME.....

All ballots become the property of the Revlon Products Corporation

GRAND PRIZE

One week's expense-free trip to New York, plus a training course by REVLON, plus a chance to become a glamorous model!

for all
REVLON PRODUCTS
in Chapel Hill
See
SUTTON'S Drug Store
"A Complete Drug Store"
Walgreen Agency

Crowds Jam Town, See Woman Bleed

KONNERSREUTH, Germany, April 15.—(UP)—The streets of this tiny Bavarian farming village were jammed today with thousands of persons who came to file by the bedside of a 51-year-old peasant woman who suffers the physical agony of Christ on the cross every Good Friday.

Police lines kept order as inside her stucco cottage, Therese Neumann sat bolt upright in her bed from early morning until mid-afternoon, bleeding profusely from her eyes, wrists, feet and head. The phenomenon has occurred every Good Friday since 1926 and has baffled medical authorities.

Thousands of the devout and the curious, including nearly as many Americans as Germans, waited in line for hours to see this woman who is regarded by the townsfolk as a saint.

Therese wore a white shroud which, like the bed linen, was blood-soaked. She waved her arms gently and chanted unintelligibly in a low monotone, oblivious to the throngs who filed by and the hubbub of those who waited outside in the streets.

Father Franz Nabor, Paris priest who has had Therese under his care for 20 years, was at her bedside. He refused to allow pictures to be taken inside the room.

Neighbors say Therese, a tailor's daughter, has suffered the agonies of the crucifixion every Good Friday for 23 years. It dates from 1926, they say, when she had her first vision of Christ kneeling on a mountainside. At that moment she felt blood pouring from her heart, and later from her hands and feet. The following year she also bled from her head and eyes.

Village folk say Therese has lived for the past 23 years on the wafers she receives at daily communion.

They say she falls into a coma each Good Friday and suffers until 3 P. M. the hour when Christ died. Then she slowly reawakens and by Saturday night is completely recovered.

She goes to Holy Communion on Sunday and by Monday is again behind a plowhorse in the fields.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

1:30—TOWN GIRL'S Association. Horace Williams lounge. GM.

8:30—SQUARE DANCE. Everybody invited. Presbyterian Church.

-Lunsford-

(Continued from page 1)

I would prefer that my own region be represented, but according to the terms of the invitation, I would next have to go to Texas or Colorado for other groups, if my participants from the Smoky Mountain region could not go.

I hope some sponsoring concern or organization will see the advertising value in flying 25 mountaineers to Italy and return in order that our State and nation could be represented officially at the festival. I would almost be willing to learn to smoke cigarettes or use some unusual type of tooth paste or chewing gum to make the trip," he said.

Back from Washington where he recorded 300 ballads for the Library of Congress, Lunsford is now making preparations for the second annual Carolina Folk Festival in Kenan Stadium here June 9, 10, 11.

AUTO PARTS
New . Used . Rebuilt
Open Saturday Afternoon
And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

TODAY
VILLAGE

For The NEWEST FASHIONS in MENS CLOTHING visit
THE Sport SHOP
120 E. MAIN ST.
Durham

TODAY
CAROLINA

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

ANYONE KNOWING THE WHEREabouts of Mrs. Hal (Elizabeth) Fredrickson please write Miss Mary J. Ross, 6000 N. Bay Road, Miami, Florida. Urgent. (2-c2387-1)

ALL MAKES OF LAWN MOWERS repaired, machine sharpened. Axes, hatchets, scythes also sharpened. Tripps Lawn Mower Repair Shop or see John Tripp, Carrboro Shoe Shop. (1-c2383-1)

FOR RENT 8A

TWO ROOM GARAGE APARTMENT suitable for couple with baby, also one room stone cabin for couple or students—both with cooking facilities. Telephone 5231. (3-2386-1)

ALUMINUM COVERED HOUSE trailer with porch attached. Recently [illegible] inside. Must sell or trade for smaller. See Unity Trailer Court (2-2391-1)

FOR SALE BLACK COCKER SPANiel—age 12 weeks — champion stock. P.O. Box 904 or 181 Jackson Circle between 2 - 6 p.m. (1-2389-1)

BALDWIN UP-RIGHT PIANO IN good condition. For information, call 5731 (1-c2369-1)

LOST 12

GLASSES IN BLUE CASE — LOST Wednesday. Had natural color rims. If found, please call Betty Dixon, 102 McIver. (1-2394-1)

TODAY
CAROLINA

AL CAPP
L'il Abner

Let's All meet at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon MILTON CANIFF

WORKMEN ARE SEEN removing the bodies of several persons trapped in a building in Seattle, Wash., when the recent earthquake caused the roof to cave in. A total of seven people were killed in the catastrophe.

-Golf-

(Continued from page 3)

honors 2½-½.

The summary:

Ward (C) and Smith, tie, 1½-1½; Cox (C) defeated Thorne, 2-1. Best Ball to Carolina 2½ to ½.

McKenzie (C) and Dial, tie, 1½-1½. Brantly (C) defeated Clemmons, 2½ to ½. Best ball to Carolina, 2½ to ½.

Brooks (C) defeated Jeter, 5-4. Sapp (C) defeated Williams, 3-0. Best ball to Carolina, 3 to 0.

tended by Professor J. V. Howell of Mars Hill College. Professor Howell received the M.A. degree at Chapel Hill in 1936.

Alumni Named To Represent UNC at Meets

University officials today released the names of alumni who have been appointed to represent the University at various official functions to be held throughout the nation during the next two months.

Dr. Hilden T. Cox, Associate Professor of Biology at Virginia Polytechnic Institute will attend the inauguration of Walter Stephenson Newman as V.P.I.'s new president on April 18. Dr. Cox received his M.A. degree from the University in 1939 and his Ph.D. degree in 1947.

Dr. L. B. Bush of St. Paul, Minn., who received his M.S. degree from the University in 1926, will represent Carolina at the Seventy-Fifth Anniversary Celebration of Malacaster College in St. Paul, April 25-26. Dr. Bush, who has represented the University on several previous occasions, is Chairman of the Department of Mathematics at the College of St. Thomas.

Edgar Turlington, Washington lawyer, will attend the April 30 and May 1 ceremonies when The Very Reverend Hunter Guthrie, S. J. becomes the thirty-fifth president of Georgetown University.

The May 5 inauguration of Delyte Wesley Morris as president of Southern Illinois University will be attended by Ralph H. Boatman, Jr. Mr. Boatman, who holds a graduate degree in Public Health from Carolina, is Health Coordinator and Acting Chairman of the Department of Health Education at Southern Illinois.

Frank P. Barker of Kansas City, Mo., graduate of the University in 1912, has been designated official representative at the Centennial Exercises of William Jewel College, Mo., on May 24. Mr. Barker is a member of the law firm of Winger, Barker and Winger in Kansas City.

The inaugural ceremonies of Dr. J. Harley Fite as President of Carson-Newman College in Jefferson City, Tenn., which were held on April 2, were at-

Carolina Dames Club Names New Officials

New officers for the coming year were elected at the regular meeting of the Carolina Dames Club on Wednesday night in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

New officers are: President, Katherine Hummers; Vice-President, Kathleen Brooks; Recording secretary, Mary Ann Seykora; Corresponding secretary, Evie Adams; and Treasurer, Jean Montgomery. Two new members-at-large are Jean Pipes and Virginia "Ginger" Stacy.

Outgoing officers are: Alice Robe, president; Dena Deemer, vice-president; Martha Cra[illegible] recording secretary; [illegible] Stacy, corresponding secretary, and Mary Magness, treasurer.

Mrs. Robert H. Wettach[illegible] to the club on "The Pre-School child in the Home." Following Mrs. Wettach's talk refreshments were served to members and their special guest, the Duke Dames.

Sponsorers of the club were present for the meeting include Mrs. C. P. Spruill, Mrs. Frank Hanft, Mrs. John B. Wiley, Mrs. A. P. Hudson, and Mrs. Robert B. Sharpe.

SPECIAL RATES ON PARTIES
SEE US FOR YOUR NEXT PARTY
REASONABLE RATES — AVAILABLE ANYTIME
DANCING —— SANDWICHES —— BEER
MERCURY CLUB
Your Only Night Spot Operated By Students For Students
3 Miles Out On Greensboro Highway

DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL BLVD
SUN. & MON.
HOMESTRETCH
Technicolor
Maureen O'Hara
And
Cornel Wilde
75c PER CAR

You'll Get Extra
• SERVICE
• QUALITY • QUANTITY and it's
EXTRA GOOD TOO
at the
UNIVERSITY RESTAURANT

LUCKY STRIKE
"IT'S TOASTED"
CIGARETTES
L.S./M.F.T.

Smoke a LUCKY to feel your LEVEL best!

Luckies' fine tobacco picks you up when you're low . . . calms you down when you're tense—puts you on the Lucky level! That's why it's so important to remember that LUCKY STRIKE MEANS FINE TOBACCO—mild, ripe, light tobacco. No wonder more independent tobacco experts—auctioneers, buyers and warehousemen,—smoke Luckies regularly than the next two leading brands combined! Get a carton of Luckies today!

L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco

So round, so firm, so fully packed — so free and easy on the draw

COPR. THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

Y. APRIL 16, 1949

s Club
fficials

nt: Martha Crawford, secretary; Virginia
esponding secretary;
Magness, treasurer.

ert H. Wettach spoke on "The Pre-School
e Home." Following h's talk refreshments
ed to members and al guest, the Duke

s of the club who ent for the meeting
s. C. P. Spruill, Mrs.
t, Mrs. John B. Woos-
. P. Hudson, and Mrs.
Sharpe.

PARTIES
PARTY
BLE ANYTIME
— BEER

CLUB Highway

l Get Extra
ERVICE
UALITY
UANTITY

TOO

TAURANT

t.!

r more independ-
yers and ware-
an the next two of Luckies today!

Tobacco

draw

AN TOBACCO COMPANY

U.N.C. Library
C. H., N. C.

EDITORIALS

". . . Shall Never Die"
Meet Mackie and Leonard
What is Democracy

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Fair and continued cool.

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, APRIL 17, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 145

Fleece Selections Slated Next Week

The Golden Fleece, highest men's honorary organization on campus, will conduct its forty-sixth annual tapping ceremonies of new members Monday evening, April 25, in Memorial Hall at 7:45. In keeping with the secret nature of the organization, the number and names of the men to be tapped will not be revealed until the ceremonies one week from tomorrow.

A group spokeman stated that because of the impressiveness and solemnity of the service, the doors will be locked directly at 7:45, and all who wish to attend the ceremonies should be in their seats by that time.

The annual Valkyrie Sing will be held following the tapping. This event will give fraternity, sorority, and dormitory men and women an opportunity to complete locally for loving cup awards given by the Valkyries, similar honorary organization for coeds.

The tapping of new members into the men's honorary order marks the Fleece's only public meeting each year. It has been a practice since the group's formation forty-six years ago to conduct meetings and activities in utmost secrecy.

Since its Officers' names are withheld from the public but are released at the tapping, the Jason, the Vice Jason, the Grammateus, and the Christopher for the past year will be recognized next Monday.

Members of the Fleece are chosen for their personal integrity, outstanding service in one or more fields of student activity, scholarship, and leadership. The order does not set a specified number for membership each year but selects each member in proportion to the number of men on campus who are deemed worthy of membership. Last year 10 men gained admission into the Order.

At present the 19 student and the 12 faculty members in the Fleece do not as a group sponsor any campus action. However, individually they, work towards a common aim all tasks being instigated without public credit.

Miss Greer Named Head Of Advisers

Will Be Director Of Training Plan

Charleen Greer of Tulsa, Oklahoma, has been named as the overall chairman of the student adviser program for 1949-1950, it was announced today by Sally Osborne, chairman of orientation. She will be in charge of training the new student advisers in their responsibilities and will work closely with the orientation committee to schedule the events of the orientation week next September.

Charleen was vice-president of the Choral Club her freshman year at Oklahoma A. & M. and was a member of the Y.W.C.A., the Terpsichorean dance club, the Rifle Club, the International Relations Club, and the United Nations Club. She was a member of Pi Beta Phi at Oklahoma and also participated actively in the intramural sports. As a junior here at the University, Charleen is a member of the Y campus affairs committee, the Coed Senate, and was chosen the Homecoming uQeen for the Carolina-State game last fall. She was elected secretary of the University Club and is pledge trainer of Pi Phi for next year.

She has already announced that the first of the three training classes for the student advisers will be held the first week in May, and details will be given later.

Armstrong Back From Conference

Roy Armstrong, Director of Admissions of the University of North Carolina and president of the North Carolina Association of Collegiate Registrars, has returned from Chicago where he attended the fourth annual National Conference on Higher Education. Some 700 representatives of accredited colleges and universities attended.

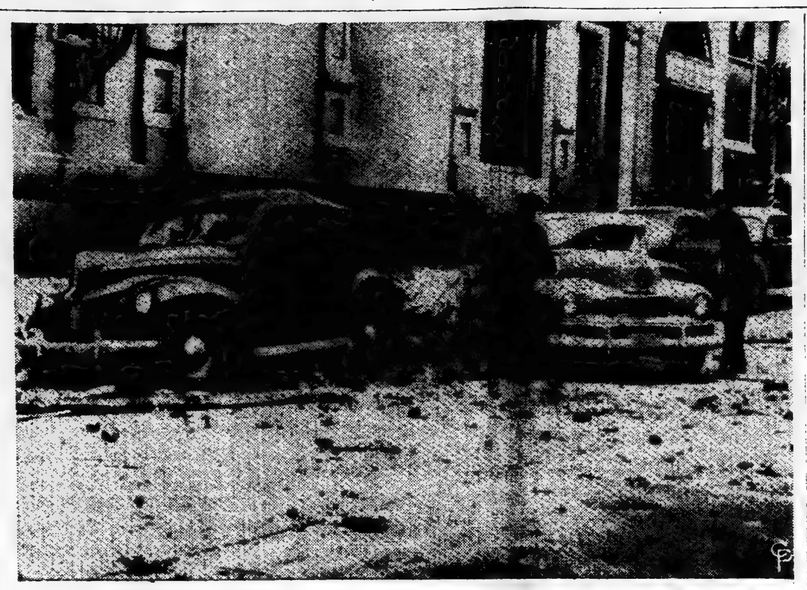
The Conference, sponsored by the National Education Association, of which Dr. Ralph McDonald is executive secretary, is an annual planning session for faculty members and administrative officials of institutions of higher education. Trends and problems of common interest were discussed and analyzed.

Mr. Armstrong served as a consultant to study with a group of "Admissions Policies and Procedures," one of eight main topics.

'General' Coxey Celebrates 95th

MASSILLON, O., April 16.—(UP)—The leader of the famed "Coxey's Army" march on Washington in 1894 celebrated his 95th birthday anniversary today, still convinced his theory of "money at cost" would solve the economic problems of the United States and the world.

"General" Jacob E. Coxey spent the day quietly at his home here with his 83-year-old wife, Henrietta.



Coxey told reporters who called at his home that after 79 years of crusading, he is even more convinced that all nations should print all the money they need and exchange it for goods.

Tomorrow will mark another highlight in the tumultuous career of Coxey, who still wears a high wing collar reminiscent of his more active days.

Naval Group Plans Meet Monday Night

The Naval Reserve Air Unit will hold its regular meeting Monday night at a new time, 6:45, in the Naval ROTC annex, Naval Reserve Lt. R. E. Simpson, Officer-in-charge, said yesterday.

Lt. (jg) William Bragaw will address the unit on "Aviation and the Navy."

A TYPICAL STREET SCENE following the devastating earthquake that rocked a 500-mile-long area of the Pacific Northwest shows smashed cars standing in a rubble-strewn street in Seattle, Wash. Police are aiding a motorist who lost control of his car during the earthquake, ramming into the side of a building. The quake killed six persons, injured many and caused millions in property damage.

Miss Schoffield Is British Visitor Here For Week

The School of Library Science of the University had an interesting visitor from England this week. Miss Margaret Schoffield, the first exchange public librarian in this country, talked to the School about library conditions and methods in England.

Miss Schoffield exchanged positions with Miss Virginia Williamson, Librarian of the Johnson County Library in Smithfield. Miss Williamson is near Leeds in the West Riding of Yorkshire.

Miss Schoffield pointed out the difficulty British libraries have in getting books. She said the fires in London during the last war were "worse than the great fire of London in 1666."

She also pointed out the differences in training of librarians. A sort of apprenticeship system is used. Candidates enter libraries as "Juniors" and work as they study.

Over a period of six years three examinations are given by the Library Association: entrance, registration and finals. At the satisfactory completion of the registration examination, the librarian becomes an associate of the Library Association, and after the final a Fellow of the Library Association.

"We are great ones for letters after our names as well as titles if we have one," commented Miss Shoffield, F. L. A.

HARRIET KEEN, BEATRICE DONLEY, and Jean Schneck, above, will be the featured soloists with the Women's Glee Club in its annual spring concert Thursday night.

Women's Glee Club To Give Spring Concert Thursday

The Women's Glee Club of the University Music Department will present its annual spring concert on Thursday in Hill Hall, under the direction of Paul Young.

The 100 voices of the women's chorus will be assisted by three soloists and by the Men's Glee Club. Harriet Keen, soprano, of the University voice staff; Beatrice Donley, contralto, of Meredith College Music Department; and Jean Schneck, contralto, of the Women's College music staff, will be featured soloists.

Johann Adolf Hasse's "Miserere," for full chorus and soloists, will open the program. Other numbers to be performed will be William Schuman's "Prelude," for Women's voices, using a text from Thomas Wolfe's "Look Homeward, Angel;" a group of four folksongs; and Brahms' "Alto Rhapsody." For the performance of the "Rhapsody," the Women's Glee Club will be joined by the Men's Glee Club, making a chorus of nearly 300 voices.

Admission to the concert will be by season ticket or by single admissions which are on sale in Hill Hall 109 at 85 cents. All seats are reserved.

Generally Fair Skies Promised For Paraders

By United Press

The weatherman promised generally fair skies for Eastern paraders today throughout most of the nation, but residents of some fire-ravaged areas hoped for rain.

Residents of sections of Virginia and the Pacific Northwest waited hopefully for rain to help extinguish fires sweeping through forests dried out by a rainless spring. In contrast, floods covered some areas along the Missouri river.

Winter still held a grip in some areas, where residents were clearing away thick blankets of spring snow. The weatherman warned church-goers planning to attend sunrise service in northern states to wear overcoats and mufflers.

Freezing or near-freezing temperatures were forecast for the early morning hours from the great lakes eastward through Pennsylvania, interior New York, New England, and as far south as the Carolinas and Tennessee.

At Washington, weathermen predicted that the only Easter Sunday rain areas would be along the lower east coast of Florida, in the Lake Superior area and westward through North Dakota and Montana.

Some snow fell today around Buffalo and elsewhere in Western New York. New York state was recovering from a windstorm, of gale velocity in some sections, which crossed from Lake Erie to the Hudson Valley, felling small buildings and killing some livestock.

Unusually dry timber stands in the Pacific northwest were plagued by scattered fires. The largest was a 1,000-acre fire near Battleground, Wash., brought "fairly well under control" early today.

By United Press

The Weather Bureau punctuated its forecast of a frosty Easter in North Carolina with reports of light snow at Asheville and Mount Mitchell yesterday.

Asheville listed "very light flurries," not enough to stick on the ground. Lofty Mount Mitchell said a trace of snow was on the ground there and the mercury hung at 15 degrees at 7:30 a.m.

Mitchell was the only area reporting subfreezing temperatures on Easter Eve. Asheville had 35, Charlotte and Greensboro 40, Raleigh 46 and Wilmington 58 early today.

Today the weather bureau forecast partly cloudy and cool over North Carolina, tonight fair and cooler with scattered frost in interior portions of the Tar Heel state. Tomorrow the prediction was fair and rather cool.

Indians Observe Lent in Arizona With Weird Rites

Guadalupe, Ariz., April 16.—(UP)—Arizona's Yaqui Indians danced a weird ritual representing worship at Christ's tomb as their centuries-old half-pagan observance of Lent neared its Easter climax.

Music from goat-skin drums, pebble-filled gourds and crude flutes was slow and sorrowful, in contrast to last night's wild pagan dance following the re-enactment of the crucifixion.

Tomorrow at sunrise, the Yaquis will chant a paean of glorification and victory as they march to the village Catholic church, restore the statue of Christ above the alter and hear mass.

Hundreds of visitors flocked here to watch the celebration of Christ's passion, which the Indians picked up from 16th-century Spanish missionaries. Some of the tribesmen set up cold drink and hot dog stands to serve the crowds.

The ancient ritual began Wednesday when a group of Yaquis representing "Los Fariseos" (the pharisees) started a daily search for Christ, represented by the statue. Thanks to the betrayal of Judas, he was found last night in a cottenwood bower which passed for the garden of Gethsemane.

Then "Los Pilatos," or soldiers of Pontius Pilate, masked and armed with spears, seized Christ and put him through the trial and crucifixion, all accompanied by the throb of native music. Meanwhile, the true believers speared the dummy representing Judas.

The music reached a wild crescendo as half-naked, painted Indians garbed in weird headdresses swung into their pagan dance, a mock celebration of "the false prophet."

The Indians who conduct these annual ceremonies only 12 miles from Phoenix, Ariz., are a hardy tribe who cling to their traditions despite the ever-increasing pressure of civilization. Unlike other Arizona Tribes, the Yaquis are not federal wards.

They fled Mexico with a price on their heads almost 50 years ago when the Porfirio Diaz government seized their lands in the Yaqui valley of Sonora, Mex. One group settled near Tucson, Ariz., and another here.

Church Opposes War Against Communism

Two NC Men Win In Forensic Meet

Evans, Miller Cop First Two Places

Robert M. Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Evans of Durham and a freshman at the University, won first place in dramatic reading in the national debate tournament being held at Martha Washington College in Fredericksburg, Va., during the weekend, according to word received here today.

Blanton Miller, University junior from Boone, won second place in the same contest.

Upwards to 200 students from 59 colleges and universities throughout the country are participating in the tournament which includes debating, dramatic and address reading, and poetry reading.

In addition to Evans and Miller, other students representing the University are June Hurst, Kannapolis; Bob Hutcherson, Rockingham; Charles Dixon, Belmont; Sam Manning, Spartanburg, S. C.; Bob Giles, Chapel Hill, and their coach, Jim Taylor, law student from Elkin.

Young Evans was graduated last June from the Durham High school where he won both the Citizenship and Declamation Medals, was a member of the Student Council, and was a reporter on the student newspaper.

ROBERT EVANS

Leighton Slated To Address Meet

Professor Joseph Alexander Leighton, formerly Chairman of the Department of Philosophy at Ohio State University, will give a colloquium lecture at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Carolina Inn. His topic will be: "Some Philosophies on History: Principally Hegel, Marx, Spengler and Toynbee."

Professor Leighton received his L. L. D. degree in 1948 from Ohio State in recognition of his distinguished career.

Leighton will also deliver a public lecture Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in Gerrard Hall under the auspices of the Department of Philosophy here.

Actor Beery Dies Of Heart Attack; Was 64 Years Old

HOLLYWOOD, April 16.—(UP)—Grizzled Wallace Berry, who recently celebrated his 34th year as the "lovable old rascal" of Hollywood's rough and tumble movies, died at his home last night of a heart attack. He was 64.

It was the last of many seizures suffered by the lusty character actor since he strained his heart last summer cranking an outboard motor.

He had been under constant care of his doctor ever since, and for the past several weeks a private nurse had been at his home to make sure the once-active Beery lived quietly.

Present with the jumbo-sized actor when he collapsed were his adopted daughter, Carol Ann, her mother, Mrs. Reta Beery, Beery's brother Will and his wife, and his nephew, actor Noah Beery, Jr.

They said the hard boiled actor passed away suddenly.

"It all came so fast," they said. "He apparently felt no pain or fright."

Vatican Paper Says Force Never Destroys Ideals

VATICAN CITY, April 16—(UP)—The Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano said today the Roman Catholic church is opposed to a war against Russia and communism because it abhors war and believes it is "folly" to try to destroy an idea by force.

In a special 3,500 word article devoted to Pope Pius XII's work for peace, the newspaper called Cominform charges that the Pope and church supported war a "perfidious offense and calumny."

It charged that the Cominform campaign was aimed at making the clergy and Catholics "co-responsibles of an armed conflict" in order that the church might be "damned" regardless of who won.

Describing communism as "first a moral and economic motive and fact," the paper said a Soviet liquidation would fail to destroy communism.

"A war and a defeated Russia would force it to mark time, not to give up," the Vatican journal asserted.

It cited the "very significant Yugoslav episode, which the Cominform feared even before the fact itself," as an indication of the great "risks" which communism already was running.

The article, signed by editor-in-chief Guiseppe Dalle Torre, filled more than three columns of the six-page newspaper. It described the work of the Popes in the past and at present for peace. It said:

"There is no offense more saddening and no calumny more perfidious for the church than to say it is a supporter of war.

"With such precedent, it would be ingenuous at least to marvel that the words and action of Pius XII for peace would be enough to make quiet those who want once again to have the clergy and Catholics co-responsibles of an armed conflict in order that, whatever its outcome, favorable or not to the enemies of the church, she and her hierarchy may be struck by their immediate vendetta if they win, or, if defeated, that she may be damned by the implacable hate of the victims of 'reaction' and by their future reprisals."

House Goes Under Water Again As Senate Slices Spending Bill

RALEIGH, N. C., April 16—(UP)—House members got their heads above water this week just in time to get shoved under again by the Senators who worked overtime to trim appropriations.

As soon as the Representatives popped to the surface to gasp "aye" to the road bond compromise, the Senators handed them huge chunks of gold carved from the house-approved spending measure and they sank again.

The Senate needed two more days to complete action on the it $200,000,000 road bond measure and it would take three more days for the House to pass it into law.

The Senate's precedent-shattering Good Friday session ran for six, long, unbroken hours and resulted in changes to the appropriation measure that guaranteed lawmakers would not finish their work in the coming week.

Once again $25,000,000 of the cushion fund was grabbed for use in extending state aid to counties for the building of schools. That action put the appropriations bill in the roll-call class and meant it could not be completed by the Senate before Tuesday.

The Senators also whacked nearly $21,000,000 from appropriations for school teachers salaries.

That gave two outstanding reasons why the House would refuse to concur and the appropriation bill would follow the course of the road bond bill to a conference committee.

The representatives previously voted 59-46 against a proposal to spend $25,000,000 of the cushion fund for school building. They also voted 69-38 to squelch attempts to cut the school appropriations by about $13,000,000—a cut considerably less severe than that inflicted by the Senate. The fights were two of the most bitter of the legislative season.

The cushion fund originally was put into the appropriations bill to support a $2,200 to $3,100 salary pay scale for college-trained teachers. Sen. Edwin Pate, who supported the Senate cut yesterday, said the $5,000,000 of the cushion fund left for school teacher pay would provide a salary scale of $2,025 to 2,710.

Although the Senators cut the $417,319,000 appropriations bill approved by the House by a total of $24,405,000, they added nearly $3,000,000 to pay for bond interest and redemption. The net reduction was $21,482,269 and the spending measure stood at $396,029,235.

The liquor issue flared up time and again during the week with wets and drys in the House virtually at a stalemate until a compromise amendment was drawn that knocked all the fight out of the bills.

The amendment provided that if county-wide votes were ordered within 60 days after ratification, the act permitting cities to vote would become void.

Tacking on that amendment resulted in swift passage by the house of measures calling for liquor elections in Greensboro, Chadbourn, Fairbluff, Tabor City, Whiteville, Mooresville, Walnut Cove, Dunn, Hertford, and Clinton.

The bills will not become laws until the Senate concurs in the amendment to the Clinton measure and passes the others.

Rep. Lewis W. Outlaw of Duplin, who refused to accept the amendment and fought for a liquor election in Wallace, was whipped 55 to 13. He promptly moved to postpone indefinitely similar bills for elections in Faison, Kenansville, and Warsaw. Rep. G. N. Noble of Jones County picked up the cue and had a liquor election bill for Trenton postponed.

Navy Blue, Pastel Shades Seen Prominent In New Easter 'Look'

By Gloria McLeroy

"In the spring a young man's fancy", but not as fancy as a young woman, especially when she is all dressed up in a new Easter outfit. To prove this just look around the church congregations and at the campus strollers today. Notice the frills and flowers adorning the Carolina Coeds.

Suits in bright and pastel shades and dresses of beautfully printed silk are favored by the feminine population, and obviously approved by the male population, also. And as for hats, one can see big hats, little hats, straw hats, flower hats—indescribable hats everywhere perched over pretty faces, some of them wearing that "I know it's a crazy hat, but I like it" expression.

Navy blue seems prominent in this year's free-for-all fashionable look, whether as a basic or accessory color in an outfit. One of the most intriguing outfits in this year's Easter Parade is what on first glance appears to be a classic navy bolero suit, but from closer obselvation, and a few helpful hints from the wearer, is seen to be a silk print dress, a blue skirt and a blue jacket, each of which can be worn separately or in many combinations.

When an accessory, navy blue is a striking accompaniment to crisp white linen or palm beach suits or to gay silk prints, or as in one ensemble, to a dress of sky blue polka dots on white worn with a white jacket of the popular "fly-away" style back.

And speaking of "fly-away." that's exactly what some of the more casual, carefree coeds were planning to do when questioned about their Easter plans. "I plan to join the 'Blister Parade' at the beach," commented one such casual, carefree coed, "and will be smartly attired in a two piece swim suit of coral lastax."

WEARING THEIR EASTER OUTFITS, are two of Carolina's Coeds, Miss Patty Ann Frizzell and Miss "Candy" Jonas. Miss Frizzell's outfit features a silk print dress of grey, green and white and accessories of grey summer suede. Her gray straw hat is decorated with flowers and veiling of green. The black gabardine suit worn by Miss Jonas has the attractive "fish-tail" back effect, and is accentuated by a black and white pleated ruffle at the neck. Her shoes and bag are of black alligator and her hat is an original of natural straw trimmed with red poppies and shiny cherries.

Coeds Prepare For Baseball, Give 'Pahties'

By Jane Gower

With spring and softballs in the air, members of the Carolina sororities, dorms, and other associations take to Keenan field to practice for the girl's intramural softball tournament, which will start Thursday afternoon. Each group, which may enter two teams apiece, has its eye on the shiny athletic cup that will be awarded at the annual WAA picnic in May.

From athletics to "pahties," the sororities have begun their spring entertaining in a big way. The Alpha Delta Pi's entertained the Alpha Tau Omega's Thursday night with a juke-box party at the ADPi house.

The Alpha Gamma Delta's will start their party spree rolling Monday night with a party for the members of the Monogram Club from 6:00-8:00 at the Alpha Gam house. They will also entertain the Chi Psi fraternity April 28 from 8:00-10:00 o'clock.

Members of Delta Delta Delta are going over to the Delta Kappa Epsilon house Tuesday night at 7:00 for a lecture-discussion on sororities and fraternities.

The Pi Beta Phi's are making plans for their annual Founders' Day program with the Duke Pi Phi chapter. A committee, headed by Betsy Tom Lawrence, is planning a picnic for the Dook coeds.

And finally the Pi Phi's have finished electing officers. Remaining positions elected last Wednesday night are Ann Marshall Emmert, scholarship chairman; Ann Chandler, Ruth Whalen, censors; Gene Denbo, historian; Helen Hilton, program chairman; Bobbie Lowe, activities chairman; Betsy Hommel, magazine chairman; Charleen Grier, University party representative; Bootsy Taylor, settlement School chairman; Mike Merger, WAA representative; and Ruth Butler, publicity chairman.

For Your Flower Needs—
—Call—
West-Williams Flower Shop
PH. 9906—P.O. BLDG.—CARRBORO
Flowers Wired Anywhere

CICA Fashion Show Models Are Chosen

Models for the annual spring fashion show, to be given by the Carolina Independent Coed Association April 26 in the Carolina Theater from 9 until 11 p.m., have been chosen, Eloise Jacobi, outgoing CICA president announced yesterday.

The models, chosen by members of the five sororities, CICA, the Town Girl's Association, and the Monogram Club, will present men and women's wearing apparel from Robbins of Durham. They will model summer clothes in such scenes as a swimming pool, house party, dance, tea, summer school classroom, Y court dance, a wedding, and graduation.

Music for the show will be furnished by the Town Talk Trio, and Pete Strader, who will act as a master of ceremonies, will write the script.

Models chosen for the show are: Mary Ann Harper, Betty Long, and Marty Hinkle, representing CICA; Barbara Dalton and Betsy Ross, Chi Omega sorority; Sarah Jane Farlowe and Peggy Martin, Alpha Delta Pi sorority; Barbara Crawford and Pat Chandler, Alpha Gamma Delta sorority; Babs Dewitt and Patty Ann Frizzell, Delta Delta Delta sorority; Jackie Lewis and Jean Sloan, Pi Beta Phi sorority; Becky Huggins and Madge Crawford, Town Girl's Association. The Monogram Club has not announced its models yet.

Chairmen of the planning committees are: Marjorie Bradley, models; Catherine Hovis, music; Marty Hingle, posters; Carolyn Gutherie and Jacile Tadgett, script; and Joyce Harris, tickets.

New Officers Take Posts This Weekend

Newly elected officers for next year's student church organizations will be installed in ceremonies this weekend, and all churches will devote Sunday services and programs to Easter worship.

Edlyn Feerks was elected president of the Baptist Student Union at the Supper meeting last Thursday. Other newly elected officers are: Phyllis Ann Gentry, vice-president; Asa Johnson, treasurer; Mickey Grady, secretary; and Al Snyder, host.

The Methodist Student group, which will install it's new officers at the 6 o'clock Supper Program tonight, have elected Jim Brockman as president. Joe Beasley has been elected vice-president; Bob Woody, secretary; and Jim Hutchins, treasurer.

The Wesley Foundation Program, to be lead by the Rev. Mr. Brooks Patten and Warren Ashby will feature "The Recorded Drama," which is the story of the Resurrection.

The Canterbury Club at the Episcopal church will hold a work shop concerning Family Prayer at its meeting Tuesday night at 6 o'clock at the Parish House. Supper will preceed the work period.

Durham Optical Co
215 W. MAIN ST.
TEL. E 2141
OPTICIANS

Social Lights

By Caroline Bruner

The engagement of Miss Mary Lou Mason of Beaufort to Peter Gerns of Canton, Ohio was recently announced. Miss Mason is a senior at the Woman's College in Greensboro.

The wedding will take place sometime in the summer.

Miss Babs Kerr of Arlington, Va., recently became pinned to Robert Plumb of Washington, D. C., a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity at the University. Miss Kerr is a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority.

The engagement of Miss Mary Ellen Montgomery of Savannah, Ga., to Robert McAllister of Raleigh was announced recently. Miss Montgomery, a senior at the University, is the out-going president of the Theta Psi Epsilon honorary chemistry sorority.

The date for the wedding has not been announced yet.

Miss Ruth Groves, a graduate student in the Dramatic Arts Department, recently became engaged to James Geiger, a senior at the University from Miami, Fla. Date of the wedding has not been announced yet.

Miss Elizabeth Hazelett Scott and Miss Helen Barnes, University alumnae, visited members of the Pi Beta Phi sorority. Both Miss Scott and Miss Barnes are members of the Pi Phi sorority.

Sigma Chi Ball, Derby Slated For Next Month

The Sigma Chi Fraternity held the first in a series of three parties Thursday night at their house. These are for the purpose of selecting the "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" and her court to be presented at a formal dance, Saturday night, May 7th.

Thirty-five girls, representatives of the dorms and sororities, were present at the party Thursday night. A buffet supper was served after which an informal dance was held.

In addition to the Sweetheart Ball to be held the night of May 7th, the fifth annual Sigma Chi Derby will be held in Kenan Stadium, that Saturday afternoon. The five sororities and the C. I. C. A. will participate in various events as well as a skit and a "Miss Modern Venus" contest. Last year, the events included such contests as a pie-eating contest, a sack race, an egg and spoon race, The nature of the event this year will not be disclosed to contestants until the day of the Derby.

A cup is given to the organization winning the largest number of points in all the events. The girl that is named "Miss Modern Venus" also receives an individual cup. Last year the Alpha Delta Pi sorority won the organization cup and Sara Jane Farlow was named Miss Modern Venus.

The girls entered in this year's contest for the Sweetheart are: Armecia Eure, Estelle Suddreth, Betsy Ross, Gene Frances Carraher; representing Chi Omega; Sandra Sisk, Barbara Crawford, Kitty St. John, Jody Armstrong, representing Alpha Gamma Delta; Gene Hines, Puttie Ann Frizzell, Caroline Harrel, Muriel Fisher, representing Del-

TRI DELTS ENTERTAINING a group of Negro children at an Easter egg hunt Thursday are, left to right, Lynn Hammock, Jean Lucas, Mintie Cantrell, Cutie Matthews, Phyllis Bradshaw, Danny Payne, Clara Jane Burroughs, B. A. Pope, Jody Ryan, Janet Johnson, Mac Copenhaver, Candy Jonas, Betty Dixon, Mary Dillard.

Ladies' Wear Sales Not Up This Easter

By United Press

Shopping for spring outfits kept pre-Easter sales in women's wear at or near last year's level, leading department stores in several major cities reported this weekend.

Varying reports came from stores in 21 major cities on overall pre-Easter clothes buying. Some stores reported it was "well above" that of 1948. Others said it was "slightly below," and one admitted sales were "disappointing."

Few could offer any comparison in dollar or sales unit volume until the books were closed on this week, the last before Easter.

All stores pointed out comparisons with last year's pre-Easter sales were difficult, because Easter is four weeks later this year than last, and weather is a large factor in spring clothes buying. Many agreed that buying of high-priced outfits was "off" from last year's figures. Others noted that buyers were more careful.

By cities, a survey by the United Press included:

Atlanta—Charles Jagels, speaking for Davison's, one of the city's largest department stores, said Easter buying figures this year will be "far from sensational."

Memphis—The manager of the ladies' department of one large store reported he was "very well pleased" with sales, although women are "shopping around more," buying in lower price ranges and demanding more for their money. A men's store manager said there was "every indication" Easter would be "just about equal" or "perhaps just under" last year's figures.

New York—Most department stores and retailers say business about even or slightly up over last year. One specializing in women's clothing said sales "way ahead" and "broken all records," but most not so optimistic.

May Frolics To Get Underway Friday Evening With Dance

The Annual May Frolic dances, sponsored by seven fraternities on campus, will get under way Friday night at 9 o'clock in Woollen gymnasium with Skitch Henderson and his orchestra playing.

The dance, which will be the first of two formal dances, will last until 1 o'clock. The second dance will begin at 8 o'clock Saturday night, and will last until 12 o'clock. Henderson will present a concert Friday afternoon in Memorial Hall from 2 until 5 o'clock.

The fraternities, which are sponsoring May Frolics are: the Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Nu, Theta Pi, Sigma Nu, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Zeta Psi, and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternities.

Tarnation, campus humor magazine, will be distributed to students Monday afternoon, Tom Kerr, newly elected editor said yesterday. The issue is called the "budget cut issue."

Ta Delta Delta: Norma Jean Dew, Delta; Norman Jean Dew, Jane Jane Gower, Marie Nussbaum, Helen Hilton, representing Pi Beta Phi; Peggy Martin, Ann Royster, Pat Denning, Sara Pegram, representing Alpha Delta Pi.

Betty McMahon, Lynda Gilliam, Lillian Wilson, Mary Ann Hooper, representing C. I. C. A.; Bobbie Lowe, Bobbie McIntyre, Louise Horner, from Spencer dormitory; Charleen Greer, Polly Rudolph, Lorraine Howard, from Archer House; Kay Gray Beal, Eleanor Aubrey Daisy Bell Anderson from Smith Dormitory; Ann Green, Betty Smith, Jackie Lowi from Alderman; and Mike Merker, Barbara Payne, Susan Trumbo from McIver.

MAN FAINTS AT LOW PRICES

CHAPEL HILL, April 17—

The high cost of living took its toll in reverse today. Joe Smudge is so used to paying high prices for everything that when he ran into a low price for a better product, he bit the dust!

Seems a friend lent him a wonderful razor blade—PAL Hollow Ground. Joe went to the store to get some more. "How much?" asked Joe. "Still only 10¢ for 4," said the clerk. That's when Smudge fainted.

"What?" said Joe when he came to, "Why I pay twice that for blades that aren't half as good."

P.S.: Don't be fooled by price. Try Pal Hollow Ground yourself. You still get 4 for 10¢, 10 for 25¢, 21 for 49¢, 44 for 98¢. For either Double or Single Edge razors.

SEAFOOD

Our famous New Orleans Chef really knows his seafoods — Lobsters, Shrimp, Shadroe, Frog Legs, Soft Shell Crabs, Ocean Fresh Fish at prices you can afford to pay.

Delicious Lunches as low as 45—Dozen's of Hot and Toasted Sandwiches, Delightful Dinners at night that will really please you.

LUNCHES
DINNERS

PARTIES

If you are plannng a party, by all imeans, see us. We specalize in parties, banquets and get-togethers.

Baldwin's Marine Restaurant
— We Open 7 A.M. ● We Close 7 P.M.

PAL BLADES?
WE HAVE THEM
AT
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE
"A Complete Drug Store"
WALGREEN AGENCY

Negro Children Honored With Easter Egg Hunt

The Delta Delta Delta sorority entertained 15 Negro children from Hickory Grove grammar school Thursday afternoon at an Easter egg hunt at their house.

The children, ranging in age from 4 to 9 years, received Easter baskets and the eggs they found as favors. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served on the lawn after the youngsters played "pin the tail on the rabbit," drop the handkerchief, and other games.

Joan Lucas of St. Petersburg, Fla., house president, welcomed the children. She was assisted in directing games and serving refreshments by the entire sorority.

CICA Officers To Take Office Thursday Night

Caroline Bruner, newly elected president of the Carolina Independent Coed Association, will take office Thursday night when installation and initiation ceremonies will take place upstairs in the Y building.

Other officers elected at the last meeting and who are to be installed are: Betty McMahan, vice-president; Lillian Wilson, secretary; and Dot Smith, treasurer.

It's a
FREEMAN Shoe
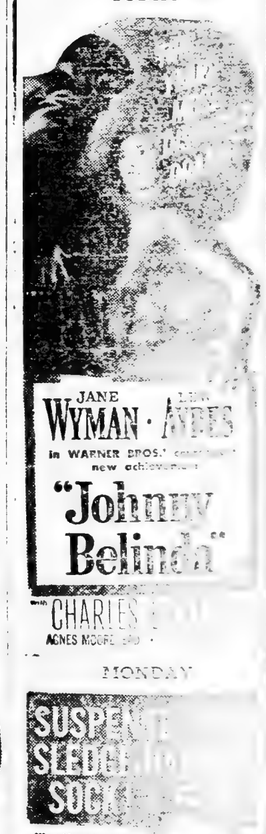
The "COLLEGIATE SADDLE"
Styled to stay "in style" . . . and built by quality shoemakers to be as comfortable as they are serviceable. A "Better Buy" by FREEMAN. Thick Red Rubber all-sport bottoms.
$9.95
THE YOUNG MEN'S SHOP
Main at Church
Durham, N. C.

Elections Held, Fraternity Adds 15 Members

The newly elected officers of Pi Lambda Phi are: Jerry [illegible] Chase City, Va., president; [illegible] Frankel, Atlantic City, [illegible] vice-president; Dick [illegible] Miami, Fla., secretary; Stan [illegible] man, Norfolk, Va., treasurer; [illegible] Kaufman, Mt. Vernon, [illegible] parliamentarian; Shelly [illegible] Long Branch, N. Y., house manager; Mel Westreich and [illegible] Roth, kitchen managers.

Fifteen new members were admitted to Kappa chapter of Kappa Phi fraternity in recent spring initiation ceremonies.



The new members are: P. Aldridge, Reidsville; B. Apple, Jr., Reidsville; D. Cameron, Jr., Southern Pines; Charles L. Ezell, III, [illegible]; Joseph H. Higdon, Jr., [illegible]; Robert C. Hubbard, [illegible] boro; Aaron J. Jones, [illegible] York City; Harvey M. [illegible] Wilson; Nathaniel P. [illegible] Sarasota, Fla.; Dupree [illegible] Southern Pines; Willis [illegible] zer, Morganton; H. [illegible] Tucker, Winston-Salem; [illegible] H. Wilkerson, [illegible]; R. Womack, Spencer; [illegible] D. Worsham, Southern [illegible]

Jerry Womack was given the pledge of the year award and Tucker received the [illegible] award.

'Y' Group Held Easter Egg Hunt

Over 28 Negro children [illegible] entertained at an Easter egg hunt Thursday afternoon by [illegible] ard and members of the Social Service Council.

Money to pay for the eggs was collected from the dorms by Sara [illegible] and five dozen Easter eggs were dyed by Kitty Altman and Surpell.

VILLAGE
TODAY

JANE WYMAN · [illegible]
in WARNER BROS.' new achievement
"Johnny Belinda"
with CHARLES [illegible]
AGNES MOOREHEAD
MONDAY
SUSPECT SLEUTH SOUGHT
War-time hero sought by Navy sleuths... as trigger-mob frames him for treason!

RKO RADIO PICTURES
Produced by HERMAN SCHLOM
Directed by RICHARD O. FLEISCHER
Story and Screen Play by CARL FOREMAN

ctions Held,
ternity Adds
Members

ewly elected officers of da Phi are: Jerry Weiss,
ty. Va., president; Perry Atlantic City, N. J.,
ident; Dick Roser,
la., secretary; Stan Good-folk, Va., treasurer; Bob
., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.,
ntenant; Shelly Plager,
ens, N. Y., house mana-el Westreich and Paul chen managers.
r five members were ad-
o Kappa chapter of Pi
Phi fraternity during ring initiation ceremo-ew members are Denny

dge, Reidsville; Willard
, Jr., Reidsville; David
rson, Jr., Southern Pines;
L. Ezell, III, Durham;
Haden, Jr., Asheville;
North Wilkes-
ron J. Jones, Jr., New ity; Harvey M. Jones,
N. Edward F. Magruder,
Fla.; Drennen G. Mann,
Pines; William F. Set-
Robert Glenn
ton-Salem; William
, Reidsville; Jerry
ns, Spencer; and James Southern Pines.
Wilkes was named best of the year and Glenn received the Best Paddle

Group Held
ter Egg Hunt
28 Negro children were an Easter Egg Hunt
ored by Lil Hot-
ress of the YWCA
ce Committee.
to pay for the Easter collected from the girl's y Shop. "Fink" Gobbel
Easter eggs were
Kathy Altizer and Jean

ILLAGE
TODAY

JANE LEW
MAN · AYRES
WARNER BROS.' courageous new achievement
Johnny Belinda"
BICKFORD
STEPHEN McNALLY
MONDAY

Arnold Nash Will Discuss Protestant Case Vs. Marx

Dr. Arnold Nash, head of the University Department of Religion, will speak on "The Protestant Case Against Marxism" at the meeting of the Karl Marx Study Society at 7:30 tomorrow night in Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial.

"Like Max Weber," Dr. Nash said, "I believe that where Karl Marx was wrong is far more important than where every other 19th century thinker was right."

Dr. Nash is particularly qualified to discuss Marxism because of his training and the several years of graduate work that he did in the London School of Economics. He will clarify excerpts from his book, "The University and the Modern World," and will show the unique position Protestant religion occupies in relation to Marxist knowledge and expression.

Workshop Slated To Begin June 9 In Chapel Hill

The sixth summer session of the Health Education Workshop will be held June 9 to July 19 in Chapel Hill, and will be sponsored by the School of Education of the University and the School Health Coordinating Service.

Established to provide opportunities for teachers, superintendents, health department and college personnel to gain basic knowledge and to get practical experience which will aid them in their community health programs, a large staff has been assembled for lectures, demonstrations and seminars.

Members are Dr. C. P. Speyick, co-director, School Health Coordinating Service, Raleigh; Charles E. Spencer, also a co-director; Dr. O. K. Cornwell, in charge of physical education in the University; Dr. A. T. Miller, professor of physiology, University Medical School; Dr. William Peacock, assistant professor of physical education; Dr. R. M. Fink, consultant in mental hygiene, School Health Coordinating Service; Miss Ruth O. Moore, adviser in physical education, School Health Coordinating Service; Miss Jane Jones, principal nutritionist, State Board of Health, and Mrs. Annie R. Moore, health educator, School Health Coordinating Service.

During the Workshop numerous topics will be considered, including personal health practices, community health, safety, nutrition, maternal and child care, cancer and other degenerative diseases.

North Carolina's Sen. Clyde R. Hoey One Up on High-Collared Macy

By Harman W. Nichols

WASHINGTON, April 16—(UP)—The way W. Kingsland Macy looks at it, if you have a trade mark you might as well let folks know about it.

Macy, a Republican Congressman from the first district of New York, wears his trade mark. It's a stiff collar, two inches high. The only one in Congress.

The closest thing to it on Capitol Hill is the winged job sported daily by the dignified gentleman from North Carolina, Sen. Clyde Roark Hoey. The Senator goes Macy one better by always wearing a swallow-tailed coat and a carnation in his buttonhole.

Macy, no imitator, says he's too short for a swallow-tail and doesn't look very cute in a carnation.

"But," he told me, "I have worn a high collar since I was a young man. It caused some comment after soft collars came in and so I decided right then and there that if a man owned a badge—He ought to wear it. I think it got me some votes, too."

Macy (no imitator, I said) promoted the candidacy of Herbert Hoover when he was running for president. Everybody remembers Mr. H. in his high collar. He doesn't wear one any more, though. He shocked the folks at Philadelphia last summer at the Republican national convention when he pulled up to make a speech in a plain white shirt with a soft, roll-down collar. He talked just as nice as he ever did in an iron choker.

The collars are stiff as a board and about half as pretty. But Macy swears they are comfortable. That's for the record. But follow the representative home and the first thing he does when he gets the key out of the lock is to rip off his collar.

'Ol' One-Word' O'Brien Is Only 4 But He Knows When to Clam Up

By Leo Turner

NEW YORK, April 16—(UP)—Francis Dennis (Ol' One-Word) O'Brien is four years old. He's tough, he's confident and he minds his own business. But Brooklyn police wish today that Francis Dennis O'Brien had never gotten a cowboy shirt.

For what good is a cowboy shirt in the Bushwick section of Brooklyn when the thermometer shoots up to 76 and a boy is four years old? Francis Dennis O'Brien headed west.

Except that the train he got on was heading east. So he caught another train, and maybe another.

It was 5:05 in the afternoon and Conductor Arthur Menger, after making a quick check to see that all passengers were aboard the Long Island Railroad commuters' train heading from Farmingdale, Long Island, toward town were safe when J. E. Stone came down the aisle.

"Look what I found on the bottom step of the third car," he said, pushing forward a grimy-faced, tow-headed urchin in red and blue cowboy suit. "And he wasn't hanging on either," Stone said.

So at Syosset Station, Patrolman Arthur Talbot of the Nassau County police got a boy.

"What is your name?" Talbot asked.

"Francis," the boy said.

"And what is your last name?"

"O'Brien," he said.

"Sure, and maybe you have a middle name?"

"Dennis," he said.

"Now Francis Dennis O'Brien, tell me where you live."

"Home," he said.

"And on what street is your home?"

"McDonough."

"There is no McDonough street in Farmingdale. Maybe it's McDonald," said Talbot.

"McDonald," said the boy.

"Sure, and come to think of it, there's no McDonald street, either."

About that time a Farmingdale woman reported that a dirty-faced little boy whom the hometown kids didn't know had taken the keys from her automobile.

"And what have you got in your pocket that jingles?" said Talbot.

"Bottletops," said Francis Dennis O'Brien.

"Sure, and how did they turn into this lady's car keys?"

It was late last night when the missing persons' alarm came from Brooklyn for a boy in a red and blue cowboy shirt.

It was early in the morning when his mother tucked Francis Dennis O'Brien into bed.

"How did you get to Farmingdale?" she asked.

"Goodnight," said Ol' One-Word O'Brien.

Long, Determined Search of Sleuth Brings University Famous Collection

By Agatha Adams

A scholar's search which led from the Library of Congress and through the Princeton Library to a stately mansion on Long Island, and thence to a cache of manuscripts in California, has resulted in bringing to the library of the University of North Carolina the largest collection anywhere available of the plays of Augustus Thomas.

Several years ago Dr. J. O. Bailey of the English Department enabled by a Carnegie grant to spend three months in independent research, became mystified by the absence of these plays in libraries where he felt they ought to be.

He knew that Thomas had written some 70 full length plays, of which only 15 were ever published, although most of them had been produced at one time or another. Yet the Library of Congress had only three of these manuscript plays, the University of Pennsylvania five, the New York Public Library six or seven.

Where were the others? Convinced that they must exist somewhere, Dr. Bailey began to follow clues with the persistence of a Sherlock Holmes. After many difficulties, he finally found Luke Thomas, the son of the famous dramatist, living in the family residence on Long Island. He found that all the manuscripts were carefully preserved by Mrs. Augustus Thomas in California.

And better still, he found that the Thomas family would be very glad to have the plays preserved in the University of North Carolina, because Augustus Thomas had a great admiration for the late Professor Frederick H. Koch. Thus the capacity for friendship of one scholar stretched out to aid the research of another.

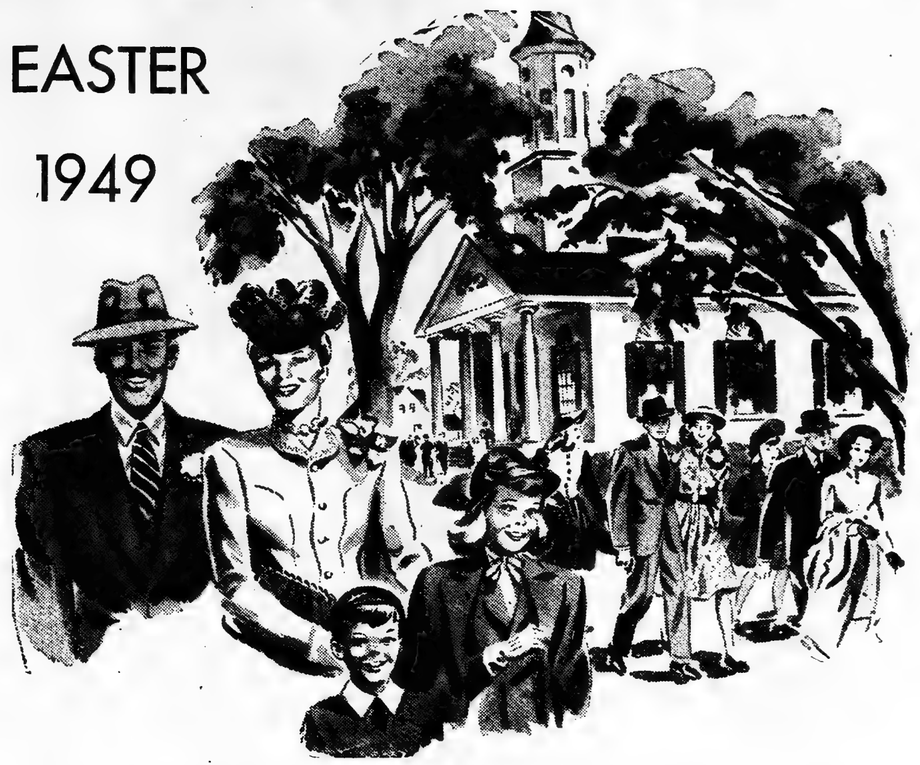
The purchase of the Thomas collection from Mrs. Lisle Colby Thomas and Luke Thomas was made possible by contributions from the Friends of the Library, the Departments of English and of Dramatic Art, and individual contributors, among them J. O. Bailey, George Horner and Paul Green.

Augustus Thomas, who lived from 1857 to 1934, was the most popular and influential American dramatist during the period 1890 to 1916. His name at once calls up recollections of those popular old plays, "Alabama," "In Mizzoura," "The Copperhead," "The Witching Hour," "As a Man Thinks."

Thomas wrote in the older vein of melodrama and sheer entertainment, and was little affected by the sombre realism of the "new theater" of his period.

Dr. Wendell C. Bennett Will Speak On Archeology in Gerrard Thursday

Dr. Wendell C. Bennett, professor of anthropology at Yale University, will speak in Gerrard Hall at 8 o'clock Thursday evening on the topic "Archeology and the Peoples of the Andes."



Dr. Bennett, a specialist in Andean archeology, has taken part in a number of expeditions into the Andes. He is the author of "The Tarahumara" and of several monographs on excavations in Tiahuanaco, Bolivia, the North Coast of Peru, the North Highlands of Peru and the archeological regions of Colombia.

A native of Indiana, Professor Bennett received the Ph. B., M. A. and Ph. D. degrees at the University of Chicago. He was on the staff of the American Museum of Natural History from 1931-38, following which he served as associate professor of anthropology at the University of Wisconsin for two years. In 1940 he accepted an associate professorship at Yale and since 1945 has had the rank of professor there.

Dr. Bennett, a former executive secretary of the Joint Committee on Latin American Studies, is a member of the American Anthropological Association and the Archeological Institute of America.

His lecture here is being sponsored by the Institute of Latin American Studies and the North Carolina Society of the Archeological Institute of America. The public is cordially invited to attend.

EASTER

Attend Church Services with Your Family and Friends

Honor our Lord and strengthen your own spirit by attending church services this Easter. Your, your family, your friends will enjoy the inspiring Service, the magnificent music, the feeling of goodwill derived from the beauty and significance of Easter church services. The doors of your church are open in welcoming embrace to you this peaceful, glorious Holy Day in sacred celebration of His resurrection.

EASTER SERVICES IN YOUR CHURCH

EPISCOPAL
Rev. David W. Yates
8:00 A.M.—Holy Communion
9:15 A.M.—Holy Communion
11:00 A.M.—Holy Communion
8:00 P.M.—Evening Prayer

COMMUNITY EASTER SERVICE
6:00 A.M.—Community Easter Sunrise Service at Gimghoul Castle for Protestant Churches

LUTHERAN
Rev. E. C. Cooper
11:00 A.M.—Easter Service with Sermon and Communion

METHODIST
Rev. G. H. Ruark
7:15 A.M.—Breakfast
8:00 A.M.—Holy Communion
11:00 A.M.—Easter Worship Service

CONGREGATIONAL-CHRISTIAN
Rev. Bernard V. Munger
11:00 A.M.—Morning Worship
8:00 P.M.—Evening Worship

BAPTIST
Rev. J. C. Herrin
9:00 A.M.—Breakfast
11:00 A.M.—Morning Worship

PRESBYTERIAN
Rev. Charles Jones
7:30 A.M.—Breakfast
9:45 A.M.—Special Easter Service
11:00 A.M.—Special Easter Service

CATHOLIC
Father Francis J. Morrissey
8:00 A.M.—Mass
9:30 A.M.—Solemn High Mass

THIS ADVERTISEMENT MADE POSSIBLE THROUGH THE SPONSORSHIP OF THE FOLLOWING MERCHANTS

CASTON MOTOR COMPANY
West Franklin Street

HAZZARD MOTOR COMPANY
West Franklin Street

FARMER'S DAIRY CO-OPERATIVE ASSO.
West Franklin Street

WENTWORTH & SLOAN
East Franklin Street

LLOYD-RAY COMPANY, INC.
Carrboro, N. C.

SUTTON'S DRUG STORE
159 East Franklin Street

ANDREWS-HENNINGER CO.
138 East Franklin Street

DANZIGER'S CANDY KITCHEN
East Franklin Street

THE HILL BAKERY
124 East Franklin Street

CAROLINA PHARMACY
155 East Franklin Street

VARSITY
149 East Franklin Street

JACK LIPMAN
147 East Franklin Street

STROWD MOTOR CO.
100 West Franklin Street

SMITH-PREVOST CLEANERS
North Columbia Street

JOHNSON-STROWD-WARD FURNITURE CO.
West Franklin Street

BANK OF CHAPEL HILL
137 East Franklin Street

CAROLINA DRAPERY SHOP
West Franklin Street

LITTLE SHOP
East Franklin Street

JOHN FOUSHEE INSURANCE AGENCY
108 North Columbia Street

COLONIAL MOTORS, INC.
Carrboro, N. C.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. ..... Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports Staff—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Night Editor: Bill (Dude) Buchan Night Sports: Wuff Newell

"...Shall Never Die"

The Easter Message has been so crudely put by some that many of us can no longer believe it, and Easter has become to us a holiday on which to wear new clothes, send the girl some flowers, and give the children a chance to hunt Easter eggs.

This crude expression simply put is—Man must die and when that happens can he hope to live again? Those who give an affirmative answer then prepare the body carefully for burial and place it in the ground "waiting for the resurrection and the life to come".

But there is another and more fruitful way of putting the Easter message. Jesus expressed it clearly when talking with Martha as her brother lay dead he said to her, "WHOEVER LIVETH AND BELIEVETH ON ME SHALL NEVER DIE." The fact that "believeth" has been taken to mean intellectual assent to some creedal expression about Jesus should not deter us from seeing the truth of His words. Put it this way—whoever enters into and shares my kind of life shall never die. There is a quality of living that death can gain no hold over, it is the victor over death. That Paul had grasped this truth is shown in the 13th chapter of 1st Corinthians as he writes concerning many things that are transient and will pass away, concluding with "Now faith, hope, love—these three last on[illegible]."

If this be true then Eternal Life is not something merely to look forward to but to be laid hold of now. Indeed, if one does not in some measure possess it now it is hard to see how the fact of physical death can suddenly usher him into it. The important question on Easter is not, when I Die Shall I Live Again? The important question is, How much of faith, hope, and love enters into my life now? The writer of John's gospel gives us our best assurance of eternal life—"By this we KNOW we HAVE PASSED from death into life, IF we HAVE love."

Rev. Charles M. Jones

PASSING SENTENCE

By Jonathan Marshall

A lot of people missed an excellent chance to go to Europe this summer, and the cost would not have been high.

Ten English universities offered courses for American students under the sponsorship of the Institute of International Education in New York.

The courses offered included "Shakespeare and Elizabethan Drama," at Birmingham; "England's Industrial North" at Manchester and Sheffield; and "Modern European Civilization" at Oxford, to name a few.

Special student rates were offered by steamship lines, and the charge for tuition, room, and board for most of the seminars was about 60 pounds—a little over $250.

Unfortunately four of the courses had to be cancelled because there were not enough applicants to make them worthwhile.

While on the subject of study abroad, it is interesting to note the number of scholarships that are offered to American students who want to study in other countries.

It would be interesting to know whether the lack of applicants is due to poor publicity or lack of interest.

* * *

Anyone who has been in the Library during the last week or so has seen the signs requesting student support in getting funds from the Legislature to enlarge the building.

We often take a library for granted after it has been built. There is always interest in building a new dorm, a classroom building, or even a planetarium, but people tend to think that a library must be adequate once it has been built.

The crates in the halls containing thousands of volumes of badly needed books are mute evidence of the need for an extension of our library.

Students who have tried to do advanced research work can attest to the fact that great gaps exist in our collection of books; but nothing can be done without more space.

It is well and good to build new buildings, but a university revolves around its library. Students and classrooms are worthless without adequate reference material, for an educational institution is only as good as its library.

Yes, it's about time we supported the Library a little bit. It's too bad that none of the political parties thought about the Library as a campaign issue; however, they could still take a stand.

Big Two of Studdent Government

BILL MACKIE, left, and Ted Leonard were recently elected to the two top positions in student government at Carolina. Mackie is the new president of the student body while Leonard is the vice-president.

Campus Personalities

Meet Mackie And Leonard

By Frank Allston

They didn't give Harry Truman a chance in the November elections, but the same "Lil ole Harry" is still a resident of the White House. They didn't give Bill Mackie a chance, but he's the new president of the Carolina student body.

Bill, leading man on the Student Party's ballot, came from the proverbial nowhere to turn in a resounding triumph over favored Dick Gordon in last week's run-off. Rated a poor third to Gordon and veteran Charlie Long, Mackie proved as Truman did in November, that public opinion and not that of the experts is what counts.

A veteran of two years in the Legislature, Mackie has a good background in student government. He served with distinction as chairman of the finance committee which drew up the first student control budget.

Bill also served as chairman of the student council in 1948-'49 after being elected to the council in the spring of 1948. He also put in one term as chairman of the Student Party.

In his first year at Chapel Hill, Mackie was chosen as a delegate to the State student legislature in 1944. The following year Bill served in the Navy and then returned to political life on the Carolina campus.

Mackie is a native of Chapel Hill and a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and says his chief interests are "Joseph, Crate of State," his 1934 Packard touring car, and classical music. He says he has trouble hiring and firing unpaid mechanics for Joseph, which he and running-mate Al Lowenstein used extensively in the recent campaign.

Bill says he doesn't have any definite plans for the immediate future of Carolina student government except for Vice-President Ted Leonard and himself to set up housekeeping.

The two go into office on Tuesday with the job of keeping Carolina student government on its feet and striving for the improvements Carolina students want.

* * *

Ted Leonard, the new vice-president of the Carolina student body and the speaker of the Student Legislature, proved last week that hard work and clean campaigning will be rewarded.

Winner over Al Lowenstein by a slim 28-vote margin in the run-off last Tuesday, Ted will take over his new office on Tuesday. The winning of the vice-presidency was not the only big thing that happened to him last week.

On Wednesday Ted became a member of the Grail, one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a Carolina undergraduate. The likeable new vice-president, a native of Greensboro and a member of Sigma Chi fraternity, was, of course, very happy over the two big events.

Sporting a long list of student government accomplishments both in high school at Greensboro and here at Chapel Hill, Leonard is thought by many to be one of the most qualified men to take the position he will now assume.

Since arriving on the Carolina campus, he has been president of the freshman class, a member of the Student Legislature, a member of the Legislature's elections committee and an orientation councellor. In high school he was president of his graduating class and a two-year member of the student council.

Ted is a law student and a very good one at that. He has been on the dean's list each of the last three quarters. In spite of all the work he has to do, he still manages to find time to be Sigma Chi's rushing chairman and to follow the football team around. Ted's sports-mindedness can be largely attributed to the fact that he rooms with two varsity players, Dickie Bunting and Al Bernot.

Ted says that he "plans to work closely with Bill as president and work closely with the new speaker of the coed senate." He also says he will help any member of the legislature in any way he can. The victorious candidate said he has a "great amount of respect for Al (Lowenstein) as a person" and that he greatly appreciates all the efforts made during the election on his behalf.

"I hope that all factions can unite and work harmoniously for better student government," Leonard said as he prepared to assume the new position on Tuesday.

Adelaide Addle

Dear Miss Addle,

Everywhere I go, I see the squirrels running back and forth over the campus having a wonderful time. Outside of my dormitory window, I watch a Papa squirrel carrying food up a tree trunk to his wife and little babies. They seem supremely happy. How can I find a man to bring food to me and make me happy?

Frustrated

Dear Frustrated:

You might try living in a tree trunk. If that doesn't work, bet a rope, your father, a shot gun, a preacher and then go to the Y court and hogtie you a man.

Dear Miss Addle,

I'm not ugly, but then, I'm not handsome either. Yet, everytime I start towards the women's dormitory, they lock all the doors and windows and won't let me in. What shall I do?

Alone

Dear Alone,

I can sympathize with you over the beauty question. Or should I say lack of beauty. Have you tried Retonga?

Dear Miss Addle,

There's a beautiful secretary in the office's of faculty advisor. I have tried to be friendly with her but she remains very cold towards me. I do not think she is over 45. How can I get her to date me? I am only 18.

Misguided.

Dear Misguided,

Age never hinders anyone. Send her a birthday card saying "Happy birthday, Sweet 16" That should pave your highway to love.

LOCAL HUMOR

By J. Mills

I don't think you have heard the joke about the untidy bed because it hasn't been made up yet.

Sign on door of Hill Hall Music building:

"Bach in ten minutes."

Did you know that 50 per cent of all married people are men?

"I think you're knife,
Let's go spoon."

via "Mills' Almanac"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Insult to Veterans

Dear Sir,

I have often been tempted to write to the editor of this pa[illegible] and now I think I can no longer restrain myself. Mr. Evan's [illegible] about the 52-20 club must be answered.

Let me clarify my position. I am a veteran, going to school [illegible] the G. I. Bill, and am willing to match service records with [illegible]

The veteran of World War II will go down in history [illegible] greatest beggar of all times. This country has spent more [illegible] for the rehabilitation of the veteran than any other in the [illegible] of the world.

Now Mr. Evans is asking for the extension of 52-20. [illegible] plainly asking for extended charity. The war has been [illegible] over three and a half years. Just when is the veteran [illegible] take his rightful place as a useful citizen of our country?

True, jobs are harder to get now, but the governm[illegible] systems of relief for those who cannot make their own [illegible] State also maintains welfare departments in all count[illegible] employs workers for just such purposes.

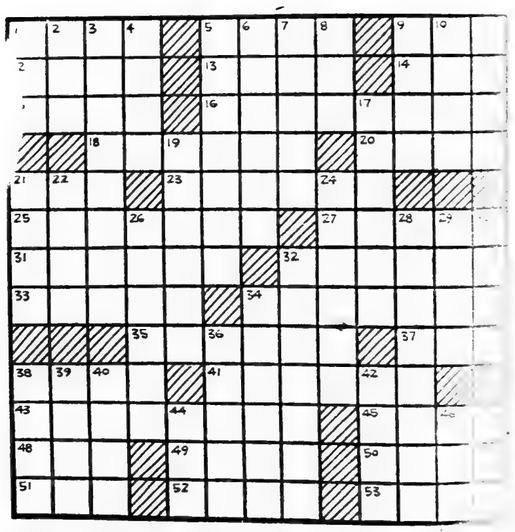
I think it is high time the veteran lost his individual[illegible] become fused with the citizens of our country.

52-20 was a plain insult to industrious veterans when [illegible] conceived, so let's let it die a quiet and just death.

J. [illegible]

Answering Newton and Watson

Editor:



Mr. Newton looks forward, apparently, to widespread [illegible] of Communist Party members in the U. S. It is my hope th[illegible] future trials and investigations make clearer their intent [illegible] present one in New York. Thus the press has made great [illegible] to quote Mr. Newton, "acts of insolence, contempt, weepin[illegible] emotionalism," etc, by participants in the trials, and not [illegible] present the basis for such a trial. There have been vagu[illegible] of plotting to overthrow the government by force and vi[illegible] is my opinion that the eleven men are being tried for a [illegible] belief that the hold.

Absolute freedom of though should be the right and p[illegible] of every person in this nation, regardless of what his bel[illegible] consist. This trial in New York cannot be passed off as a ha[illegible] of today and be forgotten. A dangerous precedent is bei[illegible] one which will be held in the future as a guide for [illegible] indictments and trials. In attempting, perhaps sinc[illegible] strengthen and protect our democracy by refusing the [illegible] freedom to believe what they wish to believe, we are de[illegible] the very democracy that we intended to save.

Being a member of the Communist Party is not diffe[illegible] essence from being a member of the Dixiecrat Party, Democratic Party, or the Vegetarian Party. The question [illegible] to whether it is worse to be a Dixiecrat and deny equal[illegible] to Negroes, or to be a Communist and have ideas of changin[illegible] way of government. For my own part, I definitely do not w[illegible] be either a Dixiecrat or a Communist, but I do want ev[illegible] to have the right to be a Dixiecrat or a Communist if he so d[illegible]

Now for a shot at Mr. Watson. The same principle appl[illegible] freedom of press and speech as to freedom of thought. Wha[illegible] is there for denying Mr. Freistadt and Cherry and Roberts [illegible] right to make their views known? After all, Mr. Watson [illegible] in to freely criticize publication of the "obnoxious literatu[illegible] positions" from Mr. Freistadt. Is he afraid to allow Mr. F[illegible] and others the same privilege? There are probably several [illegible] on this campus, maybe a couple of thousands, who like t[illegible] the opportunity of reading both sides of an issue, whether [illegible] side is true or false. That is the only way a democrats[illegible] can survive.

J. I. H[illegible]

HORIZONTAL
1. large rodent
5. platform
9. symbol of quick death
12. curious
13. sea bird
14. deep waters
15. bill of fare
16. building
18. of evening
20. value
21. rubber tree
23. pulverize
25. persevere
27. full
31. agreement
32. accumulator
33. cubic meter
34. looking askance
35. recess
37. low
38. bite
41. requite
43. almanac
45. of grandparents
48. mock
49. brink
50. edible rootatock
51. small bushy herb
52. scrutinizer
53. singing voice

VERTICAL
1. game like napoleon
2. sum of one's years
3. talk together
4. malarial fever
5. most profound
6. check
7. lifeless
8. dry, of wines
9. largest continent

Answer to Saturday's puzzle.

P	O	L	L		A	H	A	B		R	O	D
E	R	I	E		R	I	G	A		O	V	A
B	E	T	A		I	T	E	R	A	T	E	D
		I	N	S	E	T		V	A	N	S
T	A	G		T	S	E	T	S	E
E	R	A	S	E		R	E	T	R	A	C	E
L	I	N	T	E	L		P	U	S	T	E	R
L	A	T	E	R	A	L		N	E	A	R	S
		A	S	P	E	C	T		L	E	E
A	R	A	L			Y	E	S	T	A
C	O	N	S	O	L	E	D		O	N	C	E
E	V	E		P	A	R	E		S	T	O	A
S	E	W		T	E	S	S		S	A	L	T

Average time of solution: 27 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

CPU Roundtable

What Is Democracy

By Mary Tomlin

Democracy may be defined as rule by the majority with consideration and security for the rights of the minority. The people, by voting, determine who shall govern and to what ends; their representatives are directly responsible to them. Everyone may freely express his opinions concerning the policies of government, and through legislative means the changing currents of public opinion are reflected in the government.

One of the distinctive features of a democracy is the presence of more than one political party. The voter always has the right to choose between the Outs and the Ins, and new political parties may be started if some individuals are dissatisfied with the established ones. There are fair and frequent elections and a secret ballot.

In a democracy the State does not have power without limit over all phases of human activity, but is limited by certain basic rights which belong to the individual. Among these are: freedom of speech, of the press, of assembly and petition, as well as security against arbitrary arrest and equality before the law.

Each individual is considered valuable in himself, and thus is entitled to a presumption of equality with other human beings. In an ideal democracy there would be no legal, political, or economic racial or religious discrimination. Each individual would be free to plan and live his life the way he chose, as long as he did not interfere with the freedom of other individuals.

The modern democracy protects the people to a certain extent from the serious inequalities of wealth and power that result from an economic system of free enterprise and complete laissez-faire. The social legislation and business regulatory laws of the United States are an example of this protection. As has been shown in Great Britain, democratic governments are free to adopt or reject a collectivist economic system.

Ideas of democracy have changed since the word was first used in ancient Greece. In the middle ages, in the England of the Magna Charta, to the philosophers of the French revolution, and in the laissez-faire world of Adam Smith, democracy meant different things.

Our political heritage includes the French revolutionary slogan of "Liberty, Equality, and Fraternity," as well as the writings of Thomas Jefferson. To some, democracy has become a broad social ideal of which democratic government forms only a part.

Even the Marxists have a concept of democracy. The Marxist view is that the economic basis of society, in the last analysis, determines the effectiveness of political democracy. To the extent that the economy of a country is dominated by a few powerful economic groupings, then political democracy cannot operate.

The social idea of democracy includes not only the rights and freedoms guaranteed by a constitution, but also certain responsibilities as well. Among these is the responsibility of the individual to use his right to vote when election day comes and to try to keep fairly well informed about political matters, in his local community as well as in the national government. Only in this way can a true government of the majority be realized.

The whole question of what democracy really is will be discussed tonight at 8 o'clock in the Grail room of Graham Memorial by the Carolina Political Union.

Tar Heel Nine Tops Gamecocks, 10-8, In Wild Contest

Tommy Andrew Hurls Local Nine To Fourth Loop Win of the Season

By Buddy Vaden

LAURINBURG, April 16—North Carolina's Tar Heels outlasted the University of South Carolina's Gamecocks, 10-8, in a dispute-marred, loosely played ball game here tonight before an estimated 1,000 fans in weather more fit for football than baseball.

Tommy Andrew hurled the win for the Tar Heels, giving up nine hits, including a home run by Rattler Sykes, the second man to face him in the opening frame. The right handed curve ball artist managed to get himself in the hole several times, but usually he pitched himself right back out of trouble.

Two Rallies Necessary

The winners were forced to come from behind twice and then throttle an eighth inning rally before claiming their fourth Southern Conference victory.

Jim Pinkerton, South Carolina third baseman, was ejected from the game by home plate umpire Weaver in the seventh inning when he protested too vigoriously the strike called on him by the man in blue. Pinkerton claimed that he had stepped out of the batter's box before Tar Heel pitcher Andrew delivered the pitch.

Sykes Homers

The Gamecocks jumped into an early but shortlived two-run advantage their first time at bat when Barney Dusenberry led off with a single and Sykes followed with his four-bagger, a terrific drive into deep centerfield.

The Tar Heels managed to tie the count in the bottom of the second with two runs of their own. Stan Goodman and Gurganus started the rally by drawing free passes to first base from starting pitcher Dick Anderson. Sleepy Senter came through with a single, scoring both runners.

After Andrew gained life on an error, Country Camp took over the mound for South Carolina and quelled the uprising.

Gamecocks Lead

The Gamecocks got back in the ball game in the fourth, adding two more tallies for a 4-2 lead over the North Carolinians. Kroner started things rolling with a two-base hit. Harry Tarone singled to score Stephens, pulling up at second on the play at home. The Gamecock right fielder advanced to third on a past ball, and Camp drove him in with a base hit.

Not to be outdone by the baseballers from South of the border, the Tar Heels came bouncing back to duplicate the Gamecock's feat. With one away, Senter walked, Lester Couch singled, and Andrew walked to load the bases. Zeke Allen followed with a two-run single, to deadlock the ball game again.

Working on the theory that everything good comes in pairs, the winners pushed across two more runs in the sixth to go ahead for the first time.

Allen started the rally that put the Tar Heels out in front for good by walking and stealing second. Rip Ryan lashed out a long triple into right field, chasing Allen across the plate, and Will Hobbs bingled to score the Ripper.

Not satisfied with a two-run headway, North Carolina broke loose for two runs and what was eventially the ball game in the lucky seventh. Gurganus gained the initial sack on third baseman Cribb's miscue. Senter's attempted sacrifice turned out to be a one-base error when first baseman Chinnees fumbled the ball, and Camp added to his own downfall by throwing away Couch's bunt, allowing Gurganus to score from second.

Pitcher Andrew helped win his game by rapping a two-run base hit, turning in Senter and Couch.

The South Carolinians threw a party of their own in the first of the eight, but the runs—four of them in all—came too little and too late to topple the Tar Heels.

Plenty Close!

South Carolina	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Dusenberry, cf	5	2	1	1	0	0
Sykes, ss	4	2	2	3	2	1
Pinkerton, 3b	2	0	0	1	4	1
(a) Rogers	1	0	0	0	0	0
Cribb, 3b	0	0	0	0	0	0
Wilson, lf	2	0	0	1	1	1
Rader, rf	2	0	0	2	0	0
Couch, c	5	0	1	4	1	0
Chinnees, 1b	1	0	1	0	0	0
Stephens, 2b	3	2	1	5	1	0
Tarone, rf	4	1	1	0	0	1
Rhame, 1b, 3b	5	1	1	9	0	0
Anderson, p	1	0	0	0	0	0
Sherer, p	1	0	0	0	0	0
Camp, p	2	0	1	0	0	0
Totals	38	8	9	24	9	4

North Carolina	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Allen, cf	3	1	1	2	0	0
Ward, lf	3	0	2	1	0	0
Ryan, ss	5	1	1	2	5	1
Hobbs, 1b	5	0	1	9	0	0
Goodman, 2b	4	1	0	3	3	0
Gurganus, c	4	2	1	8	1	1
Center, 3b	2	2	1	1	3	1
Couch, rf	3	2	1	0	0	0
Andrew, p	2	1	1	1	1	1
Total	31	10	9	27	13	4

(a) Struck out for Pinkerton in 7th.

Score by innings
SC 200 200 040 — 8
NC 020 202 40x — 10

Runs batted in—Sykes (2), Center, Tarone, Camp, Allen (2); Ryan (2), Hobbs, Chinnes (2), 2 base hit—Stephens, Sykes; 3 base hit—Ryan. Home run—Sykes; stolen bases—Allen Sykes, Ryan; sacrifice hits—Stephens Center, Couch; double play—Pinkerton to Rhame; left on base—NC 8, SC, 9; bases on balls off Anderson (3), Andrew, (4), Camp, (6); struck out—Andrew (7), Camp (1), Sherer (2); hits off Andrew, 1 in 1 2/3, Camp 7 in 4 1/3, Sherer, 2 in 2, hit by—Andrew (Camp); wild pitch—Anderson, Andrew; passed ball—Gurganus; losing pitcher—Sherer; winning pitcher—Andrew; umpires—Weaver, Cowell, Murray; time—2:55.

Tar Heel Netters Meet Deacs Here In Loop Opener

Coach John Kenfield's varsity netters, able to play only one of three scheduled meets last week because of the local precipitation, will open their Big Four and Southern Conference competition—weather permitting—tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on the home courts when they play host to Wake Forest's Demon Deacons.

The unbeaten Tar Heel tennismen have racked up an impressive nine-meet win streak against touring Northern clubs, and this week's play will bring them into contact with Southern outfits for the first time this year.

The Wake Forest meet, originally slated for last Monday but interrupted when the monsoons set in, will mark the beginning on a busy week for the locals.

On Tuesday Presbyterian College will be the challenger, and on Wednesday Duke University's netmen are due to invade the local courts.

Kalamazoo College will be on hand to furnish the competition Friday afternoon, and Saturday the Tar Heels are scheduled to leave their home grounds for the first time this year and journey to Charlottesville, Va., for a contest with the Cavaliers of the University of Virginia.

Captain Victor Seixas, top singles player on the squad and seventh-ranking amateur in the country, is still setting the pace for the Carolina courtmen. He is still undefeated in singles competition..

Second ranking Clark Taylor has dropped only one match this season, and can be counted on for plenty of points in Southern play and in the Northern trip scheduled to begin April 30.

Charlie Rice, Stan Gruner, Duke Wilder, Jim Winstead, and Lasley Dameron have been showing up well in meets thus far, with all five alternating in the final four singles spots.

Joe Cherry

Monday's Sports

Baseball

Varsity baseball—Carolina vs Duke in Durham. Doesn't count in Big Four.

Golf

North-South Amateur Golf Tournament at Pinehurst.

Tennis

Varsity tennis—Carolina vs Wake Forest on local courts at 3 o'clock.

Practice Sessions

Daily practice sessions continue in football, soccer, lacrosse, and tennis.

Tar Heel Nine Faces Busy Week

Returning from Laurinburg with a record of eleven wins, one loss, and one tie, Carolina's varsity nine faces another rough week, one that will see them meet all of their Big Four opponents as well as a potent Davidson squad.

The Tar Heels will journey to Durham tomorrow for an Easter Monday contest with Duke University's Blue Devils. The tilt between the two old rivals will not count in the Big Four or Southern Conference standings, but should attract plenty of interest from North State fans.

Wednesday the locals will invade Baptist Hollow for a scrap with Wake Forest's dream team. The Deacons are favored to replace Carolina as Big Four and Southern Conference champions, but they still have to prove this on a baseball field.

Major Loops Start Season on Monday

NEW YORK, April 16—(UP)—Life begins again Monday for baseball's legion of loyalists after a long empty winter of hibernation.

For them the opening of the major league season is like New Year's day—it's the beginning of that fascinating 154-game grind for their favorite ball team and it is a time of hopefulness even for those who support the perennial second-raters. Everything in baseball looks good in the spring.

With President Truman throwing out the first ball, the season will be officially inaugurated at Washington Monday when the Senators meet the well regarded Philadelphia Athletics. At the same time the patriots of old New England will observe Paul Revere Day in a holiday opener at Boston in which the pennant-defending Boston Braves play the youthful Philadelphia Phillies.

The rest of the show goes on Tuesday. In the American League it will be Washington at New York, Boston at Philadelphia, the world champion Cleveland Indians at St. Louis and Chicago at Detroit. In the National League it will be New York at Brooklyn, St. Louis at Cincinnati, Pittsburgh at Chicago, and Philadelphia in a Patriot Day double header at Boston.

Lewis, Ross, Hooper Set New Style In Cross Country Trip To Durham

By Wuff Newell

When three Carolina boys decide to go to Durham that's nothing unusual. But when they run the entire distance and end up in front of the Durham Post Office dressed only in their scanty track uniforms and crosscountry shoes, that's news.

Because they "just wanted to do something different," Jerry Lewis, Frank Hooper and John Ross, three varsity crosscountrymen, decided to run from Chapel Hill to Durham—a distance of 12.8 miles. Thus was the inauguration of the Dook-a-thon.

At exactly 9;14.30 o'clock yesterday morning followed by Jean Andrews, Don Maynard and this writer in Ross's Buick convertible, the trio left the Chapel Hill Post Office. Approximately five minutes and two offers of rides later they were past the city limits and out on the open road.

Attract Attention

All along the way the group attracted about as much attention as three runners dressed in shorts and T shirts and running along the highway would naturally attract. One man with several suits hung over his left arm was so engrossed in watching the boys he could hardly open his garage door, and along both sides of the highway people stopped whatever they were doing and stared.

Several times the convertible escort held up as many as seven or eight cars so the runners could cross bridges or stay out of the way of oncoming traffic. Once a bus was stopped by the group in order to let the runners cross the road. Suddenly a cheer went up from the occupants of the bus. It was filled with Carolina students.

Durham County Reached

The first sign of certain progress was in the form of a sign which read Durham County. When the runners reached it they had been on the road only 26 minutes. Thirty-one minutes later they turned onto the Duke highway.

A little later the Duke Chapel came into view, and a shout went up from all.

"When we saw the spire, we knew we could make it to Durham," Jerry said. The boys were so excited about it, in fact, thy nearly ran over an ambulance.

"Nothing can stop us now," John yelled.

If people along the highway had stared at the trackmen, the crowds inside the Durham city limits nearly went wild. Cries of "Beat Duke" and "Oh, looka there. . ." filled the air.

drove on.

"All along the way people looked at us and made funny remarks," they said, "but we kept right on going."

And then the climax came. Exactly one hour and 29 minutes after leaving the Chapel Hill Post Office the boys reached the post office in the heart of downtown Durham.—The trip was a success.

Here they were met by their escort, who took them back to Chapel Hill.

"We hope to make this an annual affair," Jerry explained after the trip. "This is the farthest we've ever run, but none of us are terribly tired."

"We did lose several pounds though," Frank added.

To be exact, Jerry lost 7 pounds, John lost 3 and Frank lost 2½—a total of 12½ pounds lost in one run.

Annual Event

Next year the runners hope that more boys will make the trip with them.

"Even if no one else wants to run it, we're going to do it again. We'd like to make the Dook-a-thon an annual event," they concluded.

Since this is the first time the Dook-a-thon has been run, the record time will stand officially at 1 hour, and 29 minutes a good 12.8 mile record in any body's eyes, and especially in the eyes of Ross, Lewis and Hooper—Carolina's "Oo to Durham" distance men.

INTRAMURAL ROUNDUP

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00—Field 1. Chi Phi 2 vs Pi Kap Phi 2; 2 Sig Chi 3 vs Phi Gam 3; 3. Chi Psi 1 vs PiKA 2; 5. Kap Sig 1 vs TEP 2; 6. SAE 2 vs Phi Delt 3; 7. ATO 1 vs Beta 1; 8. DKE 2 vs KA 3.

5:00—Field 1. Zeta 1 vs ATO 2; 2. Delta Sig vs Kap Sig 2; 3, DKE 3 vs Pi Lamb 2; 4, Phi Gam 1 vs Bate 2; 5. Zeta 2 vs KA 2; 6. Kap Psi 1 vs Sig Eps; 7. AE Pi vs Phi Kap Sig 2.

MURAL TRACK

Qualifying for the Intramural track meet will continue through Monday for the 100 and 60-yard dashes and all field events except the broad jump.

DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL BLDV

SUN. & MON.

HOMESTRETCH

Technicolor

Maureen O'Hara

And

Cornel Wilde

75c PER CAR

Ward Ready to Defend Title In North-South Amateur Meet

PINEHURST, April 18—(UP)—Frank Stranahan, muscular millionaire from Toledo, O., will lead a field of top non-paid golfers teeing off Monday in the 43rd annual North and South Amateur Championship.

Stranahan, who tours with the top pros and gives them a run for their money, holds the British and Mexican amateur titles. He won the North and South in 1948 and did not compete in 1947 because he was with the W. Pier Cup

[illegible] will be [illegible] consolation however, if he [illegible] performances. [illegible] turned [illegible] with all his [illegible] not a heart-[illegible] in [illegible] Harvie [illegible] Jr., a [illegible] of North [illegible] at [illegible]

[illegible] of the group [illegible] for last year, still [illegible] the Pinehurst

Play begins with an 18-hole medal qualifying round Monday and continues at match play through the week. Finals and semi-finals will be 36 holes over the 6,952 yard no. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country Club.

Other top amateurs tackling the fine par-72 layout will include Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, 1949 National Amateur titlist; Chick Evans of Chicago, a links old-timer who won the North and South back in 1911 and later took the U. S. Open and Amateur crowns; and Robert Sweeny, Jr. of Meadowbrook Club, Long Island, N. Y., 1937 British Amateur champ.

Other players will include Julius Boros of Hartford, Conn., Charles B. Dudley of Greenville, S. C., 1947 winner here; Al Gelletta, St. Albans, Long Island, N. Y., 1944 winner; and a flock of sectional stars.

Entries close Sunday.

THE PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA

Eugene Ormandy, Conducting

Page Auditorium, Duke University, Durham, N. C.

Tuesday Evening, April 26, at 8:15

TICKETS: $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 (Inc. Tax)

For reservations, write J. Foster Barnes, Duke University, Durham, N. C.; or phone Durham 122 - ext 270

ASTOR THEATRE

DURHAM, N. C.

Southern Premiere

A Rare Picture! A Rare Romance! You'll always remember The MOZART STORY

The Stirring Life... Love... and Music of the World's Greatest Composer

Told with GREAT SPECTACLE ...GREAT MUSIC

SUNDAY thru THUR.

April 17th—21st.

"I like Chesterfield's MILDER, better taste. It's MY cigarette."

Joan Crawford

STARRING IN "FLAMINGO ROAD"

A MICHAEL CURTIZ PRODUCTION

RELEASED BY WARNER BROS.

The TOP MEN of AMERICA'S SPORTS smoke CHESTERFIELD

JACK KRAMER says..."MILDER—MUCH MILDER and really satisfying. That's Chesterfield and that's MY cigarette."

MAKE YOURS THE MILDER CIGARETTE

A always B buy CHESTERFIELD

MORE COLLEGE STUDENTS SMOKE CHESTERFIELDS THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE . . . BY LATEST NATIONAL SURVEY

Copyright 1949, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Chicken Alice Is Out of Jug But Won't Walk

HOUSTON, Tex., April 16—(UP)—Alice the chicken came dut of her glass jug house today—and just stood still.

Grain dealer Clyde Roco applied a hammer to the five-gallon jug that was the only home Alice had known in her six weeks of life.

The jug broke in seven or eight pieces. Alice was at last free to roam the outside wonderland that the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to animals had demanded for her.

But Alice stood still, on the spot where the jug had been. She pecked at some chicken feed. G. A. Briscoe, southwestern representative for the chicken feed company that supplied Alice with a special diet during her bottled captivity, wasn't surprised.

"I've seen this done before," said Briscoe. "A chicken will stay still for a week or so, out of habit, you know, if it isn't moved."

Roco's original plan was to keep Alice bottled for seven weeks as a "promotion stunt" to prove that fowls thrive on good food and a minimum of exercise.

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

THE PARTY WHO REMOVED THE furniture from one-room house near Abernethy cottage off Columbia St. Extension contact J. A. Hancock, 55 A Trailer Court before Monday noon to avoid misunderstanding. (1-2395-1)

FOR SALE 6B

FOR SALE BLACK COCKER SPANiel—age 12 weeks — champion stock. P.O. Box 904 or 181 Jackson Circle between 2 - 6 p. m. (1-2390-1)

LOST 12

BACH TRUMPET IN MAROON leather case probably left in front of Graham Memorial Thursday night, April 14th. Contact Wally Andrews, 308 Pritchard Avenue. Phone F-2101. Reward. (1-2398-1)

NEW COMOY PIPE SOMEWHERE between the Deke House and Graham Memorial. Will finder please return to Charlie Norton at The Deke House (2-2396-1)

Sunday Delivery Service
New York Times and New York Herald Tribune. Serving Chapel Hill and Campus.
Write Nat White or Lee Fuller P.O. Box 655, Chapel Hill

CAMPUS CALENDAR

TODAY

1:00—TOWN GIRL'S Association. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
4:00—COSMOPOLITAN CLUB. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
7:00—ALPHA KAPPA PSI, 103 Bingham.
8:00—CAROLINA POLITICAL Union. Grail room, GM.
9:00—DEBATE COUNCIL. Roland Parker 3, GM.

TOMORROW

2:00—FRESHMEN CLASS Officers. Roland Parker 3, GM.
6:00—MEN'S INTERDORM Council. Roland Parker 3, GM.
7:00—UNIVERSITY CLUB. Roland Parker 1, GM.
7:00—COED LEADERSHIP Training Program. Main lounge, GM.
7:00—MEDICAL FRATERNITY. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
7:30—KARL MARX Study Society. Roland Parker 2, GM.
8:00—CHI DELTA PHI. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
8:15—DANCE COMMITTEE. Roland Parker 3, GM.
8:30—CAMPUS PARTY. Roland Parker 2, GM.
9:00—STUDENT PARTY. Roland Parker 2, GM.

Dr. McCune Will Speak in State

Dr. Donovan J. McCune, professor of pediatrics in the Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons and consultant in hospitals in New York, Greenwich, Conn., Teaneck, N. J., and Stamford, Conn., will address North Carolina doctors in the Salisbury and Raleigh areas next week.

Dr. McCune, who will discuss endocrine disorders in children at both cities, will be the featured speaker on the coming week's program of the Postgraduate Course in Medicine being sponsored by the University of North Carolina Medical School and Extension Division.

Away From People—But Not Too Far

Local Cosmopolitan Hermit Is Practicing Horticulturist

By Don Maynard

"Some folks call me Al Smith, but I don' pay them any mind. Al Smith was famous; I'm just plain old June Smith."

That's the type greeting Junius Everett Smith, Wake Forest '14, extends to visitors to his rude home in the lowlands outside Chapel Hill, some three miles south on the Pittsboro Road.

"Preacher" June Smith, most people call the old gentleman although his last connection with the clergy was when he wo studying for the ministry at Wak Forest 39 years ago. He won' reveal his age, but his friend figure he is close to 60.

One of Preacher's closest as ciates during the 30 years he has lived in this area, Eben Merritt, said the name "Preacher" started because 'Old June usta get mad when folks called him Preacher, so they've been calling him that ever since."

Preacher is a kindly old man, quietly living on his farm raising corn and working on his horticultural experiments, which last year produced "the finest corn ever grown in these parts," according to Merritt.

His neighbors call Preacher a "cosmopolitan hermit." He says he has forsaken society because "all it wants is somebody to cuss at, and I don't have to take any cussing." And then he explains that it is true he likes to get away from people, "but not too far away."

Working in his corn field one day, with a stubble of beard on his face, his gray hair tousled and his silver-rimmed spectacles clouded, he explained that he had earned his A. B. at Wake Forest in literature. Entering college in 1910, he studied Latin, Greek and French and was a member of the Philanthropic Debating Society.

Preacher taught schpol for 12 years, and summer school here at the University for several sessions, but the ways of the world disappointed him, and he went into seclusion on a minor scale.

"I'd rather teach school than anything else," Preacher said, "but right now, school officials are not paying teachers enough and expect them to do more than any human can possibly do. The University, for instance, just wants someone to cuss at and get the instructors to do what they want. I don't have to take any cussing."

His education isn't wasted, however, he contends. "Everything worth learning is usuable sometime in life," he mused.

Preacher considers himself the Luther Burbank of Chapel Hill. His reputation as a tree-surgeon is known throughout town, but his experiments in the field of horticulture are less well-known.

For the past 18 years, Preacher says he has been working on his experiments. He grafts and buds trees as easily as most people eat and sleep. He considers it no trick at all to grow apples, pears, and peaches on one tree, and has such oddities as a rosebush bearing red, orange, blue and green blossoms.

"PREACHER" JUNE SMITH holds up some of the special corn which he has perfected in his many years of horticultural experiments. He has interrupted his plowing to point out the advantages in his product. A friend of his describes the corn as the best ever grown in these parts.

In his vineyard he has five varieties of grapes, all produced through his experiments. His orchard holds two varieties of pears, one of which is a large sugar pear, four times as large as the common sugar pear.

Preacher claims to have raised peaches that weigh 1½ to 2½ pounds. "Similar to the Eden's Gold peach although far superior in size and weight, this new variety is slightly acid, but not objectionably so," he explained.

Preacher writes out all his experiments painstakingly in code, and has a code-book and instructions for its use in the event of his death suddenly. At present he is looking around for a worthy man to take over his work, and continue in his stead.

Preacher was born on a farm in Chatham of a confederate soldier and his wife. There wasn't much he could tell of his early life, except that his father and the entire family were nearly massacred when the elder Smith declared he "was goin' to fight for the North."

Neighbors jumped the Smith farm, and were ready to lynch the whole family, when the elder Smith again spoke. "No'th Ca'lina, that' is."

Preacher lives alone in his rude, square shaped home. Inside, the room's main decoration and furniture are a rocking chair, a straight-backed wooden chair and crates for more than company of one to sit upon, a tin barrel which is used to heat the single room, a rusty woodstove for cooking, a woodpile and burlap potato sack rugs on the floor.

There is one large sagging bed in the room, suspended above which are several four-foot long gourds which Preacher raised. On the wall b side his bed hangs his diploma from Wake Forest and cabin.

See Us For Any Metal Work To Be Done
EXPERT SERVICE
Crabtree Metal Shop
CARRBORO

Card Master John Scarne Wants To Teach Everybody How to Cheat

NEW YORK, April 16—(UP)—John Scarne wants to teach everybody how to cheat at cards.

He says crooked gamblers would have to go straight if every bridge, poker and gin rummy player knew how to pull an ace out of his sleeve, deal wild cards from the bottom of the deck and signal his partner when he's got a grand slam.

Scarne, 41, claims he's just the fellow to show how it's done. He never touches the stuff any more himself, but he is convinced he knows more about crooked gambling than any man who's ever won with a pair of loaded dice. He's been spying on card sharks since he was 14, and, during the war, the war department hired him to visit army bases throughout the world to teach G. I.s how not to get cheated.

Cheating at bridge is about the easiest form of dishonesty to learn, Scarne has found. No manipulation in cards is involved in this indood sport. All you have to do is find a cooperative partner and settle on a code for letting him know the contents of your hand. This can be done by wiggling the ears, moving the fingers or just smiling.

Gin rummy is a pretty good starting ground, too, for beginning students of the fine art of mulcting. One of the simplest things to do is to leave one of the seven-cards in the box when you bring out the deck for a quiet evening at home.

The seven is the key card in gin rummy, Scarne said. It can be used in more runs of cards with consecutive members than any other.

Or, you can learn to peek at cards as they are dealt or master the fine art of shuffling the deck so that cards you want most come up whenever its your turn. For those whose fingers are not so nimble, there is a handy gadget which can be inserted in the sleeve to hold any cards that might be needed in the course of a losing game.

For poker, the marked card is the most satisfactory. Scarne said 73,000,000 packs of card are sold every year to the nation, 54,000,000 card players, and that 250,000 of them are decks which have been marked for the convenience of crooked poker players.

Of course, there are refinements, like dealing from the bottom of the deck, and a player would be wise to be suspicious of any one who grips a deck in the palm of his hand with the thumb on top and the fore finger covering the side facing the table.

"That's the basic gesture for peeling a card off the bottom," said.

Scarne has just finished book on the subject of gambling, and he's been private parties and clubs 10 years to get the inform

"I found out that almost gambling casino is honest said.

"They don't have to cheat win because the odds are against the players. private parties the cheating terrible. Almost anyone will cheat his best friend blind, if h thinks he can get away with it. Anyone who is going to gamble should know the game and how to cheat in it because the ignorant fellow who goes home with empty pockets."

THE MOST TALKED ABOUT BAND IN AMERICA
VAUGHN Monroe AND THE CAMEL CARAVAN
Starring His ORCHESTRA • VOCALISTS ENTERTAINERS
MON
April 25
Raleigh Memorial Auditorium
1.25 2.00 2.50 3.00
Tickets available by mail order. Capitol Entertainment Co. Box 252, Raleigh

A JOYOUS EASTER

May the joys and happiness of the Easter season be with you as you join men the world over in solemn worship.

Bennett & Blocksidge, Inc.
105 E. FRANKLIN STREET

"Get on the Doris Day bandwagon! She's really good!" —Louella Parsons
Today it's DORIS DAY!
MY DREAM IS YOURS
IN COLOR BY TECHNICOLOR
A MICHAEL CURTIZ PRODUCTION
starring DORIS DAY JACK CARSON LEE BOWMAN
with ADOLPHE MENJOU · EVE ARDEN · S.Z. "Cuddles" SAKALL
SELENA ROYLE
and FRANKIE CARLE AND HIS ORCH.
DREAM-HITS ALL! "MY DREAM IS YOURS" "I'LL STRING ALONG WITH YOU" (LYRICS BY AL DUBIN) "SOMEONE LIKE YOU" "LOVE FINDS A WAY"
HERE'S THE BIG-TIME SPRINGTIME LOVE-TIME MUSICAL SMASH FROM WARNER BROS!
BUGS BUNNY CARTOON
LATEST NEWS
TODAY AND MONDAY
CAROLINA

THE MOST GRACIOUS QUEEN OF ALL STERLING PATTERNS
IT'S NEW AND SUPERBLY BEAUTIFUL!
Queen's Lace
BY INTERNATIONAL STERLING

- Graceful sweeping lines!
- Lacelike openwork handles!
- Tiny perfect lines of beading!

Now holding court in our store, this most gracious queen of all sterling patterns . . . "Queen's Lace" by International Sterling.

Come in and see "Queen's Lace" yourself. It can be yours. An individual six-piece place setting for $22.63, including tax. Convenient payment plan available.

Wentworth & Sloan, Jewelers

It's Smart To Shop In Chapel Hill

Chicken in a Basket — Eat with your fingers — at HARRY'S

, APRIL 17, 1949

off the bottom," he just finished a subject of crooked

he's been visiting and camps for
of free information.
that almost every one is honest," he cheat to are al-ever, but at the cheating is most anyone will friend blind, if he n get away with it.

is going to gamble
the game and how it because it's the ow who goes home pockets."

OST TALKED ABOUT
ND IN AMERICA
UGHN
nroe
AND
THE CARAVAN
Starring His RA • VOCALISTS
NTERTAINERS
MON
April 25
igh Memorial uditorium
2.00 2.50 3.00
ets available by order. Capitol
rtainment Co.
252. Raleigh

jewelers

EDITORIALS

Mass Exodus
Successful Year
Signs and Sins

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Clearing and slightly cooler

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. TUESDAY, APRIL 19, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 146

UNC Team Places In Speaking Meet

Talkers Win Two National Crowns; Blanton Miller Is Individual Leader

Out of the 59 colleges and universities represented in the Grand National Forensic tournament, it was announced yesterday that the debate council team from the University of North Carolina placed second. The team representing Pacific University won first place.

The Carolina team won eight first places and two national championship. Dr. Warren G. Keith, director of the tournament, stated that this was the best record ever achieved by a team from North Carolina at any forensic meet. It was the first time that the University had won a national championship since 1946.

Blanton Miller was highest scorer in individual honors from Carolina and second highest in the entire tournament. Miller was a finalist in three major contests including poetry, oratory and dramatic reading. For his dramatic reading, Miller wrote his own composition, "The Last Leaf." This was the first time in the history of the tournament that anyone had ever written his own speech and won.

The other national champion from Carolina is Bob Evans of Durham. Evans, as was Miller, was listed in the public speaking events and won his championship in dramatic reading.

Sam Manning, another public speaker, was the earliest winner and won the men's Spanish declamation contest.

Bob Giles, a public speaker and a debater, won in the poetry and address reading events.

A debate team comprised of Bob Evans, Bob Hutchison, Charles Dixon, and June Hurst, all varsity debaters, won four out of seven debates. The team defeated the University of Utah, Pacific University (winner of the tournament), the U. S. Naval Academy, and Washington and Jefferson College.

Weaver to Speak Before Ex-Scouts

Dean Fred Weaver will address tonight's meeting of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. The meeting will be held at 7:00 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge 3.

Weaver, a member of the fraternity since 1940, will report on a conference with the national president in Chicago last week.

President Bill Roth said that tonight's meeting is open to all interested persons, and especially former Boy Scouts not members of the fraternity.

Applications Are Needed By Quarterly

Both Top Posts Will Be Filled

Looking forward to its second year of operation, the Carolina Quarterly, campus literary magazine, will be headed by two new persons. Both positions of Editor and Business manager have been declared open by the Faculty Advisory committee of the Quarterly and applications will be received through tomorrow for the positions.

The committee announced that all persons interested in applying for the positions must submit in writing a statement concerning experience, qualifications, and plans for publishing the Quarterly next year. All such applications must be mailed to the Faculty Advisory Committee, Carolina Quarterly, Box 1117, Chapel Hill.

Present editor of the Quarterly is Roy C. Moose who is planning to do graduate work at Oxford, England, next year. Business manager is Emily Sewell who has announced that she does not plan to apply for re-appointment.

During its first year of operation the Quarterly has published articles by such well-known authorities as Paul Green, Dr. Archibald Henderson, Dr. Hardin Craig, Walter Prichard Eaton, Richard Walser, Henry L. Kamphoefner, Dr. William M. Coppridge, Jacques Hardee, and Agatha Boyd Adams.

Poetry and short stories have included works by students, faculty members, and outside contributors, combining to present under one cover a common meeting place for both amateurs and professionals.

The Quarterly, a seventy-two page publication, was organized last year after over 1400 students signed a petition asking that a literary publication be continued at the University. It replaced the Carolina Magazine which had been voted out of existence after over one hundred years of publication.

Coed Concert Soloists Are Versatile Singers

To be featured as soloists in the Spring concert to be presented by the Women's Glee Club Thursday evening are Jean Schneck, contralto; Beatrice Donley, contralto; and Harriet Keen, soprano.

Jean Schneck, a member of the faculty music school at Woman's College, has appeared as soloist in a number of special public programs since she came to this state in 1948. She sang with the Greensboro Euterpe Club's presentation of the "Messiah" and a soloist for the Woman's College choir Christmas program and Palm Sunday programs. She gave a special recital in the Wade R. Brown series and was also a soloist in a presentation of the "Messiah" in Salisbury.

Before coming to Greensboro, Miss Schneck has been on the faculties of the Oberlin conservatory of music and the Indiana university music school. Prior to that, she received her degree from the Oberlin conservatory and did work on fellowship at the Juilliard Graduate school.

Beatrice Donley, a native of West Virginia, received the degree of Bachelor of Music in voice and a Bachelor of Music in public school music from West Virginia University and was granted a graduate scholarship by competitive award for study at the Julliard Graduate school in New York.

Following study at Juilliard, Miss Donley became associated with the Adelaide Gescheidt studios in New York where she re-

(See COED page four)

Ballot Recount Alters Six Votes

Al Winn, chairman of the Board of Elections, yesterday announced that a recount of the runoff voting for vice-president had revealed the correct vote as: Ted Leonard (UP), 1,255; Al Lowenstein (SP), 1,233.

The figures on the first count were Leonard, 1,259; Lowenstein, 1,231. The SP candidate gained two votes in Dorm Men's District One, two in Town Men's Three and two in Town Men's Four, for a total gain of six.

Lowenstein carried the combined men's dormitory districts and the combined coed vote, but bost the combined men's town districts by 22 votes more than his margin in the men's dorm and coed balloting.

DR. JOSEPH A. LEIGHTON

Noted Philosopher To Speak Tonight In Gerrard Hall

Dr. Joseph A. Leighton, for many years a leading social philosopher and former chairman of the Ohio State University Department of Philosophy, will speak on "Democracy, Technology, and Personality" when he gives a public lecture in Gerrard Hall here today, at 8 o'clock.

His appearance is being sponsored by the University Department of Philosophy.

A Canadian by birth, Dr. Leighton received his doctorate at Cornell University and his B. D. from the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge, Mass. He also studied at the Universities of Tubingen, Berlin, and Erlange in Europe.

He is author of a number of books and aritcles dealing with metaphysics, religion, education and social philosophy, including "Man and the Cosmos," "Religion and the Mind of Today," "The Individual and the Socila Order," "The Field of Philosophy," and "Social Philosophies in Conflict."

Piano Recital To Be Presented In Hill Tonight

In a piano recital to be presented this evening at 8:30 in Hill Hall, Robert MacDonald, William Waters, Felder Graham, and Edwin Steed will play such numbers as "Sonata in F Sharp Major," Beethoven; "Intermezzo in A Minor," Brahms ;and Faure's "Impromptu in F Minor."

Robert MacDonald, a junior, has been accompanist this year with the Men's Glee club. Last spring he was heard as piano soloist and accompanist with Frances Jonnson, Spanish dancer, in a dance recital at Granam Memorial. He is a member of the University band and the Chapel Hill Choral club.

William Waters, a senior music major from Roanoke Rapids, for the last four years has been studying piano with Virginia Hare of the music department here. He was a recipient of the Kay Kyser scholarship in music tor 1946-47, and has been heard as soloist in an all-Brahms recital and a junior recital. At present Waters is, organist at the Chapel Hill Presbyterian church and is a member of Phi Mu Alpha music fraternity.

Felder Graham, a sophomore English major from Dawson, Ga., has studied piano with Dr. Jan P. Schinhan and now studies under Virginia Hare of the music department. At the age of 13 he took up piano and studied at Wesleyan conservatory in Macon, Ga. During his senior year of high school, he won second place in both piano and essay at the Georgia state literary meet and received an A-1 rating at the Georgia state music festival. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma and Chi Phi fraternities.

Edwin Steed, a senior mathematics major from Richlands, has been a piano student of Virginia Hare for the last four years. Steed began studying piano at the age of eight and played eight years in North Carolina Federation festivals and one year in Virginia, with ratings of "excellent" and "superior." He auditioned three years for National Guild of piano teachers and was awarded diploma by them in 1945.

Campus Party Names Taylor As Chairman

Byrd, Clampitt Hall Get Posts

Vestal C. Taylor, member-elect of the Student Legislature, was elected chairman of the Campus Party yesterday afternoon at a meeting in Graham Memorial.

Taylor won the post by a vote of 14 to 4 over Jim Southerland, who was defeated in his race for the legislature on the CP ticket.

Three other persons were originally nominated along with Taylor and Southerland—Neison Taylor, Dortch Warriner and Bob Fentress. Warriner declined the nomination; Taylor declined but then reconsidered and left the room when the vote was to be taken; Fentress did not officially decline but asked that his support go to Southerland.

The discussion centered at first on Nelson Taylor, but the candidate returned to the room and declined for a second and final time after reconsidering. He supported Vestal Taylor (no relation) for the position.

Elected vice-chairman by acclamation was Davis Byrd, after-Bob Clampitt was nominated and declined. Clampitt was made secretary, also by acclamation. Ellis Hall won the post of treasurer over Hal Darden by a vote of 11 to 3.

The party gave retiring chairman Banks Talley, defeated CP candidate for the vice-presidency of the student body, a rising round of applause for his work for the party.

Johnnie O'Neal, CP member and chairman of the Rules committee of the Student Legislature who was re-electe dto that body, obtained the floor and leveled a blast at recent actions and policies of the Campus Party, climaxed by the statement that he was withdrawing from the party.

O'Neal charged that the political organization was "being run by a small group of people—just three or four who plan things out before hand so the actions at the meetings are cut and dried." He also condemned the CP's actions in endorsing Dick Gordon and Ted Leonard, the University Party presidential and vice-presidential candidates in the spring general election runoff.

O'Neal said he was planning to join the Student Party. Before he left the room Hal Darden requested that he turn in his resignation to the legislature, since he was elected on the CP ticket, but the concensus at the meeting was that it was O'Neal's private concern whether on not he resigned from the Student Legislature.

Taylor, the new chairman of the

(See CAMPUS PARTY page 4)

Humanities Meet Opens This Week

The Southern Humanities Conference, composed of representatives from 10 southern societies interested in the humanities, will meet in Chapel Hill April 22 and 23. The Carnegie Corporation, the Rockefeller Foundation and the American Council of Learned Societies will also send representatives to the meeting.

In recognition of the Conference and in behalf of the humanities in general, the Department of Radio and the Department of Music are producing a program which points to the significance of the humnaities in the world today where technology seems to be of primary concern to so many people.

The program will consist of an informal dinner, to be held in the Pine Room of Lenoir Hall at 6:30 Friday evening, followed by a radio-musical production in Studio A of the Communication Center. The object of the production is to bring about a clearer understanding of the importance of things of the spirit.

University Chancellor R. B. House will be the toastmaster for dinner.

Officers Will Be Inaugurated In Special Ceremony Tonight

Umstead Unfavorable To Alumnus President

By Charles McCorkle

"The next president of the Greater University," John Umstead said, "should not be, in my opinion, an alumnus of either the University at Chapel Hill, State College, or the Woman's College.

"I definitely think we should get someone from the outside," continued the Chapel Hill representative to the state House. Umstead, also a member of the executive committee of the Board of Trustees, was engaged in a weekend bull session with a half dozen students after returning from Raleigh and his General Assembly chores.

Umstead said he had a list of 57 names which had been sent to him as recommednations for the new president.

"I am naturally against choosing any man just because of his name," the representative remarked. "Look at Eisenhower at Columbia. He just didn't fit in and the job practically drove him crazy. It was about as bad with Stassen at Pennsylvania."

Commenting on the proposed move to place Dr. Frank Porter Graham, former Greater University president now a United States senator on the Board of Trustees, Umstead said, "I voted against Frank Graham becoming a member of the Board of Trustees for the same reasons Frank asked to decline the position—the new president should not be embarrassed by having his immediate predecessor on the Board over him.

"When Dr. Graham's telegram reached the legislature," the Chapel Hill representative said, "the House thought that I had phoned Frank and asked him to wire, since the wording of the telegram was almost precisely the wording I used on the floor of the House opposing his nomination to the Board at this time. It was actually Controller Billy Carmichael who called him."

Expanding his statements of Dr. Graham's proposed membership on the Board, Umstead said, "I am for placing Frank on the Board, say, in about two years, after the new administration has had a chance to get settled."

Faculty Asked To List Qualities Of New President

Each faculty member will be given the opportunity to express his opinion as to the qualifications desired in the next president of the Greater University and who he considers meets these qualifications, A. C. Howell, secretary of the General Faculty, said yesterday.

In a recent meeting of the general faculty, the group voted to authorize the Faculty Advisory Committee to represent the faculty in negotiations with the committee to be appointed by Gov. Kerr Scott from the Board of Trustees to nominate a successor to Sen. Frank Graham as president of the consolidated University. By a vote of 164 to 78, the general faculty voted in favor of the Adivsory Committee instead of selecting a special committee to negotiate with Scott's committee.

In carrying out its newly assigned function, the committee has circularized the faculty with a request that each member write a letter stating his views regarding (1) "the qualifications desired in a president of the Greater University, and (2) especific persons who, the member believes, are so well qualified as to deserve careful consideration in the selection of the President."

The Advisory Committee, an elected body consisting of members of the faculty, includes Professors R. J. M. Hobbs, president; J. W. Fesler, secretary; E. C. Markham, R. H. Wettach, W. R. Berryhill, A. W. Hobbs; H. D. Wolf, H. G. Baity, and William Wells.

The committee is at present working informally on the problem and will not be in a position to make a definite statement for several weeks, Howell said.

The duty of the Advisory Committee, organized over a quarter of a century ago, is to advise the Chancellor on matters of policy and other topics of interest to the general faculty. There are approximately 350 voting members of the Faculty Committee.

Theta Chi Inactives Names Are Needed

Any inactive members of the Theta Chi social fraternity who are either in school or live in Chapel Hill were asked this week to contact Bill Wheeler in 218 A. Dorm. Wheeler also requested any Theta Chi alumni in Chapel Hill to get in touch with him.

'The Paws That Wreck Us. . .'

Prying By Students Results In Near Accident for Auto

"The paws that wreck us" is what Jack Ranson is calling the inquisitive hands of several students who peered and pawed about his tiny, black 1949 Renault, a French-built beetle-like vehicle not over 10 feet long.

Unique in that its engine is found in the rear and its baggage compartment under the hood where the engine in most autos would be located, the French model seats five people comfortably, and sports a four cylinder, 19 horsepower motor capable of scooting it along at 80 miles per hour.

Ranson, brother of track coach Dale Ranson, left his foreign made automobile in the parking lot of South builing yesterday for only a few minutes.

In that time, a score of students peered, pried and poked the little four-wheeler almost to destruction.

When one student lifted the hood, he started back in surprise when he found the luggage stored within what he thought was the engine space.

"What've we got here . . . that's the cleanest motor I've ever seen!" he exclaimed.

In his amazement, the student forgot to fasten the hood securely. When the beetle-like car was taken on the road for a demonstration a few minutes later, the student driver had no sooner pushed it to a smart 30 mph—when the hood flapped open and blocked the driver's view. A collision was fortunately averted.

"Which all goes to prove," said one spectator, "that just as little Red Riding Hood, this little black riding hood also got up in the air when someone began fooling around with her."

Magill Will Administer Official Oath; Dedmond To Make Farewell Address

A full complement of student government officials for the year 1949-50 will be sworn in tonight at 8:30 in the hall of the Dialectic Senate in New West Building.

Inauguration Will Climax Coed Program

McNutt Directs Officer Training

Tonight's inauguration ceremon climax a two-day program of leadership training set up mainly for new coed officers and under the direction of Patsy McNutt.

Last night in Graham Memorial, Miss Dorothy McCuskey spoke on "Leadership and Followership," after which President Jess Dedmond and Coed Senate Speaker Emily Baker gave short explanations of the duties of their offices. Al Lowenstein spoke on "General Aspects of Student Government."

Also last night, commissions for coed organization presidents, vice-presidents, secretaries and treasurers were held in the Alumni Building.

This evening in the main lounge of Graham Memorial at 7 o'clock, Randy Hamilton will talk on parliamentary procedure. Commissions will be held at 7:30 in the Alumni Building for social chairmen, publicity chairmen, members of the Coed Senate and Legislature, Women's Council, House Councils.

Organizations included in the leadership training program are the Coed Senate, the Student Legislature, Women's Council, Student Council, Women's Athletic Association, Young Women's Christian Association, Pan-Hellenic Council, Carolina Independent Coed Association, Stray Greeks, Town Girls' Association, Interdormitory Council, Chi Delta Phi, Women's Glee Club, and the five campus sororities.

Legal Gambling To Be Phi Subject

The legalization of gambling in North Carolina will be debated by the Philanthropic Assembly in Phi Hall, New East at 7:30 tonight according to a resolution released by the Ways and Means Committee.

The bill for this evening's discussion declares that many people are "denied the pleasure of gambling" and contends that "gambling does exist in certain homes."

"Any man should have a right to determine where his money is spent as long as no legal harm is committed against others" is the main argument in the resolution for legalization of gambling.

For the purposes of this bill the Ways and Means Committee has construed the term "gambling" to mean lotteries, raffling, and all other games of chance.

The possible legalization of games of chance has been thrust upon the present session of the North Carolina Legislature. A bill to establish pari-mutual betting at dog races in Currituck County is now before the Legislature. Several votes have been taken and the Legislature has reversed itself at least twice on the matter.

Carteret County has pari-mutual tracks already and New Hanover County has been given the right to set up pari-mutual windows for horse racing.

Walter Montgomery will lead the opposition against tonight's bill. Proponents, who asked that their names not be published, said that their arguments will be based on the good that can be derived from controlled gambling.

Sam Magill, member of the Student Council, will administer the oath of office to the new president of the student body, the vice-president, secretary-treasurer, members of the Student, Men's and Women's Honor Councils, the Student Legislature, class officers, Coed Senate members, members of the Women's Interdormitory Council, and other elected governmental positions.

Jess Dedmond, retiring president, said yesterday he would begin the program by delivering a short farewell address for himself and other officials leaving office. He will also summarize activities of student government for the past year.

Chancellor Robert B. House will deliver the charge to the new officers, after which Magill will administer the oath of office to Bill Mackie, the president-elect. Mackie will make a short talk after being sworn in.

The vice-president-elect, Ted Leonard, will then be sworn in. He does not plan to make a talk this evening, but will direct his remarks to the new Legislature Thursday night. Patricia Denning, speaker-elect of the Coed Senate, will take the oath of office next.

Members of the councils, Legislature Coed Senate, and the rest of the officers will follow in the swearing-in ceremonies.

Dedmond pointed out that an inovation in the ceremonies this year was the fact that a member of the Student Council would administer the oaths of office to the student government officials. Since Mackie ,who is to be sworn in as president, is chairman of the Student Council this year, Magill is substituting for him in the proceedings. Mackie's father, Dean E. L. Mackie, administered the oaths last year after delivering the charge to the new officers.

Cheering Tryouts Slated For Today

Tryouts for cheer leaders for next year will be held today in Kenan Stadium at 4 o'clock. Norm Sper, head cheerleader said yesterday. In case of bad weather, the tryouts will be held in the Tin Can.

Current plans call for two cheering teams next year, Sper said, with one cheering for the varsity teams and the other for freshman games. Varsity team members will accompany the team to New York.

Sper urged all students interested in trying out to be present in order "that we can have the best cheering squards possible from the campus."

Student Auditions Scheduled Thursday

Open auditions for a series of 23 15-minute student dramatic shows will be held in the student production studio of Swain Hall Thursday from 2 o'clock until 4:30 in the afternoon, the Radio Department announced yesterday.

Interested students are requested to bring any script they would particularly like to read, but they will also be asked to read material provided them at the time of the audition.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $6.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. ..... Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Brumer
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall, Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glaser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Night Editor: Roy (Cux) Parker Night Sports: Joe Cherry

A Highly Successful Year

Tonight, at approximately 8:30, Bill Mackie will be sworn in as the new president of the student body of the University of North Carolina, thereby bringing to a close the successful administration of Jess Dedmond, the retiring president.

Jess is to be highly commended for his work as top man in student government. Throughout his tenure of office he always had a smile and friendly "hello" to all the students, regardless of whether he was acquainted with them or not. In his dealings with Administration and State officials, he always was the suave diplomat of the students.

As for the events of Jess's administration, the fall orientation program probably ranks as tops on his list of accomplishments. Bill Miller, chairman of the committee, deserves a big hand for his work in making it a success. Dedmond also was instrumental in reviving the freshman assembly. The revival of the University Club was another accomplishment under Jess as president of the student body.

Three innovations on campus may be attributed to Jess. He organized the Greater University Student Council to promote better relations between the three branches of the University, recommended the establishment of the Carolina Forum, and finally set up a committee to study and publicize the activities of the National Students Association.

A number of controversial issues came up during his term, and here briefly are the stands he took: opposed tuition raise, Saturday classes, and restrictions on the number of cars at Carolina. He advocated a better entertainment program, which will materialize next year. Jess also organized many of the students into a group which waged a successful battle to get more funds for the Greater University from the legislature.

About the Mass Exodus

As usual, Chapel Hill was quite a deserted place this weekend. In view of the fact that it was Easter this was not surprising. However, it is a bit strange that every weekend there should be a mass exodus from Carolina.

Now there is nothing wrong with going home for the weekend. Many students have steady girls out of town that they look forward to seeing. And there are various other reasons why there are so few people in Chapel Hill on the weekend. However, the vast majority of those leaving the Hill probably go just to be going. They complain of there being nothing to do here, but actually when these students get home about all they can find to do is go to a movie or play cards.

It seems to us that these people are missing a great deal of the fun of college life. Also, those who habitually go home on the weekends are passing up a good opportunity to meet more people and make new friends. It's rather hard to cultivate a friendship while sitting in class.

Chapel Hill has plenty of places for weekend entertainment. You are missing an integral part of college life by going back home every weekend to be with the same crowd you've known all your life and probably will be seeing for the rest of it.

Current Tarnation Unimpressive

By Billy Carmichael III

A dog-tired and just plain doggy in spots Tarnation appears on the campus this week as unfitting departure to the co-efforts of co-editors Tom Wharton and Bob Smith. The two have done much better; it would have been hard to do much worse.

The new issue is labelled the budget cut issue, being trimmed to 24 pages. The quantity and quality of the material have likewise been cut with one page—the inside back cover—being left as blank as the looks that will appear on most of the readers' faces.

There are spots of literary lumina in the last of the co-opuses: a joke about a fellow named Pinwheel Smith; a Charlie Joyner fairy tale; and possibly Editor Smith's tale of woe and go, "The Making of Amelia."

The later work can be construed as most anything under the sun though it deals with the most dealt with thing under this same sun. It missed with this critic who has had points flying by him for years; but it might be the sensation that sex has been in the past.

There are cartoons in the new Tarnation, although most seem meant solely for the Tarnation staffer endowed with more and complete information than the eventually reader of the mag has been given.

There is also a pin-up of Patty Ann Frizzell, or so the caption says. It couldn't have happened to a nicer girl.

The best thing about the new Tarnation is the masthead left over from last month. The rest of the humorous hash has left little to be picked over.

Editor-elect Tom Kerr adds a note to review copy that he will appreciate comments and criticism for issues to come. After two years behind the throne, Kerr steps into the spotlight mid shambles of this month's edition. One wonders what he has been holding back. Luckily for Mr. Kerr, Tarnation leaves great vastnesses for improvement.

The Washington Scene

By George Dixon

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

KAWAIHAPAI (I got the dateline spelling off a geographical aloha shirt) Hawaii, April 18.—This is the only place I have struck in my wanderings where you dress for dinner and then undress afterward without any intention of going to bed.

People who dress for dinner in other places unually remain in their formal rags until hay-hitting time. But you get out of them here, if you are smart because you are liable to find yourself involved in anything from a pig roast to a fish seineing, without any clear idea of how it occurred.

One does not look impeccable in a white dinner jacket after one has flopped around in the Pacific Ocean helping to drag in a net squirming with some mighty slimy fish. And that is what one is apt to find oneself doing if one makes the social rounds after dinner.

This fish-dragging, known as a hukilau, seems to be an inseparable part of the night-life of the islands. And one, no matter how formally garbed, cannot be an aloof onlooker. Etiquette requires that everyone on the scene wade out and give at least one heave on the net.

I did not know about this until too late. Would anyone care to buy, or rent, a white tuxedo that smells hauntingly of fish?

This ritual of dressing and undressing, while new to me, definitely has its points. Just because one has got into a monkey suit it does not necessarily mean that one is in for a stuffy evening.

I have seen any number of visiting millionarires and captains of industry who looked like typical stuffer shirts at 9:30 p.m. and beachcombers at 10:30.

Recommended for after-dinner-wear is an aloha shirt, carefully rumpled, a pair of old slacks, and any kind of footwear so long as it is loose and sloppy. You never know when you may have to remove your shoes to extract a marine invertebrate.

Hawaii's delegate to Congress, the Hon. Joseph R. Farrington, told me that all one required to be a la mode here was a dinner outfit and a pair of swimming trunks. I thought he was cutting it a little fine, but it turns out he wasn't.

I am relaying this information for the benefit of those who may be contemplating a trip to Hawaii—and there is an old saying on the islands that there are two kinds of people in the world: "Those who have been to Hawaii and those who are coming."

Nearly every first-time visitor arrives with far too many clothes; most of them utterly unsuitable. They never get to wear a quarter of them, no matter how long they stay.

To Be Continued . . .

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

There seems to be a move underway to contest the election for Vice President of the student body. The shortage of ballots for campus-wide offices, which caused many prospective voters to be turned away from the polls in one of the districts in which I ran most strongly, is cited as providing ample legal basis for such a procedure. I am told that a larger number of voters have been found who say they were unable to vote Student Party because of this ballot shortage, than the number of votes by which I was defeated on the face of the returns.

The close results of the balloting for Vice President have naturally caused some regret in some quarters, and the presence of a legal basis on which to contest these results has added a temptation to this sense of regret, which together have led to the talk of voting once again for Vice President. But I am sure that on sober reflection such persons as may be considering contesting the election will realize that far more would be lost by such action than could possibly be gained.

The efficacy of student government, in the first place, is of far greater importance than the personal victory or defeat of any candidate, and it is difficult to conceive of a situation in which student government would gain respect by requiring repeated ballotings to fill its offices. The student body is tired of politicians and of campus politics after a full month of campaigning, and what possible good could be achieved by further straining everybody's patience I cannot conceive.

Furthermore, I have known Ted Leonard, the new Vice President, and he is an able and conscientious person who will justify his supporters and gratify his opponents by filling the Vice Presidency constructively and with a high sense of duty and willingness to perform his task. I can see no possible benefit to anyone in starting him in his term of office under the sort of cloud that election court-fights invariably produce.

The new Vice President once told me that he is in complete agreement with the fundamental principles by which I have tried to live and for which I have tried to stand in all my activities, but that I have alienated too many people in trying to further them. Perhaps he will discover that at times the immediate material results of sticking by what seems right may appear none too rewarding; but I know that he will uphold these principles in his high office and that the student body, with persons of such calibre for its new President and Vice President, will have the best student government in its history.

Finally, the Student Party approach to campus politics, denounced as idealistic and impractical and presented with severe challenges in its first campaign, has been sustained at the polls; a President has been elected to head student government who personifies the principles which made important the elections this spring. The triumph of these principles, and of a campaign conducted, to say the least, in a refreshingly above-board manner, is significant and reassuring; and this triumph is not contingent upon the exact statistics of whether I finished twenty votes ahead of or twenty votes behind my opponent.

For these reasons I shall not stand as a candidate even should someone persist and succeed in getting another election scheduled.

I want to extend all the gratitude there is in me to those who supported me in the past campaign, and to urge them to place their faith in Mackie and Leonard.

Al Lowenstein

Chollie's Follies

Signs And Sins

By Charlie Gibson

Post-Election Poop: It is not generally known that several sororities fined their members $5 for not voting in the past election. "Oh, that just reminds us girls that it's a student's duty to go vote. Anyway we do the fining on the honor system. No one actually checks I. D. cards for the poll-keepers' stamp, and no one asks how you vote at all."

Whoa, women, and think a minute. Trying to force a heavy turn-out on election days by fining non-voters is like attempting to keep a corset properly tightened by smelting its laces together. Nothing can come of it all except uncomfortable dissatisfaction in the end. Like all good things, democratic voting can be twisted till it is downright disgusting. Political coercion by any other dainty name still stinks.

THINGS WE'D RATHER HEAR GIRLS SAY: 1. "No, I've never seen Gimghoul Castle by moonlight before." 2. "Who cares about a car as long as it's good walking weather?" 3. "You don't think this bathing suit is too tight, do you?" 4. "Let's go dutch." 5. "Why bother, there's no one home here tonight." 6. "Chaperone, what chaperone?" 7. "No, it really doesn't make any difference whether I eat in at all tonight." 8. "My, but I'm cold." 9. "Yes."

* * *

A Study in Contrast: Sign in the Planetarium frontyard—"Keep Off." Sign in the Zeta Psi frontyard—"Please let our little buds grow."

* * *

THINGS WE DON'T LIKE TO HEAR BOYS SAY: 1. "Hey, say, fellow." 2. "She said your blind date has a wonderful personality." 3. "Isn't this the day you were supposed to pay me back the fiver?" 4. "Well, if the lights won't work in here, folks, let's tell ghost stories." 5. "Snake eyes. You lose." 6. "Guess what, roommate? We wear the same size sweaaters." 7. "It's the real thing this time." 8. Professor, you overlooked one of my mistakes on this quiz paper." 9. "She's my sister."

* * *

Remembering which color sticker allows who to park where on campus nowadays is no problem to Martha Dan Payne. She just leaves a note against her windshield announcing: "This is the car that does not get a ticket." The fact that her trick works has been reported to Ripley as the first evidence that Chapel Hill policemen do, too, have a sense of humor.

* * *

THINGE WE EVEN LIKE TO HEAR PARENTS SAY: 1. "Need any money?" 2. "We were expecting you this weekend, and the car's filled up with gas." 3. "Remember, good grades are not everything in life." 4. "Yes, reverse the charges." 5. "Don't keep on working too hard if you get a chance to go on a beach party some weekend soon." 6. "Forget it; the lawnmower is broken now anyway." 7. "You're old enough now to know about our 'medicine' cabinet." 8. "Don't tell your mother about this extra money I'm giving you." 9. "Don't tell your father about this extra money I'm giving you."

Pitching Overshoes

Planetarium Poop

By Tom Wharton

By Tom Wharton

Congratulations, though a week late, are in order for all the newly-elected officers in our student government positions on the campus. There were some good clean campaigns and some exciting photo-finishes. It is too bad that they are all over now—nobody will be speaking to anybody any more.

There has been a rumor circulating around that the student legislature is planning to adopt a new slogan following the inauguration ceremonies. It will be a quotation from the scripture, ". . . . and a little child shall lead you." There are no footnotes attached to it, so it will be hard to check on the reference for the significance of that slogan.

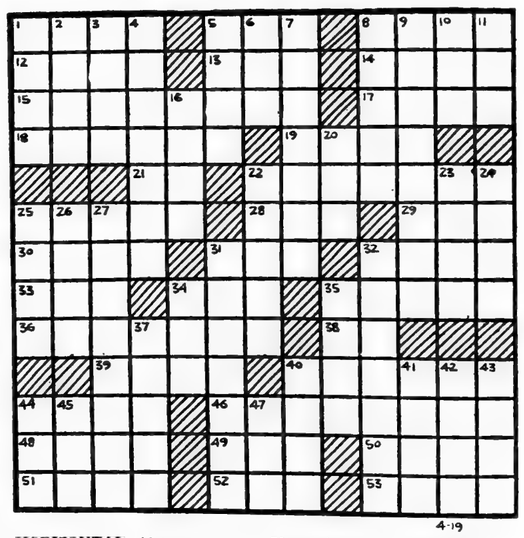
At last we students who have been waiting so long for the completion of the newest addition to the conglomeration of architechture on this campus are getting an idea of what the said addition is going to look like.

For years and years, the loudest complaint of the student body at Chapelina has ben that we have no planetarium on the campus with an art gallery in it. Now at last we have a planetarium with an art gallery in it. The only thing lacking now is the information on what we are going to do with it.

Now we can be proud, our campus is the only campus in the world that can boast of having its own planetarium. Why, there are only three planetariums anywhere in the whole country. There is probably a reason for it.

One reason why planetariums are so scarce is that although they themselves have been invented in this wonderful age, we have yet to invent a use for them. One explanation of the purpose of our planetarium, as pointed out by Tarnation some months ago, is that it clearly shows the name of the donor of the imposing edifice, ". . . on three of a possible four sides of the building."

With that hallowed name rapidly becoming a household word in Chapelina, the word "morehead" is still to some of us only the definition of what you get when you don't tilt your glass when pouring beer.

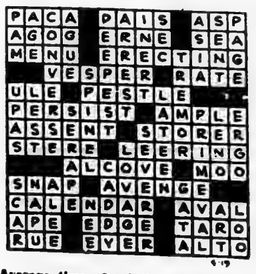


As a monumennt, our planetarium (with the art gallery in it) does much more for its founder than Davie's old Poplar does for him. Davie's poplar is, as the name suggests, just a tree. Why, that is nothing—the planetarium required the cutting down of more than fourteen such trees of over ten inches in diameter at the base just to provide an unobstructed view of the front yard of the planetarium.

Speaking of uses for the planetarium, there was a candidate for the legislature that advocated parking space for student-owned automobiles in there. if there wasn't space for all of them elsewhere. An editorial in the DTH of April 15 commented on the parking problem of this campus, saying, ". . . a solution. . . does not seem likely to be available in the near future."

This columnist is not inclined to believe that parking in the planetarium would be too equitable in some respects—the front doors are too narrow to drive through, and there are still too many of those ugly old trees still standing around near the premises that might get in the way. However, there does seem to be a solution to at least part of the problem, and that is to prohibit members of the faculty and administration of the University from owning or operating automotive vehicles in or around Chapel Hill.

This would be all right with them I am sure because most of them, aparently not knowing the meaning of the word "parking problem" and thinking that this large city of Chapel Hill really has one, agree that something should be done about it. They all live in or near Chapel Hill and don't have to go anywhere for the wek ends. They don't have to have any transportation for dates, etc., because nine out of ten of them are married and have spouses and fires to sit by, far from the maddening crowd," every night.



Maybe Kerr Scott, in keeping with his policy of developing the state's educational system and rural road system, will direct the state legislature to issue automobiles for all students in the state colleges and universities and improve all roads between here and W. C.

HORIZONTAL
1. close
5. disfigure
8. dry
12. wash
13. reverential fear
14. Roman emperor
15. preparing for action
17. gaiter
18. equipped
19. sway drunkenly
21. upon
22. dispirit
25. commence
28. mountain aborigine
29. compete
30. auditory organs
31. those in power
32. fabricate
33. unit of work
34. insect
35. window-glasses
36. space for storing
38. symbol for silver
39. nostril
40. herb of composite family
44. paper measure
46. story-teller
48. case for small articles
49. town in Germany
50. web-like membrane
51. head
52. English cathedral-town
53. epochs

VERTICAL
1. metallic dross
2. robust
3. inner lining of the iris
4. overwhelming frights
5. female servant
6. beard
7. compunctions
8. goose
9. legal action re personal property
10. masculine name
11. speck
16. canvas shelter
20. slender finial
22. Italian poet
23. function in trigonometry
24. series
25. observes
26. sharp
27. one of Jason's companions
31. naive girl
32. a person of rank
34. river in Switzerland
35. young salmon
37. Chinese shrub
40. armed force
41. Roman road
42. African tree
43. macaws
44. corded fabric
45. Greek letter
47. entire amount

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 23 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Volunteer Day

Today, April 19, has been designated by Governors of the 48 states as a day to recognize and applaud the continuous volunteer services of County U. S. Savings Bonds Chairman and other volunteer workers in each state.

This newspaper joins with the President and with the governors of the several states in paying tribute and thanking the U. S. Savings Bonds volunteers everywhere who are working to promote the sale and the holding of U. S. Savings Bonds, thus helping to fortify our people and our nation against whatever the future may bring, and to create opportunity for better living in peace and prosperity in this land of free enterprise and freedom.

Tar Heels Blast Duke, 8-2; Netters Triumph

Tar Heels Collect 17 Base Hits; Ray Blair Credited With Win

By Buddy Vaden

DURHAM, April 18—It was a blue Monday for the Blue Devils of Duke here in Durham's Ahtletic Park today as the University of North Carolina Tar Heels put on an Easter Parade of their own and pounded three Duke pitchers for 17 hits and an 8-2 win. It was an exhibition contest sponsored by the Durham Chamber of Commerce and did not count in Big Four standings.

Ed Lamb enacted Teddy Roosevelt's role of "Speak softly and carry a big stick" in leading the Tar Heels to their first win over the impotent Blue Devils. Lamb tallied four hits — two of them doubles—in five trips to the plate, scored two runs and drove in two more to up his batting average to well over .500 for the season.

The Carolinians scored early and kept piling it on the Blue Devils, scoring one run in the first, two in the third, one in the fourth, and two each in the seventh and ninth. Al Curtis started for the Dukes, but gave up seven hits in four frames before he was yanked in favor of Frank Graham (No relation).

Next Pitcher, Please

Graham lasted only three innings before Tar Heel batsmen pounded him to the shelter of the dugout. Before he left the field he had five big hits chalked up against his record. Lewis Kline was the next victim for the Tar Heels as the Defending Conference Champions from Chapel Hill blasted him for five hits before the game ended.

Duke managed to collect two runs off winning pitcher Ray Blair in the seventh, but couldn't touch his fancy pitching during the rest of the ball game. Although the Devils collected 10 hits, Blair successfully kept the ball away from them when the chips were down.

Zero Allen started things off in a big way for the Tar Heels in the first inning when he touched Curtis for a lengthy double. He scored a few minutes later when Stan Goodman, the next Carolina batter, singled. That was the opening round. Bigger things were to come.

Varney Doubles

They came in the third when Rip Ryan walked and Lamb singled. Both gents were escorted across the plate on a double by Sid Varney. Varney went on to collect three hits for the day in five trips to the plate.

Another run was added in the fourth when Don Ward scored after a single, a walk to Blair and Ryan's double to deep left singled to score Lamb and Senter doubled. Varney only got to third on the hit and was stranded there as Ward ended the inning with a pop up to short.

The play for pay starts Wednesday afternoon when the Carolina Club goes to Wake Forest for its first official Big Four encounter. After the Wednesday contest, there is nothing but trouble for the local boys. Thursday they meet Davidson at Chapel Hill, followed by a Friday afternoon game with Wake Forest. The week closes Saturday with a game with N. C. State at Raleigh.

In the big seventh Stan Goodman, for the sake of variety, added a 380-foot double to the mounting list (He tallied a single, a double and a triple for the day) to start things off. He scored on a base hit by First Baseman Will Hobbs. On the throw to the plate Hobbs trotted to second.

He didn't stay there long, however, for Lamb, the next batter, doubled him home. Lamb's dou-

(See BASEBALL, page 4)

Easter Parade

North Carolina	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Allen, cf	5	1	2	3	0	0
Goodman, 2b	5	2	3	3	2	0
Ryan, ss	4	1	1	3	2	0
Hobbs, 1b	5	1	1	7	0	0
Lamb, rf	5	2	4	2	1	0
Varney, c	5	0	3	4	0	0
Senter, 3b	5	0	1	1	1	0
Ward, lf	4	1	2	4	0	1
Blair, p	3	0	0	0	2	0
Totals	41	8	17	27	8	1

Duke	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Hancock, 1b	5	0	1	5	0	0
Burgeron, ss	5	3	4	1	0	0
Powers, rf	3	0	0	1	0	0
aDeLonzo	1	0	0	0	0	0
Folger, rf	2	1	1	0	0	0
Sires, c	4	0	0	11	2	0
bMiller	1	0	0	0	0	0
Erickson, lf	3	0	2	1	0	1
Falwell, 3b	2	0	0	2	1	0
Lucas, cf	3	0	1	2	1	0
Frye, 2b	4	1	2	1	1	0
Curtis, p	1	0	0	0	0	0
cClower	1	0	0	0	0	0
Kline, p	0	0	0	0	0	0
Graham, p	0	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	35	2	10	27	8	1

a-Struck out for Powers in 7th.
b-Flied out for Kline in 9th.
c-Flied out for Curtis in 4th.

Score by Innings:

Carolina	1	0	2	1	0	0	2	0	2—8
Duke	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	0—2

Runs Batted In: Goodman, Varney Senter. Two-base hits: Allen, Erickson, Ryan, Bergeron, Lamb 2, Hancock 2, Ryan, Hobbs, Lamb 2, Hancock 2, Lucas, Senter, Goodman. Stolen Base: Ryan. Sacrifice: Lucas. Left on base: Carolina 9, Duke 11. Bases on balls: Blair 4, Curtis 3. Struck out by: Blair 4, Curtis 6, Graham 3, Kline 1. Hits off: Curtis 7 in 4 inn., Kline 5 in 2 inn., Graham 5 in 3 inn. Passed ball: Varney. Losing pitcher: Curtis. Umpires: Arrington and Carr. Time 2:35.

Harvie Ward Cops Medalist Honors In North-South

PINEHURST, N. C., April 18—(UP)—Young Harvie Ward, Jr., defending champion, clicked with his battered old putter today and finished as medalist in the qualifying round of the 49th Annual North and South Amateur Golf Championship with a three-under par 69.

In a tricky wind, only one other man trimmed par. Former National Amateur Champion Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, playing on familiar terrain, carded a 71.

Ward, a University of North Carolina student from Tarboro, N. C., used his sharp-shooting putter last year to whip Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., in the final round.

Stranahan ,rated as the favorite in this tournament, was not here today. He was in Virginia Beach, Va., losing a playoff of the Cavalier Tournament to Bobby Locke, South African Pro. Because of the conflict in time, he was exempted from qualifying here.

Ward birdied four holes on the 6,952-yard No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country Club, and made an eagle on the par-five 16th. He slipped over par on three holes to finish with 35-34—69.

The tournament goes into match play tomorrow, with semi-finals and finals Friday and Saturday slated as 36-hole rounds.

Qualifying scores were 81 and under. A playoff will be held tomorrow among the 13 players who made 82 for six places left in the 64-man championship flight.

Two other Tar Heels qualified. They were Jack Brantley with a 38-37-75, and Decatur Cunningham with a 37-39-76.

Braves Lose, 4-0 To Philadelphia In Loop's Opener

BOSTON, April 18—(UP)—Southpaw Ken Heintzelman, undisturbed by near-freezing weather and whining winds, pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-0 victory over the Boston Braves before 9,195 shivering fans at Braves Field today in the National League's opening game.

Heintzelman, a 33-year-old veteran, set the 1948 pennant winners down with five hits as his team-mates took advantage of Johnny Sain's early wildness to jump into the lead in the first inning.

Hardy Boston partisans cheered as the pennant was raised in token of the Braves' first title in 34 years, but thereafter they had little to shout about as their favorites pecked at Heintzelman's shrewd pitching.

The rebuilt Phils filled the bases and scored twice in the first inning a few minutes after Gov. Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts lobbed out the traditional first pitch—a custardpie toss.

National League

Philadelphia	2	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	4-9-0
Boston	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0 5 1

Heintzleman and Lopata; Sain and Masi.

American League

Philadelphia	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2- 7-1
Washington	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	2	0	3-11-0

Fowler and Rosar; Scarborough and Evans.

Locals Win Tenth Straight With 10-0 Victory Over Deacs

By Joe Cherry

Carolina's potent varsity netmen added victory number ten to their already impressive record by whitewashing Wake Forest's Demon Deacons, 10-0, yesterday afternoon in their Big Four and Southern Conference debut on the local courts.

Captain Victor Seixas started the Tar Heels on the way to victory by blanking Watkins of Wake Forest in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0. The Carolina ace was never in trouble in winning his first love victory of the season.

Second-ranking Clark Taylor rang up an easy 6-0, 6-1 win over Deacon Al Bunn, and all the way down the line the Tar Heels swept to victory in seven singles and three doubles matches.

Duke Wilder, playing in the third singles spot, opened with a love win against Williams in the first set, but the Demon Deac managed to rally in the second set for four games before being topped by the Tar Heel, 6-4. Jim Winstead of Carolina added another point to the Tar Heels' score by defeating Munford, 6-1, 6-1. Lasley Dameron, playing in fifth position for the locals, won out over Morphis, 6-3, 6-1.

Coach John Kenfield sent two of his reserves into action in the final singles matches, with Bob Kerdasher and Hugh Bowman emerging victorious over their opponents.

Gene Turner broke into the lineup with Dameron in the final doubles contest, with the Carolina pair triumphing, 6-0, 6-1, over Morphis-Clark.

The summary:

Singles: Seixas defeated Watkins, 6-0, 6-0; Taylor defeated Bunn, 6-0, 6-1; Wilder defeated Williams, 6-0, 6-4; Winstead defeated Munford, 6-1, 6-1; Dameron defeated Morphis, 6-3, 6-1; Kerdasher defeated Clark, 6-0, 6-0; Bowman defeated Drake, 6-1, 6-4.

Doubles: Seixas-Taylor defeated Watkins-Bunn, 6-0, 6-1; Wilder-Kerdasher defeated Williams-Munford, 6-1, 7-5; Turner-Dameron defeated Morphis-Clark, 6-0, 6-1.

Mural Roundup

INTRAMURAL TENNIS

Entries for Intramural tennis were opened yesterday and the intramural office will continue to accept them through Thursday, April 21. Play will begin on Monday.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00—Field 1, SAE 1 vs KA 1, 2, Phi Kap Sig 1 vs PiKA 1; 3, TEP 2 vs Sig Chi 2; 4, C-Dorm 1 vs Everett; 5, Alexander vs Old East; 6, Steele vs Town 2; 7, Aycock vs Stan. Steam.; 8, Lamb Chi 2 vs Chi Psi 2;

5:00—Field 1, Sig Nu 1 vs St. Anth.; 2, Kap Sig 1 vs Phi Delt Chi; 3, Kappa Psi 2 vs PiKAp Phi 1; 4, Pill Roll. vs Beachcombers; 5, KVP vs Emerson 1; 6, Lewis 1 vs Emerson 2; 7, Old West vs Graham.

Qualifying for the Broad Jump

Dormitory—Short, G. (Town); Young, M. (Emerson); Godwin, I. (Town); Rockwell, H. (Town); Graham, T. (Town); Honeycutt, O. (Town); Miller, B. (Emerson); Teachey, W. (Alexander); Verchick, G. (Emerson); Hansen, R. (Emerson); Weiner, A. (Town); Gudger, A. (Town); Burcheess, G. (Town); Jones, P. (Town); Edwards, R. (Town); Hayes, B. (Emerson).

Fraternity—Alexander, H. (Zeta); Boren, G. (Zeta); Conine, J. (Pi KA); Cowles, R. (SAE); Ferbes, (Chi Psi); Fleming, J. (Phi Gam); Gilman, T. (Phi Gam); Hesmer, T. (Sig Chi); Hicks, J. (Phi Gam); Lyon, W. (Sig Chi); Reuning, J. (SAE); Rizzo, P. (Phi Gam); Swartzberg, F. (Pi Lamb); Turner, S. (SAE); Williams, E. (SAE); Wall, T. (PiKA); Woollcott, D. (DKE).

Coed Softball

All entries for women's softball intramurals must be in to the women's intramurals office at Woollen Gym by noon today. Each organization may enter two teams.

Deacs Edge State, 3-1, On Livick's Homer

RALEIGH, April 18 Wake Forest's powerful Demon Deacons were fought to a standstill for eight innings here today before they broke loose to defeat N. C. State's Wolfpack, 3-1, in the annual Easter Monday tilt at Devereaux Meadow.

Right fielder Paul Livick hit a four-bagger with mate Gene Hooks on base in the final frame to top a Deac rally and furnish the winning tallies.

Wake Forest-	000	000	003	—3
N. C. State-	000	000	001	—1

Davidson Defeats Freshman Netters In Close Tilt, 5-4

Coach Jack Kenfield's freshman tennis team, dropped a close, hard-fought meet to Davidson's frosh netters, 5-4, here yesterday afternoon for their first loss in three starts.

After breaking even with the Tar Babies in the singles matches, the visitors annexed two of the three doubles contests for their margin of victory.

Davidson jumped to a quick lead when Strande defeated Jim Hammerstein of Carolina, 6-3, 6-4. Keesler furthered the winner's cause by stopping Bret Smith, 6-0, 6-3.

Charlie Dubal put the locals in the win column for the first time by posting a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Kalegridis in the third singles match.

The junior Wildcats bounced back as Ham Wade, son of Carolina's publicity director Jake Wade, topped Sharen Haroutunian in a long match, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4. Cecil Milton of Carolina accounted for the Tar Babies' second point with a 6-1, 6-3 win over Hammond of Davidson in the fifth singles tilt.

The visitors put the match on ice by copping the first two doubles matches. Strand-Wade edged Hammerstein-Smith, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Keesler and Kalegridis combined to cinch the victory for Davidson with a close 8-6, 6-4 decision over Duval-Milton of Carolina. Littleton and Redding furnished the locals' final point by beating Hammond-Blake, 8-10, 7-5, 6-3.

The summary:

Singles: Strande (D) defeated Hammerstein, 6-3, 6-4; Keesler (D) defeated Smith, 6-0, 6-3; Duval (C) defeated Kalegridis, 6-4, 6-4; Wade (D) defeated Haroutunian, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4; Milton (C) defeated Hammond, 6-1, 6-3; Litton (C) defeated Blake, 6-4, 6-3.

Doubles: Strand-Wade (D) defeated Hammerstein-Smith, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3; Keesler-Kalegridis (D) defeated Duval-Milton, 8-6, 6-4; Litton-Redding (C) defeated Hammond-Blake, 8-10, 7-5, 6-3.

Today's Sports

Tennis

Varsity tennis — Carolina vs Presbyterian on Varsity Courts at 3 o'clock.

Practice Sessions

Daily practice sessions in football, baseball, lacrosse, soccer, track, and freshman baseball.

Intramurals

See mural schedule.

PRACTICE MEET

Carolina's varsity cindermen will meet State's thin clads this afternoon on Fetzer field in a practice meet. The field events will get under way at 3 o'clock and the running events at 3:30.

COLLEGE BASEBALL

8 Carolina	Duke 2
3 Wake Forest	N. C. State 1

Spring Afternoons We Meet for BEER at—
THE BUCCANEER

AUTO PARTS
New . Used . Rebuilt
Open Saturday Afternoon And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

WHY DON'T YOU WRITE?
To aid you we feature CRANE, EATON, and MONTAG College and Social Stationery.
—Beautiful Paper makes writing a Pleasure.
LEDBETTER-PICKARD

MILTON'S CLOTHING CUPBOARD
would like to take this opportunity TO THANK their patrons for their splendid response to our EASTER SALE.
We wish also to notify you that we intend to Continue This Sale through Saturday.
You still have the opportunity to choose from a WIDE SELECTION OF QUALITY ARTICLES
Milton's Clothing Cupboard
We Are Never Knowingly Undersold
Across from the Farmer's Dairy Co-operative

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL BLDV
TUES. & WED.
"HOLIDAY IN MEXICO"
in Technicolor
Walter Pidgeon, Jose Iturbi, and Xavier Cugat
Selected Shorts
75c PER CAR

RENTAL LIBRARY
BULL'S HEAD BOOKSHOP
"NEW HOMES FOR TODAY"
and other House-Plan Books
BROWSE • BUY • RENT

Nats Defeat Philadelphia as Truman Pitches First Ball

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(UP) — The Washington Senators made good today on a presidential command performance—and made President Truman look good at picking a winner.

They exploded a two run rally in the last of the ninth for a stirring 3 to 2 victory over the Philadelphia A's before Mr. Truman and 26,000 other fans in the season's opener.

It was the first time as president that Mr. Truman had seen Washington win an opener. It was, in fact, Washington's first opening day victory since 1943.

This was one which the president had "ordered" Washington to win. He made the request in Florida last month. The chief executive followed that up by predicting, before today's game, that the Senators would win 5 to 4.

For eight innings, it appeared that Mr. Truman would be denied the vicotry he sought and predicted.

Philadelphia right hander Dick Fowler carried a 2-1 lead into the ninth in a tight duel with Ray Scarborough, also a right hander.

Then, before he could get a man out, left handed pinch hitters Sherry Robertson and Eddie Stewart stroked successive doubles to left, tying the score as Mr. Truman rose from his seat and cheered. Gil Coan beat out a bunt and Sam Dente was walked intentionally, filling the bases. But Buddy Lewis popped up.

Then up stepped Clyde Vollmer, an American League "rookie" who has seen previous service with the Cincinnati Reds. He drilled a scorching single to center, scoring Stewart. That was the ball game, and the Senators had vindicated the president's confidence and judgment.

STAAB TRAVEL SERVICE
Est. 1926
Steamship and Air Reservation via All Lines Passage to Europe again available on U.S. Marine Vessels. for information contact
414 Pittsboro Street

WHITE SUMMER FORMALS
"AFTER SIX"
By Rudo
$25.50
Full Stock of Accessories
Jack Lipman's

NEW MUSICAL SMASH FROM WARNER BROS!
MY DREAM IS YOURS
DORIS DAY
JACK CARSON
LEE BOWMAN
MICHAEL CURTIZ PRODUCTION
IN COLOR BY TECHNICOLOR
with ADOLPHE MENJOU · EVE ARDEN · S.Z. "CUDDLES" SAKALL
DIRECTED BY MICHAEL CURTIZ
SELENA ROYLE FRANKIE CARLE
TODAY
—ALSO—
CARTOON — NEWS
VILLAGE

With fans who know...it's Alan Dale's
"MEET ME TONIGHT IN DREAMLAND" (Signature Record)
● Alan Dale, a top-ten phono favorite, gives out with the solid dream music. Yes, for starry-eyed dancing, just ask for Alan Dale's new number. And for mild, flavorful smoking pleasure, just ask for Camels! Take it from Alan—"Camels are a grand smoke . . . a cool, mild smoke!"

WITH SMOKERS WHO KNOW... IT'S Camels
for taste and mildness!
In a recent test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for 30 days, noted throat specialists, making weekly examinations, reported
NOT ONE SINGLE CASE OF THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking
B. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. Winston-Salem, N. C.
CAMELS

Dean's List For Arts And Sciences Announced Today By Dean Wells

The following students, in the College of Arts and Sciences, were reported last week by Dean William Wells as having made the Dean's List for the Winter quarter, 1949. Each student took a minimum of fifteen hours of work and received grades of B or higher on the work:

Adams, Grey Littleton, Adams, Henry Bethune, Adams, Simeon Huey, Albertson, Joseph Kermit, Alexander, Herbert E., Allen, Martha Brookes, Anderson, Ann, Anderson, Wilma Clair, Andrews, Harold Lee, Andrews, Ralph Preston, Angas, Frances Louise, Anthony, Luther Leslie, Jr., Ashcraft, Frank Bickett, Jr., Austin, Barbara Ann, Averett, Leland Stanley, Jr.:

Bagwell, James Edward, Baity, John B., Baldwin, Calvin B., Jr., Baldwin, Curtis Payson, Barbee, Sarah Batling, Barbour, Robert Donovan, Barr, Robert Marshall, Beeston, Christine H., Bellamy, Heyward C., Bellamy, William Earl, Jr.;

Berkeley, Scott Bruce, Jr., Blackley, Roy Jackson, Blackwelder, Eugene Dwight, Black, Joseph Franklin, Blalock, Betty Jane, Blum, Thomas A., Bondurant, Stuart Osborne, Bonner, Octavius Blanchard, Jr., Bookout, Joe Luther, Boone, Samuel M., Booze, George Allen, Borden, Richard Winstead, Bost, Iris Lee, Bradshaw, Thomas Samuel, Braxton, Lonnie Adolphus, Jr., Brett, King William, Brockman, John Lyndan, Brooks, Robert Lee, Brooks, Stamey Fitzhue, Brown, William Wilson, Bruner, Carolina Greer, Brunson, William C., Bruton, Gaston S., Jr., Bryant, Edward Albert, Bryant, Shasta Monroe, Burns, Charles Sloan, Butler, Ruth Hamilton:

Cameron, Margaret Lillian, Campbell, Charles Haywood, Carnes, Earnest Bookhard, Cassell, Lewis Dean, Casstevens, Jane M., Cheek, Edwin Rives, Childress, William Newton, Cobb, William Battle, Jr., Cohen, Harvey Jay, Cohen, Richard Alan, Collins, David L., Jr., Colwell, Mabel Kathryn, Conley, Mai Bell, Conly, Lucile Lastrapes, Constable, Ida Katherine, Cook, Gerard L'Estrange, Coppridge, Alton James, Cospito, Joseph Anthony, Jr., Cottrell, Gladys Bunyon, Coughlan, John Kelly, Cox, Richard Garner, Crabtree, John Henry, Jr., Crone, Stanley Benjamin, Crooke, Paul Herman, Jr., Cunningham, Charles A.;

Daniel, Mary Anne, Davis, Martha Christine, Deans, George Frederick, Dees, Helen Page, Denham, Alice, Denning, Florence Patricia, Diggs, Henry Edwin, Dillard, Lillian, Dixon, Charles Dennis, Duke, Marietta, Dunlea, Richard Austin, Jr.;

Echols, Frank Lawson, Edwards, Robert Harrison, Ensslin, Robert Frank, Jr., Erickson, Kent Eric, Eutsler, Isabel Carolina, Evans, Marjorie Louise, Evans, Robert George, Farmer, James Stephen, Faulconer, Ann Parker, Field, Howard Lawrence, Fordham, Henry Clendenin, Foster, Paul Alexander, Fowler, Robert Howard, Furguson, Gilbert Harris, Gaston, Margaret Johnson, Gibson, Charles Robert, Gobbell, John Temple, Jr., Goldenthal, Maurice, Goodwin, Jacquelyn Elizabeth, Graham, Jack Raymond, Graves, James Franklyn, Green, Alfred Joseph, Green, William Lester, Jr., Greening, Nell Lee, Grier, Bill Parker, Griffin, Jane Laurice, Griswold, James Bryan, Jr., Grogan, Billy James,

(To be continued)

CAMPUS CALENDAR

1:00—TOWN GIRL'S Association. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
2:00—SENIOR CLASS Officers. Grail room, GM.
4:00—FACULTY NEWCOMERS Club. Mrs. M. J. Rosenau, hostess, Laurel Hill rd.
7:00—LEADERSHIP TRAINING Program. Main lounge, GM.
7:00—HILLEL FOUNDATION. Roland Parker 1, 2, GM.
7:00—ALPHA PHI Omega. Roland Parker 3, GM.
7:00—HENDERSON Club. Grail room, GM.
7:30—PHI ASSEMBLY. Phi Hall.
7:30—DANCING CLASS. Rendezvous room, GM.
8:00—LECTURE. Joseph Leighton will speak on "Democracy, Technology, and Personality." Gerrard Hall.
8:30—JOINT PIANO Recital. Robert MacDonald, William Waters, Edwin Steed, Felder Graham will play. Hill Hall.
6:30—French Club meets for dinner in the Carolina Inn.
7:30—French Club meets in Caldwell Y.
7:30—Phi Assembly, Phi Hall, New East.
7:30—AVC meeting. Presbyterian church.

Colonial House System
THICK CHOCOLATE MILK SHAKES
"Best Around"
20c
Open:
Mon.-Thurs.—11 AM-12 PM
Fri. & Sat.—11 AM-2 AM

USMC Offers Courses For Reserve Positions

Students interested in taking summer training leading to reserve commissions with the United States Marine Corps should see Maj. B. W. McLean at the Naval armory immediately.

Maj. McLean announced yesterday that the yearly procurement program of officer candidates would end in the near future but that there were a few vacancies left for male students who are freshmen, sophomores, or juniors.

The training will include two six week summer courses, preferably between the sophomore-junior and junior-senior years and will be held at the Quantico, Va., Marine base. Students will be rated as corporals during their first summer and as sergeants during their second summer and will receive pay and allowances accordingly, Maj. McLean said.

Those who successfully complete the course will be given reserve commissions as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps. Students may receive regular commissions upon their own request provided their qualifications are comensurate with the standards and ideals of the Corps.

Applicants must be over 17 years old at the time of their entrance into training and not more than 25 in the calendar year in which they graduate from college, McLean said.

-Campus Party-

(Continued from Page 1)

party, told the group that the party should start looking for its future candidates immediately and not wait for another election to come before doing so. It was also brought out at the meeting that the CP would push its election platform in the legislature and elsewhere where it had power in student government.

-Baseball-

(Continued from page 3)

ble, one of ten hit during the course of the ball game, went 430 feet deep into center field. The side was then retired, stranding Lamb on the keystone sack.

But, much to the dismay of the Duke pitching staff, two more runs were to cross the plate for the Tar Heels. In the final frame, the Tar Heel boys said goodbye to the home of the Durham Bulls with two runs on four hits.

Goodman opened up with a triple to left, followed by Lamb's second double (his ninth for the season) to right center. Varney

Cast is Selected For Army Comedy

Eleven states of the Union, including Brooklyn, are represented in the cast and crew working on "Repple Depple," Sam Hirsch's new farce-comedy of overseas Army life. Slated for April 28 and 29, the comic portrait of GI troubles is being staged by W. P. Covington, Winston-Salem, graduate student in the Dramatic Art Department.

Heading the cast are North Carolinians: James Byrd, Charlotte, Franch Echols, Asheville, John D. Shearin, Weldon, and Lois Latham, Franklin. Stage Manager Chuck Morrell is from Asheville. Out-of-staters include: David Samples, Joliet, Ill.; Erle F. Hall, Nashville, Tenn.; George Upchurch, Savannah, Ga.; Michael Pochna, Passaic, N. J.; Edd Lassiter, Newport News, Va.; John Beshara, Springfield, Mass.; Margie Cameron, Washington, D. C.; Frederick Young, Monroe, La.; and Joseph Borello, Brooklyn, U.S.A.

The set is being designed by Pete Strader, Sarasota, Fla., and the costumes will be supervised by Marty Jacobs, Greensboro.

-Coed-

(Continued from page 1)

mained as student and teacher until coming to the Duke University for three seasons before coming to Meredith College as head of the voice department where she has been Associate Professor of Music for the past six years.

Harrieth Keen received her B. A. in music at Smith College. She sang concerts in and around New York city and entertained for USO and Red Cros during the war. She hasr performed with the Playmakers and held one of the leads in "State of the Union." Having been soloist with Chapel Hill Choral Club in Mozart's "Requiem" and Mendelssohn's "Elijah," Miss Keen is the soprano soloist at the Chapel Hill Presbyterian church. She is on the voice staff of the Music Department at the University.

See Us For Any Metal Work To Be Done
EXPERT SERVICE
Crabtree Metal Shop
CARRBORO

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. FOR A small charge we can relieve you of all details connected with renting your property. Our service includes selection of desirable tenants, supervision of upkeep and collection of rents. Consult us today regarding this service. Service Insurance & Realty Co., Henderson Street. Phone F-419. (ch 1x2)

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

ALL MAKES OF LAWN MOWERS repaired, machine sharpened. Axes, hatchets, scythes also sharpened. Tripps Lawn Mower Repair Shop or see John Tripp, Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE 5B

TWO BEDROOM HOUSE FOR SALE or rent. Located at corner of Justice and Branch Streets—near airport. Owner will be at house in Chapel Hill April 22. (4-2400-1)

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

'41 CLUB COUPE PONTIAC, RADIO. tact H. B. Broadfoot, 107 Everett.

heater. Excellent condition. $725. Con- (4-2399-1)

LOST 12

AMBER FRAME GLASSES WITH Please return to Hugh Johnson, 206 "A" Dorm. I need them for classes. name and address inside leather case. (2-6701-1)

NC 1949 LISCENSE PLATE NUMBER 49494 for motor scooter. If found please contact C. J. Ratledge, 218 Aycock. (1-2397-1)

NEW COMOY PIPE SOMEWHERE between the Deke House and Graham Memorial. Will finder please return to Charlie Norton at The Deke House (2-2396-1)

WANTED 24

FURNISHED HOUSE OR APARTment for summer months or yearly. Responsible settled couple. No children or pets. Two bedrooms (minimum). Preferably—not necessarily—within walking distance of town. Call F-425, after 7:00 p.m. and weekends at Mrs. McKimmon between 9:00 & 5 at 5471. (2-2392-2)

A HAIR CUT TODAY
Will give You a
WELL-GROOMED LOOK FOR THE DANCES
CAROLINA BARBER SHOP

Is Your Furniture, Jewelry, House, Automobile, Personal Property, Book Collection, Stamp Collection Insured? If Not Call 8726 or F-2842
and a Representative of the Carolina Insurance Agency will call on you to discuss your insurance needs.
Carolina Insurance Agency
Dyson E. Patterson Merwin H. Dyson
Across From Bus Station

Let's Go FISHING!
MOST COMPLETE STOCK of Nationally Advertised FISHING TACKLE in Chapel Hill!
Come in and See Our Stock Before You Buy
—We repair fishing tackle—
PATTERSON AUTO SUPPLY
1421 W. Franklin Street

THE HEAT'S ON!

Be prepared for summer with really cool slacks.
★
SEERSUCKERS
WOOLENS
RAYONS
PALM BEACH
KRISP-SPUN
SLACKFROST
JACK LIPMAN'S
Alligator Rain-Wear
Taylor-Made Shoes
Paris Belts
Michael-Stern
Palm Beach
Botany 500 Suits
Manhattan Shirts
Mayfair Slacks
Arrow Shirts
Revere Sports-Wear

TODAY
CAROLINA
MGM Presents
Waitress weds millionaire..."Caught"!
JAMES MASON
BARBARA BEL GEDDES
ROBERT RYAN
in
"CAUGHT"
Screen Play by Arthur Laurents
Directed by MAX OPULS
Produced by WOLFGANG REINHARDT

—ALSO—
POPEYE CARTOON
POPULAR SCIENCE

A SPECIAL OFFER
TO THE GRADUATING CLASS... JUNE '49
You May Be Accepted for an Early
U. S. Air Force Aviation Cadet Training Class
If you are a college graduate, married or single, between the ages of 20 and 26½ and physically and morally qualified, you may be accepted for assignment in the U. S. Air Force Aviation Cadet classes starting in late summer or early fall.
You get a well-planned course, valued at $35,000 : : : this includes about 275 hours of flight training, and the finest aviation education and executive training in the world.

Win your wings and then start a career with a future...
College men are today's leaders of the U. S. Air Force. With new and complex aircraft and equipment being developed, scientific research becomes more and more important, increasing the need for college-trained men.
As a college graduate you will have an unlimited future in aviation fields of personnel management, operations, matériel, supply, research and development.
It's a year of learning, flying and time for recreation with a hand-picked top-string team of Americans.
Upon assignment to an Aviation Cadet class you will be sent to one of the U. S. Air Force bases in Texas for the world's finest aviation training.
Here you will receive about 175 hours of flying instruction in the Texan T-6 trainer plus an extensive course in aviation education and executive training. Navigation, fuels, weather, radio and radar are some of the subjects you will take.
During this training period you'll find plenty of hard, fast action to keep you fit and trim . . . the best athletic facilities are available. Upon completion of training, you will win your silver wings and receive a Reserve commission as second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force. Outstanding graduates receive Regular commissions upon graduation.
OFFICER CANDIDATE SCHOOL FOR COLLEGE GRADUATES
If you can meet the high standards required of candidates for officer training, there's a real future for you in the U. S. Air Force. Capable young executives are needed for positions of responsibility in non-flying assignments . . . management, communications, engineering, research and other fields. That is why the Air Force is offering qualified, ambitious men and women with college training an opportunity to prepare for leadership in the air age.
Special team of Air Force Recruiting Service will be in Chapel Hill at Air ROTC Building on Thursday & Friday, April 21 & 22.
WIN YOUR WINGS

U. S. AIR FORCE
Single or married men with two years of college (or who can pass an equivalent examination) between ages of 20 and 26½ with high physical and moral qualifications, act now! Get full details at your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Office or write: Chief of Staff, Headquarters United States Air Force, Attention Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.
U. S. ARMY and U. S. AIR FORCE RECRUITING SERVICE

AL CAPP
L'il Abner

The CHEW CHEW TRAIN starts at 7 A.M.—at HARRY'S
Steve Canyon
MILTON CANIFF

EDITORIAL
U.N.C. Library
Name Three Durham, N. C.
Unhappy Experiment
Praising Tar Staff

The Daily Tar Heel

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 147

WEATHER

Fair and cooler today and tonight.

Alaska Jobs Are Not Open This Summer

Office Swamped With Inquiries

By Margaret Gaston

"He's upstairs in his igloo chewing on a piece of whale blubber," was the reply given to students who wanted to see Dick Fleming a few weeks ago. It seems that Fleming's popularity increased three-fold about a month ago when he was quoted as being an authority on a "get rich quick plan."

Fleming, senior from Greenville, was hired as an unskilled laborer by the Alaskan Railway Co. last summer to the tune of $300 a week, plus room and board. Tookie Hodgson, senior from Murfreesboro, Tenn., interviewed him, and sent a story to the state papers pointing out the lucretive opportunities offered in Alaska. The Daily Tar Heel also ran his story, as did many other college papers.

The results were amazing, Hodgson said. He reported that both he and Fleming have received about 40 inquiries each requesting further information on job opportunities in Alaska.

However, Joe Galloway, director of Placement Service, has this to say about summer work in Alaska. "If you want a summer job, DON'T go to Alaska."

As a result of Hodgson's article, the Placement office has been swamped with inquiries estimated by the staff to be close to 2,000, Galloway said. This figure includes those persons who have been by the office two and three times to check on latest reports, as well as the long distance calls and several letters from other colleges.

Immediately after the inquiries started pouring in, the Placement Service wrote to the Alaska Railroad in Anchorage, which is under the United States Department of the Interior. Its director of personnel reports:

"Many students from all over the United States as well as the University of Alaska are planning on employment in Alaska this coming summer with the Alaska Railroad, other government agencies or private contractors. Many of these students have been discouraged from taking such a step principally because of transportation and other costly expenses involved, and the lack of definite assurance of employment upon arrival. . . . Our employment policy is to give first preference to residents of Alaska, even on seasonal jobs.

"The employment of all additional persons for the construction season is accomplished by hiring locally those persons available at the time the vacancy exists. . . ."

The report of one general contracting firm in Fairbanks, Alaska, is typical of information received from private employment sources, Galloway said.

"The majority of our personnel are locally hired through the various unions. We do not send outside for other personnel unless the local supply is exhausted.

"At the present time, the local unions are not accepting any new members and will not accept any new ones until the majority of their paid up members are working."

Commenting on the general summer employment picture, Gal-

(See ALASKA page 4)

Frolics To Begin Friday Afternoon

The 1949 May Frolics will b on Friday afternoon when Skit Henderson and his orchestra pr ent a concert in Memorial Ha from 2 until 4 o'clock. The ar nual affair is being sponsored b seven fraternities on campus an will last throughout the weekend

Two formal dances will be play ed by Henderson. The first, or Friday night, will get underway at 9 o'clock in Woollen gymna sium and will last until 1 o'clock.

The second dance will begin at o'clock on Saturday night and ill last until 12 o'clock.

JUDGE JOHN J. PARKER

Judge Parker Will Address Fleece Meet

Post-Tap Banquet Set Monday Night

Judge John J. Parker of Charlotte will speak privately next Monday evening at a post-tapping banquet in honor of those this year whose leadership, service, and integrity meet the qualifications for membership in the Order of the Golden Fleece.

Judge Parker, Fleece member himself who graduated from the University in 1907, has been a U. S. circuit judge since 1925. Republican nominee for governor in 1920 and President Hoover's nominee for the U. S. Supreme Court, Judge Parker has served on the Board of Trustees since 1921 and headed the Alumni Association in 1932. In 1943 the American Bar Association awarded him its highest honor for "conspicuous service in the cause of American jurisprudence."

What some people consider to be the University's most impressive ritual, the tapping will begin promptly at 7:45 o'clock next Monday evening in Memorial Hall. Because of the suspense of the ceremony the doors will be locked the minute the tapping starts. It is advisable that anyone who wishes to see the ceremony or to attend the Valkyrie Sing which follows the tapping immediately should be in his seat before 7:45 p.m.

After the reading of the myth of Jason and his quest for the Golden Fleece to symbolize heroic achievement, black-robed figures will stalk the darkened auditorium, seeking the men who are to be honored. After this procedure the Order will disclose the names of its officers for the first time this year.

There will be no limit to the number of men who may be tapped since the current roster of Fleecemen select their own successors on the basis of the percentage of men students on campus deemed qualified.

In its 46 years, the Fleece has already honored 452 people. Its roll lists such prominent digni-

(See FLEECE, page 4)

Publication Gets Praises From Review

Quarterly Hailed In Benet Article

The Carolina Quarterly, campus literary magazine, was hailed by the Saturday Review of Literature of April 9 as a "cultural venture—a chance for poems and stories and a high standard of writing."

William Rose Benet, noted author and critic, writing a column entitled "The Phoenix Nest" for the Saturday Review, saluted the committee "which launched the Carolina Quarterly at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C., where Paul Green the playwright says there is a great chance for such a publication."

Benet drew a parallel between the beginnings of the Quarterly and the Carolina Playmakers, saying "all of you will remember the Carolina Playmakers in the days of Tom Wolfe and 'Proff' Goch. Here is another cultural venture—a chance for poems and stories and a high standard of writing. The NEST grabs its bonnet off to the new Quarterly. May it thrive!"

The Quarterly, organized last year by a group of students after the Carolina Magazine had been voted off the campus, is under the editorship of Roy C. Moose. Emily Sewell is the Business manager of the publication which appears in November, February and May of each school year.

Di Will Discuss Banning of Coeds At Senate Meet

A lighter note will be struck tonight when the Dialectic Senate debates the merits of closing the University of North Carolina to women students.

The resolution to be discussed by the Di members and the visitors at 9 o'clock in the Di hall in New West building proposes that women be sent to the Woman's College in Greensboro.

The complete text of the resolution to be presented by Sam Manning, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, resolves:

1. That the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill be returned to its original function of serving only qualified males in the field of education.

2. That the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro be expanded to adequately take care of those women who wish to receive training at the Greater University.

3. That women be admitted only to the School of Pharmacy and those other schools which cannot be found at other state institutions in North Carolina.

4. That all dormitory space now occupied by women here be used for occupancy by the male students.

5. That this arrangement go into effect in the fall of 1950.

Scampering Over The Lawn

Phi Delts Entertain Orphans From Elon With Easter Party

By Leonard Dudley

Thirty-six children from the Christian Orphanage at Elon College were entertained at an Easter party by the Phi Delta Theta fraternity yesterday afternoon at the fraternity house on Pittsboro road.

For an hour after their arrival, the children scampered over the lawn in search of Easter eggs that had been hidden by members of the fraternity. After all the eggs had been found prizes were awarded to the three finding the most eggs. Prizes included three large cellophane-covered baskets complete with an Easter rabbit and candy eggs.

Later the children were entertained in the large living room of the house by a five-piece band composed of Hubert Teer and Fuller Glass, banjos; Bill Harward, guitar; Vernon Suitt, accordin; and Dwight Carden, bass. Chancellor House, who was a special guest, joined the band for five numbers and then was prevailed upon to render a solo.

Later refreshments were served to the children on the lawn. When asked if he were having a good time, Ben Black, aged 9, answered, "Yes. We had a good one here last Christmas too!

"I didn't expect these though," he added, exhibiting a half pint of ice cream, four Easter eggs and two pockets bulging with cookies.

Before 5 o'clock, when the party was supposed to end, many of the children were already getting onto the bus for the return trip to Elon. A fraternity member who knew that there were more prizes to be distributed, asked them to come back to the house. "No thanks," replied one tousled headed little fellow, "We've had enough to eat, thank you."

STANDING ON THE PORCH of the White House, President Truman is all smiles as he receives his annual American League pass for the '49 season from Calvin Griffith, 2nd, while Clark Griffith, Washington Senators owner, holds handbag containing pass for nation's First Lady. Renowned for his "switch-pitching," the Chief Executive tossed the first ball at opening game in Washington yesterday. (International Soundphoto)

University Club Plans Big Entertain Program

Campus Sing, Carnival Night Are Part Of Series; Sing To Be Made Permanent

The University Club, in a splurge of spring activity, yesterday announced that it was planning two events of campus entertainment for the near future, a Campus Sing and a Carnival Night.

The Campus Sing, scheduled for Sunday night, will be a community sing and a skit by the Monogram Club called "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," a well-known one-act play.

University Club spokesmen said they hoped the Campus Sing would become a weekly event, with a skit put on each week by a different campus organization. The Monogram Club show will feature a football trio of Joe Romano, Joe Gurtis and Joe Cospito. The fourth actor, neither a footballer nor a "Joe," will be swimmer Norm Sper.

The show will begin at 8 o'clock and last approximately one hour. The scene is the Forest Theater.

Carnival Night is scheduled for one week from Friday—April 29. The time is 8 until 11 o'clock and the place is Woollen Gymnasium.

Each organization on campus has been asked to participate in the event by operating a carnival concession. The University Club will award a trophy to the group with the best-executed and most original idea.

A meeting will be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial of all persons in charge of concessions. The floor plan for the carnival will be drawn up at that time.

Rings Available In Y Tomorrow

Students will have their last chance to order class rings tomorrow when Lee Blackwell, Eastern Carolina representative for the L. G. Balfour Co., will be present in the Y from 9 o'clock in the morning until 4:30, said Dougald MacMillan, chairman of the ring commission here.

Orders for senior rings will be taken at that time, and complaints on orders placed previously will be handled, MacMillan said.

This year's ring sale has exceeded all past records, he said, with a total to date of over 600 rings sold. "The most ever sold here never exceeded 300 rings," MacMillan said.

CP Legislators Will Meet Today

A meeting of Campus Party legislators for this afternoon at 4 o'clock was announced yesterday by V. C. Taylor, newly elected chairman of the party. The meeting will be held in Roland Parker lounge 1, Taylor said.

Radio Auditions To Be in Swain At 2 Tomorrow

The Radio Department of the University announced the opening of its annual radio auditions beginning 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon which will be held in the student production studio in Swain Hall.

Talent is being sought for 23 15-minute student dramatic shows to be produced in the late afternoons from April 27 through May 27, the department announcement said.

Interested students are invited to bring any script they particularly would like to read, though they will be asked to also read material that will be provided at the time of audition.

The auditions and shows are being produced under the direction of the Radio Department, a department spokesman said. Those chosen to appear on the shows will be able to hear the tape-recorded productions played back and will receive constructive criticism from the director and instructor, the announcement said.

IDC Submits Three Famous Dorm Names

Daniels, Gardner, Wolfe Suggested

A recommendation that A, B, and C dormitories be named for Josephus Daniels, O. Max Gardner and Thomas Wolfe was passed by the Interdormitory Council Monday night. The recommendation will be submitted to Chancellor Robert B. House.

The action was taken after council members had nominated a total of seven possible persons for whom the new dorms might be named. Other names included James Polk, Horace Williams, Andrew Jackson and J. Melville Broughton.

Pete Gerns, Council president, said that council members nominated the various names last week and consulted residents of the dormitory areas on their preference during the interval.

The three men, for whom the Council has suggested the dormitories be named, are famous in the state, the nation and the world, Gerns said. Daniels, late publisher of the News and Observer, was Secretary of Navy under Wilson and served as Ambassador to Mexico under Franklin Roosevelt. During his lifetime, he was a close friend of the University.

Gardner, also a University Alumni, was governor of North Carolina and had just been appointed Ambassador to Great Britain when he died suddenly Wolfe, a native of Asheville, is world famous for his novels and other contributions to the literary world. He attended the University from 1917 to 1920 and died in 1938.

Dick Walker, student dormitory advisor of Lewis, was elected to represent the IDC on the University Housing Committee. This move came about after James Wadsworth, University Housing Officer, spoke before the IDC and stressed the importance of the Committee knowing student opinion on various housing problems.

Roy Armstrong, chairman of the Housing Committee, invited the Council to elect a student representative to the Committee.

TMA Meeting Set To Discuss Picnic

Town Mens' Association president Nelson Taylor yesterday asked that all TMA members be present at the regular bi-weekly meeting of the Association tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 in Graham Memorial to help complete plans for the joint Town Men-Town Girl picnic to be held at Hogan's Lake Friday, April 29.

Mind Reader, Extraordinaire

Student Entertainment Committee Presents Hypnotist Polgar Tuesday

By Charlie Gibson

Franz Polgar, the amazing hypnotist who became a campus sensation last year by working pranks on students whom he had imagining themselves either four years old, stuck to their chairs, or drunk on water, is coming back next week.

An admission-free preformance for University students to be sponsored by the Student Entertainment Committee in Memorial Hall at 8 o'clock next Tuesday evening will mark Polgar's fifth appearance on campus. The "Miracles of the Mind" showman came here first in 1940, again in 1942, and then was brought back for two shows that had enthusiastic audiences packing Memorial Hall for two consecutive weeks last year.

Everywhere in America that "The Amazing Dr. Polgar" has appeared his telepathy and hypnotism has turned disbelievers into magic converts. William Engle, science editor of the New York World-Telegraph wrote, "Polgar floored the professors of psychology at New York University in their tests. It was, they agreed, an undeniable demonstration of thought transference."

The respect in which Dr. Polgar is held is indicated by the fact that he is the only member of his profession listed in "Who's Who in America." The hypnotist himself claims that his unusual power to read other people's thoughts first came to him when he recovered his memory after a half year of mental unconsciousness following a head wound on an Italian battlefield in World War I.

Back to the University by popular demand for another of his shows in which "mirth is mixed with magic," Polgar will conclude the Student Entertainment Committee program for the current year, according to SEC chairman Scotty Venable. This committee in student government is appropriated funds by the Student Legislature to bring popular entertainment to the campus. Students are now admitted free to all SEC-sponsored performances which this year have been by such artists as Hazel Scott, the Trapp family singers, Joseph Fuchs, and Charles Weidman's dance ensemble.

However, faculty members, student wives, and townspeople are also admitted to features on the SEC program upon purchase of tickets at 75 cents each at the doors of Memorial Hall, opening at 7 o'clock. Venable has stated that this policy will be in effect again next Tuesday for the Polgar demonstration although he plans to reserve most of the room in the auditorium for another capacity student crowd because of the mind reader's popularity here in the past.

Mackie Sworn In; Asks Cooperation In All Branches

By Charles McCorkle

Bill Mackie, sworn in at 9 o'clock last night as new president of the student body, sent out a plea for cooperation and conscientious work in all branches of student government for 1949-50.

Mackie, speaking before an audience of more than 100 people in the hall of the Dialectic Senate in New West Building, listed a program of eight points to be carried out to improve campus government through the coming year.

They were:

1. Improvement of the judiciary branch, the understanding of the Honor and Campus Codes by all students.

2. Legislators should consider carefully all legislation going through their hands, and should vote in the best interests of student government.

3. Improvement of the executive branch in its carrying out of the laws passed and to be passed by the Student Legislature.

4. A smoother working elections set-up.

5. More efficiency in the handling of student finances.

6. A more effective orientation program.

7. Furthering of the aims and achievements of the Greater University Student Council.

8. Bringing coed government closer to student government as a whole. To see that the Coed Senate works closely with the requirements of the constitution and appropriates wisely.

Some 80 officers took the oath of office last night, including Vice-President Ted Leonard, Coed Senate Speaker Patricia Denning, Secretary-Treasurer Nat Williams, members of all the councils, the Legislature, Coed Senate and other officials.

Pat Denning called for a three-point program in reference to coed government in her address to the assembly.

She asked for (1) Definition of the powers of the Coed Senate, (2) Inter-cooperation between coed government and student government, between the Legislature and the Coed Senate, and (3) Subsidiary coed organizations to be self-sufficient financially.

Retiring President Jess Dedmond delivered the first address on the program. He called the past year "a road of great pleasure and one of hard work."

"Student government," Dedmond continued, "is like being married to a possessive woman. It holds your heart and it de-

(See INAUGURATION, page 4)

Talk Contest Deadline Set By Mackie

Seniors Eligible For Mangum Medal

E. L. Mackie, Dean of Awards and Distinctions, yesterday issued final notice to interested seniors of the deadline for applications to the Wiley P. Mangum oratorical contest.

Seniors who will graduate before the end of the winter quarter 1950, are eligible, he said. Those seniors interested are urged to contact Earl Fitzgerald (Chi Phi house), chairman of the Debate Council, at once. Titles of the speeches are to be presented to Fitzgerald as soon as possible, he said.

Dean Mackie said that several students have already filed application for the contest which will be held here on the evening of May 17. He emphasized the fact that this will be the last time any mention will be made of applications.

Manuscripts are to be turned in on the evening of the contest, 1,200 to 1,500 words in length and typewritten. The choosing of a subject will be left to the student, Mackie said.

This is the second annual Mangum medal award since the war began, the Dean said. Mangum's late wife, of the class of 1815, first established the award in 1878. The deceased Mangum was a former University graduate, an excellent speaker, North Carolina judge and Senator.

Originally, the medal was presented to the member of the senior class who, during the four years prior to graduation, exhibited the best qualities of oratory, debating and scholarship. Renewed last year after eight years, it is now offered on the basis of a single contest held before graduation.

Leary Calls Caucus Of UP Legislators

The University Party legislators will meet in caucus this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge 2 of Graham Memorial. UP Chairman Joe Leary said there would be a discussion of tomorrow night's Legislature meeting.

AROTC Review For Inspection Held Yesterday

Led by the Field Music band and demonstrating the precision of West Point cadets, the Air ROTC unit went through its paces on Navy field yesterday for its annual yearly inspection and final drill period of the spring quarter.

The unit was inspected by a team from the Continental Air Command at Mitchell Field, New York. Inspecting officers were Col. G. S. Brown, Maj. J. J. Harris and Maj. T. A. Scott, Jr.

The inspection was followed by a full-dress formal review with the inspecting officers taking the review along with Col. Byron F. Switzer and his staff and special guest, Bill Mackie, new president of the student body; Gene Newton, president of the UVA; Col. F. Carlyle Shepard; and Col. Robert L. Fowler.

Col. Brown said that he was well pleased with the review, adding: "The unit has made exceptionally good progress since it was established here two years ago. I think credit for this should go to the people in the department and in the whole institution who have supported it."

The unit is commanded by Cadet Col. Paul J. English; Cadet Lt. Col. Robert M. McAllister; Cadet Maj. Robert A. Gray; and

(See REVIEW, page 4)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $5.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. ..... Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins

Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woolcraft, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Night Editor: Ed Joyner Night Sports: Larry Fox

It's Time to Name Those Dorms

Some months ago, when Dormitories A, B, and C were still in the construction stage, University officials expressed the opinion that the new buildings should be named as soon as possible, to prevent their being tagged by their respective temporary names for several years.

The Daily Tar Heel suggested that they might be named for three famous and loyal sons of the University, Josephus Daniels, O. Max Gardner and Thomas Wolfe. Quite by coincidence, the Interdormitory Council passed a resolution Monday night recommending these same three names.

It has been almost a year since A was formally opened by student use and the other two have been in use since September. It is time that they obtained permanent names.

It would be difficult to find three more wellknown or worthwhile alumni than these three. In their honor, the Daily Tar Heel joins with the Interdormitory Council in their recommendation that A, B, and C become Daniels, Gardner, and Wolfe dormitories.

An Unhappy Experiment

Although the Daily Tar Heel once campaigned editorially for installation of a stop light on Franklin Street where Henderson Street intersects, time has proven this move folly. There have been nothing but complaints since its installation, and apparently no good has resulted from its presence.

To begin with, there is not enough traffic on Henderson Street to warrant holding up the cars passing down Franklin. Moreover, the stoplight holds the Franklin Street traffic up so long that it backs up almost to the second stop light on Columbia Ave. This results in a great deal of confusion uptown, where the street is none too wide and many drivers persist in double parking.

The stoplight has also failed to prevent drivers from making U-turns at the Franklin-Henderson intersection. This practice is continued despite the sign saying "No U-Turn."

In summation, the stop light installation seems to have been an unhappy experiment. There has been considerable agitation for a stop light on the Raleigh Road by Woollen Gymnasium. Chapel Hill should remember the complaints about the Franklin Street stop light before installing another.

Praise for Woollen Gym Staff

It is indeed with pride and pleasure that Carolina students can point to the excellent care which is exercised in keeping Woollen Gymnasium in top condition. The 12-year-old building receives a scrubbing every day, and the main floor is waxed with regularity.

Not only does the care given to Woollen Gymnasium by far excel the care given to most—if not all—of the other buildings on the campus, but we have it on good authority that Woollen is constantly kept cleaner and in better condition than the gymnasiums of other neighboring institutions.

The athletic officials of the University realize, with athletic facilities as well as athletes, good and constant care is necessary to receive the best results.

Credit for the fine job which is done daily in keeping the gym goes, in a large part, to C. B. Huggins and his staff. Other maintenance staffs could do well to follow the example set by the Woollen Gymnasium staff.—J.B.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon
(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, April 19—I was very sad at parting with the hula maidens on the beach at Waikiki. But life always has its recompenses. I returned to find Washington rollicking with the Daughters of the American Revolution.

There may be some who will argue that this is no fair trade, but let's be objective. They're both daughters, ain't they?

The ladies of the D. A. R. may not be so rhythmic in their hip-swinging, but they are no slouches. And, for those who prefer quantity, they've got more hips.

The D. A. R. charmers do not go in for grass skirts, but that's because they're practical. At this season of the year there are too many mowing machines in Washington that one might inadvertently back into.

However, they go in almost as extensively for floral adornment. Many of them look like perambulating hothouses. It is a beautiful sight to see them undulating in the soft breezes wafting through the potted palms of the hotel lobbies.

These beauties have more oomph than the langorous wahines of Honolulu, when you come right down to it. They certainly cover more territory in a given time, and put infinitely more enthusiasm into it. It's much harder to keep up with them.

Ah, yes, it's D. A. R. time again—and new romance has come into my life. Take back your Sweet Leilani. Give me Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne, the D. A. R.'s President-General.

• • •

The D. A. Rlings, here for their 58th Continental Congress, are all over town. They are absorbing all the culture we have to offer in mammoth doses. Never for a moment do they flinch.

According to the announcement they will hold a "monster" mass meeting at Constitution Hall tomorrow night. That should put the insipid Hawaiian maidens in their place. They never hold a meeting for a monster.

You can't beat the Spirit of '76.

• • •

Many references, most of them beautifully vague, have been made to President Truman's poker games. But I have just gotten a complete pitch on the presidential pastime by one who plays with him.

Purported descriptions I have heard in the past were highly conflicting. Some averred that Mr. Truman played for murderously high stakes; others that he was strictly a penny ante man. Neither is true.

Time was when the White House games were inclined to be a mite stiff. But Mr. Truman came to the realization that some of the regulars were not strong enough financially to take it.

The President, figuring it was not too good to have his help impoverished, worked out a set of rules. Here they are:

For a single game, on a one night stand, every player buys $50 worth of chips. If it's to be a week stand, with the same bunch playing every night, everybody buys $100 worth.

If a player goes broke on his $50 or $100 he doesn't buy more chips, but he isn't out of the game either. Throughout the game a kitty is built up. Mr. Truman calls it the "county"; a name that harks back to his old poker-playing days as a county judge.

The busted player can borrow from the "county." If he recoups he pays back. But if he continues losing, he keeps borrowing.

If it's to be a series of games, such as at Key West, each player leaves his pile at his place at quitting time. A trusted servitor scoops each pile onto an individual plate, marks it with the player's name, and stores the plates in a cupboard. When the pokerites convene next night their plates are restored to them.

The Sounding Board

About Harmonica Band

By "Wink" Locklair

We have just had a talk with a man who is paying $150 to have a harmonica shipped over here to him from the Hohner Company, a distinguished firm now located in French-occupied Germany, which has started making them again. His name is Donald P. Sanders from Lumberton, a senior and a chemisty major, who lives in 204 A dorm.

This imported job is known as an orchestral harmonica and Mr. Sanders has only seen one like it before. It was in India during the war and he offered $200 for it without success. He has been playing the harmonica off and on for ten years, but it wasn't until he went overseas to India with the Army and met Forest Scott, a former member of the Borrah Minovitch band, that he began giving the instrument anything more than casual lip-service.

"Man, Scott could really play that thing," Mr. Sanders said, enthusiastically. "He organized a harmonica band and I played in it for a year and a half. We played engagements at USO Clubs, movies and at the opening of the United Nations Club in Kumming, China. One night we played at the 14th Air Base and General Chennault was there—right in the front row!"

Mr. Sanders is interested in forming a harmonica band here in the University. A notice was published to that effect in this newspaper one week ago. Among those who have already shown interest in the project are Bill Park, 406 Mangrum, who plays a Hohner 64 and has played in a band in Greensboro; Clark Russell, a man who plays half a dozen instruments and does some arranging; and James Clement, 313 A dorm, potentialities unknown.

Among those who have shown no interest whatsoever are Robert Killeffer and Sidney Hughes, Mr. Sanders' roommates. They don't get nasty about it, but Mr. Sanders deems it wiser—even safer—to practice in the basement or at home on week-ends.

You can buy pretty good harmonicas from $12 to $20 over in Durham, we were told, including such makes as Hohner, Koch and Hotz, the most popular and most reliable producers of "mouth-organs." Right now Mr. Sanders has four harmonicas in his room and four more at home in Lumberton. He comes from a musical family and his sister, Grey Sanders who lives in 311 Spencer, has even played the harmonica on occassion, although she is more easily adapted to the piano.

We also learned that Mr. Sanders has the largest collection of harmonica records in North Carolina, so many, in fact, that he doesn't know how many. He most admires Larry Adler, whom he traveled through a sleet storm to see and hear in Raleigh last year, and Leo Diamond, who played with Minovitch for 15 years.

Mr. Sanders plays entirely by ear and although he can't play "train" or "fox chase," he has much admiration for anybody who can. (Hillbilly groups make this a speciality.)

"Right now I need somebody who can play a bass harmonica," Mr. Sanders lamented, and anyone who can should get in touch with him in A dorm. This particular instrument is vital to the organization of a band and one can hardly be formed without it.

Although he has no special favorite, Mr. Sanders says he is "fascinated" by the "Hora Staccato," a piece Mr. Adler adapted for the harmonica after Jascha Heifetz had adapted it for the violin. Before we left, Mr. Sanders ran through "China Town" and a Brahms Hungarian dance on a minor chromatic harmonica he made for himself.

COMING ATTRACTIONS . . . A near-capacity audience is expected in Hill Hall tonight for the Women's Glee Club spring concert. . . Much favorable comment has been heard about the Radio Department's adaption of "Death Be Not Proud," John Gunther's moving account of his son's fight against a brain tumor. The program was broadcast over WPTF last week . . .

On The Political Front

By Charles McCorkle

INAUGURATION—As of yesterday evening, Bill Mackie is the new president of the student body. The name of this story might be "Local Boy Makes Good," since Mackie is a native of Chapel Hill. And Bill, by the way, is the first president the Student Party has elected by itself in some 10 years. Two years ago Tom Eller, nominated by the SP, was endorsed by the newly-formed CP, which claimed most of the credit for putting him in office, since he leaned their way politically.

WALK—When Johnnie O'Neal took his walk from the CP to the SP Monday; he did it in the usual way, by announcing his own intentions vehemently to his party and then announcing his coming to the SP. He leveled a blast at the CP which started a hot and bitter discussion in Graham Memorial Monday afternoon, and then went to the SP Monday night and told them that he had seen the light and could he be saved, which the party answered with a rousing round of applause.

CHARGE—But before O'Neal could leave the CP portals, Jim Southerland, who only left the SP to join the CP a few months ago, made what he prefaced as "a nasty remark." Southerland charged that O'Neal, who had lashed out at "deals" and political intrigue, had been the center of a huge deal between Joe Leary, UP chairman, Herb Mitchell, UP floor leader, and the CP to make O'Neal the new chairman of the Rules Committee when Jack Worsham dropped out.

PROCEDURE—Ex-President Jess Dedmond says he thinks the inauguration proceedings were set up a little better this year, and the new switch which says the chairman of the Student Council administers the oath of office to the incoming officials is "exactly right." Last night Sam Magill, a member of the Student Council, substituted for the chairman, since the chairman, a fellow by the name of Mackie, was being sworn in himself.

LEADERSHIP—When the coeds mimeographed the program for their Leadership Training Program, they made a humorous slip. On the program for the inauguration banquet this evening, they listed the speaker as "Dear Fred Weaver." That's really sweet, girls.

FRESHMEN—Getting back to Ex-Prexy Dedmond, Jess says there is one thing that has to be changed about freshman assemblies next year. This past fall, when the freshman elections and some fresh and vigorous campaigning by the underclassmen turned up, naturally the place where the political literature was brought in reams was into Memorial Hall where all the freshmen were gathered. Jess says the political poster "airplanes" perturbed the speakers every once in a while. So politics will probably be banned from next fall's assemblies.

ODDS AND ENDS—The scope of the CP defeat in the election was not made completely apparent by the fact that their two top candidates ran a poor third. In the races for Student Council seats, often a test of party strength on the campus, the CP did not place a single candidate into the run-off. The council lines up with a slight SP majority at the present time. . . . . Somebody suggested to Al Lowenstein that he might have won if he had changed his name to Smith, but then the political history of one Al Smith was brought to mind and it didn't seem like such a good idea after all. . . . . President Bill Mackie seems to be having a little trouble figuring out who to appoint to what. Nobody else can figure it out either.

Entertainment Front

Concert Big News

By Vestal Taylor

The biggest entertainment on campus for this week is the concert to be given by the Women's Glee Club Thursday 21. This concert will be held in Hill Hall under the directorship of Paul Young, and my informants tell me that Mr. Young has done a fine job in preparing what promises to be the best Glee Club presentation of the year. Judging from past appearances, this means a great deal and it will be highly rewarding for those who choose to attend.

• • •

Sound and Fury's roof shook last week while President Mark Barker and co-authors Covington and Matthews reworked the new show "Livin' Can Be Easy." The first step seems to have been to completely broaden the plot, then throw in a few new characters and recast some of the old, and lastly to change the name to suit the new product.

Fortunately these powers decided to make the changes now rather than after the production got under way. To have revamped the plot later would seem to admit defeat, but seeing some of the most successful talent on campus freed by the closing of "Apple Tree Farm" was sufficient incentive, we believe, to make the alterations.

The new show will be more on the order of a musical revue and will carry the new title of "Merrily We Love." For a few of the changes in cast we have Betty Lokey in the leading female role. Mark Barker takes over as the lead male role.

Later in the week one of the numbers from this show is scheduled to be released via the local "juke boxes" for local consumption. These numbers were recorded by Johnnie Satterfield's orchestra with vocals by Sam Greene. They were played on a recent University Hour program and are being distributed with the cooperation of the Steele Music Co. and can be heard on any of their machines downtown.

• • •

The die is cast for the third and last of the full length plays to be presented by the Playmakers this year. This one is known as "Repple Depple" and was authored by Sam Hirsch, graduate student and publicity man with the department. Directing the production will be W. P. Covington (not to be confused with Forrest Covington, author of the "Merrily We Love" book).

• • •

Lib Stoney has a full schedule for Rendezvous attenders for the next-two Friday evenings. Friday next Lib has a troupe from Duke on the agenda. The following week she has planned a real old fashioned square dance with Bartender Arnold calling the figures. There will be music by the Combo at intervals for those who can't master the square dance.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

GEESE AND LOCKLAIR

Editor:

I hesitate to send you the following report, but the goose—as it were—is as good as cooked:

Wink Locklair, the celebrated journalist, was on the campus over the week-end, and I went over to see him at Lewis Dorm Saturday afternoon to check on his latest opinions and enjoy the edifying atmosphere they're usually delivered in. I found him in the room of a mutual friend over there, venting his wrath on a number of current topics with an incisive wit that had reduced his listeners to frenetic paroxysm by the time I got there. He was startled to see me, but regained his composure rapidly and hurled a penetrating question at me as I settled down on the radiator.

"What do you think about this crying statue," he shouted, throwing his arms desperately into the air. I answered frankly that I hadn't thought what about it; but apparently he figured I was stalling. He eyed me suspiciously; a malevolent, baby-blue gleam flashed from under his pleated pink brow. "Miracles, miracles, miracles, hah," he cried indignantly. "It's a plot!" I told him he oughtn't be hasty, and he reluctantly let it go at that.

I didn't think of the "crying statue" anymore until later, when Locklair jumped nimbly out of his chair and into the wastebasket during a lull in the conversation. Probably bored, I thought. He returned to his chair with Saturday's NEWS & OBSERVER gripped in his hands, and read aloud Drew Pearson's article on the mental health of a former statesman. The article was rather long, but Locklair read it nearly to its entirety in a shrill, compelling voice. Then, as quickly as he'd picked up the subject, he dropped it. He shook the newspaper nervously and deposited it in the wastebasket again. The air was charged with bitterness; no one said much of anything. The only interruptions were questions to him on what people had been wearing for concerts lately, and no matter how skillfully the questions were worded, his answer was always the same. Clothes.

Most of the rest of the afternoon passed that way. Locklair loaded whatever remarks he made with genius, but somehow I felt a sporadic quality was eddying beneath his confidence. His face was drawn with doubt. Just before I left he began muttering angrily about "miracles, hah;" and as I went out the door I thought I heard him gasp, "There they are!"

Name Withheld by Request

CAROLINA GENTLEMAN

Editor:

Last Friday as I was waiting in line at the cashier's window in the basement of South Building to pay my room deposit, a fellow nearby asked me if I would like to use his pen. However, by the time I had filled out the various blanks the boy had left.

The fellow should be commended for being an exceptionally generous Carolina gentleman. It is not often that a person is found willing to look for people he can help. Also, I would like for the fellow to know that he can get his pen if he'll come by 306 Lewis.

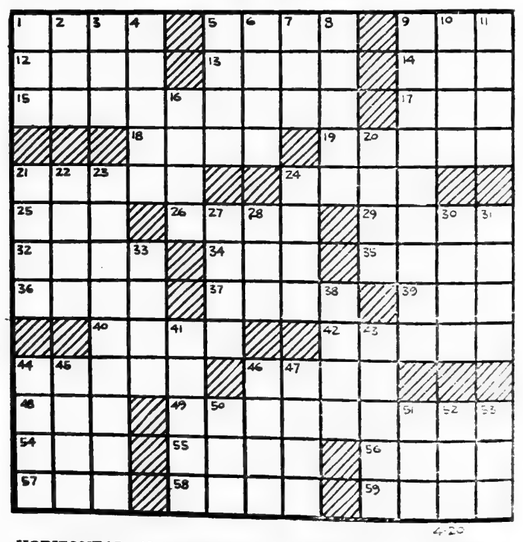
Eugene Pickett

ADELAIDE IS ADDLED

Editor:

I have been out of town for several days attending a conference of the National Association of Diaper Manufacturers. What should be my horror upon returning but to find a fraudulent column appearing Sunday under my name. Sir, I have a reputation to maintain, there are laws against such libelous plagerism, and I demand that it cease and desist.

At the same time I regret to inform you that my advice column will be forced to be cancelled for a while. Unfortunately I am hard at work on two new books, and I will not have time to write for you.



A little free advertizing never hurts, my publishers, tell me, so kindly be kind enough to print this. The titles of my new books will be: "Investigations into Early Spanish Love Potions or True Love Will Never Die," and "The Evolution and Effect of Sorcery in Polynesia, or A Practical Guide for Primative Prestidigitators and Thaumaturgists."

I have enjoyed writing for your lovely little paper and associating with such sweet, charming little men and women. I hope some day to have time to renew my friendship with all you dear UNC students, and especially the men who I have found so friendly.

Your devoted human relations advisor,

Adelaide Addle, P. H. D.

Ed. note: Efforts are being made to console Miss Addle and have her resume her very popular column.

HORIZONTAL
1. seaweed
5. small rugs
9. decay
12. harvest
13. Great Lake
14. slender finial
15. conducted oneself
17. decimal unit
18. prevarications
19. town in Belgium
21. harden
24. observed
25. transfix
26. walk
29. solar disk
32. poker stake
34. wing
35. terrible
36. appear
37. function in trigonometry
39. complete
40. haycock
42. trample
44. Italian soprano
46. chills and fever
48. topaz humming-bird
49. residue
54. Hawaiian garland
55. bivalve mollusk
56. small valley
57. eagle
58. otherwise
59. lath

VERTICAL
1. bow
2. the lion
3. herd of whales
4. pome
5. pool
6. branch of education
7. bond
8. grasslike herb
9. retaining
10. overt
11. shade
16. lubricates
20. pate
21. resorts
22. prong
23. divert
24. stretch over
27. set work
28. Hebrew high priest
30. Assam silkworm
31. want
33. give out
38. case for small articles
41. mythical enchantress
43. splits
44. wan
45. avow
46. wine vessels
47. sport
50. house addition
51. split pulse
52. note in Guido's scale
53. steep flax

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 26 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Tar Heels Open Big Four Play At Wake Forest Today

Cassell to Start On Mound In Deacon Hollow Contest

"Operation Championship" gets under way in full force this afternoon when the Defending Big Four Champion University of North Carolina baseball team squares off with the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest, current leaders in the race for the Big Four title and favorites to take the championship away from Chapel Hill.

The Tar Heel squad, with Coaches Bunn Hearn and Walter Rabb, will leave Chapel Hill at o'clock battle in Deacon Hollow. o'clock batle in Deacon Hollow.

Cassell to Pitch

Right hander Dean Cassell has been given the starting mound assignment for what will definitely be one of the toughest games on the Carolina schedule. It is the first of a four game home and home series. The first game, originally scheduled for Chapel Hill two weeks ago, was rained out and will be played this Friday at Emerson stadium.

BIG FOUR STANDINGS

Teams	W.	L.	Pct.
Wake Forest	2	0	1.000
N. C. State	1	1	.500
North Carolina	0	0	.000
Duke	0	2	.000

The Deacons, with plenty of power hitting and good pitching, are undefeated to date. Monday afternoon they copped their second Big Four win by virtue of a 3-1 victory over State College. Previously they had defeated Duke.

The Tar Heels, playing an unofficial game with Duke on Eastern Monday, showed hitting power hard to match in knocking out 17 hits in an 8-2 extravaganza. Today's game will mark the first official Big Four contest for the touring Tar Heels.

Vander Clute for Wake

The Deacon Board of Strategy is expected to start Ace Hurler Dick Vander Clute against the Tar Heels. Vander Clute has been one of the steadiest pitchers in the Southern Conference this season and will assuredly give the Carolinians a run for their money.

But the Tar Heels are expecting to counter with three aces: Outfielder Ed Lamb, Catcher Sid Varney, and Stan Goodman. All three are by no means suffering from batting fatigue and all three have been maintaining a steady hitting clip for the past 12 games.

Lamb, with nine doubles to his credit, is leading the crew with a healthy average somewhere over the .500 mark. Against Duke he collected four hits and two of them were for extra bases. Varney is hitting over .400 and Goodman is pushing the .400 mark.

Some More Cards

But the Carolina Coaches Association (Hearn, Rabb, & Co.) will be counting on six other players as well as the trio mentioned above. Shortstop Rip Ryan figures well in their plans, considering the fact that his batting average is one of the top five on the club. Sleepy Senter, Will Hobbs, Don Ward, and Zero Allen are also good cards to hold in one's hand.

Last year the two teams met four times. Each time Carolina came out ahead by a one-run margin.

Today's game should separate the chaff from the wheat and give local speculators an idea of who will be riding the top of the circuit come the end of May.

Frosh Play

Carolina's freshman baseball team will get its first test of the season this afternoon when it plays host to the Baby Deacs of Wake Forest at 4 o'clock at Emerson Stadium.

Either Monroe Johnson or Henry Schack is expected to see mound duty for the Tar Babies.

It will be the second attempt at a season's opener the Frosh have made this year. Rain prevented a previous clash with the Baby Deacons.

IN THE MAJORS

By United Press

NATIONAL LEAGUE

New York 100 200 000— 3-10-1
Brooklyn 010 401 40x—10-11-0

Jansen, Behrman (6) and Cooper; Hatten and Campanella. LP, Jansen. Home runs, Furillo, Robinson, Campanella, Rigney.

1st game

Philadelphia 000 210 000—3-7-0
Boston 000 000 004—4-4-1

Simmons, Trinkle (9) and Lopata; Spahn, Potter (9) and Masi. WP, Potter; LP, Trinkle. Home runs, Ennis.

2nd game

Philadelphia 101 000 000— 2 -9-2
Boston 004 600 10x—11-12-2

Meyer, Donnelly (4), Bicknell (5) and Wagner; Bickford and Salkeld. LP, Meyer. Home run, Waitkus.

Pittsburgh 000 000 001—1-5-1
Chicago 000 000 000—0-8-2

Sewell and McCullough; Leonard and Scheffing.

St. Louis 000 000 100—1-5-
Cincinnati 100 002 00x—3-8-0

Brecheen, Wilks (8) and Rice, Baker (8); Raffensberger and Mueller. LP, Brecheen. Home run, Slaughter.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Boston 001 000 010—2- 7-0
Philadelphia 002 000 10x—3-10-0

Dobson, Ferriss (8) and Tebbetts; Brissie and Rosar. LP, Dobson. Home run, Joost.

Chicago 000 100 000—1-3-1
Detroit 020 010 11x—5-7-0

Gettel, Surkont (8) and Tipton; Newhouser and Robinson. LP, Gettel. Home runs, Groth (2), Robinson.

Washington 000 011 000—2-8-0
New York 001 000 101—3-9-0

Hudson and Evans; Lopat and Niarhos. Home runs, Robinson, Henrich.

Cleveland 000 100 000—1-7-2
St. Louis 012 200 00x—5-8-1

Feller, Wynn (3), Garcia (5), Paige (7) and Hegan; Garver and Lollar, Moss (3). LP, Feller.

All Types Of
BEER

Case — $4.75
Keg — $20.00
Delivered Free and ICE-COLD
K & M Beer Delivery Service
PHONE 3536

THE MOST TALKED ABOUT BAND IN AMERICA
VAUGHN Monroe AND THE CAMEL CARAVAN
Starring His ORCHESTRA • VOCALISTS ENTERTAINERS
MON
April 25
Raleigh Memorial Auditorium
1.25 2.00 2.50 3.00
Tickets available by mail order. Capitol Entertainment Co. Box 252, Raleigh

Netmen Down Presbyterian, 8-1, Meet Duke Here This Afternoon

By Lew Chapman

The tennis squad from tiny Presbyterian College of South Carolina came north yesterday to compete with the local Carolina netters and all the visitors got for their journey was a rude shellacking at the hands of the powerful Tar Heels by the score of 8-1.

In winning, the charges of Coach John Kenfield racked up their eleventh straight victory since the season's opener with Michigan State. The Carolina racqueteers will be gunning for number twelve this afternoon when they play host to the Blue Devils of Duke at the local varsity courts.

The story of yesterday's match was the same that it has been since the beginning of the schedule. Carolina Captain Vic Seixas took to the court first and proceeded to subdue his opponent and then his mates followed suit. Seixas was in very good form in dubbing Presbyterian's ranking ace, Bob Spurrier, 6-1, 6-2. Spurrier, a native of Charlotte and former Carolina amateur tennis champion, was no match for the powerful Tar Heel as Seixas repeatedly pleased the crowd with his powerful serves and deft drop shots that ran Spurrier to a frenzy.

The other half of the Tar Heel's potent one-two punch, Clark Taylor, also remained undefeated in match play when he out-played Kay Kaiser to win in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3. Three more points were added to the Carolina total when Stan Gruner, Duke Wilder, Jim Winstead and Laslie Dameron came through with victories. Wilder competed in a good match with Fred Jacobs of the visitors with the Carolina man winning the match by taking the third set, 7-5, after splitting the first two.

Presbyterian earned its only point in the doubles when Spurrier and Bill Harper created a mild form of an upset by beating the Carolina doubles combo of Seixas and Gruner, 6-4, 6-2. However, the final pair of credits went to Carolina when Taylor-Wilder and Dameron-Winstead humbled their respective foes in straight sets.

The Summary:

Singles: Seixas (C) defeated Spurrier, 6-1, 6-2; Taylor (C) defeated Kaiser, 6-1, 6-3; Gruner (C) defeated Harper, 6-3, 6-3; Wilder (C) defeated Jacobs, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5; Winstead (C) defeated Spears, 6-2, 6-1; Dameron (C) defeated Lindsay, 6-1.

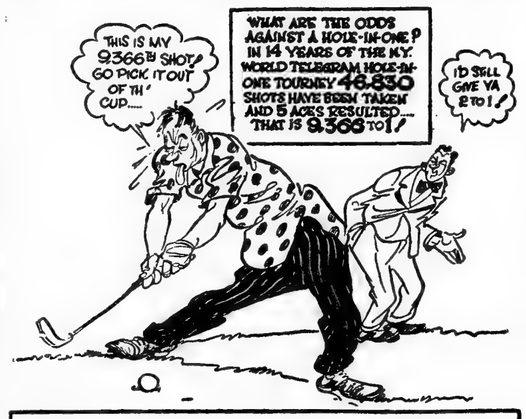
Doubles: Spurrier-Harper (D) defeated Seixas-Gruner, 6-4, 6-2; Taylor-Wilder (C) defeated Kaiser-Jacob, 6-1, 8-6; Dameron-Winstead (C) defeated Spears-Kindsay, 6-4, 6-0.

Mural Department Announces Men in Today's Semifinals

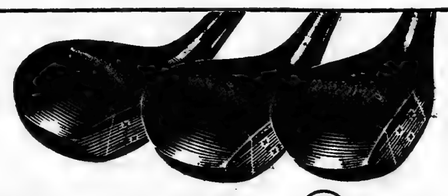
The following men have qualified for the semi-finals in the events listed below and will run in the heats assigned to them. All contestants should report to the starting point at the scheduled time this afternoon.

Fraternity—100 yard dash—Heat 1—Thorne, C. (Zeta); Melvin, L. (Sig Nu); Williams, E. (SAE); Knox, Ed. (Sig Chi); Maceyko, W. (Sig Chi); Swartzberg, F. (Pi Lamb); Heat 2—Allen, D. (DKE); Rue, W. (Sig Chi); Bubin, A. (Pi Lamb); Alexander, H. (Zeta); Boardman, B. (SAE); Carpenter, C. (Kap Sig); Heat 3—Jordan, T. (ATO); Conine, J. (PiKA); Ferebee, D. (Chi Psi); Boren, G. (Zeta); Adams, T. (Sig Chi); Cowles, R. (SAE); Heat 4—Moore, W. (Pi Kap Phi); Jordan, J (Phi Kap Sig); Childers, B. (Delta Sig); Flamish, B. (Sig Chi); Hamrick, J. (KA);

60 yard dash—Heat 1—Alexander, H. (Zeta); Jordan, J. (Phi Kap Sig); Cowles, R. (SAE); Rue, W. (Sig Chi); McCloud, G. (Phi Kap Sig); Cohen, E. (Pi Lamb); Heat 2—Thorne, C (Zeta); Lyon, W. (Sig Chi); Williams, Ed. (SAE); Hadley, J. (ATO); Clark, R. (Lamb Chi); Swartzberg, F (Pi Lamb); Heat 3—Jubin, A. (Pi Lamb); Moore, W. (Pi Kap Phi); Clark, J. (Phi Kap Sig); Conine, J. (PiKA); Boardman, B. (SAE); Knox, Ed. (Sig Chi); Heat 4—Gossitt, F. (Lamb Chi); Riley, T. (Sig Chi); Melvin, L. (Sig Nu); Jordan, T. (ATO); Adams, C. (Sig Chi); Ferebee, D. (Chi Psi);



Dormitory—100 yard dash—Heat 1—Ellis, A. (Town); Wehrhahn, A. (Steele); Wise, J. (Old East); Rockwell, H. (Town); Norcross, M. (Emerson); Kirkland, J. Med School); Heat 2—Schacht, H. (Emerson); Honeycutt, O. (Town); Short, M. (Mangum); Martin, D. (Med School); Brooks, S. (Old East); Huband, R. (Alexander); Heat 3—Hicks, J. (Town); Verchick, G. (Emerson); Vinson, W. (A-Dorm); Terell, G. (Med School); Hinkle, D. (Lewis); Dudeck, J. (Graham); Heat 4—Lovick, R. (Town); Smith, G. (Emerson); Gregory, J. (A-Dorm); Johnson, G. G. (Med. School); Short, G. (Town);



60 yard dash—Heat 1—Lovick, R. (Town); Norcross, M. (Emerson); Wise, J. (Old East); Terell, G. (Med School); Edney, M. (Town); Dudeck, J. (Graham); Heat 2—Hicks, J. (Town); Short, G. (Town); Brooks, S. (Old East); Wiess, D. (Graham); Kirkland, J. (Med School); Smith, G. (Emerson); Heat 3—Ellis, A. (Town); Wehrhahn, A. (Steele); Honeycutt, O. (Town); Verchick, G. (Emerson); Ledford, G. (A-Dorm); Heat 4—Miller, W. (Emerson); Teachey, W. (Alexander); Graham, P. (Town); Rockwell, H. (Town); Hill, V.E. (A-Dorm).

Here is today's schedule: 4:15—120 yard low hurdles (Trials); 4:30—60 yard dash (Semi-Finals); 4:45—120 yard low hurdles (Semi-Finals); 5:00—100 yard dash (Semi-Finals); 5:15—70 yard high hurdles (Trials); 5:30—300 yard run (Semi-Finals); 5:45—70 yard high hurdles (Semi-Finals).

NOTE DORM CONTESTANTS

The only events to be run in the Dormitory division today will be the 60 and 100 yard dashes and all field events except the High Jump and the Pole Vault. Men entered in these events must report to the officials at the scheduled time. Finals in all events will be run off on Thursday.

SPALDING SPORTS SHOW

Improve your game in '49 with these new Spalding Golf Clubs. Precision weighted for power with a choice of lighter, stronger shafts.
Spalding golf balls offer a selection for every type of player.

SPALDING SETS THE PACE IN SPORTS
IT PAYS TO PLAY — with good equipment
Spalding Golf Shoes
Saddle Oxfords Buckskins Loafers
Carolina Sport Shop

Chapel Hill High Trounces Oxford

Chapel Hill High School's unbeaten baseball team walloped Oxford High, 16-1, here yesterday afternoon.

Three Wildcat hurlers limited the visitors to four scattered hits, while Russell Perry and Fenno McGinny led the home team at the plate.

Perry hit a grand slam home run in the first inning and added another in the third with one mate aboard. McGinny had two round trippers and a triple to his credit.

The score by innings:

Oxford 000 000 1— 1— 4—4
Chapel Hill 743 020 x—16—16—0

W. Barnes and Averett, Curren (4); T. Gravitt, Hoenig (6), Johnson (7) and J. Maultsby.

Probable Pitchers

AMERICAN LEAGUE

(Last year's Records in Parentheses)

Cleveland (Lemon 20-14) at St. Louis (Drews 5-5)

Chicago (Gumpert 3-6) at Detroit (Trucks 14-13)

Boston (Kinder 10-7) at Philadelphia (Coleman 14-13)

Washington (Calvert 0-0) at New York (Raschi 19-8)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Philadelphia (Thompson 2-1 or Roberts 7-9) at Boston (Voiselle 13-13)

New York (Hansen 5-3) at Brooklyn (Branca 14-9)

Pittsburgh (Dickson 12-16) at Chicago (Rush 5-11)

(Only games scheduled)

Ward Tops First-Round Foe In North-South Tournament

PINEHURST, April 19—(UP)—Defending champion Harvie Ward, medalist in the 49th annual North and South Golf Championship, today turned in an easy 6 and 4 win over Dr. Leon E. Buck of Bath, Me.

Ward, first to tee off in the championship flight, was one under par when the match ended on the 14th hole.

Frank Stranahan, trimmed yesterday by pro Bobby Locke in the Cavalier Tournament playoff, worked off his steam against a fellow amateur today as the favorites followed form. Stranahan, the Toledo, O. slammer who holds the British, Canadian, and Mexican Amateur crowns, took a lopsided 7 and 5 win from Ray Solinger, Nutley, N. J., today in the first match-play round.

Stranahan lost to Ward in a thrilling one-up final last year and today's win over Solinger put him in the second round with Ward and another of the men who fell before the University of North Carolina senior's putter last year, Dick Chapman.

Chapman, who plays out of Pinehurst, finished strong to beat G. K. Henry of Greensburg, Pa., 5 and 3. Chapman was two under par at the turn and made even fours on the last six holes of the par-72 course.

What is believed to be the first hole-in-one in the history of the tourney helped W. C. Campbell, a state legislator from Huntington, W. Va., beat K. Klopman of New York one-up on the 19th hole. Campbell aced the short 15th hole.

The four other North Carolina varsity golfers didn't do too well in the first-round competition. Jack Brantley dropped his match to Alpheus Winter, Jr., of Fairfield, Conn., 6 and 5 while Bob Cox was eliminated, 3 and 1, by Mal Galetta of St. Albans, N. Y.

Today's Sports

Baseball

Varsity baseball—Carolina vs Wake Forest at 4 o'clock at Wake Forest.

Tennis

Varsity tennis — Carolina vs Duke on Varsity Courts at 3 o'clock.

Practice Sessions

Daily practice sessions continue in football, soccer, lacrosse, track and golf.

Intramurals

See mural schedule.

Roy McKenzie lost to William Shields, 3 and 2 as Decatur Cunningham was beaten, 3 and 1.

Wake Forest, however, put at least two men into the second round. Arnold Palmer didn't lose a hole as he whipped G. H. Fulton of Roanoke, Va., 6 and 5, while Dick Tiddy, also out of Baptist Hollow, defeated Grover Dillon, Jr., of Raleigh, 6 and 5.

Two rounds will be played tomorrow, with the second round of the tourney going out at 8:30 in the morning and the third at 1:30 in the afternoon. Ward will face New England Amateur champion R. J. Walsh of Bridgeport, Conn. in the morning.

LACOCK'S
For Better
SHOE REPAIRING

Freshman Netters With 2-1 Record Meet Duke Today

Boasting a record of two wins and one loss, Carolina's freshman tennis squad will invade Duke University today for a contest with the Blue Devil frosh netters.

The locals had their perfect record spoiled Monday when Davidson's yearlings edged them, 5-4, in a tight match. The Tar Babies had previously beaten the Danville, Va., and Goldsboro high school courtmen.

Jim Hammerstein will probably play in the number one singles spot for the Tar Babies, with Beet Smith. Charlie Duval, Sharen Haroutunian, Cecil Milton, and Bob Litton holding down the final five singles positions.

WEIGHTLIFTERS

There will be a meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Quonset Hut 27 of all persons interested in forming a weight-lifting and body-building club. Beginners are invited, and instruction will be provided for all.

For The NEWEST FASHIONS in MENS CLOTHING visit
THE Sport SHOP
120 E. MAIN ST.
Durham

THE PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA
Eugene Ormandy, Conducting
Page Auditorium, Duke University, Durham, N. C.
Tuesday Evening, April 26, at 8:15
TICKETS: $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 (Inc. Tax)
For reservations, write J. Foster Barnes, Duke University, Durham, N. C.; or phone Durham 122 - ext 270

Win a POSTGRADUATE COURSE IN AVIATION

PLUS AN IMPORTANT $4000-A-YEAR ASSIGNMENT
INTERVIEWING TEAM COMING SOON!
Few opportunities open to college upperclassmen can match this one! Here's a chance to get both flying and executive experience with the world's leader in Aviation—the U. S. Air Force.
If you can qualify, you join a select group of college men for 52 weeks Aviation Cadet-Pilot Training—with pay.
When you complete the course, you get your wings and a commission in the Air Force Reserve : : : up to $336 a month pay : : : a vitally important 3-year assignment as pilot with a crack Air Force squadron.
A special interviewing team will be on campus to tell you more about it and to give preliminary qualifying examinations. Stop in after class and talk it over with the pilots themselves.
If you wish, you may sign up now and finish your schooling before starting your training.
HERE ARE THE REQUIREMENTS:
You must be a male citizen, between 20 and 26½ years old, physically sound, and have at least two years of college (or be able to pass the equivalent examination administered by the interviewing team). Both single and married men may now apply.
HERE'S WHERE TO GO FOR DETAILS:
PLACE AIR ROTC BUILDING
DATE THURS. & FRI. APRIL 21 & 22
TIME 9 A.M. TIL 5 P.M.

Dean's List Released By Arts And Sciences

The Arts and Sciences Dean's List, released yesterday by Dean William Wells, included the following additional names:

Grogan, Eldene, Grubbs, Norris Grady, Hagwood, James Oscar, Hall, Harry Hubert, Hamby, John Elliott, Hancock, James Arthur, Jr., Hardison, Osborne Bennette, Jr., Harper, Helen May, Harrell, Karl Patrick, Harrison, Leon Holmes, Hartig, Donald Clarence, Hatch, Edwin B., Jr., Hawley, Herbert Laureseau, Hearne, Laura, Hedrick, Vivian Wise, Henderson, James Rutledge, Hill, William Gilliam, Hinkle, Sarah Martha, Hodgin, John E., Hoke, Renate Gerda, Holmes, David Franklin, Hommel, Betsy Ann;

Honig, Harvey Ralph, Houser, Thomas Presley, Jr., Huffines, L. Gordon Huguelet, Theodore Long, Hunter, Mary Jane, Ipock, Donald Bernard, Jackson, Sally Fields, Johnston, Mary Frances, Jones, Ethel Jean, Josephson, Irma B., Kachigian, Reggie Kampschmidt, William Frederick, Kaplan, Bertha, Kistler, Charles Edmund, Kraus, Mary Theresa, Lamar, Mary Wilhelmina, Lamm James Louis, Lassiter, Stella White, Law, Margaret Rogers, Ledbetter, Charles Burkhead Lee, Wilson M., Leonard, Walter Evan, Lester, Jean Marie, Lewis, James Richard, Lindsay, John Robert, Littlejohn, David Hallam, Loftis, John McDavid, Long, William Hendren, Lowe, Barbara Morris, Lucas, Joan, Lunsford, Barbara Jean;

MacMillan, William Dougald, McCall, William Greer, McCauley, William Marvin, McDonald, Cornelius Trawick, McDuffie, Roger Atkinson, Jr., McIlhenny, Thomas Cowan, McLean, James Dickson, Jr., McNease, Mary Angelyn, McNeely, Franklin Bardin, McNutt, Susan Patricia, McPeters, Arnold Lawrence;

Mackie, William Ernest, Mahaffee, Walter Collins, Markham, Carlyle Janet, Martin, Ann Frances, Martin, Samuel Arnold, Martin, Anne Gilliam, Mathis, Carl Nevenas, Jr., Mathis, William Connie, Jr., Matson, Virgie Lillian, Mauney, Charles Ural, Maxwell, William David, Mayo, William Patrick, Mebane, Banks Holt;

Medlin, Yancey Leonard, Melson, William Henry, Jr., Melton, Culbreth Young, Miller, Robert Alfred, Miller, William Arnold, Mills, Wilson Ray, Mitchell, Bayra Wheaton, Mitten, Robert Moore Mohr, Jack E., Monfort, Virginia Neville, Montgomery, Mary Ellen, Moore, James Donald, Moore, Lewis Douglas, Moore, Priscilla Lane, Moose, Roy Clifton, Morehouse, Mary Stewart, Morgan, Allen Duke, Jr., Morris, Donald Earl, Muirhead, Patricia Mary, Murphy, William C.;

Myers, Howard Lee, Naiman, Elaine, Neighbours, Helen Nye, Nicit, John, Norfleet, Norwood, Norman, Nancy, Norris, Marjorie Angela, Nunnally, Julia Elizabeth, Nussbaum, Marie Evelyn, Ogburn, Jean Elizabeth, Osborne, Sara Jane;

Owen, Roland Clinton, Page, Earle Cornelius, Jr., Parker, Marion Hardy, Parrish, Hurley Irvin, Jr., Parrish, Gene Blanco, Patterson, William Francis, Patton, Lewis A., Payeff, William K., Payne, Barbara Ann, Pegram, Roger Miller, Pendleton, Nancy Ross, Penn, Constance Susanne, Peterson, Thomas Jefferson, Jr., Pipes, John E., Pittman, David Joshua, Powe, Frances Banks, Powers, Charles F., Presley, George Donald, Price, Robert Percy;

Rattz, Lester James, Reaves, Daniel Holt, Recknagel, John Herman, Reid, Nat Downs, Rives, Harold Goodman, Rives, James Kenan, Robertson, Hubert Donald, Rodgers, James Edward, Rogers, Luther Frank, Rosen, Jacqueline Leona, Royal, Elizabeth Waddell, Ruspini, Evelyn Louise, Ryon, William Eugene, III;

St John, Mary Elizabeth, Sanders, Jay William, Jr., Sarbaugh, Raymond Lester, Jr., Satterfield, John Roberts, Seay, James Lee, Setzer, Ben Rowland, Sharpe, David James, Shepherd, William Banks, III, Shuford, Harry Benjamin, Simpson, Richard Lee, Smiley, Thomas Bryan, Jr., Smith, Alan Lamont, Smith, Claude Alfred;

Smith, William Marshall, Snead, Grace Arrington, Snow, Aubert Calvin, Snowden, Harry Robert, Jr., Sobel, David Elliott, Somers, Charles Alonzo, Stallings, Thomas Franklin, Jr., Stallings, Vera Hughes, Stamey, Charles Claude, Starr, Reginald Heber, Stave, Donald Grant, Steinberg, Melvin Sanford, Stevens, Merle Marie, Stevens, Phyllis Wolfe, Stoioff John Mitzi, Stokes, Susanne, Stricklin, Herman L., Strong George V., IV, Stroup, Joseph Bradley;

Taber, Mary Ann, Talley, Patterson Hall, Taylor, Rachel Duval Thompson, Benjamin Everett, Jr., Thorne, Edward Young Cox, Throp, Henrietta Williams, Trott Little John, Jr., Upchurch, George W., Jr., Vache, Claude Charles Van Sant, Carolyn Hughlett; Wainer, Howard Scheyer, Walden, Carroll Washington, Jr., Walker, Richard Isley, Walker, Robert Richmond, Jr., Walters, John Robert, Jr., Ward, Bennie B., Weiss, Morton Jerome, Wettig, Harry, Jr., Whitehurst, John Suther White, Nathaniel Stell, Jr., Williams, Mary Lou, Williams, Roger Leroy, Jr., Williamson, Allen Davidson, Winslow, Edith, Winslow, Francis Edward, Jr., Woltz, Elinor Spotswood, Wood, Billy Francis, Wood, James H., Woodhull, Sarah Ann, Young, Eleanor Stephens.

Summer Courses Will Be Offered In Guatemala

The University of San Carlos de Guatemala, it was announced yesterday, will offer the following courses during the summer session from July 1 to Aug. 19 for North American students: Spanish grammar, all levels, Spanish and Hispanic-American literature, economics, geography, anthropology, indian culture and fine arts. These courses are accredited in many American universities. During the summer San Carlos has an ideal climate which is cool and equable with an average temperature of 68 Total expenses average from $500 to $800.

In the past San Carlos has had many pleasant relations with the UNC. Professor A. C. Howell, of the English Department, and Professor James Andrews, of the Medical School, were visiting professors there recently. At present the UNC Athletic Assoc. annually sponsors an award to the San Carlos athlete judged best in all-around sports.

Students wishing further information should consult Professor Howell, 306 Phillips Hall.

-Inauguration-

(Continued from page 1)

mands your constant attention."

The out-going president reviewed some of the crises and trials of student government in the past year, and reported that "the ship of state came through the stormy seas in very good condition."

Chancellor R. B. House, delivering the charge to the new officers, said the best comment he could make on student government was that "Many of the crises Mr. Dedmond referred to in the past year I never heard of at all. That is the finest thing I know about student government."

House pointed out that he regretted that tuition had to be raised, but that was all in the hands of the Board of Trustees. He said further that the Scuttlebutt incident was not entirely a matter in the hands of the administration.

"The University promises," House said, "to take your advice and listen to your desires. Then we must do what we think best for the good of everyone."

-Alaska-

(Continued from page 1)

loway said he has written to a number of firms about summer jobs for students but that the opportunities are very few. There is little demand for unskilled laborers, he said.

The Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts need counsellors, but experience is to be gained more than high pay, the director said. Students interested in resort jobs are instructed "to apply in person" to individual establishments.

Galloway pointed out that summer jobs, like permanent ones, are rarely obtained by mail. It is important that the individual be on hand when a vacancy occurs or arises.

Alumni Assembly Meet Faces Varied Agenda

Alumni of the University of North Carolina at their annual assembly here Thursday evening will have a "town meeting" discussion of matters ranging from qualifications for the new president of the University to the institution's policy on the NCAA "sanity code."

The program will center around a dinner at 6:30 o'clock, at the Carolina Inn. Judge Henry L. Stevens, president of the University Alumni Association, will preside.

Among speakers on the program will be W. D. Carmichael, Jr., University controller, and Chancellor R. B. House. Controller Carmichael is scheduled to summarize the effect upon the University's development of legislative appropriations, while Chancellor House will report to alumni upon programs underway at Chapel Hill.

Reservations have been made for the assembly by numerous alumni who are officers of local alumni associations and organized alumni classes. All alumni of the University are entitled to attend, it was pointed out by Alumni Secretary J. Maryon Saunders.

A committee headed by James R. Patton of Durham will make nominations for officers of the association to be elected in a mail ballot conducted before Commencement. The new officers will be installed following election at the Commencement alumni luncheon June 6.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

1:30—TOWN GIRL'S Association. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
3:00—CAUCUS OF University Party legislators. Roland Parker 2, GM.
4:00—CAMPUS PARTY. Roland Parker 1, GM.
4:00—UNIVERSITY PARTY. Roland Parker 2, GM.
4:30—ALPHA PHI OMEGA. Advisory committee, cabinet room, YMCA.
5:00—PAN-HEL COUNCIL. Grail room, GM.
7:00—SIGMA KAPPA Epsilon. Roland Parker 2, GM.
7:00—LEADERSHIP TRAINING Program Banquet. Carolina Inn.
8:00—COLLEGIATE COUNCIL United Nations. Gerrard Hall.
8:30—UNIVERSITY HOUR. WDUK, Durham.
9:00—DI SENATE. Third floor, New West.

-Fleece-

(Continued from Page 1)

taries as O. Max Gardner and J. C. B. Ehringhaus, ex-governors; Horace Williams, Frank P. Graham, Jefferson B. Fordham, and Robert B. House, educators; Robert M. Hanes and T. C. Boushell, bankers; Thomas Wolfe, author, and Hatcher Hughes, Pulitzer Prize dramatist; Wallace Winborne, Supreme Court justice, and Walter P. Stacy, chief justice of the State Supreme Court; Niles W. Bond and Dr. Eben Alexander, U. S. envoys to Japan and Greece, respectively; Gordon Gray, undersecretary of the Army: Sheppard Strudwick, movie actor, and James (Kay) Kyser, radio performer; and Thor Johnson, conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony.

These and all other living Fleece alumni will be invited to the Monday evening ceremony. As alumni and as University students and faculty, members of the Fleece perform no public activities as a group.

DR. W. WHATLEY PIERSON

W&L University Honors Pierson With LLD Degree

Dr. W. Whatley Pierson, dean of the University of North Carolina Graduate School and Professor of History and Political Science has been awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws by Washington and Lee University.

The citation referred to Dr. Pierson as an "authority on the established political organization of men and harbinger of a lovelier social dream," and "chief of an effective school of scholarship and influential leader in all scholarly effort of your region and your country, and esteemed to hosts of aspiring youth who would know truth and serve it with singleness of heart."

-Review-

(Continued from page 1)

Cadet Maj. James W. Geiger.

According to Capt. Francis S Holmes, public information officer for the unit, these inspections are conducted every spring at colleges and universities where ROTC units are in operation to determine the school's efficiency in adapting the program to its regular curriculum.

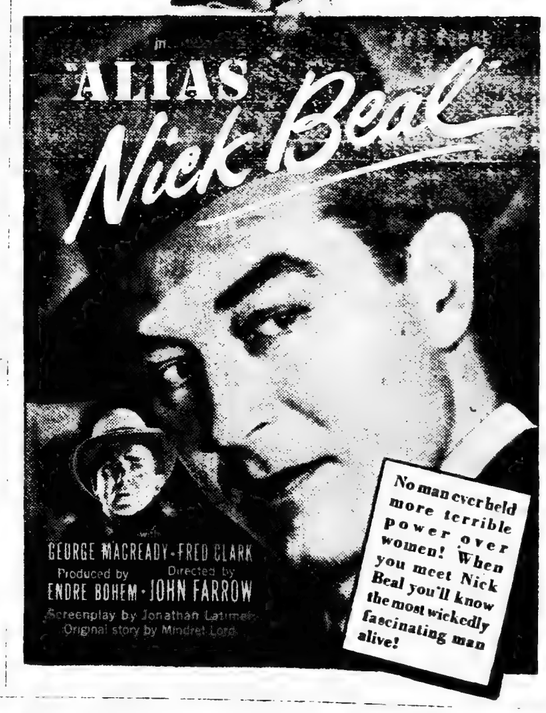
Members of the inspection team will write a report on the unit which is expected to be ready for release in about two or three weeks, Capt. Holmes said.

Math Institute Will Meet Here

Chapel Hill will be the scene of the next spring national meeting of the Institute of Mathematical Statistics, according to [illegible] spring meeting in New York.

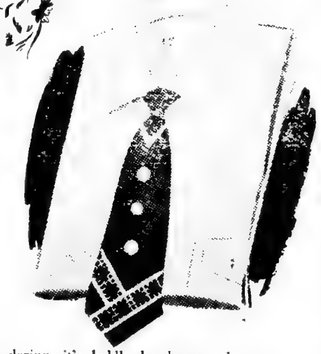
Two of the three papers presented at the New York meeting were made by professors at South Carolina institutions. Harold Hotelling, professor of mathematical statistics at Chapel Hill, spoke on "Fields of Application of Multivariate Analysis."

RAIN OR SHINE IT'S
"Stormy" Weathers
AND HIS ORCHESTRA



FOR THE SMOOTHEST IN DANCE MUSIC
SPECIALIZING IN SORORITY AND FRATERNITY DANCES
Write 310 Pritchard Ave.
PHONE 3746

CAROLINA TODAY



Paramount presents
RAY MILLAND
AUDREY TOTTER
THOMAS MITCHELL

It was like selling her soul to the Devil for a Woman to make a deal with Nick Beal!

bold colors...bold collar... bold collegian!

The Van Heusen Van Bold in 11 springtime shades and white. $3.95

It's smart, it's daring, it's boldly handsome—the new Van Bold shirt in eleven campus-acclaimed colors and white! Van Bold has just what you asked for this spring—wide-spread collar . . . new half-inch stitching . . . extra wide center pleat . . . French or single cuffs. And of course, Van Heusen magic sewmanship, tug-proof buttons, and laboratory-tested fabrics. A new shirt free if your Van Heusen shrinks out of size! Other Van Heusen shirts $2.95 and up.

Van Heusen shirts
the world's smartest
PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., NEW YORK 1, N. Y.

YVETTE . . . Scorned by women . . . adored by men!

SHEILA . . . vision of loveliness . . . murder in her heart!

CLAIRE . . . blonde, lovely . . . whose caresses bid a blazing hate!

MAYA . . . Eurasian . . . her soft kisses bring thrills . . . or violent death!

FRAU THALER . . . whose only emotions are cruelty and contempt!

LOUIS K. ANSLE Presents
WOMEN in the NIGHT with WILLIAM PHINEY · VIRGINIA CHRISTINE

VILLAGE
Also COLOR NOVELTY
TODAY

Formal Wear
FOR RENT
Full Dress $5.00
Tuxedos 4.00
White Jackets .. 4.00
Tuxedo Junction
601 E. Trinity Ave. - J-1373
DURHAM, N. C.

See Us For Any Metal Work To Be Done
EXPERT SERVICE
Crabtree Metal Shop
CARRBORO

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
OVER CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

DRIVE-IN THEATRE 4 CHAPEL HILL BLVD
TODAY
"HOLIDAY IN MEXICO"
in
Technicolor
Walter Pidgeon, Jose Iturbi, and Xavier Cugat
Selected Shorts
75c PER CAR

THE PINES
Are Introducing
Curb Service
And
Featuring Your Favorite Sandwiches
Hamburgers and
Draft Beer
THE PINES 2 Miles Out On Raleigh Road
Eddie Monroe, Prop.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR RENT 6A

SINGLE ROOM IN QUIET, MODERN home on West Cameron Drive. Good furniture. Available immediately. Call F 2-66 or 921. [illegible]

FOR SALE 6B

TWO BEDROOM HOUSE FOR SALE or rent. [illegible] Owner will [illegible] April 20. [illegible]

PHILCO [illegible] RADIO. Record [illegible] playing [illegible] sonable. Call [illegible] 2-5702-J.

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

'41 CLUB COUPE, [illegible] heater. [illegible] tact H. B. Broadhurst [illegible]

LOST 12

ASHBIE [illegible] GLASSES [illegible] Please [illegible] "A Do [illegible] name [illegible]

CHEESE BLINTZES — Today — at HARRY'S

APRIL 20, 1949

stitute et Here

...ill be the scene
...national meet-
... Mathema-
...g to a de-
... year's
... York.

...rincipal ad-
...'s meeting
...t North
... Harold Ho-
...matical
... Hill, spoke
Application of Mul-
...

CE MUSIC
ITY DANCES

ROLINA
TODAY

Paramount presents
RAY
MILLAND
AUDREY
TOTTER
THOMAS
MITCHELL

No man ever held more terrible power over women! When you meet Nick Neal you'll know he most wickedly scinating man ive!

??-YO' MEANS—A COMPLETELY CHANGED ...ABNER WILL BE ALLOWED T'ROAM AROUND—LOOSE!!

—WIFE, INDEED! DID YOU BEHOLD THE ROOM OF THE BATH?

...RSITY DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
9-26-49

EDITORIALS

Not Unhonored
Tripe and Trivia
Hodgson on Smif

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Fair and milder.

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 143

Senate Passes $73 Millon Improvements Bill

Dan Bell Elected Council Chairman

Lowe Selected Clerk; New Chairman Wins Over Holston; Was High Man in Elections

Dan Bell, rising junior from Pittsboro, was named chairman of the Student Council for the 1949-50 term yesterday. Barbara Lowe, rising senior from Washington, N. Y., was elected clerk.

The Council, in its first meeting since the election, picked Bell as chairman over Roy Holston. The new chairman replaces Bill Mackie, newly-elected student body president.

Bell is a Commerce-Law major and a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He ran first among the men's council candidates in both the general and runoff elections.

Lowe is a former member of the Woman's Council and a member of the NSA committee. She was picked for the clerk post by aclamation.

All of the nine members of the high court are first-termers. New members besides Bell and Lowe are Roy Holston, Peggy Martin, Ted Young, Cam West, Kitty Altizer, Sally Osborne and Kyle Barnes.

In accepting the chairmanship, Bell stated, "I consider it a great honor to be chosen chairman of such a fine group of council members and look forward to a very successful year."

Here at Last! Ten-Cent Beer In 8-Oz. Mugs

To Be Served Only At 'Cocktail Hours'

New York's nickel beer hasn't gotten quite this far south yet, but for two hours each day, beginning today, Danzigers' Ramshead Rathskellar will offer Chapel Hill's first post-war dime beer.

Ted Danziger, owner of the "old country" type tavern said yesterday that the new beer will be served in an 8 inch mug. Questioned as to the whys and wherefores of the important change in beer prices, Danziger said, "It's springtime, I get up earlier, I come to work sooner and I might as well have company while I'm about it."

"We're limiting our dime beer sales to the 'cocktail hours'," he said, "mostly because I don't want to go broke. The beer will be sold practically at cost, because I think there are lots of boys and girls who might have an extra hour or so before supper and will enjoy the 'cocktail hour beer.' "Of course," he added, "we'll still be offering our regular chicken suppers and other services from 5 o'clock on."

What effect the new price of ten cents for a mug of beer would have in other restaurants and cafes which sell the popular suds could not be determined yesterday.

BRITISH DELEGATE Hector McNeil makes no attempt to smother his yawn at a meeting of the United Nations Political Committee at Lake Success, N. Y. At right, Russia's Andrei Gromyko sits granite-faced as the committee discusses Italy's former African colonies. There is a sharp diversity of opinion as to whether Italy should get the colonies or whether they should go under United Nations trusteeship.

Lenoir Pine Room To Be Available For Free Dancing

Beginning Monday evening, April 25, the Pine Room of Lenoir Hall will be opened at 6 o'clock for dancing.

In a joint announcement, made yesterday by the YMCA, the YWCA, and Mr. L. B. Rogerson, manager of Lenoir Hall, it was stated that the Pine Room would be opened from 6 until 7:30 Monday through Thursday for students who wish to dance. No charge will be made and music will be continuous.

A representative from each of of the Y's will be on hand each night to act as host and hostess. Their purpose will be to introduce people and to see that the dances are conducted in an orderly manner.

A "Y" spokesman said yesterday that "the new innovation is being presented for the students on a trial basis. If it meets with the success that we anticipate it will become a permanent thing. Mr. Rogerson has offered us the Pine Room in accordance with his policy of striving to give the students better service. If everything works out as planned, we may be able to make more services available in the future."

Friends Speaker To Appear Here

Bob Forsberg, representative of the American Friends Service Committee in Italy for the past year, will speak in the YMCA tonight at 8 o'clock.

Forsberg, who spent three years in Europe working mainly with the International Work Camp Movement in Italy, will talk informally about his experiences there and give his views on the present situation in Europe.

Speaking upstairs in the "Y", Forsberg will show colored slides of pictures he made in Europe.

Alumni Meeting To Open Tonight

University of North Carolina alumni who gather here tonight for their annual alumni assembly, will hear talks by Controller W. D. Carmichael, Jr., and Chancellor R. B. House.

Judge Henry L. Stevens of Warsaw, alumni association president, will preside at the assembly which will center around a dinner at 6:30 o'clock at the Carolina Inn. Special invitations to attend have been issued to officers of county alumni associations and organized alumni classes, but it was pointed out today by alumni association officers that any alumnus is eligible to attend. Reservations are asked to be made by notifying the alumni office in Chapel Hill.

In addition to talks by Controller Carmichael and Chancellor House, the meeting will be featured by a "town meeting" discussion of University matters in which all alumni will be invited to participate.

SDA Civil Rights Meet Will Open Saturday

Conference To Include Other Schools; 'No Particular Program,' Says Lindsey

Students for Democratic Action will open a civil rights conference at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Bingham hall.

The group has invited students from other campuses in the state to come to Chapel Hill this week end and discuss the problem of civil rights in a group of three seminars.

"SDA doesn't have any particular program to put over," Bo Lindsay, chairman of the group said today. "We think, however it's time to approach the problem of civil rights with a positive attitude, instead of shouting about it and never coming to grips with it."

"The purpose of the conference this week end is to stimulate students at the conference into some hard thinking on civil rights. We Southerners will never get the answers to this problem if we don't first ask ourselves the questions."

Bennett Lecture On Inca Culture Set for Today

Dr. Wendell C. Bennett of Yale University will give an illustrated lecture on the marvels of ancient life among the Incas of Peru on Thursday night, April 21, at 8 o'clock in Gerrard Hall.

The address is being sponsored as part of the annual Pan-American Week festivities of the campus by the Institute for Latin American Studies and the North Carolina chapter of the Archaeological Institute of America.

Dr. Bennett has led eight expeditions to South America since 1933, and in 1936 was decorated by the Bolivian government with the Order of the Condor for discoveries made at the ancient city of Tiahuanaco.

It Can't Happen Here!

Reports Reveal Feminine Invaders Crashed Men's Dormitories Here

By Charles McCorkle

It was a bewildered group of freshmen that chased two masculine-dressed girls out of Alexander Dormitory late Tuesday evening, according to campus reports yesterday.

The intruders, as nearly as could be ascertained, were the same two who crashed several men's dormitories at State College in Raleigh on Saturday night, April 2. The State student newspaper, "The Technician," described them as "two very, very brave girls from a nearby college dressed in blue jeans and shirts, with their hair rolled up under baseball caps."

The descriptions of Tuesday night's Carolina invaders had them clothed in men's slacks, white shirts, and saddle shoes, with one wearing a rain hat and rain coat and the other sporting a man's jacket and a white "party" hat.

Reports yesterday indicated that the imposters had visited not only Alexander, where they were discovered, but also Whitehead, "C," and Battle-Vance-Pettigrew. In each dorm they went through, they left their "calling cards" — short notes such as the one found in Alexander which read, "Who would believe two girls were here? Well, we were!" The note was on green paper and had two peering eyes drawn at the top. Some of the notes were signed "J. and H."

Bob Hamer, a resident of the freshman dormitory, yesterday named roommates Lacey Walters and John Thorpe as two of the men who had seen the "strangers" wandering around the dorm halls Tuesday night.

At State College, the two girls were recognized by a student who spied them in Bagwell Dormitory, but was too slow to catch them. At State, the girls bragged in a letter to "The Technician," that the men "sure do sing beautifully in the showers.

"Nothing could be more colorful than the rooms we saw," the females continued, still on State. "Was it three or four beds out of the several hundred that were made up? Tell us, is it really comfortable to live in such squalor?"

In the State dorms, the girls left signs saying, "Wake up, boys, two girls have been here." The notes were left on dormitory assistants' doors and over water fountains. Some more "personal" notes were left on the doors of rooms which bore name cards which the girls apparently recognized.

In view of the fact that the two masqueraders wrote "The Technician" of their exploits after they pulled the stunt, it was believed yesterday that they possibly planned to address a message to The Daily Tar Heel telling of their escapade here.

New Officers Hear Weaver Deliver Talk

'Atmosphere' Is Subject of Dean

Dean of Students Fred Weaver told a large group of newly-inaugurated student government officials last night that student government on this campus "is not a plaything or a make-believe affair," and that it operated "with more efficiency than the governments functioning at Raleigh, Washington or Lake Success."

Weaver was the principle speaker at a Lenoir Hall banquet of student leaders which wound up the Leadership Training Program carried on in the last two days. At the close of the evening Ex-President Jess Dedmond asked the Student Legislature to pass a law setting up the event as an annual affair with the name "The Frank Porter Graham Inauguration Banquet."

Weaver began his talk by announcing his subject as "atmosphere." He expanded his point by explaining that in Carolina campus life and student government, there is something that no other school can claim.

"It is an atmosphere," Weaver continued, "of freedom, democracy, good-fellowship, friendliness and cooperation. And you, the student leaders, are the guardians of that atmosphere—it depends on you more than anyone else."

Referring to a recent deans' convention in Chicago which he attended, the University Dean of Students commented, "It would be tragic if on this campus we practiced the tyranny that is carried on at some of the other schools represented there.

"Don't just be a consumer of Chapel Hill's greatness," Weaver concluded. "Be a producer. Because if you just take away and do not produce and put back in, we won't have that greatness for very long."

'Jes One Drink' Costs Defendant 30 Days in Jail

"I won't drunk, I jes had one drink," was Melvin Pendergrass' oft repeated phrase as he appeared in Recorder's Court here before Judge Henry A. Whitfield yesterday morning.

Mel, charged with being drunk, had been picked up just three hours after being released upon paying a fine for the same charge. He put up such a pitiful plea that he was sick and had taken 'jes one drink that Judge Whitfield said, "Mel, if you sit here long enough, you'll talk us into giving you a drink."

To help Mel keep his promise not to get drunk again Judge Whitfield sentenced him to 30 days in jail, execution to issue on motion of the prosecuting attorney.

Other cases on the docket included:

Bill Markman, Negro, female, disorderly conduct, $5 and costs.

George H. Eubanks, Negro, driving drunk, $100 and costs.

William N. Harrell, improper equipment, no lights, costs.

Alexander Farar, Negro, assault on a female, his wife Odessa Farar, prayer for judgment continued on payment of costs.

Verna Lee Taylor, Negro, disorderly conduct, prayer for judgment continued on payment of costs.

Walter Riley, Negro, Mebane, carrying concealed weapon, a pistol, $75 and costs, prayer for judgment continued.

Walter Riley, Negro, Mebane, carrying concealed weapon, a pistol, $75 and costs, prayer for judgment continued.

Nunn Morrow, Negro, carrying concealed weapon and aiding in the same, a pistol, $50 and costs, pistol ordered confiscated.

Committee Is Named to Find New President

Gov. Scott Chooses Bryant As Chairman

RALEIGH, April 20 — (UP) — Gov. Kerr Scott today named a committee of nine trustees to pick a new president of the University of North Carolina.

The new head of the greater university will succeed Dr. Frank P. Graham, who resigned last month when he became a United States Senator.

WASHINGTON, April 20. — (UP)—Sen. Frank P. Graham, D., N. C., ill for almost three weeks with pneumonia, has been discharged from the hospital and will take a two-week rest on doctor's orders before resuming his senate duties.

Scott named Victor Bryant of Durham as chairman of the committee, and said Bryant would call the first meeting. Other members were Mrs. Laura Cone, L. P. McLendon, and J. Spencer Love, all of Greensboro; Mrs. P. P. McCain, Southern Pines; Mrs. C. W. Stanford, Chapel Hill; O. Max Gardner, Jr., Shelby; Hugh Harris, Oriental; and John Clark, Franklinville.

Enrollment Is Reported Normal For This Quarter

Seventy-eight per cent of the 6849 students enrolled in the University for the current spring quarter are from North Carolina, according to a report prepared by Edwin S. Lanier, Director of the Central Records Office and released today by Chancellor Robert B. House.

This shows a normal drop from the fall enrollment which was 7603. There were 6971 students enrolled at the same time last year.

The majority of students are registered in the General College, which takes in the freshman and sophomore years. There are 2406 freshmen and sophomores, 34 of them being coeds.

The College of Arts and Sciences has the next largest enrollment, having 1094 men students and 418 coeds, with the School of Commerce next with 1165 men students and 17 coeds.

Other schools and departments have the following enrollments: Graduate School, 932 plus 70 students in the School of Public Health and 35 in the Division of Social Work; Law School, 256; School of Library Science, 30; School of Medicine, 110; School of Pharmacy, 205; School of Public Health, 90; Social Work, 36 and School of Education, 90.

Of the 6849 total enrollment there are 3,955 who are veterans, 3,881 men and 74 women.

Retreat Slated For Nawaka

The 1949 North Carolina YMCA-SCA-YWCA Leadership Retreat will be held at Camp Nawakwa, N. C., April 29, 30, and May 1 with five Carolina delegates present.

Representing Carolina will be Charlie Gibson, vice-president of the YMCA, Charlie Bartlett, secretary of the Y, A. C. Mangum treasurer of the Y, Ed McLeod member of the planning committee, and Claude Shotts, general secretary of the Y. Mr Shotts will lead the seminar on world relations.

The retreat, which has as its theme "Faith Without Works is Dead," works for the purpose to unite in Christian worship, constructive discussion and wholesome fellowship the leaders of Christian student association in North Carolina.

Solons Kill Efforts To Slash Measure

University Gets $12,184,000 of Total Sum; New Dorms, Dentistry School Are Included

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

RALEIGH, April 20—The North Carolina State Senate today passed into law the $73,000,000 Permanent Improvements bill defeating efforts to trim it by more than $15,000,000.

The new law gives the University of North Carolina $12,184,000 in funds to be used for new projects and to supplement the permanent improvement appropriations passed by 1947 Legislature.

A total of $6,141,500 was appropriated for the new projects which include a dental school; three additional dormitories; additions to the Law and Chemistry buildings; a venereal disease research laboratory; a new school of commerce building; a soot and ash eliminator for the power plant; water, sewage and electric light extension, and walks, roads and electric lines for new areas.

Supplementary funds for projects approved in 1947 include: (original appropriations are in parenthesis) Library addition $460,000 ($1,215,000); Medical school and teaching Hospital, $2,324,000 ($3,800,000); Nurses Home and Training School, $778,000 ($840,000); Living Quarters for internes and residents, $160,000 ($450,000); To replace federal aid funds which were transferred to state hospitals, $1,500,000; Laundry additions, $32,500 ($95,800); Expansion of power plant, $288,000 ($300,000); Electric Turbogenerator, $550,000; Clock system, $10,000 ($10,000).

The total of the supplement to the 1947 Permanent Improvements appropriation is $6,042,500.

NCCPA Meet Begins Today In Raleigh

Three-Day Affair To Feature Clinics

Students from the University's three publications will leave for Raleigh today to attend the annual convention of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association being held today, tomorrow and Saturday.

A press conference with Gov. Kerr Scott, panel discussions on various phases of collegiate journalism, and election of Association officers will comprise the program for the three-day meet.

Charles Eaton, professor of creative writing at the University, will serve as one of the leaders in a short story clinic, along with Dr. Lodwick Hartley, State College; Mrs. George Patton, contributor to the New Yorker, and Randall Jarrell, Woman's College.

Among other clinics on the program are news reporting, led by Noel Yancey, head of the Associated Press Bureau in Raleigh; editorial, led by Robert Thompson, editor of the High Point Enterprise; sports writing, Neal Patrick of the Raleigh Times; and feature writing, Jack Riley, Sunday editor, News and Observer.

Students attending as official delegates are Bill Buchan, Tom Kerr, Don Maynard, Sally Woodhull, Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Roy Parker, Jackie Burke and Tom Wharton. Other students will attend various sessions of the meet.

Gentry Elected To Presidency Of Literary Group

Phyllis Ann Gentry, rising senior from Richmond, Va., has been elected president of Chi Delta Phi, honorary literary sorority, for the coming year, it was announced yesterday. She will be installed, along with other newly-elected officers, at a closed meeting of the group May 2.

Emily Sewell will serve as vice president and program chairman of the coed group next year; Ruth Whalen, secretary; Connie Conley, treasurer and Nancy Curtis, publicity chairman.

A spring membership contest for coeds interested in working with the group next year will open today, the new president announced. Manuscripts of any type and length will be considered. They should be submitted to the information office in Graham Memorial before Monday, May 2.

A national honorary society, Chi Delta Phi has been active on this campus since 1941. Its program this year has included open meetings with such speakers as Walter P. Eaton.

Music Fraternity Plans Duke Visit

In furthering inter-school cooperation, Beta Eta Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, Duke University, has invited members of Alpha Tau Chapter of the University to be their special guests at a dance to be given in the main ballroom of the Washington Duke Hotel Friday evening at 8:30. Music for the affair will be furnished by the Duke Ambassadors.

Concert Tickets Are Available At Hill Office

Tickets for tonight's concert by the women's glee club are still available in Hill Hall 109, officials said yesterday. This concert is the last in the regular concert series covered by season tickets, and holders of season tickets are urged to reserve seats before 5 p. m. today.

Single admissions are also on sale.

Three state soloists and the men's glee club will assist the women singers in their annual spring appearance. Harriet Keen of Chapel Hill, Beatrice Donley of Meredith College, and Jean Schneck of Women's College will be the featured soloists.

Barbara Young, student soprano, will sing an incidental solo in the folk song group; and Jeanne Fornoff Smith, Charles Stevens, William E. Waters, and Henry Lofquist will provide piano and organ accompaniments.

The concert will be under the direction of Paul Young, associate professor of music and chairman of vocal instruction.

Tonight's concert will be the last public performance of the women's glee club until the Carnegie Hall appearance in November.

Drive Goal Is Near Completion

Last Saturday the cancer drive passed the $1,000 mark, Col. G. B. Cline, chairman of the campaign, announced yesterday. He added that he hoped to reach the goal of $1,710 by the end of this week.

The $1,000 was entirely from contributions mailed in to the drive treasurer, Gilbert Ray, and from the "tag day" which the Chapel Hill and Carrboro Girl Scouts carried out.

Coin containers will be collected at the end of the week, the chairman said.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. .. Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Night Editor: Charles McCorkle Night Sports: Buddy Vaden

Unusual But Not Unhonored

(Al Winn, chairman of the elections board, has been given an opportunity today to answer an editorial of the Daily Tar Heel criticizing his committee for running out of ballots at certain polls during the recent election.)

I think they did a great job. They did a lot of things in a few days that very few people knew about and most of the things they did turned out well; for those many things they received no recognition because they were done well and, consequently, no one noticed them. But there were a couple of times they missed perfection either because of miscalculation or other people's lack of forethought, and there they received what may well be more than their share of criticism. The people who engineered the election, I mean. They did a lot of work for nothing except the realization that they were doing an essential job in student government, and they did their work well.

Take Jim Gwynn, for instance. He was in charge of the committee that made up the ballots on which were listed 238 candidates running for 63 different offices in 13 districts under four main subdivisions. That complicated combination produced 19 different ballots in the primary. Further, he had to calculate approximately how many of the over 7,000 students would vote so that he would not order too many ballots and thereby waste student money, nor order so few that there might not be enough. He had the same job to do a week later for the runoff while arranging for recounts in a few disputed positions and checking numerous expense accounts, yet never once did he complain or fail to do the best work of which he was capable.

Or Dick Murphy. He was the man in charge of the polls on election day. Realizing the great amount of footwork he would necessarily do moving from one to another of the 13 polls scattered from Victory Village and the University Trailer Court to Alderman Dorm, Nelson Taylor offered to get a car and help him. (May I say here that without Nelson's help the task would have been impossible.) Dick had to see that the ballot boxes were distributed to the 13 polls with the correct ballots (each of the 19 different varieties had to be distributed in adequate quantity to the correct one or more of the 13 polls), stamps, stamp-pads, student directories, polls posters, and instructions for the polls-tenders. Then he had to spend the rest of the day trotting from poll to poll emptying boxes and replenishing depleted stocks of ballots. In the primary he met with a good deal of cooperation from the polls-tenders, and the whole affair worked right well.

In the runoff the ballot orders were cut to 3,000 (only 2440 voted) to prevent wastage of student money, but that also entailed keeping fewer excess ballots at each poll. Polls-tenders often failed to anticipate their need for ballots so that Dick could shift excess ballots from other polls; consequently, they ran out several times before Dick could comply with their tardy calls for ballots. The failure was due not to any carelessness on Dick's part, but to the poll-tenders who failed to state their needs in time adequate to allow compliance. Recognizing the handicaps under which he worked, I think he did a most remarkable job.

And Sam Manning, Bill Branch, Don Hames, John Brockmann, Dick Murphy, Jim Southerland, Charlie Foley, Jim Gwynn, Jacy Rush, Carol Homan, Eleanor de Grange, Davis Byrd and Stan Fox undertook the drudgery of counting and recounting the ballots. They gave of their time and energy (some of them worked until 7:00 a.m. one morning totaling the results) and got no word of recognition for the work they did so well. But the people who know, the people who witnessed the pains they took to complete a task to the satisfaction of their own consciences, appreciate fully the fine work they did. May student government find in the future more of these people who are willing to work hard and untiringly to contribute toward the fulfillment of an ideal. It badly needs them!

Al Winn

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, April 20—Whenever you see a bunch of politicos in this town suddenly begin making a fuss over a guy they have hitherto treated as one of the neighbor's children you can be pretty sure they've heard he is due for a big job.

They're acting that way now toward U. S. District Judge James P. McGranery.

Judge McGranery is no stranger to our Fair City, having served five terms as Congressman from Philadelphia, where he now occupies the bench. He quit Congress in 1943 to be an Assistant Attorney General.

After being appointed to the judgeship, McGranery showed up in Washington only infrequently. But, in the last few months, although his court is still in session, he has practically taken to commuting.

On two recent occasions he was guest of the Chatterbox Club here, which is very politically conscious. Both times he was treated as if he were the Queen of the May.

All over the Club you could hear the boys whispering: "It's in the bag for McGranery! He's to be the new Attorney General!"

* * *

There's no question that President Truman has been wanting to do something big for McGranery. There was talk that the President wanted him for Postmaster General after the retirement of Bob Hannegan. But it didn't look then as if any Truman-given job would last long and the jurist did not relish giving up his $15,000 a year spot on the bench.

It'd be a terrible joke on the wiseacres if their dope proves to be wrong. They'll be demanding that he return all the slaps on the back and gift cigars.

* * *

If Judge McGranery gets the Attorney Generalship he can always turn to his hearth and home for legal advice. His wife, the former Regina Clark, is a lawyer too.

She is also the author of a code of 8 simple rules for happy marriage:

1. Yield on little points.

2. Be as fair to your spouse as you would be to your business partner.

3. Be sure you have common interests and work together for common purposes.

4. Don't conceal financial worries or financial successes.

5. Avoid letting your family or friends influence you against your mate.

6. Be moderate in work and play.

7. Respect the privacy of your spouse.

8. Keep a sense of humor.

It'll be nice to know we have an Attorney General living happily by the code book.

* * *

McGranery will have to wait at least three weeks before being named because Tom Clark has the job cinched until after May 7. On that night he is giving his annual birthday party for the President.

Mr. Clark has given the President's birthday party ever since both held their present jobs. This will be the fourth hand-running—but the insiders say it will be the last.

The party, as heretofore, will be held in the 1925 F Street Club, but it will be the night before the President's birthday. Mr. Truman was born May 8, 1884, but the 8th comes on a Sunday this year and the President refuses to whoop it up on the Sabbath.

The President will probably wait a couple of weeks after that before announcing the change. It ain't considered etiquette, even in political Washington, to tell the guy who's throwing you a party that he's through.

First Things Come First

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Tripe and Trivia

Rules Of Behavior

By Bob Sturdivant

Along with birds and bees and the new planetarium, spring also brings baseball, which in turn brings hordes of students to Emerson. Our ball team seems to be doing very well, but I am worried about the spectators. Their conduct in some cases has not been up to the standards of this great institution. Soon we will be entertaining fellow members of the Big Four and, naturally, we want to impress them with our heritage and good taste; therefore I offer the following rules of behavior in the hope that they will be followed in good faith.

(1) Football players will please refrain from sun bathing during games. In the past, this action has proved very embarrassing to the coeds, some of whom have threatened to boycott the games altogether unless something is done. After all, how uninhibited can you get!

(2) Fans will please not shout into the ears of other fans and faculty wives. Such cries as "you're better than he are" and "throw the goo-goo ball" are not only in poor taste, but rupture ear drums as well. As one of our players put it, "for heaven thakes, with all that yelling a guy can't hear himthelf think."

(3) Don't toss bottles at the base umpire; he may be somebody's mother. As one of the base umpires put it, "for heaven thakes, with all that yelling"—oh well, forget it.

(4) Don't razz the opposing pitcher. Sometimes this causes the opposing pitchers to develop complexes which make the Duke psychology department curious, and we certainly don't want them prying around over here. It is a well-known fact that the Duke psychology department will get curious about anything.

(5) Bottle collectors are not to be pushed down the steps. They may be somebody's children.

(6) Do exercise dignity and restraint at all times. This way the umpires will always be glad to return.

Feeling that a warning of things imminent is in order, I wish to urge all students to be on guard against a new wave of propaganda which may soon sweep the campus. In the past the more radical elements, communists by trade, have flooded us with a deluge of disa and data about Marxian precepts and such.

Word now has it that the Reds are on the way out and are soon to be replaced by the slightly more conservative KKK. This may prove to be somewhat of a relief for those who take an interest in such matters, but to the average bourgeois student it will mean naught but more subterfuge in the daily.

There is a move afoot to squelch this campaign before it reaches the stage of irritability. To date, however, the instigators have successfully eluded the posse, composed of fearless student government leaders. Rumor has it that the Klan forces are rallying around the K A house, but this group of aristocratic gentry has denounced this possibility with a fervor. An equally unreliable source has called attention to similarity to be found between the Chi Phi cross and the KKK symbol. This, too, has run the gamut of denials.

Let us take solace in the fact that some of the best minds in campus politics are out to purge this menace to the reading public, and results should be forthcoming.

Music Review

Very Fine Piano

By "Wink" Locklair

Robert MacDonald, William Waters, Felder Graham and Edwin Steed were heard in Hill Hall Tuesday evening in a joint piano recital which reflected a great deal of praise on the musicians themselves and on their teacher, Virginia Hare. It was an unusually short program, less than an hour of actual playing, but it did not mean that the selections chosen were skimpy or elementary. Far from it.

Mr. MacDonald, opened the recital with an excellent interpretation of Beethoven's Sonata in F Sharp Major, Op. 78, a very melodious work which the pianist obviously understands and enjoys playing. This was followed by a group of Brahms pieces played by Mr. Waters, a senior music major who has been studying with Miss Hare for four years.

First was the graceful Capriccio in B Minor, Op. 76, No. 2, which Sybil Drake also played in her recital last Thursday evening; the Intermezzo in A Minor, Op. 116, No. 2, and the Capriccio in D Minor, Op. 116, No. 7, which closed the first half of the program. Mr. Waters, who is one of the most useful and helpful students in Hill Hall, knows the music of Brahms well (he has given an all-Brahms recital here) and these three pieces were knowingly rendered.

The music after intermission was from the Impressionistic School of compositions, men who are perhaps most admired and best known for their orchestral work: Gabriel Faure, Ottorino Respighi and Claude Debussy. Felder Graham played Faure's Impromptu in F Minor, a Notturno by Respighi and Debussy's Danse. The Danse has long been a favorite with concert audiences and the audience in Hill Hall liked the way Mr. Graham played it.

A group of three pieces Debussy composed between 1896-1901 entitled Pour Le Piano was Edwin Steed's contribution to the program. The three sections—Prelude, Sarabande, and Toccata—are among the most imaginative compositions the Frenchman wrote. The Toccata is a man-sized job to undertake, and Mr. Steed who is a mathematics not a music major was indeed capable of the assignment, and it provided a rousing end to a very enjoyable and well-prepared-for evening.

Pleased as Punch

By George Dixon

The President, incidentally, is death on unorthodox poker. He insists on straight stud and draw—no deuces, one-eyed jacks, wild; no 7-toed Pete or spit-in-the-ocean.

At poker, Mr. Truman definitely does not practice what he preaches. He inveighs against bluffing—but tries it every so often. He also declaims at the damfoolishness of trying to fill an inside straight.

But he tries it now and then—and is pleased as punch with himself when it works.

* * *

Irked by all the long drawn out debate over the Economic Cooperation Administration appropriations, white-maned Tom Connally, of Texas, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, snapped:

"The trouble with some Senators is that they approach a subject with a closed mind and an open mouth."

To The Editor

MARXING TIME

Editor:

The local Marxists aren't doing Marxism much good, and I think the reason is that most of them are suffering acute cases of Protracted Naivete.

At least symptoms of it are evident in their arguments: Citing theory instead of practice in offering proof of Marxism's accomplishments, listing subjective sources instead of objective sources in interpreting those accomplishments, and being hysterical in the face of demonstrable facts.

If they expect to convince anybody that Stalinist Marxism is the best form of Marxism or that any form of Marxism is any good, the Marxists will have to change their tactics. Rather than insult reason, they will have to astound it. In my opinion they have acted like fools so far, and are acting like fools now.

But in fairness I add they seem to be sincere fools.

Charles R. Scales

Tookin' In

Massa Smif'

By Tookie Hodgson

Over the span of years, it has been this scribe's pleasure and privilege, as well as bounden duty, to poke genteel jests in the direction of Mr. E. Carrington Smith, the Entertainment Emperor of Chapel Hill.

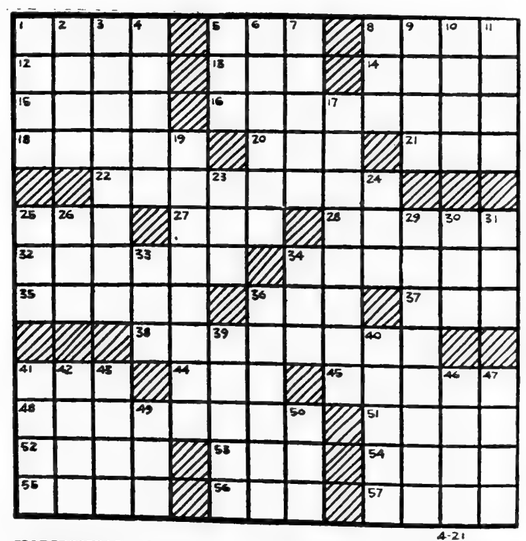
As all of you probably know, Ole Massa Smif' is the proprietor of the Carolina and Village Theaters—two pleasure palaces which serve simultaneously as motion picture auditoriums, beer gardens, joke exchanges, and battlefields for popcorn-hurlers.

These emporiums, which in large measure relieve the stress and strain of our everyday, country-club existences, are too well-attended to require any description. Mr. Smith, however, is another story. He is a dedicated man, full of vim and vigor.

The object of Mr. Smith's intense activity is somewhat vague.. It probably lies between acquiring the latest of Hollywood extravaganzas for home consumption and evicting some furtive cigarette fiend from the confines of one or the other of his palladiums. Whatever the case, this department is in sympathy with his aims and ambitions. Frankly, he does a darn good job of getting here fustest with the mostest of the new films. A glance at the dismal programs of the Durham fleatraps will testify to this.

Moreover, Mr. Smith's feelings are lenient, and even kindly, in regards to the little idiosyncracies displayed by the troops who charge down upon his establishments each afternoon.

Such Carolina theatrical traditions as never whispering when you can shout, popping paper-bags, belching fumes of Blatz, sticking one's feet in another's neck, and rendering learned—and audible—discourses on the anatomies of young ladies flashed upon the screen, seem to disturb him not one whit. Even adverse commentary directed against "The Sign of the Cross," a film which Mr. Smith has consecrated within his heart, and one which he has shown in Chapel Hill perhaps 40 or 50 times during the past few years, does not ruffle his placid, pipe-smoking extesior.



Of course, this paragon of impressarios is only human, and one must admit that he regards alarm clocks hidden in paper bags and set to ring at some crucial moment in the picture with an extremely jaundiced eye. Nor does he care for cowbells, fire-crackers, roman candles, or fist-fights within the confines of his salons. Drunks, he doesn't seem to mind very much provided they pass out as soon as they sit down.

As a matter of fact, drunks are profitable to the motion picture industry. Suppose 300 (a conservative estimate) troops imbibe too freely early one Saturday Night. At 11:15 they are stupified pure and simple, as they slap down their $.38 and enter the theatre, intent upon viewing the late show.

Then, when the barrel-organ stops, and the film is cast upon the screen, they find that they are unable to see the picture clearly. Because of the general hub-bub athwart the aisle, they cannot hear anything. Ergo, they leave and return to the theater on Sunday Afternoon to see what they missed the night before. But no use—they are so tired from their exertions of last night that they fall into a deep and dismal coma. Another $.38 down the drain. Comes Monday, and another free afternoon. Our lush finally sees his picture, discovering it to be lousy, and that he has shelled out some $1.14 to assure himself of this fact.

Frankly it's a mystery to me why Mr. Smith doesn't throw out all those jelly-beans and chocolate bars out of the lobby, and put in a good cocktail bar. I would, but then I don't like chocolate bars.

In summation, I should like to say that the only thing I hold against Mr. E. Carrington Smith is the fact that he has never given me any free tickets so that I could see his shows and pan them in the Daily Tar Heel the next morning. This seems unreasonable to me.

4-21

HORIZONTAL
1. legal wrong
5. sheep call
8. flimsy
12. inner coat of the iris
13. doctrine
14. capital of Italy
15. jewels
16. Russian rulers
18. serpent
20. Shoshonean Indian
21. printer's measures
22. a Moslem
25. woodland spirit
27. twilight
28. pay back
32. mulct
34. royal residence
35. West Point pupil
36. pouch
37. decimal unit
38. easiest
41. nocturnal flying mammal
44. rowing implement
45. restricted menus
48. evergreen shrub
51. Assam silkworm
52. price
53. blithe
54. opening
55. pile
56. Netherlands city
57. rim

VERTICAL
1. struggles
2. baking chamber
3. stayed
4. set duties
5. harness part
6. postulate
7. Italian-make violin
8. prefix: thrice
9. sharpen
10. Mohammedan cleric
11. promontory
17. traced back
19. choice in general
23. salutation
24. lamprey
25. Indian moccasin
26. wine vessel
29. muttered, as prayers
30. high card
31. intense yearning (colloq.)
33. thing, in law
34. close comrade
36. circulate
39. feminine name
40. sifting utensil
41. twain
42. plant of lily family
43. web-like membrane
46. a high-pitched sound
47. glut
49. lofty mountain
50. cereal grass

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

A	L	G	A		M	A	T	S		R	O	T
R	E	A	P		E	R	I	E		E	P	I
C	O	M	P	O	R	T	E	D		T	E	N
		L	I	E	S		G	H	E	N	T
S	T	E	E	L			S	E	E	N
P	I	N		S	T	E	P		A	T	E	N
A	N	T	E		A	L	A		D	I	R	E
S	E	E	M		S	I	N	E		V	I	E
		R	I	C	K			T	R	E	A	D
P	A	T	T	I		A	G	U	E
A	V	A		R	E	M	A	I	N	D	E	R
L	E	I		C	L	A	M		D	A	L	E
E	R	N		E	L	S	E		S	L	A	T

4-21

Average time of solution: 22 minutes.

Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Baseballers Lose, 6-5; Ward Advances; Netmen Win

Five Run Splurge In Seventh Inning Gives Deacs Win

By Joe Cherry

WAKE FOREST, April 20—Wake Forest's mighty Demon Deacons, already considered Big Four champions by many, were pushed around for six innings here today by a fighting bunch of Tar Heels who forgot to read the Deac's press clippings, before the home team finally cashed in on the wildness of two Carolina pitchers for a close 6-5 win over the visitors from Chapel Hill.

Carolina will have another crack at the Deacons at Emerson Stadium Friday afternoon. The Tar Heels play host to Davidson's Wildcats this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Emerson.

The Tar Heel nine played the Baptist Hollow baseballers off their feet in all but one of the nine innings, and it looked as if the 12-game win streak of the Deacons was about to be ended abruptly.

However, in the seventh frame Dean Cassell, who had pitched six air-tight three-hit ball, suddenly lost his control, and before relief hurler Tommy Andrew could put out the fire, Wake Forest had scored five runs for a 6-5 lead and the ball game.

Vander Clute Starts

The Deacons started their ace tosser Dick Vander Clute on the mound, but at times the visitors hit him like they owned him, and he retired in favor of a pinch hitter in the seventh. Vernon Mustain toed the hill for the remainder of the tilt for the winners.

Carolina outhit the Deacons, 9 to 5, but nine bases on balls by Cassell and a hit batsman and walk by Andrew spelled defeat for the Tar Heels.

The Deacs were the first to tally, scoring one marker in the third inning when Art Hoch drove a double into left-center to score Russ Batchelor, who had singled.

The Tar Heels retaliated to tie the count in the top of the fifth when Allen singled with two out, reached second on an overthrow at first, and came home on Rip Ryan's hit.

Cassell Doubles

Dean Cassell proved that a pitcher can do something besides throw the horsehide when he came to bat in the sixth stanza with Sid Varney and Sleepy Senter on the sacks. The right handed hurler hit a blooper into right field that went for a double and chased both runners home.

Two more markers in the first of the seventh finished the visitor's scoring, and gave Carolina an edge that seemed big enough for victory. With two on and two out, Vander Clute intentionally walked Varney to fill the bases, and Senter followed with a blow into left field, turning in Ryan and Will Hobbs with the Tar Heels' fourth and fifth runs.

Roof Caves In

In the bottom of the seventh the roof fell in on Cassell. Warren led off for Wake Forest with a slow grounder past first that went for a hit, and Cassell issued free passes to Batchelor and Vander Clute to load the bases. With the bases full, Hoch gained a walk, forcing in Warren.

Tommy Andrew took over on the mound for Carolina at this point, but was not able to stem the Deacons until he had walked one and hit Teague, forcing in two more runs. Joe Fulghum followed by poking one of Andrew's pitches into left field, turning in the tying and winning runs and closing out the scoring for the day.

One Small Run!

North Carolina	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Allen, cf	5	1	1	4	0	0
Goodman, 2b	5	0	1	6	1	0
Ryan, ss	4	1	2	3	1	0
Hobbs, 1b	4	1	1	6	0	0
Lamb, rf	4	0	0	1	0	0
Varney, c	4	1	2	1	3	0
Senter, 3b	4	1	1	3	3	0
Ward, lf	3	0	0	0	0	0
a—Ballou	1	0	0	0	0	0
Cassell, p	3	0	1	0	3	0
Andrew, p	0	0	0	0	1	0
McGinn, p	0	0	0	0	1	0
TOTALS	37	5	9	24	12	0

a—struck out for Andrew in eighth.

Wake Forest	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Hoch, ss	2	1	1	0	4	0
Hooks, 3b	2	1	0	2	4	0
Teague, 2b	1	0	0	4	1	0
Fulghum, lf	4	0	1	2	0	0
Livick, rf	2	0	0	1	0	0
Kersh, cf	4	0	0	1	0	0
Warren, 1b	3	1	1	11	1	2
Batchelor, c	3	2	2	6	0	0
Vander Clute, p	1	0	0	0	5	0
Mustain, p	1	0	0	0	0	0
a—Rogers	0	0	0	0	0	0
TOTALS	23	6	5	27	15	2

a—Walked for Vander Clute in seventh.

Score by innings:
CAROLINA 000 012 200—5
WAKE FOREST 001 000 50x—6

Runs batted in: Ryan, Cassell 2, Senter 2, Hoch 2, Fulghum 2, Teague, Hooks. Left on bases: Carolina 10, Wake Forest 6. Stolen Bases: Hooks. Two-base hits: Cassell, Hoch. Hits off: Cassell, 4 in 6 inn., Andrew, 1 in 1 inning, Vander Clute, 9 in 7 innings. Struck out by: Cassell 1, Vander Clute 4, Mustain 2. Bases on Balls: Cassell 9, Andrew 1, McGinn 1, Vander Clute 2, Mustain 1. Hit by pitcher: Andrew (Teague), Vander Clute (Lamb). Umpires: Stallings, Veasy. Time: 2 hours.

Frosh Baseballers Down Baby Deacs In 8-6 Contest

After waging a losing battle on two occasions last week with the weather man, the Carolina freshman baseball team finally opened its long delayed season yesterday with a rousing 8-6 victory over the yearlings of Wake Forest in a free-hitting contest at Emerson Stadium.

Originally slated to open last week with the Baby Deacs, the Tar Babies bowed to rainy days and wet grounds before yesterday's beautiful weather. Taking advantage of the break, the lads of Coaches Henry House and Jim Hamilton opened their 16 game season with a bang.

In winning, the Tar Baby mentors unveiled their ace pitcher, Monroe Johnson and the fancy hurler gave a good account of himself in going the route by scattering 11 hits and chipping in with three hits for the Carolina victory. The real hitting star was catcher Charles Overman who enjoyed a perfect day at bat, four for four—one a double, and knocked across three runs.

The Tar Babies well received the offerings of starting Deac hurler Jim Young and got to him for all of their runs and eight of their hits in the early stages of the fray before reliefer Bob Wheeler came in to check the rampant Tar Babies in the last three frames.

We Won This!

Wake Forest	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Signore, 2b	1	1	0	5	1	2
Hardison, 2b	3	0	0	2	0	0
Werner, ss	3	2	3	3	4	0
Beal, 1b	5	1	2	7	0	1
Smith, 3b	1	1	1	1	1	0
Solek, lf	1	1	2	2	0	0
Davis, c	2	0	1	5	0	0
Zirkas, c	2	0	1	1	6	0
Barham, cf	4	0	2	1	0	0
Sacia, rf	3	0	0	3	0	0
Young, p	2	0	0	0	5	1
Wheeler, p	0	0	0	0	0	0
a Sheets	1	0	0	0	0	0
TOTALS	41	6	11	24	17	4

a—Flied out for Young in the 9th.

Carolina	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Herring, 2b	4	1	1	5	1	0
Whiteheart, 3b	5	1	1	2	2	0
Stewart, cf	4	0	1	1	0	1
Smith, D., 1b	3	0	0	9	1	0
Lambert, c	3	1	0	1	0	0
Smith, G.	3	1	0	9	1	0
Reeves, lf	4	1	1	1	0	0
Overman, c	1	1	3	5	2	1
Johnson, p	1	1	3	3	2	0
TOTALS	34	8	10	27	11	2

Score by innings:
WAKE FORES 022 010 120
CAROLINA 122 120 60X

Runs batted in—Whiteheart 3, Overman 2, Lambert, Solek 3, Beal 2, Barham. Doubles—Werner, Smith, Triples—Reeves. Home Runs—Solek, Signore. Bases on balls—off Johnson 4, Young 4. Left on bases—Wake Forest 2. Double plays—Whiteheart to Herring. Hits—off Young 8 in 6 innings; off Wheeler, 2 in 3 innings. Strikeouts—Johnson 4, Young 4, Loss on balls—Johnson 4, Young 4. Loser—Pitcher—by Young (Herring, G. Smith). Passed balls—Overman, Left on bases—Carolina 10, Wake Forest 8. Winning pitcher—Johnson 1. Losing pitcher—Young. Time: 2:16.

COMPLETE EYE GLASS SERVICE
Durham Optical Co
215 W. MAIN ST.
TEL. F 2141
OPTICIANS

Linksman Rallies For Morning Win; Takes Noon Test

PINEHURST, April 20—(UP)—Defending champion Harvie Ward, Jr., his usually deadly putting not as sharp as it should be, shot his way into the quarter-finals of the 49th Annual North and South Amateur Golf Championship today by disposing of two more opponents.

Ward came from behind to beat New England Amateur Champion Robert J. Walsh of Bridgeport, Conn., in the second round this morning, and dumped Harold D. Paddock of Chagrin Falls, O., 4 and 2 this afternoon. He three-putted four greens, but lost only the ninth hole against Paddock.

In the morning match, Ward was three holes behind at the turn but refused to give up. He won the 11th and 13th with par fours to trail Walsh by one hole.

Ward was still one down going into the payoff 18th, but Walsh drove into the woods, then shot across the green behind a mound and took a five. Ward sank his ball in four to square the match. Both men toured the 6,952-yard course in par 72.

On the 19th, Walsh overshot the green. He used his putter to shoot from under a Dogwood tree, and his shot hit Ward's ball on the green, knocking it from about 12 feet from the cup to within five feet. That gave Ward the hole and the match.

Frank Stranahan, the muscular millionaire from Toledo, O., who lost to Ward in the finals last year, overwhelmed H. W. Whiteside of Roanoke, Va., 7 and 6 for the day's most lopsided score, then whipped C. W. Mulcahy of New York, 4 and 2.

Arnold Palmer, Collegian from Latrobe, Pa., knocked over R. C. McManus of Raleigh, 6 and 4, but had a fight on his hands before he disposed of Ray Harris of Wake Forest, 3 and 2.

Another college boy, 19-year-old Frank Edens, Lumberton, eliminated Thomas Stephenson, Kansas City, Mo., 4 and 3, and then provided the upset of the day by dumping Jimmie McHale of Philadelphia on the 20th hole.

In today's quarter-finals pairings Ward mets W. W. Markham of East Hampton, Conn, H. H. Haverstick opposes Dick Chapman, Frank Edens plays Palmer and Julius Boros faces Stranahan.

Coed Softball Begins Today at Kenan

Kenan Stadium, long renowned as a football gridiron, will become a softball field this afternoon with the opening of Coed softball season.

The girls will play every Monday and Thursday afternoon on diamonds marked out on the green grass of Kenan. A schedule of all games is posted on the bulletin board in Women's Gym so prospective Babe Ruth's may learn the time and date that their team is playing.

In the opening game this afternoon Pi Phi 1 will play Town at 4 o'clock on Field 1. At the same time the Alpha Gams will take on Pi Phi 2 on Field 2.

Today's Sports

Baseball

Varsity baseball—Carolina vs Davidson at Emerson Stadium at 4 o'clock. Passbooks required for admittance.

Practice Sessions

Daily practice sessions continue in football, soccer, lacrosse, tennis, track and golf.

Intramurals

See mural schedule.

Intramurals

Campus track finals beginning at 4 o'clock on Fetzer Field.

Weightlifting

Varsity Weightlifting—Carolina vs. Davidson beginning at 7:30 at Davidson.

Yearling Netters Lose to Duke, 7-2 For Second Loss

Coach Jack Kenfield's freshman netters suffered their second consecutive loss yesterday in dropping a match to the Blue Imps of Duke by a score of 7-2.

The match was much closer than the score indicates. All of the players were evenly paired, with Duke having a slight advantage in the doubles matches. Bretney Smith and Cecil Milton were the only winners of the day for the Tar Babies, all of the doubles matches were won by Duke.

The Tar Babies now boast a record of two won and two lost. They have beaten Danville and Goldsboro, having also lost to Davidson. The schedule now calls for a return contest with the Duke frosh next week.

Singles: Lipton (D) defeated Hammerstein 6-4, 6-3. Lott (D) defeated Duvall 3-6, 7-5, 6-0. Smith (C) defeated Laughlin 6-2, 6-3. Simpson (D) defeated Harautunian 6-4, 6-3. Milton (C) defeated Hugus 4-6, 6-2, 6-3. Morton (D) defeated Litton 7-5, 6-1.

Doubles: Lipton and Simpson (D) defeated Hammerstein and Smith 12-10, 6-4. Lott and Laughlin (D) defeated Milton and Duval 5-7, 6-3, 6-0. Hugus and Morton (D) defeated Litton and Redding 6-0, 6-4.

Rice, Gruner Win Duke 12th Victim Of Local Netters;

Duke University's tennis team became the 12th victim of the powerful University of North Carolina aggregation here yesterday as the Tar Heels posted a 7-2 win, their second Big Four triumph.

Vic Seixas played his usual fine game in defeating Duke's number one man Lew McMasters, in straight 6-1 sets. Clark Taylor, playing the number two slot for Carolina, allowed John Ross only two games in his 6-0, 6-2 win.

Tar Heel Stan Gruner was forced to go three sets before winning out over Buddy Hicks, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2. By the time the fourth match between Carolina's Charlie Rice and Duke's Bob Taylor was over, the Tar Heels were in command with a 4-0 lead by virtue of Rice's 6-3, 6-3 win.

Duke Wilder was the first Carolinian to fall at the hands of Duke's number five man, Jim Wesley. Wilder dropped the first set, 6-4, and was blanked in the second.

Jim Winstead finished the singles matches with an impressive 6-1, 6-2 win over Blue Devil Bob Chapman.

The pairing of Carolina's aces Taylor and Seixas produced the first doubles win for the Tar Heels. The two combined to eliminate the team of Ross and Taylor to the tune of a 6-0, 6-2 thumping.

Stan Gruner and Jim Winstead dropped the second doubles match in three sets, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2, but the team of Rice and Wilder added the final Carolina point with a three set, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2 win over Wesley and Chapman.

The summary:

Singles: Seixas (C) defeated McMasters, 6-1, 6-1; Taylor (C) defeated Ross, 6-0, 6-2; Gruner (C) defeated Hicks, 3-6 6-4, 6-2; Rice (C) defeated Taylor, 6-3, 6-3; Wesley (D) defeated Wilder, 6-4, 6-0; Winstead (C) defeated Chapman, 6-1, 6-2.

Doubles: Seixas-Taylor (C) defeated Ross-Ratlor, 6-0, 6-2; McMasters-Hicks (D) defeated Gruner-Winstead, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2; Rice-Wilder (C) defeated Wesley-Chapman, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Weightlifters Meet Wildcats Tonight

The newly organized University weight lifting team will journey to Davidson College tonight to meet the Wildcat muscleman at 7:30 in the first match of the schedule.

The five man team will be the first weight lifting squad ever to represent the University of North Carolina in dual meet competition.

The team, which boasts of two Carolina AAU's champions, will be composed of Champion Charlie Ufen, Darrell Byerly, David Littlejohn, Ronnie Sullivan, and Keg Wheeler.

Major League Baseball

National League		American League
Brooklyn 6	New York 4	New York 3	Washington 0
Boston 6	Philadelphia 5	Philadelphia 3	Bost. 2,(10 in.)
Chicago 4	Pittsburgh 0	Detroit 5	Chicago 2
		Cleveland 7	St. Louis 3

Mural Track Meet Set For Today; Fetzer Field Is Scene Of Action

Intramural Track enters its last stage this afternoon with the finals in all events being held on Fetzer Field. Rain has somewhat hindered the schedule, but clear weather is promised for today. Field events will get under way promptly at 3:30 with the running slated to begin at 4 o'clock.

Exciting finishes are expected in all events with many of last year's winners returning. The Fraternity Champion last year was Sigma Chi, with Emerson capturing the Dormitory crown.

The sprinters will see action first as the track events will be opened with the running of the 60 yard dash. The 120 yard low hurdles and the ¾ mile endurance test will follow. The dash men will then return to the scene again in the 100 yard dash. Next come the 300 yard run, the 440 yard relay and the 70 yard high hurdles, the last event being the 880 yard relay.

Field events will begin with the Pole Vault, High Jump and the Shot Put. Following will be the Discus Throw and finally the Broad Jump.

The semi-final in all events except the ¾ mile run were held yesterday afternoon. There was no need for trials in the latter event as there were few contestants. This lacking might be explained, however, by the fact that 1320 yards can be a mighty long way, especially with no adequate time for conditioning.

All other Mural activities scheduled for yesterday and today were halted in order that participants in other sports might enter the track meet.

The meet will be refereed by varsity track Coach Dale Ranson. The timer will be Freshman Coach Dick Hollander with Joe Hilton as starter. Stan Marczyk as scorer, Frank Murray as clerk of course and Ike Carr as the anouncer. Laddie Terrell will be the head finish judge.

Mural Roundup

TRACK EVENTS

4:00—60 yard dash, 4:15—120 yard low hurdles, 4:30—¾ mile run, 4:45—100 yard dash, 5:00—300 yard run, 5:10 440 yard relay, 5:20—70 yard high hurdles, 5:30—880 yard relay.

FIELD EVENTS

3:30—pole vault high jump shot put, 4:00—discus throw, 4:30—broad jump.

INTRAMURAL TENNIS

Today is the last day for entries in the Spring Intramural tennis tournament. Entries are made only on a team basis with a team consisting of 3 singles matches and 2 doubles matches. Five, six, or seven men may constitute a team, using these men in any desirable combination.

Entries must be made in the Intramural Office before 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Any group of students or any organization may enter as many teams as they wish.

DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL BLVD.
THURSDAY ONLY
"MY BROTHER TALKS TO HORSES"
Butch Jenkins
Peter Lawford
75c PER CAR

BETSY ROSS
LOUISE HORNER
GENE FRANCES CARAHER
BETTY SMITH
PATTY ANN FRIZELL
GENE HINES
PEGGE MISENHEIMER
PEGGY MARTIN
BOBBIE BESS
LORAINE HOWARD

See Us For Any Metal Work To Be Done
EXPERT SERVICE
Crabtree Metal Shop
CARRBORO

YOU ASKED FOR IT — HERE IT IS:
10¢ BEER
8 oz. Stein
Ballantines
Premium Draft
During Cocktail Hour 4-6 P.M. ONLY
½ KEGS. $19.00—(3 or more) $20.00—(1 at a time)
RAMSHEAD RATHSKELLER

What really happened behind the closed door?
... was it worth risking murder for?
Vicki Baum knows women! And in this exciting story ... based on her famous best-selling novel, "Mortgage On Life" — she fearlessly explores the souls of two!
MAUREEN O'HARA
MELVYN DOUGLAS
GLORIA GRAHAME
BILL WILLIAMS.
A Woman's Secret
with VICTOR JORY • MARY PHILIPS • JAY C. FLIPPEN
—ALSO—
MUSICAL — LATEST NEWS
TODAY AND FRIDAY
CAROLINA

PLANNING A WEEKEND at the BEACH THIS SPRING?
Wrightsville Beach has become a popular weekend spot for COLLEGE STUDENTS
We offer ideal accomodations for HOUSE PARTIES or any size group with our 16 Apartments and large 12 bedroom house. We can offer housekeeping facilities or hotel accomodations.
CALL, WIRE or WRITE
ALLEN BARBEE
Spring Hope, N. C. or Wrightsville Beach
on weekends

THE PINES
Are Introducing
Curb Service
And
Featuring Your Favorite Sandwiches
Hamburgers and
Draft Beer
THE PINES 2 Miles Out On Raleigh Road
Eddie Monroe, Prop.

FOR HURRIED TRIPS I RIDE Express Buses
LEAVING THE CHAPEL HILL TERMINAL
At 3:20 P.M. and 12:20 A.M. for BURLINGTON, GREENSBORO, HIGH POINT, SALISBURY, STATESVILLE, HICKORY, MORGANTON, MARION, and ASHEVILLE. Connections at Asheville for CHATTANOOGA, KNOXVILLE, NASHVILLE, and MEMPHIS.
Also—9 additional trips WEST
EXPRESS for RALEIGH, ROCKY MOUNT, SUFFOLK and NORFOLK leaves daily at 1:30 P.M.
Also—9 other trips EAST.
Chapel Hill Bus Station
PHONE 4281
TRAILWAYS

Have you cast your ballot for your "Miss Fashion Plate of 1949"?

Time is running out! Have you cast your vote for your very own "Miss Fashion Plate of 1949"?

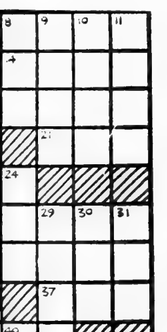
If not, you'd better clip your ballot now! This Revlon contest closes midnight, May 6th.

Here's a review of the prizes! First! The candidate you pick will have a chance at the Grand Prize (one week expense-free trip to New York plus a Revlon make-up course) ...or one of the 9 runner-up prizes ... an opportunity to represent Revlon on campus next fall, plus a year's supply of cosmetics.

Choose your candidate on 4 counts only ... grooming, dress, poise, and personality.

Clip your ballot today! Drop in ballot box in this newspaper office or other locations on campus. There's a panel of beauty authorities all ready and waiting to see if your candidate will be the national Grand Prize winner

I nominate ..... for "MISS FASHION PLATE of 1949," a contest sponsored by the Revlon Products Corporation.



NAME .....

All ballots become the property of the Revlon Products Corporation

GRAND PRIZE

One week's expense-free trip to New York, plus a training course by REVLON, plus a chance to become a glamorous model!

for all
REVLON PRODUCTS
in Chapel Hill
See
SUTTON'S Drug Store
"A Complete Drug Store"
Walgreen Agency

11. promontory
17. traced back
19. choice in general
23. salutation
24. lamprey
25. Indian moccasin
26. wine vessel
29. muttered, as prayers
30. high card
31. intense yearning (colloq.)
33. thing, in law
34. close comrade
36. circulate
39. feminine name
40. sifting utensil
41. twain
42. plant of lily family
43. web-like membrane
46. a high-pitched sound
47. glut
49. lofty mountain
50. cereal grass

Local Delegates To BSU Retreat Leave Friday

Newly elected officers of the Chapel Hill Baptist Student Union will leave their new student house tomorrow afternoon at 5 to attend the North Carolina BSU Spring Retreat for council members held, this year in Durham.

The officers will be among those from colleges and universities all over North Carolina to attend the conference, which will begin with a supper meeting at the Watts St. Baptist Church in Durham. A social get-together will follow the supper meeting.

The officers will attend commissions for presidents, vice-presidents, secretaries, and treasurers, respectively, which will be held during the day Saturday. Other activities of the retreat will be the election of state officers, and reports given by representatives of the year's activities at their college. The conference will conclude late Saturday.

Newly elected B. S. U. officers are: Edlyn Freerks, president; Phyllis Ann Gentry, vice-president; Mickey Grady, secretary; Asa Jackson, treasurer; Leland Ellis, Sunday School superintendent; Don Shropshire, forum chairman; and Milton Bliss, music director.

CICA Models Get Clothes For Show

Half of the models chosen for the Carolina Independent Coeds Association annual Spring fashion show were outfitted by Robbins Apparel store in Durham yesterday.

The second half of the models will go to Durham this afternoon to be fitted in the clothes they will present in the fashion show.

The show is scheduled for the evening of April 26, from 9 to 11 o'clock in the Carolina theatre. The clothes which the fashion models will preview will be from Robbins in Durham.

The models will show clothes used at swimming pools, house parties, dances, teas, summer school classrooms, Y court dances, weddings and graduation exercises.

All the models were chosen from members of the five sororities, CICA, the Town Girls Association. Male models will all be from the Monogram club.

Girls selected to represent their organizations in the fashion show are Mary Ann Harper, Betty Long, and Marty Hinkle, CICA; Barbara Dalton and Betsy Ross, Chi Omega; Sarah Jane Farlowe and Peggy Martin, Alpha Delta Pi; Barbara Crawford and Pat Chandler, Alpha Gamma Delta; Babs DeWitt and Patty Ann Frizzell, Tri Delta; Jackie Lewis and Jean Sloan, Pi Beta Phi; and Becky Huggins, Madge Crawford, TGA.

Music for the show will be furnished by the Town Talk Trio and Pete Strader will serve as master of ceremonies and write the script for the show.

The chairmen of the planning committee are Marjorie Bradley, in charge of models; Catherine Hovis, music; Marty Tingle, posters; Carolyn Gutherie and Jacile Tadgett, script; and Joyce Harris, tickets.

Phi Gam Pig Party To Be On Saturday

The Phi Gams will have their annual Norris Pig Dinner Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the Monogram Club dining room. The guest of honor will be Dr. James L. Bullitt, retired University professor of pathology, who was the local chapter's faculty advisor for many years, and Cecil J. Wilkinson, the national executive secretary of the fraternity.

The Norris Pig Dinner derived its name from an episode in which the famous American realistic author, Frank Norris, a Phi Gam of the University of California, absconded with a large pig belonging to the local chapter of Beta Theta Pi. The pig furnished the piece de resistance for a Fiji banquet, a function which has since become an annual tradition of every chapter of the fraternity.

The new Phi Gam officers who were elected last week are Ted Young, Florence, S. C., president; Steve Jones, Clinton, S. C., treasurer, Jack Whichard, Greenville, recording secretary; Al Koenig, Brooklyn, N. Y., corresponding secretary; and Lew Whitsett, Charlotte, historian.

A large number of active Fijis and Epsilon Chapter members are expected to be on hand for the Norris Pig Dinner.

Fred Talton Is New Head Of Delta Sigs

Fred Talton was elected Head Master, a position corresponding to Delta Sigma Pi, professional Commerce fraternity of the University, Tuesday night.

Other newly elected officers for next year are: Senior Warden, Asa B. Hollowell, Alexander; Junior Warden, John Russell, Kinston; Scribe, William H. Austin, Smithfield; Treasurer, Carter L. Rhinehart, Canton; Historian, Joseph C. Tatherow, Winston Salem; Chancellor, Robert P. Callahan, Ashville; Master of Festivities, Hugh Fortesque, Washington, D. C.; and Master of Ceremonies, Bobby Joe Herring, Winston Salem, N. C.

Weekend Frolics Open Tomorrow At 2 in Memorial

The annual weekend of May Frolics, sponsored by seven campus fraternities, will get under way Friday afternoon when Skitch Henderson and his orchestra present a concert in Memorial Hall from 2 until 4 o'clock.

The weekend will continue Friday night in Woollen gymnasium at 9 o'clock with the first of two formal dances. Dancing, featuring the music of Skitch Henderson, will continue until 1 o'clock.

The second dance will be held Saturday night from 8 until 12 o'clock.

Fraternities sponsoring the dance are: Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Nu, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Zeta Psi, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

1:30—TOWN GIRL'S Association. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

2:00—GRAIL COMMITTEE. Grail room, GM.

4:00—UNIVERSITY CLUB. Roland Parker 2, GM.

4:30—TOWN MEN'S Association. Roland Parker 1, GM.

6:30—ALUMNI DINNER. Carolina Inn.

7:30—LAW WIVES Club. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

7:30—BRIDGE TOURNAMENT. Main lounge, GM.

8:00—AMERICAN FRIENDS Service Committee.

8:00—LECTURE. Dr. Wendell C. Bennett.

8:30—WOMAN'S GLEE Club Concert. Hill Hall.

10:00—Alpha Phi Omega. Roland Parker 1, GM.

College Forum Representative Is Fran Angas

Fran Angas of the University class of '49 will represent the University at Mademoiselle magazine's sixth annual college forum which will be held April 30 in the Hotel Commodore in New York City.

The subject of the Mademoiselle forum will be Freedom and Security. Miss Angas will be one of 55 outstanding coeds from leading American colleges who will be brought to New York for the all-day conference with educators, newspapermen and other authorities.

Christian Gauss, dean emeritus of Princeton University will open the morning session with a discussion on the question "Is there a basic conflict between freedom and security?" And Robert Cushman, professor of government at Cornell University, will review the present status in America of individual rights.

Afternoon talks will include the opinions of Dexter Keezer, director of the department of economics at McGraw-Hill publishers, James Warburg, banker and economist, William L. Shirer, radio commentator and author, and Walter Gellhorn, professor of law and political science at Columbia University.

Gladys Chang, student body president of Sarah Lawrence college, will talk on freedom and responsibility in student government and June Louin of the University of Southern California will report on what the undergraduate can do about civil liberties.

Helen Jean Rogers, secretary of the National Student Association will discuss the NSA and academic freedom.

Chairmen of the forum will be Joseph Barnes, former foreign editor of the New York Herald Tribune, and former editor of the New York Star.

Lambda Chi's Hold Party, Initiation

The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity continued the sorority-fraternity entertainment this week with a party at their house Tuesday night for members of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority. The entertainment consisted of square dancing, round dancing, and a skit given by the Lambda Chi pledges.

The Lambda Chi's held formal initiation ceremonies last week for 21 men, who become active members of the fraternity. Those men initiated were Joe F. Bowen, Bill A. Bowen, Spencer L. Blaylock, Clay D. Brittain, Roy H. Clark, Jr., James K. Daugherty, Charles W. Dwiggins, Charles W. Fowler, John H. George, Hugh B. Johnson, Bill J. Link, Guy W. McFarland, Robert M. Mebane, Robert S. Messner, Albert F. Moore, Steve I. Moore, Jr., Daniel B. Morrison, Robert O. Pickard, Robert D. Reed, Andrew P. Shveda, and John Wesley Stewart, Jr.

Bill Maultsby, junior from Newton Grove, was recently elected president of the new Lambda Chi Alpha pledge class. Other newly elected officers are: Robert McDaniel, Fayetteville, president; and Robert Woodall.

West 'Bulwark'

LONDON, April 20.—(UP)—Winston Churchill declared today that the West has become a "bulwark against totalitarian aggression in any form" and can defend itself against all enemies.

Larger Loans on Anything of Value
DURHAM'S NEWEST AND BEST PAWN SHOP
MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Located 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
"Crisp"
Best French Frys In Town
15c
OPEN:
Mon.-Thurs. 11 A.M.—12 P.M.
Fri. & Sat. 11 A.M.—2 A.M.

AUTO PARTS
New . Used . Rebuilt
Open Saturday Afternoon And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

ALL KINDS 24 HOUR SERVICE
Radio Repairs
Ogburn Furn. Co.

PLAN A PARTY WITH US
AT THE
MERCURY CLUB
We are giving special rates on Spring Parties. Plenty of Dancing room and Parking space. No cover or minimum
OPEN 7 P.M. — 'TIL
Mercury Club
Your only Night Spot operated by Students for Students
3 Miles out on Greensboro Highway

A&P
90 YEARS OF SERVICE
showers of savings
at your friendly A&P
Super-Right Meats

Loin or Rib End Pork Roast	lb.	.53
Center Cut Pork Chops	lb.	.67
Short Ribs of Beef	lb.	.29
Lean Boneless Beef Stew	lb.	.55
Fresh Ground Beef	lb.	.49
Bacon Squares	lb.	.33
Chuck Roast Bone in	lb.	.49
Chuck Roast Boneless	lb.	.59

SEAFOODS

Large Green Headless Shrimp	lb.	.65
Fillet Perch	lb.	.33
Fillet Haddock	lb.	.39
Fillet Flounder	lb.	.49
Fillet Pollock	lb.	.23
Fillet Cod	lb.	.33

FRESH FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Lemons Sunkist	1 doz.	39c
Fresh Cucumbers	2 lbs	39c
Yellow, Summer Squash	2 lbs	29c
Apples Winesap	3 lbs	39c
Fancy Carton Tomatoes	2 for	39c
Green Top Carrots	2 for	17c
Golden Bantam Corn	4 ears	39c
New, White Potatoes	10 lbs	53c
Green Tender Beans	2 for	29c

Oustanding Values Everyday

Niblets Brand Corn	2	12-Oz. Cans	35c
Iona Peas	3	No. 2 Cans	29c
Mild American Cheese		Lb.	41c
A & P Own Vegetable Shortening dexo		3-Lb. Can	83c
Sunnyfield Self-Rising Flour		10-Lb. Bag	77c
Whitehouse Evaporated Milk	3	Tall Cans	35c
Perfect Strike Chum Salmon		No. 1 Can	45c
Campbell's Tomato Soup	2	10½-Oz. Cans	21c
Del Maiz Cream Style Corn		No. 303 Can	19c
Dried Pea Beans		2-Lb. Pkg.	29c
Ocean Spray Cranberry Sauce		16-Oz. Can	19c
Iona Sliced or Halves Peaches		No. 2½ Can	27c
Golden Maid Uncolored Margarine	2	1-Lb. Pkgs.	43c
Nabisco Premium Saltines		1-Lb. Pkg.	25c

Marvel Bread Sandwich - - 1½-Lb. Loaf 18c
Marvel Dinner Rolls - - - - Pkg. of Nine 10c
Jane Parker Golden Loaf Cake Each 25c
Jane Parker Sugared Donuts - - - 1-Doz. Pkg. 19c

LA CHOY
Chinese Style Foods

Bean Sprouts	2	No. 2 Cans	27c
Chinese Dinners		13-oz. Can	51c
Chop Suey Mixed Vegetables		No. 2 Can	29c
Chow Mein Noodles		4-oz. Pkg.	17c
Meatless Chop Suey		No. 2 Can	37c

ANN PAGE FOODS
A & P's Finest

Ann Page Salad Dressing		Pt. Jar	29c
Ann Page Strawberry Preserves		1-Lb. Jar	33c
Ann Page Fancy Ketchup		14-Oz. Box	18c
Ann Page Mayonnaise		Pt. Jar	33c
Ann Page Creamy Smooth Peanut Butter		16-Oz. Jar	35c

JERGEN'S LOTION MILD SOAP 4 Bars 31c Including 1 Bar for 1c
SWEETHEART SOAP 2 Bars 17c
IVORY SNOW Lge. Pkg. 29c
DUZ Lge. Pkg. 29c
BLU WHITE FLAKES Pkg. 9c
IVORY FLAKES Lge. Pkg. 29c
OXYDOL Lge. Pkg. 29c
LIFEBUOY SOAP 2 Reg. Bars 17c

A&P COFFEE
Roaster Fresh
TOPS IN FLAVOR AND VALUE
Mild & Mellow 8 O'CLOCK 1-lb. Bag 40c ● 3 Lb. Bag 1.15
Rich & Full Bodied RED CIRCLE 1-lb. Bag 44c ● 3 Lb. Bag 1.27
Vigorous & Winey BOKAR 47c ● 3 Lb. Bag 1.35

A&P Super Markets

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR RENT 6A

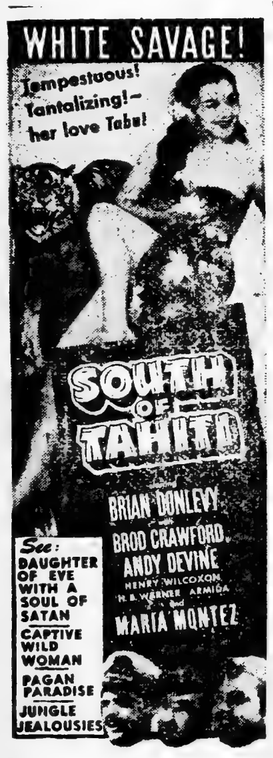
SINGLE ROOM IN QUIET MODERN home on W. a University Drive. Good furnishings. Available immediately. Call F-2306 or 9121. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE 6B

TWO BEDROOM HOUSE FOR SALE or rent. Located at corner of Justice and Branch Streets—near airport. Owner will be at house in Chapel Hill April 22. (4-2400-1)

PHILCO TABLE MODEL RADIO—record player with changer, and long-play attachment. Good condition, reasonable. Contact J. Stygell, F-171 afternoons, evenings. (2-6702-1)

OLD ENGLISH DWARF BOXWOODS, 21" high and up. About ½ retail price. Shrubery of all kinds. Dug one day—planted next. Box 1705, Durham, N. C. (3-c6703-1)



DALMATIAN PUPPIES AT VERY reasonable prices. See them at Nathan Veterinary Hospital, Chapel Hill. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

'41 CLUB COUPE PONTIAC, RADIO, heater. Excellent condition, $725. Contact H. B. Broadfoot, 107 Everett. (4-2399-1)

1936 BUICK IN GOOD CONDITION. Priced to sell. See E. J. Woodhouse, Davie Circle. (4-c6704-1)

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

—ALSO—
CARTOON — MUSICAL
TODAY
VILLAGE

Try the TAP BEER — at HARRY'S

EDITORIALS

Impressive Start
Girls and Politics
SDA, Civil Rights

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Continued cool with rain.

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. FRIDAY, APRIL 22, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 149

WITHOUT FANFARE, THE 15-TON BOTTOM SHELL (arrow) of the nation's first atomic aircraft carrier is lowered onto keel blocks in a 1,000-foot building dock at Newport News, Va. The 65,000 ton ship, to be christened the "United States," will cost $186,000,000. Construction of the carrier had been opposed by the Air Force on the grounds that it was an invasion of its field of long-range stategic bombing.

Back to Class

Students' Strike Ends At New York College

NEW YORK, April 21—(UP)—The five-day-old strike of students at City College of New York was called off and the few pickets still parading around the campus were back in their classes today.

Voted by the student council to protest the alleged race bias of two instructors, the student participation in the strike had fallen off sharply after it was interrupted by the Easter recess. Classes were about 90 per cent full when the strike ended.

On its first day, the protest was marked by a near riot between both male and coed students and a large detail of police assigned to the campus.

College President Harry Wright had expressed sympathy with the ideas of fighting race discrimination but he held firm to the position that Prof. William Knickerbocker had been cleared of anti-semitism and that Instructor William C. Davis had been punished for segregating Negroes and whites in a dormitory. He refused to dismiss either teacher as demanded.

A statement by the Student Council Strike Committee said it was felt the demonstration had been "effective in making the Knickerbocker case and the Davis case subjects of public interest."

"We will continue our fight on the basis of further mobilization of public and student opinion," it sadi. "We will not cease until our school is rid of bigotry."

City College has some 5,000 day and 2,000 night students. Knickerbocker and Davis continued their classes as usual during the strike, the former teaching Spanish and the latter economics.

Archeology Is Subject of Talk By Dr. Bennett

Educator Speaks At Gerrard Meet

The importance and value of interpreting archeological remains in Peru, Columbia, Equador and various other South American countries was stressed by Dr. Wendell C. Bennett of Yale University in an address given here last night in Gerrard Hall at the University of North Carolina.

The address was sponsored as part of the annual Pan-American Week festivities of the campus by the Institute for Latin American Studies and the North Carolina chapter of the Archeological Institute of America. This was Dr. Bennett's first visit to the University in Chapel Hill. He was introduced by Dr. John Gillin, professor in the Department of Sociology and Anthropology at the University.

Dr. Bennett was scheduled to meet informally with several student groups Friday morning, these sessions being arranged by Dr. S. E. Leavitt, Director of the Institute of Latin - American Studies.

Using 70 slides, maps and various illustrations, many of which were in color, the well-known anthropologist gave several examples as to what can be discovered by studying pottery remains in one particular area.

Candidate Ed Lanier Lashes At Incumbent Mayor Madry

Alderman Charges Official With Being 'My Self-Appointed Campaign Manager'

By Margaret Gaston

Edwin S. Lanier, candidate for mayor in the Chapel Hill municipal election May 3, yesterday blasted the incumbent, R. W. Madry, in a statement in which he accused the present mayor of becoming his self-appointed campaign manager.

Declaring that he was dropping this "triple-threat opponent" from his campaign staff, Lanier said he did not see "eye to eye" with candidate Madry. He pointed out that Madry had asserted that there were no issues, but that he would not be running for mayor if that were true.

The race for mayor, just two weeks off, between Madry, and Lanier, a member of the Board of Alderman since 1945, is gaining momentum, as Lanier promises to have more to say in a meeting of the League of Women voters next Tuesday night.

"The League of Women voters have scheduled a forum meeting for candidates to be held in the Town Hall next Tuesday night, April 26. I hope to be present. Candidate Madry has been playing one tune since March 29—namely, 'My opponent seems to see things eye to eye with me and apparently there are no issues.'

"Candidate Madry, therefore, will probably try to sit on the same chair with me at the League's forum meeting," Lanier said. "He and I do not see things eye to eye. If I were in agreement with him on all things, I would not be running. Nor do I agree with him that there are no issues. But about that conclusion of his I will have more to say next Tuesday night."

Continuing his attack, Lanier said, "Beginning Monday afternoon, March 28, soon after 3:30 o'clock, the day and hour I filed with the Town Clerk notice of my candidacy for mayor of Chapel Hill, Mayor Madry, for the first time in four years, abandoned his slow-motion and ears-to-the-ground techniques and went into a frenzy of activity."

Lanier pointed out that "by 5:30 that day, Madry had filed notice of his intention to run for re-election, added himself to my campaign staff, started preparing news releases on a sidewalk program and a proposed new zoning ordinances 'to be adopted in April.'"

Lanier then said "If whistle team of that kind by candidate Madry had been for the past four years, used by Mayor Madry to help the aldermen turn wheels, I think we would be further along with many items of considerable importance to this town."

Coed, Faculty All-Stars To Play Ball Next Week

The Coed All-Stars will meet the Faculty All-Stars in a softball game to be sponsored by the University Club as part of Blue-White Week.

The two opposing lineups will be composed of coeds and faculty members to be selected in a campus election beginning today. Balloting will take place in the Y, and all ballots should be in by 1 o'clock Tuesday.

The star-studded contest will be held in Kenan Stadium on Wednesday at 3 o'clock. There will be no admission charge. The committee in charge of the game is composed of Charlie Foley, chairman, Jane Pruitt, Gene Carpenter, and Paul Stevens.

One entry may be made for each position in the two lineups. The 10 coeds and the nine faculty members receiving the highest number of votes will fill the starting lineups. When casualties occur during the game, runners-up will be substituted.

Students wishing to enter names in the balloting competition should be warned about certain rigid eligibility requirements. Athletic cuties elected must have at least a D physical rating on their Infirmary cards. Faculty curve-ball artists must be between the ages of 18 and 60 to qualify.

Mackie to Set SDA Keynote At Conference

Two-Day Meeting Starts Tomorrow

Bill Mackie, president of the student body, will deliver the keynote address at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Bingham Hall, opening the two-day Civil Rights conference sponsored by the Students for Democratic Action.

The theme of the conference as Mackie will point out, is directed toward the working out of a reasonable Southern approach to Civil Rights which realizes the need for some change and the national trend toward this change. The conference will emphasize the participation of Southern liberals in facing the various racial issues squarely and in the finding of solutions through a rational rather than an emotional approach.

Three student seminars including representatives from many North Carolina colleges will meet simultaneously in two sessions. These will be held at 3 and 8 o'clock Saturday in the Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial.

The seminar subjects will cover the three main fields of the Civil Rights program.

Air Force Cadet Team Interviewing Students

An Air Force Cadet team, headed by Maj. James R. Wilson, is now on campus interviewing qualified students for training with the 14th Air Force, Col. Bryon R. Switzer announced yesterday.

A "goodly number" of students were processed yesterday and it is hoped that many more will come down today, Capt. Francis S. Holmes, public information officer for the unit, reported last night. The results of the examinations have been "highly gratifying" so far, Maj. Wilson, who is in charge of the program, said.

Male students between the ages of 20 and 26 and one-half years who have two or more years of college, or who have the ability to pass an examination designed to measure the equivalent, will have an opportunity to provisionally qualify for flight training with the 14th Air Force.

The Cadet team is equipped to give all preliminary examinations and students who qualify will only have to complete an interview and pass a physical examination before being accepted for flight training, Col Switzer said.

Students who are accepted will receive their basic flight training in Texas. Those who successfully complete the course will be given their wings and commissioned 2nd lieutenants in the Air Force Reserve after only 12 months of training. They will go on active duty upon graduation and can earn pay and allowances in excess of $4,000 annually, Col. Switzer reported.

Students interested in applying for training should report to the Air ROTC building behind the law school before 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Sanborn Elected

Bruce Sanborn, holdover member to the Men's Honor Council, was elected chairman of the council at a meeting last night. Sanborn is from Gastonia.

Pete Gerns, graduate member from Canton, Ohio, was elected clerk of the council.

Committee Says Dances, Concerts Under Its Rules

Both May Frolics dances and the Saturday afternoon concert wil be governed by Dance Committee rules, it was announced yesterday.

Rules for the weekend events include:

1. Any girl desiring to leave the dance hall during the evening dance with the intention of returning must be accompanied by a chaperon.

2. All persons showing signs of drunkeness or bringing liquor to the dance will be dealt with at the discretion of the Dance Committee.

3. No smoking or serving of refreshments are allowed on the floor of Woollen Gymnasium.

The committee emphasized that the rules apply in both Memorial Hall and Woollen gym. Tickets should be ready at the door, so as to facilitate the work of the doormen.

The committee announced that a booklet, "So You're Going to A Carolina Dance," is now available for imports and may be obtained from members of the committee. It also announced that the flower custom will be in effect at the two dances.

Trailers, Spaces Under Rent Control

All trailers and trailer spaces except those used exclusively for transient occupancy are again under rent control according to Forrest A. Pollard, Director-Attorney for the Chapel Hill area.

This announcement was made as a result of the Rent Control Act that came into effect on April 1, 1949, and means that all trailers must be registered at once at the local rent control office.

UVA to Feature Terrace Tables

Tables on the terrace will be featured by the University Veterans Association tonight at their Friday night party, Gene Newton, UVA president, announced yesterday.

In addition, the entertainment committee headed by Grey Adams has made plans to present another entertainment program composed of student talent.

Tentative plans call for the KA Kadoodlers to play on the entertainment bill with Pete Strader and Grey Adams putting on short skits.

Veterans who plan to attend tonight's show are urged to come early in order to get good tables.

S&F Music Set For Rendezvous

Regular Friday night visitors to the Rendezvous Room in Graham Memorial will be treated to a preview of the new Sound and Fury musical tonight. Several selections from the show, "Merrily We Love," to be presented May 6 and 7, will make up the evening's entertainment.

Performers on tonight's show are: Pat Baily, in a South American number; Jean Hillman, opera aspirant turned chorus girl; Forest Covington, suave matador; Jimmy Foust; southern belle, and Estelle Richie, comedy lead of the show. The Town Talk Trio, a combo, will also be on the program.

The songs on the Rendezvous show will be taken from the 26 selections, composed for the Sound and Fury musical by Frank Matthews, and the show will go on the air at 9:30.

Women's Council Asks Cooperation

The Women's Honor Council yesterday released the text of a letter which they sent to the Spring Frolics Committee, sponsors of the Skitch Henderson dances and concert this weekend, in which they re-emphasized "the fact that it is the responsibility of each individual student to uphold our Campus Code."

The letter pointed out that in the past there have been infringements of the Campus Code at the spring dances.

May Frolics Set Begins Tonight

The May Frolics weekend officially begins at 9 o'clock this evening with a dance by Skitch Henderson and his orchestra.

The May Frolics Committee will sponsor a concert by Henderson n Memorial Hall tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, and another dance tomorrow night from 8 until 12 o'clock.

This is the next to last big dance weekend this spring. Winding up the name-band social activities for the year will be the Spring Germans, scheduled for late in May.

Incidentally, Frolics Committee officials say that it is quite all right for the May Frolics to be held in April. They do it all the time.

Alumni Assembly Gets Underway

The annual assembly of University alumni got under way here last night with a dinner at 6:30 at the Carolina Inn.

Judge Henry L. Stevens of Warsaw, University Alumni Association president, presided and talks were given by Chancellor Robert B. House and Controller W. D. Carmichael, Jr.

'Repple Depple'

Hirsch Production Will Include Plenty of Authenticity, Realism

By Ed Moss

In all their stage productions the Carolina Playmakers strive to obtain a high degree of authenticity, A new high in realism has been reached in Sam Hirsch's full length original play "Repple Depple" which will be presented in the Playmaker Theater April 28 and 29 at 7:30. This hilarious comedy about life in an army replacement depot in France should find particular favor among the veterans on the campus.

From the opening scene to the final curtain it is obvious that the author is well acquainted with his subject matter and has spent some time in a replacement depot. Added to this is the fact that many of the veterans in the cast know all too well the feeling of fustration, despair and cynicism which go hand in hand with life in a repple-depple. Remarkable finesse has apparently been used to select a cast which fulfills the delineations of character made by the author in the script.

A fine example of good casting is the character of "Mama," a French madame of the type familiar to so many G.I.'s who were in France during the war. Lois Latham, a graduate stu-

(See PLAY, page 4)

'It Is Our Fault'

Leonard Tells New Legislature Apathy Not Fault of Students

By Charles McCorkle

Ted Leonard, newly-inaugurated vice-president of the student body and speaker of the Student Legislature, told that assembly last night "it is our fault" that students are "just not interested in student government."

Leonard addressed a special session of the body which held the first meeting of the Seventh Student Legislature in the hall of the Dialectic Senate.

"All of you have undoubtedly run into the same type of thing I have," Leonard told the group. "Students just aren't interested in student government. I believe that is not the fault of the students, but is our fault.

"Our job is not just to meet here on Thursday nights," the new speaker continued. "We must find out what the students want and then carry out their wishes."

Leonard said students seem to "ascend to a higher plane" when they are elected to office. "If anything," he said, "they should descend to a lower plane. They are servants of the student body and should serve humbly."

Bill Miller, retiring chairman of the Orientation Committee and a former member of the Legislature, spoke to the group at the request of Leonard and retiring President Jess Dedmond. Miller told them that contrary to rumor, student government was not "on the rocks. It is alive and functioning daily."

Legislator Al Lowenstein, addressing the final session of the old Legislature, moved that a gavel be presented to retiring Speaker Pro Tempore Joe Leary for his service to the assembly. The motion passed unanimously.

Members of BSU Schedule Opening Of New House

After weeks of painting and decorating, members of the Chapel Hill Baptist Student Union will hold the grand opening of their new student house on Sunday afternoon from 3:30 until 5 o'clock.

The student house, or apartment, composed of three large rooms and a kitchen, is located in the wooden frame house across the street from the Baptist Church.

The grand opening will take place in time to welcome back the Chapel Hill delegates to the North Carolina B. S. U. Spring Conference, which is taking place in Durham this week-end. Representing the University of North Carolina are the newly elected officers of the B. S. U., who will leave for the conference Friday afternoon.

Officers attending the retreat will meet Saturday morning for commissions held for the presidents, vice-presidents, secretaries, and treasurers, respectively, of the B. S. U. organizations of the colleges and universities in the state. Representatives will make reports of the work done at their colleges during the preceeding year and will elect the state B. S. U. officers.

Welcoming back their representatives to the conference, members of the University's B. S. U. will open the student house and begin the many activities which will take place in the student house instead of rooms in the Baptist Church. Their weekly Sunday night Supper Forum will be held in the new location at 6 o'clock Sunday night, under the direction of the newly elected forum chairman, Don Shropshire.

Royall Out

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(UP)—President Truman today announced the long-rumored resignation of Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall but did not disclose his successor.

The President told his news conference that the lanky North Carolinian, who more than once has been at odds with administration policy, will step down April 27.

Ballot for Coed-Faculty All-Stars

Coed All-Stars		Faculty All-Stars
c		c
1b		1b
2b		2b
ss		ss
3b		3b
lf		lf
cf		cf
rf		rf
p		p

(All ballots should be dropped into box in Y building. Deadline for casting ballots is 1 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon.)

Only Public Ceremony

Fleece Tapping Monday Night Is 46th in University History

By Charlie Gibson

For the forty-sixth time in University history, Memorial Hall will be the scene of a Golden Fleece tapping next Monday evening at 7:45. This will be campus's one opportunity to see a public ceremony of its leading honorary organization.

Formed in 1903, the Order of the Golden Fleece was first conceived in its mythological entirety by Dr. Eben Alexander, then Dean of the University and past envoy to Greece where he helped reestablish the quadrenial Olympic Games. Dr. Alexander was a member of the Skull and Bones at Yale, the first honorary society on an American college campus. He wished to see the University become second in the nation to honor its outstanding campus men, and thus the Fleece was founded.

The Order was established soundly largely through the interest and encouragement of Dr. Henry Horace Williams, noted faculty philosopher and close friend of many students. Dr. Edward Kidder Graham added his influence and help to launch the organization on its way in search of worthy Carolina men over the years.

As Dr. Williams pointed out in a Daily Tar Heel article of May 8, 1938, there were diverse cliques of students on campus in 1903. The abiding purpose of the Fleece was to cut across sectional boundaries of student interest and to honor the outstanding men in all fields of campus endeavor as they should arise. There could be no harmony or University spirit until all these men of diverse interests, "the finest athlete and the greatest scholar," should "sit side by side at the same table."

In the twenties, speculation ran rampant in the Tar Heel as to

(See FLEECE, page 4)

FPG in Hillsboro

HILLSBORO, April 21—(UP)—Sen. Frank P. Graham, (D.-N.C.), arrived here with Mrs. Graham yesterday to rest for "an indefinite time" before returning to his duties in Washington.

Graham was released from a Washington hospital yesterday, after a three-week siege with penumonia. An aide said his physician had ordered "complete rest."

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $3.00 per year, $1.50 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. ..... Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. ..... Sharta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall,

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Night Editor: Charles McCorkle Night Sports: Zane Robbins

On the SDA and Civil Rights

The Students for Democratic Action, an organization which has been sharply criticized on many sides, particularly in the South, tomorrow inaugurates a convention on civil rights, with the local SDA chapter as host. Because of the incendiary nature of its topic for discussion, the conference probably will receive considerable attention from Southern conservatives as well as the liberal and sometimes radical advocates of the civil rights program in the South.

Civil Rights discussions usually evolve into a great deal of shouting, with neither side in the right frame of mind to judge the arguments of their adversary properly.

Since President Truman's civil rights legislation was killed by the Southern fillibuster in Washington, discussion on his proposals has died down to a large extent. No such legislation appears pending. The whole problem, if it is such, of racial discrimination has fallen back to the various communities of the South. Bob Lindsay, chairman of the local SDA, stated yesterday that the civil rights question is "back in our laps now, where it should have been all the time."

With this in mind, the current SDA conference has issued a statement that "Our primary objective is to stimulate constructive thinking on the issues involved." If the conference accomplishes this purpose, it will have been worthwhile indeed. But before this goal may be reached, both sides of the picture must be presented. Herein lies the difficulty. In an official pamphlet issued by SDA headquarters, there is a so-called blueprint for action "on the campus" which lists the objectives of all the SDA chapters. They are stated in the imperative mood and appear more or less of a dictate from the national office of the SDA. Among these are:

1. Work for the elimination of all forms of discrimination or segregation in private and public educational institutions regarding admissions, board and housing, educational facilities, and all other student activities.
2. Support federal aid to education, conditional upon the abandonment of segregation.

If these aims have already been agreed upon by the SDA, the discussions tomorrow are apt to be a bit one-sided. The admission of Negroes to Southern colleges at this time admittedly would create great chaos and probably lead to a real racial problem. Southern background, traditions, and predjudices are such that admission is not now feasible. Resolutions or "blueprints" demanding the end of segregation are not what is needed to improve the South. Only education and thoughtful consideration can bring a solution.

It is hoped that when the SDA meets tomorrow, it will not be necessarily guided in its thinking by the policies set for the entire national SDA, as listed in the official "SDA Program for 1948-49." What applies in some parts of the nation cannot always be applied everywhere.

If the conference sticks by its plan not to propose "any statement of policy or resolutions" then it will have taken a long stride forward. A convention devoted merely to discussion and consideration of the racial question would be refreshing in these days when everyone is demanding that his ideas and theories be instituted.

Off to an Impressive Start

Student government for 1949-50 got off to an impressive start in the Pine Room of Lenoir Hall on Wednesday night with a banquet concluding the inauguration ceremonies for the newly-elected campus officers along with their predecessors in office. The new officers had been sworn in the preceding evening.

Thanks to the efforts of Patsy McNutt, chairman of the Leadership Training Program who made arrangements for the banquet, the evening proved to be highly successful. As a result the new administration in student government made its start on a keynote of cooperation.

A number of students who were winners in the recent elections were unable to attend. They missed an entertaining evening.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon
(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, April 21.—If there be any of my readers who do not fully understand the workings of the Marshall Plan and where it will all end, I can provide them with the same crystal-clear explanation that has just been handed to Congress.

The bill to extend the European Recovery Program, now before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, clarifies the whole thing in this simple declarative sentence:

"The circumstance that funds may be unobligated at the moment of expiry of the current fiscal year or many subsequently become deobligated will be due solely to problems inherent in the fluctuation of the market and in the mechanics of bookkeeping."

So all you've gotta do to figure it out is just deobligate your expiry.

* * *

Our Miss Reid said she understood the above thoroughly, but that she was still puzzled about Belshazzar's feast.

Having been absent from these parts for a few days I was not aware that Belshazzar had been giving any dinners. I asked if he was trying to muscle in on Perle Mesta.

"I don't quite get it myself," confessed Miss Reid, "but Paul Hoffman, head of the Economic Cooperation Administration, gave a dinner at which all members of the Senate Appropriations Committee, except Senator Kenneth S. Wherry, of Nebraska, were invited."

"That seems kind of thick," I said, "particularly when you consider Wherry is also Senate Republican leader, but where does Belshazzar come into it?"

"That's what Senator Wherry called the dinner. He said he was not invited to the feast of Belshazzar, 'because of the handwriting on the wall—the fact that the ECA appropriation is going to be cut.' Didn't the hotel management complain about them scribbling on the wall?"

"That's allegorical," I said. "Belshazzar, the King of Babylon, was the son of Nebuchadnezzar, who had been so wicked he was made to eat as the beasts of the field. The fact that his old man was turned out to pasture didn't reform Belshazzar, however, and he continued to be just as wicked.

"He was hitting it up one night with his princes, his wives, and cucumbers (Daniel 5:1-28) when a part of a hand began writing on the wall. It wrote 'mene, mene, tekel, upharsin.' You know what that means?"

"Probably some of the talk you picked up from those hula dames in Hawaii."

"Not exactly. Biblical scholars have never been able to quite get together on it but they are agreed that part of it means 'Thou are weighed in the balances, and art found wanting.'"

"Oh, I see now," brightened Miss Reid. "It means Senator Wherry wasn't invited to the dinner because the ECA is afraid it is going to lose weight."

* * *

The editors of the Congressional Record have demonstrated to Senator Scott Lucas, of Illinois, that he can't get any loose language into their impeccable publication.

The distinguished majority leader was holding forth on the need for the administration-backed steam plant at New Johnsonville, Tenn., to generate additional energy for the Tennessee Valley Authority, declaring it might be vital in the event of war. Finally he shouted:

"I do not want to be caught with my pants down in another grave emergency that might arise."

But the editors were on the Nice-Nelly alert. In the next day's Record, Mr. Lucas was quoted as saying: "I do not want to be caught with my 'plants' down. . . ."

Invitation To Learning

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Passing Sentence

On Farmers Union

By Jonathon Marshall

Around here not many people have heard of the National Farmers Union; that's mainly because the Union doesn't have too many members in North Carolina yet.

Of course, there are a lot of people who are just plain afraid of the word "Union," or consider any type of union Communist. Some people who don't know anything about the National Farmers Union even call it Communist, but it's not.

The National Farmers Union was organized in Texas in 1902, and it represents the small "family-type" farmer. During the depression years it grew rapidly and became a national force, but it has only recently begun to be active in the South.

Its president, Jim Patton, was a Colorado farmer during the depression who saw the need for unity among farmers. He became active in the State organization, and finally became its president.

As the representative of the liberal members of the Union who believed in action, Patton was elected National President after building the Colorado organization into a respected and influential group.

Partially because of Patton's close friendship with the late President Roosevelt, and partly because of its progressive programs, the Union gained great influence in Washington during the '30s.

Under Secretaries Anderson and Wickard the Farmers Union lost some of its influence: however the new Secretary of Agriculture, Charles Brannon has shown great respect for both the Union's leaders and its policies.

Essentially the National Farmers Union believes that the prosperity of farmers, laborers, and business is interdependent.

It believes that farmers are entitled to a high standard of living and that the small farmers must be protected; this can be done through education, legislation, and co-operation.

The Denver office of the Union has an educational staff which provides information for local and state units and which runs summer camps and leadership courses for the younger members.

Its lobby in Washington is one of the most respected ones in the Capitol, and it keeps the members informed on what is going on in Washington.

The Farmers Union has organized a large percentage of the nation's farm co-operatives, and some of its co-ops are among the largest in the world. Recently it has begun to provide low cost co-operative insurance on health, life, autos, fire, and crops.

Although the strongest Union States are in the West, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Nebraska, and Oregon among others, it has been growing in the South recently. Membership has grown greatly in both Alabama and Texas in the last year.

The National Farmers Union will do much for Carolina farmers when it becomes active here. It's a good organization and one that is worth remembering.

Stumping It

SDA, Girls, Politics

By John Stump

Dixiecrats and other campus Southerners will have an excellent chance to air their views on the "damnable" Civil Rights question at a conference on the subject being sponsored this coming weekend by the local SDA chapter.

Since most of us inherit our views on the question from J. Strom Thurmond or sop them up from Eleanor Roosevelt fanatics, the conference should be useful if it manages to show that there is a reasonable middle ground. According to Chairman Bob Lindsay of the sponsoring group, that is what it is attempting to do.

Lindsay frankly states that this group is not attempting to provide a solution to the problem. He says that the only objective is to thoroughly thrash out the matter and separate rationality from rantings in consideration of Civil Rights and of the race problem as a whole.

Although the conference will conflict with May Frolics and several projected beach parties, it should be well attended, and we recommend it as a good bet for anyone who has not already made other plans.

It will begin at two o'clock Saturday afternoon in Bingham Hall.

* * * *

The two girls who invaded several of the men's dorms Tuesday evening created quite a stir almost everywhere they went. In fact, it is reported that first floor Alexander residents even organized a posse to go after them.

However, the residents of Whitehead (mostly med students) took the whole visit in stride. One of the medicoes passed them on the second floor hallway, smiled urbanely, and said "Hello honey."

That was the extent of the greeting and about the extent of the interest which the visit aroused among the worldly mad majors.

This column has heard it rumored that the girls were real, but the stunt was arranged by one of the campus publications. The next Tarnation should provide the answer.

* * * *

New student council chairman Dan Bell seems to be following in the footsteps of retiring chairman Bill Mackie. Some S-Partisans have already begun to boom him for the presidency of the student body next year.

"Judge" Bell is not well known among the Graham Memorial politicians, but he is well liked over the campus as a whole. He led the ticket in his race for student council, seems to be well respected by his friends, and could be a strong contender next year.

Although this year's election is barely over, some of the full-time campus politicians have already begun to maneuver their man into next year's running. Some are speculating on the possibility that Vice President Ted Leonard might try to move up.

Prominently mentioned as a possible UP standard bearer has been Herb Mitchell. Other names heard in the wind include those of Jess Dedmond's Attorney General Dortch Warriner and popular second term legislator Bob Kirby.

However, the general campus reaction to politics at the moment seems to have been summed in one comment heard by this columnist. "Now that the election's over, the trees look like trees again instead of totem poles."

Let's keep it that way for a while at least.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LETTER TO MCCORKLE

Dear Mr. McCorkle:

I have a formula that will immortalize you to generations yet unborn. This formula is comparable to the discovery of the new world by Columbus and the proof that the world is round instead of flat. Those people realized that there was another side to the world and that they lived in only half.

In political discussion you might observe, too, that there are usually two sides to an issue. If you report only one side, then perhaps you present only half. My simple formula that I would like to give to you is merely—present not only the charge, but also the reply. Stated in a little different way, be objective when you present controversial issues.

I must disagree with you when you say that I left the Campus Party in the usual way. Perhaps the more usual way would have been for me to have approached the other parties on the campus in order to arrange for a seat on a steering committee, a political appointment, or a promise of a political "plum" in the future, since I had a seat in the legislature to offer as bargaining power. Before I made my statement to the aCmpus Party, I had made absolutely no arrangements with any other party.

Mr. McCorkle, you pointed out that I went to the Student Party because I had seen the "light" and could be "saved". Perhaps that may not be the full truth. My record stands for itself. I have tried to do my best for student government. I fought my statement to the Campus Party and I expect to carry on the fight wherever I think it will accomplish most.

Mr. McCorkle, you stated in big bold print the charge that Jim Southerland leveled against me but there was no mention of my answer, not even in fine print. I think you heard my answer, since I have reason to believe you were there at the party meeting. The charge that I was the "center of a big political deal" is a gross overstatement.

When Jack Worsham resigned from the legislature and left vacant the chairmanship of the rules committee, he was a member of the Campus Party. His resignation from the legislature left me as the only Campus Party member on the rules committee. Since I had worked very closely with Jack Worsham and understood the functions of the committee, since there were only three more meetings of that assembly, and since it is very commonplace for the legislature to allow replacement of the vacated chairmanship by the party from which the former chairman came, do you, Mr. McCorkle, feel that it was unreasonable for me to ask the support of Mr. Leary and Mr. Mitchell?

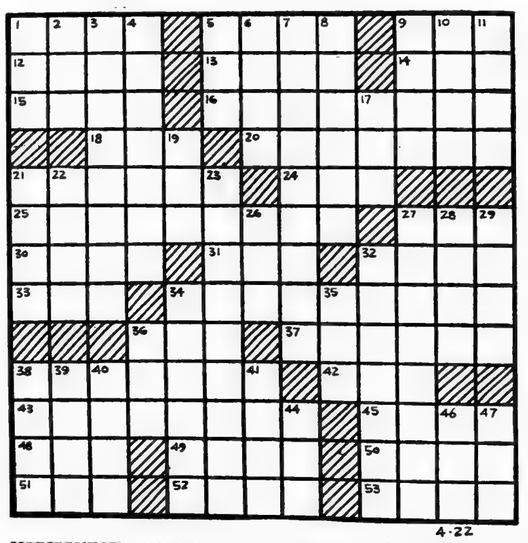
I might add that I was the only member of the rules committee to be present at, and to stay for the entire meeting, of all the rules committee meetings.

If you will apply my simple formula—be objective and report the whole truth—you will set an invaluable precedent that future political reporters might well follow.

Johnie O'Neal
308 "B" Dorm

52-20 CLUB

Editor:



I don't know to what income bracket Mr. Jay Mills belongs, but his point of view concerning 52-20 expresses the interest of the well-to-do veteran. The ordinary veteran does not think of himself as a beggar, nor does he regard veterans' benefit as charity.

Large - scale government spending is here to stay. Since the great 1929 crash, it has been the only method we have found to reduce the effects of depression.

Adequate unemployment compensation does not exist at present. If a measure were introduced extending unemployment security to everyone, I would be the first to champion it. In the abscence of such a measure, we should take the next best thing. H. R. 3818 does not extend its benefits to our whole population, but it is a step in the right direction.

Government spending is not charity. It is, and for twenty years has been, an integral and necessary part of our economy, without which we would have been in continuous depressions. Fifty-two-twenty puts buying power in the hands of those who need it and will use it.

Bill Evans

4-22

HORIZONTAL
1. sullen
5. ancient Grecian country
9. possessive pronoun
12. primitive Japanese
13. opening
14. one of the Cyclades
15. state of disorder
16. made beloved
18. Greek letter
20. stupors
21. be present
24. lease
25. repairs a loss
27. Greek letter
30. house additions
31. soft metal
32. son of Adam
33. malt drink
34. docile
36. macaw
37. folding picture stands
38. collision
42. Babylonian god
43. eastern
45. cereal grasses
48. dance step
49. heart
50. function in trigonometry
51. Hebrew high priest
52. eagle
53. Italian noble family

VERTICAL
1. school of whales
2. falsehood
3. disturb
4. assembles
5. twilight
6. penitential season
7. laziness
8. cubic metric units
9. set of nested boxes
10. row
11. swards
17. likely
19. cuckoo
21. space
22. narrate
23. slanderer
26. by way of
27. French satirist
28. American railroad promoter
29. single individuals
32. a proteose
34. rapture
35. flap
36. corroded
38. contend
39. spoken
40. unless
41. mountain stream
44. shelter
46. high explosive (abbr.)
47. observe

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

4-22

Average time of solution: 25 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Tar Heels Shellack Wildcats, 5-0

Tranavitch Wins Two-Hitter; Goodman Gets Four Singles

Masterful two-hit pitching by Andy Tranavitch and timely hitting by Second Baseman Stan Goodman combined to produce a 5-0 win for the Tar Heels yesterday at Emerson Stadium. It was the fifth Conference win for the Carolinians in six outings.

This aternoon the Tar Heels will meet Wake Forest for the second time in three days in a 4 o'clock Big Four duel at Emerson Stadium. In Wednesday's matching at Deacon Hollow, the much publicized Deacons edged the Carolinians by one run in a 6-5 contest. Ray Blair will probably be given the starting pitcher's role for the Tar Heels today.

Hobbs Triples

Carolina scored their first run against the Wildcats in the second inning when Don Ward crossed the plate on a tremendous triple by Will Hobbs. There was one away when Ward collected his single down the first base line. Hobbs was the third batter in the inning and his lengthy wallop rolled all the way to the fence on the third base side of the field before Davidson Fielder Auburn Lambeth managed to scoop it up and peg it home.

Davidson had the makings of a rally in their half of the third. But any thoughts of sugar plums were quickly doused when, with bases loaded, Charlie Pearson and Bert Anderton were doubled off second and third. The play at first was close and Umpire Weaver called Anderton out much to the chagrin of the Davidson coaching staff.

That Was All

That was the end of the Wildcats. In the six innings remaining they collected exactly one hit—that one a Texas leaguer out in back of second by Lambeth.

Another run was added to the Carolina side of the ledger in the third when Ryan toed across the plate by courtesy of 'Cat Pitcher Charleton Torrence who issued a free pass to John Senter with bases loaded.

Goodman had started the inning off with the second of his four singles. Ryan was on on a fielder's choice that picked Goodman off the keystone sack. Varney singled and went to second when the Davidson infield tried to catch Ryan at third. Ed Lamb, hitless for the second straight game, was intentionally passed.

A Faux Pas

That proved to be a big mistake for Pitcher Torrence. For Senter was the next batter and Torrence tossed the ball everywhere but over the plate to force in Ryan.

The third Tar Heel run came in the fifth when Ryan singled to left and crossed the plate two batters later. Varney, who broke a bat ducking one of Torrence's pitches, was finally nailed on the leg by a wild pitch for a free pass. Lamb moved Varney and Ryan up a base with an attempted sacrifice that turned out to be a fielder's choice that put nobody out. Senter grounded to third and on the play Ryan scored.

Still another run was piled on in the sixth. Goodman singled and stole second, Ryan walked, and Varney singled to score Goodman for the fourth Carolina tally.

The Tar Heels closed up shop with a short nightcap in the eighth. Goodman singled and stole second again and came home on Ryan's single to left. That was the end of the shortest ball game to be played at Emerson this year—less than two hours.

The Cat's Meow!!

Davidson	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Pearson, ss	2	0	0	2	4	0
Anderton, cf	3	0	0	4	0	0
Bird, 3b	3	0	0	0	6	0
Lambeth, lf	3	0	2	1	0	1
Ellis, 1b	3	0	0	11	6	0
Richards, rf	3	0	0	0	0	0
Wade, 2b	3	0	0	3	1	0
Chandler, c	2	0	0	3	0	0
Torrence, p	2	0	0	0	1	0
Totals	24	0	2	24	12	1

North Carolina	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Allen, cf	5	0	1	2	0	0
Goodman, 2b	5	2	4	7	4	0
Ryan, ss	4	2	2	1	4	0
Varney, c	4	0	2	7	2	0
Lamb, rf	2	0	0	1	0	0
Senter, 3b	3	0	0	0	1	0
Ward, lf	4	1	1	0	0	0
Hobbs, 1b	4	0	1	9	0	0
Tranavitch, p	4	0	1	0	1	0
Totals	35	5	12	27	12	0

Score by Innings:

Davidson	000	000	000	—0
North Carolina	011	011	01x	—5

Runs batted in: Hobbs, Senter 2, Varney, Ryan. Three base hit: Hobbs. Stolen Bases: Bird, Goodman 2, Sacrifice: Lamb. Double plays: Varney to Goodman, Goodman to Hobbs, Ryan to Goodman to Hobbs 3, Bird to Wade to Ellis. Left on bases: Davidson 3, North Carolina 11. Base on balls—Off: Tranavitch 5, Torrence 1. Struck out—by: Tranavitch 3, Torrence 3. Hit by pitcher—by: Torrence (Varney). Umpires: Murray and Weaver. Time: 1:58.

Frosh Cindermen Go Against Duke

Carolina's freshman track team will leave this afternoon for a meet with the Duke freshman in Durham at 4 o'clock. The Carolina frosh will return here tonight and will run the High Point High school tracksters tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock on Fetzer Field.

Coach Dick Hollander's boys will be seeking their initial win of the year after finishing on the short end of a close 79-72 duel with N. C. State cinder-beaters, so Carolina will be the underdog in today's meet.

Carolina's top men in the meet today will be Gordon Hamrich in the distances, Romas White in the hurdles and field events, and Bill Winslow, Gene Brigham and Roy Soalski in the dashes.

Hamrich, plauged by a sore leg in last week's meet with State, will run the mile and the two-mile and will be favored to cop both events.

Alpha Gams Defeat Pi Phi 2, 56-11

There's no doubt in the minds of the sporting fans who saw the Alpha Gams defeat the Phi Phis that the Alpha Gams have plenty on the ball.

The Gamma Girls just couldn't do anything wrong yesterday down at Kenan in the opening round of the Coed Softball tourney. They started off in the first inning with a six run rally that had Pi Phi pitchers going wild. But they had more secret weapons. In the second they opened up with an eighteen run barrage, the like of which hasn't been seen since the invention of umpires.

But don't sell them short, them gals. They went on to score eight runs in the third, 18 more in the fourth, and six in the fifth and final inning. Final score, we think, was Alpha Gam 56, Pi Phi 2, 11.

In the other scheduled game, Pi Phi 1 defeated Town Girls, 16-13.

PRACTICE MEET

Coach Dale Ranson said yesterday that his track team will run N. C. State in the second of their series of practice track meets at Raleigh tomorrow afternoon. The bus for Raleigh will leave at 11 o'clock and all varsity trackmen are urged to be on hand at that time.

Today's Sports

Tennis

Varsity tennis—Carolina vs Kalamazoo on Varsity Courts at 3 o'clock.

Track

Freshman track—Carolina vs Duke at Durham at 3:30 o'clock.

Golf

49th Annual North and South Golf Tournament at the Pinehurst Country Club in Pinehurst. 36-hole semi-finals beginning at 8:30.

Baseball

Carolina vs. Wake Forest at Emerson Stadium. 4 o'clock. Passbooks required for admission.

Netters Encounter Kalamazoo Here; Seek 13th Win

On the last lap of its Southern tour which saw it encountering such schools as Vanderbilt, Tulane, and Tennessee the Kalamazoo netters move into Chapel Hill this afternoon to meet the local crew on the varsity courts beginning at 3 o'clock.

The Kalamazoo tennis teams from the state of Michigan have generally been among the top in the nation, but the Tar Heels will still be favored to win their 13th consecutive match of the season.

Carolina had a surprisingly easy time of it against Duke Wednesday afternoon, taking a 7-2 victory where a 5-4 tossup had been predicted.

The singles lineup for Carolina will be the same as usual except that number three man Charley Rice will be on the sidelines. Rice has been suffering from a bad foot and Coach John Kenfield is planning on holding Rice out so that he will be in better shape for Saturday's match against the strong Virginia team.

Vic Seixas will lead off for the Tar Heels with Clark Taylor in the number two spot. Stan Gruner, Duke Wilder, and Jim Winstead all move up a notch and Laslie Dameron moves into the vacated sixth place.

Musclemen Drop Match to Cats

DAVIDSON COLLEGE, April 21—The Davidson Wildcats met and defeated a potent University of North Carolina weightlifting crew here tonight in the first Intercollegiate match of this type on record in the South. The Wildcats won the match, 2,775-2,730.

Joe Richert, Davidson's entry in the unlimited division, recorded the highest total of the evening, 680 pounds, on the combined press-snatch-clean and jerk. High man for Carolina was 182-pound Keg Wheeler who managed a 655-pound load. Diminutive Charlie Ufen's 520 pounds was hailed as outstanding for a man of his weight, 131 pounds.

The Tar Heels dropped behind in the match when Darrell Byerly failed to record a score in the press event. His total for the other two events was 385.

Sigma Chi, Town Rate Tops In Intramural Track Carnival

By Frank Allston, Jr.

Sigma Chi Fraternity and Town turned the annual intramural track meet into a rout yesterday on Fetzer Field as the two athletic-minded organizations romped off with honors in their respective divisions.

The Summary:

FRATERNITY DIVISION

60-yard dash—1. Jordan (ATO), 2. Conine (PiKA), 3. Cowles (SAE).

100-yard dash—1. Rue (Sig Chi), 2. Conine (PiKA), 3. Thorne (Zeta). Time—10.8.

300-yard dash—1. Lyon (Sig Chi), 2. Melvin (Sig Nu), 3. Flamisch (Sig Chi). Time—35.5.

¾ mile run—1. Fisher (Sig Chi), 2. Turner (SAE), 3. Seixas (Chi Psi). Time—3:40.8.

70-yard high hurdles—1. Ahern (ATO), 2. Nearman (Pi Lamb), 3. McLeod (Phi Kap Sig). Time—10.1.

120-yard low hurdles—1. Conine (PiKA), 2. Ferebee (Chi Psi), 3. McLeod (Phi Kap Sig). Time—14.5.

440-yard relay—1. Zeta Psi (Alexander, Thorne, Boren, Ballou), 2. ATO, 3. Sigma Chi, Time—49.7.

880-yard relay—1. Sigma Chi (Lyon, Maceyko, Adams, Brannon), 2. Zeta Psi, 3. ATO, Time—1:42.8.

High jump—1. Tie between Hicks (Phi Gam) and Mason (ATO), 3. Hensen (PiKA), Distance—5ft. 9 in.

Broad jump—1. Conine (PiKA), 2. Cowles (SAE), 3. Lyon (Sig Chi), 4. Ferebee (Chi Psi), Distance—20 ft. 8 ¾ in.

Shot put—1. Woodard (Zeta), 2. Grow (Sig Chi), 3. Holdash (Chi Phi), Distance—38 ft. 9 in.

Discus—1. Woodard (Zeta), 2. Cowles (SAE), 3. Grow (Sig Chi), Distance—119 ft.

Pole vault—1. Norton (DKE), 2. Beebe (Sig Chi), 3. Tie between Jernigan (Sig Nu), Gilman (Phi Gam), Gregory (Zeta). Distance—10 ft. 6 in.

DORMITORY DIVISION

60-yard dash—1. Wenhan (Steele), 2. Lovick (Town), 3. Norcross (Emerson). Time—6.8.

100-yard dash—1. Norcross (Emerson), 2. Lovick (Town), 3. Wenhan (Steele). Time—10.9.

300-yard dash—1. Norcross (Emerson), 2. Miller (Emerson), 3. Swigart (Emerson). Time—37.5.

¾ mile run—1. Honeycutt (Town), 2. Hoke (Town), 3. Strickland ("A"), Time—3:35.7.

70-yard high hurdles—1. Howell (Emerson), 2. Norcross (Emerson), 3. Kemp (Emerson). Time—10.2.

120-yard low hurdles—1. Norcross (Emerson), 2. Kemp (Emerson), 3. Rockwell (Town). Time—14.9.

440-yard shuttle relay—1. Town (Hicks, Rockwell, Short, Lovick), 2. Emerson, 3. Med School, Time—49.9.

880-yard shuttle relay—1. Town (Hicks, Honeycutt, Short, Lovick), 2. Emerson, 3. Med. School, Time—1:42.8.

High jump—1. Hicks (Town), 2. Erickson (Old West), 3. Swift (Med Sch.), Distance—5ft. 9 in.

Broad jump—1. Edwards (Town), 2. Honeycutt (Town), 3. Lovick (Town). Distance—18 ft. 10 in.

Shot put—1. Hayes (Emerson), 2. Doran (Town), 3. Weiner (Town). Distance—39 ft. 2 ½ in.

Discus—1. Durham (Town), 2. Doran (Town), 3. Ellis (Town). Distance—113 ft. 5 in.

Pole vault—1. Kemp (Emerson), 2. Byerly (Town), 3. Hayes (Emerson). Distance—10 ft. 9 in.

The Town boys rolled up the amazing total of 125 points to outscore "Emerson Athletic Hotel," which ended the afternoon with 88 points. Sigma Chi scored 60 points to 39 for Zeta Psi. Far behind the front runners in the dorm division were Medical School with 24, and Steele Dormitory with 10. ATO nosed out SAE, 32½-32 for third place in the frat division.

Emerson and Town showed early signs of running away with the dorm division. After the first few events, Town appeared to be far ahead, but Emerson came back strong in the hurdles and the field events to keep the dorm division close. The issue was never in doubt in the fraternity division.

The only winner of two events in the frat division was John Woodard, who copped both the shot put and the discus throw for Zeta Psi. Woodard's winning toss in the shot was good for 38 ft. 9 in. while his discus heave was a mighty 119 feet.

Merl Norcross, taking a day off from football practice, turned in three firsts for Emerson in taking the 100 in 10.9, the 300 in 37.5 and the highs in 14.9. Town copped both the 440 and 880 relays with a speedy 49.9 showing in the 440.

The only distance run of the day was the three-lap, three-quarter mile run which Carroll Fisher won for Sigma Chi in the frat division with a 3:40.8 showing. Turner of SAE and Vic Seixas of Chi Psi made the race close, but couldn't keep up with the torrid pace set by Fisher.

SOCCER GAME

Carolina's soccer team will meet N. C. State in a practice game on Intramural Field at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. This is the first practice game of the spring season for the Carolina booters.

Chapel Hill Wins On One-Hitter

SILER CITY, April 21—Chapel Hill High Schooler Milton Cheek put on a daring one-hit pitching exhibition here today to take credit for a 4-0 shutout for the Wildcats.

The game, seven innings by agreement, saw the Chapel Hillians score once in the first, once in the fourth, and twice in the fifth. During that time, the only hit off Cheek came in the fourth inning when Caviness singled. He died on first however, as Cheek caught him napping for an out.

Cheek struck out 13 men and faced only 21 men during the seven inning pitching display. Collier Hill scored the only four bagger of the game in the fourth with none on.

Why Wear It If it does Not Fit?
JERRY the Tailor
Over Lee's 5 &10c Store

Favorites Advance in North-South; Ward vs. Chapman in Semi-Finals

PINEHURST, April 21—(UP)—Four favorites, playing lackadaisical over-par golf eased into the semi-finals of the 49th annual North and South Amateur Golf Championship today.

Flashy Frank Strahanan of Toledo, O., beat Julius Boros of Hartford, Conn., one of New England's best, 3 and 1.

Boros gave Stranahan quite a battle. The musclar millionaire was only one up at the turn. He took the 11th hole, but split the next five with Boros. Stranahan finally birdied the short 17th hole with a 2 to win 3 and 1.

Defending champion Harvie Ward, Jr., of Tarboro, beat W. W. Markham of East Hampton, Conn., 2 and 1 without much trouble, but neither played particularly good golf. Ward was two up at the turn and went on to win.

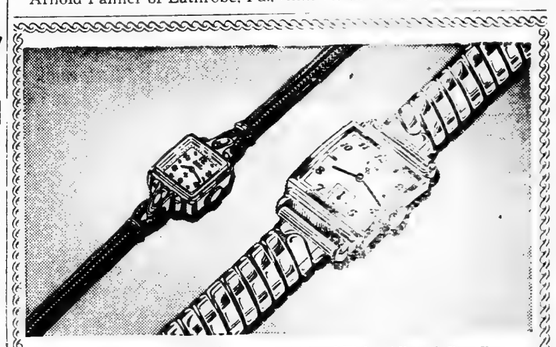
Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, 1940 National Amateur titlist, had the easiest game of the day in defeating H. H. Haverstick of Lancaster, Pa., 4 and 3. They were even at the turn with one-over-par 37s for the first half of the 6,952-yard course. Chapman then got hot and took the 10th, 11th, 14th and 15th holes to win.

Arnold Palmer of Lathrobe, Pa., beat his fellow Wake Forest College student, Frank Edens of Lumberton, 2 up. They were even until Palmer won the last two holes in par and Edens went one over [illegible]

The 36-hole semi-finals tomorrow will match Ward against Chapman and Palmer against Stranahan. If Ward and Stranahan win, they will be matched in the finals as they were last year when young Ward's deadly putting upset the Toledo favorite.

Stranahan told Ward this week his main ambition was to get him on the links again.

High School Day To Be April 30; Program Planned



More than 10,000 high school students from throughout the state are expected to converge on Chapel Hill April 30 during the Sixth Annual High School Day, sponsored by the University.

The University Club in conjunction with the Monogram Club has prepared a gala sports program to entertain the thousands of expected guests.

The program gets underway at 11 o'clock in the morning with a Carolina-N. C. State track meet at Fetzer Field. Then, after a brief pause for lunch, the scene of action shifts to football and Kenan Stadium, where the Third Annual Blue-White Football game will be played.

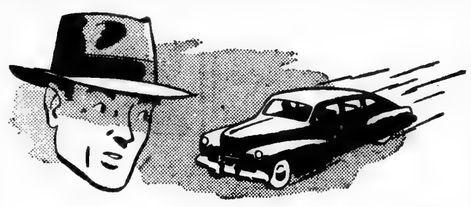
Following the football game, the crowd will move over to Emerson Stadium to see one of the ball games on the Carolina schedule—the third of a four game series between the defending champion Tar Heels and favored Wake Forest.

Time of the Wake Forest-Carolina ball game was changed from the originally scneduled time of 2:30 to 4 o'clock in order that the visitors could get to see all of Carolina's athletic teams in action.

Elgin De Luxe. 17 jewels, adjusted. DuraPower Mainspring. 10K natural or white gold filled case. ★ 15 jewel Elgin. Adjusted. DuraPower Mainspring. 10K natural gold filled case. Gold filled, steel back expansion band.

ONLY AN ELGIN HAS THE DURAPOWER MAINSPRING*

In beautifully styled new Elgins you get a mainspring that eliminates 99% of all repairs due to steel mainspring failures. See these great Elgin values now in our Parade of Watches.



*Patent pending

WENTWORTH & SLOAN

IT'S SMART TO SHOP IN CHAPEL HILL

Carolina–Duke
DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL BLDV
"TIL THE CLOUDS ROLL BY"
In Technicolor
STARRING
J. Garland D. Shore
R. Walker L. Horne
F. Sinatra
In the life and music of Jerome Kern
FRIDAY & SATURDAY
75c per Car
No Charge for Passengers

The ORIENTAL
CHINESE-AMERICAN RESTAURANT
116 E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.

LOOK FIRST-LIVE LONGER!

3 out of 4 pedestrians killed by motor vehicles contributed to their own deaths. Look both ways before you cross the street—and cross at the corner. Wear white at night when walking beside a highway.

Be Careful—the life you save may be your own!

This advertisement is published in the public interest by

POE-MANGUM

Exquisite
Delicious
that's how it rates with the experts of the
UNIVERSITY RESTAURANT

SEE US FOR PROCHEM
CERTIFIED 5 YEAR
Guaranteed PROTECTION AGAINST MOTHS ITS IMPORTANT QUALITIES ARE:
★ HARMLESS
★ STAINLESS
★ ODORLESS
★ NONTOXIC
PROCHEM Service is a safe, economical, and durable investment.
Your Chapel Hill Dealer Is
SMITH PREVOST CLEANERS

For graduate Eleanor Morgan, Mount Holyoke '49
...an Elgin

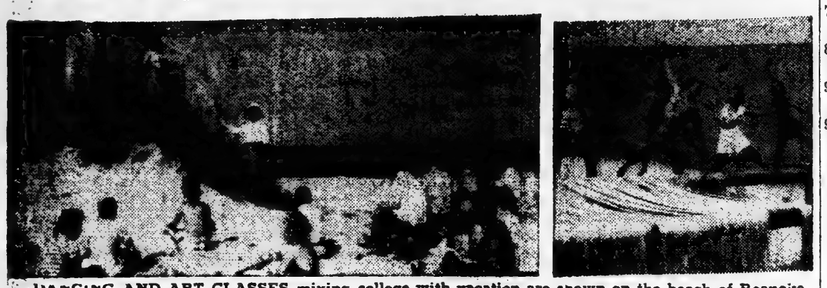
Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alva B. Morgan of Darien, Conn., Eleanor is the family's second Mount Holyoke graduate.

"SO BEAUTIFULLY STYLED," says her MOTHER. "Actually, the most beautiful of the many Elgin Watches owned in our family is the model we've chosen for Eleanor."

"THAT DURAPOWER MAINSPRING MEANS BETTER PERFORMANCE," says her FATHER. "She won't be bothered with mainspring repairs in that watch."

There's an extra thrill in owning a beautiful star-timed Elgin Watch! For beneath its beauty is Elgin's exclusive DuraPower Mainspring that eliminates 99% of all repairs due to steel mainspring failures.

Suggest to those planning a graduation watch for you that you'll be happier with an Elgin . . . an Elgin Watch with the DuraPower symbol dp on the dial.



Lord and Lady Elgins are priced from $67.50 to $5,000. Elgin De Luxe from $47.50 to $67.50. Other Elgins as low as $29.75. All prices include Federal Tax.

The genius of America to wear on your wrist.

Only an ELGIN has the DuraPower Mainspring

*Patent pending. Made of "Elgiloy" metal.

Roanoke Islanders Combine Books, Lessons With Beach

DANCING AND ART CLASSES mixing college with vacation are shown on the beach of Roanoke Island as part of the Roanoke Island Fine Arts Center scheduled to open July 11, continuing through August 20 for the second summer session. The dancers in the small cut at the right are being directed by Foster Fitz-Simons. The class at left is engaged in dancing lessons.

Combining books and the beach, sunning and studying, college credits and a carefree vacation, The Roanoke Island Fine Arts Center is unique in college circles. Opening on July 11 and continuing through August 20, it the only school of its kind in the South, allowing students to take courses for college credit and vacation at the same time.

Mrs. Darice Parker, of the university Extension Division at Chapel Hill, has been appointed Director of the Center for its second summer session. Opening again by popular request, the Center will have an exceptional staff of teachers. William Meade Prince, noted artist and illustrator, will offer courses in beginning painting and composition; Paul Young, professor in the Music Department at the university and director of the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs, will teach music appreciation and sight-singing; and Dr. Elizabeth Welch of Salem College will instruct voice training and playdirecting.

All courses at the Center may be taken for regular credit and applied on a degree, Mrs. Parker announced. She said that eligibility will be based on the following standards: students must be graduates of a standard high school, college students, teachers desiring certification credit, and mature students not working for credit.

The enrollment for the Fine Arts Center will be limited this year so Mrs. Parker urged anyone interested to contact her very soon at her office in Swain Hall. The school has been approved by the Veterans Administration.

The Fine Arts Center will be run on historic Roanoke Island where Paul Green's famous open-air symphonic drama, "The Lost Colony," will play its ninth summer. Students will be able to see this stirring reliving of North Carolina history while they go to school and have a good vacation.

Pianist-Composer Edward Cone Will Appear as Guest Soloist With Tour

Edward Cone, pianist-composer of Greensboro and Princeton University, has been invited by Dr. Benjamin Swalin to appear as guest soloist when the North Carolina Symphony, now on its fourth tour, plays its annual concert in Wilmington Monday night, in the New Hanover High School at 8:30.

Cone appeared as soloist with the State Symphony last season in concerts in Greensboro and Chapel Hill. In Wilmington Monday night he will play Beethoven's Third Piano Concerto.

A graduate of Princeton University, Mr. Cone received his A. B. degree in 1939 and his master's degree in 1942. He has done further graduate work at Columbia University. His piano study has been under Schnabel and Steuermann.

Cone was the winner of two first prizes awarded by the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs. He was also the recipient of the Guggenheim Fellowship in Musical Composition during 1947-48.

During that year of study, Cone took a leave of absence from Princeton where he is an assistant professor of music, to study composition with Steuermann in Berkeley, California. While in Berkeley he wrote "Fantasy for Organ," and "Two Psalms for Chorus and Orchestra," based on the 90th and 91st Psalms.

EDWARD CONE

Correction

Alpha Kappa Psi, professional fraternity in commerce, was erroneously reported as a music fraternity in yesterday's DTH. The local chapter was invited by the Duke chapter to a dance to be given in Durham this evening.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

1:30—TOWN GIRL'S Association. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
7:00—HILLEL Foundation. Roland Parker 1, 2, 3, GM.
8:00—YOUNG Progressives. Grail room, GM.
9:00—MAY FROLICS. Woollen gym.
9:30—RENDEZVOUS Room Radio Show. Rendezvous room, GM.

Census Slated For Business In Chapel Hill

A business census of every retail, wholesale, or service establishment in Chapel Hill will be taken during the next few weeks, it was announced yesterday by the census representative, the businesses are urged to cooperate in giving correct information, for the statistics will be of much value to the Chamber of Commerce, and other business men also.

The interviewer for Orange County is Emil E. Mason, Chapel Hill.

Eason has just completed a thorough and comprehensive training program for interviewers which was conducted in the district office in Raleigh, in charge of W. G. Aycock, District Supervisor. At an early date the Census of Business will be extended to Orange County.

–Play–

(Continued from page 1)

dent in English has been selected for the part. During the war she worked for two and a half years in repple-depples in France and England. She had 37 French personnel working under her direction one of whom exactly fitted the character which she portrays in the play.

"The character of 'Mama' is such a familiar one that portraying her in 'Repple-Depple' is almost like living part of my experiences in France over again," says Lois. She was at Compiegne, France, on V-E Day and in Le Mains on V-J Day. Most of her work with the Red Cross in these areas was in infantry replacement depots smilar to the one in the play.

Lois attended West Virginia Wesleyan College and Emerson College, Boston, prior to coming to the University where she obtained her master's degree in dramatic arts in 1938. While in school here she had three original plays produced by the Playmakers. She also played the part of the recreational worker in Paul Green's war play "Johnny Johnson."

For the last two years the Franklin native has held the position of drama director at Erskine College, Due West, S. C.

APPARENTLY doing their bit for hemispheric solidarity, judges at a beauty contest in Miami Beach, Fla., chose Josephine Bonilla as queen of the first annual "Good Neighbor Tennis Tournament."

–Fleece–

(Continued from Page 1)

who would be tapped with as great interest in the results as in predicting of football scores. Since it has become customary in recent years to honor sincere, prominent faculty members too, one professor is usually tapped along with each group of students.

Last year the practice of re-tapping an outstanding Fleece alumnus who has performed worthy service to his fellowmen in later life was instituted when Kay Kyser was "re-tapped" for his fine and unselfish services in the entertainment world and in the promotion of the Good Health Program in the State.

Prior to the actual tapping Monday evening, Dr. U. T. Holmes of the English department will read the myth of Jason and his search for the golden fleece, symbolizing the highest form of achievement in integrity and service.

After the tapping the Valkyries, coed honorary society, will present its annual sing with fraternities, sororities, and dormitories competing vocally for two loving cups.

Glenn L. Jenkins Will Speak Here In Howell Tonight

Dr. Glenn L. Jenkins, president-elect of the American Pharmaceutical Association and present Dean of the Pharmacy School at Purdue University, will speak tonight at 7:30 in Howell Hall.

Dr. Jenkins' speech, "Trend and the Outlook in the Profession of Pharmacy" is being sponsored by the Rho Chi, national honorary fraternity and will be open to the public.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Dr. Jenkins was Professor of Pharmaceutical chemistry for 12 years at the University of Maryland and has served as president of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy.

Embargo Lifted On Rail Express

The embargo on all rail and express shipments between New York City and Chapel Hill, which has been in effect since March 9 due to a slowdown strike there, was lifted today and express service is again normal, Agent L. A. Williams said yesterday.

Quick deliveries from the congested terminals and other facilities in New York have made it possible to lift the embargo nationwide, Williams said.

To the local businessmen who have been expecting shipments, particularly those who have new spring wear on order in the metropolis, and other firms and individuals holding shipments destined to New York, the regular flow of express business now resumed is expected to be welcome news.

Karl Marx Society Plans Open Meeting

The Karl Marx Study Society will hold an open meeting on Monday evening at 7:30, in Roland Parker Lounge 2 of Graham Memorial. Hans Freidstadt, chairman of the group, will lead the discussion on "Marxism, Nationalism and World Government."

See Us For Any Metal Work To Be Done
EXPERT SERVICE
Crabtree Metal Shop
CARRBORO

YOU ASKED FOR IT — HERE IT IS:
10¢ BEER
8 oz. Stein
Ballantines Premium Draft
During Cocktail Hour 4-6 P.M. ONLY
½ KEGS. $19.00—(3 or more) $20.00—(1 at a time)
RAMSHEAD RATHSKELLER

Low Prices? Yes!
Quality Goods? Yes!
Delivery? Yes!
It's—
FOWLER'S FOOD STORE

Typing. . . Thesis, Plays, Term Papers, & Law Briefs
Mrs. Virginia Andrews
Fields Bldg. — Phone 8726
Res. F-3691
Across from Bus Sta.

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

THE PINES
Are Introducing
Curb Service
And
Featuring Your Favorite Sandwiches
Hamburgers and
Draft Beer
THE PINES 2 Miles Out On Raleigh Road
Eddie Monroe, Prop.

PLAY CLOTHES In DENIM and Seersucker — Sizes up to 8
"Terry Trix" Sailor and Coolie Suits
THE BABY SHOP

SURPLUS SALES
425 W. Main Street, Durham
ARMY TYPE KHAKI PANTS
(Wonderful for School)
NAVY TYPE CHINO GREY PANTS
(Washable—For Lounging or Play)
PAIR $3.45

DIETRICH TAKES OVER A LAWLESS PACIFIC PARADISE!

VILLAGE
NOW PLAYING

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. FOR A small charge we can relieve you of all details connected with renting your property. Our service includes selection of desirable tenants, supervision of upkeep and collection of rents. Consult us today regarding this service. Service Insurance & Realty Co., Henderson Street. Phone F-419. (ch 1x2)

FOR RENT 6A

SINGLE ROOM IN QUIET, MODERN home on West University Drive. Good furnishings. Available immediately. Call F-2368 or 9121. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE 6B

TWO BEDROOM HOUSE FOR SALE or rent. Located at corner of Justice and Branch Streets—near airport. Owner will be at house in Chapel Hill April 22. (4-2400-1)

SCHICK DOUBLE EDGE ELECTRIC razor at a very reasonable price. Interested persons contact Art Xantros, 101 "A" Dorm. Thanks. (1-1200-1)

OLD ENGLISH DWARF BOXWOODS, 21" high and up. About ⅓ retail price. Shrubery of all kinds. Dug one day—planted next. Box 1765, Durham, N. C. (3-c6703-1)

DALMATIAN PUPPIES AT VERY reasonable prices. See them at Nathan Veterinary Hospital, Chapel Hill. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

'41 CLUB COUPE PONTIAC, RADIO, heater. Excellent condition. $725. Contact H. B. Broadfoot, 107 Everett. (1-2500-1)

1936 BUICK IN GOOD CONDITION. Priced to sell. See E. J. Woodhouse, Davie Circle. (4-c6704-1)

LOST 12

BROWN MALE SEVEN MONTHS OLD Cocker Spaniel. Black leather collar. Please telephone Jake Wade, F-5591 or F-3156.

WANTED 24

COLLAPSABLE BABY CARRIAGE also a baby crib. Phone 5301 or call at 110 E. Franklin St. (1-6705-1)

COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
"Crisp"
Best French Frys In Town
15c
OPEN:
Mon.-Thurs. 11 A.M.—12 P.M.
Fri. & Sat. 11 A.M.—2 A.M.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

"Can you send me a Gibbs secretary." Employers made good such requests during past year. For illustrated catalog write College Course Dean.
KATHARINE GIBBS
51 Marshall St., NEW YORK 17 90 Marlborough St., BOSTON 16
155 Angell St., PROVIDENCE 6

PLAN A PARTY WITH US
AT THE
MERCURY CLUB
We are giving special rates on Spring Parties. Plenty of Dancing room and Parking space. No cover or minimum
OPEN 7 P.M. — 'TIL
Mercury Club
Your only Night Spot operated by Students for Students
3 Miles out on Greensboro Highway

"I had to stop her...at any cost..."
THAT'S WHY I PULLED THE TRIGGER!"
Was it the truth . . . or a false confession . . . to safeguard a secret so dangerous it was worth the risk of murder? Only the victim knows the real answer . . . and that lies buried deep in her breast . . . together with the bullet that struck her down!
Vicki Baum knows women! In this story, based on her best-seller, "Mortgage on Life" she explores the souls of two!
MAUREEN O'HARA · MELVYN DOUGLAS GLORIA GRAHAME · BILL WILLIAMS
in
A Woman's Secret
with VICTOR JORY • MARY PHILIPS • JAY C. FLIPPEN
RKO RADIO
—ALSO—
LATEST NEWS — MUSICAL
TODAY
CAROLINA

APRIL 22, 1949

Any Metal Work
Be Done
RT SERVICE
ta! Shop
RRBORO

E IT IS:
tines
um Draft
EER
M. ONLY
0—(1 at a time)
KELLER

ices?
Yes!
Goods?
Yes!
TORE

FIC PARADISE!
PLAYING
N' STRIKE
F IT
i!!

UNIVERSITY OF N. C.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-26-49

EDITORIALS

Extra-Curricular Work
Something to Consider
NSA Party Plank

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Cloudy and mild: possible rain.

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SATURDAY, APRIL 23, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 150

SDA Civil Rights Conference Will Begin In Bingham Today

Mackie To Give Keynote Address

Today at 1 o'clock the Civil Rights conference sponsored by the Students for Democratic Action will open in Bingham Hall when all University students and those from neighboring North Carolina colleges will be registered. President Bill Mackie will deliver the keynote address in Bingham auditorium at 2 o'clock.

The first seminar sessions will open in the Roland Parker lounges of Graham Memorial promptly at 3 o'clock and will be followed by a second session at 8 o'clock tonight. The subjects of the three student seminars are designed to cover the entire civil rights question.

John Sanders will lead the discussion on "Educational Opportunity" while the seminar on "Economic Opportunity" will be headed by Dick Murphy. Tom Donnelly will serve as chairman in the discussion of the "Security of Personal Rights" and the "Rights of Citizenship."

The delegates will adjourn from the first session of seminars for a buffet supper at the Presbyterian Church where Charlie Sellers will give a brief talk on the goals and functions of SDA for the benefit of the delegates from visiting colleges.

In closing the activities of the first day of the conference, a mass meeting will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in Gerrard Hall where the entire proceedings and discussions of civil rights as followed by the conference will be open to examination by all interested persons. This meeting will break up into a reception following immediately in honor of the visiting delegates.

The conference will be continued tomorrow morning when the participating students of Carolina and several other colleges will reconvene in a plenary session to hear the reports from today's seminar meetings. Organizational SDA meetings at noon will mark the last conference gathering before the Farewell at 1 o'clock.

STACKS OF A ZINC PLANT belch smoke and fumes as a check is made for the effects of the smog on Donora, Pa. The U. S. Public Health Service made the test in an attempt to duplicate conditions prevailing last October when 22 persons died in Donora. The test made a number of people sick in the area.

Aden Students Visit University

"I got dust on my shoes here," said Mrs. Larue Evans and laughed as she walked along leading her class of 29 eight-grade pupils from Aden, N. C. on a tour of the University campus Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Evans explained that the eighth grade studies North Carolina and many of her pupils would not get to go to college, but this conducted tour would give them a chance to see what a college looked like.

The group visited Wake Forest in the morning, Duke in the early afternoon and reached Carolina about 4 p.m. singing songs and yelling.

Ray Jefferies, Carolina student, acted as guide for the tour and managed to keep up with and answer all the questions except one. He could not tell these lively youngsters where to find Charlie "Choo, Choo" Justice.

Do Tell

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 22—(UP)—A greater percentage of white South Carolinians flunk their freshman year in college than do South Carolina Negroes, an Education Department report showed today.

Only 40 per cent of the whites passed all their freshman courses.

Of the Negro freshmen, 54 per cent passed all their work.

The department released figures based on the year 1947-48, including only white and Negro graduates of South Carolina high schools who entered their freshman year in South Carolina colleges.

Road Bond Bill Becomes Law With House O.K.

RALEIGH, April 22—(UP)—The North Carolina House today passed into law the $200,000,000 rural road bond referendum and passed second reading of the budget appropriations bill.

The vote on the road bonds was 99-1 with only Rep. F. L. Gobble of Forsyth County opposed.

The record $427,038,668 appropriations bill passed second reading 87-12.

Speaker Kerr Craige Ramsay urged all members of the House to be present tomorrow so the bill may be passed into law.

Rep. John Umstead of Orange, a House leader for higher teacher pay and a member of the conference committee which worked out the compromise budget bill, said he voted for the measure "with the same reluctance" he had in signing it. He said he was sure "the work we started is going to carry through two years from now."

However, the Senate soon caught up with its work, and recessed until 2 p.m. to allow the engrossing office to prepare more bills for passage.

The House plugged away at its business, passing second reading of a bill for a liquor vote for Winston - Salem and Forsyth County. But third reading of the bill was delayed until tomorrow after a split between members of the Forsyth County delegation.

Painting Medal Of Women's Club Won by Williams

Ben F. Williams, 24-year-old assistant in the Art Department of the University won the $100 cash prize yesterday for the best oil painting in an exhibition held at Goldsboro under the sponsorship of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs.

Williams, who is a native of Lumberton, was awarded first prize on his entry entitled "Sumac," his other two entries were, "Wilted Rose" and "Landscape with Rocks."

The Goldsboro exhibition was held April 19-21 and was limited to original works by North Carolina artists living now or having lived in the state.

The work of Williams has been widely exhibited throughout the South and his work is on permanent display at the North Carolina State Art Gallery in Raleigh and at the High Museum in Atlanta, Ga. He also has an exhibit in New York at the Jacques Seliegmann Gallery on 57th Street.

Art Exhibition In Person Hall To Be Closed

Owner To Speak Here Tomorrow

Mervin Jules, associate professor of art at Smith College, will arrive here tonight by plane from North Hampton, Mass., to close the exhibit of his work now showing in Person Hall Art Gallery.

Jules will hold a public lecture at Person Hall tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, and 7 o'clock he will hold a forum discussion for teachers of the public schools of North Carolina. These teachers are mainly those who have sent their pupils' works here to the North Carolina School Art Exhibition, which will be held May 1 to 19.

Some 2,000 exhibits are now on hand and it is expected the total will run over 3,000 for Jules to judge. After the judging, about 300 will be selected for the exhibit in May.

A native of Baltimore, Jules graduated from Baltimore City College, the Maryland Institute of Art and studied at the Art Students League. He has been instructor at the Museum of Modern Art School, the War Veterans Art Center, Smith College and other schools.

He has held over a score of one-man exhibitions in Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Hollywood. His works were awarded the Wilson Levering Smith Medal 1939-41, the Purchase prize, at the Baltimore Museum of Art twice, and once each at the Museum of Modern Art, Library of Congress and Brooklyn Museum.

The works of Jules have been widely displayed here and abroad in England and France. The following collections have some of his works represented: The Metropolitan Museum of Art, Museum of Modern Art, Art Institute of Chicago, Boston Museum, Portland Oregon Museum, Library of Congress, Baltimore Museum of Art, Philadelphia Museum, Illinois State Museum, Brooklyn Museum, Encyclopedia Britannica Collection, State Department Collection and several private collections.

Jules has published several articles and books on art education for children and he has illustrated others. He is a member of several professional societies of artists.

Mindszenty Problem Before UN Assembly

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 22.—(UP)—The cases of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty and other church leaders in Hungary and Bulgaria were sent to the floor of the United Nations General Assembly today with a recommendation that any UN action be withheld pending efforts to settle the issue under the Balkan peace treaties.

THREE-YEAR-OLD Peter Blevins sits pensively at his home in North Bellmore, L. I., New York, holding his bandaged left hand against his face. While the youngster's father was loading milk cans for market at a nearby dairy farm, Peter wandered over to an automatic water pump. His hand was caught in the machine crushing two of his fingers. Since the accident, the owner of the firm has fired his dad.

Hamilton Is New Member Of Law Frat

Judge Initiated In Battle Senate

Superior Court Judge Luther Hamilton was formally initiated into Battle Senate, the local chapter of Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity of the University of North Carolina, as an honorary member. The secret ceremonies were held in the Carolina Inn at Chapel Hill on Wednesday, April 20th.

The initiation, which included 18 new members, and the installation of new officers were followed by a banquet and an address by Judge Hamilton, who was introduced by Marshall B. Sherrin, Jr.

Judge Hamilton is an alumnus of the University, having received his L.L.B. degree in 1915. He engaged in general practice in Morehead City, served as a city and county attorney, as Mayor of Morehead City, and as state senator and representative. He is also a veteran of World War I. At present he is a Special Judge of the State Superior Court, having been appointed to that position in 1937 by Governor Hoey.

Judge Hamilton opened his extemporaneous talk by saying that he was greatly impressed with the serious intent of the initiation ceremony and that he was proud to be a member of Delta Theta Phi.

His address to the group centered about the personalities that made up the Constitutional Convention of 1787. He paid tribute to the great leaders of the Convention emphasizing their tremendous talent and genius in spite of their youth, and pointed out the bitter struggle that continued throughout the duration of the convention, the precariousness of the whole proceeding which would have failed were it not attended by men of experience, education, energy and great faith in God.

Judge Hamilton had great praise for men like John Marshall who "effectively preserved and perpetuated and gave life to the constitution." He declared that the constitution has two great enemies which we must guard

(See HAMILTON page 4)

Feel Better

ROANOKE RAPIDS, April 22—(UP)—Local police felt better today when they learned where Charles F. Lassiter has been since he skipped out on a $500 cash bond here last year.

Lassiter, of Branchville, Va., is serving time in the Virginia State Penitentiary at Richmond, Police Chief T. J. Davis said. He learned of Lassiter's imprisonment through Virginia authorities when he circulated a wanted order.

Heresy Claim Is Invalidated In New Rules

Catholics Revamp Church Catechism

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(UP) — The "heresy" charges raised against Boston College by three discharged teachers and a Jesuit priest were repudiated officially today in a new catechism issued by the Roman Catholic heirarchy in the United States.

Released by the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine after 12 years of preparation, the 426-page book lays down the basic dogma of the church for 26,000,000 Catholics in this country.

It is the first revision in more than 60 years of the "Baltimore Catechism" which has been the church's standard text book for American high school and adult religious classes since the 1880's.

The textbook clarifies the doctrine of "outside the church there is no salvation" which figured in the recent Boston College case.

The three teachers and Fr. Leonard Feeny, S. J., accused the Catholic college of teaching heresy by holding that persons could be saved outside the Catholic church. Fr. Feeny has been "silenced" by the archbishop of Boston for his part in the controversy.

The catechism upholds the college and the Archbishop, saying that the doctrine "does not mean that everyone who is not a Catholic will be condemned."

"It does mean that no one can be saved unless he belongs in some manner to the Catholic church, either actually or in desire," the catechism says, "for the means of grace are not given without some relation to the divine institution established by Christ. They who remain outside the Catholic church through no grave fault of their own and do not know it is the only true church can be saved by making use of the graces which God gives them."

TVA Films To Be Shown at Meet

Two films on the Tennessee Valley Authority will be shown Sunday afternoon at a meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club in the Roland Parker Lounge of Graham Memorial.

The meeting is to begin at 4 o'clock with a tea and the first film entitled "TVA" will be shown at 4:45. This picture shows the dams of the project actually being constructed and also the manner in which they function in controlling floods and producing power.

The second film, "Building a New Dominion," shows the agricultural and rural improvements made possible by the projects. The state of the valley before TVA and the improvements the project made in the area are graphically illustrated in this picture.

CPU Open Forum To Discuss Reds Wednesday Night

'Town Meeting' Series Will Feature Debate, Clash Session, Questioning

"Should Communism Be Outlawed?" will be discussed in Gerrard Hall Wednesday evening at 8:30 in the first of a series of "town meeting" style open debate and discussion sessions.

Sponsored by the Carolina Political Union, the first debate will feature Dr. E. J. Woodhouse, professor of political science, and student Bill Duncan on the affirmative, and Dr. Paul Guthrie, professor of economics, and student Dortch Warriner on the negative side of the question.

Each participant will present his arguments in formal debate manner, following which will be a short session of "direct clash discussion" among the four speakers, with the moderator directing. Then, members of the audience will be given the opportunity to ask questions of any of the speakers.

Dr. Woodhouse, a native of Virginia, graduated from Randolph-Macon College and later took a law degree from the University of Virginia. He has been a professor of political science at the University for several years.

He was largely responsible for the organization of the Carolina Political Union in 1936, which has as its objectives the discussion and study of current political questions, as well as bringing to the campus outstanding public speakers.

Bill Duncan is a senior from Narberth, Pennsylvania, majoring in political science. He is presently speaker of the Phi Assembly and retiring editor of the Yackety Yack.

Dr. Guthrie, who teaches principles of economics and social insurance, did his undergraduate college work at the University of Tennessee. He graduated from the Union Theological Seminary in New York with the B.D. degree, and later took his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Columbia University.

Dortch Warriner is a junior from Lawrenceville, Virginia, majoring in political science. He is a member of the Dialectic Senate, was attorney-general of student government for the year just ended, and is active in the leadership of the Campus Party.

School Closes As Teachers, Board Split

Dismissals Are Cause of Break

DENMARK, S. C., April 22.—(UP)—School is out here today because of a rift between school teachers and trustees.

Children were sent home from public school yesterday with a prepared statement signed by 26 faculty members, which stated that they would discontinue work until steps were taken to correct what they called "conditions" in the school.

Education Superintendent G. E. Bamberg said teachers reported to work today, but met no classes.

The faculty statement said, "We feel the faculty of Denmark public school has been placed in an untenable position due to dismissal of five teachers putting us in a position whereby we cannot perform our duties efficiently."

Bamberg disclosed that a mass resignation of teachers had been submitted to him, to take effect the last day of the present term.

Reports said that faculty members and trustees had agreed to submit their resignations in order to put the dispute in the hands of the County Board of Education.

Scott Queries Esso On Price Increases

RALEIGH, April 21—(UP)—Gov. Kerr Scott today demanded that the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey explain why it boosted its prices in North Carolina.

The husky farmer-governor sent a telegram to E. Holman, president of Standard Oil of New Jersey, in New York.

"Recently, April 6, I believe," Scott told Holman, "Your company raised the tank-wagon price of gasoline in North Carolina sixtenths of a cent per gallon.

"What impels you to raise the price of gasoline to our people just after your company has had a year of the largest net earnings in your history?" Scott asked Holman.

Lewis To Consider Miners' Complaint

LANSFORD, Pa., April 22.—(UP)—Ten miners ended a three-day sit-down 500-feet underground today after they learned John L. Lewis would take up their cause in a dispute over alleged pay docking.

The bedraggled miners came up from the bottom of a Lehigh Navigation Coal Co. Colliery here after a United Mine Workers official told them their grievance will be taken up next week. Lewis, UMW president, and top company officials will attend the meeting, probably in Washington.

Large numbers of the 6,000 Panther Valley miners who remained away from work in a sympathy walkout greeted the sitdowners as they emerged from the mine. They began their sitdown at 7 a.m., Tuesday in protest of docking of pay for allegedly quitting work early.

Barry Speaks

RALEIGH, April 22—(UP)—J. R. Barry of the Durham Sun was one of the principal speakers today at the second session of the three-day North Carolina Collegiate Press Association meeting which opened last night.

Student editors from throughout North Carolina are attending the annual convention.

Greensboro Man's Quest

Ark-Seeker To Comb Turkish Hills

By Harry McCarthy

GREENSBORO, April 22—(UP)—A bookish little 61-year-old ex-missionary said today he was preparing to climb Turkish mountains in a jeep to prove his quiet conviction that Noah's ark still exists where Noah left it.

Moscow doesn't like the idea. The State Department says it never heard of the expedition. Archeologists scoff. But Dr. Aaron J. Smith today said quietly he has the facts and he hopes to leave for Turkey within two months. He has never been there.

In a musty, littered office at his People's Bible School and Gospel Center here, Dr. Smith pulled out dozens of letters and reprinted articles to prove his theory that the ark is still on Mt. Ararat and has been reported by many persons for hundreds of years. His faith is not dimmed by the fact that most of the reports are second-hand.

"Most of our money is raised already by donations," said Dr. Smith.

He said he had his passport and expected a visa from Turkish authorities "within a few days."

The Bible states that the ark came to rest on one of the mountains of Ararat,, in what is now northwestern Turkey near the borders of Russia and Iran. Dr. Smith has pinpointed the spot down to Ararat itself, a 16,915 foot peak.

"The ark is about 12,000 or 14,000 feet up, not on the peak," He said. "I never said it was on the peak and neither did any of the men who say they have seen it. It's in a sort of gorge, between two smaller peaks—in a spot perpetually covered by snow and ice.

"We believe the ark is fairly well preserved because of the snow and ice," Dr. Smith said.

"It shouldn't be too hard to get into the area in the summertime. "We're planning on using jeeps in the mountains."

He said about 14 men would go with him to Turkey, each paying his own way at $2,000 to $3,000. He said some were old friends and others associates in the great ark hunt.

He said he was hoping for a grant from "an industrialist" whom he would not name, to make up the full $50,000 he still needs.

In London, another expedition headed by Edgerton Sykes reportedly plans to leave in May, to join Dr. Smith's group in Turkey. The two men have never seen each other.

"We got together through press reports," said Smith.

He didn't know how long it would take him to find the ark. But he was ready to stick it out in the mountains as long as his

(See ARK-SEEKER page 4)

'Miracles of Mind'

Hypnotic Show by Dr. Polgar Will Be Presented Tuesday

Dr. Franz J. Polgar will be presented with his fascinating demonstrations of hypnotism and mental telepathy next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall, it was announced by Scotty Venable, chairman of the Student Entertainment Committee.

"The Miracles of the Mind" show with which Polgar won high praise from University audiences twice last year will be admission-free to all students in keeping with SEC policy. However, faculty members, student wives, and townspeople will also be sold tickets for 75 cents each when the doors of Memorial Hall are opened at 7 o'clock.

Called "the most perplexing personality on the stage," Polgar appeared here once last April and was such a success that he did an encore performance the following week by popular demand. His program is made up of telepathy, amazing demonstrations in thought transference; memory feats, exhibiting the photographic mind in a series of rapid fire tests; and power of suggestion, with volunteer subjects from the audience.

"Audiences gasp at this mental wizard," says Pence James in the Saturday Evening Post, "who reads your mind, puts you to sleep, and can find any hidden object, including one secreted under a man's upper plate."

James also told how the mental magician hypnotised the entire Tech football team the day before they were slated to play Alabama. Georgia Tech won the game. The next Saturday Polgar was hundreds of miles away to fill an engagement, and the Georgia Tech team lost. "Coincidence of course," admits the Post article, "but for the rest of the season Atlanta papers were crying, 'The Team Needs Polgar.'"

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. ..... Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Night Editor: Frank Allston, Jr. Night Sports: Lew Chapman

Something To Consider

Most of the students who read this editorial will read only far enough to see the word cancer and then, consciously of subconsciously, they will think "Oh hell, that again!" and turn on to something else they consider more interesting. Within a few years a large portion of those who turn casually on will be dead or dying—victims of the nation's number two killer—cancer. It isn't a pleasant thought, but undeniable facts are often a little hard to take.

The fund campaign, currently being conducted on the campus by the Inter-Fraternity Council on behalf of the American Cancer Society, is more than just another request for money. The drive, directed by Charlie Loudermilk, is a worthwhile and timely effort to support a great organization whose only aim is to save lives that might otherwise be lost.

Great strides toward conquering cancer have been made during the past few years and new successes are reported almost daily from the research laoratories throughout the nation. Infintesimal as these minor bits of knowledge are, they are steps up the ladder to complete success, and some day the top of the ladder will be reached.

When that day comes every man, woman and child will benefit through the knowledge that they and their children will not be the victims of malignant death. Cancer isn't a disease that always attacks someone else—you may be next.

So give up a couple of beers this week and help the American Cancer Society save your life.—Bill Johnson

Extra-Curricular Work

No one denies the value of extra-curricular work in developing the students ability in the broadest sense. It affords the individual the opportunity to inspect and take part in numerous activities similar to those which he will be exposed to when he leaves college. He will be able to approach the problems of the community with an attitude that has been matured by the performance of duties in campus organizations.

Very often, however, these organizations are run by members who dupe the young joiners into believing that his primary function as a student is the career of a campus politician. Finally his whole college program is defeated and extra-curricular activities are blamed.

The solution is to have student quality for membership in organizations by certifying his academic record to the offices of that organization. The answer to the question whether a failing student should hold office in any extra-curricular activity is too palpably clear to discuss.

—Bill Hipple

WAX FAX

By Nelson Taylor

(In this column there is a star for every person's boptionary. The interpretation for all capitalized words will be found at the end of the column.)

Klassification Key

* Fine
 Fair
 Futile
* Foul

Benny Goodman
 The Varsity Drag
 Maids of Cadiz
 Shiskabop
* Having a Wonderful Wish

The first two sides are more of the fine sextet swing which gained so much popularity a few years back with the release of two albums of the sextet of the King of Swing. Benny shines as usual on the licorice stick. "Wish" is a lousy vocal by Buddy Greco. Even the Goodman orchestra can't pull him out of it. I'll probably lose a lot of DADDY O'S by that remark. "Shiskabop" is a superior piece of bop done up by the Swing King. It is bop that holds together and is understandable. Unlike most bop, it's coherent and even maintains a good steady beat.

Betsy Gay and Andy Parker
 I Didn't Know the Gun was Loaded
* I ain't Got Nothin' to Lose

The Peperetes do a much better job on this novelty tune. However, the record shop in Chapel Hill has not been able to get any copies of their release. This one by Gay is lousy. She doesn't have a particularly pleasing voice, and she is a accompanied by a male chorus which is reminiscent of the old barber shop quartet. The reverse is a BUG and a duplicate of "Poly Woly Doddle All the Day." Parker should be persecuted under the copywrong law.

Jo Stafford and Gordon MacRae
 Kiss Me Kate

The voices in this album are generally better than in the Columbia released album with the original cast, but the orchestrations are not anything like as full or as rich and inspiring as those in the latter album and so the first album is superior to this present release by Stafford and MacRae.

Chubby Jackson
 Godchild
 Father Knickenbopper

"Godchild" starts as a bop vocal which is strictly DRAG. Finally it develops into a fairly decent bop instrimental with a good bit of inspiration, but then it degenerates into the bop vocal at the end to louse up the side in general. "Father" is a bop instrimental played at a fast and furious pace with every body GOOF but turning in some fine bop in the process.

BOPTIONARY

Daddy O . . A good friend or pal
Bug . . . . . Something iritating
Drag . . . . . Terrible, lousy
Goof Someone temporarily off his nut

Off to a Flying Start

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

CPU Inquiring Reporter

Should Communists Teach?

By Murray Goldenthal

(The following opinions represent the views of the individual only and do not represent the opinions of any organization. If any readers have questions that they would like to have answered please address them to the CPU, Graham Memorial.)

Should Communists be allowed to teach at this and other universities?

Wellborne Phillips, KA House: "With a few exceptions, the Communists should be free to go anywhere they want for the purpose of presenting their ideas which I think will eventually be discredited. They should, however, be kept out of our government, our labor unions, and our schools."

James Southerland, 1 Battle Dorm: "If the instructor is known publically to be a Communist, he could do no harm to our 'innocent' minds. However, it is completely up to the trustees of universities to decide who they want to hire or fire. I personally believe it would be worth the money to have a real live Communist in our zoo.. It might offset some of our arch-conservatives."

Marvin Luther, 304 Graham Dorm: "I do not think that an avowed Communist should be allowed to teach in our universities. I have no strenuous objections to the teaching of Marxist doctrines, in fact I think perhaps it would be desirable to have them taught. However, I believe that they should be taught from an objective point of view. I do not think that avowed Communist teachers are capable of presenting Marxist doctrine without grossly distorting the truth. I believe they would color their views, glorifying Russia, and reflecting generally, the party line."

Michael Pochna, Box 681: "I think that Communists should be permitted to teach at the University. They are a political minority, but this should not prevent them from teaching or holding any other job so long as they, like any other political group, carry out no overt act against the government. Many of the Communists would probably be teaching in professions that would not involve their political philosophy. I cannot understand the fear of letting Communists teach. There are differences in ideology but these would better be solved by discussion than suppression."

Stuart Peltz, 402 N. Columbia St.: "Yes, College students quickly learn that what is put in books and said in front of a class in not of divine origin. If the teacher admits that he is a Communist, the students then can weigh what he says and come to their own conclusions. Perhaps a few left-wingers would balance out the many reactionary teachers we have at the present time."

Hans Freistadt, 404 McCauley: "The faculties of schools should be appointed on the basis of scholarship and teaching ability. To deny a person the right to teach merely because of political beliefs or affiliation with a legal political party is a violation of academic freedom. The very fact that this question is being raised, as well as the examples of Washington University, Olivet College, and others, have contributed to the current intimidation of progressive minded teachers, many of whom are now afraid to express themselves freely. To those who argue that a Communist has a slave mind, may I answer that a Communist remains one only as long as he is convinced of the truth to Communist philosophy. Certainly there are no material inducements to being a Communist today.

Music Review

Singers Draw Praise

By "Wink" Locklair

One of the most admirable qualities about the University of North Carolina Glee Club is its refusal to follow the traditional, old-hat Bortnjansky to "On Wings of Song" type of program which so many college choral ensembles—not excluding one or two in the immediate vicinity—have been doing for years.

In its February concert, the Men's Glee Club gave a stirring performance of "General William Booth Enters Into Heaven," by Phillip James. Music by two other contemporories, William Schuman and John Tasker Howard, was also heard that night. And last Thursday evening, under the direction of Paul Young, the Women's Glee Club, in its annual spring concert, presented another unusual and interesting composition by Mr. Schuman: his setting of some text for soprano solo and chorus from Thomas Wolfe's "Look Homeward, Angel."

The music itself, with strange dissonances and audible whispered passages, is almost as confusing as Mr. Wolfe's writing. But it is the sort of music you want to hear a second time. It is stimulating, original writing. And the final lines of it, "O lost, and by the wind grieved, ghost, come back again," could almost be called a dirge.

Opening the concert was Johaann Adolf Hasse's six-part "Miserere," with solos and duets by Harriet Keen of the University Music Department, Beatrice Donley from Meredith College, and eJan Schneck of the Woman's College in Greensboro. The "Miserere" was originally written in 1728 for the girls' chorus and string band of a conservatory in Venice and it became one of the most celebrated compositions of the century.

The opening chorus, "God, Have Mercy," is stately, Handellike in structure. This is followed by a section for mezzo soprano, "I Have Sinned," which Miss Donley sang. Then there is a long chorus, "For Behold Ye," a duet "Deliver Me," sung by Miss Donley and Miss Schneck, a soprano solo by Miss Keen, and the closing chorus, "Do Good, Lord."

The Glee Club has been working on the Miserere and the other numbers for four months. It was done with much feeling and spirit by the soloists, the ensemble and the two accompanists, Jean Fornoff Smith and Charles Stevens.

Three folk songs were given after intermission. They were "Three Captains," Early One Morning," and "Waters Ripple and Flow," a Czech-Slovak folk song, arranged by Deems Taylor.

Assisted by the Men's Glee Club, Harry Lofquist, organist, and William aWters, pianist, the program was brought to a close with the singing of Johannes Brahms' great and eloquent "Alto Rhapsody." Originally written for solo voice with supporting chorus, Mr. Young lead the entire Women's chorus in the solo part, accompanied by the men's voices. This had been done here before with marked success and that success was repeated Thursday evening.

In response to enthusiastic applause at the conclusion of the "Rhapsody," Mr. Young directed the singers in the most popular excerpt from Brahms' German Requiem. "How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place, O Lord." When the audience insisted on a second encore, the Combined Glee Clubs sang William Schuman's humorous "The Orchestra Song."

It was a splendid concert. Mrs. Keen and the Misses Donley and Schneck were excellent in the solo and duet portions of the Miserere and Schuman Prelude. Barbara Young's solo passage in "Early One Morning" was nicely done, and Jeanne Fornoff Smith was, as always, an intelligent and competent accompanist.

Except for an appearance by the Men's Glee Club with the Randolph-Macon College Chorus in Virginia May 13, this was the final event of the season for the Glee Clubs.

Mouth-Fools

Spring And Gripes

By Jimmy Rutherford

Spring has hit the campus full force in case you haven't noticed and old Mother Nature has really sprayed the trees and grass with a brillant yellow green. The beautiful paths that have been cut through the hallowed grounds by eager students hurrying to be the first ones to class and the attractive array of paper cups that embroider our walks have done much to comply with the budding season.

The Carolina have done their little bit to harmonize with this vernal time. They too, like our spirited dogwood have blossomed out with that fresh speakling complexion. Yes sir, they have blossomed out. Most of them are blooming idiots anyhow. And geologically speaking, they have their contour lines.

A certain TAR HEEL editorial a few days ago stated that the students who stayed over and spent their week ends at Chapel Hill were very few in number, and the article went on saying that if they did stay over they could enjoy this brief holiday. Word was mentioned of those who went home to girl friends and those who went out of town because they figured there was nothing to do at the "Hill." But no word was mentioned of that major group who don't even know what becomes of their wek ends.

There have been many peculiar events going on around the Y court lately and I think all of these can be attributed to the Grail initiation and those various Fraternity iniations. I am still looking forward to the day when there will be a horse next to me in a class with a pencil behind its ear. I guess that would be strange though, whoever heard of a horse sitting in class with a pencil behind its ear?

It was reported that one initiate swallowed a live frog during his pledge week and almost croaked.

Complaint Department

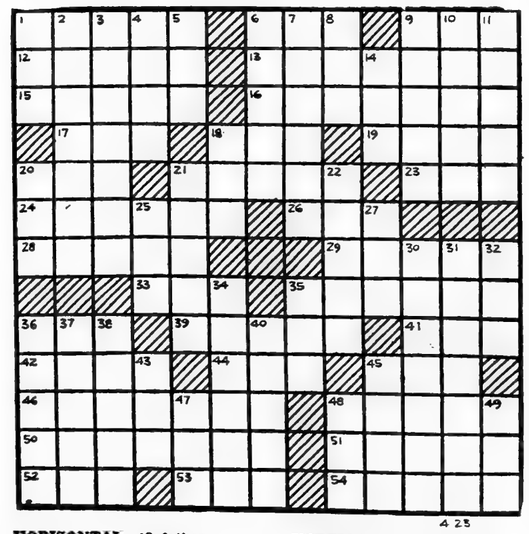
One of our educated canines affronted me yesterday with this bitter complaint and as I thought it worthy of consideration I will pass it on. I quote:

"If they keep on erecting new monstrosities with the donator's name plastered all over them, that means they'll keep cutting down more trees. What's to become of us hounds then?"

No constructive suggestions have been brought to my attention with the exception of one student who mentioned that perhaps the Planetarium be destroyed and the planting of trees be subjugated in its place.

However this is impracticable since it is known that our University is the first college to have such a fine assestment and tearing it down when it has been just completed would constitute an embarrassing situation.

It would mean, though, if one can look at this proposal optimistically that we would be the first college to tear down a Planetarium.

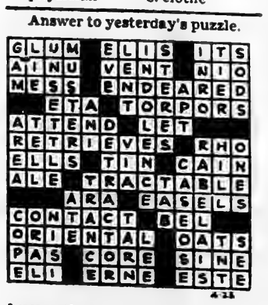


I suppose the chief interest in the Planetarium will be the science of Astronomy or the study of the heavenly bodies. I understand they will be able to see the slightest movements on Mars and observe the most intricate details on the Moon. All I know is that the heavenly bodies of planets McIver and Alderman, etc., had better keep their shades down.

One of the local squirrels, the one with a bushy tail and four legs, was quoted as saying disgustily: "This place is going to the dogs," and only last year he was the same one that said this University was the nuts.

I do think something should be done for those many squirrels that lost their homes when the Planetarium was being built and those poor unfortunate dogs that were placed out of humor. I don't suppose many people even thought of all those squirrels' nests that were destroyed when those trees were so rudely chopped down for the construction of our newest annex.

I am in favor of starting a little Memorial for these unfortunate creatures. It could be called "The Sorehead Memorial Fund for Homeless Squirrels and Dejected Dogs." I believe we could go on record as the first college to have done such a noble thing.



Samuel Percival J. Ninwit, local Botany major, wrote in this complaint as follows: "I think it would be nice and worthwhile to the University if they would condescend to install lights in the Arboretum so that people could see the various types of plants in the cool of the evening and study their nocturnal habits."

HORIZONTAL
1. church recesses
6. corpulent
9. narrow inlet
12. Turkish decree
13. pressers
15. legendary nymph
16. nullifies
17. adult male
18. river island
19. languish
20. Indian moccasin
21. piece of property
23. Roman coins
24. vast unwooded plain
26. slight drink
28. Spanish gentleman
29. morning song
33. excel
35. degrade
36. masculine name
39. a canonical office
41. American author
42. father
44. stitch
45. nothing
46. notched
48. book of the Bible
50. warded off
51. growing out
52. besides
53. bitter vetch
54. Greek physician

VERTICAL
1. three-toed sloths
2. high-ranking prelate
3. ancient nomad Arab
4. paradise
5. Japanese coin
6. end
7. sharp mountain spurs
8. clothe
9. networks
10. goddess of peace
11. donkeys
14. drowze
18. ashes (Scot.)
20. letter addenda (abbr.)
21. protective garment
22. sets pace of
25. cooking utensil
27. soft food
30. local
31. set apart
32. born
34. advertising placard
35. bead-like moisture
36. test
37. sifting utensil
38. edict
40. necessities
43. wander
45. one of Columbus' ships
47. corroded
48. large: comb. form
49. female chicken

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 21 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc

This 'n That

NSA Party Plank

By Bill Buchan

Now that all the hullabaloo of the political battle is over, maybe it is fitting to think about one of the most forward-looking planks in any of the three platforms.

The plank, of course, is the NSA purchase card system, whereby students, after paying one dollar to join, can get reductions from 10 to 30 per cent in their purchases at member stores.

The idea was widely discussed during the campaign and the fact that the party which was pushing it failed miserably at the polls does not take any significance away from its importance. It is a way to save money for the students and anything that does that should be seriously considered by all students, regards of political affiliations.

Briefly, the purchase card system was inaugurated by the National Student Association some time ago and now is in operation on some 30 campuses throughout the country. All reports on it have given it a huge "A" for success.

There has been quite a bit of discussion here as to whether or not the Chapel Hill merchants would join in the program. There is reason to believe that they would. They certainly showed an interest in it when it was brought out last month. It certainly would hurt no one to investigate and find out.

There is also the consideration of merchants in Durham, Raleigh and perhaps Greensboro. It is a known fact that they are eager for some of the business that students here give the Chapel Hill merchants. If the local merchants were foolish enough to refuse to enter the program, they would soon see the error of their ways if students started trading in Durham and Raleigh on a huge scale in order to save a buck here and there. However, it is doubtful that the CH merchants would refuse to participate.

What can be done now to further the program is for some conscientious legislator to introduce a measure in the assembly either in favor of the plan or for the appointment of a special committee, composed of all three parties, to investigate it thoroughly in all four towns mentioned.

Any plan that will aid University students should not be stepped over lightly. Here is one that will definitely help if someone will take the initiative in putting it into action.

Netters Win, 6-3; Ward Vs. Stranahan In N-S Title Match

Kalamazoo Is 13th Court Victim In Home Match; Visit Virginia

By Lew Chapman

The strange Chapel Hill weather accomplished something yesterday that nobody else has been able to do so far this spring. It held the Tar Heel tennis team completely helpless for two full hours. But the skies did clear around 4 o'clock and the Carolina squad took to the courts and, opposed by mere mortals from Kalamazoo College, proceeded to pound out their 13th consecutive victory by the score of 6-3.

The next obstacle for the rampant racqueteers of Coach John Kenfield will be their toughest hurdle to date. The Carolina team meets the University of Virginia today at Charlottesville and a very close match is anticipated with the powerful Cavaliers. The Tar Heel six left last night for this match, their first away contest, with high hopes of annexing win number 14.

The feature of today's match will be the battle of the two team's respective aces. Vic Seixas, Carolina's nationally known netter, will meet Hal Burrows, the Cavalier's pride and joy.

VIC SEIXAS
. . . faces a tough one

Seixas Warms Up

Seixas warmed up for today's match by scoring the Tar Heel's first point in yesterday's match with the visiting Hornets from Michigan. His victim was Kalamazoo's number one man, Jack Sunderland, and the count was 6-3, 6-3. The Tar Heel ace from Philadelphia was bothered in the initial stages of the match by the slow, soggy courts but, after losing the first two games, he proceeded to gain his form and methodically ran his foe into the ground.

Not to be outdone by his captain, Carolina's Clark Taylor added another digit to the Tar Heel total by completely humbling Art Leighton, 6-0, 6-1. Both Seixas and Taylor, mentor Kenfield's one-two punch, are unbeaten in this year's competition.

Stan Gruner also extended his fine record this year by subduing the Hornet's Vic Braden, 6-1, 6-3 in a one-sided contest but Kalamazoo stayed in the running when Marvin Martin outlasted Carolina's Duke Wilder in a close match, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1.

Winstead Wins

Jim Winstead emerged victorious in his clash by beating Gordon Dolbee, 6-4, 6-4 for a Carolina point but Kalamazoo's sixth man, Dick Cain, salvaged a counter for his team by defeating Laslie Dameron, 6-3, 8-6.

Seixas-Taylor and Dameron-Winstead insured a Tar Heel victory by winning their doubles matches although Wilder and Grouner met defeat at the hands of Kalamazoo's Leighton and Martin, 6-0, 6-3.

With the match, the Tar Heels ended their long home stand and for Kalamazoo, the contest meant a sour ending to an otherwise highly successful road trip through the South.

Summaries

Singles: Seixas (UNC) defeated Sunderland, 6-3, 6-3; Taylor (UNC) defeated Leighton, 6-0, 6-1; Gruner (UNC) defeated Braden, 6-1, 6-3; Martin (K) defeated Wilder, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1; Winstead (UNC) defeated Dalbee, 6-4, 6-4; Carr (K) defeated Dameron, 6-3, 8-6.

Doubles: Seixas-Taylor (UNC), defeated Sunderland-Braden, 6-0, 6-1; Leighton-Martin (K) defeated Wilder-Gruner, 6-0, 6-3; Dameron-Winstead (UNC) defeated Dalbee-Pizzat, 6-3, 7-5.

Batting Averages To Date Released

The unofficial batting averages for the Carolina baseball team to date as released yesterday are:

Player	ab	r	h	2b	3b	hr	avg.
Jim Ballou	4	2	3	0	1	0	.750
Ed Lamb	64	14	29	9	1	1	.453
Sid Varney	38	5	15	2	2	0	.392
Joe Eldridge	16	2	6	0	1	0	.375
Rip Ryan	60	14	22	2	4	0	.366
Ray Blair	14	3	5	1	0	0	.357
Stan Goodman	57	14	20	2	1	2	.351
Zero Allen	54	13	17	3	0	0	.315
Don Ward	30	3	9	0	0	0	.300
Charlie Gurganus	28	9	8	0	1	0	.285
Tommy Andrew	7	2	2	0	0	0	.285
Joe Brookshire	15	4	4	0	0	0	.266
Bill McGinn	5	0	1	0	0	0	.250
John Senter	45	11	11	1	2	1	.244
Dean Cassell	13	1	3	1	0	0	.230
Will Hobbs	71	14	16	2	2	0	.225
Andt Tranavitch	11	1	2	0	0	0	.182
Lester Couch	18	3	3	0	1	0	.166
Numie Cranford	12	2	0	0	0	0	.000
Ed Austin	9	0	0	0	0	0	.000

Frosh Tracksters Meet High Point Here Today at 11

The Carolina freshman track team will entertain the High Point High School trackmen in a dual meet on Fetzer Field this morning at 11 o'clock. Today's meet will mark the second dual meet of the season for the Tar Babies.

Forced out of competition with the Duke freshman yesterday afternoon by the elements, the local frosh will get another crack at the Blue Imps on Wednesday afternoon, weather permitting, at Durham at 2:30 o'clock.

Coach Dick Hollander's team bowed to N. C. State in a close 79-72 meet on Fetzer Field last week. Several key men were either absent or ailing during the last meet, so Hollander has high hopes of his team revenging the State loss later in the year.

Against High Point today the Tar Babies will be the favorites. The team is in fairly good shape although several men will not be able to compete today. Hollander, however, will be able to fall back on his reserve strength.

Gordon Hamrich, sensational Carolina distance man, will be favored in both the mile run and the two-mile stint. Hamrich copped the mile against State, but only managed a second in the two-mile.

Carolina will have a formidable trio in the sprints with Bill Winslow heading the list of entries in the 100-yard dash. Winslow will team up with Gene Brigham and Roy Solaski in the 220. Brigham and Solaski will also be entered in the 440.

Romas White, who turned in a pair of firsts and a pair of seconds, should star today. White pole vaulted 11 feet to a tie with State's Splawn and sped to a 15.3 win in the 120-yard high hurdles. He also copped second in the broad jump and lost a very close decision to State's flashy sprinter L. D. Wadsworth in the 220-yard low hurdles.

Footballers Billy O'Brian and Mike Galifianakis will take time off from their girdiron duties tomorrow to compete in the shot put. O'Brien copped the shot last week with a 38 ft. 9 ½ in. heave. Fred Council, who flipped the discus better than 113 ft. for a win in that event, will be back to defend his title.

John Smitherman sheaved the javelin 114 ft. 6 in. to win against State and should repeat against High Point. Another possible first for Carolina tomorrow may develope in the high jump where Bill Winsor has done 5 ft. 10 in.

There will be no admission charge for the meet today with field events scheduled to get underway at 11 o'clock and the running events following at 11:30. —ALLSTON.

TODAY'S SPORTS

Baseball

Varsity baseball—Carolina vs N. C. State at Raleigh at 2:30 o'clock.

Freshman baseball—Carolina vs N. C. State at Emerson Stadium at 4 o'clock.

Tennis

Varsity tennis—Carolina vs Virginia at Charlottesville at 2 o'clock.

Track

Varsity practice track meet—Carolina vs N. C. State at Raleigh at 2:30 o'clock.

Freshman track—Carolina vs High Point High School at Fetzer Field at 11 o'clock.

Soccer

Varsity practice game—Carolina vs N. C. State at Intramural Field at 2:30 o'clock.

IN THE MAJORS

By United Press

Yesterday's Results

AMERICAN LEAGUE

St. Louis 000-200-000—2—6—1
Chicago 000-400-01x—5—9—0
Embree, Ferrick (4), Ostrows (8) and Moss; Pieretti, Wight (8) and Tipton.
Winning pitcher, Pieretti, losing pitcher, Embree.
Home run—Zernial.

New York 000-002-300—5—9—3
Boston 010-002-000—3—7—2
Reynolds, Page (7) and Berra, Houk (8); Hughson, Johnson (7), Ferriss (7), McCall (9) and Tebbetts, Batts (9).
Winning pitcher, Reynolds, losing pitcher, Johnson.

(10 innings)
Detroit 100-100-001-0—3—6—2
Cleveland 200-000-010-1—4—7—0
Hutchinson, Trout (9) and Swift; Bearden and Hegan. Losing pitcher, Trout.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Brooklyn at Philadelphia postponed, wet grounds.

(Called account rain)
Boston 040-010-100—6—13—2
New York 003-200-010—6—15—0
Sain, Hogue (4), Potter (8) and Salkeld, Masi (6); Jansen, Koslo (2) and Livingston, Cooper (5)

Cincinnati 400-000-000—4—1—0
Pittsburgh 004-100-00x—5—5—5
Fox, Erautt (8) and Howell; Chesnes, Werle (2) Casey (9) and McCullough.
Winning pitcher, Werle. Losing pitcher, Fox.
Home runs—Wyrostek, Kiner.

Chicago 100 000 010-2 4-2
St. Louis 301 300 20x-9-12-1
Schmitz, Hacker (5), Lade (8) and Scheffing; Brazle and D. Rice. Losing pitcher, Schmitz.
Home runs—Gustine, Musial.

Probable Pitchers

(Won and lost records in parentheses)

AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York (Sanford 0-0) at Boston (Stobbs 0-0).
Philadelphia (Fowler 0-1) at Washington (Scarborough 1-0).
Detroit (Newhouser 1-0) at Cleveland (Wynn 0-0).
St. Louis (Kennedy 0-0) at Chicago (Gettel 0-1).

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Boston (Spahn 0-0) at New York (Jones 0-1).
Brooklyn (Barney 0-0) at Philadelphia (Roberts 0-0).
Cincinnati (Wehmeier 0-0) at Pittsburgh (Riddle 0-0).
Chicago (Adkins 0-0) at St. Louis (Munger 0-0)—Night.

Local Tops Chapman, 3 and 2; 36-Hole Finals Start at 10:00

By Billy Carmichael III

PINEHURST, April 22—A Tar Heel lad named Harvie Ward and a barbell boy tagged Frank Stranahan bounded into the finals of the 49th Annual North and South Amateur golf championship here today when the defending champion and challenger dutily disposed of their 36-hole semi-final competition.

Mr. Ward had the serious match of the day, an encounter with Dick Chapman, former National Amateur champion, which went all the way to the 34th hole before Ward closed the affair out, 3 and 2.

Stranahan, meanwhile, was getting little more than practice from Wake Forest's Arnold Palmer, who didn't win but one hole all day and was defeated 12 and 11 in what bordered heavily on the nature of a rout.

All of these proceedings added up to the fact that Stranahan and Ward will match up tomorrow in a replay of their last year's finals clash which the Tar Heel star won 1 up. This year, Stranahan has said, the results will be different—a statement the proof of which some several thousand fans will be on hand to witness when 36-hole competition gets under way at 10 o'clock in the morning. The afternoon round begins at 2 o'clock.

From the looks of today's matches, Stranahan will definitely be the favorite. He finished in time this afternoon to see the last nine holes of the Ward-Chapman match, an encounter that at times had the Muscleman wondering who he would meet in tomorrow's finals.

Some Control

For Ward, though he maintained some control of the match throughout the day, played a variety of golf that saw him tally, then dally, then tally, and then repeat the whole combination for the late arrivals.

The Tar Heel went two up after the first eight holes, but Chapman came back to gather in the 10th and 11th and even the match. The pair halved the next three holes after which Ward proceeded to birdie the short 15th and subsequently go out to lunch at 1 up after missing a short putt and a chance to improve his lead on the 17th.

After lunch, Ward took advantage of a Chapman error to win the 3rd with a par, and then added a birdie on the 4th to 3 up. Chapman took back one when Ward bogeyed the 6th, but the Tar Heel recovered his edge on the next hole when his 40-foot birdie putt lipped out, but bested a Chapman boegey effort.

Ward halved the following hole with brilliant long iron recovery after his drive had strayed in the woods. On the 8th, the Tarest margin of the day, dropping a fine 15-footer that left Chap-

(See GOLF, page 4)

TO CARRY PLAY

Radio Station WEEB, Mutual affiliated in Southern Pines, announced last night that it would carry repeated reports of today's final match. The reports will be broadcast throughout the day by a walkie-talkie on the spot.

The station, which officials said could easily be picked up up in Chapel Hill, broadcasts on 1360 kilocycles. Reports will be carried every 20 or 30 minutes depending on the intensity of the competition.

Bob Harlowe of Golf World, a weekly golf magazine, who is helping with Mutual's coverage of the match, assured Carolina golf fans that Harvie Ward would be on the air right after the match.

Newsweek Carries Story on Albans; To Meet Mathias

The fame of Carolina's own Bill, "The Profile", Albans took on a nation-wide aspect with the issuance of the April 25 edition of Newsweek Magazine. The issue devoted two pages of its sports section to the Blue and White trackster and ran a photo of Albans breaking the tape in the Princeton meet on Fetzer Field.

The article told of Albans' arrival in Chapel Hill as a freshman and of his rise to fame in the Southern Conference with an unprecendented reaping of honors. It also told of Albans' aim to beat Olympic champ Bob Mathias in the AAU Decathalon to be held in Mathias' home town of Tulare, California, this June.

"I can beat those fellows," Albans is quoted as saying of the Decathaloners, "I'm sure I can beat Mathias in four events—100 meters, high jump, broad jump, and high hurdles." Bill took seventh place in the hop-skip-and jump event for the U.S. in the London finals after placing first in the trials in this country.

Said Chunk Simmons, ex-Carolina runner, of Albans; "I laughed at his talk in London, now I believe he can do what he says." Simmons placed third behind Mathias in the Decathalon at London; it is rumored that he may be back at Carolina next fall, in time for the track season.

Albans' record at Carolina now stands at eighteen firsts out of nineteen events that he has run; he took one second in the broad jump behind teammate Jack Moody in the Princeton meet. His first official competition came in the Washington Evening Star-District AAU Games where jumped 6 ft. 5 in. to beat Olympic champ Dave Albritton.

Since then he has piled up nine first places in indoor competition, all but three of them being records. Five out of his nine outdoor firsts have also been records. He is slated to go to the Penn Relays next week where he will run in several events.

The story will carry Albans' challenge to Mathias and bring their meeting this summer into the spotlight as a point of national interest—TAYLOR.

Number of Sports Cut In 1952 Olympic Meet

ZURICH, April 22—(UP)—The 1952 Olympic Games, which will be held at Helsinki, Finland, will follow the organizational setup of the 1948 Olympics, but the number of sports will be reduced to 16, the United Press learned today. In the 1948 games at London, 18 different sports were on the program.

A member of the Swiss Olympic Committee said that the Executive Council of the International Olympic Committee also discussed reducing the size of the field for Olympic soccer, field hockey, handball and women's track and field events.

Typing. . . Thesis, Plays, Term Papers, & Law Briefs
Mrs. Virginia Andrews
Fields Bldg. — Phone 8726
Res. F-3691
Across from Bus Sta.

Tar Heel-Deac Game Rained Out; Blair On Mound Today In Raleigh

With yesterday's game with Wake Forest being rained out, the Tar Heel baseballers travel to Raleigh this afternoon to meet the State Wolfpack in a Big Four contest beginning at 2:30 in Devereaux Meadow.

The weatherman seems to hold all of the trump cards in the Carolina-Deacon rivalry for yesterday's washout had been slated as a replacement for last week's season opener with the Deacs. Wednesday, however there was no act of God to interfere and the Tar Heels blew an early lead to Wake Forest, finally losing, 6-5.

BIG FOUR STANDINGS

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.	GB
Wake Forest	3	0	1.000	—
North Carolina	1	1	.500	1½
N. C. State	1	1	.500	1½
Duke	0	3	.000	3

Andy Tranavitch showed that the entire Carolina pitching staff hadn't gone to the dogs against Davidson Thursday by hurling a classy two-hitter as Carolina won, 5-0, and today it will probably be up to Ray Blair.

Blair was scheduled to start against the Deacons and the top righthander of the Carolina mound crew will probably get the nod today. The rain did give the local outfit a bit of rest and the Tar Heels certainly needed it with five games being scheduled in six days.

Wednesday's loss to the Deacs also put a crimp in the Carolina rotation for three, count them, starting pitchers saw action in the losing cause. Dean Cassell, the starter; Tommy Andrew and lefty Bill McGinn all were hurled into the frey in an attempt to halt the advancing Baptists.

The contest, which halted the Carolina string of victories, did have one ray of light for the Tar Heels—they were able to hit the Deacon's ace hurler, Dick Vander Clute for all of their nine hits and five runs.

Also on the positive side is the hitting of Rip Ryan, Sid Varney, and Stan Goodman, who went four for five against Davidson, and the fine fielding of Ryan and Goodman around the keystone sack. Goodman was in on all three Carolina double plays against the Wildcats and his generally fine fielding have tabbed the Norfolk sophomore as one of Carolina's fine diamond prospects.

Ryan has apparently returned to his fielding form of last year, having gone through three games and 10 chances without an error. His hitting hasn't suffered any, either.—FOX.

Practice Meet

The Carolina track team will journey to Raleigh this afternoon to compete against the N. C. State tracksters in a practice meet scheduled to get underway at 2:30 o'clock.

Coach Dale Ranson said yesterday that the bus for Raleigh would leave Fetzer Field at 11:15 o'clock. All varsity trackmen are to meet at the gym at 10 o'clock to fill out eligibility blanks. Following the signing of the blanks, the trackmen will eat at the Lenoir Hall training table.

Duke-Pitt Series Will Be Renewed

DURHAM, April 22—(UP)—A football rivalry which was short but wild will be picked up again in 1950 when Duke University meets the University of Pittsburgh.

Duke athletic officials announced the two-year agreement today.

Duke will open the 1950 season at Pittsburgh, Sept. 30. In 1951 the teams will meet on Sept. 29, that year's opener, but the location of the second game is undecided.

The Duke-Pitt series has been a spotty one. The Panthers came to Durham in 1929 to help dedicate the Duke Stadium and tromped all over the Blue Devils, 52-7.

The next game was in 1937 while the Panthers were riding high on the football heap, but Duke took the game 10-0.

The following year will long be remembered by rabid football fans. Duke went into the Pitt game undefeated, untied and unscored on. Pitt, with its "dream

(See DUKE-PITT, page 4)

Vernon's Hit Gets Indians Win; Yanks Only Unbeaten Team

By Carl Lundquist

NEW YORK, April 22—(UP)—The Cleveland Indians got a substantial dividend today on their deal for first baseman Mickey Vernon when the ex-Senator broke up a 10-inning struggle with the Detroit Tigers by hitting a single that produced a 4-3 victory.

Vernon, the one-year-wonder who won the American League batting championship in 1946 and thereafter was just another run-of-the-mill hitter, came to the Indians during the off-season in a deal in which Cleveland gave up first baseman Eddie Robinson, a long ball hitter.

Manager Lou Boudreau of Cleveland said he figured Vernon would regain his batting powess and even though he went hitless four straight times today, he came through in the 10th when it really counted.

Bearden Gets Win

The blow, which scored Larry Doby, who had been safe at first on an error and moved to second on a sacrifice, gave Lefty Gene Bearden his first triumph of the season. Bearden was the rookie ace of the Indians last year when he won 20 games.

Bearden gave up six hits. Joe Gordon paced the Indians at bat, driving in three runs with two hits.

The New York Yankees remained the only unbeaten team in the majors when they upset the Red Sox in their home opener at Boston 5-3, as Allie Reynolds pitched a seven-hitter and drove home two runs himself. Rookies Jerry Coleman and Dick Kryhoski and the veteran Billy Johnson each got three hits for the Yankees who knocked out comebacker Tex Hughson and staged their winning drive against relief pitcher Earl Johnson.

Ridiculous Game

In a ridiculous ball game at New York played in a downpour of rain the Giants and Braves battled to a 6-6 tie. With the bases loaded and only one out in the ninth, Manager Leo Durocher, who was coaching at third, suddenly decided to send Bobby Thomson down in an attempted theft of home.

Unable to slide in the duckpond that was home plate, he was out cold and Koslo promptly struck out weakly, after which the umpires ended the suffering by calling it off. Durocher had juggled his lineup so that he had no pinch-hitter left for Koslo. The Giants made 15 hits and the Braves got 13 as aces Larry Jansen and Johnny Sain both were batted out early.

For The NEWEST FASHIONS in MENS CLOTHING visit
THE Sport SHOP
120 E. MAIN ST.
Durham

Rare Opportunity!
STUDY . . . TRAVEL
IN SPAIN
Castilian Group . Andalusian Group
Basque-Catalan Group
65 DAYS $975.00
Departures June 29 to July 2
Sponsored by:
UNIVERSITY of MADRID
For Descriptive Folder Write:
Spanish Student Tours
500 Fifth Ave., N. Y. 18, N. Y.

★ Lunches For Picnics ★ Meals
★ Sandwiches ★ Steaks
★ Fried Chicken ★ Brunswick Stew
★ Barbecue
CARRBORO SANDWICH SHOP
Formerly Hill's Kitchenette—"Scotty's"
Phone F-2941
Carrboro, N. C.
CALL DELIVERY SERVICE
OPEN WEEKDAYS 7 A.M. to 1 A.M.
SUNDAYS 1 P.M. to 1 A.M.
Operated By
J. C. BALL

ELECTRICAL REPAIR SERVICE
FOR
All Makes Of Refrigerators
Electric Fans
Electric And Gas Ranges
Oil Burners
All Types Of Motors
And Small Appliances
AT
BENNETT & BLOCKSIDGE
105 E. Franklin St.
PHONE 6161

SEE US FOR YOUR ELECTRIC APPLIANCES
Electric Fans
Fluorescent Lamps
Fluorescent Bulbs
And Also
Electric Repairs
Electric Construction Company
169 E. Franklin St.

BLACKWOOD
ASSOCIATE STORE
Carrboro, N. C.

Triplets Perish As Mother Fails To Call Doctor

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., April 22—(UP)—The young wife of a Chinese graduate student, whose doctor said she was "too bashful" to call him, gave birth prematurely to triplets while alone in her room.

The babies, all boys, died.

The woman, experiencing childbirth for the first time, was the wife of Chia Yung Chen. The couple came from Chengtu-Szechwan, China, last winter to permit him to do advance work in chemistry at the University of Illinois.

The pregnant wife was alone in the couple's room last night. Their quarters are in a house whose landlady is elderly and hard of hearing. The husband, who spent the evening studying at school, returned at 12:30 today.

The triplets already had been born. They were in bed with his wife.

Excitedly, he summoned Dr. Thomas W. Kelso, who rushed the triplets and the mother to Mercy Hospital. One baby was dead on arrival, the other died a few hours later, and the third died this afternoon.

Mrs. Chen was in good condition, however, hospital attendants reported.

The doctor said that the young woman visited him two weeks ago. He said he did not foresee triplets and that a nomal birth was expected next August. The doctor said she apparently was "too bashful" to call him when the labor pains began.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

10:00—STUDENTS FOR Democratic Action conference. Gerrard Hall.

1:30—STUDENTS FOR Democratic Action. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

2:00—UNIVERSITY Hour. WD-NC, Durham.

4:00—MAY FROLICS Concert. Skitch Henderson's band. Memorial Hall.

8:00—MAY FROLICS Dance. Woollen Gym.

8:00—STUDENTS FOR Democratic Action. Roland Parker I, 2, 3, GM.

8:00—SQUARE DANCE. Presbyterian Church.

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

ALL MAKES OF LAWN MOWERS repaired, machine sharpen of Axes, hatchets, scythes also opened Tripps Lawn Mower Rec. Shop or see John Tripp, Carlton Shoe Shop. (c-n 1x1)

FOR SALE 6B

ONE LEONARD REFRIGERATOR, used; Two used Frigidaires; one used Kelvinator, Two used Electric Ranges; one used Ice Refrigerator. Call Bennett & Blocksidge, 6161. (ch 1x1)

OLD ENGLISH DWARF BOXWOODS, 21" high and up. About ½ retail price. Shrubery of all kinds. Dug one day planted next. Box 1705, Durham, N. C. (3-6703-1)

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

1949 FORD EIGHT JUST LIKE NEW. 2,655 actual miles. Price $1650. See at 111 Daniels Road, Victory Village after 5 P.M. (1-6706-1)

1936 BUICK IN GOOD CONDITION. Priced to sell. See E. J. Woodhouse, Davie Circle. (4-6704-1)

HELP WANTED 8

UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds, athletics, and other camp activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equiped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment, room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

STUDENT WANTED FOR SUMMER, someone handy in house and garden, licensed auto driver, responsible with children, and who would enjoy country life in New Hampshire. Weekends in time off, salary to be arranged. Could arrange for yard work for anyone wishing to become acquainted before committing himself. Call Mrs. Maurice, 7191. (2-6707-2)

WANTED TO RENT 24B

WANT TO RENT FURNISHED APARTment for summer school also for fall, winter and spring terms. Call 7641 (1-6708-1)

PLAN A PARTY WITH US

AT THE

MERCURY CLUB

We are giving special rates on Spring Parties. Plenty of Dancing room and Parking space. No cover or minimum

OPEN 7 P.M. — 'TIL

Mercury Club

Your only Night Spot operated by Students for Students
3 Miles out on Greensboro Highway

AL CAPP L'il Abner

Join the Crowd — at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon MILTON CANIFF

'Genesburg,' N. C.

Youthful Rail Magnet Controls Complete City

By Don Maynard

Curly-topped, 21-months-old Gene Bodenheimer is perhaps the youngest railroad magnate this side of toyland. At least his Dad thinks so.

And that's the impression one would get if he could see the small-scaled son of Virgil Bodenheimer seated behind the controls of even smaller-scaled Genesburg, Durham, North Carolina.

Young Gene is the sole owner of the fair city of Genesburg, a model village four feet by eight feet in size, said his father. It is a railroad center within a city, located in Durham, and is the product of two months labor on the part of the elder Bodenheimer.

Genesburg, with its asset of a little more than $200, consists of six model homes, a dairy, hotel, airport, coal yard, lumber yard and over 600 feet of railroad track.

It is a tiny, taole-top railroad system, built on a piece of 3-4 inch veneer.

"I've been wanting a miniature railroad since my childhood," explained Gene's father, the manager of Chapel Hill's recently-built A&P super market, "but I had to wait until I had a boy of my own before I went ahead and built one."

Bodenheimer complains that now he is hardly able to get near the Lilliputian Genesburg. "It's probably because I was merely the construction engineer of the city," he explained, "Gene is owner, and at present, sole operator."

Everything in the small city it "glued, screwed or nailed," says the man who is manager of a super market, yet only a hired hand in the management of a super city.

The city is located on the floor of the Bodenheimer bedroom, but is constructed in such a unique way, that it may be picked up, set against the wall, turned upside-down or stored in the attic without a thing dropping out of place.

At present, the Genesburg railroad system consits of five cars of the Pennsylvania Railroad type—a dairy car, coal, oil and lumber cars, and the inevitable caboose—in addition to the 20-wheel locomotive and its tender.

Engine "2020" can haul a load plenty fast, says the elder Bodenheimer, but he is hesitant to "open it up." "The system has too many curves in it," he said, "and old 2020 might jump the rails."

The entire railroad was fashioned by the Lionel Company, and contains the latest model protection devices. It contains such devices as automatic switches, railroad cars that couple and uncouple at the touch of a button, coal, dairy and lumber cars that load and unload at the whim of the engineer—21-month-old Gene.

It is obvious that young Gene is the controlling hand behind the entire city, for all of Genesburg's industry is named after him. There is Gene's Lumber Company, Gene's Airport, Gene's Hotel, Gene's Dairy and Gene's Coal Yard.

A close inspection of the layout usually fills everyone with awe. People can't seem to realize at first glance how complete the village is. The population is in evidence throughout Genesburg. In one part of the city, an old woman waves at the passing trains. There is a mongrel dog chasing some ducks in one of the backyards, and railroad men wave warning lanterns as the freight speeds by.

At one corner of the board that supports Genesburg are the switches and buttons that control the trains, the lighting of the village, and the various switches, whistles and block signals necessary to safe operation of any railroad system.

A mechanic commented when he inspected the miniature city that he had "never seen anything nearly so complete."

"And that's about as complete as I want it," said Bodenheimer.

Visitors to Genesburg marvel at the low cost of building the city, $200, but Bodenheimer tosses the inexpensiveness off by saying that he constructed all of it himself, "with the exception of the mechanical parts that I had to purchase from Lionel," he said.

Miniature figures, no more than four inches high, fences made of cardboard, realistic sandpaper roads and green sawdust grass create an atmosphere of bustling activity when the power is turned on.

Bodenheimer has hopes of displaying the city in his super market show window next Christmas. He has been affiliated with the A&P system for 20 years, he said, and has for the last three or four years lived in Durham.

"I began working for supermarkets when I was 16," he said, "and have been with the chain ever since. I opened the third super market located in North or South Carolina."

Bodenheimer, a native of Winston-Salem, has been managing super markets for 11 years. Wherever A&P's are, there I am," he smiled.

As soon as more parts are available, Gene Bodenheimer will enter into the passenger-carrying business. His Dad, the lowly "construction engineer" is planning to "angel" the expansion of the Genesburg railroad, and add more cars, more engines.

And then, young Gene may sing out even louder: "All aboard!"

–Hamilton–

(Continued from page 1)

against: ignorance of its content and indifference to "responsibilities as well as our rights" under it. The Constitution is our inheritance and our responsibility, to be protected and perpetuated, the Judge went on to say, and in it "we have a great trust; let us prove worthy of this trust."

Among the new members initiated were: John E. Davenport, Nashville, George Demas, Chapel Hill, Alvah W. Flynn, Jr., Asheville, William E. Greene, Salisbury, John T. Morrisey, Kinston, Thomas D. Parker, Raleigh, Herbert O. Phillips, III, Morehead, Wilmer R. Rollins, Bethel, Franklin H. Stell, Chapel Hill, David B. Stevens, Chapel Hill, Lubie M. Stocks, Grimesland, John B. Swainson, Chapel Hill, George F. Taylor, Richlands, Louie S. Tinsley, Jr., Chapel Hill, John H. Turner, Pink Hill, Percy L. Wall, Winston-Salem, Donald A. Williams, Windsor, and Henry S. Williams, Yadkinville.

William H. Booe, of Charlotte, was installed as the New Dean of Battle Senate. Other officers are: Vice-Dean: Charles T. Jordan, Jr., Wilmington; Clerk of Rolls: George Demas, Chapel Hill; Clerk of Exchequer: Alvah W. Flynn, Asheville; Master of Ritual: David B. Stevens, Chapel Hill; Bailiff: George F. Taylor, Richlands; Tribune: Clyde Rollins, Greensboro.

Visit Annapolis

NORFOLK, Va., April 22—(UP)—A four-masted Spanish sailing ship with 225 Spanish naval cadets aboard dropped anchor today in Lynhaven Roads and will sail tomorrow for Annapolis, Md., to remain four days at the United States Naval Academy.

The vessel, the Juan Sebastian Alcona, carries 300 persons including the cadets. It came into Hampton Roads after crossing the Atlantic. The cadets have been on a cruise in the Mediterranean with stops at Barcelona and Bilbao.

–Duke-Pitt–

(Continued from Page 3)

backfield," had lost only to Cornegie Tech. A record crowd turned out.

By game time, snow was on the field. Pitt's great backs slammed into the "iron dukes" time and again, with the Blue Devils' Eric Tipton keeping Duke out of trouble with booming punts.

One of those Tipton kicks pushed Pitt behind the goal-line with but a few minutes to play. End Bolo Purdue blocked a Pitt punt, recovered and Duke won 7-0.

Pitt won the next year 14-13 at Pittsburgh. Duke won in 1940 at Durham, 12-7; and in 1942 Duke won 28-0. The war ended the series with that game.

–Ark Seekers–

(Continued from page 1)

money lasted. He was leaving his wife and youngest son to run the 200-pupil Bible School.

Bulwarked by his clippings and his own four books on the ark, Dr. Smith serenely discounted skeptical authorities who said he was heading for the wrong part of the near east.

"They haven't got the facts I have," he said. "I've spent a lot of time and money on this. I wouldn't do that if I didn't believe in it."

He was also unworried about opposition from Russia. Pravda and the Moscow radio said his expedition was really a spying excursion to climb the mountain and peek into Russia a few miles away.

"That's about what you could expect from Russia," he smiled. "I think that will all blow over. Besides, if they just want to claim discovery of it themselves, they could. There's a lot of evidence that Russians have seen the ark."

The idea of his expedition has fascinated Dr. Smith since the First World War, when he had a church of the Nazarene Congregation in Tiny Mountain Lake, Minn.

As a missionary to China from 1920 to 1927, he developed his idea that the Chinese were descendants of Noah, from "looking over old books of ancient stories and traditions" in Peking.

"The Chinese had an old ancestor called Nu-Wah, who is distinguished for overcoming a great flood," said Dr. Smith. "He may easily have been the Noah of the Bible."

AUTO PARTS
New . Used . Rebuilt
Open Saturday Afternoon And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

–Golf–

(Continued from page 4)

man a little too much to [illegible]

The two split the 9th, a long par-5 10th where both ers took double bogey Ward's game was failing at point and when Chapman the 11th from another bogey, the tally stood W up with the tide turning

The Tar Heel rallied on 12th, though, scrambling par with a striking chip a second shot had missed th The pair then proceeded the next three holes an to the 16th with Chapma down and three to go.

Here Ward added the in championship style. H on the 480-yard par five considered one of the in golf, split the middle. Chapman strayed into the Ward then hit the shot of day. It was a No. 4 wood traveled 220 yards to three feet of the pin. Chap blasted from the trap, and sizeing up the putt he had lined up Ward's ball and tap

Carolina–Duke
DRIVE-IN THEATRE
Rain or Shine, We're Showing
"'TIL THE CLOUDS ROLL BY"
In Technicolor
STARRING
J. Garland D. Shore
R. Walker L. Horne
F. Sinatra
In the life and music of Jerome Kern
Last Time Today
75c per Car
No Charge for Passengers

Smoke a LUCKY to feel your LEVEL best!

Luckies' fine tobacco picks you up when you're low . . . calms you down when you're tense—puts you on the Lucky level! That's why it's so important to remember that LUCKY STRIKE MEANS FINE TOBACCO—mild, ripe, light tobacco. No wonder more independent tobacco experts—auctioneers, buyers and warehousemen—smoke Luckies regularly than the next two leading brands combined! Get a carton of Luckies today!

L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco

So round, so firm, so fully packed — so free and easy on the draw

COPR., THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

APRIL 23, 1949

olf-

...ge 3)
...ach to match.
...the 9th, and the
...where both golf-
... bogey sevens.
...s failing at this
... Chapman won
... another Ward
... stood Ward 3
... turning.
...alled on the
...bling for a
...chip after his
...ssed the green.
...ded to halve
...es and went
...hapman three
... go.
...ained the finisher
...up style. His drive
...ard par five hole,
...e of the toughest
...the middle, while
...ved into the rough.
...hot the shot of the
...a No. 4 wood that
... yards to within
... the pin. Chapman
... the trap, and then
...e putt he had left,
...rd's ball and tapped

lina-Duke

VE-IN
...E ★ CHAPEL ...
...hine, We're Showing
THE CLOUDS
OLL BY"
...a Technicolor
STARRING
...nd D. Shore
...ker L. Horne
F. Sinatra
...he life and music
...of Jerome Kern
...st Time Today
...75c per Car
...arge for Passengers

...est!
...der more independ-
... buyers and ware-
... than the next two
...ow of Luckies today!
...e Tobacco
...e draw
...TOBACCO COMPANY

MICROFILM DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
9-21-49

EDITORIALS

Meet Winn, Williams
Democratic Party
Something Sacred

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Clear and warm

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, APRIL 24, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 151

Stranahan Defeats Ward In N-S Golf Finals

Fleece Tapping, Sing Scheduled Tomorrow

Undisclosed Number of Men Students To Be Received in Honorary Society

When the Order of the Golden Fleece, the University's highest hororary society for men, taps an undisclosed number of new members tomorrow evening at 7:45 in Memorial Hall, the campus will be given an opportunity to witness what is generally considered to be the University's most impressive ceremony.

The doors to Memorial Hall will be locked the moment the tapping services begin to avoid late comers' spoiling the solemnity and suspense. To attend the tapping the audience should be seated by 7:45. The annual Valkyrie Sing will follow the ceremony.

Prior to the tapping ritual in the Fleece's one public meeting of the year, the names of the new members are kept secret, leaving those who are to be honored completely unnotified beforehand.

Black-robed figures with fleece across their shoulders will stalk around the auditorium, searching for those men whose character and service has qualified them for membership in this 46-year-old organization which has worked secretly for University welfare and advancement.

During the tapping, the Fleece Officers for '48-'49 will be revealed for the first time. Following the ceremony, Judge John J. Parker will speak to the new initiates privately in a banquet at the Carolina Inn.

Students who are now members of the Fleece are Dewey Dorsett, Jack Kirkland, Ernest G. Crone, Bob Stockton, Charlie Fulton, Ralph Strayhorn, Bill Miller, Lyn Szafaryn, William K. Tate, Ray Jeffries, Basil Shirrill, Ernest J. House, Scotty Venable, Bob Coulter, Charles Warren, Tom Eller, Wayne Brenengan, Charles Vance, Jess Dedmond, and Monroe Landreth.

Those who were tapped either as students originally or more recently as outstanding faculty members are: Phillips Russell, Frank P. Graham, E. R. Rankin, Robert B. House, H. G. Baity, E. L. Mackie, A. M. Coates, J. B. Linker, C. P. Spruill, Ed Lanier, Fred Weaver, Bill Friday, C. E. Teague, E. H. Hartsell, J. M. Saunders, E. A. Cameron, Walter Spearman, H. T. Leflef, H. K. Russell, Bill Shuford, and F. W. Hart.

Former Fleece members now living in Chapel Hill are Roy Strowd, Horace Carter, Orville Campbell, William B. Jones, and W. P. Jacobs.

N.C. Students Will Observe Own Day Here

Total of 10,000 Pupils to Attend

As chartered busses pull up in front of the Old Well next Saturday morning, the campus will be flooded with high school seniors who will begin a crowded day of activities at the Sixth Annual North Carolina High School Day.

Roy Armstrong, director of Admissions, who issued invitations to all North Carolina seniors, principals, and chaperones, estimated that 10,000 visiters were expected Saturday.

The group will be guests of the Monogram Club and the University Athletic Club at the three sports events scheduled for the day. At 11 o'clock the seniors will attend the track meet between State College and the University, and that afternoon they will sit in a special section in Kenan Stadium for the Blue-White game. Following the game, the visitors will attend the baseball game between Wake Forest and the University.

High School bands from Chapel Hill and the surrounding vicinity will play college and high school songs at the Old Well where the visiters will assemble on arriving at the University. The group will be greeted by Ike Rolander, president of the University Club, and other members of the organization. The club will be host of the seniors, and have planned an extensive tour of the campus to orientate the group. At the Old Well student leaders will be introduced

Valkyries Hold Yearly Contest After Tapping

Twelve Groups Are Entered In Program

Twelve dormitory, sorority and fraternity groups competing in the annual Valkyrie Sing will take the stage of Memorial Hall tomorrow night following Golden Fleece tapping ceremonies.

Because of the impressive nature of the Fleece ceremonies, the doors of the hall will be locked during the tapping, beginning at 7:45.

Judges for the contest will be Dr. Samuel Seldon and Foster Fitzsimmons of the Dramatics Art Department; Miss Jane Grills of the Radio Department; Mrs. Robert Wettach, and Norman Cordon, Metropolitan Opera star.

The winning groups in the men's division and the women's division will be awarded loving cups on the basis of musical presentation, originality, and staging. The cups are rotating, being retired only when won by one group for three consecutive years.

Sponsors of the annual song fest, the Valkyries are the highest honorary organization for women on the campus. Limiting their membership to two per cent of the coed enrollment, the group selects members on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and service.

Surprise Hail Storm Hurts State Crops

Scotland Neck, N. C. April 23—(UP)—ARt exactly 6 p.m. tonight, an attendant in a service station 10 miles north of here looked at the thermometer. It read 80 degrees fahrenheit.

Two minutes later it was down to 40 degrees, aond hailstones—some of them more than an inch in diameter — were storming down out of the skies.

"They ranged in size from nickels to hen eggs," a startled motorist reported.

Episcopal Students To Elect Officers

Election of new members for the Student Vestry of Episcopal students on campus will take place Sunday evening at 6:45 in the parish house. This will be the first congregational meeting of Episcopal students and the first time that members of the Student Vestry will be elected by such a meeting. A short report on the years activities will be given.

In addition to the nominations proposed by the Student Vestry, further nominations will be received from the floor to fill the nine vacancies occurring next year. Election will be on ballot and after the voting takes place refreshments will be served.

All Episcopal students are urged to attend the meeting.

Parties Plan Meets In Graham Memorial

The Campus party will meet Monday afternoon at 4o'clock in Graham Memorial Vestal Taylor, Party chairman said yesterday.

—Staff photo by Mills

CHARLIE LOUDERMILK, RIGHT, and Bill Mackie, student body president, are shown as they made final plans this week for the conclusion of the cancer drive which ends tomorrow. Loudermilk, chairman of the Interfraternity Council, is serving as chairman of the cancer drive on campus.

—Staff photo by Mills

DEAN FRED H. WEAVER is shown above addressing the banquet for new officers which was held in the Pine Room of Lenoir hall last Wednesday night. Shown with him are Miss Gay Currie, YWCA advisor; Emily Baker, retiring speaker of the Coed Senate; Jess Dedmond, retiring president of the student body; and Miss Twig Branch, personnel advisor to women.

UNC Publications Win Press Awards

Tarnation Chosen Best Humor Magazine; Joyner's Editorial on Polio Is Winner

University student publications walked off with seven of seventeen awards presented at the annual North Carolina Collegiate Press Association convention which closed in Raleigh yesterday. Only Yackety-Yack failed to win at least one prize.

The Daily Tar Heel won three awards, including the honors for best editorial, best news story, and best sports column. Former editor Ed. Joyner won first prize in the editorial field for "This Might Have Been You," an edit on infantile paralysis. Managing Editor Bill Buchan won the news story award for his story on Dr. Graham's appointment to the Senate. Billy Carmichael won the sports column award for "The Sporting Picture."

Tarnation won two top awards, one for being the best humor magazine, and an individual award to Tookie Hodgson for his "Dairy of The Carolina Gentleman," as the best humorous feature.

Ruth Wolfe's Carolina Quarterly article, "I Go Haggling," won the best general feature award, while Nancy Norman won the top prize in poetry for "The Accounting," which also appeared in the Quarterly.

Other awards given included: Best state 'A' paper, The Carolinian, Woman's College; best state 'B' paper, Maroon and Gold, Elon; best state 'C' paper, Hilltop, Mars Hill; best editorial cartoon, Dot Swann, Lenoir-Rhyne; best headline, Technician, State College; best humor cartoon, Clarence Brown, Duke and Duchess.

Best news photo, Bennie Batchelor, Technician; best short story, "Spring and Fall," Bob Loomis, Duke; best general column, Jim Playter, Lenoir-Rhyne, and Hoyle Adams, Technician.

Best literary magazine, Carolidi and Archive; best technical magazine, Duke Engineer; best yearbook, Pine Needles, Woman's College, and a special award to Wake Forest's "The Student," a campus magazine which mixes both humor and serious articles.

Insurance Teacher To Speak Tomorrow

Dr. Dan McGill, author of "An Analysis of Government Life Insurance," member of the American Association University Teachers of Insurance, and present head of the Department of Insurance of the School of Commerce, will speak Monday evening at 8 in 103 Bingham Hall.

Dr. McGill's speech, "National Service Life Insurance and Its Dividend Prospects" is being sponsored by the Alpha Tau Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, national commerce professional fraternity, and will be open to the public.

Symphony Slates General Meeting Here Saturday

Norman Cordon, Chairman of the local North Carolina Symphony Committee, has invited all members in Chapel Hill to the annual general meeting of the Symphony Society, which will be held here on April 30.

The meeting is scheduled to get under way at 4 o'clock in Memorial Hall. According to Spencer Murphy, President of the Society, a special program has been planned for the members preceding the meeting.

Featured on the program will be Miss Josephine Cunningham, 17-year-old soprano of Asheville, who will sing several numbers including "Tell Me Fair Ladies" from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro."

The Full Symphony Orchestra will also be present to play several light selections. Among these will be "Chicken Reel" and "Clair de Lune."

High School Debate Teams Plan Finals

Aycock Memorial Cup Is Goal of Debaters

High school debating teams which were successful both in the state-wide triangular competition of April 1 and in the district contests held during the period April 7—14 will enter the final contest of the North Carolina High School Debating Union for the Aycock Memorial Cup in Chapel Hill April 28 and 29, it was announced today by Secretary E. R. Hankin.

The list of high schools whose teams will enter the final contest, together with the district contests in which they emerged as champions, follows:

Greenville, affirmative, and Rocky Mount, negative, from the district contest held at East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, on April 7.

Bragtown, affirmative, and Roxboro, negative, from the district contest held at Meredith College, Raleigh, on April 14.

Maxton, affirmative, and Fairmont, negative, from the district contest held at Flora McDonald College, Red Springs, on April 11.

Reidsville, affirmative, and Richard J. Reynolds of Winston-Salem, negative, from the district contest held at Woman's College of the University, Greensboro, on April 13.

(See HIGH SCHOOL, page 4)

Gallery Of 3000 Sees Links Battle

By Billy Carmichael III

PINEHURST, April 23—Tar Heel Harvie Ward won everything here this afternoon but the 36-hole finals of the 49th North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

That well-deserved honor went to one Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., who made the best of the afternoon round to defeat Ward, 2 and 1, and avenge the defeat he had suffered at the hands of Tar Heel ace in last year's North and South finals.

But aside from the match honors, Ward took home with him the much bigger trophy of the hearts of the majority of the 3,000 people—largest crowd ever to pack the Pinehurst Country Club course—who played every stroke and felt every success and disappointment right along with the Tarboro linksman.

Rarely, had there been seen a golfer at this capital of Golfdom who so captured a gallery, and gained such a victory even in defeat.

For a while in the morning round it looked as if Ward would gallop through his famed opponent when he toured the first nine holes some four strokes under par and as far along as the 12th hole, had a 3 up margin over Stranahan.

Ward won the first hole when his putt stymied Stranahan into a bogey, and then added two more holes on the 3rd and 4th with pitch shots that left birdie putts almost a formality. Stranahan, meanwhile, won the 2nd and 5th holes, but then the Tar Heel unleased a string of three straight winners on the 6th, 7th and 8th.

At the 13th hole, Stranahan still three holes in arrears, started the long road back. He won that hole when Ward strayed into the woods and added the par-3 15th on another Ward bogey. The Toledo Muscle Man then evened the match with a birdie on the long 16th. That's the way they went to lunch.

In the afternoon round the lead seesawed back and forth with Stranahan winning the 1st and 3rd and Ward the 2nd and 4th. Ward missed two straight shots on the short 6th for a bogey and Stranahan, with a par, was again out in front, this time to stay.

The 8th put the defending champion 2 down when Ward missed a 12-footer for a chance to halve. Ward dropped his tee shot on the 9th within 4 feet of the pin, but Stranahan rammed home a startling 40-foot uphill putt, which resulted birdies for both.

The par-5 10th hole probably decided the match. Stranahan's second wood sprayed into the rough behind several pine trees. His recovery was well-played, a hooking iron to the green, but the ball was speeding well over the green when it hit a locka- instead at the edge of the green.

(See GOLF, page 4)

YWCA Installs New Officers This Afternoon

Ashby to Address Candlelight Service

A candlelight service in Gerrard Hall open to all Y members will see some 30 coeds installed as officers and cabinet members of the campus YWCA today at 5 o'clock. Warren Ashby of the Philosophy Department will give a short talk following the service.

Mary Anne Daniels, retiring president of the Y, is to have charge of the installation with old cabinet members taking part.

Officers to be installed are: Anne Chandler, president; Kitty Altizer, vice-president; Jean Serpell, secretary; Ruth Whalen, treasurer; Julie Compton, membership chairman; and Sally Osborne, program chairman.

New cabinet members will be: Edith Winslow , cabinet worship; Jean Menshew, spark plug; Markie Hubbard, dorm vespers; Ann Faulkner, public affairs; Mina Lamar, careers; Lenore Williams, human relations; Caroline Bruner, publicity; Nancy Black, campus affairs; Nancy Curtis, publications; Jean Rankin, social service; Barbara Payne, ballet class; Tommie Olive, baby sitters; Pat Chandler, dorm stores; Mary Copenhaver, conference chairman; Marjorie Holland, cosmopolitan club; Jackie Burk, Crill; Pat Sullivan, Jr. Y-Heens; Preston Westcot, Sr. Y-Teens; Jean Hines, recreation; Marie Nussbaum, book club; Janet Lewis, music appreciation; Sarah Oliver, office force; Peggy Neal, campus vespers; and Betsy Ross, freshman council.

Gov. Scott Appoints Minister to Board

RALEIGH, April 23—(UP)Gov. Kerr Scott today named a Baptist minister and educator as State Parole Commissioner.

The governor appointed Dr. T. C. Johnson, pastor of the Fihst Baptist Chuch at Newton, to become Commission May 1.

Blow In The Head Made Him What He Is

Dr. Franz Polgar To Make Third Appearance On Campus Tuesday

For anyone who wants to become a first-class telepathist or hypnotist, it really might help to be hit in the head by something the size of a bomb, according to Dr. Franz J. Polgar, mental wizard who will appear here Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall under the auspices of the Student Entertainment Committee.

"The Amazing Dr. Polgar", as his publicity agents and critics alike term him, has not always been that amazing. Born the perfectly normal son of a small-town school principle in Enying, Hungary, young Franz was a shy youth and grew up among friends in the peasant class, spending his summers on farms and dreaming a great deal. As a boy, Polgar says, he was haunted continually by the thoughts of great mental and physic powers. However, he did not show anything unusual along this line before war broke out in 1914.

Fourteen years old and a student at Szekesfehervar when World War I began, Polgar hurried through school and enlisted to become a second lieutenant in the Hungarian army before his eighteenth birthday. The year 1918 marked what he describes as the turning point in his life. In his earliest combat on the Italian front, a well-aimed enemy shell buried him alive in a trench and blotted out his memory for half a year.

He remained under a pile of dirt and rock for three days before being dug out and sent first to a field hospital at Udine, Italy, and then on to a base hospital at Graz, Austria. For six months he was listed as suffering from amnesia and aphasia before a strange thing took place. Slowly regaining his senses, Polgar frightened a nurse with his first intelligent words. He had anticipated her actions, was actually reading her thoughts. Before long, he became the talk of the hospital and then was written up in medical journals in Austria and Hungary.

Soon the war ended, but his mysterious fame did not. When Polgar arrived in New York, he could not speak a word of English. "But," he says with a smile, "I certainly didn't seem to have much trouble understanding what people tried to tell me." Apparently, thoughts speak a universal language.

New York nightclubs, circuses, and vaudeville houses had heard of Polgar. However, he refused all their offers for exploitation and took a job as a waiter in a restaurant. And even at that, he was amazing again. He mystified customers completely by watching them, catching their mental decision as they read the menu, and then, without bothering to consult the diners orally, bringing the correct dishes that they had decided on.

By popular demand, the Student Entertainment Committee is bringing Polgar back, his performance Tuesday evening being admission-free to all University students in keeping with SEC policy. Tickets will also be sold to faculty members, student wives, and townspeople at 7 o'clock when the doors of Memorial Hall open one hour before "The Miracles of the Mind" show begins.

Foundation Pays Tribute to Hanes

Gov. Kerr Scott and members of the North Carolina Business Foundation met here Friday to pay tribute and bid bon voyage to their president, Robert M. Hanes, Winston-Salem banker.

Hanes leaves soon for Europe where he will be chief of the mission in Belgium and Luxembourg for the Economic Corporation Administration, administrator of the Marshall Plan.

Luther Hodges of Spray was elected general vice-president to serve as head of the organization during Hanes' absence.

Regional vice-presidents elected were William H. Ruffin, Durham, J. G. Cowan, Asheville, R. O. Huffman, Morganton, J. E. Dowd, Charlotte, George E. Parrin, Greensboro, Hayman Battle, Greenville, and Hervey Evans, Laurinburg.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Offices Mgr. ..... Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Night Editor: Bill Buchan Night Sports: Roy Parker

Something Sacred

It appears very difficult for man to avoid being an extremist. He goes all-out with a vengeance in one direction until at least his radicalism has brought him to dire straights. Then with swift reactionary and corrective measures he swings too far toward the opposite pole and finds himself completely stymied.

We have experienced, in our time, a day of rash and ruthless iconoclasm. Men have stripped off every taboo, debunked all our heroes, cast down all our altars, ripped away the finesse and niceties of living, violated and desecrated sanctuaries, and declared in the name of "enlightenment" and "freedom" their emancipation from idolatry, superstition and fear. This movement which began roughly in the fourteenth century has moved with unabated fury and increasing tempo to a catastrophic crescendo in our own time. The flaunting title of a modern motion picture brazenly declares "NOTHING SACRED."

It has been reported that Napoleon once stabled his calvary, both men and horses, in the Refectory of Santa Maria delle Grazie in Milan. From the walls of the Refectory Leonardo Da Vinci's masterpiece "The Lord's Supper" looked down upon the strange entourage below. In coarse ribaldry the crude soldiers amused themselves by hurling balls of manure at the incomparable figures of Christ and his disciples! Impervious to beauty, with no respect for consummate artistry, and no reverence for the deep religious significance of the scene, nor for the characters depicted there, these men preempted themselves of the last vestige of respectability that makes man man. Something like this has been going on all over the world in our time. In doing irreparable damage to the sacred achievements and holy heroes of the past, modern man has outraged his own soul and damned his children to coarseness and bestiality.

With no gods to fear, with nothing holy, with no beliefs and no hope, under a cold and silent heaven, modern man looks longingly out upon the bleak and barren horizon of human perspective and sees nothing, absolutely nothing, but the sinister shadow of his own lonely figure. Modern man is "lost" in a vaster sense than the word has ever connoted before. We are no longer a handful of sheep who have taken the wrong turn of the path in a little backpasture hard by home. We are a mournful multitude of teeming millions adrift in an infinite cosmic sea; wistful wanderers through time and space; temeritous tinkerers with the explosive forces of the universe, the reactions from which have left us quivering with terror; specious spectators overcome with undulating waves of nauseous vertigo from looking too long into the endless abyss.

Our rash iconoclasm has left an aching emptiness at the heart of modern society. We have stripped away form, beauty, order, meaning, value, from our lives and nothing is left but stark functionalism. Man becomes what he worships and with nothing greater or nobler than himself to contemplate he becomes a bleak copher. What man holds holy is the integer before the cipher which brings significance. The higher and holier the idea of God man holds in reverence the greater the value the integer brings to the cipher.

Phillips Brooks once declared, "Poor is the age which has not reverence . . . . Poor is the soul which has not reverence! You may have many powers and gifts, but if you have not reverence there is a blight upon them all." This, our age, has many powers and gifts such as no other age has ever had but, tragedy of tragedies, there is a blight upon them all! A sign in the front of the Riverside Church in New York reads, "Please do not enter the Chancel". That is right. It is a symbol. There ought to be some things in the world across which we shall not drag our muddy feet. Something sacred! The free church tradition does right to insist that it is wrong to reverence the stone, or the architecture, or the setting, but, beware, lest, desecrating the symbols, we desecrate the ideas behind them!

The age of the iconoclast has come to an end. In the shambles of Europe; in the threatened wasteland of Western Society; in the war-swept Orient he who can set up an altar before which men can find faith in God, faith in themselves, and faith in the possibilities of human society, will be tomorrow's leader.

—Samuel Tilden Habel, Ph.D.

PASSING SENTENCE

By Jonathan Marshall

When I was in grade school, I used to wonder how a group of women could call themselves the Daughters of the American Revolution. 150 years after the Revolution.

After much thought on the subject, I decided that they must be the Great Great Great Granddaughters of the American Revolution, or the GGGGAR.

The GGGGAR, popularly known as the DAR, has been having some sort of a picnic or party in the Capital recently. The girls seem to have lost a bit of their original revolutionary ferver, however, but maybe that's what comes of getting old.

It wouldn't surprise me if the GGGGAR came out for a program advocating a return to ruffles and kneebritches for men. They have already come out against Federal aid to education; but maybe Jefferson, a man who believed in education, was too much of a revolutionist.

Yes, people around Washington are a strange race, and maybe the GGGGAR has become infected by it. One well-known character in D. C., who is known as Honest John, is really puzzling though.

It seems that this Honest John is a Republican, but he joined the Southern Democrats in opposing Truman's Civil Rights program. Now the guy turns around and tacks an amendment on the Housing Bill which would forbid segregation in public housing.

It's all very confusing, but one must assume that Honest John knows what he's doing. It is rumored, and even stated publicly, that this character is tied up with a real estate lobby; of course, no intelligent people would even think of such a thing. Oh, yes, the character known as Honest John has a last name—it's Bricker, and he comes from Ohio.

YOU'RE ONLY YOUNG ONCE

The darkness of the night was just beginning to fall upon Chapel Hill as the maroon convertible pulled up in front of Alderman and four boys piled out and went in to pick up their dates. Four boys and four girls. That made eight. Simple arithmetic. Eight people in one car on a beautiful summer night made things lovely. And so all piled into the car and were off to a night of fun at Hogan's lake.

The boys had made the run to Durham earlier in the afternoon and now the only thing left to do was stop by the ice plant and pick up a little ice.

Soon they were on the paved road heading in the direction of the lake and a night of "gay fun." The maroon convertable pulled up to a stop on the beautiful banks of lake Hogan and the blankets were spread and the portable radio was turned on and sweet music flowed through the air. Everything was beautiful and romantic. It was spring and they were young, and you are only young once.

The final piece of ice melted and soaked into the brown paper covering and the last empty fifth bottle was thrown into the lake and they prepared to make the journey back to Chapel Hill. Coed hours, you know. One of the girls who hadn't been drinking asked the driver to "please be careful," and everybody laughed.

The convertable reached the paved highway and soon they were on the road heading toward Chapel Hill. The moon was shining brighter and brighter and they were singing louder and louder.

The nearer they came to Chapel Hill more gas went into the carburator and the louder they sang; soon the momentum of the car had surpassed the reflexive abilities of the driver; there was more gas; there was a curve; there was an attempt at the brakes, but it was a little late for that. Too late. For none of them would ever see another spring; none of them would ever ride in the moonlight again. And the little girl who didn't drink did enjoy living. But they were young and you are only young once.

Two More Student Leaders

—Staff photo by Mills

NAT WILLIAMS, left, and Al Winn were winners in recent campus elections.

Campus Personalities

Meet Winn And Williams

By Frank Allston, Jr.

The man who has been largely responsible for the speedy and efficient manner in which our recent campus elections have been carried out is Al Winn, the new president of the Carolina senior class.

As chairman of the Elections Board for the past year, Al had as his thankless job the task of lining up the ballots, polling places and other thousand and one little things that must be done before an election can be successfully held.

This presidential election and two other recent events have brought a large measure of happiness to Winn. He says he is happiest, however, over his recent admittance into the Law School, but he is also very pleased about winning the presidency and a seat in the Student Legislature this term.

Al doesn't limit his activities to his new jobs alone. In addition he is a member of the Di Senate and he will continue to act as chairman of the Elections Board until president Bill Mackie appoints a successor.

Winn, a rising senior from St Petersburg, Florida, is another of our politicians who got his start in high school where he was in student government affairs and was president of his junior class.

The new senior class leader is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity, where he was once vice-president. Fraternity life takes up quite a bit of his spare time, but Al says he enjoys doing "just about anything."

Having lettered in varsity boxing here in 1947, Al is naturally sports-minded. He is a member of the Monogram Club and says he particularly enjoys fishing, boating, riding, hunting and dancing.

Winn has been described as an eager and conscientious worker and many observers look for great things from the new president.

Al said after the election that he wished "to thank the people who voted for me and I hope that I can justify their faith." Most sideline politicians believe that he will.

* * * * *

"Tormenting Tri-Delts," answered Nat Williams, the new secretary-treasurer of the Carolina student body when asked his favorite past time in the course of our interview of one of the two "Campus Personalities of the Week."

Likable Nat, who describes himself as a "Senior for the third year and returning next year," is another of those lively politicians who is not content with just one extra-curricular activity, but has found his way into many campus activities since arriving at Chapalina.

The new secretary-treasurer a native of Thomasville, Georgia, has been a member of the Student Legislature, a member of the Legislature's budget committee, president of the United World Federalists and a member of the student budget finance committee. Nat has also worked on the Daily Tar Heel and he was an orientation councellor last fall.

Williams is a chemistry major and has done very well scholastically as well as politically. This is borne out by Nat's recent admission into Phi Beta Kappa.

Nat is a member of Kappa Alpha social fraternity where he is the number three.

In addition to tormenting the Tri-Delts, Nat says his other interests are athletics, beer and raising African violets. Along the line of athletics, he says his chief interests are riding horses and playing golf.

Nat got his start in student government in high school back in Thomasville and carried his interests right on through two other institutions of higher education into Carolina. The other schools which the newly elected "wheel" attended were Marion Institute in Marion, Alabama and the United States Naval Academy.

Campus leaders are sure that Navy's loss was Carolina's gain and that Nat will make one of the better student body officers that the University has seen in several years.

As one observer mused, ". . . he was a good legislator—kept it interesting." Nat's former colleagues are confident that he will also keep student government interesting with his keen mind and refreshing personality.

CPU Roundtable

The Democratic Party

By Don Shropshire

About this time last year the future of the Democratic Party appeared very dark. In the 80th Congress it was in the minority for the first time since 1930. Moreover, it was being harassed by disunity within itself. Several of the New Dealers were supporting presidential candidate Henry Wallace in protest against the administration's foreign policy, and numerous Southerners were so aroused over the President's Civil Rights proposal that it seemed likely that the Southern wing might form a new party. The three-way split developed, and so there seemed little doubt but that the Republicans would easily win the presidential election in November. Yet, Harry Truman surprised everyone by receiving over two million more popular votes than Mr. Dewey and 304 out of 531 electorial votes. The Democrats also won clear majorities in both Houses of Congress.

It looked as if President Truman would have little trouble in persuading the 81st Congress to enact the various measures of his "fair-deal" program. The serious lack of executive-legislative harmony of the two previous years was believed to be over.

Nevertheless, since the 81st Congress convened in January, very little administration-sponsored legislation has been passed. The basic cause is obviously a coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans on many issues. This situation is by no means peculiar to the present Congress, for it has been quite noticeable at certain times ever since 1937.

The coalition has been particularly effective in regard to labor legislation. Organized labor is comparatively weak throughout most of the South, and, consequently Southern congressmen as a rule do not reflect pro-labor sympathies. On matters regarding public housing, health insurance, minimum wages, and broadened social security provisions many Southerners take a conservative position and line up with the Republicans.

The principal difference between Northern and Southern Democratic Congressmen, however, is in the realm of civil rights legislation, but here the Southerners have few allies among the Republicans, so they employ the use of the fillibuster in the Senate to block such bills. Federal aid to education would benefit the South more than any other section, but due to the race issue, they are inclined to oppose legislation of this type.

On the other hand, there is a great deal of harmony within the party on farm legislation, tariff policy, and foreign aid programs, while the Republicans are often divided among themselves on these issues.

In addition to the Southerners many other specific groups constitute the Democratic Party of today. Among them are most labor organizations, Catholics, Jews, and various other minority groups. Of course, large numbers of people vote independently of the policy of their respective groups, but most of these voters have consistently supported the Democratic party. With such diversity of interests, it is easy to understand why party unity is often quite difficult, if not impossible.

Nevertheless, with all its internal problems, the Democratic Party enjoys the support of many independent voters since on the whole it stands for economic and social progress in a capitalistic democracy. The CPU will discuss the strength and weaknesses of this party at its 8:00 p.m. meeting tonight in the Grail Room. Visitors are cordially invited.

Book Review

The Democratic Party

By Edlyn W. Freerks

"Master of all trades and jack of none"—thus came the words of Historian and Journalist George Fort Milton in reference to the man that the editor has termed "the new Chrichton"—Dr. Archibald Henderson. And thus is recorded the expression of men of note from the beauty of the Carolina campus to the shores of another continent—men who through experience have found indisputable evidence to support the contention that Dr. Henderson is really the twentieth century version of the "sixteenth century virtuoso in scholarship and literature," James "The Admirable" Chrichton, a name which is synonymous with versatility.

There have been few times in the history of journalism that any editor has so successfully compiled such a complete variety of opinions of local and international personalities as has been done by Samuel Stevens Hood in this work. But when one realizes the scope of the influence of Archibald Henderson in the world today, it is not then hard to understand why almost two dozen prominent individuals gladly took time out of their crowded schedules to pay tribute to such a leading figure in the fields of mathematics, dramatics, history, philosophy, and literature.

But the book does not stop there. In order to give the reader a chance adequately to appreciate the work of this "example of abundant living," the editor has also included biographical sketches of his varied life. Students, especially, will enjoy the interesting way in which this information is presented. The "hard facts" are tied together with human-interest anecdotes, many of which are quite colorful and which easily point out one of Dr. Henderson's most priceless assets—a unique sense of humor.

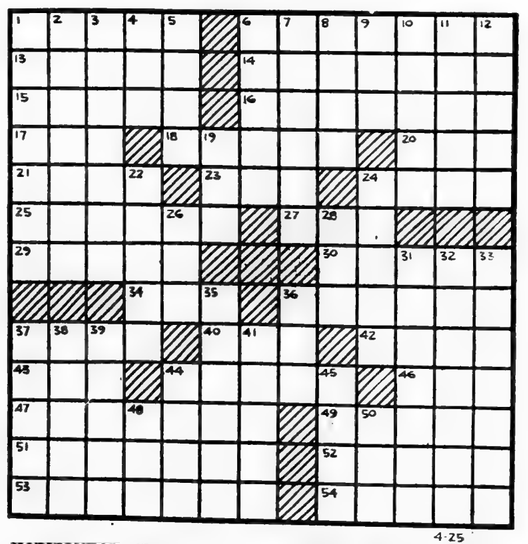
Charles A. Beard, the Historian, referred to this recently retired head of the Department of Mathematics as a man who had an "interest in all things human and an awareness of the interrelations of science, arts, and letters." Support for this is carried out as experts in the many fields of life reviewed only a fraction of the hundreds of books and articles that have been contributed to the world by this gentleman who turned down the presidencies of universities to remain in Chapel Hill to further the interests of this institution and the state in which he was born.

"Archibald Henderson: The New Chrichton" is a challenge as expressed by Alexander Guerry, Vice-Chancellor of the University of the South: "It is a challenge to every man to break the bonds of specialization, to throw open the windows of his mind, to enrich his life and the lives of others by genuine interest and activity in fields of human enterprise. What he has been and what he has attained are an example to the timid and weary souls who are unwilling or unable to leave the beaten path, and are proofs that the mind and heart have a greater reach than we believe possible."

This is the "brilliantly versatile, indefatigably productive, charmingly colorful, and many-sided Archibald Henderson" (Senator Frank Porter Graham).

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HIRE A JANITOR



Editor:

Have you seen those assinine creatures, butts of campus jokes and tools of the administration, that act as scavengers about the base of South Building? Those mistaken characters are evidently unaware that it makes no difference to us just how the Y court may look. Furthermore, if the administration wants the campus clean, it can very well hire a janitor to do the work.

Looked at from a practical point of view this selfappointed rubbage detail is actually contributing to unemployment. If the amount of trash on the grounds require a janitor one should be hired. There are a number of people that would be willing to be paid for such work.

Besides the foregoing points, it hurts my conscience to be disturbed as I leisurely sit sipping my morning coke. All I want is to be left in peace without having some guy ask me to move over so he can pick up a Dixie cup and put it in the can which is only a few feet away. If the cup is that close to the can it does not need to be moved.

Rip Collins

4-25

HORIZONTAL
1. jewel weight
6. model
13. white poplar
14. medial
15. steps
16. holdable
17. Hebrew high priest
18. spot or stain
20. persuaded
21. list
23. gear tooth
24. extremely
25. empower
27. before
29. fresh set
30. place of worship
34. scant
36. scarce
37. discharged a gun
40. garden implement
42. mellow
43. clasp
44. a type of cat
46. sanctum
47. move
49. vigilant
51. corrector
52. wash lightly
53. here
54. aquatic animal

VERTICAL
1. skipper
2. ear shell
3. narration
4. beer
5. trial
6. inner court
7. requite
8. break
9. Brazilian bird
10. end wall of building
11. eyer
12. in want
19. jot
22. behind
24. of the soft palate
26. caustic
28. blow
31. having three teeth
32. slander
33. go in again
35. blanch
36. discern
37. keen
38. vaster
39. pointed arch
41. public
44. situation
45. edible rootstock
48. it is, poetic
50. kindled

Answer to Saturday's puzzle.

A	P	S	E	S		F	A	T		R	I	A
I	R	A	D	E		I	R	O	N	E	R	S
S	I	R	E	N		N	E	G	A	T	E	S
	M	A	N		A	I	T		P	I	N	E
P	A	C		A	S	S	E	T		A	E	S
S	T	E	P	P	E		S	I	P
S	E	N	O	R			M	A	T	I	N
		T	O	P		D	E	P	O	S	E
A	S	A		H	O	N	E	S	T		P	O	E
S	I	R	S		B	E	W		N	I	L
S	E	R	R	A	T	E		M	I	C	A	M
A	V	E	R	T	E	D		E	N	A	T	E
Y	E	T		E	R	S		G	A	L	E	N

Average time of solution: 27 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Carolina Drops Loop Match To State; Tar Babies Win

Wolfpack Baseballers Take 10-6 Decision at Devereaux

By Frank Allston Jr.

DEVEREAUX MEADOW RALEIGH, April 23—It was a fine day for baseball here this afternoon, but it was a dismal one for the Tar Heel nine of North Carolina which dropped a loosely-played 10-6 ball game to the N. C. State Wolfpack before an estimated 1,500 howling fans.

The Tar Heels drew first blood in the second inning when successive singles by Sid Varney and Ed Lamb and an infield out fetched home a run. Will Hobbs followed with a single, but here the run-making ceased with two men left stranded on the base paths.

It was in the bottom half of the inning that the roof fell in on McGinn. The Tar Heel hurler from Charlotte retired the first two batters via the three-strike route and it looked like the Tar Heels were rolling.

Mussack Homers

But Bill Mussack powered McGinn's three and one ofering 325 feet over the left field wall for a home run to tie up the game. The ball appeared to be foul, but plate umpire Veazy ruled it fair despite loud protests for the Carolina team and supporting fans.

Ned Council followed with a sharp single down the right field foul line. McGinn then proceeded to walk Johnson and lead-off man Willie Evans. Hank Utley drilled a liner into right center which scored Council and left the bases loaded.

McComas Hits Another

Catcher Bill Fowler then worked McGinn for his third walk of the inning to force in Johnson with the third run. Jumping Jack McComas, Walfpack basketball and diamond star, drove McGinn's first pitch far over the double wall in left center for a 385 ft. "grand slam" homer. Left fielder Don Cheek then fanned for the second time of the inning.

The Tar Heels began to pick away at the State lead, getting a pair of runs in the fourth and singles in the sixth and sevents.

Trailing, 10-5 going into the top of the ninth, the Tar Heels started a rally, but Irving Page who had replaced Johnson on the mound in the sixth retired the side before the visitors could score more than one run.

Tar Baby Triumph:

North Carolina	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Allen, cf	5	0	0	2	0	0
Goodman, 2b	4	1	1	2	4	1
Ryan, ss	5	1	2	3	1	0
Varney, c	5	2	3	7	0	0
Lamb, rf	5	0	2	1	0	0
Senter, 3b	5	2	2	0	2	1
Ward, lf	4	0	3	4	0	0
Hobbs, 1b	4	0	1	5	0	1
McGinn, p	3	0	0	0	0	01
x Ballou	1	0	0	0	0	0
Blair, p	0	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	41	6	14	24	7	2

N. C. State	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Evans, cf	4	2	1	1	0	0
Uttley, 3b	5	2	2	2	3	0
Fowler, c	2	1	0	11	0	1
McComas, ss	4	1	2	0	4	0
Cheek, lf	4	0	0	2	2	0
Livingston, 2b	4	0	1	2	1	1
Mussack, rf	4	1	1	1	0	0
Council, 1b	4	2	2	8	0	0
Johnson, p	0	1	0	0	0	0
Page, p	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	32	10	9	27	10	2

Score by innings:
North Carolina .010 211 001 —6
N. C. State 070 000 21x—10

Runs batted in: Ward2, Ryan, Varney, Hobbs, McComas 5, Evans, Uttley, Fowler, Cheek, Mussack. Two base hits: Ward 2, Ryan. Home runs: McComas, Mussack. Stolen base: Evans Sacrifice: Fowler. Double plays: Goodman to Ryan to Hobbs, McComas, Livingston to Council. Left on base: North Carolina 8, N. C. State 4. Base on balls—Off: McGinn 4, Johnson 1. Strike outs—by: McGinn 7, Johnson 3, Page 6. Wild pitch: Page. Winning pitcher: Johnson. Losing Pitcher: McGinn Umpires: Messrs. Veasy and Stallings.

Golf, one of the western world's oldest games, is supposed to have originated in Scotland.

Tar Baby Netters Look Impressive In Whitewash Job

The embryo netters of Carolina turned back the William and Mary — Norfolk Division frosh squad by the score of 9-0 yesterday afternoon on the local courts. The victory gave John Kenfield's crew a 3-2 record in play this season.

Jim Hammerstein led the Carolina aggregation with a 6-2, 6-2 win over William & Mary's Williams in the number 1 match. The closest andhardest fought match was provided by F. Redding of Carolina 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 victory over W. & M's Hughes.

Duval, in the number 2 spot, conquered the Papoose's Der-Bing 6-2, 6-2. Smith, operating in the number 3 position for the Tar Heels, won over Addison by the score of 6-0, 6-1. Carolina's Milton took Barlow 6-0, 6-1.

Littos ended the singles battling with an impressive 6-2, 6-0 win over Hughes of William and Mary.

The Tar Babies made a clean sweep of things in the doubles, also. Hammerstein and Smith got the ball rolling with an easy 6-1, 6-2 win over Williams and Der-Bing, and Duval and Milton followed suit with a reversed-score 6-2, 6-1 verdict over Barlow and Saunders of William and Mary. Dick Sheets and Bell won over Drake and Streich 6-4, 6-4 to ring down the curtain.

Seixas Shows Way To 14th Victory In Virginia

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 23.—Coach John Kenfield's Carolina tennis outfit waltzed to its 14th consecutive win of an undefeated campaign here this afternoon by defeating Virginia, 6-3.

Captain Victor Seixas, the Tar Heels' automatic first point, came through in his usual fashion, defeating the Cavaliers' Burrows, 7-5, 6-4. Although the scores were close Seixas did not appear to be particularly extended.

Clark Taylor, who defeated Hursley, 6-4, 6-3, and Stan Gruner, Tar Heel number three man who beat Wyche, 6-8, 6-4, 6-1, then increased the Tar Heel lead to 3-0 with singles victories. Jim Winstead added the only other singles victory for the visitors, defeating Robertson, 2-6, 6-1, 6-4. Duke Wilder and Charlie Rice were defeated in their matches, Wilder losing 6-3, 6-4 to Rixey, and Rice dropping a 4-6, 6-4 7-5 decision to Valentine.

In doubles, Seixas and Taylor blasted Burrows and Horsley, 6-2, 3-6, and 7-5. Rice and Wilder defeated Tullis and Munoz, 7-2, 2-6, 7-0. But Virginia managed to salvage the other doubles match when Valentine and Rixey beat Gruner and Winstead by 2- 6-2, 6-3.

A gallery of 1,000 watched the match. Coach Kenfield commented afterwards that Virginia appeared to have the best balanced team that the Tar Heels have faced yet.

It was the second loss of the season for the home team.

Freshman Tracksters Swamp High Point HS in Dual Meet

Coach Dick Hollander's freshman tracksters walked off with a decisive 82-39 victory over the High Point High School team. The Tar Babies took firsts in all but three events and swept two of them.

Carolina lost in the 100 yard dash, the 880 yard run and the mile relay. They took all three places in the broad jump and in the 120 yard low hurdles. High school distances were run throughout the meet.

Romas White was one of the outstanding men of the day, capturing two first places and two seconds. He was top man in the pole vault and the broad jump, his seconds came in the high jump and the 200 yard low hurdles.

Cecil Pless took firsts in the 120 yard high hurdles and the 200 yard lows, he took a third in the broad jump. Gene Brigham led the way in the 220 yard dash and the 440 yard run while Gordon Hamrick was first in the mile and second in the 880. Hamrick is one of the outstanding men on the team and coach Hollander has high hopes for him. He was a consistent winner during the indoor season; his specialty is the mile, though he is a potential winner in other events.

The High Point team is coached by Bert Ishee, this is their second dual meet. They lost their first meet to the Davidson freshmen.

The Tar Babies now have one loss to their credit. They lost their meet to the State freshmen, 79-72. Coach Hollander will take his men to Durham next Wednesday for a meet with the Blue Imps of Duke.

The summary:
100 yard dash: 1. Jones (HP); 2. Winslow (UNC); 3. Woolcott (UNC). 10.5.
220 yard dash: 1. Brigham (UNC); 2. Jones (HP); 3. Winslow (UNC). 23.2.
440 yard run: 1. Brigham (UNC); 2. McNeill (HP); 3. McGuinn (HP). 53.9.
880 yard run: 1. Garrison (HP); 2. Hamrick (NC); 3. Vancannom (HP). 2:03.2.
120 yard high hurdles: 1. Pless (UNC); 2. Woolcott (UNC); 3. Sapp (UNC). 15.9.
220 yard low hurdles: 1. Pless (UNC); 2. White (UNC); 3. Harris

(See TRACK page 4)

CHUCK ERICSON AND HARVIE WARD
. . . Carolina coach consoles star pupil

Monday's Sports

Baseball

Varsity baseball—Carolina vs Jacksonville Naval Air Station at Emerson Stadium at 4 o'clock. Passbooks required for admittance.

Tennis

Varsity tennis—Carolina vs N. C. State on Varsity Courts at 3 o'clock.

Intramurals

See mural schedule for list of softball games to be played Monday afternoon.

Carolina Booters Romp to Victory Over State, 3-1

Carolina's soccer team romped to a 3-1 win over N. C. State's Wolfpack yesterday afternoon on Intramural Field in the first of two Spring practice games.

The Tar Heel booters held the edge all the way over their half-brothers and turned in an excellent performance all afternoon. A crew of freshmen paced the Carolinians throughout the game and Coach Marvin Allen expressed high hopes that his team will be ready for the tough schedule that lies ahead of it next Fall.

Freshmen Eddie Foy provided all three scoring boots for the winners, and Art Windsor, also a Freshman, shared the spotlight with his fine defensive play.

A number of veterans also turned in exceptional performances, but the glory went to the youngsters who will have to advance the game here in the future.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00 Field 1, PiKA 1 vs St. Anthony; 2 Sig Nu 1 vs Beta 1; 3 ATO 1 vs SAE 1; 4 Phi Kap Sig 1 vs KA 1; 5 Alexander vs C-Dorm; 6 Lewis 1 vs Manly; 7 Old West vs Mangum; 8 Bombers vs Stan Steamers.

5:00 Field 1, Zeta 1 vs TEP 1; 2 Kappa Sig 2 vs ATO 2; 3 DKE 3 vs Pi Lamb 2; 4 Zeta 2 vs Pi Kappa Phi 2; 5 KA 2 vs Beta 2; 6 Sig Chi 3 Kappa Psi 1; 7 Kappa Sig 1 vs Kappa Psi 2.

Lambert Smacks First Homer For Freshmen in 4-0 Victory

By Lew Chapman

It may have been State's day over in Raleigh yesterday but here in the local ball orchard, Emerson Stadium, a group of Carolina freshmen diamonders had it all over a hapless aggression of State yearlings as the up and coming Tar Babies gave a stiff jolt to State's ego by trampling the Wolfpack first yearmen, 4-0.

It was the second victory of the campaign for the Carolina frosh and also the second decision over Big Four competition. Tuesday the Tar Babies journey to Durham to tangle with the Duke Blue Imps in another Big Four clash.

In yesterday's game it was all the Tar Babies. While southpaw Henry Schacht held the Wolfcubs well in hand with superlative twirling, his mates took the offerings of State chucker Lorenzo Lewis to their liking and pounded out eight hits, one of which was a lofty four baser by Bill Lambert.

Schacht elbowed a beauty of a game. He allowed only five hits, keeping them well apart, fanned six and only passed a pair of State hitters. Despite his slight stature, Schacht displayed plenty of promise for years to come.

Carolina drew first blood in the fray in the second inning when right-fielder Lambert selected one of Lewis's serves and blasted it far into the left-field corner for the first Tar Baby round-tripper of the year.

The Wolfcubs threatened in the 4th and the 8th when in both innings they got men on second and third, but in both instances Schacht bore down to retire the side without any damage in the plate-denting form.

Schacht appeared to get stronger as the game progressed as he allowed only two hits in the last five innings despite the futile efforts of the State batters to get back in the game.

A Howluva Note:

Carolina	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Herring, 2b	-	-	0	1	2	0
Whitehead, ss	-	-	1	0	5	1
Stewart, cf	-	-	1	2	0	0
Lambert,	-	-	1	2	1	0
Smith, 1b	-	-	0	2	11	0
Smith, G	-	-	0	0	2	0
Overman,	-	-	0	0	2	0
Reaves, rf	-	-	0	1	0	0
Schacht,	-	-	0	1	0	0
Totals	32	-	4	27	16	1

State	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Atwell, 3b	-	0	0	1	3	2
Benson, ss	-	-	0	0	2	0
Smith, W, 1b	-	-	1	10	0	0
Wilhelm, c	-	-	0	2	4	2
Westbrook, cf	-	-	0	0	2	0
Burkhardt, lf	-	0	1	2	0	0
Martin, 2b	-	-	0	1	2	0
Riddle, rf	-	-	0	0	2	0
Lewis, p	-	-	0	0	0	0
Totals	33	0	2	24	13	2

Score by innings:
State 000 000 000—0
Carolina 012 000 10x—4

Runs batted in: B Smith 2, Lambert. Two base hits: Burkhardt, Lambert. Three base hits: Reaves. Home runs: Lambert. Left on base: Carolina 6, State 9. Bases on balls: Schacht, 2, Lewis 2. Strikeouts: Schacht 6, Lewis 2. Hit by pitcher: By Schacht (Burkhardt). Winning pitcher: Schacht. Losing pitcher: Lewis. Umpires: Bel'o and Smith. Time: 2:00.

Carolina-Duke
DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL BLVD
Have YOU Seen Color Under The Stars?
Here's your chance to see one of the most aclaimed pictures of the year . . . . .
"The Yearling"
with Jane Wyman
Gregory Peck
In Technicolor
TODAY & TOMORROW
75c Per Car
NO CHARGE FOR PASSENGERS

For Your Flower Needs—
—Call—
West-Williams Flower Shop
PH. 9906—P.O. BLDG.—CARRBORO
Flowers Wired Anywhere

COMPLETE EYEGLASS SERVICE
Durham Optical Co
215 W. MAIN ST.
TEL. F 2141
OPTICIANS

Europe
ROUND TRIP $280 UP
Tickets available now for steamship accommodations
SUMMER 1949
Personally Conducted Tours $700 up
UNIVERSITY TRAVEL CO
Harvard Sq., Cambridge, Mass.

SEAFOOD
Our famous New Orleans Chef really knows his seafoods — Lobsters, Shrimp, Shadroe, Frog Legs, Soft Shell Crabs, Ocean Fresh Fish at prices you can afford to pay.
Delicious Lunches as low as 45—Dozen's of Hot and Toasted Sandwiches, Delightful Dinners at night that will really please you.
LUNCHES
DINNERS
PARTIES
If you are planning a party, by all means, see us. We specialize in parties, banquets and get-togethers.
Baldwin's Marine Restaurant
— We Open 7 A.M. ● We Close 7 P.M.

Always Buy CHESTERFIELD
"My cigarette is Chesterfield because they're so MILD."
Ray Milland
STARRING IN "ALIAS NICK BEAL" A PARAMOUNT PICTURE

The TOP MEN of AMERICA'S SPORTS smoke CHESTERFIELD
BEN HOGAN says..."I smoke Chesterfields because they're MILDER—MUCH MILDER. Take it from me Chesterfields satisfy."
MAKE YOURS THE MILDER CIGARETTE
MORE COLLEGE STUDENTS SMOKE CHESTERFIELDS THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE
Copyright 1949, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

CICA Fashion Show To Be Held Tuesday

The annual spring fashion show, sponsored by the Carolina Independent Coed Association, will be held Tuesday night from 9 until 11 o'clock in the Carolina Theater.

Models for the show, chosen from the five sororities, CICA, the Town Girl's Association, and the Monogram Club, will present men and women's wearing apparel from Robbins of Durham, and the Varsity Shop, the College Shoppe, Lipman's, and Miller's of Chapel Hill.

They will model summer clothes worn in such scenes and places as a swimming pool, house party, dance, tea, summer school classroom, Y court dance, graduation, and a wedding.

Music for the show will be furnished by the Town Talk Trio, and Pete Strader, who will act as master of ceremonies will write the script.

Models chosen for the show are: Mary Ann Happer, Betty Long, and Marty Hinkle, representing CICA; Barbara Dalton and Betsy Ross, Chi Omega sorority; Sarah Jane Farlowe and Peggy Martin, Alpha Delta Pi sorority; Barbara Crawford and Pat Chandler, Alpha Gamma Delta sorority; Babs Dewitt and Patty Ann Frizzell, Delta Delta Delta sorority; Jackie Lewis and Jean Sloan, Pi Beta Phi sorority; Becky Huggins and Madge Crawford, Town Girl's Association.

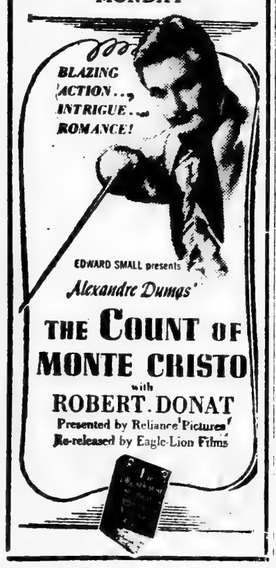
Those representing the Monogram Club include the following: John Bippart, Laddie Terrell, Will Hobbs, Coy Carson, Andy Tranavitch, Norm Sper, Bill Lyons. Dan Nyimicz, Dan Breeden, Bob Kennedy, Joe Curtis, and Bob Hutton.

Joe Neirkirk, Irvin Holdash, Dean Cassell, Johnny Clements, Sherman Nearman, Jack Moody, Bob House, Jerry Lewis, and Dick Nunis.

Square Dance To Be In Tin Can Saturday

The doors of the "Tin Can" will again open to the campus Saturday night at 8:30 for the second square dance, sponsored by the Montreat Social Commission to meet the demands for a place to get acquainted. The dance will also feature round dancing.

Music for square dancing will be furnished by Chatham Ramblers, a hillbilly band composed of four employees of Woollen gymnasium. Men in the band are A. G. Wilson, Hyden Clarke, Seaborne Mitchum, and Harris Mitchum.



Dances will be called by Bud Reaggan, Ralph Morris, and two other University students who have not been selected yet. Hostesses chosen from among the coeds will be on hand to make introductions and to pin on name tags.

The first square dance was held April 1, and more than 500 people attended. Due to its success, the Commission began plans for a second dance.

VILLAGE
TODAY

MONDAY

Social Lights

By Caroline Bruner

The wedding of Miss Nona Edge of Raleigh and William L. Mead of Wilmington took place Friday night in Chapel of the Cross Episcopal Church with the Rev. Mr. Yates officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father H. L. Edge, Sr. of Raleigh, wore a white satin Colonial period gown with a white marquiesette yoke and a full skirt sheered in the front to reveal ruffles of imported Alencon lace. Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a halo made of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book covered with white orchids and showered with lillies of the valley.

Mrs. H. E. Edge, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride from Albany, Ga., who was the matron-of-honor, and Miss Doris Beasley of Concord, Miss Charlotte Ann Dutrow of Charles Town, W. Va., and Miss Ann Wheeler of Fainsville, Ga., bridesmaids, were dressed in pinafore styled gowns of embroidered white organdy over green satin. They carried colonial bouquet of mixed spring flowers. Miss Ann Edge, neice of the bride was the flower girl.

Miss Rita Adams of Charlotte, Miss Myra Welsh of Monroe, and Miss Mary Colvin of Washington, D. C. were honorary bridesmaids.

After the wedding, a reception was held in the Alpha Delta Pi sorority house.

Following their wedding trip, the couple will make their home on McCauley Street here.

The engagement of Miss Tandy Lacy of Hopkinsville, Ky. to Lyman Wilkins of Durham was announced yesterday. Miss Lacy is a senior at the University, and Wilkins, a rising junior, is a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity.

The date of the wedding has not been announced.

The plans for the wedding of Miss Barbara Thomas of Winston-Salem to Harry Horton, which will take place May 7 in Winston-Salem, are being completed. Miss Thomas is a member of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and Horton is a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Miss Ann Chandler, a University senior from Atlanta, Ga. recently became pinned to Bob Williams, a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Plans are being completed for the wedding of Miss Evelyn Blanchard of Concord and James F. Fowler, which will take place May 7 in the Chinquapin Baptist Church. Chinquapin May 7. Miss Blanchard, a University alumna, is a member of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, and Fowler is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

The engagement of Miss Jean Snyder of Hagerstown, Md. to Ernest Hicks was recently announced. Miss Snyder is a member of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and Hicks is a member of the Delta Sigma Pi fraternity.

SPE's From Three Schools Hold Ball

The second annual Sigma Phi Epsilon Ball sponsored by the Carolina, Duke, and Wake Forest chapters of the fraternity was held last night from 8 until 12 in the Virginia Dare Ballroom of the Sir Walter Raleigh Hotel in Raleigh. The formal dance featured the music of Roy Cole and his Orchestra.

The dance was preceeded by a banquet at the S and W cafeteria in Raleigh at which Charlie Linville of the Carolina chapter was master of ceremonies.

The sponsors and their escorts were introduced at the ball by Bob Grubbs of the University as they came through a large heart, the fraternity's traditional seal. Sponsors were presented bouquets of American Beauty roses sprinkled with violets, the fraternity flower.

Although the chapters at State and Davidson were unable to join in sponsoring the dance this year, guests from these chapters made the ball a state-wide affair.

Sponsors for the Sip Ep Ball were: Miss Carrie Chamberlain, Greensboro, with Marion Davis; Miss Marjorie Batson, Wilmington, with Max Nance; Miss Pat Ross, Statesville, with William Hendrix; Miss Virginia Garner, Raleigh, with William Wiggs, for the North Carolina Zeta at Wake Forest.

Others are: Miss Ann Parker, Greensboro, with Colbert Smith; Miss Elizabeth Brady, Chadbourn, with William Elrod; Miss Alice Cole, Durham, with Beverly McKeowen; Miss Betsy Smith, Greensboro, with Joe Daniel, for North Carolina Gamma at Duke University;

Miss Helen Faucette, Warrenton, with James Nance; Miss Betty Jean Johnson, Lillington, with R. P. Early, Jr.; Miss Frances Short, Raven, Va. with Joseph F. Jones; Mrs. Charles R. Linville, Winston-Salem, with Charles R. Linville, Winston-Salem, for North Carolina Delta at the University of North Carolina.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Today

8:00 and 10:00—CATHOLIC mass. Gerrard Hall.
2:00—STUDENTS FOR DEMOcratic Action Conference. Gerrard Hall.
3:30—BSU OPEN HOUSE. STUdent House.
4:00—COSMOPOLITAN CLUB. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
4:00—LECTURE. Mervin Jules will speak on "How the Artist Works." Person Hall.
7:00—FORUM DISCUSSION FOR Teachers. Mervin Jules will speak on "Problems in Art Education." Person Hall.
8:00—CAROLINA POLITICAL Union. Grail room, GM.

Tomorrow

4:00—PHI ALPHA DELTA. Roland Parker 1, 2, GM.
4:00—CAMPUS PARTY. Roland Parker 3. GM.
4:00—MEN'S INTERDORMITORY Council. Roland Parker 3, GM.
7:00—MEDICAL FRATERNITY. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
7:00—UNIVERSITY CLUB. Roland Parker 2, GM.
7:30—KARL MARX STUDY Society. Roland Parker 2, GM.
8:15—DANCE COMMITTEE. Grail room. GM.
8:30—CAMPUS PARTY. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
9:00—STUDENT PARTY. Roland Parker 1. GM.

-Golf-

(Continued from page 1)

Stranahan chipped up for an easy helve and Ward remained 2 down.

The break seemed to take a great deal out of the tiring Ward. The pair bogeyed the next two holes, and then Stranahan stroked a 60-footer for a birdie on the 13th to put Ward 3 down and all but end the match.

But the unquitting Ward, who wouldn't let anyone, including himself, know when he had had enough, battled the match on, finally winning the 16th to stay alive, before Stranahan could eventually close him out 2 and 1 on the 17th green.

Neither golfer played much of his best product after the first nine holes of the morning round. Both showed the strained of the week's work, especially Ward who had been tightly pushed on all his matches.

Stranahan won a sterling silver tea service for his efforts. Ward received a clock, possibly with which to count the moments until the pair met again.

Ward wasn't at the peak of his game. He hit only six greens in the afternoon 18 holes, and time and time again, had to scramble to win or halve holes.

-High School-

(Continued from page 1)

Central of Charlotte, affirmative, and Mount Holly, negative, from the district contest held at Catawba College, Salisbury, on April 12.

Appalachian of Boone, affirmative, and Brevard, negative, from the district contest held at Appalachian State Teachers College, Boone, on April 14.

Coed Activities Highlighted By Parties, Trips

The party's the thing and the beach is the place for members of Alpha Gamma Delta and Chi Omega sororities the weekend of May 14. The Alpha Gam's will take off for Wrightsville Beach while the Chi O's are planning to bask in the sun at Crescent Beach.

In the partying mood, again the Alpha Gam's are entertaining members of the Chi Psi fraternity Thursday night from 8:30-10:00 at the Alpha Gam house.

On that same Thursday night the Pi Beta Phi sorority from Duke is celebrating Founder's Day with the North Carolina Pi Phi chapter. This year the celebration will be a picnic at the Pi Phi house here and Betsy Tom Lawrence is in charge of the entertainment.

Ida Constable, senior Chi Omega, achieved her highest success last week when she became a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Pledgings And Initiation Held By Fraternities

The Zeta Psi Fraternity held initiation ceremonies for nine of its pledges Wednesday night. The new initiates are: Robert Arther, Hillsboro, N. C.; Edgar Betty, Raleigh, N. C.; Ed Brown, Fuquay Springs, N. C.; William Gilliam, Tarboro, N. C.; Russell Thompson, Wilson, N. C.; Tommy Coxe, Darlington, S. C.; Arthur C. Hill, Kinston, N. C.; Calvin Woodward, Wilson, N. C.; and William Skinner, Raleigh, N. C.

The following men were pledged to the Phi Kappa Sigma Fraternity last week: Oscar Bernard Crowell, Robert Earle Deathmore, Eurid Reid McAuley, Joseph Patrich McIntire, Curtis Joyner Ratledge, and Richard Thomas Weiss.

Dick Rosen, Miami Beach, Fla., was presented the Pi Lambda Phi pledge cup for being the outstanding pledge of the year by President Irving Fox of Oxford at a banquet honoring the new brothers April 3. Rosen is a member of Sound and Fury and is now chapter Scribe.

The other new brothers initiated are: Leonard Guyes, William Kingoff, Irving Cohen, Robert Kurtz, Paul Roth, Irwin Goldman, Barry Farber, Jay Josephs, Sheldon Plager, and Alan Susman.

-Track-

(Continued from Page 3)

(HP); 21.1.
Mile Run: 1. Hamrick (UNC); 2. Winslow (HP); 3. Thurber (UNC). 4:45.3.
Mile relay: High Point. 3:39.0.
Broad jump: 1. White (UNC); 2. Winslow (UNC); 3. Fless (UNC). 19' 10¾".
High jump: Tie for first between Winsor (UNC), and White (UNC); Tie for third between Haire (HP), and Yarborough (HP). 5' 4".
Pole vault: 1. White (UNC); 2. Toliver (UNC) 10' 3".
Shot put: 1. O'Bhien (UNC); 2. Haywarth (HP); 3. Galifinakis (UNC). 44' 9".
Javelin: 1. Foy (UNC); 2. Yarborough (HP); 3. Laws (HP). 137' 2".
Discuss: 1. Council (UNC); 2. Galifinakis (UNC); 3. Haywarth (HP). 112'.

THE PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA
Eugene Ormandy, Conducting
Page Auditorium, Duke University, Durham, N. C
Tuesday Evening, April 26, at 8:15
TICKETS: $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 (Inc. Tax)
For reservations, write J. Foster Barnes, Duke University, Durham, N. C.; or phone Durham 122 - ext 270

THE PINES
Are Introducing
Curb Service
And
Featuring Your Favorite Sandwiches
Hamburgers and
Draft Beer
THE PINES 2 Miles Out On Raleigh Road
Eddie Monroe, Prop.

ELECTRICAL REPAIR SERVICE
FOR
All Makes Of Refrigerators
Electric Fans
Electric And Gas Ranges
Oil Burners
All Types Of Motors
And Small Appliances
AT
BENNETT & BLOCKSIDGE
105 E. Franklin St.
PHONE 6161

BING'S A Yankee Doodle Dandy
Connecticut's Pride And Joy
With Songs And Wit So Handy
He's King Arthur's No. 1 Boy!

Paramount Presents
BING CROSBY
RHONDA FLEMING
WILLIAM BENDIX
SIR CEDRIC HARDWICKE
Bing pours all his charm, wit and song into a glorious Technicolor version of Mark Twain's immortal classic!
HEAR BING SING "Once An F For Always" "Busy Down Yesterday" "If You Stub Your Toe On The Moon" "When Is Sometime?"
MARK TWAIN'S A CONNECTICUT YANKEE
Color by TECHNICOLOR
In King Arthur's Court
— Also —
PORKY PIG CARTOON
NEWS
SUNDAY — MONDAY
CAROLINA

THE MOST TALKED ABOUT BAND IN AMERICA
VAUGHN Monroe AND THE CAMEL CARAVAN
Starring His ORCHESTRA • VOCALISTS ENTERTAINERS
MON
April 25
Raleigh Memorial Auditorium
1.?5 2.00 2.50 3.00
Tickets available by mail order. Capitol Entertainment Co. Box 252, Raleigh

Farmers Dairy FREEZER QUALITY
Vanilla Ice Cream
Farmers Dairy FINER FLAVOR FREEZER QUALITY
OUR MOST POPULAR FLAVOR – NOW FEATURED FOR THE ENTIRE MONTH OF APRIL
Our rich, creamy mix frozen to just the proper degree and with pure vanilla flavoring added. No sir, no synthetic flavoring used in this ice cream. Pure vanilla flavoring with its mellow lingering taste is what makes this flavor so popular.
Try Our Tasty VANILLA TREAT With Chocolate Sauce
Fruits
Nuts

Cereals
Cakes
Pies
Farmers Dairy Cooperative, Inc.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE 6B

ONE LEONARD REFRIGERATOR, used; Two used Frigidaires; one used Kelvinator; two used Electric Ranges; one used Ice Refrigerator. Call Bennett & Blocksidge, 6161. (ch 1x1)

AKC REGISTERED ENGLISH BULLdog, 8 mos. old, housebroken, raised with a child—and is excellent child's companion. Call F-5573 or see J. B. Swainson, 14 Justice Street. (2-6709-1)

27 FOOT SCHULT HOUSE TRAILER in good condition. Only $500.00—must sell this week. See at 48A Pittsboro Road Trailer Court. (3-6712-1)

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

1949 FORD EIGHT JUST LIKE NEW 2,655 actual miles. Price—$1650. See at 111 Daniels Road, Victory Village after 5 P.M. (1-1200-1)

1936 BUICK IN GOOD CONDITION. Priced to sell. See E. J. Woodhouse, Davie Circle. (4-6704-1)

WILL SELL MY LATE MODEL FORD station wagon to person looking for a good buy. New tires, radio, heater. Family car—tip-top shape. Call Durham F-5716. (1-6711-1)

FOUND 6C

MAN'S MAROON CORDUROY JACKet in 315 Phillips Hall. Owner may recover it by describing coat and paying for ad. 306 Phillips Hall. (1-6710-1)

HELP WANTED 8

UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds, athletics, and other camp activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment, room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

STUDENT WANTED FOR SUMMER, someone handy in house and garden, licensed auto driver, responsible with children, and who would enjoy country life in New Hampshire. Weekends or time off subject to be arranged. Could arrange for yard work for anyone wishing to become acquainted before committing himself. Call Mrs. Maurice, 7791. (2-6707-2)

WANTED TO RENT 24B

WANT TO RENT FURNISHED APARTment for summer school also for fall, winter and spring terms. Call 7641 (1-6708-1)

Steaks . . Chicken-in-a-Basket — at HARRY'S

U. N. C. LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

EDITORIALS

On Planetarium
Girl Invasion
Hall Conduct

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Fair and warmer

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. TUESDAY, APRIL 26, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 152

Dr. Polgar Show Is Slated Tonight

Hypnotist Will Be Final Attraction Presented By SEC

By Charlie Gibson

Dr. Franz J. Polgar, telepathist and hypnotist extraordinary, will be presented in his "Miracles of the Mind" show tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall as the final attraction on the Student Entertainment Committee program for the current year.

Polgar's exhibition of mind reading, memory feats, and mass hypnotism with volunteers from the audience will be admission-free to all University students. However, admission will also be sold to non-students, according to Scotty Venable, chairman of the SEC which is appropriated funds by Student Legislature to bring varied attractions of interest to the campus. For 75 cents each, faculty members, student wives, and townspeople may purchase tickets when the doors of Memorial Hall open at 7 o'clock—one hour before the show begins.

This will be a return engagement to the University for the mental wizard who scored such a hit in an appearance here last year that he was brought back the next week to his second capacity crowd in Memorial Hall. His making different student volunteers from the audience imagine themselves three years old, stuck to their chairs, or intoxicated on ordinary water could not ze explained by sceptics here but was generally enjoyed by all who witnessed his stunts at that time.

It is understood that "The Amazing Dr. Polgar" will open his program tonight with his standard trick—that of letting the audience hide his check for this performance anywhere in the buildng while he s taken offstage and watched by three local students. If he is unable to find the check upon returning onstage, Polgar stipulates that he will perform tonight without any charges to the SEC. Previously he has located checks secreted in women's hats and even under a man's upper plate.

Dr. Polgar has been tested by psychology professors and specialists at many universities and medical centers, and his powers for actual thought transference have never been disproved. Having toured for many years since he gained these unusual mental abilties following a head wound in World War I, this showman is held in high esteem in the entertainment world. Evidence of that is his being the only member of his profession to be listed in "Who's Who in America."

Dr. Franz Polgar, above, noted hypnotist, will entertain University students tonight in Memorial Hall. Dr. Polgar is making a return engagement after a successful appearance here last year. His publicity releases warn readers to avoid staring at the above picture for there is a possibility that a person can become hypnotized from looking at it.

NC Symphony Opens Member Drive This Week

The annual membership drive of the North Carolina Symphony Society is being conducted on the campus this week as a prelude to the May 2 appearance of the Full Symphony Orchestra in Memorial Hall.

The drive will be highlighted by a fund-raising competition between fraternities, sororities, and men and women's dormitories. The particular fraternity, sorority or dormitory which collects the largest amount of money will have the privilege of naming one of the selections to be presented by the orchestra on the local program. The money, which will be collected through ticket sales and contributions, will be turned over to the Symphony Society. Student membership will cost $1.20 and the tickets, which can be purchased at the Pan-Hellenic booth in the "Y," will enable the holder to attend all concerts of the orchestra prior to the local presentation.

The North Carolina Symphony, under the direction of Dr. Benjamin Swalin, is the only organization of its type to receive yearly grants of money from the state government. The orchestra tours the state each year, carrying symphonic music to all the people and presenting special free programs for children.

Madry, Lanier Speak at Town Meet Tonight

Ed Lanier Answers League's Questions

The Chapel Hill League of Women Voters have scheduled a forum meeting for tonight at eight-thirty in the school building to which all candidates for Mayor, Recorder's Court Judge, and three Aldermen's places have been invited.

The League has asked the candidates to state their position on four questions, and have notified the candidates that each will have five to seven minutes to answer the questions and to state his views "on any other issues he believes to be of importance." The election will be held in Chapel Hill May 3.

Yesterday Edwin S. Lanier, candidate for Mayor, said, "The League's questions are important and I want to answer them. However, I want to do so before Tuesday night. There are other important matters I want to discuss at that time. I cannot cover those items and the League's questions in seven minutes." Lanier then outlined his reply to the League's questions, as follows:

"Would I favor an ordinance change limiting School Board, Recreation Commissioners and Planning Board Members to one term, prohibiting a member from succeeding himself? — These offices are appointive by the Board of Aldermen, which Board keeps itself informed about the interest, activity, and diligence of these officers. Appointments which prove unsatisfactory have a slim chance of getting four of the six aldermen's votes for reappointment. A conscientious, competent, alert member of either of these groups may not be willing to succeed himself, but he should not be, by ordinance, declared ineligible to do so.

"Would I favor financial support for recreation in Chapel Hill, the money to come from other than tax funds?"—I believe in the values of organized, supervised recreation programs for our children, but I am unwilling to appropriate from the town's revenues the funds necessary for such programs without a vote of the people. I am willing and ready to submit that question to a vote of the people, provided the people are given prior to the election a statement from the Board of Aldermen of the other urgent, unfilled community needs. We simply cannot, within our present fees and taxable resources, have

(See LANIER, page 4)

W. L. WILEY

Wiley Will Give Humanities Talk In Gerrard Hall

Dr. W. L. Wiley of the Romance Languages Department will give the Faculty Humanities Lecture for the current quarter in eGrrard Hall at 8:30 tonight. His subject will be on "A Gentleman's Code of Honor in Renaissance France."

This lecture, one of a series of faculty lectures sponsored by the Division of Humanities, closes the 1948-49 series. The lectures are intended to present members of the University faculty in talks adapted to non-specialists, undergraduate and graduate students, members of the faculty in all departments, and townspeople.

Within three lectures a year the sponsors make an attempt to present something of the range of arts and literature within the humanities departments. The lectures this year, for example, presented medieval Italy, England of the Restoration period, and now Renaissance France.

French Farce Is Now in Rehearsal

Rehearsals for the 17th Century French farce, Moliere's "Le Medecin Malgre Lui," are now in progress as the Theatre Francais is preparing to present their annual production on May 5 and 6 in the Playmaker Theatre.

Directed by Walter D. Creech, of the Romance Language Department, "Le Medecin Malgre Lui," "The Doctor in Spite of Himself," will be performed next week by the following cast: Florence McCulloch, Yvonne Creech, Urban T. Holmes, Jacques Hardre, Ed Draper-Savage, Otis Beeson, Walter Paramore, Robert Hooper, and Bill Rutherford.

Fleece Taps Parker, 18 Others; Chi O's, Sig Chi's Take Sing

Groups Repeat For Second Year In Valkyrie Sing

Repeating for the second straight year, Chi Omea sorority and Sigma Chi fraternity won the annual Valkyrie sing last night in Memorial Hall. The winners received loving cups, presented by Sally Woodhull, president of the Valkyries.

The Chi Omega's won their cup for a rendition of a "Southern Medly" of eight songs. The Sigma Chi singers rendered ofur "Hobo Junction" tunes.

The sing, built around a "Once Upon a Banquet Night" theme, opened with a recitation of the Valkrie legend.

Other entrants in the sing included:

Woman's Division: Alpha Delta Pi, "Window Shopping," Alpha Gamma Delta, "Indian Legend," CICA, "Arboretum Jamboree," Tri Delta, "Delta Party," Pi Phi, "Carolina Merry-Go-Round."

In the men's division:

Alpha Tau Omega, negro spirituals; Phi Gamma Delta, "Wine, Women, and Song,"

The committee in charge of the affair included Jo Butler, Sue Stokes, and Teenie Royall. The continuity script was written by Sue Stokes and recited by Stokes and Edie Knight.

Judges for the contest were Dr. Samuel Selden and Foster Fitzsimmons of the Dramatic Art Department, Jane Grills of the Radio Department, Mrs. Robert Wettach and Norman Gordon.

The championship cups will be kept by winners for one year. The awards are rotating and retired when won by one group three consecutive years.

Sponsors of the annual songfest, the Valkyries are the highest honorary organization for women on the campus. Limiting their membership to two per cent of the coed enrollment, the group selects members on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and service.

Atom Bomb Planes Going to England

WASHINGTON, April 25—(UP)—An Air Force spokesman said today the 509th Bomber Group is being sent to England for training as part of a regular rotatior plan that has no connection with its atom bombing experience.

THE LONE SURVIVOR of the 1944 Christmas season massacre at Malmedy, Belgium, in which 150 U. S. soldiers were slaughtered by the Nazis with machine gun fire, Kenneth R. Ahrens (right), Erie, Pa. is shown in Washington with D. A. Scalise, of Warren, Pa. Ahrens, who escaped by playing dead, told the story of the massacre to a Senate subcommittee inquiring into methods used to obtain confessions from the Germans accused of the killings. Scalise witnessed the Malmedy trials.

CICA Fashion Parade Scheduled For Tonight

Carolina Theater Will Be Show Scene As Local Models Display Campus Styles

What the well dressed college student will wear this spring will be displayed tonight at the spring fashion show sponsored by the Carolina Independent Coed Association at the Carolina Theater from 9 to 11 o'clock.

A variety of spring activities will be featured, with the proper clothes for each being modeled by students chosen from the five sororities, CICA, Town Girls Association, and the Monogram Club.

Script for the show was written by Pete Strader, who will also act as master of ceremonies. Music will be furnished by the Town Talk trio.

Formal wear for a dance or a wedding, dress up clothes for such affairs as dormitory teas; outfits for graduation weekend; for picnics, sports and beach parties, or for classes and Y courting will be displayed to show the clothes necessary for the typical Carolina coed or gentleman.

Clothes were obtained from Robbin's of Durham and from the Varsity Shop, Julian's, College Shop, Lipman's, and Milton's Clothing Cupboard, for Chapel Hill.

Admission to the show, sponsored annually by the independent women, will be 50 cents per person. Tickets are on sale today in the Y lobby, or may be purchased at the door.

Climax to the show will be a wedding scene, with apparel for both guests and bridal party being displayed. Betsy Ross will model as the bride; Barbara Dalton, maid of honor, and Betty Long and Patty Ann Frizzell as bridesmaids.

AROTC Promotions Go to 16 Cadets

Col. Byron R. Switzer announced the promotion of 16 cadets in the Air ROTC unit yesterday.

Those receiving promotions were: Henry M. Goodwin and Donald B. Carmichael, to First Sergeants; Robert S. Bounds, John H. Fenner, Jr., Gibbon McNeely, James B. Mead, John F. Tsantes, and Ernest F. Wilson, sergeants.

Philip N. Atkinson, Francis A. Buchanan, John H. Councill, William F. Davis, Arthur F. Goodwin, Faison M. Hicks, Herbert Nachman, and Frank E. Quinn, corporals.

DTH is Awarded All-American In Annual Rating

The Daily Tar Heel was one of 15 college dailies in the United States receiving an All-American rating in the Associated Collegiate Press's annual judging of newspapers, it was announced this week. The rating is the highest given by the group.

Scoring 905 out of a possible 1,035 points, the paper made the highest possible rating on news coverage, vitality of news, editorial page and features. Judging was done in 21 different departments.

The Daily Tar Heel did best in the editorial and feature division, scoring 240 out of a possible 270 points. It scored lowest in typography, headlines and makeup, getting 200 of a possible 265.

Concert by Band Set for Sunday

The University Band, directed by Earl Slocum, will present the first of three lawn concerts to be played during the month of May this Sunday at 5 o'clock in the afternoon near Davie poplar. Other concerts will be held on May 15 and May 29.

This Sunday's program will be conducted by six graduating seniors in the Music Department who are to be band directors in the various high schools of the state beginning next September. These future band directors are as follows: Harry Hall, Edwin Litaker, Dwight Price, James Rodgers, Kenneth Stroup, and Gene Stryker.

In case of rain the concert will be played in Hill Music Hall.

Marshall To Speak To Faculty Club

Dr. Roy K. Marshall, director of the planetarium will address the Faculty Club meeting tomorrow at 1:00 o'clock in the Carolina Inn. Dr. Marshall will talk on "Preview of the Planetarium Plans."

Berryhill Picked As Faculty Man; Justice Chosen

Along with 17 University students and a faculty member, Judge John J. Parker, of Charlotte, Judge of the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals, was honored last night at the annual Golden Fleece tapping ceremonies in Memorial Hall.

Dr. Walter Reece Berryhill, head of the University Medical School, was the faculty member selected this year for membership in the Fleece, highest secret honorary order for men on campus.

The 17 students chosen for their distinctive records in special activities and general all-around excellence of character and leadership were:

Harold Lee Andrews, Durham; William Donald Carmichael III, Chapel Hill; Richard Edmund Gordon, Merion Station, Pa.; Walter Page Harris, Jr., Durham; William Sherman Harrison, Asheville; Charles Louis Johnston Jr., Catawissa, Pa.; Edward Grey Joyner Jr., Wilson; Charles Justice, Asheville; Robert Edward Kirkland, Wilson; Joseph Clarence Leary, Jr., Edenton; Allard Kenneth Lowenstein, Scarsdale, N.Y.; William Ernest Mackie, Chapel Hill; Samuel Hays Magill, Shanghai, China; Roy Clifton Moose, Mooresville, N. C.; Elias Victor Seixas Jr., Philadelphia, Pa.; David Eliot Sobel, New York, N. Y.; Richard Isley Walker, Winston-Salem.

The Fleece officers for 1948-49 who were revealed for the first time last night in the Order's one public meeting of the year were Bill Miller, Jason; Wayne Brenengen, vice-Jason; Bob Coulter, Grammateus; and Basil Sherrill, Christopher.

Judge Parker's retapping into the Fleece for his record as a University alumnus was in keeping with a precedent started last year when the Order so honored Kay Kyser, Tar Heeldom's famed band leader and radio star instrumental in promoting a good health program in the State.

Parker was presented a plaque bearing the Fleece insignia in recognition of his service to the University and the country as the recipient of the American Bar Association's award in 1943 for distinguished service to American jurisprudence and his service as judge on the Nurenburg war crimes tribunal. He was appointed to the federal bench by President Hoover and was a former Republican candidate for Governor of North Carolina. He graduated from the University in 1907.

Parker and the other neophyte Fleecemen were inducted into the select order after they were singled out from the audience by black-robed figures moving slowly up and down the aisles of the darkened Memorial Hall while weird music was played over a loud speaker with a large portion of the student body looking on in suspense.

The chosen 19 were not notified in advance of the ceremony. Only when each initiate was pounced upon by one of the black-robed figures did a beam of searchlight identify him. The new members along with Fleece alumnus from all over the State invited back for the occasion were honor guests at a private supper in the Carolina Inn following the public ritual. At this banquet, Judge Parker was the featured speaker.

All-Star Game To Be Tomorrow

The Coed All-Stars will meet the Faculty All-Stars tomorrow in a softball game to be sponsored by the University Club as a part of Blue-White Week.

Balloting will take place in the Y, and all ballots should be in by 1 o'clock.

Cosmopolitans, CCUN will Hear Talk by Brandis

"The Atlantic Pact and the United Nations," will be the topic of Dr. Henry Brandis' address before a combined meeting of the Cosmopolital club and CCUN tomorrow night at 8:15 in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. Dr. Brandis' address will close a day of activities for the two organizations.

Tomorrow afternoon, a statewide radio network will carry a panel discussion on the same topic. The panel is made up of Dr. Brandis, dean of the law school; Dr. Arnold Nash, head of the department of religion; Mr. Russell Grumman, director of the extension division; and Mr. Ken Lawry, graduate student from Devon, England. The broadcast has been arranged through the communications center and was transcribed last week for re-broadcast.

The Cosmopolitan club will hold a supper meeting for its members Wednesday night at 6:30 at the First Baptist church. Members who wish to attend the supper are urged to secure tickets from Ken Lawry, 105 "B" dorm.

Russian Art: Bad and Tawdry

Emma Lou Davis, Renowned UNC Sculpturist Wants To See Art 'Returned To The People'

By Henry Albright

A solo flight to California in her private plane and back during Spring Holidays is nothing to Guest Art Instructor Emma Lu Davis.

As a matter of fact being a noted sculpturist, visiting in many foreign nations studying art, and working and teaching in all sections of the United States is just an every day occurence to Miss Davis.

"I love to just bum around and meet new ideas of art and sculpture, and I'll probably never settle down to one locale for too long a period of time," the attractive sculpturist said. "If you have the desire and the push, you can visit anywhere in the world and do exactly as I have," she continued.

When asked about her impression of the Russian artist and his work when she visited in Russia in 1935, the artist said, "The Russian popular taste is toward bad and tawdry styles in painting and sculpture. Russia has not a broad or intelligent popular base of appreciation of beautiful projects." But she continued, "I believe that the Soviet artist enjoys the happiest situation in the world from an economic-social standpoint: as a trade union member he enjoys protection and social security, he never lacks employment, and building and decorative projects are broad enough to include all varieties of work—except good work, as I have said."

EMMA LOU DAVIS

"The principle job needed in all art schools is to allow the artist to become more familiar with the principles of good workmanship," Miss Davis continued, "I think there are a great many artists, but awfully few real craftmen. The use of tools, and neat, fast, strong construction are not taught extensively in art schools and I have tried to set up just such a department in New East Annex."

The artist of the Medieval period had the correct idea, she brought out, for they all worked together in a craft and each person had an active part in the building of the great cathedrals and other precious works of art. With the breaking down of this system, art has slowly grown away from the people and only a select few now receive the advantage of appreciating and understanding art. Until art is returned to the people, to love and to understand, there can be no great art works. This return is slowly being done now in modern advertisement and magazines.

When the artist was questioned more about her foreign travels she left her drill machine long enough to wipe har hands and brow to explain in one breath. "I was in China in 1937 and had a one-man exhibition in Peiping, at the Peiping Institute of Fine

(See DAVIS, page 4)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor — DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager — T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor — Bill Buchan
Sports Editor — Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors — Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. — Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. — Buddy Vaden
Society Editor — Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. — Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. — Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. — David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. — Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. — C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer — James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Night Editor: Roy Parker — Night Sports: Joe Cherry

Memorial Hall Conduct

The recently concluded May Frolics weekend at latest reports was not the brunt of a barrage of criticism as was the case last year. But a few comments on the conduct of the Memorial Hall audience that attended the Skitch Henderson concert Saturday afternoon in Memorial Hall do seem in order. To say that the conduct reflected badly on the reputation of the students of this University would be putting it mildly.

Those familiar with the Saturday afternoon concerts traditionally given on weekends of the German Club, May Frolics, and Grail dances are accustomed to a great deal of shouting, applauding, and whistling. But on the particular concert which Henderson gave Saturday afternoon, the noise rose to the extent that it proved irritable to some of those in attendance and also was annoying to the band.

The climax came when the program went on the radio for half an hour. First, the students failed to give any cooperation to the announcer who was opening the program, booing at his opening remarks and failing to applaud at the right time. Then in the middle of the program, the students began to chant for "Dixie." Now "Dixie" is a great old Southern song, and the concert would not have been complete without singing it. That is a tradition. But it does seem that the students could have waited until after the program was off the air before making their demands. As a result, there was so much confusion that only about four songs got on the air during the half hour broadcast.

Also there was frequent booing and laughter during the more sentimental tunes, which really were not funny.

No one is advocating a staid audience for the Saturday afternoon concerts. The informal conduct is just part of college life. But even collegians should have enough tolerance to listen quietly and not to boo the announcer.

Skitch Henderson took the riotous conduct in good stride, of course. But it's doubtful if he left Chapel Hill with a particularly glowing opinion of Southern hospitality.

On the Morehead Planetarium

Two recent columnists writing in the Daily Tar Heel have used the Morehead Planetarium as a subject for humor columns. They were all written in the interest of presenting a funny story and certainly were not intended to reflect unfavorably on the Planetarium.

However, there have been a number of complaints to the effect that they were intended to ridicule the new structure. If such was the case, then they have been misinterpreted. Such was not the case. It's just that a planetarium is a novice to the students and naturally provokes comment, much of which is of a humorous vein.

John Motley Morehead's gift to the University is a contribution for which the whole school is appreciative. It will attract numerous visitors to Chapel Hill and will go a long way toward furthering Carolina's reputation as the leading center of education in the South.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon
(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, April 24 — Attorney General Tom Clark has been subjected to almost every type of pressure, but never as tough as he's getting right now. He's practically scorched by the heat being put on him by invitation-seekers.

The tall Texan is giving a birthday party for President Truman, as he has for the last three years, but this isn't like the last three years. Folks who previously didn't care how Mr. Truman celebrated his birthday, or even if he'd been born, now would trade their souls, if any, to watch him blow out the candles.

Up to now the presidential nativity has been celebrated in the 1925 F Street Club, an exclusive little trap located, oddly enough, at 1925 F Street. The Attorney General had everything set to hold it there this year too—until the weight-throwing started.

This little politico - social hideaway, which can seat about 40 people, if they don't exhale, was plenty big enough for presidential cake-sharing in the past. About the only people who attended were those who had to.

This boiled down to the cabinet, ambitious bureaucrats with eyes on the cabinet, members of the Supreme Court, and a few willing to be on the Supreme Court should one of the incumbents obligingly kick off.

After revising his 1949 guest list a dozen times, the Attorney General canceled out the 1925 F Street Club over the weekend. But he hasn't found a place big enough. His administrative assistant, Mrs. Grace Stewart, and his secretary, Miss Alice O'Donnell, spent the Lord's Day on the telephone informing invitees the party was to be moved, but they didn't know where.

"We will have to let you know later," the ladies added. "The party will be held at the appointed time, however."

The appointed time is Saturday night, May 7. The President's birthday is May 8, but he doesn't care to be huffing and puffing at 65 candles on Sunday.

I asked Mrs. Stewart if the Attorney General had given any consideration to hiring the National Guard Armory, which holds 5,000 under fire-law restrictions and 13,000 for inaugural balls when we don't care who gets burned up. She said "no," and that Mr. Clark hadn't made any dicker to rent the big top from John Ringling North either.

She also nixed Griffith Stadium, probably in the fear that Mrs. Perle Mesta would slide into the cake, mistaking it for second base.

Well, the President is going to have a birthday party, but the host doesn't know where. Anybody got any suggestions to offer him?

It's All in Knowing How

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Pitching Overshoes
Girl Invasion

By Tom Wharton

When something happens that nobody knows a darn thing about on the Chapelina Campus, there appear more self-imagined "insiders" writing columns and conducting Y-court propaganda campaigns who claim to have the real inside poop on the happening than when something obvious happens.

I refer to the recent "invasion" of the mens' dormitories by a couple of unknown women. To date, the only thing really known for certain about them is that two women did run around some of the dorms one night a week ago today putting up signs in the halls and such saying that they had been there and so on.

Then the author of the column named "Stumping It" comes out with the smug insinuation that he just happens to know all about it and that "this columnist has heard" that Tarnation staged the whole works for some reason that Tom Kerr, editor of Tarnation, can't figure out. Why would Tarnation stage such a thing, when, if they wanted such a story, they have plenty of writers that could and probably would dream one up better than that?

According to the various and conflicting reports of the whole occurence, one might be right in guessing that the pair of fearless girls that pulled the stunt, if it was a stunt, are the same pair that pulled the same stunt over at State College several weeks ago. Then again, one could be just as right in guessing that after hearing about the occurence at State College, some of the girls around here might have thought it was a fad or something and tried the same thing here. Just think how easy it would be for anyone to do it.

The State College weekly newspaper, "The Technician," had a haphazard account of the affair after it happened at State and before it happened here. In their account they wrote that the girls had refused to give the article they planned to write to the State College humor magazine, "Wataugan" and also to the "Technician," but instead claimed that the full story would appear in the humor magazine over at Carolina, "Tarnation." Editor Kerr of Tarnation says that he would be glad to have the story if it were possible but that he has yet to even learn who did it.

The most amazing thing about the whole occurence at State was the reaction shown by the residents of the invaded Dormitories there, and the State Campus as a whole. Editor Bill Haas of the Technician told this columnist at the NCCPA conference in Raleigh last Friday that he would try to scoop Tarnation on the story and that in the meantime if the girls were ever identified he would advocate cutting off all their hair and boiling them in oil or something like that.

Emmet Bringle, former editor of "Wataugan" and present president of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association, said that they "ought to build a jail over the girls if they were ever caught." Other State students have written irate letters to the Technician demanding apprehension of the girls and full prosecution, etc.

I believe it would be hard for anyone on this campus to be anything but amused at the incident. Several boys from the invaded dormitories at Carolina have commented that they thought it was a cute trick. One man in Whitehead Dormitory said, "I'll have to take my hat off to a pair of girls that got spunk enough to try a trick like that. I wish conditions were such that they didn't have to disguise themselves to come to see us."

* * *

Party-loving students of the University of North Carolina will be happy to learn of a new night and day club that invites and welcomes their patronage. It is the Club ORANGE FRIDAY, INC. located in room 909 of the Carolina Hotel in Raleigh, N. C. The unique name of the establishment was derived from a certain beverage invented by the management of the establishment who incorporated the joint Friday night as delegates to the NCCPA conference from the DTH and the Tarnation.,

The beverage comes out to be a sort of vile orange color when mixed properly. The management of Orange Friday, Inc., was a little anxious about the financial status of the business venture at the last report Friday night. The "balance brought forward" column on their ledger showed nothing more than a straight line drawn through it.

The stock on hand was all gone by 10:00 and the customers were becoming incensed. The cashier of the establishment, namely this columnist, was unable to collect the customary cover charge from the customers namely the Guilford College and Duke University delegations, so he escaped after turning over the books and all his cash on hand to Bill Buchan, capable, efficient, and hard-working candidate for the presidency of the Association.

To The Editor

SP AND NSA

Editor:

Bill Buchan, in his column appearing in Saturday's (April 23) DTH, called on all parties to get behind the NSA purchase card system.

The Student Party in the past has supported and will continue to support the National Student Association.

Therefore the SP will not only vote for, but will earnestly work for the NSA purchase card system in order to lower prices for Carolina students.

Signed by all SP Legislators:
William Prince, Graham Jones, John Saunders, Duffield Smith, Larry Botto, Sol Kimberling, Henry Bowers, Charles Lineberry, Jim Houser, Herb Yates, Johnnie O'Neal, Jean Cashion, Will London, Emily Sewell, Clark Taylor.

QUOTING THE SUPREME COURT

Editor:

Recently, certain quotations have appeared on this page tending to show that Communists do favor the use of force and violence. One of the most thorough examinations of the Communist position on the use of force and violence was made by the Supreme Court in the case of Schneiderman vs. United States (June 21, 1943).

In the words of Lenin, quoted by the Court: "In order to obtain the power of the state, the class conscious workers must win the majority to their side. As long as no violence is used against the masses, there is no other road to power. . . We are not in favor of the seizure of power by a minority."

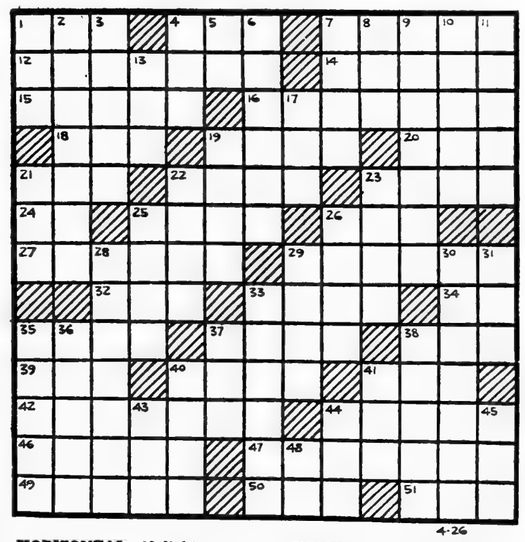
To which the Court adds: 'A tenable conclusion from the foregoing is that the Party in 1927 desired to achieve its purpose by peaceful and democratic means, and as a theoretical matter justified the use of force and violence only as a method of preventing an attempted forcible counter-overthrow once the Party had obtained control in a peaceful manner, or as a method of last resort, to enforce the majority will, if at some indefinite future time. . . constitutional and peaceful channels were no longer open."

Concerning the quotations out of context, "from Marx through Foster", of which a certain writer in this column appears to be overly fond, I think it is best to refer again to the words that Mr. Justice Murphy (perhaps also a "stalinist. . . tactician?") wrote about one of the witnesses against Schneiderman: "He never attempted a philosophic analysis of the literature he read, but only read it to secure evidence, reading and underscoring those portions which, in his opinion, 'had to do with force and violence.' "

Hans Freistadt

Chollie's Follies
April Afternoon

By Charlie Gibson

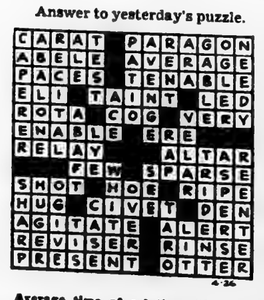


CELEBRITIES & CELEBRATIONS—How frolicsome can a May Frolics weekend get? The last straw came Saturday evening when the Bell Tower chimed out an austere and sonorous version of "Little Brown Jug." . . Skitch Henderson's friend, Bill "The Razor's Edge" Duncan, was among those listed as speedy recoveries. . . Heavens forbid, but what if Polgar, the famous mental wizard, got confused tonight with one of his miracles and left the entire audience hypnotized into thinking they came to college to study something or other? . . . Norman Cordon, Metropolitan Operator come to Chapelina, is a new addition in the latest "Who's Who in America." . . . Few folks dare predict which scenic senior will be the May Queen later this month, but odds are that 'twill be one of the two who announced their engagements on the same page of the Raleigh News and Observer Sunday—Ferne Hughes or Mary Louise Powe. . . George C. Marshall was among the throngs at Pinehurst Saturday to witness Harvie Ward's usual show of hard-fought good sportsmanship.

Betty McDonald, Carolina's own and not the author of "The Egg and I," is now taking an agriculture course in the sociology department here. Not exactly the farmer's daughter type, Betty has guessed so quickly which faucet on the cow gives cream that folks are calling her "Aggie" because of her culture. . . And speaking of subjects the University was too modest to list in its catalogue, how about the physical ed department's complete course in fly-casting? Was there ever anything so practical outside of State College?

THIS THING CALLED SPRING—Check the semi-nude sun bathers already all over the lower quad any afternoon, but just wait till the Archer House Chi O's take to the roof. . . Marilyn Blackwell is not called "Telescope Tillie" for nothing. . . Boomerang by Buick: One of the DTH editorialists most ardently in favor of students' cooperating to remedy the campus parking paralysis happens to have gotten a total of ten parking tickets himself so far this quarter. . . Understand the scuttlebutt manager has such a guilty conscience that his ice cream menu has the word "Fresh" covered up in front of the "Peach" . . Witticisms by Dick Dunlea, busy dean's list scholar, to the girls whom he shoes away from his hopechest Town and Country car: "Put an egg in your shoe, kid, and beat it!" Or "Act like a tree, and leave!"

If twenty-cannon salvos were practical to hail the man who has contributed most to the Carolina way of life in the past week, Fred Weaver should hang on to his eardrums now. At a Pine Room banquet for all the newly elected student officers, Dean Weaver, a Harvard graduate student-to-be on a leave of absence next fall, gave one of the finest addresses heard on campus in many a year. The Weaver speech would have convinced anybody of the work and the wonders in student government here.



KUDOES & KUSSES—Bob Williams is the spark plug behind the highly successful Tar Can square dances sponsored by the Montreat Social Commission, the second of which squares off this Saturnight. . . . Barbara McIntyre, cute blonde who's friendly and uncoedish enough to speak to fellows whom she passes along the walks, is enough to drive a mon to Scotch. . . . Didyaknow that all groups holding big dance weekends are required by the University to fork over $40 towards hiring extra-time policemen around Woollen Gym? Then why isn't someone charged to have additional cops guard Chapel Hill proper on big football afternoons in the fall when the regular flatfoot force become Kenan Stadium fans en toto? . . Sam Hirsch's new full-length comedy "Repple Depple" will be like another look at a picture album of favorite souvenirs for World War II vets smart enough to catch the free Playmaker show Thursday or Friday. . . CPU (for Commies Pick Us?) has a creditable new idea in the faculty-student debates to be started this Wednesday. . . Good luck, too, to the University Club on all the plans which it is Sperheading for a gala Blue-White weekend.

HORIZONTAL
1. donkey
4. twilight
7. foul substances
12. restrains
14. lifeless
15. false name
16. English poet
18. lofty mountain
19. drove
20. edible green seed
21. high card
22. country road
23. neat
24. mother of Titans
25. glut
26. parcel of land
27. landed property
29. most tractable
32. salutation
33. step in walking
34. toward
35. weathercock
37. behind
38. rumen
39. note in Guido's scale
40. light rain
41. woodland spirit
42. highly seasoned stews
44. devilfish
46. seethes
47. ousted
49. gull-like birds
50. mournful
51. queer

VERTICAL
1. Syrian garment
2. comforts
3. fence steps
4. street railways (abbr.)
5. Odin's brother
6. ancient Jewish ascetic
7. expired
8. hostel
9. postponement
10. cornered
11. wander away
13. gentle knock
17. prefix: before
19. detest
21. grow old
22. tardy
23. heavy volume
25. rescue
26. want
28. oscine American bird
29. diplomacy
30. dwarfted
31. bushy clump
33. goes by
35. Russian measure of distance
36. winged
37. wood-boring tool
38. division of a long poem
40. rumple
41. Indian moccasin
43. posseas
44. among (poet.)
45. annex
48. southern state (abbr.)

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 24 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

On The Political Front

By Charles McCorkle

MAYOR — All eyes, in town anyway, are focused on Chapel Hill's municipal election these days. The vote comes up next Tuesday on mayor, Recorder's Court judge, and five seats on the Board of Aldermen.

University students, even those who don't vote here, should be interested in the race for mayor, since both candidates are connected with the U. of N. C. R. W. Madry, better known around town as Bob, is seeking re-election to the post. He is director of the University News Bureau. And the other candidate is Ed Lanier, director of Central Records and originator of "Lanier's Lottery."

As a matter of fact, Lanier said the other day that he would have a few important words on the subject to say tonight when the League of Women Voters holds an open meeting in the town hall at 8:30. Madry will also be there to speak his piece.

Other candidates scheduled to talk tonight are the candidates for judge, Henry Whitfield, up for re-election, and John Manning. The five candidates seeking three seats on the Board of Aldermen will also be around. They are, in order of their filing, R. B. Fitch and Robert Fowler (the incumbents), Mrs. Roland McClamroch, Kenneth Putnam and Rev. J. H. Jones.

LEGISLATURE—Here's how the new Student Legislature lines up: The University Party just barely does not have a majority. The UP holds 23 seats, while the Student Party comes in second with 15 and the CP is tagging behind, but not far behind, with 12.

The big question which comes to mind is which way will those 12 CP seats vote—with the SP or with the UP? Which way they will vote on legislation in the future cannot be answered here—yet. But it looks pretty definite that we will see a CP-UP coalition Thursday night when the solons elect their officers for the coming year.

ENTERTAINMENT—At least one of Mackie's presidential appointments is public knowledge at this time. Mackie will appoint Charlie Gibson to the post of chairman of the Student Entertainment Committee.

Gibson, the hard - working publicity director for the committee and managing editor of the Carolina Quarterly, has been a member of the CP. However, when the CP voted to back Gordon and Leonard in the run-off, Gibson not only dissented but violently objected. At that time, figuring Gordon would be elected, Charlie thought he had ruined his chances for the chairmanship. But Mackie came through and made what we consider a wise appointment.

Varsity Baseball, Tennis Teams Win

Jacksonville Navy Beaten, 12-3; Meet Duke Today at Emerson

By Joe Cherry

Righthander Edwin Gaston, making his first appearance on the mound for Carolina, pitched six-hit ball and struck out twelve batters to pace the Tar Heel nine to a 12-3 victory over an impotent Jacksonville, Fla., Naval Air Station team yesterday afternoon at Emerson stadium.

The sophomore hurler, another curveballer, kept the visiting Sailors in check for all but one of the nine innings he faced them. He tossed four frames of no-hit ball, facing only twelve batters, before Jacksonville broke the ice for three hits and three scores in the fifth inning.

Yesterday's victory marked the third time this season the Tar Heels have topped the Navy nine. The locals came out on top in both contests against the Jacksonville squad during the Florida trip earlier in the spring by scores of 6-2 and 21-8.

Devils Here Today

Today the Carolina club will be gunning for its second Big Four win against the same number of losses when Duke University invades Emerson Stadium.

Ray Blair, who pitched the Tar Heels to a 8-2 victory over Duke on Easter Monday, has been named by coaches Hearn and Rabb as Carolina's starting twirler. Game time is 4 o'clock.

Carolina grabbed a two-run advantage over the Sailors in the opening frame. Stan Goodman, the Tar Heels' dependable second baseman, lashed out a home run into deep left field—his third of the season—for the home team's opening tally.

Rip Ryan reached second base when Hib Buchanan, Jacksonville second sacker, dropped his fly in right field, and Ed Lamb singled the Ripper home for Carolina's second marker.

In the third inning the Tar Heels sewed up the ball game by crossing home plate five times on three hits, two walks, and an error. Will Hobbs proved to be the big gun in Carolina's biggest inning.

The lanky Carolina first baseman connected for a timely single with the bases loaded and crossed home plate on the same play when Burr Burris let the ball get by him in centerfield for a costly error.

Visitors Rally

In the fifth the visitors finally got to Gaston for three base knocks and all three of their runs.

With two men out and the sacks full on two walks and a hit, relief hurler John Goodens drove in a pair of markers with a bingle down the third base line. Terry Moore followed with another hit, chasing Burris home with the Sailors' third and final score.

The locals added another run in the fifth when Sid Varney doubled into right-center and came home on Don Ward's single past first base.

Carolina put three hits and two Navy errors together for three more tallies in the sixth stanza, and notched its final score in the seventh when pinch-hitter Jim Ballou led off with a walk, stole second and third on consecutive pitches, and came home on Gaston's infield grounder.

Sleepy Senter's one-handed stab of Bill Rogers' line drive, and Lamb's running overhead catch of Dick Nelson's long drive into right field proved to be the outstanding defensive plays of the afternoon.

Duke Next!!!

Jax Navy	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Moore, lf	4	0	2	1	0	1
Buchanan, 2b	3	0	0	5	0	2
Webb, 3b	4	0	1	0	6	1
Nelson, rf	4	0	0	2	0	0
Crane, c	1	1	0	1	2	0
Warner, c	1	0	0	2	0	0
Rodgers, ss	4	1	1	1	5	0
Burris, cf	2	1	0	1	0	1
Manning, cf	1	0	1	0	0	0
Lambert, 1b	2	0	0	11	0	0
Helmrick, 1b	1	0	0	0	0	0
Becker, p	1	0	0	0	0	0
Goodens, p	1	0	0	0	0	0
Gushanas, p	2	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	31	3	6	24	13	5

North Carolina	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Allen, cf	3	0	0	1	0	0
Goodman, 2b	5	2	2	1	1	0
Ryan, ss	4	2	1	1	2	0
Brookshire, ss	1	0	1	0	2	0
Varney, c	5	3	2	11	1	0
Lamb, rf	4	0	2	1	0	0
Senter, 3b	4	1	0	1	3	0
Ward, lf	2	1	2	0	0	0
Ballou, lf	1	1	0	1	0	0
Hobbs, 1b	3	1	1	10	0	0
Gaston, p	4	1	1	0	0	0
Totals	36	12	12	27	9	0

Score by Innings:
Jax Navy 000 030 000—3
North Carolina 205 013 10x—12

Runs Batted in: Goodman 2, Lamb 2, Hobbs 2, Goodens 2, Moore, Ward, Ryan, Gaston. Two base hits: Ward, Varney, Goodman. Home Run: Goodman. Stolen Bases: Ward, Ballou 2. Double play: Senter to Goodman to Hobbs. Left on base: Carolina 7, Jax Navy 6. Bases on balls: Off-Gaston 3, Becker 1, Goodens 2, Gushanas 3. Struck out By-Gaston 12, Gushanas 2. Hits: Off-Becker 3 in 2; Gushanas 1 in 2; Goodens 8 in 4. Hit by pitcher: By-Gaston (Buchanan). Wild Pitches: Gaston 2, Goodeng. Losing pitcher Becker. Umpires: Weaver, Murray, Cowell. Time: 2:18.

MONOGRAM MEETING

There will be an important meeting of the Monogram Club tonight at 7:30. Final plans for the Blue-White game will be discussed and the following men who earned letters in winter sports will be initiated.

Swimming: Charlie Bartlett and Eddie Clements. Basketball: Benton Bennett, Howard Deasy, Hal Ferraro, Charlie Thorne, Hugo Kappler, John Tsantes, and Bill White. Wrestling: Joe Augustine, Charlie Harless, Kenny Hoffman, John Stoioff, Ray Swigart, Ed Turnley and manager Bill Weatherly.

Penn Relays Open In Philadelphia This Weekend

Several thousand collegiate, prep, high school and service tracksters are expected to journey to Philadelphia this week end to compete in the 55th annual University of Pennsylvania Relay Carnival.

Reports coming out of the Quaker City indicate that the colorful sporting classic will have stiffer competition this year than in any of the previous years. Including trials, there will be 84 different events with competition starting at one o'clock Friday afternoon and running through Saturday afternoon.

Carolina coach Dale Ranson is planning on sending a strong delegation of his squard members to Philly. The definite list of Tar Heel entries has not been released yet, but Carolina's quartet of high hurdlers will compete in the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay.

The Tar Heel hurdle team will be composed of Dick Taylor, Bob Morrow and Bill Albans, the trio which swept the high hurdle event at the Southern Conference Indoor Games, and high jumper Jack Moody who has shown daily improvement in his hurdling.

Carolina's four timber toppers have high hopes of establishing a new relays record for the event. The present mark is 1:01.4 and the Tar Heels ran a 1:01.5 in the Carolina Relays in early April and were not pushed. With competition, the Carolina foursome will probably get below the present mark.

Albans will probably enter several other events in addition to his hurdling, but at the present time it is not known what they will be.

The University of Maryland mile relay team and 440-yard relay quartet will be entered in their respective events and both are expected to give good accounts of themselves. Neither, however, are picked as blue ribbon winners.—ALLSTON.

Today's Sports

Baseball

Varsity baseball—Carolina vs Duke at Emerson Stadium at 4 o'clock. Passbooks required for admittance.

Freshman baseball — Carolina vs Duke at Durham at 4 o'clock.

Practice Sessions

Daily practice sessions continue in football, lacrosse, soccer, basketball, track, tennis and golf.

TRACK DINNER

There will be a dinner tonight at the Carolina Inn in honor of the 1948 Indoor track team. All varsity trackmen are invited to attend. The affair will get underway at 6 o'clock.

Wolfpack Becomes 15th Victim Of Potent Tar Heel Net Team

Carolina's high-riding tennis team added North Carolina State's netmen to its growing list of victims by trouncing the Wolfpack courtmen, 12-1, on the varsity courts yesterday afternoon, for its fifteenth straight victory.

Captain Victor Seixas turned in his usual bang-up job in the number one singles match, defeating Bill Weathers, 6-1, 6-1. Clark Taylor, playing in the second spot, had little trouble in disposing of Arthur Albertson for the Tar Heels' second point.

Stan Gruner continued the Carolina victory parade by conquering Charles Boney in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1, and Charlie Rice came through to beat Pete Kohn, 6-3, 6-3, in a hard-fought match.

Carl Ragan provided the only State win of the afternoon when he put on a strong rally after dropping the first set to Duke Wilder to stop the Carolina tennisman, 3-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Jim Winstead put Coach John Kenfield's netters back in the win column by topping Montisanti, 6-0, 6-3, and Lasley Dameron continued the singles with a close 8-6, 6-4 victory over Leon Skeen of State.

Tar Heel reserves Kerdasher and Kenan came through with the other two wins in the singles, Kerdasher polishing off Osburne, 6-2, 6-2, and Kenan setting down Burns, 6-2, 6-4.

In the doubles, Carolina's top two racketeers, Seixas and Taylor, combined to nose out Culbertson and Boney, 6-0, 6-0, and Wilder and Rice followed up with a long thriller which ended with the two Tar Heels on top, 7-5, 7-9, 10-8.

Gruner and Winstead continued in the general scheme of things and beat Kohn and Montisanti, 6-4, 6-1, while Bowman and Dameron completed the perfect day in the doubles when they topped Burns and Osburne, 8-6, 6-2.

Singles: Seixas (C) defeated Weathers, 6-1, 6-1; Taylor (C) defeated Culbertson, 6-0, 6-1; Gruner (C) defeated Boney, 6-1, 6-1; Rice (C) defeated Kohn, 6-3, 6-3; Ragan (NCS) defeated Wilder, 3-6, 6-1, 6-2; Winstead (C) defeated Montisanti, 6-0, 6-3; Dameron (C) defeated Skeen, 8-6, 6-4; Kerdasher (C) defeated Osburne, 6-2, 6-2; Kenan (C) defeated Burns, 6-2, 6-4.

Doubles: Seixas-Taylor (C) defeated Culbertson-Boney, 6-0, 6-0; Wilder-Rice (C) defeated Weathers-Ragan, 7-5, 7-9, 10-8; Gruner-Winstead (C) defeated Kohn-Montisanti, 6-4, 6-1; Bownan-Dameron (C) defeated Burns-Osburne, 8-6, 6-2.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00, Field 1, Chi Psi 2 vs DKE 2; 2, Lewis 2 vs Bombers; 3, Lamb Chi 1 vs Kap Sig 2; 4, DKE 1 vs Beta 2; 5, Chi Phi 2 vs KA 2; 6, Phi Gam 1 vs Zeta 2; 7, DKE 2 vs KA 3; 8, Phi Delt 1 vs Sig Chi 3.

5:00, Field 1, Emer Misfits vs Ruffin; 2, Old East vs Med Sch 2; 3, Sig Chi 1 vs Pi Lamb 2; 4, Law Sch vs Whitehead; 5, Old Grads vs Hot Rods; 6, TEP 1 vs ATO 2; 7, Zeta 1 vs Delta Sig.

Frosh Win Again; Down Greensboro For Third in Row

GREENSBORO, April 25—Coach Henry House's yearling baseballers made it three in a row here today by downing the Greensboro High School team, 5-3. Led by the six-hit pitching of Gene Smith and the combined hitting of Dick Whiteheart and Bill Lambert, the Tar Babies blasted the Greensboro pitchers for two runs in the third, one in the fifth and two more in the seventh.

The Carolina scoring started in the third with a single by Reeves. The pitcher walked and Whiteheart followed with a double to score two runs. Greensboro scored one in the last of the third. It was Ben Smith who added another run to the scoring column for Carolina when he knocked out a long fly letting in Herring from third.

The Tar Babies copped the final two in the seventh when a walk by Ben Smith was followed with a single by Whiteheart. Bill Lambert then stepped up to drive out the longest ball of the afternoon, a triple that scored Smith and Lambert. The Greensboro team picked up one apiece in the eighth and ninth.

For Carolina it was Smith all the way with Overman taking care of the chores behind the plate. Smith is a Statesville lad and has proved his ability as an infielder in playing short stop in both the State and Wake Forest games. This afternoon is the first time he has seen action on the mound.

Greensboro's pitching was done by Stan Johnson until the sixth when he was relieved by Jack Thomas, Beasley did the catching. Previously the frosh have won from the Wolf Cubs of State last Wednesday and the junior Deacs of Wake Forest on Saturday. Their next game is with

(See FROSH page 4)

Colonial House System
OPEN
11 A.M. TIL' MIDNIGHT
Mon. — Thurs.
11 A.M. TIL' 2 A.M.
Fri. & Sat.

Mural Roundup

MURAL TENNIS

Playoffs in Mural tennis will begin this afternoon. Five men compromise a team and must be on hand at the scheduled time of the match. Here is today's schedule:

4:00, courts 1-3: Zeta 1 vs Chi Psi 1; 4-6: Sig Chi 2 vs Phi Kap Sig.

5:00, courts 1-3: ATO 2 vs Pi KA 2; 4-6: Sig Nu 1 vs SAE 2.

ARCHERY TOURNAMENT

Starting Monday, April 25, the Archery Club will meet on Mondays and Wednesdays for informal recreation. They will sponsor an all-campus tournament May 16-19.

Annual Blue-White Football Game Scheduled For Saturday At Kenan

All eyes will be turned to Kenan Stadium once again this Saturday as two Carolina teams tee off in the annual Blue-White football game sponsored by the Monogram Club.

Over 10,000 high school students, guests of the Monogram Club and Athletic association, will be on hand for the big affair which is scheduled to get under way at 2 o'clock. In all, a crowd of approximately 18,000 is expected for the big three ring shindig.

Like last year, the Monogram Club will present awards to the "Coaches of the Year," as selected by that organization. The practice was inaugurated two years ago when the Club presented awards to Tennis Coach John Kenfield and Jim Gill, assistant football coach. Last year the awards went to Coach Carl Snavely and Assistant Swimming Coach Ralph Casey.

The intrasquad game culminates five weeks of grueling spring training for the squad of 70-odd hopefuls. A regulation game in every way, the Blue-White contest closes out football at the University until September 1, when the play for keeps begins.

Faced with a tremendous building program caused by the mass exodus of 21 lettermen from last year's Sugar Bowl squad, the Blue-White game will provide a proving ground for the more than 30 freshman candidates trying out for the varsity squad. With only 19 lettermen as a nucleus, the Carolina football team of 1949 will be facing what is predicted as its toughest schedule. The Tar Heels have added powerful Notre Dame to the new schedule and will be playing the Gamecocks of South Carolina as an added attraction in place of Texas.

Saturday's contest will give local fans a chance to see for themselves the abilities of Freshmen Dick Weiss, Bill O'Brien, Dalton Ruffin, Dick Bestwick, Bill Kuhn, and many other standouts from last year's undefeated freshman squad.

On the more experienced end, football enthusiasts will again be treated to the antics of Charlie All-American Justice, Art Weiner, Kenny Powell, Johnny Clements, Irv Holdash, Eddie Knox, and many others with an inch or two left on the eligibility rule.

If past Blue-White games are any barometer, fans will be treated to an afternoon of worthwhile football, with all the color and trimmings of a regular season game. BUDDY VADEN.

TEEN-AGE

"Not tonite, Joey! One simply must think of ones career... Joey... Joey... are you still there?"

Spaghetti Dinner
75c
Italian Spaghetti with Meat Balls

THE BUCCANEER

BLACKWOOD
ASSOCIATE STORE
Across from Bus Station

RAIN OR SHINE IT'S
"Stormy" Weathers
AND HIS ORCHESTRA

FOR THE SMOOTHEST IN DANCE MUSIC
SPECIALIZING IN SORORITY AND FRATERNITY DANCES
Write 310 Pritchard Ave.
PHONE 3746

Fashion Flash---

ANNOUNCING

THE ANNUAL CICA FASHION SHOW

TO BE PRESENTED AT THE

Carolina Theater at 9:00 P.M. ---- Tonight

The Spice of Style!

All Womens Apparel

WILL BE SPONSORED BY

Robbin's

"THE HOUSE OF FASHION"

NOW IN DURHAM
SOON IN CHAPEL HILL

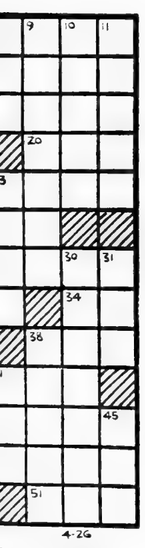
With fans who know...it's Alan Dale's

"MEET ME TONIGHT IN DREAMLAND" (Signature Record)

● Alan Dale, a top-ten phono favorite, gives out with the solid dream music. Yes, for starry-eyed dancing, just ask for Alan Dale's new number. And for mild, flavorful smoking pleasure, just ask for Camels! Take it from Alan—"Camels are a grand smoke . . . a cool, mild smoke!"

WITH SMOKERS WHO KNOW... IT'S

Camels



for taste and mildness!

In a recent test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for 30 days, noted throat specialists, making weekly examinations, reported

NOT ONE SINGLE CASE OF THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking

CAMELS

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. Winston-Salem, N. C.

4-26

9. postponement
10. cornered
11. wander away
13. gentle knock
17. prefix: before
19. detest
21. grow old
22. tardy
23. heavy volume
25. rescue
26. want
28. oscine American bird
29. diplomacy
30. dwarfted
31. bushy clump
33. goes by
35. Russian measure of distance
36. winged
37. wood-boring tool
38. division of a long poem
40. rumple
41. Indian moccasin
42. possess
44. among (poet.)
45. annex
48. southern State (abbr.)

– Lanier –

(Continued from Page 1)

all the good things we wish for and could well use—any more so than I can pay for all the things my children are wanting which they would enjoy and benefit from having, in addition to the necessities I must provide for them.

"Do I believe parking meters would be desirable in Chapel Hill?"—I do not! Two years ago I thought for awhile I was in favor of them only as a means of helping solve the parking space problem. I now regard them as nothing more than a profitable racket for those who manufacture and sell them to towns. They cost about $80.00 each. They do gather some pennies and nickels, but they do not put over-time parking tickets on cars any more so than a fire plug would. No. I'll never be a party to cluttering up and disfiguring Chapel Hill with those things.

"Am I in favor of the annexation of the suburban area?"—Neither 'Yes' nor 'No' is my direct answer. There are some badly needed improvements inside the present city limits, not attainable at present for lack of funds. I am opposed to issuing more stock in this municipal corporation until the present stockholders are getting better returns. However, this community, now widely scattered beyond the city limits and spreading farther almost daily, is piling up for itself a heavy harvest of municipal headaches which someday will have to be realistically faced. I am most anxious to see the insiders and outsiders sit down together and objectively analyze this situation. I am sure there is an answer, under the Vanderlinden bill, that would be mutually satisfactory and beneficial, without resulting in financial indigestion for the municipality and a decade or more of complaints from disgruntled taxpayers.

Edwin S. Lanier
April 25, 1949

CAMPUS CALENDAR

1:00—FACULTY CLUB. Dr. Roy Marshall will speak on "A Preview of Planetarium Plans." Carolina Inn.
6:30—FRENCH CLUB. Carolina Inn.
6:45—HENDERSON CLUB. Roland Parker 1, GM.
7:00—COED SENATE. Roland Parker 2, GM.
7:30—PHI ASSEMBLY. Phi Hall, New East.
7:30—BRIDGE TOURNAMENT. Main lounge, GM.
7:30—UNIVERSITY CLUB. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
7:30—DANCING CLASS. Rendezvous room, GM.
8:00—OPEN MEETING of Sigma Xi. Dr. Roy Marshall will talk on "Astronomy at the University of North Carolina." Wilson Hall.
8:00—STUDENT PARTY. Election of officers.
8:00—DR. FRANZ Polgar. Memorial Hall.
8:30—LECTURE. Leon Wiley will speak. Gerrard Hall.
8:30—DANCE COMMITTEE. Roland Parker 3, GM.
9:00—DEBATE COUNCIL. Grail room, GM.
9:00—SOUND AND FURY. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

THE NEWLY ELECTED OFFICERS AND MEMBERS of the Baptist Student Union are shown above. On the front row, left to right are James Huggins; Frank Morrison, Jr.; Phyllis Ann Gentry, vice-president; Mickie Grady, Secretary; Frances Green; Anne Sawyer; and Raleigh Biggerstaff. Second row: Bill Cash; Jim Ingram; Jim Weathers; Milton Bliss; Charles Beane; Bob Vinson; and Albert G. Snider. Third row; Don Shropshire; Bill Nichols; Randy Williams; Asa Jackson, treasurer; Rev. J. C. Herrin and Edlyn Freerks, president.

– Davis –

(Continued from page 1)

Arts, and later I worked in Mexico City doing lithograph and engraving at the Taller de Grafica—but that is water over the dam," she went on to say. "Now I am chiefly concerned with the development of cooperative artist groups in America. I like my own country and my craft, and I watch with satisfaction the growth of a self-conscious Americania and of a feeling of solidarity and social consciousness among American artists."

In addition to her foreign exhibits Miss Davis has had a group of her drawings and sculpture shown at the Boyer Galleries in New York, she is represented in the collection in the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York, and she made a painted low-relief decoration for the Post Office at La Plata, Mo., commissioned by the Section of Fine Arts of the Public Building Administration. The life of the artist and some of her better known works have been published by the Museum of Modern Art of New York in "Americans 1942."

Double Debate Slated By Phi In Meet Tonight

The Philanthropic Assembly has scheduled debates on the formation of a German republic under the supervision of Allied armed forces and a discussion on the legalization of gambling in North Carolina in Phi Hall, New East at 7:30 tonight.

The gambling bill, tabled at last week's session due to the installation of student government officers, was placed on tonight's agenda for consideration.

The other bill calls for an endorsement of Foreign Ministers Acheson, Bevin, and Schuman in their decision to set up a regulated German federal republic.

Sponsor Herman Sieber pointed out that while the governors of conquered countries would be replaced by commissioners, the U. S., Britain, and France would still maintain armed forces in Germany.

Sieber and other proponents of the measure claim that granting the German people more autonomy at this time would demonstrate America's belief in peace and civil rights and faith in a restored German nation.

Speaker Pro Tempore Emily Baker has called a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee for 7:15 tonight.

Versatile Playmaker

Comedy Director Is Actor, Author

W. P. Covington, III, is no newcomer when it comes to Playmaker activities. As a matter of fact there is hardly any phase of dramatics with which he is not familiar. His present assignment as director of Sam Hirsch's rollicking comedy "Repple-Depple" is one of a long series of such jobs. He has also written 30 one-act plays and radio dramas and has acted in numerous plays. "Repple-Depple" will be presented in the Playmakers theater April 28 and 29 at 7:30. No admission charge.

Added to W.P.'s list of accomplishments are the following jobs and positions which he has held: director of recreation for Chapel Hill for the past year, board member of Winston-Salem Little Theater, director of stage and radio shows [illegible] WSLT, editor of The Carolina [illegible] magazine 1941-42, [illegible] and drama instructor [illegible] workshop head Winston-Salem [illegible] after Studio [illegible] ing role [illegible] of Joe Stoddard will be portrayed in three subsequent productions of "Our Town."

Although the story of life in an army replacement depot is a familiar one to many of the cast, much of the play's force would be lost without a good director to organize the material in the play so as to obtain the most effective presentation. That this has been accomplished is apparent by the many laughs which the play provokes among those who have seen rehearsals of "Repple-Depple." Even for those who are not familiar with army life the play has definite appeal.

– Frosh –

(Continued from page 3)

Duke's Blue Imps tomorrow in Durham.

The score by innings:

Carolina 002 010 200—5 5 1
Ge[illegible] 001 000 011—3 6 4

Batteries: [illegible] and Overman; [illegible] Thomas (6) and Beasley.

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

ALL MAKES OF LAWN MOWERS repaired, incline sharpened. Axes, hatchets, [illegible] Tires [illegible] Motor Sales or see John [illegible] on [illegible] Street. [illegible]

PROPERTY, [illegible] FOR [illegible] small [illegible] and [illegible] of all details [illegible] with [illegible] Night property. Our service includes selection of desirable tenant, supervision of upkeep and collection of rents. Consult us today regarding [illegible] service. Service Insurance & Realty Co., Henderson Street. Phone F-[illegible] tfn 1x2

FOR RENT 6A

TWO ROOMS, ONE DOUBLE AND one single, nicely furnished, automatic oil heat and hot water—available May 1st—call 9611

FOR SALE 6B

SCHICK DOUBLE EDGE ELECTRIC razor at a very reasonable price. Interested persons contact Art Xanthros, 104 "A" Dorm. Thanks. (1-1200-1t)

27 FOOT SCHULT HOUSE TRAILER in good condition. Only $500.00—must sell this week. See at 43A Pittsboro Road Trailer Court. (3-6712-1t)

AKC REGISTERED ENGLISH BULLdog, 8 mos. old, housebroken, raised with a child—and is excellent child's companion. Call F-8523 or see J. B. Sansbrow, 11 Justice Street. (2-6709-1t)

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

[illegible] MODEL A FORD IN GOOD [illegible] See [illegible] Street, [illegible] (3-6709-1t)

HELP WANTED 3

UPPER-CLASS [illegible] leadership [illegible] athletics, and other camp [illegible] and ability to lead and [illegible] boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff of Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful [illegible] room and board. Only those of outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. [illegible] tfn 1x2

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve on staff of ten weeks this summer on coastal camp for boys. Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. [illegible] tfn 1x2

— Also —
CARTOON — NEWS
TODAY
VILLAGE

HIGHLY INDIVIDUALIZED AND SUPERBLY DEVELOPED MERCHANDISE
SUITS AND TOPCOATS
TAILORED-TO-MEASURE
$62.50
AND MORE
SPORTSWEAR · EVENING WEAR
HATS · HABERDASHERY · SHOES EXHIBITION
WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY
April 27 & 28
HOTEL WASHINGTON DUKE
ARTHUR TUPPER, Representative
Finchley
FIFTH AVENUE AT 46th ST., NEW YORK

DON'T BE THAT WAY!
See
"SCARED TO DEATH"
with Bela Lugosi
in Color
Today and Wednesday
at the
Carolina Duke Drive In Theater
75c per car

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

YOU ASKED FOR IT — HERE IT IS:
8 oz. Stein
Ballantines
Premium Draft
10¢ BEER
During Cocktail Hour 4-6 P.M. ONLY
½ KEGS. $19.00—(3 or more) $20.00—(1 at a time)
RAMSHEAD RATHSKELLER

Be at the spot
Where food is hot,
Served Quickly
and
Tastes Exquisitely
See You At The
NEW
ANDREWS RESTAURANT
(Open 7:00 A.M. to 9:00 P.M. and Sunday)

AUTO PARTS
New . Used . Rebuilt
Open Saturday Afternoon
And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

RENTAL LIBRARY
BULL'S HEAD BOOKSHOP
Samuel Selden's newest book—just published by The U.N.C. Press
"INTERNATIONAL FOLK PLAYS"
BROWSE • BUY • RENT

FISHING TACKLE
FOR EVERY FISHERMAN
. . . . and every kind of
FISHING

So Far the Largest Registered Fish Caught by PETE LLOYD weight 4 lbs. 2 ozs.
BLACKWOOD ASSOCIATE'S
Annual Fishing Contest
Come In And Register
Free Complete Rod and Reel Set
If winner of contest is member of Orange County Wildlife Club, additional prizes will be given. Join today
Rods — Reels — Lines
Johnson's Silver Minnow – Trix – Oreno Bomber – Hula Popper – Hawaiian Wigglers – Jitterbug – Jeff's Original – H.I.–Pumpkin Seed–Jointed River Runt Rods and Baits by Action Rod, Heddon, Crup Chub Lines, South Bend, L. & S. Baits, Eger Baits, Langley Reels.
You get a Better Buy at a
BLACKWOOD ASSOCIATE STORE
CHAPEL HILL TEL. F-3961
Across from Bus Station

Going on a Picnic? Get your Fixin's — at HARRY'S

Y, APRIL 26, 1949

Slated
Tonight

at while the military,
of occupied Germany
replaced by civilian ers, the U. S., Great d France would still rmed forces in Ger-

nd other proponents of y claim that granting n people more autono-
s time would demon-
rica's belief in peace,
ghts and faith in a re-
man nation.

Pro Tempore Emily called a meeting of the Means Committee for t.

ERE IT IS:
Stein
antines
nium Draft
EER
P.M. ONLY
0.00—(1 at a time)
SKELLER

e spot
ood is hot,
Quickly
and xquisitely

URANT
and Sunday)

Far the Largest gistered Fish Caught
by
PETE LLOYD
weight 4 lbs. 2 ozs.

OCIATE'S
ntest
ster
Reel Set
r of Orange
l prizes will Lines
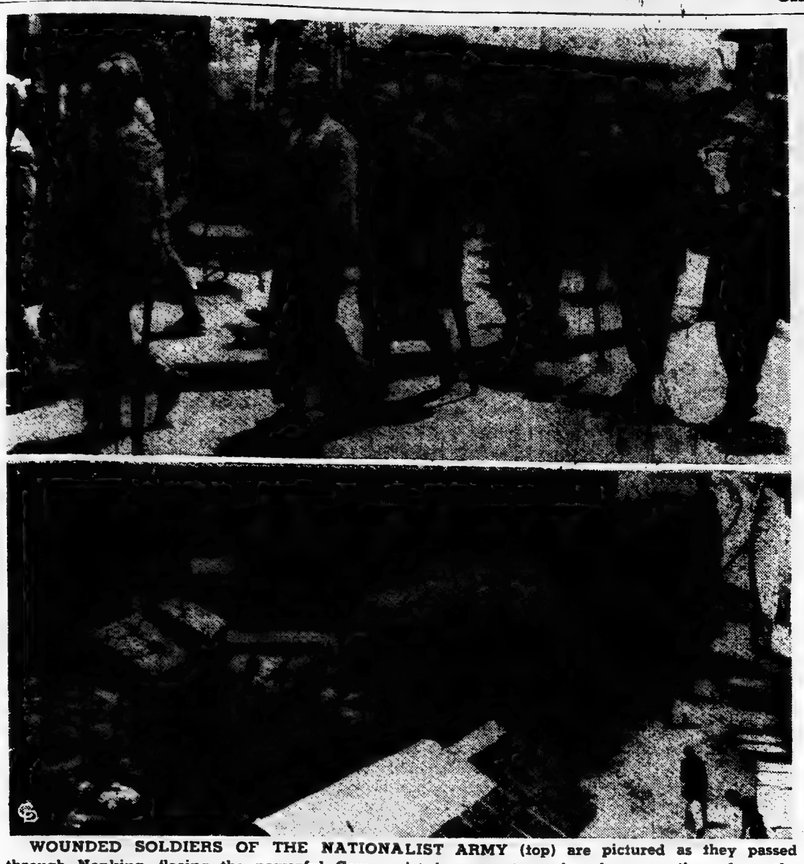
Trix – Oreno
– Hawaiian
's Original –
d River Runt
Cod, Heddon,
end, L. & S.
Reels
at a
OOD
STORE
TEL. F-3961

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
9-30-49

EDITORIALS



Scholarship Improves
Perennial Problem
Restaurant Needed

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Continued fair and warm

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 153

WOUNDED SOLDIERS OF THE NATIONALIST ARMY (top) are pictured as they passed through Nanking, fleeing the powerful Communist juggernaut moving down on them from the north. Below, scores of refugees fill a small train, one of the last to leave Nanking for Shanghai, before Red spearheads severed the line. Now completely abandoned as the capital by Government forces, Nanking has been taken over by Red underground leaders, pending arrival of Communists armies, which have crossed the Yangtze River.

Madry Stands On Past Acts In City Contest

No Tax Hike Seen, Mayor Tells Women

Appearing with the other candidates before an open forum meeting sponsored by the Chapel Hill League of Women Voters at the elementary school last night, Mayor Robert W. Madry, a candidate for reelection in the town election May 3, said he would stand on the record of the town government during his tenure of office, "bearing in mind that proper credit should be given the aldermen, town manager and other appointive officers, and other municipal employes for whatever we may have been able to accomplish by working together."

He said he felt that Chapel Hill had been extremely fortunate in that it has had over a period of years exceptionally able aldermen, capable city managers, good police and fire departments, considering their limited personnel, and a hard working, loyal labor force."

The Mayor said that "many long-felt needs have been met during the last several years, including the construction of a new sewage disposal plant and connecting lines; the paving of a number of streets and the resurfacing of others, and the acquisition of new equipment for the town's labor force.

Through the cooperation of the University, which shared in the cost, these improvements were made with a $260,000 bond issue and without increasing the tax rate.

"And no tax rate increase is contemplated for the coming year.

"In recent years the University has made substantial increases in its payments to the town government for joint services rendered."

In this connection, he said, the Legislature had just passed an act which enables cities and towns to issue revenue producing bonds for the purchase of public utilities, with the cost to be liquidated by receipts from such utilities.

He said the Legislature had

(See MADRY, Page 4)

JOSEPHINE CUNNINGHAM

Two Concerts To Be Given By Symphony

Swalin to Direct Hill Hall Music

The North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Benjamin Swalin, will present two concerts in Chapel Hill on Monday, May 2, in Memorial Hall, it was announced yesterday.

The afternoon concert, which will begin at 2:30, will be a free program for all school children in Orange county. About 1,000 children will hear the concert. This group will include students from the Chapel Hill high school and the pre-school children in the kindergartens of the villege.

Other pupils will come by bus from Carrboro, Hillsboro, White Cross, Aycock, Eflin and the Orange County Training School. Adults accompanying children to the concert will be able to buy tickets at the door for 75 cents. There will be no advance ticket sale for this afternoon presentation.

Miss Josephine Cunningham, young soprano of Asheville, will be the featured soloist on the evening program, which will begin at 8:30. Among the compositions Dr. Swalin has chosen for the local audience are: Sibelius, Symphony No. 1, and Gluck, Ballet Suit No. 1

A composition by Dr. Edwin Stringham will be heard on the latter part of the program. Dr. Stringham, formerly associated with Queens College and Columbia University, is now living in Chapel Hill. His composition, Nocturne No. II, was originally commissioned by the Chicago Orchestra, and has since been played by the major symphony orchestras of the country.

Members of the North Carolina Symphony Society will be admitted to the concert on presentation of their membership cards. These cards will also enable the member to attend all other concerts sponsored by the Society throughout the state. The Symphony will play a concert in Durham, May 18.

Single admission tickets for this concert are on sale at the Intimate Book Shop, Ledbetter-Pickard, Graham Memorial, and Harold Weaver's office in South Building.

Coeds to Play Against Profs In Game Today

Carmichael, Greer Are Team Captains

Today the faculty will show the coeds "what's what," or vice versa.

The Coed-Faculty softball game will be played today in Emerson Stadium at 5 o'clock. Sponsored by the University Club, the "All-Star" softballers will perform for seven innings before an expected large crowd of cheering students and faculty members.

The line ups include the names of those receiving the most ballots in the election held at the Y. Both teams boast the "cream" of the local softball talent as witnessed by the following line-ups:

Charleen "Slugger" Greer is captain of the coed "All-Stars." Other members of the team include Bo "Homer" Welch, Ann "lefty" Luellen, Joan Sloan, Peggy Misenheimer, Betty Laurence, "Tut" Barbee, Martha York, and Madge Crawford.

Dean "Babe" Carmichael, as captain of the Faculty "All-Stars" will attempt to lead her team to victory today. Her team includes Dr. Harlan, Dr. Hobbs, Dean and Mrs. Spruill, Col. Shepherd, Dr. "Woody" Woodhouse, Dean "Fireball" Weaver, and Dean "Gus" Guthrie.

The balloting was very close, and the following runner-ups will serve as alternates in the absence of elected players:

For the faculty team Chancellor Robert House, Dean D. D. Carroll, Dean Ernest Mackie, Professor Roland Giduz, and Dean Bill Wells will serve as alternates.

Coed alternates are Jane Gower, Katie Thompson, Phylles Ferguson, and Frankie Johnson.

Local Chest Fund Will Be Presented To Senate Session

Plans for an overall Campus Chest Fund, approved unanimously Monday night by the Interdormitory Council, will be presented to the Student Legislature for adoption tomorrow night, Peter Gerns, IDC president, said yesterday.

The plans, which would limit student solicitations for charity purposes to one drive per year, call for the organization of an "Administrative Committee, which will be composed of the presidents of the Men's Interdorm Council, the Women's Interdorm Council, the Pan Hellenic Council, Interfraternity Council, Town Men's Association, Town Girl's Association, Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity, the Editor of the Daily Tar Heel and the Mayor of Victory Village.

According to the bill scheduled for the Legislature, the Community Fund drive will be held once each year during the week of the second Monday in November.

However, the bill adds, the committee will have the authority to permit, in case of an emergency, solicitations for a fund other than the Campus Chest Fund. The Committee will, however, publish in the DTH any information on any group which might attempt to solicit money without authorization.

Gerns said yesterday that mimeographed copies of the IDC bill will be presented to party caucuses before the Legislature meeting. He added, that all three parties had included planks endorsing the proposed drive in their platforms and that he expected no opposition to the move.

Other provisions of the bill will allow student contributions to the drive to designate any portion of their contributions to the organization of their choice. Any contributions not specifically slated for a particular organization will go into a general fund.

This fund, the bill states, will be distributed on a percentage basis to charitable organizations designated by the committee.

Atlantic Pact To Be Subject Of Dr. Brandis

Combined Meeting Will Hear Lecture

Speaking tonight before a combined meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club and the CCUN, Dr. Henry Brandis will discuss "The Atlantic Pact and the United Nations." The meeting which will get under way at 8:15 in the main lounge of Graham Memorial will be open to the public and all who are interested are invited to attend.

This afternoon a state-wide radio network will carry a panel discussion on the same subject. The panel will be made up of Dr. Brandis, dean of the law school; Dr. Arnold Nash, head of the department of religion; Mr. Russell Grumman, director of the extention division; and Mr. Ken Lawry, graduate student from Devon, England. The broadcast has been arranged by the communication center and was transcribed last week for re-broadcast.

The Cosmopolitan Club will hold a supper meeting for its members Wednesday night at 6:30 at the First Baptist Church. Those who wish to attend are urged to secure tickets from Ken Lawry, 105 "B" dorm.

Lecture On Tom Wolfe To Be Given By Walser

Richard Walser, one of the South's outstanding Thomas Wolfe scholars, will lecture on Wolfe tonight at 8 o'clock in Roland Parker 1, in Graham Memorial.

Mr. Walser, a native Carolinian and a graduate of the University, was an instructor in the English Department for a year in Chapel Hill and in 1946 became a member of the same department in North Carolina State College.

In 1941, he edited "North Carolina Poetry" and later "North Carolina in the Short Story." Mr. Walser is the first scholar to delve into Wolfe's reputation abroad and in the Winter issue of the "Carolina Quarterly" he revealed some of his findings.

According to Mr. Walser's article, Wolfe's reputation abroad has been just as widespread as it has in the United States and one or more of his books have appeared in England, Germany, Norway, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Switzerland, France, Russia, and Holland.

In his lecture tonight, Mr. Walser will give for the first time in America the untranslated criticism of Wolfe by Pierre Brodin, French critic. Wolfe has been popular in France for he spent much time there and included in "Of Time and the River" long accounts of his stays in Paris and the French provinces.

Resignation Brings Demand for Inquiry

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(UP)—Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan resigned in anger today because Defense Secretary Louis Johnson stopped construction of the navy's 65,000-ton super aircraft carrier.

In the light of Sullivan's stormy resignation and charges against Johnson, top Senate Republicans and some House members demanded a congressional investigation of the important war-strategy decision.

Gardner Announces Thursday YDC Meet

The Executive Committee of the Young Democrats Club will meet in Roland Parker lounge on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, O. Max Gardner, Jr., president, said yesterday. All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting, Gardner said.

New YM Officers To Be Installed Tomorrow Night

The 90th installation banquet of the University YWCA will be held tomorrow night at 5:45 in the Carolina Inn, Pete Burks, outgoing President said yesterday.

The banquet, an annual affair, is held for installation of newly elected officers for the coming year.

Installed at the banquet will be the new president Sam Magill, the vice-president Charlie Gibson, secretary Charlie Bartlett, and treasurer A. C. Mangum. Magill said that the new "Y" cabinet for the next year will be announced at the banquet.

Speakers at the banquet besides Magill, who will deliver his inaugural address, will be the Reverend Henry Ruark of the Methodist church, who will deliver the opening address; Chancellor R. B. House, who will install the new cabinet members; Dean Fred Weaver, who will charge the cabinet to its Christian responsibility; and Chancellor House and Warren Ashby, who will install the new advisory board.

Burks said that seniors will be honored with a scroll for services rendered to the campus and to the YMCA.

Weaver to Speak On Honor System

Fred Weaver, Dean of Students, will speak before the faculty and student body of Elon College today on an honor system.

Last week Elon students voted out student government. At that time they did not have the honor system in student government.

CP Meeting Slated For This Afternoon

Vestal Taylor, chairman of the Campus Party, called a meeting of all CP legislators today at 4 o'clock in Roland Parker I, in Graham Memorial.

Town Meeting Discussions To Be Tonight

Red Ban Measure Will Be Subject

The first of a series of "town meeting" style debates and open discussion sessions will be held tonight at 8:30 in Gerrard Hall. The question under debate will be "Resolved: That the Communist Party Should Be Outlawed."

Dr. E. J. Woodhouse of the Political Science Department and student Bill Duncan will take the affirmative side of the argument. Dr. Paul Guthrie of the Commerce School and student Dortch Warriner will defend the negative.

The four debaters will argue the question in formal debate style, after which they will engage in an informal discussion of the subject, sitting as a panel with a moderator. Then the audience will have the opportunity to ask the four speakers questions on the topic.

Following the program, a reception will be held in the main lounge of Graham Memorial for the speakers and all members of the audience. Refreshments will be furnished by the CPU.

Dr. Woodhouse, one of the two affirmative speakers, was one of the original organizers of the Carolina Political Union in 1936. The organization, a non-partisan political discussion group, has brought many famous speakers to the campus in the past. It is at present a member of the Carolina Forum.

The other faculty speaker, Dr. Guthrie, teaches principles of economics and social insurance here. He has attended the University of Tennessee, Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University.

Meeting of Majors In Radio Is Called

A meeting for all radio majors will be held in Studio A of Swain Hall, the communications center, Thursday night at 7 o'clock, an organizational committee spokesman said yesterday, to discuss the establishment of a new radio majors' student organization.

All those concerned are requested to be prompt for the short meeting, the spokesman said.

Di Will Discuss Communist Bill

An accidental duplication of topics by the Di Senante and the Carolina Political Union indicates today that the Carolina campus is becoming as conscious of the Red menace as the national Un-American Activities Committee. Both of the organizations have scheduled for their debates tonight, Resolved: That the Communist Party should be outlawed in the United States by congressional action.

Sam Manning, chairman of the Di Ways and Means Committee, explained today that the duplication was entirely accidental and that if any of the debaters from the CPU would desire to join in the Di debate later in the evening, they would be welcome to do so.

Soft Lights, Music

First Pine Room Dance Night Termed Success as 65 Attend

By Don Maynard

Freshly-waxed floors, soft music and lighting were available for students' after dinner relaxation Monday night in the Pine Room, the first in a series of daily evening dances to be held there.

In response to notices placed on Lenoir Hall trays Monday, the premiere of "Dancing in the Pine Room" was attended by some 15 girls and more than 40 men.

"Far from being a disappointment, the turnout Monday night was a welcome indication of student interest," said a Y spokesman. Students visited the Room in response to the tray notices which read: "The YMCA and YWCA, in cooperation with the management, offer you DANCING in the Pine Room, from 6-7:30."

The nightly dances, to be held during those hours Monday through Thursday, are jointly sponsored by the YMCA and YWCA, and are the result of a suggestion made by L. B. Rogerson, manager of the campus dining halls.

"This nightly feature is in keeping with Mr. Rogerson's efforts to give better service to the students," said Ed McLeod, host of the first Pine Room dance, and member of the Montreat Commission.

Continuous dance music will be played during the hour and a half period the Room will be

(See PINE ROOM, page 4)

Placement Office Asks Graduates To Sign Up Soon

Students graduating in June, July, or August should complete their registration with the Placement Service immediately, Joe Galloway, director of Placement Service, advised yesterday. Companies are sending representatives to the campus for interviews, and those registered with Placement are in a position to take advantage of this opportunity, Galloway pointed out.

Students should not rely solely on the Placement Service for jobs, he continued. They are encouraged to make their own contacts and to use the Placement office as their main reference. Folders compiled from personal records on file in that office will be mailed to prospective employers.

The Placement office does not limit its service to arranging interviews, Galloway said. One of its most important functions is the maintenance of a reference file on individuals. This file consists of personal data supplied by the applicant, a photograph, confidential ratings by instructors and acquaintances, and a transcript of courses and grades at the University.

Galloway pointed out the importance of registering with Placement service before leaving school. Since the enrollment at the University is large, instructors have a difficult time remembering former students about whom they are asked to give references.

Radio Examination To Be Held Monday

The qualifying examination for radio majors and any students who are interested in becoming radio majors will be given next Monday, May 2 in room 201, Peabody Hall at 2 o'clock, officials announced yesterday. Students who take the examination must be rising juniors, the announcement said.

Scott's Program For Rural Roads Faces June Vote

RALEIGH, N. C., April 26—(P)—North Carolina citizens will vote Saturday, June 4, on whether the state shall issue $200,000,000 in bonds for Gov. Kerr Scott's Rural Roads Program and $25,000,000 in bonds for school building.

If the road bonds are approved by the people they will pay an additional penny tax on each gallon of gasoline starting next Jan. 1.

Some 200 friends of the Governor's program met here today to set up the machinery for the intensive campaign Scott promised to wage for the bond issues.

"This is a citizens' movement," Scott told the group. "North Carolina moves on two things—the education of its children and its roads."

The group moved swiftly with little time out for oratory and elected a central steering committee to work out details of the organization necessary to put the program across. Members of the steering committee were Capus Waynick, Chairman of the State Executive Committee; John Harden, former secretary to Gov. Gregg Cherry and now Assistant vice president of Burlington Mills; State Sen. B. C. Brock of Mocksville; former state Sen. Wade Barbour of Pittsboro; and Dr. I. G. Greer, executive vice president of the business foundation of the University of North Carolina.

Commerce Boards Should Be Read

Students registered in the School Commerce, who are remaining in school during the summer sessions, were requested yesterday by the Commerce officials to read a special notice on the School bulletin board on the first floor of Bingham Hall for information pertaining to pre-registration.

Law Fraternity Inducts 11 Men

Eleven new members were formally initiated into the Ruffin Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity on Monday, April 25, in Graham Memorial. William Storey, Justice of the Fraternity, administered the oath.

The new initiates were: Glade Flake, Washington; John Giles, Glen Alpine; Perry Henson, Franklin; Peter Lavin, Chapel Hill; Lester Chalmers, Raleigh; Robert Covington, Laurel, Miss.; Blair Daily, Burlington; Gene Hall, Brevard; Willis Talton, Oxford; Parker Whedon, Charlotte; and Franklin Winfree, Summerfield.

On Thursday, the new brothers will be entertained at the Bon Air Club in Raleigh at a joint banquet with the Duke and Wake Forest chapters. Fraternity Supreme Justice Douglas L. Edmonds, associate Justice of the California Supreme Court, will be the guest speaker. Following the address, the Bon Air orchestra will play the remainder of the evening for those who care to dance.

Dangers of Blasting Outlined for Students

Students living in Alexander, A, B, or C dorms were warned yesterday by the Dean of Students office to maintain a safe distance from the excavations which are now in process in front of the new dormitories.

A spokesman said that there was some danger involved in the blasting and that students might be injured if their curiosity became too great and they wandered too close to the work.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $3.00 per year, $2.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. ..... Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks TaBey, Ed Teaney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Night Editor: Ed Joyner Night Sports: Larry Fox

Fraternity Scholarship Improves

Carolina fraternities are to be congratulated on the big improvement in scholarship they accomplished this past quarter over their showing during the fall quarter. The official release from South Building gives the fraternities an average of 2.959, computed on a basis of A—1, B—2, C—3, D—4, E—5, F—6. This is considerably better than the 3.134 record which they compiled for the fall quarter. As a result, the All Fraternity average is once again higher than the All Men's average, which was 2.991 for last quarter.

Last fall, for the first time in a number of years, the campus average was better than that of the fraternities. That seemed to indicate that fraternity life was not particularly conducive to study, and University officials frankly were concerned over the problem. A meeting of all fraternity presidents and scholarship chairmen was called by Dean Fred Weaver for the purpose of discussing ways of improving the average. Study halls for pledges were suggested and successfully employed by a number of fraternities. Quiet hours were imposed in many houses at night.

Also at this meeting, Dean Weaver made public a survey scholarship report for the last seven quarters, and the results proved a bit embarrassing to some fraternities, who habitually ranked low. Perhaps the element of competition among the fraternities began to take effect or maybe it was the suggestions made for improved study, but regardless the averages, with only one exception, were better last quarter than during the fall.

It is to be hoped that this fine record will not come to an end with last quarter's work. Actually there is no reason why scholarship in general should be so much higher during the winter quarter than fall. The instructors certainly are no more stringent one quarter than in another.

There is no reason for anyone continually making low grades. A little more studying each night will produce a marked improvement, and partying should be confined to the weekends rather than throughout the week.

Perennial Spring Problem

Here is another spring, and with it comes the perennial spring problem—it is nothing new because it happens every spring. An editorial is written about it, and then very little is or is not done about it. Things go on much the same as before. Spring passes, school is over, and so the problem passes. Then the next spring it comes up again. Luckily there have as yet been no fatalities.

It seems that all men want to become athletics, especially in the spring—and more often than not, in the wrong places.

Pointedly, the lawns around the men's dormitories are not the proper places to show off one's athletic abilities. There is ample space around the gymnasium or at other out-of-the-way places to have ball games or practice driving of a golf ball. The ball playing and golfing that steadily goes on around the lawns of the men's dormitories should come to a stop—voluntarily if possible, but come to stop nevertheless.

A little consideration for the other fellow should be enough to halt this practice. Not only are these activities uncomfortable and dangerous on innocent passer-byers, but there is also great likelihood of damaging dormitory windows, Where this takes place near the street there is the added danger of damaging parked or passing automobiles.

One incident has been reported where students were playing ball on the dorm lawns by moonlight, which does not even give passing pedestrians a chance to see the missle should it be hit in their direction.

In short, athletics are fine, but they should be confined to their proper place. The safety of the majority is the first consideration in a case such as this.—J.B.

Need for All-Night Restaurants

Something that is very apparent is the fact that on big weekends, there is only one restraurant open all night in Chapel Hill.

Last Saturday night, the two counter men in the Marathon struggled valiantly to accommodate the teeming throngs who wanted food in the wee hours.

It has been obvious for quite sometime, that on Football and Dance weekends, the greatest need is to find a place to eat late at night. It seems as though some wide-awake restaurant owner would see the possibilities for extensive business if he remained open all night on such nights. Many stood in line for over an hour last Saturday only to be rewarded with a Salami sandwich.

In the coming weeks there are other affairs planned. It is hoped that someone else will have the foresight to stay open all night.—J.M.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, April 25—Haunting memories came back to me the other day when President Truman told us inquisitive little cusses that he didn't know yet who was to be the new Secretary of the Army.

Most of the reporters gaped when the President admitted he didn't know who was to succeed Kenneth C. Royall, because—they reasoned reasonably—if the President doesn't know whom he is going to name, who does? But it was old stuff to me.

Those other reporters didn't have the priceless privilege of covering John Patrick O'Brien.

The Hon. John Patrick was mayor of New York City, and, if you don't seem able to remember him, it is because he was somewhat temporary. He was sandwiched in between Jimmy Walker and Fiorello LaGuardia like a slice of very tired liverwurst.

The reason Mr. O'Brien ever became mayor at all was that Jimmy Walker quit under fire during an investigation before the governor, whose initials were F. D. R. One of the issues was Jimmy's private life. So Tammany Hall felt it incumbent to replace him with someone of great personal rectitude.

Tammany didn't have too many of these simon pures at its beck, this being an era in which Manhattan political life was pretty rollicking. But it dug around and finally selected the Hon. John Patrick from Surrogates Court.

John Patrick was a solid man but he had been musty-ing among the wills and last testaments so long he had forgotten how to think fast. But he was bursting with sonorous bromides.

At his first—and I mean positively his first—press conference he got off the politically time-honored lines about wearing no man's collar, being his own boss, and beholden to none. But, when the first question was fired at him, his mental processes froze.

"Mr. Mayor," he was asked, "Who is to be your new Police Commissioner?"

"I don't know," blurted Hizzoner. "They haven't told me yet!"

* * *

Quite a few of our bosses were at this White House press seminar, the American Society of Newspaper Editors being in convention here. Most of us were not too pleased at having the whip-wielders present. We were afraid they might get the idea that covering the White House is too much fun.

Mr. Truman got off a couple of his celebrated nifties and we all laughed the way everybody does when a President of the United States commits a cutie. It is considered disgustingly bad form not to guffaw at a presidential drollery.

I do not suppose you will split a—pardon me—girdle over the way I tell it, but please remember that the President can't be quoted, and even the best gag doesn't go over so good without quotes, here's one, for instance, that elicited strained boffs:

Mr. Truman was asked about reports that Secretary of State Dean Acheson had told senators the initial cost of the European Re-armament Program would be about $1,-400,000,000.

The President retorted that Acheson's confab with the senators was supposed to be confidential and that he did not care to comment on leaks.

Apropos of who might be Royall's successor the President said it was still difficult to get good men because it takes an iron man with the hide of an elephant to bear up under a government job. We gathered that an iron elephant with a man's hide couldn't stand it.

But the biggest yak came when one of the visiting editors, entering into the spirit of the thing, asked a long hypothetical question about what this country would be willing to do if Russia lifted the Berlin Blockade. Too many ifs in it, retorted the President.

Road Blocks

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Entertainment Front

'Repple Depple' Soon

By Vestal Taylor

Sam Hirsch's new comedy-farce, "Repple Depple," hits the boards next Thursday and Friday to make the biggest noise in campus entertainment for this week. This show should be a revelation to all those who did not serve in the recent conflict.

It is a story, told with tongue in cheek, satirizing the bumbling, fumbling way in which so much too much of the army's administration was handled and the effect it had on the lives of a few of the individuals caught up in the overall mess. The story also gives the audience a look at the high jinks employed by the ordinary "Joe" who wasn't particularly wild about the idea of being in the middle of a war anyway.

Apart from the merits of "Repple Depple," this column would like here and now to command Director W. P. Covington for the stand he has taken, in casting the show, to give a large number of first performers their chance to appear in a large scale production. If my memory serves me correctly, Covington has given roles to 13 newcomers that have never had a speaking part in a show before. There are three parts filled by experienced actors.

That is a highly commendable attitude for any director to take. It shows that he is interested in developing the new, available and as yet untouched talent on campus. That is exactly what this column has yelled for, for a long time.

To the surprise of some, casting fledgings in the larger roles has not hurt the show in so far as I can tell. I watched the first complete runthrough of the production and it looked good to me as an observer.

* * *

Over in the rival camp of Sound and Fury's "Merrily We Love," slated for next week, things have been happening also. President, Actor and director Mark Barker is heeding the many gripes following some of the previous shows, and is now experimenting with the suspension of microphones from overhead on stage, and it seems that the audience will actually be able to hear all that is being said onstage during the coming performance.

It has been brought to my attention recently that I have failed to mention Estelle Ritchie, comic star in "Apple Tree Farm," as being cast in S & F's new show. Yes, you guessed it. She plays a comic again this time and is again very good in her part.

This column made a gross error in the last issue when it notified the campus public of the changes being made in "Merrily We Love." The new version of the show was herein identified as a musical revue, immediately on seeing the announcement, the powers that be in S & F hastily assured me that it was no such thing.

It really is a musical PRODUCTION revue. I don't know the difference, frankly-do you? But those folks are turning out a truely fine show and so long as they are successful in that, they can call it anything they like.

While straightening out errors, it is only fair to admit that I was all mixed up in my forecast for the Rendezvous schedule. They switched the programs after this column went to print and substituted the S & F preview for the group from Duke, but judging from the audience reaction Friday night, I don't believe that anyone present objected. In so far as I can find out, the square dance will be held next Friday and the folks from Duke will be over the following week.

* * *

This column has no details on the matter as yet, but the band seems to have a concert scheduled for next Sunday afternoon, possibly on the lawn. Those interested might watch the Tar Heel for further details.

Passing Sentence

On Robertson's Statement

By Jonathan Marshall

Paul Robeson's recent statement before the so-called "Peace Conference" didn't surprise anyone, but it is likely to do much harm anyway.

The famous singer told the Conference that American Negroes would not fight against Russia in the event of a war. Mr. Robeson should be intelligent enough to realize how much harm such a statement can cause.

Many people will not consider the fact that Robeson is a fellow traveler, and they may believe him; this can only cause more conflict in the United States—which may have been the intention—and will certainly not help the Negro people.

Secondly, many people will undoubtedly believe that Mr. Robeson actually speaks for American Negroes. This is definitely untrue. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People immediately issued a statement refuting the speech; however, it has not received as much publicity as did Robeson's declaration.

Few intelligent people will accept the statement, for they need only to look at our nation's history to find the answer. The Negro people have served in every war that the United States has been involved in, and they have served with credit.

Coming at the present time, Robeson's speech was especially bad, for it can only cause more opposition to President Truman's program, and it may negate local gains that have been made.

One point, however, is worth considering. Just how long can we expect people who are not accorded full democratic rights, who are economically insecure and poor, and who are not given much opportunity to progress socially to retain their faith in democracy?

Perhaps the best talking point that Russia and fellow travelers throughout the world have had is that America should do some house cleaning before telling others what to do.

Mr. Robeson's statement is not worth believing, but it is worth thinking about. It's about time that we realized that democracy is more than a word.

* * *

It is rumored that there are several rather good golf courses in the neighborhood, but the rumor hasn't seemed to reach some students.

This columnist saw a girl hit by a golfball in front of BVP the other day. Even the best golfers do not have perfect control, and the BVP amatures are an actual menace.

Golf playing on campus should be stopped before someone gets seriously hurt.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SOMETHING SACRED

"Gratiano speaks an infinite deal of nothing, more than any man in all Venice: his reasons are as two grains of wheat in two bushels of chaff; you shall seek all day ere you find them; and when you have them, they are not worth the search."

—MERCHANT OF VENICE

Editor:

I didn't realize that the DTH was so hard up for something worthwhile to print. The editorial, "Something Sacred" by S. T. Habel, Phd, is sho nuff the most incogent, neurotic, and fatalistic mess of humbuggery that I've read in a long while. Somebody had better watch that gent—he's apt to commit suicide any day now.

Can you imagine any one believing that mankind has reached the top rung of the ladder of human progress, and is now, like Alexander, pining miserably away because there are "no more worlds to conquer"—no more knowledge to gain—no more glorious and wonderful things to look forward to?

Obviously, what Dr. Habel is really attempting to sell us a bill of goods—organized religion. It's a little more difficult to recognize than the tent evangelist sales talk because it's all prettied up in high sounding, ultra-modern, " sky pilot" language. Dr. Habel dislikes iconoclasm because it has done much toward enlightening man.

It has relegated many myths and decayed altars of superstition and ignorance to the waste basket—and has erected instead, indestructible altars of knowledge. Were it not for the great iconoclasts, we would live today in a jungle of weeds. We would be thousands of years behind our time in all fields of human endeavor.

Let me thank the Darwins, Humboldts, Kants, Shakespeares, Paines, Fultons, Voltaires, Priestlys, Mendels, Mozarts, Huxleys, and Ingersolls—and all the other great iconoclasts—benefactors of the human race. Truly the world is better because they lived. Their prolific lives belie Dr. Habel's slogan that there is "Nothing Sacred."

There is much of a sacrosanct and worthwhile nature to look forward to on this old planet. "Seek and ye shall find," Dr. Habel. The tremendous reservoir of human activity and achievement has hardly been tapped.

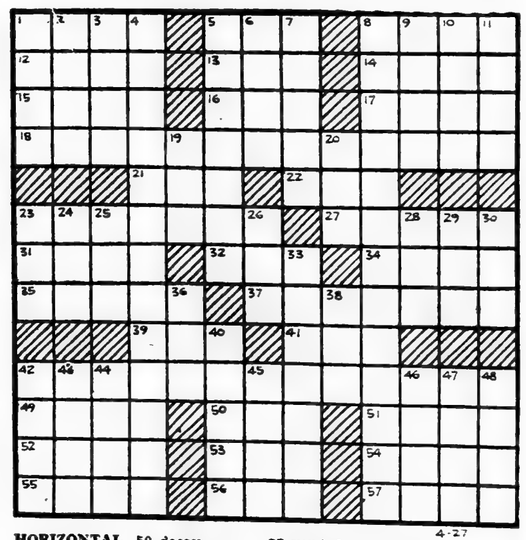
J. R. Cherry, Jr.

ELECTION TALK

Editor:

I wonder if any one has a strong objection to a "Letter to the Editor" that does not concern Communism. I think this matter should be mentioned now, especially since there is quite a little talk around election time about a constitutional convention. However, if I do have my wires crossed and there really is an error in our student government, no constitutional amendment will be needed to rectify it.

Has anyone ever wondered why we have six month terms for the Legislature as well as twelve month terms? Although not a campus politician, I thought of the matter and ever since I have been on the campus, almost two years now, I have tried to figure out why I have not studied the election laws, but I have read the section concerning the Student Legislature in the Constitution.

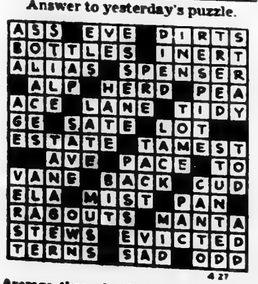


The Constitution does not mention six month terms, but it says that ½ of the Legislature shall be elected in December and ½ in April. My interpretation of the mention of six month terms is that it was intended that one half of the 50 members elected in the first election after the ratification of the constitution should only serve until December, so that the Legislature would not all be fresh after each election.

After thinking about it, why should some terms only run from April to December? Such terms do not help keep an experienced Legislature, rather they increase the turnover. Consider our national government. The constitution calls for only a third of the originally elected Senators to serve a full six year term. The others back in 1790 got cheated out of part of their terms so that the system could get working.

This, unless there are election laws that I do not know about, should be the case in our student government. Even if I am wrong and six-month terms are legal, I contend that all terms should be twelve months long, one-half of the total number of terms beginning in April and the other half in December.

I sincerely believe that an unknowing error has been made and followed by our student leaders, and that if it is corrected, the result would be a desirous one, a more efficient Student Legislature.



Name Withheld By Request

HORIZONTAL
1. Persian fairy
5. energy (colloq.)
8. variety of chalcedony
12. so be it
13. rusted
14. oil: comb. form
15. unit of liquid measure
16. petition
17. principal
18. courteousness
21. new: comb. form
22. epoch
23. click-beetles
27. Irish patriot
31. Biblical wise men
32. distress signal
34. sting
35. small wooden cylinder
37. misled
39. in no manner
41. nothing
42. beheadings
49. spoken
50. decay
51. skid to side
52. annual of parsley family
53. personality
54. piece of baked clay
55. sole
56. patriotic society (abbr.)
57. vended

VERTICAL
1. father
2. give out
3. lease
4. on purpose
5. clergymen
6. case for small articles
7. vex
8. sleepwalkers
9. wings
10. Brazilian coins
11. puts on
19. born
20. before
23. printer's measures
24. fold over
25. past
26. turf
28. among (poet.)
29. summer (Fr.)
30. spread for drying
33. legislator
36. cut off short
38. kindled
40. weary
42. extinct pigeon
43. Ireland
44. brief visit
45. ancient Roman garment
46. medley
47. void
48. germ

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 36 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Varsity, Freshman Baseball Squads Win Over Duke

Blue Devils Outhit Tar Heels But Still Drop 3 to 1 Decision

By Buddy Vaden

The Blue Devils of Duke lacked that extra punch yesterday afternoon at Emerson Stadium as they out-hit and out-pitched the Carolina Tar Heels, but suffered their fifth straight Big Four defeat as the Carolinians capitalized on five base hits to take a 3-1 victory.

The boys from Dear Old Duke collected nine hits during their nine inning visit to Chapel Hill, but left no less than nine men stranded on the bases, thanks to excellent work by the Tar Heels when things were close.

The Tar Heels sent only 29 men to bat in collecting their second Big Four win of the year—both of them coming over Duke. Duke Pitcher Bud Ayers gave up five hits and walked three men but that was enough for the Carolinians to make a victory.

Big Four Standings

Team	W	L	Pct.
Wake Forest	4	0	1.000
N. C. State	2	1	.667
North Carolina	2	2	.500
Duke	0	4	.000

One Drop of Blood

Duke scored first blood in the third inning when JOHN HANCOCK crossed the plate after hits by Bill Bergeron and Jack Clowar. Hancock (In bold letters so the scorers will see his name) was the first and last Boy Blue to come near the Carolina home base.

However, the Blue Devils started things popping in the eighth inning, but didn't have quite enough fire to complete the rally and the inning ended with two Devils occupying second and third.

Carolina opened up in the fourth with the tying run. Rip Ryan tripled to make up for one of his two errors of the day and was brought across the plate by Sid (Load 'Em Up and I'll Bring 'Em In) Varney's lengthy pop fly to deep right.

Tar Heels Ahead

Carolina went ahead in the sixth to win the ball game on runs scored by Zero Allen and Stan Goodman.

Allen walked after Ray Blair flied out. Allen went down to second on Goodman's single and roared home on Ryan's second hit of the day. On Ryan's hit Goodman advanced to second, but didn't stay there for long.

Varney then stepped up to the press box to inform the attending scribes that he was about to collect his second hit of the day. He did. That scored Goodman and ended the ball game as far as runs were concerned.

Blair Gets Win

Ray Blair was credited with his fifth win of the season against no losses. He successfully scattered nine hits during the course of the game and allowed the Blue Devils no more than one run in their big third inning.

Varney continued to hang on to his lead in the Big Four batting race by collecting two hits in four trips to the plate. Although Ryan committed two errors, he made up for it by playing flawless ball when the chips were down and collected two hits in four times at bat, scored one run and drove in another.

Wildcats Blast For 22-7 Win Over Hillsboro

Chapel Hill High School blasted two Hillsboro pitchers for a total of 13 hits, including five home runs, for a decisive 22-7 victory yesterday afternoon.

In spite of all the slugging going on, Fenno McGinney stole the top honors with two of the quintet of fourmasters plus another pair of safeties in five trips to the plate.

Ivalee Hill, Collier Hill and Creel each connected for four bases for Chapel Hill.

The Wildcats scored in every inning except the first to outdistance the visitors with little trouble.

Score by innings:

Hillsboro	000 051 100—	7	6 3
Chapel Hill	032 446 12x—22	18	8

Lloyd, Heafner, and Walker; Gravitt, Creel, Hoenig and Maultsby.

Tony Zale Retires From Boxing Game

CHICAGO, April 26.—(UP)—Tony Zale, the slugging middleweight whose ring career had as many stops and starts as a Main Street trolley, officially called a halt to his boxing life today, less than two months before he was to try to regain the world's championship for the second time.

Speaking haltingly, and coached through the pauses by his co-manager, Sam Pian, Zale in an obviously prepared speech, said he was through.

"After a lot of deliberation and argument within myself, and with my managers too, I have decided to call it quits as far as boxing is concerned, and retire," he said. "It is not an easy thing to do, but I guess that's all."

Hits Don't Win ! ! !

Duke	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Hancock, 1b	5	1	1	12	0	0
Bergeron, ss	4	0	2	1	5	0
Clowar, rf	4	0	1	1	0	0
b - Williams	1	0	0	0	0	0
Sires, c	4	0	1	3	0	0
Erickson, lf	3	0	0	3	0	0
Falwell, 3b	3	0	0	0	4	1
Lucas, cf	4	0	1	3	0	0
Frye, 2b	4	0	1	1	3	0
Ayers, p	3	1	2	0	0	0
a - Folger	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	36	1	9	24	12	1

a - Grounded out for Ayers in 9th.
b - Forced Bergeron for Clower in 9th.

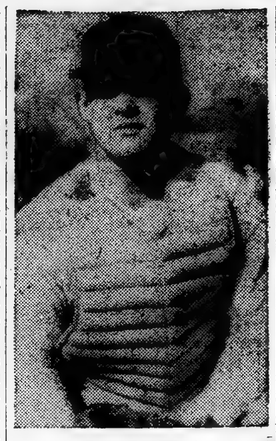
North Carolina	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Allen, cf	3	1	0	2	0	0
Goodman, 2b	4	1	1	7	1	0
Ryan, ss	4	1	2	3	8	2
Varney, c	4	0	2	3	0	0
Lamb, rf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Senter, 3b	2	0	0	1	5	0
Ward, lf	3	0	0	3	0	0
Hobbs, 1b	2	0	0	8	0	0
Blair, p	3	0	0	0	1	0
Totals	29	3	5	27	15	2

Score by Innings:

Duke	001 000 000 0—1
North Carolina	000 102 00x—3

Runs Batted in: Clower, Ryan, Varney, Lamb. Three base Hit: Ryan. Sacrifice: Falwell: Double plays: Bergeron to Frye to Hancock; Senter to Goodman to Hobbs. Left on Bases: Duke 9, North Carolina 4. Base on Balls—off: Ayers 3, Blair 2. Struck out—by: Ayers 3, Blair 3. Wild Pitch: Ayers. Passed Ball: Varney. Umpires: Fuquay, Jones. Time: 2:00.

Varney Leads Big Four Sluggers With Hefty .571 Batting Average



DURHAM, April 26—Sid Varney, veteran University of North Carolina catcher, has moved to the front of the Big Four League batting race, the loop's statistical bureau announced here today.

The big backstop banged out eight hits in 14 times at bat for a fat average of .571.

Don Ward, another Tar Heel, and Paul Livick, of Wake Forest's league leaders, are tied at second place with .455. Livick missed one of the Deacon games, but in the others he collected five hits in 11 trips to the plate to match Ward's mark in three Carolina games.

Four other league performers have marks of .400 or better. Ed Lamb, hard-hitting Carolina outfielder, is fourth at .429 followed by Wake Forest's Wiley Warren and Duke's Red Lucas and John Clowar at .400

Charlie Teague, Deacon second baseman and defending Big Four batting champion, is down the list at .267. Teague got off to a slow start last year before hitting a terrific pace that carried him to the top.

SID VARNEY
. . . Loop swat king

Jack McComas, whose grand slam home-run helped N. C. State defeat Carolina last week, leads the pack in runs-batted in with six. Two Deacons, Livick and Gene Hooks are tops in home runs with two each.

Three Tar Heels, Rip Ryan, Lamb and Ward; and three Blue Devils Jack Hancock, Lucas and Stu Erickson, lead in doubles with two each.

Carolina's hard-hitting outfit has the team batting lead all to itself. The Tar Heels batted .336 in their three games, followed by Wake Forest at .279, Duke .259, and N. C. State .180.

Big Four Averages

(Compiled through Saturday, April 23)

Name	School	G	AB	R	H	RBI	Pct
Varney	UNC	3	14	3	8	3	.571
Ward	UNC	3	11	1	5	2	.455
Livick	W. F.	3	11	2	5	4	.455
Lamb	UNC	3	14	2	6	2	.429
Lucas	Duke	4	15	1	6	2	.400
Warren	W. F.	4	15	2	6	0	.400
Clowar	Duke	4	10	1	4	3	.400
Ryan	UNC	3	13	3	5	3	.385
Bergeron	Duke	4	17	3	6	1	.375
Sires	Duke	4	14	3	5	5	.357
Goodman	UNC	3	14	3	5	1	.357
Hoch	W. F.	4	14	5	5	3	.357
Pulghum	W. F.	4	17	2	6	5	.353
McComas	N. C. S.	3	10	1	3	6	.300
Frye	Duke	4	14	2	4	0	.286
Senter	UNC	3	14	3	4	3	.286
Teague	W. F.	4	15	2	4	4	.267
Erickson	Duke	4	15	1	4	0	.267
Evans	N. C. S.	3	12	3	3	2	.250
Fowler	N. C. S.	3	8	3	2	3	.250
Council	N. C. S.	3	12	3	3	0	.250
Hobbs	UNC	3	13	2	3	3	.231
Allen	UNC	3	15	2	3	0	.200

Get 'Em Soon

Blue-White Tickets on Sale At Y, by All Monogramers

With the price of tickets to this Saturday's Blue-White game at Kenan Stadium doubling after Friday, students who intend to view the annual intra-squad contest had better purchase their tickets before game time to take advantage of the 50 cent pricetag.

For once the deadline has passed it will cost $1.00 for each ducat to witness the fourth annual Monogram Club-sponsored game.

Tickets are on sale now at the Y and may also be obtained from any member of the Monogram Club whom you may see wandering around the campus. His pockets will be bulging with something and they're sure to be tickets for Saturday's game.

Last year's Blue-White encounter, which serves to culminate spring drills for the gridders, featured the inaugural of the famed card stunts and this year Head Cheerleader Norm Sper plans to use two sets of cheerleaders, varsity and freshman, to preside over the yelling.

The varsity crew is slated to take one side of the field while the frosh will try to match cheers on the other.

Because the student body will be scattered throughout the stadium, a fact which caused much confusion last year, no card stunts will be performed Saturday. The Victory Bell is scheduled to be present, however, with the two sides alternating possession each quarter.

One side of the stadium is to be designated as a haven for the Blue partisans while the Whites will be delegated to the other. The leanings of whoever does the assigning will probably decide who gets the sun in his eyes.

One of the groups, however, will have the extra advantage of the 10,000 high school students from the state, who are attending the game as guests of the University, in the battle of yells.

Also on the schedule of attractions, besides the football game, of course, is the presentation of trophies to the outstanding coaches, of the year, one to a head mentor and one to an assistant. Laddie Terrell, president of the Monogram Club, will do the awarding and is also scheduled to present the sponsors of the contest to the crowd during the halftime festivities.—Fox.

Stickmen Lose

In a practice game held in Durham yesterday afternoon, the Duke freshman lacrosse squad defeated Carolina, 14-1. Jess Greenbaum scored the only Tar Heel goal in the second period.

Mural Horseshoes

Entries for Mural horseshoes were opened Monday and will be open until Thursday. Organizations may enter as many teams as they like; however, do not enter a team which cannot meet its scheduled matches. A team is composed of five players with a match being won by the best two out of three games. A single elimination tournament will be used.

MAJOR League Results

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Boston	100 000 001—	2	7 1
Brooklyn	100 210 10x—	5	9 0

Sain and Masi; Roe and Campanella

(11 innings)

N. York	013 010 220 02—	11	14 3
Phil.	010 004 202 03—	12	13 3

Jansen, Behrman (7), Koslo (7), Hansen (11) and Livingston; Meyer, Donnelly (6), Konstanty (7), Trinkle (8), Rowe (9) and Lopata. WP—Rowe, LP—Hansen.

Cincinnati at St. Louis, postponed, rain.

Only games scheduled.

TODAY'S GAMES

Brooklyn (Minner 0-0) at New York (Kennedy 1-0)

Cincinnati (Vander Meer 1-0) at Chicago (Dubiel 0-0)

Boston (Spahn 0-1) at Philadelphia (Roberts 0-1)—night

Pittsburgh (Dickson 0-1) at St. Louis (Brazle 1-0)—night

AMERICAN LEAGUE

St. Louis	000 000 000—	0	5 0
Cleveland	000 100 00x—	1	4 0

Embree and Moss; Lemon and Hegan.

1st game

Detroit	030 000 300—	6	12 0
Chicago	000 000 200—	2	9 1

Trucks, Trout (8) and Robinson; Judson, Evans (7), E. Groth (8) and Wheeler. WP—Trucks

2nd game (10 innings)

Detriot	203 000 000 2—	7	8 1
Chicago	030 100 001 0—	5	12 0

Kretlow, Stuart (6), Trout (9) and Robinson, Swift (10); Surkont, Evans (7), Pierce (10) and Wheeler, Yankowski (9). WP—Trout, LP—Evans.

Phil.	000 210 100—	4	5 0
N. York	030 000 02x—	5	7 2

Marchildon, Kellner (1) and Rosar; Byrne, Page (7),Hiller (9) and Berra, Silvera (9). WP—Page, LP—Kellner.

Washington at Boston, postponed, rain.

TODAY'S GAMES

St. Louis (Drews 0-1) at Detroit (Newhouser 2-0)

Chicago (Gettel 0-1) at Cleveland (Gromek 1-0)

Philadelphia (Fowler 1-1) at Boston (Hughson 0-0)

New York (Reynolds 1-0) at Washington (Thompson 0-1)—night

Frosh Triumph In Wild Tilt In Duke Park

By Lew Chapman

The Tar Babies journeyed to Durham yesterday and won a ball game from the Blue Imps of Duke by the score of 14-6 but many a onlooker no doubt thought he was viewing a running and throwing marathon instead of an exhibition of Abner Doubleday's famous game.

In the course of the two and a half hour, seven inning contest, one saw an agglamoration of 20 runs, 16 hits, 8 errors, 5 pitchers, 14 bases on balls, several long drives including a tremendous home run, arguments with the umpires and many a disgusted Duke fan.

Neither team looked good, but the Duke frosh were pitiful. The Duke mentor threw three of his top-ranking twirlers into the fray in trying to stop the Carolina onslaught but all in vain. Eight big errors also contributed mightily in making the Tar Baby runaway complete.

At the end of five innings of play, with the Tar Babies leading, 13-0, an agreement was reached by the two teams to shorten the contest to seven innings and prevent a rout but immediately after, Blue Imps regained some markings of a ball club by scoring six tallies in the bottom of the sixth. In doing so, they routed Tar Baby starter Charley Bridger, who had chucked five frames and had allowed only three hits, and also gave reliefer Monroe Johnson a rousing reception of hits before Johnson could get the side out.

They'll Learn ! ! !

Carolina	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Herring, 2b	5	2	1	3	3	0
Whiteheart, 3b	3	1	0	1	2	0
Stewart, cf	5	0	1	1	0	0
B. Smith, 1b	3	2	2	10	0	0
Lambert, rf	4	1	0	0	0	0
Overman, c	4	3	2	4	1	0
G. Smith, ss	3	1	0	1	3	0
Reaves, lf	5	2	2	1	0	0
Bridger, p	3	2	2	0	6	0
Johnson, p	0	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	35	14	10	21	15	0

Duke	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Lyons, rf	4	0	1	2	0	1
Coble, lf	3	1	1	1	0	0
Carroll, cf	3	1	0	2	0	0
Groat, ss	3	1	2	1	0	1
Myers, 2b	3	1	0	1	1	1
Lennardt, 3b	2	1	0	2	1	0
Genberg, 1b	3	1	1	4	1	0
McGuire, c	1	0	0	7	2	3
Denny, c	1	0	1	0	0	0
Joyce, p	0	0	0	1	3	1
Ward, p	2	0	0	0	3	1
Peterson, p	0	0	0	0	1	0
Totals	25	6	6	21	12	8

Score by innings:

Carolina	0	3	0	0	4	6	1	—	14
Duke	0	0	0	0	0	6	0	—	6

Runs Batted in-Stewart 2, Ben Smith 2, Bridger 2, Genberg 2, Whiteheart 1, Guy Smith 1, Groat 1, McGuire 1. Doubles-Groat, Genberg. Home Runs-Ben Smith. Stolen Bases-B. Smith, Reaves, Myers. Hits-off Bridger, 4 in 5 innings; off Johnson, 2 in 2 innings; off Joyce, 1 in 2 innings; off Ward, 7 in 4 innings; off Peterson, 2 in 1 inning. Strikeouts-Bridger 3, Joyce 3, Ward 3. Bases on balls-Bridger 6, Johnson 2, Joyce 4, Ward 2, Peterson 2. Hit by Pitcher-by Joyce (Lambert). Passed balls-McGuire, Denny 2. Left on bases-Carolina 10, Duke 6. Winning Pitcher-Bridger. Losing Pitcher-Bridger. Losing Pitcher-Joyce. Umpires-Lapp and Arrington. Time-2:30.

INTRAMURAL ROUNDUP

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00, Field 1, Emer Misfits vs Alexander; 2, Stacy vs Graham; 3, Lewis 1 vs Old West; 4, Law Sch vs Atoms; 5, Steele vs Town 2; 6, Lamb Chi 2 vs Pi Lamb 2; 7, Chi Phi 1 vs DKE 3; 8, C-Dorm 1 vs Old East.

5:00, Field 1, Ruffin vs Med Sch 2; 2, Manly vs Emerson 2; 3, Med Sch 1 vs Town 1; 4, Sig Chi 1 vs Chi Psi 2; 5, Kappa Psi 1 vs Phi Gam 3; 6, Phi Delt Chi vs Pi Kap Phi 1; 7, Kap Psi 2 vs SAE 2.

COED SOFTBALL

Schedule: Tri Delt vs Alderman; AD Pi vs Chi O 2.

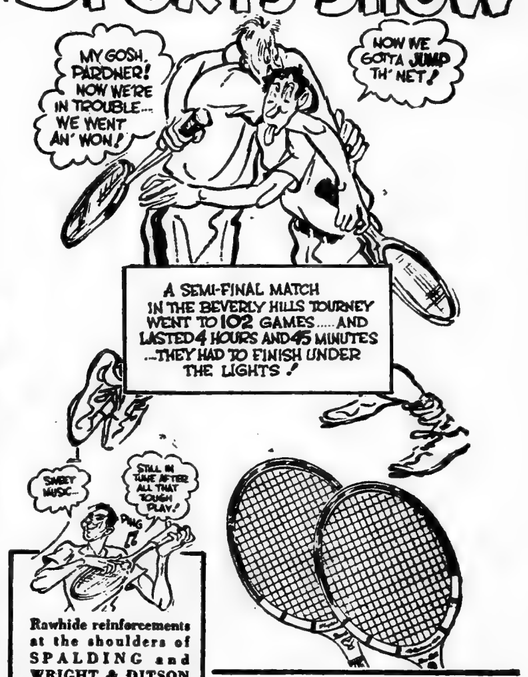
TENNIS SCHEDULE

4:00, Courts 1-3: Phi Gam 2 vs PiKA 3; 4-6: Kap Sig 1 vs Pi Kap Phi. 5:00, courts 1-3: DKE 1 vs Phi Delta Theta; courts 4-6: KA 1 vs Pi Lamb 1.

The Archery Club will meet this afternoon at the East end of Fetzer Field.

Open House will be held at Woollen Gym tonight between 7:30 and 9 o'clock.

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00



GROSSMAN'S THRIFT SHOP
buys your clothes in good condition
E. Franklin St.

N. C. SYMPHONY
Benjamin Swalin, conducting
with Josephine Cunningham
soprano soloist
MONDAY — 8:30 — MAY 2
MEMORIAL HALL
Tickets on sale at
Ab's Bookshop — Y — Ledbetter-Pickard
ADULTS $2.40 STUDENTS & WIVES $1.20

IT'S SERIOUS we're right when we say the food is tops at the
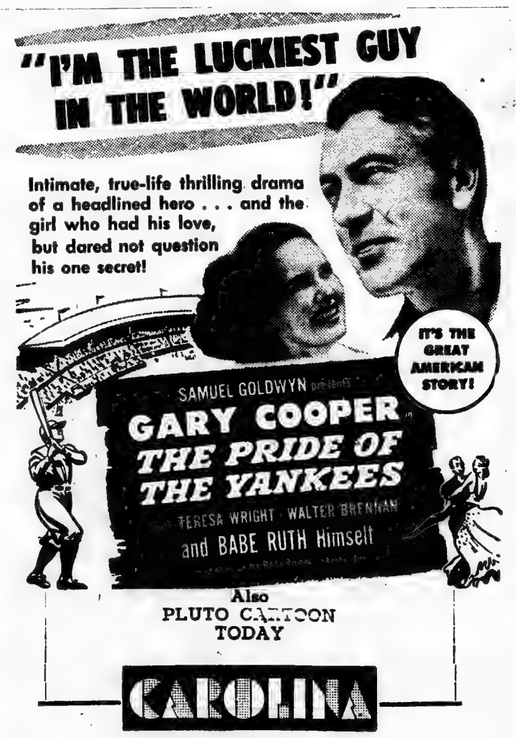
UNIVERSITY RESTAURANT

SPALDING SPORTS SHOW

Rawhide reinforcements at the shoulders of SPALDING and WRIGHT & DITSON Rackets keep strings tighter longer . . . and "FIBRE WELDING" and "FIBRE SEALING" give extra strength.

SPALDING
sets the pace in sports



IT PAYS TO PLAY — with good equipment
TENNIS
SHOES SHORTS SHIRTS SWEATERS
Carolina Sport Shop

WOMEN FIND LOCAL MEN
Looking Better, Handsomer!

Chapel Hill, N. C., April 27—So many women have been commenting on the improvement in male appearance hereabouts that we put a sleuth on the story. He snooped, he interviewed, he checked all over town. Here's his scoop: "The men who look better are using Pal Hollow Ground razor blades 100%. I've talked to dozens and the story's the same — Pal Hollow Ground. They tell me they shave better, cleaner, with no irritation to tender skins. Pal still gives you 4 for 10¢, 10 for 25¢, 21 for 49¢, and 44 for 98¢ — Single or Double Edge. So I bought some myself! How do I look?"

PAL BLADES?
WE HAVE THEM
AT
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE
"A Complete Drug Store"
WALGREEN AGENCY

Also
PLUTO CARTOON
TODAY
CAROLINA

IT'S EASY TO PAINT YOUR AUTO WITH KOTE-A-KAR
Simply WIPE-ON for a Professional Paint Finish
This amazing new auto paint will make your car look like new . . . will give it the beautiful hard lustre that looks and wears like the original factory finish . . . and is guaranteed to last for two years!
DRIES IN TWO HOURS
3.95 LARGE 40 OZ. CAN and Applier
You get a Better Buy at a
BLACKWOOD ASSOCIATE STORE
CHAPEL HILL TEL. F-3961
Across from Bus Station

SOP Is Followed In Play Casting

In casting Sam Hirsch's new comedy about army life, "Repple-Depple" S. O. P. (standard operational procedure) for the army was used. Take for instance Joe Borello, who plays the part of Private Antonio, he has been a post office employee, messenger, typist and baker. He had never done any acting before so in true army form they gave him a part in the play. However the results have been much happier than when the army does it. Repple Depple will be presented Thursday and Friday evenings of this week in the Playmaker theater at 7:30. There is no admission charge for experimental plays such as this.

Borello along with Ed Lassiter, Frank Estelle and Max Pollard do much to keep the comedy moving as the four misplaced soldiers wander through a replacement depot to a tank outfit and back to the repple-depple. Adding to the confusion are the two officers, [illegible] the same group, Lt. Alton played by Dean Kirkham, is an infantry officer who wants to see combat but the rule-loving Capt. Spratt played by Jim Byrd, provides the biggest instance of snafu business when it is discovered that he, an air corps supply officer, has been sent to the infantry by mistake.

Playing featured roles in "Repple Depple" are David Sample as Capt. Spratt, Erle Hall as Lt. Underwood and George Upchurch as Sgt. Dowdy. As the only sane member of the repple-depple staff, Sgt. Dowdy's role is played straight in contrast to the zany antics of the two officers with whom he works. Capt. Spratt and Lt. Underwood. In Camp Coca-Cola where the men are stationed Section 8's are standard equipment as the officers buckle under the heavy strain of making decisions all day long.

Hirsch's treatment of army life in a replacement depot while realistic enough is not vicious in its premise. He offers no morals nor does he attempt to prove that army life is either good or bad.

The playwright simply offers a light and lively amount of amusement with the result being an evening of fresh and delightful entertainment.

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

KINDLY PATRONIZE STORE OF [illegible] to [illegible] Avenue [illegible] prices.

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

INTERESTED IN A YEARS EXchange of furniture for unfurnished [illegible] Mrs H H Fletcher Carrboro [illegible]

FOR SALE 6B

27 FOOT SCHULT HOUSE TRAILER in good condition. Only $[illegible] sell this week. See at 4th Pleasant Road Trailer Court. [illegible]

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

1929 MODEL A FORD IN GOOD condition. See Jim Wood at Hender-[illegible] Street or [illegible] [illegible]

HELP WANTED 8

UPPERCLASSMEN SKILLED IN [illegible] sailing, boating, canoeing, [illegible] and other activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer. Apply in person to staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment [illegible] and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Address Walt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. [illegible]

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight of ten weeks as counselor on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, [illegible] equipment, [illegible] living quarters, food, and board. Apply Walt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. [illegible]

LOST 12

A SILVER CIGARETTE LIGHTER with initials EA. Between Methodist Church and Smith Dorm. If found please return to Y office. [illegible]

Formal Wear
FOR RENT
Full Dress $5.00
Tuxedos 4.00
White Jackets .. 4.00
Tuxedo Junction
601 E. Trinity Ave. - J-1373
DURHAM, N. C.

PLANNING A WEEKEND at the BEACH THIS SPRING?
Wrightsville Beach has become a popular weekend spot for COLLEGE STUDENTS
We offer ideal accomodations for HOUSE PARTIES or any size group with our 16 Apartments and large 12 bedroom house. We can offer housekeeping facilities or hotel accomodations.
CALL, WIRE or WRITE
ALLEN BARBEE
Spring Hope, N. C.
Wrightsville Beach on weekends

Dodge and Plymouth Owners
Play safe! Have your car lubricated and inspected regularly by men who know it BEST!
Caston Motor Co

For The NEWEST FASHIONS in MENS CLOTHING visit
THE Sport SHOP
120 E. MAIN ST.
Durham

Zionist Conclave Will Gather Here For Celebration

Zionists from UNC, Duke, and the University of South Carolina will gather in Chapel Hill Saturday in a sub-regional conclave to celebrate Israel Independence Week.

Melvin Steinberg, chairman of IZFA, the UNC Zionist group said today that Jews throughout the world will celebrate May 4 as Independence Day for Israel. The UNC group has planned a number of activities next week as a part of the world-wide anniversary, he said.

The celebration on this campus will begin Friday night with special religious services sponsored by the Hillel Foundation. Rabbi Simon Glustrom of Durham will present a sermon on [illegible] Israel [illegible] Jewish [illegible] tradition.

On Saturday activities will gather more in a sub-regional [illegible] [illegible] trends in [illegible] A dance [illegible] Saturday night with [illegible] [illegible] an international [illegible] in Israel [illegible] IZFA.

The [illegible] a joint [illegible] breakfast for Sunday morning [illegible] [illegible] among other programs, leading up to the Independence Day next Wednesday. All students are invited to attend the activities.

"Carolina IZFA feels that the first Anniversary of Israel is of importance to the democratic world as a whole," Steinberg said today. "But in twelve [illegible] we have seen in the Middle East the establishment of [illegible] in the principles of [illegible]

-Pine Room-

Continued from Page 1

[illegible] the management stated. The YW and YM have each agreed to furnish a host and hostess nightly to introduce students and see that the dances are conducted in an orderly manner.

The entire idea, the sanction of Dean of Students Fred Weaver, said McLeod Rogers in first suggested the Pine Room plan to Gay Currie, secretary of the YW, who, in turn, carried it to the Montreat Commission.

The Commission appointed John Easom and McLeod to contact Manager Rogers in and complete final arrangements.

Though the Valentine Sing Monday night conflicted with the Pine Room premiere, it is anticipated that the innovation will meet with success, McLeod said.

"It is to be understood," a Y spokesman said, "that the dances are being presented to the students on a trial basis. If they meet with the success that we anticipate, they will become a permanent thing."

-Madry-

Continued from page 1

previously passed a bill to enable the University to see or lease its public utilities, except those needed for its buildings and grounds.

He pointed out that Victor S. Bryant, of Durham, was recently appointed chairman of a Trustee committee to consider the feasibility of the sale of the University's utilities. "In view of these two moves, it seems to me it is now time for the town of Chapel Hill to open negotiations looking toward the purchase of such utilities as may be available, provided, of course, they could be purchased at a price that would make them a profitable investment for the town. The town needs more revenue and this might turn out to be the answer."

Mayor Madry said "a new building code was recently adopted and a new zoning ordinance for the town and a zoning ordinance for the suburban areas within a one-mile radius, all drawn up by the town's Planning Board, which has always been most helpful, are to be adopted soon."

Stating his position on three questions submitted by the League of Women Voters, Mayor Madry said he favored a reasonable appropriation for recreation facilities, provided it comes from other than tax funds.

He said he did not favor parking meters for Chapel Hill at the present time. "The aldermen considered parking meters at several sessions held more than [illegible] ago and decided at that time to postpone a decision. [illegible] The expansion of the West Franklin business section may [illegible] suggestion to allow parking [illegible] if we can add another [illegible] [illegible] the future. [illegible] I am not [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

U. S. Government
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

EDITORIALS

Notable Gains
Political Front
Long-Standing Need

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Cloudy and mild

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. THURSDAY, APRIL 28, 1947 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 154

UP Elects Harris To Chairmanship

New Chairman Has Served in Legislature; Party Delays Election of Other Officers

Fletcher Harris, junior from Sanford, was elected chairman of the University Party by acclamation yesterday afternoon in Graham Memorial.

The steering committee filled only the one post, which was vacated by retiring chairman Joe Leary, who plans to graduate in June. The other offices run through next fall quarter.

Harris is serving his second term in the Student Legislature at the present time. He first took his seat with the law-making body by presidential appointment, filling the seat vacated by Legislator Len Butt.

While in the Legislature, Harris has served on the Ways and Means Committee, the Rules Committee, and was elected sergeant-at-arms during the last session when Ed Washington resigned from the body.

The new UP chairman has been a member of the party steering committee for two years. A member of Sigma Chi fraternity, he has been active in campus politics since his enrollment in the University.

The University Party, under the leadership of Leary in the past year, captured the vice-presidency of the student body with Ted Leonard as its candidate. Nat Williams, elected secretary- treasurer, was a doubly-endorsed UP-CP candidate.

The party also captured a plurality of seats in the Student Legislature, winning 23 posts over the SP's 14 and the CP's 13. The legislative scoreboard now says UP 23, SP 15, and CP 12, since one of the CP men took a walk recently.

Gala Carnival Is Scheduled For Tomorrow

University Club Sponsors Event

In connection with the annual Blue-White Football Game and general weekend program, the University Club has ornate plans for a rare old carnival in true carnival style to be staged tomorrow night, April 29, on Navy Field just below the gym.

The Carnival will be composed of a main show staged by the University Club itself under the big-top and a glittering, gala array of sideshows and concessions along the midway. The sideshows and concessions will be put on by the various fraternities, sororities, and other organizations that tok advantage of the University Club's offer of space on the midway.

Some of the proposed types of shows and concessions will be freak shows, penny arcades baseball pitching, shooting galleries, and of course the open-air cafe with the Bebop Band. One of the many attractive features about these shows will be the maximum charge of 15 cents for any amusement.

According to Norm Sper, head cheerleader, president of the University Club, and instigator of this whole works, this is the first time any such thing has been attempted in connection with the Blue-White weekend. Last year the Tex Beneke Germans were being held that weekend. Sper expects a large turn-out for the carnival since there will be amusement there for any and all tastes.

The carnival was originally scheduled for Woollen Gym, but was moved in later plans to Navy Field.

Rummage Sale Set By Presbyterians

The Presbyterian Nursery School PTA has planned a rummage sale from which all proceeds will be used for school equipment.

The sale will take place on the stone wall across the corner from the Mason Hall on Saturday, April 30, from 8 o'clock until 4 o'clock.

Anyone desiring to contribute any articles for this sale are requested to call F-5203.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

3:00—PUBLICATIONS BOARD. Grail room, GM.
4:00—YOUNG DEMOCRATS. Roland Parker 2, GM.
6:30—UNIVERSITY PARTY. Roland Parker 3, GM.
7:00—HILLEL FOUNDATION. Roland Parker 1, GM.
7:00—DELTA PHI Omega. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
7:00—AAUW. Kenan Hall.
7:30—PHI MU Alpha Program. Hill Hall.

THE GOLDEN FLEECE TAPPED 17 new initiates and re-tapped a University alumnus Monday evening in Memorial Hall. Left to right, first row, they are Charlie Justice of Asheville, Gus Johnston of Catawissa, Pa., Judge John J. Parker of Charlotte (re-tapped), Bill Harrison of Asheville, Al Lowenstein of Scarsdale, N. Y. Second row: Page Harris of Durham, Bill Mackie of Chapel Hill, Dick Gordon of Merion Station, Pa., Ed Joyner, Jr., of Wilson, Bob Kirkland of Wilson. Third row: Dr. W. Reese Berryhill (faculty initiate), Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, Pa., Dick Walker of Winston-Salem, Billy Carmichael III of Chapel Hill, Sam Magill of Shanghai, China. Fourth row: Joe Leary of Edenton, Harold Lee Andrews of Durham, David Sobel of New York, Monroe Landreth of Charlotte (tapped earlier in the year).

Dr. Polgar Splits Sides Of Memorial Audience

Packed Hall Sees Hypnotic Display

Dr. Franz Polgar returned to Chapel Hill Tuesday night and with roaring approval of a packed, jammed and overflowing Memorial Hall, he proved that life can be funny, especially when a person is under the influence of hypnosis.

Of course for the show to have been the success Dr. Polgar had to have excellent subjects and there was an overabundance of, perhaps not willing, but certainly capable coeds and men students who were better than able subjects.

Take for instance, Walter Grice. Walter, insofar as he knew, was standing in the rear of Memorial Hall watching the show. When he woke up some two hours later he was on the stage. In the meantime, however, Walter had vigorously celebrated New Year's Eve, had believed himself to be Frank Sinatra and had sung "I Love You Truly" to two giggling, squealing coeds who believed themselves to be idolizing bobby-soxers. The act wouldn't have been complete, of course, without some self-respecting males who dislike Sinatra and they were there in full force too, with Bill Duncan and Russell Johnson providing the most emphatic opposition.

Johnson's performance as an anti-Sinatra fan, however, didn't compare with his individual act that took him back into his childhood days. As a four-year-old, he seriously recited "Mary Had a Little Lamb" and then broke into sobbing tears when informed that his Mother had spanked him for breaking a mirror.

But the show went on and on, with Polgar successfully bringing down the house with each new stunt.

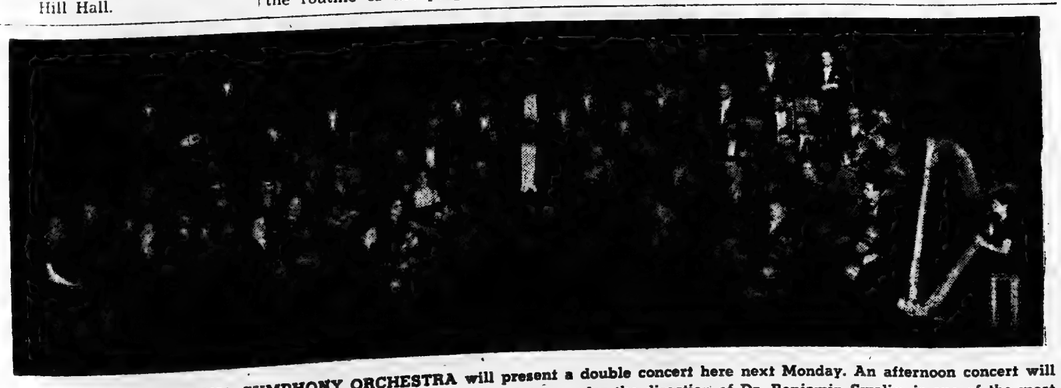
An addition to the show this year was the supposedly sensational pair of glasses which gave the wearer the ability to see through any fabric such as wool, cotton or silk. After carefully explaining how the glasses worked,

(See POLGAR, page 4)

Branch, Calhoun To Deliver Talks At Forum on Jobs

Miss Twig Branch, personnel director of the Dean of Women's office, and Richard Calhoun of the Commerce School will speak at the first Job Forum, sponsored by the Careers Committee of the YWCA Monday from 7 until 8 o'clock.

The careers committee is sponsoring four forums during the month of May to orient girls, who will be working after graduation or during the summer months into some of the problems and situations they will encounter. Each forum will feature a brief talk by outstanding people in each of the four fields, followed by a question period.



Problems concerned with the first interview for a job will be presented at the forum meeting Monday. Miss Branch will discuss the applicant's point of view and Calhoun, former manager of the Kendall Mills, will present the employer's point of view.

Orchestra's String Quintet To Be Featured in Concert

When the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra presents its concert in Chapel Hill, May 2, the Memorial Hall audience will be treated to some interesting deviations by the symphony's unusual string quintet which includes a harpist and four double bass players.

The double basses are featured this season in a special number on the program the Symphony presents for children. They play Saint-Saens, "The Elephant," with the basses employed to describe the awkward, lumbering movements of the elephant. In the routine of the program, all the bass players whisk their heavy instruments over the heads of the rest of the Orchestra and claim the center of the stage down front with the "Elephant."

Members of the quintet are: Marion Perley, harpist; Richard Andrews, Gale Bray, James Harnett, Jean Reicherts, and Rose Marie Barrett. Andrews is the jokester of the Orchestra who calls his bass "Sophie" because she is built for comfort and not for speed. Actually, the instrument was made in Paris in 1797. Mr. Andrews acquired it from a violin maker who was also his first teacher.

THE NORTH CAROLINA SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA will present a double concert here next Monday. An afternoon concert will feature Miss Josephine Cunningham as solo soprano. The symphony, under the direction of Dr. Benjamin Swalin, is one of the most outstanding state musical organizations in the nation.

Dr. Polgar Defeats Team, Not Justice

They say nobody can put the hex on Carolina's Choo Choo.

Even Dr. Franz Polgar, the nationally-famous hypnotist and "mental wizard," met failure when he tried to put triple-threat tailback Charlie Justice "under" yesterday afternoon on Navy Field.

Polgar met with more success on some of the other footballers, however, after he attempetd a mass hypnotism test on the entire Blue and White team.

The hypnotist hit his stride again with student Dover Moore, one of his subjects during his show in Memorial Hall Tuesday night. Moore was last seen straining every muscle trying to pick an "80-pound" football off the turf.

Chi O's, AEPi's Have Best Marks For Winter Term

The Chi Omega sorority and the Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity led the 28 Greek organizations on campus in scholastic averages for winter quarter. Last quarter there was only a fractional difference between the all men's average and the all fraternity average, the all fraternity average being higher.

The averages were computed by the Dean of Men's office on the basis of rosters of membership as submitted by the fraternities. Both active members and pledges were included.

The averages were computed on the basis of A-1, B-2, C-3, D-4, E-5, F-6, absences not excused-6, and excused absences and incompletes were not computed.

The all fraternity average 2.959 and the all men's average, 2.991 were obtained by sampling the grades of every tenth person in a fraternity as compared with every tenth non-fraternity student.

The Chi Omega sorority led the list with an average of 2.348. Other averages and relative rank of the organizations are as follows:

(2) Alpha Epsilon Pi, 2.355. (3) Pi Beta Phi, 2.389. (4) Alpha Gama Delta, 2.473. (5) Delta Delta Delta, 2.497. (6) Alpha Delta Pi, 2.504. (7) Pi Lambda Phi, 2.637. (8) Delta Psi, 2.648. (9) Sigma Phi Epsilon, 2.887.

(10) Delta Kappa Epsilon, 2.919. (11) Sigma Nu, 2.931. (12) Phi Delta Theta, 2.942. (13) Chi Psi, 2.943. (14) Pi Kappa Phi, 2.9434. (15) Sigma Chi, 2.947. (16) Zeta Beta Tau, 2.996. (17) Phi Gamma Delta, 3.010. (18) Chi Phi, 3.055. (19) Alpha Tau Omega, 3.065.

(20) Kappa Alpha, 3.087. (21) Tau Epsilon Phi, 3.096. (22) Lambda Chi Alpha, 3.101. (23) Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 3.138. (24) Beta Theta Pi, 3.172. (25) Zeta Psi, 3.203. (26) Phi Kappa Sigma, 3.234. (27) Kappa Sigma, 3.291. (28) Pi Kappa Alpha, 3.322.

N.C. Student Solons Will Meet May 13-14

Hirsch Play Opens In Theater Tonight

'Repple Depple' Is Third Full-Length Show Of Playmaker Season; Covington Directs

"Repple Depple," a new farce comedy by Sam Hirsch opens tonight at 7:30 in the Playmakers Theater for its world premiere.

Written in Walter Prichard Eaton's playwriting class last winter, this comic revelation of army life in an overseas replacement depot is the third full-length student play produced by the Carolina Playmakers this season. Admission will be free and an open house discussion will follow the presentation of the play, at which time the audience will be invited to comment, criticize, and make suggestions to the author.

"Repple Depple" has been directed by W. P. Covington, III, the costumes by Marty Jacobs, settings by Pete Strader and lighting by Margie Cameron.

The actors creating these parts for the first time are: George Upchurch, Erle Hall, David Samples, John Constable, Dan McIntyre, Jim Byrd, Michael Pochna, Ed Lassiter, Franck Echols, Joseph Borello, John Kirkman, John Beshara, Lois Latham, John Shearin, Margie Cameron, and Frederick Young.

Heading the crew of "Repple Depple" is Chuck Morrell, Stage Manager. Assistant Manager is Fran Neal; Crew Chief, Mac Shaw; Stage Crew, Erle Hall, Frank Echols; Master Electrician, Ellen Smith; Assistant Electrician, Ruth Groce; Make-up, Gwen Finley, Mary Barker; Sound Effects, Dan McIntyre, Shop Crew, Helen Brown, Colbert Leonard, Bill Sanders, and Chuck Morrell.

Gastonia Editor Warned by Klan

GASTONIA, April 27—(UP)—A cross was burned last night at the home of an outspoken editor who called members of the Ku Klux Klan "ten-dollar suckers."

The five-foot cross was set off about 10 o'clock on the lawn of J. W. Atkins, editor and publisher of the Gastonia Gazette.

No one saw the fiery symbol set up. Made of wood covered with oil-soaked cloth, it was discovered by a neighbor.

Atkins called the Fire Department to put it out.

'It's just a cheap publicity stunt," he said. "It just lowers what I previously thought of the Klan."

Last month Atkins reported in an editorial the formation of a KKK chapter in this industrial city of 30,000 and lambasted the hooded order's new members as "ten-dollar suckers."

Shortly afterward a sticker bearing a Klan motto was pasted on the Gazette office.

Doubtful Grads To Notify Office

Students who have filed an application for graduation and find that they are not going to clear for the degree to be awarded on June 6 are requested to notify Miss Josephine Pritchard at Central Records Office.

Miss Pritchard, 302 South Building, said she must be notified at once in order that she may stop the diploma from being made. The sheepskin from which the diplomas are made is very hard to get, she pointed out, and it is a great loss if one is made that will not be awarded.

Nawakwans Will Feature Three Panels

Talks to Be Led By Jones, McCoy

The Greater University "Y" Freshman Conference, for the three branches of the Greater University, to be held at Camp Nawakwa May 6, 7, and 8, will feature a series of three discussion meetings.

These discussions will be centered around the subjects, "relation between college men and women," "the relationship of Christian faith to everyday life," and "problems of college students."

In relation to these discussions will be talks by Reverend Charles Jones of the Chapel Hill Presbyterian church, and Reverend Charles McCoy of the N. C. State Wesley foundation.

Bob Barrus, associate secretary of the Carolina YMCA, said that the site of the conference has been changed from Camp Sloane to Camp Nawakwa because the attendance will not be as high as had been previously expected. About 50 students are expected to attend. This number, Barrus said, will allow for the maximum informality, and the opportunity for the delegations of the three schools to become well acquainted.

Billy Howell, publicity chairman for the conference, said that there is still room for a number of people. Registration will continue to be open until the end of this week.

Summer Vets See VA to Transfer

Any veteran attending school under the G.I. Bill who intends to enter a different institution this summer should apply as soon as possible for a supplemental certificate of eligibility, the Veterans Administration said today.

Such veterans must have supplemental certificates before they can be admitted to new schools or courses, VA said today. Application forms for these certificates may be obtained from the Veteran Advisers office, 315 South Building, or from any VA office.

After a veteran has filled out the application he should send it to the VA regional office in Winston-Salem.

Literary Sorority Accepting Members

Chi Delta Phi literary sorority's membership drive will continue through Monday, it was announced yesterday by Phyllis Ann Gentry, president of the group.

Manuscripts necessary for membership should be turned in at the information desk in Graham Memorial. Membership is limited to juniors and seniors.

Childress Names State Capitol For 13th Meeting

State Student Legislature will begin its 13th year ... the North Carolina capitol building at Raleigh on ... 14 Interim Secretary Gran Childress said yesterday.

Childress, elected to the Interim Council post at the last legislative session, said that final plans were being laid for this year's meeting by Interim Council President Charles Cooper of Duke and himself.

The mock General Assembly this year will concern itself with problems pertaining to North Carolina only. Its purpose is to arouse interest and discussion among college and university students on state problems and legislation.

Childress said that final word is expected within the next day or so on whether or not the student assembly will be permitted to use both halls of the Capitol. Last year, the Senate chambers were in use as a meeting hall for a state agency. The secretary-treasurer said he expected, however, that nothing would block the use of both halls this year.

At least 21 schools will participate in the 1949 session, according to Childress, pointing out that as the number which attended last year. He said he expected five or six more to join the assembly this time.

The University will have 18 representatives and three senators at the session of the legislature. Each school is permitted three senators, and one delegate to the House for each 400 students over 1,000, with two representatives for the first 1,000. Each school will have at least two students in the House.

Georgia Students Suffer Setback In Armored War

ATHENS, Ga., April 27—(UP)—Armored "warfare" took a temporary setback today when two tank-borne University of Georgia students admitted they had been outmaneuvered by foot police.

Furthermore, Lloyd Alexander of Dublin, and Robert Hollomon were booked on charges of stealing and destroying government property. The FBI was to file prosecution charges.

Frantic residents telephoned police yesterday that a light tank was running wild over dirt roads near the city limits.

Police in three unarmored prowl cars set out manfully to intercept the tank spearhead. They blocked all roads and climbed out to surround the tank on foot.

The tank crew tried to escape through a wheat field. But a steep creek bank proved too much for the 20-ton vehicle and it toppled over. Two youths—later identified as Alexander and Hollomon—jumped out just before the tank caught fire.

Police said Alexander and Hollomon admitted taking the tank from the university armory to "practice maneuvers." Alexander officers said, had been drinking.

Miss Gibbs to Give 'Hats' Talk Tonight

Miss Jane Gibbs, of the State College Home Economics Extension Division, will present a talk on how to make hats in Roland Parker lounge number 3 Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

The talk, sponsored by the Carolina Dames Club, is open to everyone and interested coeds and townswomen are urged to attend.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $4.00 per year, $2.00 per quarter.

Editor — DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager — T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor — Bill Buchan
Sports Editor — Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors — Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. — Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. — Buddy Vaden
Society Editor — Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. — Oliver Watkins

Circ. Mgr. — Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. — David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. — Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. — C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer — James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Night Editor: Charles McCorkle — Night Sports: Buster Cherry

A Long-Standing Need

The Campus Chest Fund, which the Interdormitory Council has proposed, will fill a long-standing need on this campus if it successfully passes the Student Legislature.

Annually there are demands on all sides for contributions to the Red Cross, the March of Dimes, WSSF, Cancer Fund, Crippled Children's Fund, and other organizations. Each drive in the past has been conducted separately, and those who have been in charge of collections will tell you that this is no menial chore. There have been a countless number of hours expended in these collections, and an equal number of complaints from the students who are frequently all but beseiged by these collectors.

The solution seems to be one combined drive which would go to fill the Campus Chest Fund. This plan has proved successful at other schools. For example, a single Campus Chest Drive at Woman's College in Greensboro netted $4,400 from some 2,2300 students.

If each student at Carolina would contribute $1.00 to the proposed Chest, then more than ample funds would be available to the various organizations as the Red Cross, WSSF, etc. The exact apportionment of the money could be worked out on a percentage basis on how much each organization collected the previous year.

Opinion generally seems to be in favor of the Chest plan. The main controversy arises as to whether the money should be collected just once a year, or once a quarter. If only $1.00 is all that is needed from each student, then it does seem that this sum could be collected in one drive. Holding the drive each quarter would defeat the purpose of the Campus Chest.

State Achieving Notable Gains

(Reprinted fro mthe eritorial page of the New York times).

Native orators have facetiously described North Carolina as "a valley of humility between two mountains of strife, Virginia and South Carolina." The pride of the state of North Carolina must be swelling these days for it is achieving notable gains among progressive Southern states.

There has been a long and continuous flourishing of the tree of liberalism from which the state is now beginning to gather fruit. "It is time," say Governor Scott, "for North Carolina to stop dodging the Negro question." He pledges himself to see that "the minority race has a fair opportunity." North Carolina abandoned the poll tax as a prerequisite of voting 30 years ago. It was one of the first Southern states to break the barrier against the employment of Negroes by the municipalities, with its uniforming of Negro policemen.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill has nourished the tree. Much that the South and the nation know about regionalism it learned from Howard W. Odum and a brilliant coterie of researchers in the social sciences at the University. Rupert B. Vance studies the population of the South and its movement and told the country that here was the seed-bed of its people.

The University of North Carolina Press published books about the South by Southern authors, like Mr. Daniels, "discovering" the infinite variety of life below the Potomac. Sharecroppers, farmers, landlords and workers at many odd jobs came vividly to life in stories that told the region, sometimes with the simplicity of Chekhov, how its people lived. For two decades and more the University at Chapel Hill has been the dynamic center of a Southern cultural renaissance chiefly concerned with the workings of Southern social forces.

Now Governor Scott, in an old phrase of the itinerant farmer, is "aimin' to move." His "Go Forward" program calls for new schools, rural electrification and for diversified agriculture. Here is a program writh watching as its pacemakers stride through the "Valley."

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon
(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, April 26—Have any of my masculine readers ever wondered what it would be like to be married to the President-General of the Daughters of the American Revolution?

Or let's put it this way: everybody knows the D.A.R. is headed by Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne. But did you ever stop to think there was a Roscoe C. O'Byrne?

There is—and he was in our midst all through the convention, although few seemed aware of it. The papers were full of his missus, but nary a thing he said or did got into print.

As a champion of my sex I figured this was discrimination; the thing we are all shouting against. So here, for probably the first time, is an interview with the President-General's husband:

"Judge" O'Byrne, as he is called, having once been a circuit judge in Indiana, is a huge man, with an even huger facade, carrying about 230 pounds, not including blinkers and whip. Mrs. O'Byrne is a little thing, 5 feet 2, eyes of blue, weighing a bare 105.

The "Judge," who adds to his dignity with pince-nez, didn't see much of the President-General while the ladies with the big badges were in town because he and Mrs. O'Byrne occupied separate rooms at the Mayflower. He explained that this was deemed advisable as D. A. R. ladies were forever running in and out of his wife's suite, and he might not always be clad in all his dignity.

He didn't even get to take the President-General out to eat during the conclave because she was being sought after by the delegations from all 48 states for lunch, tea, and dinner.

"Of course," he explained, "I would not attend those social things given for my wife."

Mrs. O'Byrne's husband, who is now chairman of the Indiana Publice Service Commission, said he didn't mind eating without his wife, however "because there are plenty of good places to eat in Washington."

That last crack I didn't quite get, but I was too timid to pursue it. The "Judge" said he eats quite a lot without Mrs. O'Byrne because her duties keep her away from home at least 50 per cent of the time—and have ever since she got to be President-General in 1947.

This seemed to be quite a boost for public restaurants, as the "Judge" definitely shows no symptoms of malnutrition. If the restaurant-keepers of America wish to use any of this for promotion purposes, they are welcome.

Judge O'Byrne said he has been "eating and sleeping D. A. R." for 30 years, not specifying how it mixes with the other comestibles. One of the memories of his early married life, he said, was his wife poking among the tombstones in every graveyard she came across.

Mrs. O'Byrne put her cemetery-meanderings to use. She compiled a book on the burial place of every revolutionary hero in Indiana—a work which is still a standard authority today.

The Sounding Board

Dance, Play News

By "Wink" Locklair

Barry Lynn, a student in the University when he isn't in Salt Lake City or San Francisco with his one-man Danee Concerts, will leave Chapel Hill tomorrow afternoon for New York City where, on Monday evening, he will make his official Gotham debut in Carnegie Recital Hall on West 57th Street.

We talked with him about all this for an hour or so the other day, after he had given an invited audience in Memorial Hall—including Mrs. Earl Wynn, Dr. A. I. Suskin and F. Lanneau Newton (Latin Dept.), Dr. and Mrs. McNairy, and a number of people from Foster Fitz-Simons' Modern Dance Group—a preview of the New York program.

As we entered his room located in the Dawson Building, he was busily packing turntables, phonograph records, costumes and amplifiers—290 pounds of equipment in all—into trunk-like cases for the trip. "Oh, if I only had a big man with a strong back," Barry lamented as he labored over the unwieldy paraphernalia.

We took a seat on one of the packing cases and surveyed the scene which included, as far as we could see from our place near an open window, a bed, a Chinese Tom-Tom (which, on the off-beat, serves as a table), two statues on a small shelf, one called The Chinese God of Longivity With the Immortal Peach Tree, the other a Kachina doll from New Mexico; a Chinese Fly Duster, an album of "The Seasons" by Glaznuov, and a Mason jar of two-day-old ice tea, for which Mr. Lynn has a minor passion.

"What I wouldn't give for a station wagon to keep all this in. Why I'd just live in it, that's all!" he said. And he could use some sort of transportation for Mr. Lynn has been running back and forth across the country by bus for several seasons now, trying to fill the numerous engagements for which he is booked, and at the same time trying to keep his scholastic work in passing condition.

He started his dancing career here in 1935 when the late Ora Mae Davis organized her group. Then he went to study in New York and New England and returned here in 1941. He went into the Army in 1942, spent three months in Special Service, was loaned out to the Red Cross for several shows, and when asked exactly what he did do in the service he replied, wiggling his eyebrows: "EVERYTHING!"

During 1946-47 he was on the West Coast, later came back to Florida. Last summer he gave a recital here, sponsored by Graham Memorial. Next fall Mr. Lynn expects to be teaching art theory and some dancing in the McCure School of Music in Salt Lake City.

Mr. Lynn's program next Monday night will include the following numbers: Capriccio (Addinsell), Marga Dance (Hindu Melody), Navajo (Skilton), Quiet Dance (Gong Acc.), Rooster Drag and Cubano (Lecuona), Fiesta Interlude (Milhaud), Noctiluca (Addinsell) Jamaican Scherzo (Still) and Archer in the Stars (Khatchaturian). He told us that his sketches and pantomimes do not tell a story in the sense that ballet or Charles Weidman tells a story. He just likes to capture mood or to express his emotions when a bongo sounds or a flute flutters.

Moving all those trunks around has a disastrous effect on Mr. Lynn's waistline and figure, things which a dancer has to watch with much care. He's 5 feet, seven inches tall and weighs something close to 135. We asked him how he kept down to that. He replied, "I eat starches, drink gooey milk shakes, eat raw peanuts, drink olive oil and have a banana now and then!"

COMING ATTRACTION

We've seen "Repple Depple," Sam Hirsch's comedy about life in a Replacement Depot overseas, and it is a tremendously funny experience. First of all, Sam knows what he's writing about. He was a Replacement Depot officer during the war and passed through a number of such outfits. His play, which opens tonight at 7:30, is free to everyone, and it will be well worth your while to come out and have a look.

It is the first student written, full-length comedy the Playmakers have done in a long, long time. And although Sam wrote it in something like five days, it has good action, some very funny situations, and at least three superb comedians: Dave Samples, Joe Borello and Michael Pochna.

We are also happy to report that Mr. Hirsch has just been appointed Assistant Professor in the Department of Drama at the University of Miami, where Fred Koch, Jr., is Chairman of the theater division of the school. Sam will also return to Manteo in "The Lost Colony," this season, playing the role of Father Martin. This is his first season down there in nine years, although he originated several roles in the famous Paul Green drama.

On the Political Front

By Charles McCorkle

LEGISLATURE — The Seventh Student Legislature since the ratification of the constitution will come into its own tonight when it convenes in its first regular session of the year.

The fireworks are liable to be few and far between. The Student Party will nominate and cast its votes for a protest slate for Legislature offices, but the University Party-Campus Party coalition will elect just exactly whom they please.

Tonight's election results, as predicted by this corner: Herb Mitchell (UP), speaker pro tempore; Charlie Foley (UP), Ways and Means Committee chairman; Marvin Lee (UP), Finance Committee; Jack Rock (CP), clerk; Ed Best (CP), parliamentarian; Al Winn (CP), Elections Committee; Bob Smith (CP), Rules Committee; Fletcher Harris (UP), sergeant-a t-arms.

It's rather hard to tell about Coed Affairs, but you can stake your last beer on it that it will be a UP coed. The Legislature representatives to the Carolina Forum and Graham Memorial Board of Directors are still in the mill, but it's probable that the UP and CP will split them.

ELECTIONS—Department of Clarification: For the anonymous student who wrote the letter to the editor in yesterday's Daily Tar Heel on elections of legislators, let's try to straighten this thing out.

The student constitution, which was ratified in the spring of 1946, says that the Legislature shall be composed of 50 students. Half of them will be elected (for one-year terms) in spring elections and the other half (also for one-year terms) in the fall elections. No six-month terms are provided for in the Legislature. But here is where they come from:

If a man is elected in the spring for one year in the Legislature, and either drops out of the Legislature or drops out of school before the December elections following roll around, then the seat he held still runs until the next spring, and is vacant until someone else is elected to it (for a year) in the next spring elections.

But since that man dropped out before December election his seat is up for temporary election that December, but the person elected to it only serves until spring, or six months since that is when the seat regularly expires.

If the gentleman who wrote the letter had just asked somebody in student government instead of trying to figure it out for himself for two years he might not have written such an asinine letter in the first place. And by the way, as we pointed out above, the constitution is only three years old. It was not adopted in 1946 the letter-writer seems to think.

Our informants tell us that the gentleman who wrote the letter, although we shall leave him anonymous, served a six-month term in the Legislature himself. And during his term of service, we understand, the very election laws he discussed were passed! How observant some of our representatives are!

CAMPUS CHEST — The news pages tell us that a bill will be introduced in tonight's Legislature to establish the long-awaited Campus Chest, patterned after the national Community Chest drive.

The one-drive-a-year Campus Chest program would mean that students would not be bothered with having different agencies and organizations bother them two and three times per quarter asking for funds. But in one fell swoop students would be asked to donate probably one dollar each, and then would be pestered no more throughout the school year.

A move seems to be underway, however, to set up the Campus Chest with a drive for funds each quarter. We, at this time, cannot figure out why the proponents of such a move are trying to defeat the purpose of the entire plan. The Campus Chest is one of the most worthwhile suggestions to near reality that has turned up in some time. We hope that the persons trying to defeat it through the quarterly-collection move will realize its worth and stop performing a disservice to the student body.

Open Letter To Freistadt

Dear Mr. Freistadt:

I resent you!

My position at the University and the modern system of police courts forbid me to do anything about it, but please take my word for it!—I am a foreigner myself, have even a very slight trace of an accent, (when I say "Hamburger" the boy across the counter at Lenoir Hall always seems to understand "Christmas") and I utterly despise the necessity of demonstrating to all and sundry that I am neither a crackpot nor a communist nor propose to spend the rest of my life in shooting my big trap about the place instead of doing a decent day's work. And it is due to you, Hans, to you and your likes, that foreigners and new immigrants have acquired that reputation.—

You have come to this country just like I have,—NOT in answer to the public clamor of a popular movement to "bring Hans Freistadt and with him salvation to our shores," but, making use of a hospitable country, you exchanged a bleak future for a brighter one. The proper reaction is, of course, . . . There I go! Completely forgetting that a real, honest to God communist just despises those stupid capitalist notions of "gratitude" and "Good manners!"

Millions of people have come to this country in the last three decades: They like it here, the freedom, the open way to success, the free and easy human relations. They work and build their own little lives and, doing so, they make this country better and richer and stronger, and in time of stress most of them will be loyal to its cause. But you do not think so. You believe this system is inefficient, oppressive, and exploiting, and you don't like it. So, why don't you get the hell out of it? Nobody will stop you, I am being assured. Above Leningrad the red banners are waving in the breeze, they beckon to you. Why don't you follow their call? I shall gladly take up a collection for the fare.

They tell me, Hans, that you are an excellent student in physics. That requires brains. But then I read your infantile mouthings like ". . . the master in Wall Street. . . .," etc., that cheap stock in trade of the backalley agitators, and I see you offer for sale "The Worker" which has certainly established a new low as far as taste and appeal to base is concerned,—and all of that makes me wonder: "How can a person be smart in one respect and so pitifully wet in another?" Of course there are two possible explanations: First, it may be worth your while to be the local drip of the Communist Party, but I do not like to insinuate anything without proof, so let us forget about it.

Secondly, and this could be easily true, you may be one of these cases of maladjustment to the environment, about which the psychologists keep telling us, and as such, I believe, you rather deserve our sympathy than our scorn. Maybe some expert treatment by a good clinical psychologist will bring you on the way of viewing life like a normal person. If you object to that, why not use some effective home-cure; an occasional bottle of Kentucky Bourbon, straight, and a dumb blonde with the curves at the right places; even a brunette without curves would give SOME relief: But if you cannot find cure and solace, why go on inflicting the miserable by-products of your trouble on us, why not suffer alone with the fortitude and—SILENCE?

Now please don't tell me not to discuss persons, but present arguments. You want me to take you seriously? But that, my dear fellow, is the very last thing I intend to do: Anybody who quotes Marx in order to defend today's Soviet Union and Communist Party manifestly does not deserve to be taken seriously.

Just one more statement of fact: this is the first letter I have ever sent to the press and—in this matter also certainly my last one.

Franz E. Ross

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MUSIC REVIEWS

Editor:

My husband and I have been out of town for several days and we missed the Spring Glee Club concert which was held Thursday night. However, we did see "Wink" Locklair's review of it and he certainly did a fine job of reviewing it.

I've read the Tar Heel off and on for about 10 years and I can't remember the paper having a consistent music review for the student concerts and programs. I've noticed that Mr. Locklair has been to almost all of the programs this winter. He should be congratulated for doing such good writing and reporting.

Mrs. S. J. Holmes

WON'T JOIN '52-20'

Editor:

I can readily agree with Mr. Evans that a man should not have to suffer privation for being unable to find work, nor should he be forced to the humiliation of begging. The '52-20' club, however, is developing a false set of ideas. Today, many men consider that they should enjoy unemployment benefits so long as there is no opening in their special field or skill. To accept another job would be beneath the dignity of labor. If everyone felt that idleness was more dignified than unskilled labor, the wheels of industry would not turn long.

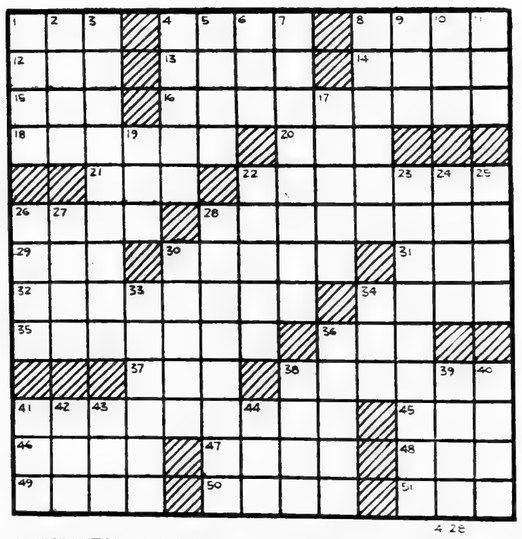
I won't join the '52-20' club as long as I am offered a job in honest employment even if it is to cover the campus with a pointed stick, picking up the cigar wrappers of the '52-20' club.

Jack Moore

Trivia and Tripe

On Ten Cent Beer

By Bob Sturdivant



This school year will probably live long in the memories of those of us who are fortunate enough to live through the beach weekends and Hogan's lake parties. Not only were coke machines installed in the dorms, but Teddy the Danziger came through with that little gem, ten cent beer.

At first this move was greeted with wild enthusiasm by all concerned, but lately mutterings of discontent have been heard from certain groups and individuals. They are not objecting to the hours the redeemers chose to sell their prize package.

Take the athletic department, for instance; down there they're saying: "How does de bums expect us to field a winning base ball team when de bums won't come out and cheer. De bums!"

That's what one group thinks about the idea of cocktail hour beer. Over in psychology Dr. "fess 'em, don't repress 'em" Jones is sputtering into his maze over the same problem. "Our four to six labs are completely devoid of personalities and our cute little white rats are bored nearly to tears. Come home, boys, come home."

A well-known campus figure speaking for a very conservative group of students, had the following to say: "I should like to take this great occasion to inject a note of solemnity into the rejoicing. This ten cent beer in the afternoon is upsetting our entire drinking schedule. And since we more or less live by our drinking schedule, it is playing havoc with our entire day.

HORIZONTAL
1. dry, as wine
4. town in Italy
8. capable
12. epoch
13. slender
14. authentic
15. S-shaped worm
16. providers
18. bother
20. three-toed sloths
21. river island
22. fastened firmly
26. pecuniary penalty
28. steep in oil-vinegar mixture
29. also
30. rescued
31. large serpent
32. crazed
34. reserve store
35. adds zest to
36. trouble
37. prefix: before
38. marshals
41. forgiving
45. game of marbles
46. god of love
47. individual: comb. form
48. note in Guido's scale
49. Italian noble family
50. young horse
51. lair

VERTICAL
1. ooze
2. Gaelic
3. daughter of Priam
4. piece of property
5. stigma
6. tilt
7. weakened
8. ascended
9. insect
10. Etruscan god
11. street railways (abbr.)
17. ashy-pale
19. cravat
22. rants
23. listed
24. type of collar
25. lifeless
26. passing fancies
27. Indian arrow poison
28. pertaining to mesmerism
30. explosive nasal sound
33. reach for
34. evergreen tree
36. thieves jargon
38. dye indigo
39. American University
40. graceful water fowl
41. Scottish explorer
42. printer's measures
43. pithy saying
44. artificial language

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 23 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Tar Heels Meet State In Big Four Clash

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

The Ward Heeler

MR. HARVIE WARD, who specializes in good golf shots and winning smiles, found himself without enough of the former to go around twice in a day in Pinehurst last Saturday, and had to depend greatly on the smiles in his attempt to recapture the North and South Amateur golf crown from one Frank Stranahan and the Sand Hills links crowd to boot. The gallery he had little trouble with, but Mr. Muscles was slightly more elusive, slipping in ahead of the Tar Heel ace by a figure of 2 and 1, but not until Ward had Champion Sparkplugs everywhere turning over in their pistons.

The truth of the matter, as Stranahan very graciously conceded later, was that the match had really been a foursome, with Lady Luck teaming with the Barbelled Man from Toledo, while young Harvie was paired with his famed and well-named bag bearer, Barney Google. This is no reflection upon Barney; 'twood be a caddy thing to say that he was anything but the best bag toter this side of Grand Central. But Mr. Google just couldn't make the ball goo goo into and in the direction of—ye ole hole—the way Madame Luck did for Stranahan.

Mr. Stranahan had and made the most of the breaks. Mr. Ward didn't have them, and consequently, made the most of not having them. But incidents such as the one that occurred on the 10th hole of the afternoon round sometime prove to be obstacles a little bigger than a man with only fourteen golf clubs can surmount.

The End in Sight

THE HOLE IN QUESTION is a long par five, and when the merry twosome and their following reach it at the time in question, Ward found himself, not to his amazement, two holes to the rear with only nine more to play. Both golfers drove the middle of the fairway, but Stranahan, playing an eye for an eye golf, drove his second shot with a wood into the woods. His lie for his third shot made him wish he had never heard of the long-leaf pines; he was smacked dab behind about seven of them.

Well, to make a long hole short, the muscular one played the ball out with a hooking iron which came bouncing over the green and toward the woods beyond. But in the path of the ball, and apparently wondering what she was doing there sat a lady. As far as Ward is concerned she is still sitting there right along with his chances of victory, for the ball hit the madam right smack where she shouldn't have been sitting. That proved the end of it all if you were a Ward fan, as Mr. Frank, sir, went on to halve the hole and keep Ward two to the rear.

That was the biggest of what went against the Tar Heel golfer. In addition, he had putts stop just short of the hole, just above, just below, all around it. It just wasn't his day, but you would have never known it from the smile that stayed on Mr. W.'s face. It was still just a game to him, which he would be playing for a long, long time.

The Family Ties

THE GALLERY WAS as partisan as possible considering there were five members of the Stranahan family and three members of the Duke golf team on hand. Ward was continually making better friends than golf shots and if there had been a match for personality, the Tarboro lad would have closed it out about 13 and 11. It was a brilliant show of competitive spirit that even scrambled the usually hard-boiled Stranahan into saying, "It's easy to be a good competitor when the breaks are with you. It's hard to be one when the breaks go against you. Harvie Ward was a great competitor here today."

From the lips of one who has had a lot of rash things to say about a lot of things, that was a well-spoken mouthful. It proved both that Ward was not too good for words; and that Mr. S. had probably had begun reading "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

As he had in most of the places in which he performed, Harvie Ward left a large group of visibly impressed people in Pinehurst. Those who knew and were willing to inform you of that fact, began talking about the Tar Heel in terms of Walker Cup team and National Amateur Championship. They had liked the manner in which he shook the supposedly seasoned Stranahan in the morning round. And they liked the way he had accepted, when it became evident, his defeat, in the true spirit of the game. For their money, he remained until the end—the champ.

Tar Baby Tracksters Lose

DURHAM, April 27—Duke University's freshman track team defeated the University of North Carolina's visiting Tar Babies, 76-55, here this afternoon.

The Blue Devil yearlings captured twelve firsts places in defeating the Carolina frosh. Poss paced the winners by taking three first places.

White scored ten points to lead the visitors.

The summary:

100-yard dash—1. Poss (D), 2. Winslow (UNC), 3. Richie (D). Time—10.3.

220-yard dash 1. Poss (D), 2. Brigham (UNC), 3. Winslow (UNC). Time—22.6.

440-yard dash—1. Brigham (UNC), 2. Solaski (UNC), 3. Loub (D). Time—51.8.

880-yard run—1. Salazar (D), 2. Williams (UNC), 3. Bielawski (UNC). Time—2:09.5.

Mile run—1. Hamrich (UNC), 2. Kulpan (D), 3. Thurber (UNC). Time—4:43.3.

Two-mile run—1. Tomlinson (D), 2. Hamrich (UNC), 3. Spangler (D). Time—10:12.

120-yard high hurdles—1. McDonald (D), 2. White (UNC), 3. Nichols (D). Time—16.1.

220-yard low hurdles—1. McDonald (D), 2. White (UNC), 3. Nichols (D). Time—25.9.

High jump—1. Nichols (D), 2. Winsor (UNC), 3. Tie between Lassiter (D) and Henderson (D). Height—6 ft.

Broad jump—1. Poss (D), 2. Nichols (D), 3. White (UNC). Distance—21 ft. 10 1-2 in.

Pole vault—1. Nichols (D), 2. White (UNC), 3. Weidlech (D). Distance—12 ft.

Shot put—1. Earon (D), 2. O'Brien (UNC), 3. Galifianakis (UNC). Distance—38 ft. 2 in.

Discus throw—1. Councill (UNC), 2. Earon (D), 3. Schneider (UNC). Distance—112 ft. 7 in.

Javelin throw—1. Earon (D), 2. Smitherman (UNC), 3. Foy (UNC). Distance—148 ft.

Mile relay—1. Duke (Salazar, Fulmer, Kulpan, Loub). Time—3:37.

HAVE YOU PARTIED WITH US?

Then you don't know what a good time you are missing at the

MERCURY CLUB

For your Spring Parties we have plenty of Dancing Space, Parking Space, and Special Rates

OPEN 7 P.M. — 'TIL

Mercury Club

Your only Night Spot operated by Students for Students

3 Miles out on Greensboro Highway

Andy Tranavitch To Hurl Today; Frosh at State

North Carolina State's Wolfpack will provide the opposition and Carolina's Tar Heels will attempt to provide themselves and the local fans with Big Four win number three and undisputed possession of second place in the loop standings this afternoon at Emerson Stadium at 4 o'clock when the two Greater University teams tangle for the second time in less than a week.

Wake Forest's win over the Raleigh club yesterday dropped the Wolfpack into a tie with the Tar Heels for second place in Big Four standings. A victory for either team today will move that team into second place by a full game.

The hard-hitting State nine handed the locals a 10-6 setback in Raleigh Saturday, but the Tar Heels can be expected to do all in their power to turn the tables today.

Carolina coaches Bunn Hearn and Walter Rabb will send Andy Tranavitch to the mound this afternoon. Tranavitch a right hander with a good fast ball, has turned in several good performances for the Tar Heels on the hill thus far this season.

Ace righthander Ernie Johnson is expected to hurl for State.

While their varsity brothers are playing host to the Wolfpack at Emerson, the local frosh nine will invade Raleigh for a tilt with the State frosh nine. The ungeaten Tar Babies have four wins to their credit, including a 4-0 decision over State.

—JOE CHERRY

Mural Roundup

COED SOFTBALL

All Coed softball games rained out yesterday afternoon will be played this afternoon instead. Tri Delt meets Alderman while AD Pi faces Chi O 2 beginning at 4 o'clock.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00 — Field 1, ZBT vs PiKA 2; 2, Chi Psi 1 vs Phi Delt 2; 3, Kappa Sig 1 vs Sig Chi 2; 4, TEP 2 vs Phi Delt 3; 5, TEP 1 vs Delta Sig; 6, Lamb Chi 1 vs Zeta 1; 2, Pi Kappa Phi 2 vs KA 2; 8, DKE 2 vs Sig Chi 3.

5:00—Field 1, Whitehead vs Atoms; 2, Pi Lamb 1 vs Kap Sig 2; 3, DKE 1 vs Zeta 2; 4, Chi Phi 2 vs Phi Gam 1; 5, Sig Eps vs Phi Gam 3; 6, Kappa Psi 1 vs Phi Delt 1; 7, TEP 2 vs Kappa Psi 2.

TENNIS SCHEDULE

4:00—Courts 1-3: Old East vs Emerson 1; courts 4-6: Steele 1 vs Law School. 5:00, courts 1-3: Emerson 3 vs Town 3; courts 4-6: Emerson 2 vs Med Sch.

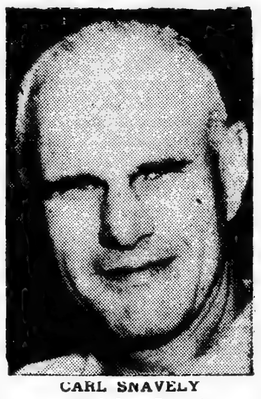
Colonial House System
DELICIOUS
Swift Premium
"FRANKS"
Grilled 15c
OPEN
Mon.-Thurs. 11 A.M.-12 P.M.
Fri. & Sat. 11 A.M.-2 A.M.

AUTO PARTS
New . Used . Rebuilt
Open Saturday Afternoon
And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

Freshmen Versus Upperclassmen In Annual Blue-White Grid Classic

By Jake Wade

It will be the freshmen against the upper classmen in the annual Blue-White squad football game in Kenan Stadium here Saturday at 2 p.m.



Coach Carl Snavely made this announcement yesterday and listed the players for the two teams. At the same time he assigned coaches for the two teams. He, himself, will be strictly neutral and will watch the regulation game from a seat high in the stadium.

Crowell Little, head freshman coach, will carry on as head man of the men he tutored to an undefeated season in the freshman league last fall.

Russ Murphy, varsity backfield coach, will have charge of the upper classmen.

Assisting Little will be Jim Gill, Walt Pupa, George Radman, George Sparger, Emmett Cheek and Bill Crutchfield. Serving on Murphy's staff will be Marvin Bass, Jim Camp, Kelly Mote, George Roberts and Don Hartig.

While the old hands, headed by All-American Charlie and Art Weiner, will be favorites, the freshmen will be deeper in reserve strength and may field the strongest line. In tackles Bill Kunn and Julian King and guard Joe Dudeck and Dick Bestwick, the yearlings have four promising forwards who are in line for varsity berths next fall.

CARL SNAVELY
. . . can't lose Saturday

The frosh, to be known as the "Whites," will look to Dick Wiess, 185-pound fullback, and Skeet Hesmer, 170-pound tailback, for much of their attack. Bill O'Brien and Joe McIntyre will be pass catching ends. Dalton Ruffin, freshman blocking back, is another who rates high on the squad.

The upper classmen "Blues" likely will have difficulty moving the ball with a running attack but will be primed for passing. In addition to Justice, they have Billy Hayes and Dick Bunting as tossers. Kenny Powell will alternate with Weiner as the number one receiver.

Several players, including end Ed Washington, guard Bill Wardle and wingback Johnny Clements are on the injured list and will see little, if any action. End Bob Cox, a member of the golf team, has not been out for spring practice.

The Blue-White game will be a feature of "North Carolina High School Day." Ten thousand or more high school students and teachers have been invited here that day as guests of the Monogram Club and Athletic Association. A track meet between Carolina and N. C. State at 11 a.m. and a baseball game between Carolina and Wake Forest at 4 p.m. are other sports attractions scheduled for the festival.

Deacs Blank State

RALEIGH, April 27—Wake Forest's Demon Deacons strengthened their grip on first place in the Big Four with a 1-0 shutout victory over N. C. State here this afternoon.

Lefty Moe Bauer hurled five-hit ball in pacing the Deacs to their sixteenth straight win. ing Page.

The score by innings:

Wake Forest	000	000	010	1	6	0
State	000	000	000	0	5	1

Bauer and Batchelor; Page and Fowler.

PLANNING A WEEKEND at the BEACH THIS SPRING?

Wrightsville Beach has become a popular weekend spot for COLLEGE STUDENTS

We offer ideal accomodations for HOUSE PARTIES or any size group with our 16 Apartments and large 12 bedroom house. We can offer housekeeping facilities or hotel accomodations.

CALL, WIRE or WRITE
ALLEN BARBEE
Spring Hope, N. C. or Wrightsville Beach
on weekends

Also
PLUTO CARTOON
TODAY
VILLAGE

Rest to Run State

Seven Tracksters to Run Philly; Hurdle Relayers Seek Record

A seven-man delegation will leave here tonight for Philadelphia to represent Carolina in the 55th annual running of the University of Pennsylvania Relays on Friday and Saturday.

Heading the Carolina entries will be the sensational Tar Heel shuttle hurdle relay team of Bill Albans, Dick Taylor, Bob Morrow and Jack Moody. Other Tar Heel competitors will be weight man Bob Seligman, two-miler Sam Magill and javelin tosser Bob Kirk.

The Carolina hurdle foursome is predicted to set a new mark for the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay. The record for the four-flight high hurdle stint at Philly is 1:01.4 and the Carolina team did an easy 1:01.5 without competition at the Carolina Relays in early April and have improved greatly since then.

Seligman, who has been winning honor upon honor with his discus and shot put prowess, will definitely toss the platter on Friday, but is not sure whether he will flip the shot on Saturday. Bob has been throwing the discus around 155 feet in practice and should give a good account of himself in that event.

Kirk, the present holder of the University javelin record by virtue of his toss of better than 195 feet in the Princeton meet is also expected to show up well for Carolina. Magill, who ran the two miles in 9:38 against Princeton will be entered in a very fast field and should be near the top of the list of finishers.

The remainder of the Carolina tracksters will reman in Chapel Hill for a dual meet with N. C. State here at 11 o'clock Saturday morning as part of the Blue-White program. ALLSTON.

Today's Sports

Baseball

Varsity baseball—Carolina vs N. C. State at Emerson Stadium at 4 o'clock. Passbooks required for admittance.
Freshman baseball—Carolina vs N.C. State at Raleigh.

Practice Sessions

Daily practice sessions continue in football, track, lacrosse, soccer, tennis, golf and basketball.

ALL KINDS 24 HOUR SERVICE
Radio Repairs
Ogburn Furn. Co.

MAJOR League Results

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

American League

Cleveland 11, Chicago 3
Boston 10, Philadelphia 6
St. Louis 4, Detroit 3
New York at Washington, (N)

National League

Chicago 8, Cincinnati 3
New York 11, Brooklyn 8
Boston 2, Philadelphia 0

TODAY'S GAMES

American League

St. Louis (Garver 1-1) at Detroit (Gray 0-0)
New York (Sanford 0-0) at Washington (Haefner 0-1)
Philadelphia (Fowler 1-1) at Boston (Harris 0-0)

National League

Brooklyn (Branca 2-0) at New York (Jones 1-1)
Boston (Bickford 1-1) at Philadelphia (Heintzelman 2-0)
Cincinnati (Raffensberger 1-1) at Chicago (Dubiel 0-0)

Track Co-Captains

High jumper Bill Joyner and distance runner Julian MacKinzie were elected co-captains of Carolina's varsity track team at a meeting held yesterday.

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

YOU ASKED FOR IT — HERE IT IS:

10¢ 8 oz. Stein Ballantines Premium Draft BEER

During Cocktail Hour 4-6 P.M. ONLY

½ KEGS. $19.00—(3 or more) $20.00—(1 at a time)

RAMSHEAD RATHSKELLER

"Hit a homer"
"Play it smart"
be
"On the ball"

You'll stand up and cheer after a meal from the

UNIVERSITY RESTAURANT

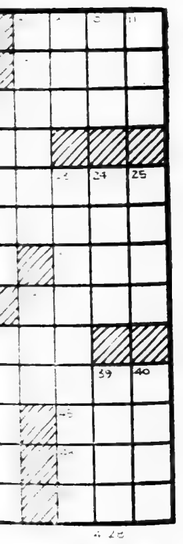
CAROLINA

Thursday
Wonderful NEW production of America's best-loved story!

EVERYBODY LOVES THE "LITTLE WOMEN"
...and
THEY LOVE THE BOY NEXT DOOR!

"Little Women"
TECHNICOLOR
STARRING
JUNE ALLYSON · PETER LAWFORD
AS JO AS LAURIE
Margaret O'BRIEN · Elizabeth TAYLOR
AS BETH AS AMY
JANET LEIGH · MARY ASTOR
AS MEG AS MARMEE
ROSSANO BRAZZI AS PROF. BHAER
A MERVYN LeROY PRODUCTION
An M-G-M Picture

Also
Latest News



L'il Abner — AL CAPP

It's HARRY'S eventually — Why not now —

Steve Canyon — MILTON CANIFF

17 ashy-pale
19 cravat
22 rants
23 hated
24 type of collar
25 lifeless
26 passing fancies
27 Indian arrow poison
28 pertaining to mesmerism
30 explosive nasal sound
33 reach for
34 evergreen tree
36 thieves jargon
38 dye indigo
39 American University
40 graceful water fowl
41 Scottish explorer
42 printer's measures
43 pithy saying
44 artificial language

Tau Epsilon Phi Will Celebrate 25th Anniversity This Weekend

CHAPEL HILL, April 28—The Omega chapter of Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity at the University will celebrate its 25th anniversary with a houseparty here this weekend.

Highlight of the celebration will be a formal dance Saturday night at the Carolina Inn with music by Chic Burroughs and his orchestra. Awards will be presented at this time, including the Sidney P. Brooks Memorial Scholarship cup, the Bernstein Award to the outstanding intramural athlete in the fraternity, and the Rip Rosenstock trophy to the senior who has contributed most to the chapter during his four years at Carolina.

Other events during the weekend include a hayride Friday night and attendance at the Blue-White football game in Kenan Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Sponsors for the dance and their escorts are Miss Edith Sutker, Greensboro, with Gene Heiman, Miami Beach, Fla., chancellor of the fraternity; Miss Jean Robinson, Hamlet, with Ervin Bear, Dunn, vice - chancellor; Miss Carol Comander, Miami, with Ellis Levinson, Gastonia, bursar; Miss Trudy Gross, Baltimore, with Ted Adler, Norfolk, Va., scribe; Miss Shirley Nachman, Newport News, with Howard Lieber, Gastonia, houseparty chairman; and Miss Joan Wallace with Marvin Nathan, Norfolk, pledgemaster.

Pledges and their dates are: Sandy Siegel, Baltimore, with Miss Joan Levine, Long Island, N. Y.; Mort Glasser, Norfolk, with Miss Bobbie Goldstein, Newport News; Bobby Evans, Durham, with Miss Carl Litch, Greensboro; Irving Sawitz, Hamlet, with Miss Jo Ann Weiss, Miami; Aubrey Bronstein, Kinston, with Miss Ann Samuels, Newport News; Art Macklin, Smithfield, with Miss Harriet Aronow, Newport News; Harold Mandel, New York, with Miss Elaine Jacobs, Richmond; Sol Kimberling, Birmingham, with Miss Lois Fleishman, Fayetteville. Other pledges are Roy Buckman, Miami; Al Orinager, New Bern, and Bill Schwartz, Newport News.

Chemistry Group Holds Supper; Elects Officers

Under the direction of their newly elected president, Carolina Eutsler, members of the Theta Psi Epsilon honorary chemistry sorority will begin a new type of social tomorrow. They will entertain dates and guests with a laboratory supper at which they will prepare the meal with equipment in the laboratory.

Coffee will be fixed in Buckmer funnels, and Hamburgers in crucible lids.

Other newly elected officers, installed in a recent meeting are: Carrie Dixon, vice - president; Jean Miller, secretary; Barbara Crawford, treasurer; Lillian Dillar, historian; Jo Ann Carpenter, social chairman.

Theta Psi Epsilon, organized in 1945, is an honorary sorority for University coeds, majoring in chemistry and having an average of C or above.

Guests at the laboratory supper will be Dr. S. B. Knight, sorority advisor, and Dr. R. W. Bost, head of the chemistry department, and Mrs. Bost.

Annual May Day Program to be Presented Soon

The annual May Day festivities, which will feature the crowning of the May Queen, the presentation of her court, modern dancing, and a pageant, will be presented May 22 at 3:30 in the Arboretum, Ruth Whalen, chairman of the May Day committee announced yesterday. Theme of the 1949 May Day programs will be Alice-in-Wonderland, Miss Whalen said.

The pageant, directed by Miss Betty Dors, instructor in the physical education department, will feature pantomine and modern dancing by outstanding members of the modern dancing classes. Script for the pageant was written by members of the Chi Delta Phi honorary literary society.

The May Day festivities are jointly sponsored by the Carolina Independent Coed Association, the Pan Hellenic Council, and the Chi Delta Phi society.

Show to Feature Hillbilly Music

A free-for-all square dance with demonstrations by the Greenward Square Dance Team will highlight the entertainment at the Rendezvous Room tomorrow night, beginning at 8:30 o'clock. Ed Norward and the Carolina Hillbillies will furnish music, while the square dancers demonstrate such dance figures as the Shu Fly Swing, the Georgia Rang Tang, Open and Close the Garden Gates, Ocean Wave and others.

The Greenward Square Dance Team, which will be featured at the Burlington Centennial Festival May 11 and at the Carolina Folk Festival June 9, 10, 11, is composed of eight couples from Western North Carolina. Manager of the group is Arnold Wilson of Asheville.

To tie in with the hillbilly theme, the weekly Rendezvous Room broadcast over WDUK will feature the singing of Jeanne Duke, wife of a University student. Mrs. Duke, who has sung hillbilly songs on the radio with her sister from the age of six, will sing "authentic songs and not corn," according to Lib Stoney, entertainment director of Graham Memorial.

Round dancing to the music of the Town Talk Trio will be held between each set of square dancing.

-Polgar-

(Continued from Page 1)

Polgar gave the subjects a chance to try them out. The results kept the house in hysterics.

Dover Moore, better known as Dodo to the audience, tried the glasses on first and after being slightly surprised, thoroughly enjoyed observing the coeds on stage. Then Dodo accidently looked at himself and made a quick dive for the nearest curtain where he hid himself until the glasses were removed.

Bill Duncan, the next one, looked at himself first and immediately headed out the side door of the hall before he was stopped.

Russell Johnson made practical use of them, however, and after carefully looking the girls over, moved over to Anne Carlton and began an acquaintance which was quickly ended when the glasses were removed again.

After mentally nailing the subjects to the floor, the doctor ended the show by shaking hands with the hypnotized students. They all shook with their left hands under his mental orders before he released them.

Square Dance To Be In Tin Can Saturday

"Swing your partner" on down to the "Tin Can" tomorrow night at 8:30 for a bit of square dancing, and if you don't have a partner already, dash on down and find one. Judging from the turnout for the last such affair, held April 1, it will be no trouble at all to find friends and to join in the fun.

Square dancing will of course be featured but for those who have not yet mastered the "technique," there will also be regular, or "round" dancing. Four University students will call the dances and music will be furnished by the Chatham Ramblers, a hillbilly band composed of four employees of Woollen gymnasium. These Ramblers are: Harris Mitchum, Seaborne Mitchum, A. G. Wilson, and Hyden Clark.

Name tags will be provided at the doors to make introductions easier, and more meaningful, and for the more formal-minded there will be hostesses, chosen from among the coeds who will aid in making introductions.

The Montreat Social Commission, which is sponsoring the Square dances to meet the demand for campus-wide entertainments and "get acquainted" programs, began the plans for this dance after the first one proved to be a success, and will continue to sponsor such parties as long as the demand exists.

Members Elected For Next Year's Vestry Services

The Vestry of the Episcopal Church for next year was elected at the Vestry meeting Sunday night.

Those elected to the Vestry are: John Denham, Kerry Holmes, Joel Bourne, Preston Wescoat, Wally Vreeland, Ruth Whalen, Pat Sullivan, Edith Winslow, and Herman Bryson.

The election was preceded by a report by Rodney Glascow on the function of the Vestry, which is the co-ordinating body of Episcopal students on campus. Sponsorship of the Canterbury Club is the main function of this group but they are also in charge of the Pledge campaign which is conducted on campus in the fall, and of the program to welcome new Episcopal students to the University.

Among the other student activities which the Vestry is sponsoring are the Pre-Ministerial Study Group, which was organized at the beginning of the Winter quarter, and the recently started Student Sunday School class which meets at 9:30. New activities and plans for next year's program will be discussed next Monday night at 9 o'clock at the Parish House when the old and new members of the Vestry will meet.

Eleven Pledged By Lambda Chi's

The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity pledged eleven men students last night, bringing the chapter membership to 77.

Those men pledged are: James G. Austin, Marshville; Joe L. Clark, Raleigh; Guy C. Evans, Jr., Greenville; George D. Hankins, Shelby; Richard F. Hunt, Jr., Rocky Mount; Ernest J. McFetters, Greensboro; Fred G. Richardson, Durham; Robert L. Sturdivant, Cary; and James A. Sutton, Wilmington.

DRIVE-IN THEATRE
THURS & FRIDAY
FOUR FEATHERS
In Color
With
Ralph Richardson
C. Aubrey Smith
Also
Selected Shorts
75c Per Car
Shows at 7:15 & 9:15

Durham Optical Co
215 W. MAIN ST.
TEL. 5 2141
OPTICIANS

LEAVING THE CHAPEL HILL TERMINAL
At 3:20 P.M. and 12:20 A.M. for
BURLINGTON, GREENSBORO, HIGH POINT, SALISBURY, STATESVILLE, HICKORY, MORGANTON, MARION, and ASHEVILLE. Connections at Asheville for CHATTANOOGA, KNOXVILLE, NASHVILLE, and MEMPHIS.
Also—9 additional trips WEST
EXPRESS for RALEIGH, ROCKY MOUNT, SUFFOLK and NORFOLK leaves daily at 1:30 P.M.
Also—9 other trips EAST.
Chapel Hill Bus Station
PHONE 4231
TRAILWAYS

Who are America's Most Succesful YOUNG Men?

In anybody's book, one of them is hustling, strapping Charles H. (Chuck) Percy. Said TIME early this year:

Ever since he was an undergraduate at the University of Chicago, Charles H. Percy has been a young businessman in a hurry. To work his way through college (his banker father had gone broke in the depression), Chuck Percy ran a wholesale business supplying the university's fraternities with food, coal, furniture and linen. He also held two other jobs, and captained the rough, tough water polo team. In the summer vacation of 1937 he took a job at $12 a week in Chicago's Bell & Howell Co. (cameras). For the next 11½ years he was in & out of Bell & Howell, but was seldom out of the mind of its president, Joe H. McNabb.

It was McNabb who persuaded Chuck Percy to work for Bell & Howell on weekends and vacations, and gave him a full-time job when he graduated from Chicago in 1941. He was put in charge of a new department to handle defense contracts. The contracts rolled in so fast that six months later, when Percy was 21, he was in charge of the major part of Bell & Howell's business. Just before he joined the Navy as a seaman, McNabb made him assistant secretary and a company director.

New Theme. Stationed on the West Coast, Percy spent his spare time studying West Coast industries and the causes of strikes. His reports so impressed McNabb that when Chuck Percy was discharged (as lieutenant), he became Bell & Howell's industrial relations and personnel director.

CHUCK PERCY
The reports were impressive.

Percy began to streamline Bell & Howell's management. In 18 months, he reduced the number of departments from 189 to 130, hopes to bring them down eventually to 88.

New Boss. This week, Percy got the go-ahead to finish the job—and in his own way. To succeed McNabb, who died last week, the directors chose him president. At 29, he is boss of a company that sold $18 million worth of motion-picture cameras and equipment last year, and earned a net profit of some $2,300,000.

TIME

Successful Businessman Charles Percy of Bell & Howell reads TIME each week—as do more than 1,500,000 other U. S. college graduates who find in TIME the news they can't afford to miss.

To enter your subscription to the Weekly Newsmagazine, see any of TIME'S representatives at Univ. of N. C. —Univ. Book Exchange—Herb Alexander, 7 Battle Dorm

Our Aim Is To Help You
A&P SUPER MARKETS
EAT BETTER-SPEND LESS
Check Your Pantry for these Favorites

Iona Sliced or Halves PEACHES - - - - No. 2½ Can 27c
Niblets Brand CORN - - - - - 2 12-Oz. Cans 35c
Iona Tomato JUICE - - - - 2 No. 2 Cans 19c
Perfect Strike Chum SALMON - - - - - No. 1 Can 45c
Golden Maid Uncolored MARGARINE - 2 1-Lb. Pkg. 43c
A&P GRAPE JUICE - - Pt. Bot. 19c
Iona Fine Flavor PEAS - - - - - 3 No. 2 Cans 29c
Mild American CHEESE - - - - - - Lb. 41c

A&P's Own Vegetable Shortening dexo 3-Lb. Can 83c
Nabisco Sugar Honey Graham 1-lb. Pkg. 28c
Oakite - - 10½-oz. Pkg. 13c
Daily Dog Food 3 No. 1 Cans 25c
Dixie Dew Syrup - - - No. 2½ Glass 33c
Sunnyfield Corn Flakes 8-oz. Pkg. 12c

ANN PAGE Foods
Ann Page Salad Dressing - Pt. Jar 29c
Ann Page Strawberry Preserves 1-lb. Jar 33c
Ann Page Gelatin Desserts Sparkle 3 Pkgs. 20c
Ann Page Creamy-Smooth Peanut Butter - - 16-oz. Jar 35c
Ann Page—With Pork & Tom. Sauce Beans - - - 16-oz. Can 10c

Swift Meats FOR BABIES Can 20c
FOR JUNIOR Can 29c
WHITE HOUSE EVAPORATED MILK 3 Tall Cans 35c

Libby CANNED MEATS
CORNED Beef Hash 16-Oz. Can 35c
Potted Meat 2 ½-Size Can 27c
Vienna Sausage ½-Size Can 19c
Deviled Ham ½-Size Can 18c
Lunch Tongue ½-Size Can 29c
SWIFT'S Prem 12-Oz. Can 43c

MEAT
Steaks
Round - - - - - lb. .75
Sirloin - - - - - lb. .75
Porterhouse - - - - lb. .85
Club - - - - - lb. .83
Roasts
Bone In Chuck - - - - lb. .49
Boneless Chuck - - - - lb. .59
Bone In Rib - - - - lb. .59
Boneless Rib - - - - lb. .69
Bone In Rump - - - - lb. .69
Boneless Rump - - - - lb. .75
Stews
Boneless Lean - - - - lb. .55
Short Ribs - - - - lb. .29
Brisket - - - - lb. .29
Table Dressed Fryers - - - - lb. .50
Fresh Ground Beef - - - - lb. .49

FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
Sunkist Lemons - - - 1 Doz. .39
Yellow Summer Squash - - - 2 Lb. .13
Winesap Apples - - - 3 Lb. .39
Fancy Carton Tomatoes - - - 2 Lb. .39
Green Top Carrots - - - 2 Bunches .15
Red Bliss Potatoes - - - 5 Lb. .33
Large Firm Lettuce - - - 2 For .25
Green Tender String Beans - - - 2 Lb. .25

A & P COFFEE
Mild and Mellow 8 O'clock 1-Lb. Bag 40c - 3 Lb. Bag $1.15
Rich and Full Bodied Red Circle 1-lb. Bag 44c
Vigorous and Winey Bokar 1-Lb. Bag 47c - 3 Lb. Bag $1.35
Jane Parker Sugared Donuts 1-Doz. Pkg. 19c
Marvel Bread Sandwich 1½-Lb. Loaf 18c
Jane Parker Golden Loaf Cake Each 25c

Super Suds Lge. Pkg. 28c
PALMOLIVE SOAP 2 Bath Bars 23c
DREFT Pkg. 28c
PALMOLIVE SOAP Reg. Bar 8c
LUX TOILET SOAP Reg. Bar 8c
OCTAGON SOAP Bar 7c
WESSON OIL - - - Pt. Can 33c
SNOWDRIFT - - - 1-Lb. Can 35c

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

WHY PLAY A PIANO THAT'S OUT of tune? Let me tune it for you. Reasonable rates. Call Tom P. Lee at 9336 between 2-5 p. m. (3-6718-1)

FOR RENT 6A

WILL LEASE DUPLEX APARTMENT for summer to responsible couple. Completely furnished except for linens. Contact J. P. Jones, Barclay Road, Airport Development or Box 321. (1-6719-1)

FOR SALE 6B

LARGE "COOLERATOR" ICE BOX IN excellent condition. Also 30 gallon hot water tank cheap. Contact J. P. Jones, Barclay Road, Airport Development or Box 321. (1-6719-1)

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

1937 CONVERTIBLE PLYMOUTH. New seat covers and top. Seal-beam lights. Heater. $250. Dick Taylor, Track Field House (Behind Woollen Gym)

1941 TUDOR FORD, GOOD CONDITION. Heater, $850 cash. Phone 4743 after 5 p. m. (1-6721-1)

WE HAVE SEVERAL GOOD USED cars. See us for a better buy. Strowd Motor Co., Ford dealers since 1914. Telephone F-444. (ch 1x1)

1947 BUICK SUPER FOUR DOOR sedan in good condition. Radio, heater. Price desired—$1490 cash. Phone F-400 J. A. Buckwalter, 116 Bagley Dr. (6-6716-1)

1937 CONVERTIBLE PLYMOUTH. NEW seat covers and top. Sealbeam lights, heater. $250. (2-6717-1)

1931 MODEL A FORD COUPE. WILL sell cheap. See or contact Tom Clayton, Chi Psi Lodge. Phone F-2951. (2-6714-1)

HELP WANTED 8

UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds, athletics, and other camp activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment, room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

LOST 12

A SILVER CIGARETTE LIGHTER with initials EA. Between Methodist Church and Smith Dorm. If found, please return to Y office. (2-6715-1)

Larger Loans on Anything of Value
DURHAM'S NEWEST AND BEST PAWN SHOP
MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Located 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-33-49

EDITORIALS

Party Weekend
Game Golf
Beat Students

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Cloudy and mild. Possible showers.

VOLUME LVII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. FRIDAY, APRIL 29, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 155

Rathburn Appointed Graham Memorial Head

Play Opens; To Be Given Again Tonight

Hirsch Army Play Has Big Audience

The first student-written, full-length comedy to be produced by the Carolina Playmakers in a number of years was given its first performance last night before a large audience in the Playmaker Theatre. A repeat performance will be given tonight at 7:30. Admission is free.

The play, "Repple Depple," by Sam Hirsch, University graduate student in dramatic art, is a farce concerned with the red tape and confusion in an Army Replacement Depot located somewhere in France in the summer of 1944. The leading role of Captain Spratt is played by David Samples, Passaic, N. J., and Joseph Borello, Brooklyn, N. Y. The play is being directed by W. P. Covington, III, Winston-Salem.

Mr. Hirsch knows first-hand about the things he has included in "Repple Depple," because he was an enlisted man and an officer for four years during World War II and passed through a number of such outfits in England and France.

He has had four of his plays produced by the Playmakers in the last three years, including comedy, drama and musical productions. Playwright Hirsch will also play the role of Father Martin during the summer run of "The Lost Colony" at Manteo.

Costumes for "Repple Depple" were designed by Marty Jacobs, Winston-Salem; lighting by Margie Cameron, Washington, D. C., and settings by Pete Strader, Sarasota, Fla.

This is the 130th series of experimental productions of new plays to be given in the University. Two other full-length shows have been given, in addition to bills of one-act plays. The final major Playmaker production of the year will be Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice," which will be given in the outdoor Forest Theatre May 20, 21, 22, directed by Kai Jurgensen.

Dr. Nash to Give Talks in Midwest In Coming Week

Dr. Arnold Nash, head of the University Department of Religion, will give addresses in six states in the mid-west during the coming week.

Beginning Sunday, he will speak on "Religion in State Universities" at a faculty conference at the University of Missouri. Monday and Tuesday, May 2 and 3, he will attend student conferences at the University of Oklahoma and discuss the same subject. On Thursday, May 5, he will address a student convocation at the University of South Dakota on "Polytheism of Contemporary Education." He will also address a faculty conference there.

Friday Dr. Nash will appear at a student conference and talk with various campus groups at the University of Hamline in Minnesota. He will also address the faculty on "Christian Thought in the University World Today."

He will attend a student luncheon at the University of Michigan on Saturday, May 7, and will preach the regular morning sermon at Western Academy in Cleveland, Ohio, Sunday, May 8.

TMA-TGA Picnic Planned for May 6

The Town Girls Association and the Town Men's Association picnic will be held on Friday, May 6 instead of as previously reported this Friday, Nelson Taylor said today.

The next TMA meeting will be on Thursday, May 5.

TROOPS OF THE DEFEATED Chinese Nationalist armies crowd into every available vehicle in an attempt to get out of Shanghai before being captured by Red soldiers. Capture of Kashing, south of Shanghai, trapped 300,000 government troops.

NSA Publication Clinic Will Open Here Today

Two-Day Meet to Include Panel Talks; Three-State Area Will Send Delegates

A two-day publications clinic, sponsored by the regional National Students Association, will open here today at noon, with some 45 students from colleges in a three-state area expected to attend.

The clinic will consist of panels covering all phases and types of campus publications. A visit to the Colonial Press to watch the publication of the Daily Tar Heel Friday, a social period Saturday night, and a summary meeting Sunday morning will round out the meet.

Newspaper clinics on editorials, newswriting, features, and sports writing will be led by Ed Joyner, Billy Carmichael III, and Dick Jenrette. Magazine discussion groups on layout, feature writing and humor will be conducted by Emily Sewell, Roy Moose, Tom Kerr and Tom Wharton. C. B. Mendenhall will help with panels on advertising, circulation, promotion, and ad layout. Panels on yearbook layout and deadline-meeting will also be held.

Colleges from West Virginia, Virginia and North Carolina will send delegates to the clinic. The clinic is part of the NSA's program of better acquainting colleges and universities with each other's methods and problems.

Truman Threatens House Democrats

WASHINGTON, April 28—(UP)—President Truman threatened today to withhold federal patronage from Democrats in the House who do not vote for Taft-Hartley law repeal and other Democratic platform planks.

Administration lieutenants immediately sat back to await the effect of the President's move, particularly on Southern Democrats with whom they have been seeking an acceptable compromise on new labor legislation.

Some Democratic leaders said privately that the administration cause may have suffered a severe jolt because of the quick resentment of some Southerners who appeared to be the chief target of Mr. Truman's move.

Reps. F. Edward Hebert (D.-La.) and John E. Rankin (D.-Miss.) publicly denounced the President's maneuver as an effort to buy votes with federal jobs. Rankin said he would not be "bluffed and will stand by my convictions." Both he and Hebert are opposed to repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

Square Dancers Will Demonstrate For GM Shindig

The Greenwood Square Dance team will provide the professional demonstrations for hillbilly dancers tonight in the Rendezvous Room. The festivities are scheduled to get under way at 8:30.

Ed Norwood and his Carolina Hillbillies will provide the music for the shindig. The dance team will demonstrate such figgers as the Shu Fly Swing, the Georgia Rang Tang, Open and Close the Garden Gates, Ocean Wave and others.

The Greenwood team, under the management of Arnold Wilson, will be featured at the Burlington Centennial Festival on May 11, and the Carolina Folk Festival on June 9-11. The team is composed of eight couples, all from western North Carolina.

Tying in with the hillbilly theme, the weekly Rendezvous Room broadcast over WDUK will feature the singing of Jeanne Duke, wife of a University student. Mrs. Duke will sing authentic folk songs. She has been a folk song singer since the age of six.

Round dancing will be held between each set of square dancing, with music by the Town Talk Trio.

Emphasis Group Will Be Named

Peter Burks, chairman of the Religious Emphasis Week Steering Committee, said yesterday that this committee for next year's Religious Emphasis week will be composed of two representatives from each religious organization on the campus.

With emphasis being placed on the interfaith nature of the week there will be three principal speakers, one each of the Catholic, Jewish, and Protestant religions. Several outstanding men in the field of religion are being considered as these principal speakers.

Burks said that the committee wants this week to be truly representative of the campus. He added that any ideas concerning speakers or otherwise about Religious Emphasis Week could be sent to him at the University YMCA.

Mitchell Chosen Speaker Pro Tem

Emily Sewell Appeals to Legislature Against Party-Line Voting, Coalitions

The Seventh Student Legislature elected University Party floor leader Herb Mitchell as speaker pro tempore last night, after the new legislators heard an appeal by Emily Sewell against party-line voting and legislative coalitions.

Mitchell defeated Student Party solon John Sanders for the pro tem post by a vote of 30 to 14, with the University and Campus Parties voting almost as a solid bloc.

Miss Sewell took the rostrum before the Legislature elections began, and held it for more than half an hour while Speaker Ted Leonard listened unperturbed, then nervously asked her to relinquish the floor so that the business of the evening could be carried on. The coed legislator spoke for some 10 minutes after the request was made.

Referring to a column on a possible UP-CP Legislature coalition in yesterday's Daily Tar Heel, Miss Sewell told the body, "If this session is starting with a coalition, then there is no use going on at all. If you are going to vote for the coalition officers whom you have been told to vote for, then you don't deserve to be here."

Miss Sewell continued, "If the CP and the UP are going to vote in coalition, why not combine the two parties and have one strong one?" Commenting on legislation passed by the body and then repealed at a later meeting, she charged that "this stuff is childish and simple, and it goes on here every wek. Some of the bills passed are childish and asinine."

The speaker then read a lengthy passage from Thomas Wolfe on politics at the University. When she was finished she received much applause from the entire assembly.

Legislator Nat Williams, in answer to the previous speaker, pointed out that members of the Legislature cannot afford to say, "What's the use?"

"Everybody else is saying that now," Williams said. He also received applause for his remarks.

Other officers elected at last night's session were Ed Best (CP) as parliamentarian with 19 votes over Herb Yates (SP) with 17, Jack Rock (CP) as clerk by acclamation, Fletcher Harris (UP) as sergeant-at-arms with 26 over Duffield Smith (SP) with 14, Charles Foley (UP) as Ways and Means Committee chairman with 21 over Yates (SP) with 14, Al Winn (CP) for Elections Committee by acclamation, Johnnie O'Neal (SP) for Rules Committee with 23 over Bob Smith (CP) with 13, Wilson Yarborough (UP) for Finance Committee with 21 over Sol Kimerling (SP) with 14, Ann Green (UP) for Coed Affairs Committee by acclamation, and Ben James (UP) for Legislature representative to the Graham Memorial Board of Directors, by acclamation.

Speaker Ted Leonard appointed Bob Kirby (UP) as chairman of the Appointments Committee, Bill Prince (SP) as chairman of the Faculty Evaluation Committee, and John Sanders (SP) as Legislature representative to the Carolina Forum.

The Legislature heard Don Shropshire, head of the campus NSA Committee, give a report

(See MITCHELL, page 4)

Symphony Drive For Funds Will Run to Monday

The fund-raising competition which is high-lighting the campus membership drive for the North Carolina Symphony Society this week will continue until the Symphony concert here Monday evening, it was announced yesterday.

The particular fraternity, sorority, or dormitory which collects the largest amount of money through ticket sales and contributions will have the privilege of naming one of the selections to be presented on the local concert program. The winner of the contest will be announced at the concert in Memorial Hall Monday evening.

The student memberships will be honored at the concerts to be held on April 29 at Elon College, on May 3 in Reidsville, on May 6 in Hickory and on May 18 in Durham. The memberships, which cost $1.20, are the same price as the single-admission tickets for the concert which will be sold at the door.

The following people have taken charge of the competition: Lou Reilly (sororities), Gwenn Howard (women's dormitories). Charlie Stevens (men's dormitories), and Dick Boden (fraternities).

Anyone wishing to purchase tickets or get information on the concert are requested to contact these people.

Red Ban Motion Opposed by All

Both conservatives and liberals joined Wednesday night to overwhelmingly oppose outlawing the Communist Party in the discussion of the question by the Dialectic Senate.

Bill Foster, Gus Graham, Charlie Hodson, Cliff Horton, and a coed visitor joined in opposing the bill to outlaw the Communist Party. Sam Manning, Toby Selby, and Arty Murphey favored passage of the bill.

Foster and the coed visitor declared that suppression would strengthen the Communists. Foster insisted that passing a law would not change the beliefs of the "one million communists and fellow travelers who oppose our form of government." He said further, "American democracy is not so degenerate that we have to prop it up with totalitarian devices."

Graham said, "Our people are not fools enough not to see that the American way of life is vastly superior to the Communist way."

Hodson, insisted, "We would be overturning 700 years of Anglo-American legal tradition if we go over to the Communist side and use their tactics."

Friendly Elected New Head of ANPA

NEW YORK, April 28.—(UP)—Edwin S. Friendly, vice president and general manager of the New York Sun, was elected president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association today.

Friendly, who had served as ANPA vice president, succeeds David W. Howe, general manager of the Burlington (Vt.) Free-Press, who was elected a director.

Russians Ordered To Abandon Canal

BERLIN, April 28—(UP)—Russian troops withdrew from three canal locks in the British sector of Berlin tonight after British authorities announced they would be thrown out if they remained. The Russians said they would be back tomorrow morning.

Revised Exam Is Announced By Dean Wells

Saturday Classes Included in Plans

The examination schedule as printed in the catalogue for this quarter has been changed, William Wells, chairman of the Schedule Committee, said yesterday.

The schedule as printed in the catalogue calls for final examinations as late as Saturday, June 4. Because of the difficulty of recording seniors' grades in time for Commencement, June 6, the examination schedule has been changed from May 31-June 4 to Saturday, May 28, May 30-June 2.

Plans call for classes originally scheduled for Monday, May 30, to be met Saturday, May 14.

Wells pointed out that these changes will provide adequate time for the recording of grades for seniors and will permit all students to complete the quarter's work two days earlier than originally planned. Chancellor Robert House approved the changes, Wells added.

The final examination schedule for the spring quarter is being published in next Tuesday's Daily Tar Heel.

New Appointees For DTH Offices Okayed By Board

Daily Tar Heel Editor Dick Jenrette's appointments of C. B. Mendenhall and Bill Buchan to serve as Business Manager and Managing Editor of the Tar Heel were formally approved by the Publications Board yesterday afternoon.

Mendenhall succeeds Tom Holden who served under former Editor Ed Joyner. Holden graduates in June. Mendenhall has served as assistant Business Manager for the past year.

Buchan replaces Sally Woodhull who also graduates in June and who is serving as New Office Manager at the present time. Buchan has been on the paper staff since June, 1947, and has served as Associate Editor and in other capacities on the news and editorial staffs.

Other appointments released by Jenrette include Billy Carmichael, III who is remaining as Sports Editor. He will be assisted by Buddy Vaden who was named Assistant Sports Editor.

Frank Allston, Jr. and Jack Brown have been appointed Associate Editors and Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, and Severn Wallis were selected to compose the editorial board of the newspaper. Roy Parker was appointed as chief Night Editor.

Caroline Bruner will continue as Society Editor, Jenrette said.

Schinhan Invited To Be Music Judge

Dr. Jan Philip Schinhan, professor of music, has been invited by the Fine Arts Festival Association of Rockingham County to be a judge for music composition for the festival on May 17. This is the fifth annual Fine Arts contest, directed by the Rockingham County Library and sponsored by Stoneville Book Club and Mayodan Woman's Club at Mayodan.

Possible Phi Betes Should See Mackie

Students who have not been notified that they are eligible for membership into Phi Beta Kappa, and who think that they are eligible, are asked to contact Dean E. L. Mackie, third floor, South Building. Mackie said that the files had been checked, but that he wants to make certain that no student is overlooked.

Will Take Position Beginning In Fall

By Margaret Gaston

James W. Rathburn, a graduate student in the Department of City and Regional Planning, will be the new director of Graham Memorial beginning next fall, Fred Weaver, Dean of Students, said yesterday. Rathburn will succeed Bob Watson, student from Winston-Salem who was made temporary director of Graham Memorial last summer.

Born in New Jersey, Rathburn attended school in New York, and got an AB degree in sociology at the University at the end of last year's summer session. During the war he was in the Army Air force as staff sergeant. He is now a resident of Chapel Hill.

The new director said he would bring a planning approach to his new job. He added that he had a broad concept of a Student Union. "I think it should embrace all those things which a union of students might conceivably embrace.

"The problems of a Student Union are very similar to those of a city. There are certain services and functions to be provided."

Rathburn pointed out that "these services need to be determined, a plan drawn up for their best provision, and then, most important, the plan must be carried out."

The new director said he hoped to approach Graham Memorial much as a city planner would enter on a planning program for a city. "One of the first steps contemplated is a thorough survey of student life at the University."

Rathburn was appointed by the Graham Memorial Board of Directors in a recent meeting, Weaver said.

N.C. Day Set For Tomorrow; Expect 5000

Guests To Attend Games, Morehead

By Bill Johnson

The Sixth Annual North Carolina Day will bring more than 5,000 high school students, principals and chaperones to the University campus tomorrow morning for a day of entertainment with the University Club as host.

The Monogram Club and the Athletic Association have invited the visitors to be their guests at the three sports events during the day. At 11 o'clock the students will attend a track meet between the University and State College, and that afternoon they will move to Kenan Stadium for the Blue-White football game. Following this they will go to Emerson Field for the baseball game between Carolina and Wake Forest. During the half of the Blue-White game the Aycock Memorial Cup will be awarded to the high school who wins the debate contest which is being held this weekend.

The high school groups will arrive Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and will gather at the Old Well where they will be welcomed by Bill Mackie, president of the student body. Chancellor R. B. House and Charlie Justice are also scheduled to speak to the gathering.

Dr. Roy K. Marshall, director of the Morehead Planetarium, will take those interested on a tour through the planetarium and special interest will be taken in the dome.

C. C. Bernard, assistant to Roy Armstrong, who issued the invitations to all North Carolina seniors, said today that the response had been good and that an average of 22 students were expected from each of the cities contacted. Over 100 students from Chapel Hill high school are expected to take part in the day's activities and large cities like Greensboro and Winston-Salem that are located in this section of the state are expected to send between 50 and 75 seniors.

The main purpose of High School Day is to acquaint the students of North Carolina with their University and its facilities.

Defense Budget Cannot Be Cut, Says Johnson

WASHINGTON, April 28. — (UP)—Defense Secretary Louis Johnson asserted today that U. S. defense spending "Can't be cut any more," even to cover the cost of arms shipments to Europe to back up the North Atlantic Security Pact.

Testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, he urged Congress to assure strong allies for the United States, in peace or war, by ratifying the pact and voting $1,130,000,000 for military aid to its members.

Buthe said under questioning that he would prefer to see the arms-for-Europe program scrapped entirely rather than have it paid for by cuts in the $15,000,000,000 budget of the U. S. armed forces, as some Congressmen have proposed.

'Import' Star Will Play 'Wet-Nurse' In French Farce

The "strike" of one of the coed members of the cast of the French farce next week has been settled by the consent of French actress Huguette Laxe to come to Chapel Hill as guest artist to play the controversial role of the wet-nurse, Walter Creech, the director announced last night.

Mademoiselle Laxe who is at present on a visit to the U. S. has been frequently seen in Paris at both the Comedie Francaise and the Folies Bergere. Since her divorce from Henri Laxe, she has been required by law to appear professionally as Huguette Laxe and as such has "fait courir tout Paris." During this season she has appeared for a limited time at the Morrocan Village in New York and the Wonder Club in New Orleans. Mr. Creech expressed great satisfaction at having so versatile an "artiste" appear in this year's production of the campus Theatre Francais which is scheduled for the Playmaker Theatre May 6 and 8.

Science Academy Will Meet Here

Scientists from North Carolina's colleges and universities will gather on the University of North Carolina campus May 6 for the opening of the annual two-day meeting of the State Academy of Sciences.

Papers to be presented cover reports of research and experiments under way in schools. Prof. O. C. Bradbury of Wake Forest, president of the Academy, will be chairman.

GOP Scores Win In Budget Fight

WASHINGTON, April 28. — (UP)—Economy-minded Senate Republicans scored a victory today in their drive to trim President Truman's fiscal 1950 budget and eliminate the need for tax increases.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $5.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor — DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager — T. E. HOLDEN
Managing Editor — Bill Buchan
Sports Editor — Billy Carmichael III
Associate Editors — J. Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. — Sally Woodruff
Asst. Sports Ed. — Buddy Vaden
Society Editor — Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. — Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. — Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. — David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. — Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. — C. B. Mendenhall
Staff Photographer — James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Bunie Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severa Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Night Editor: Roy Parker, Jr. Night Sports: Joe Cherry

Getting the Best Students

Tomorrow Chapel Hill will be literally taken over by visitors. Many will come to witness the Blue-White football classic in Kenan Stadium, but the vast majority, 10,000 in all, will be high school students of this state visiting the University in the annual High School Day festivities.

High School Day at Carolina is certainly one of the most important events of the year as far as the University is concerned. Each year the most outstanding students in the state visit Chapel Hill on this occasion, and usually they go away with glowing opinions of Carolina. The favorable impression made at this time probably has prompted many students to attend Carolina in preference to other colleges. Thus, every effort should be made to provide proper entertainment for the visitors.

In many states, the state-owned universities have little competition for the outstanding high school graduates. However, such is not the case with Carolina. Each year many of the best scholars in North Carolina make the other state schools—Duke, Wake Forest, and Davidson—their choices for continuing their education.

Carolina obviously has many advantages over the other state schools, both from an academic and physical standpoint. A more concerted effort should be made to acquaint high school graduates with these advantages. The crowded conditions which prevailed in the state colleges just after the war are gradually diminishing, and with this comes increasing competition for the top students. More programs such as the High School Day affair tomorrow are in order. One suggestion would be to invite the students with the best averages over to Chapel Hill some weekend as guests of the University. There are endless possibilities for entertainment, such as tours of the planetarium, Woollen Gymnasium, the library, and other interesting points on the campus.

Carolina gets its share of the scholars, but with a little effort, even more of them could be attracted to this University.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon
(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Secretary of State Dean Acheson was nowhere near ready to reveal our government's new policy on China when the big story broke. The untimely disclosure provides another fantastic illustration of how highly confidential stuff in the Nation's Capital suddenly becomes unconfidential.

Acheson was sitting on the thing like a mother hen in a wolf - infested neighborhood when Senator Pat McCarran, of Nevada, came up with his aid-to-China bill. The measure would involve $1,500,000,000 for that country, and also use of our silver to revitalize the Chinese monetary system.

The Secretary of State decided he needed some help on Capitol Hill to squelch the McCarran Bill so he wrote a letter to Senator Tom Connally, of Texas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, outlining how he stood.

To make it perfectly clear to Connally, the Secretary of State went the whole hog.

"There is no evidence," he wrote, "that furnishing of additional military material would alter the pattern of current developments in China. . . . such a move as proposed in the McCarran Bill would involve this country in an undertaking so great in magnitude it would almost surely be catastrophic."

The president of a Rhode Island silver company wrote Senator Theodore Francis Green, of that state, asking how the McCarran proposal would affect the silver business in this country.

Senator Green turned the query over to his administrative assistant, Edward J. Higgins, in the routine course of business. Still following routine, Mr. Higgins wrote the State Department asking how Secretary Acheson stood on the McCarran bill, etc., etc.

One of Acheson's assistants handled the query. He looked through the files to see if the boss had put any views on the subject into writing—and found the letter to Senator Connally. It seemed to cover the matter, so he sent a copy to Senator Green's office.

Mr. Higgins, anxious only to be of service to a constituent, remailed the copy to the silver company president.

The latter digested it—and a couple of days later mentioned it to a fellow on one of the Providence newspapers. This fellow decided it was news.

That's how it got back to Washington—and out to the world.

Looking for a Chance to Perform

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EVIL DISGUISED

Editor:

Reverend Dr. Samuel Tilden Habel in a recent editorial hails the end of an age of "rash and ruthless iconoclasm." Modern man symbolizing this iconoclasm, is depicted by Dr. Habel as being forlorn and lost in the immensity and imperceptibility of the universe. Modern society as such seems to him empty and devoid of value. One must agree with the Reverend that these are chaotic times in man's moral and spiritual history. It is natural also that man, sensing this moral abnormalism, should turn to his religion, not just for comfort, now, but for understanding as well. For he knows that, irrespective of its qualitative values, religion is the greatest of moral forces.

Today, the common man sees himself in perspective. His mental playground covers not just his home and church community, but the entire world around him. And upon seeing it all before him, he sees also himself in the midst of it. Is it so unnatural that in a world of such diversity of belief and custom, that one man, seeing himself beside another, should compare his lot? And is it so unnatural that in comparing his lot with that of others, that man should find this or that one or his own, lacking?

This is the attitude of which you speak, Dr. Habel. It is the critical attitude and the one by which man, unavoidably viewing this or that outcast state, seeks to liberate himself and others. This critical attitude, the outstanding feature of modern man, is not purposefully iconoclastic. It seeks only to fulfil those new needs that man finds co-requisite with his increasing mental scope. That a man should in turning to his religion, now, find it lacking, is only the proof of his sincere desire to better mankind.

Many of us, who today turn with this attitude toward the church and what it represents, find it sorely lacking. And because of its great influence upon our children who cannot yet judge its values, our critical attitude at times takes proportions of the extreme. But we who would strip off every taboo and sacred alter, even though sometimes acting in extreme, are not the "lost" ones; we have in the truest sense found ourselves.

We now know that this critical world view that modern man possesses did not give rise to the chaos that seems to exist in the world today, but that on the contrary, the chaos that has arisen preceeded and provoked the attitude that we now have. The purpose of this attitude is to find the real causes behind the chaos, and to remove them. Many of the causes are seen to be ideologically contained in the church doctrines. But it is too ironic that one of the world's greatest evils should come disguised as its greatest good.

Leif Morgan

CONTINUE PRACTICE

Editor:

Though recognizing the inevitable fruitlessness of those who attempt to interpret spiritual matters in physical terms, I should nevertheless like to urge you, Mr. Editor, to continue the practice of having a local minister write the editorial in Sunday issues. Criticism of this by J. R. Cherry Jr. serves only to prove its worth and need.

Dr. Habel should be careful to note that Mr. Cherry represents only the smallest type of minority and has even seen fit to include Sen. Frank P. Graham among those whom he has attacked. To such a person, truly, there can be no area too sacred for infantile criticism.

We were fully acquainted with Mr. Cherry's opinion of organized religion during the month following Religious Emphasis Week, but had hoped that he realized by now that his views on practically anything are of such a bigoted nature and represent such a small minority that he would wise-up and shut-up.

It has been fairly evident since Mr. Cherry's first letter that he views nothing objectively, approaches everything with a predetermined conclusion, and thinks he has a sort of option on ultimate truth. Mr. Cherry should realize that what he is doing is neither especially noble nor beneficial, nor is it being heralded as such.

Crackpots have always damned, criticized, and ridiculed men who strive for the betterment of mankind. It takes more than the ability to criticize, more than an average concern for human welfare, an unbounded love for people to give one's whole life to the serving of mankind. Truly, it is the lives of men like Dr. Habel that make this world a better place to live.

Extremism in any direction is dangerous. Endeavoring to show men the way to a sensible, purposeful life is certainly worthwhile in our confused world.

Walter McCraw

SOMETHING SACRED

Editor:

(In reply to Dr. Samuel T. Habel's editorial of April 24, entitled "Something Sacred")

Something sacred you seek, Dr. Habel? . . . I have it! Something more meaningful to me, more worthy and more precious than all your religious rituals, something truely sacred—life itself. Even you would have it, as I and all men.

Can we not put a bit of our faith in man himself? Is it not our primary duty to aid man in the mastery of himself and his surrounding universe? Yet do we do this by continually preaching to man that he is no more than a weakling, dependant upon an "Almighty" for sustenance? Do we improve man's lot by urging that he crawl back into the mother's womb—and eternal sleep? Sir, do not tempt us with Death. We tire and would die cowardly.

Rather, teach us to have faith in ourselves and to make our own way. Teach us to honor, above all things, this life we now possess. Impress us with the sacredness of our own being, if you would have something sacred. Then man truely will not treat life so lightly and revere death so highly, as he now does. Could a beneficent God deny us our freedom?

These four lines, I think, best express what I would like to say:

Of men we know; of gods we but surmise.

And one thing's true indisputably—

A faith in mankind and without disguise

Tends more to life than all religiosity.

John Brock

TAYLOR CRITICIZED

Editor:

As a man who has been reading the Tar Heel for about 10 years, and who by some coincidence enjoys it I find great fault in one of your current columnists, who parades under the almost unbelievable name of Vestal Taylor.

In his column Wednesday Mr. Taylor with thumbs hooked in his vestal continues to set himself up as an expert on the local theater scene. He had the air of putrifaction about it. Personally most of my friends and I prefer Mr. Wink Locklair, who spends more time telling you authentic information about the theater and less time telling you of the authencity of Mr. Locklair.

Personally I would rather be hoodwinked than taylor made.

Name Withheld by Request

Mouth-Fools

This Game Golf

By Jimmy Rutherford

The local golf course as well as the other putting grounds around the vicinity have been fully occupied during the past week due, no doubt, to the fair weather. I wonder if they have been busy in the daytime?

I have heard that one student amorous in attention took his girl out on the links one starry night and got teed off. Another one got apprehended by the police for reckless driving. When you're out on the green you can't afford to be.

Like the rest of the students around here, I have become interested in this game of golf. A game where the ball lies poorly and the player as well.

During the past week on a sunny afternoon, I decided to try my luck on the local links. Arriving there I saw an old friend of the family who had a young daughter who was an old friend of mine. I inquired about his health and politely asked about his daughter's golf. He told me she was going around in less and less every week. I don't doubt that but I still wondered about her golf.

What they say about the language at the golf course is true I know. One ship captain's parrot who used to swear as bad as a truck driver with a flat tire was reported to have dropped dead on the links the other day. That is no place for the children.

One exasperated golfer t[o] seventeen strokes coming [o]ut of the rough; seventeen strokes not counting one apoplectic.

The caddies out there don't help matters either. Everyon[e] of them try to be a jokster Whenever they go out with [a] they don't carry a watch but a compass. I would have knocked one guy's block off but I didn't know what club to use.

I told one of them that he was driving me out of my mind, and he said that wouldn't be a drive but a putt. I would have dismissed that smart alec right then, but I didn't know the way back.

I would like to warn all golfers now about those caddies. Everyone of them is a thief. They'll swipe every new ball you bring out on the green. Take my word for it. Don't put it past them.

Golf is a great game for the professionals. It is also a dangerous game. I had to hit my dog out there once. He wasn't mad, but then he wasn't so pleased either.

In closing I would like to relate this little tale I have heard on the fairways. This is a story of a man who came back from practice so visibly excited that his friend in the locker room asked what was wrong?

"What's wrong?" was the bitter retort. "I just killed my wife. That's what is wrong!"

"Holy smoke, how did you do that?"

"I was out there practicing and didn't see my wife come up from behind me. I took a back swing and hit her on the head, and she dropped dead."

"Gosh that's too bad! What club were you using?"

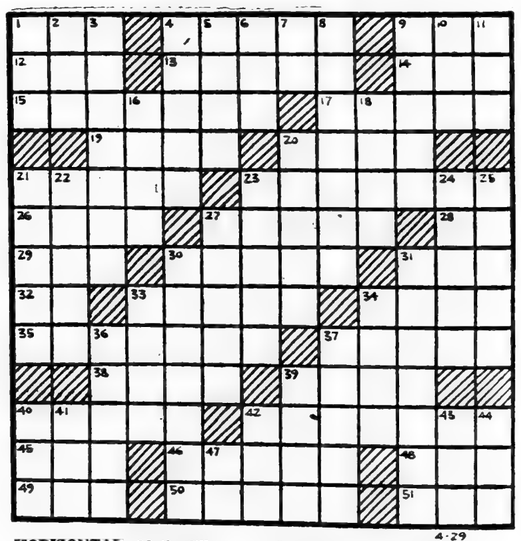
"A niblick," mourned the golfer.

"That's the club," said his friend happily.

REASON EXPLAINED

Editor:

I feel that I owe it to everyone concerned to correct the erroneous impression created by the rumor that I "walked out" on the rehearsals of Le Medecin Malgre Lui.

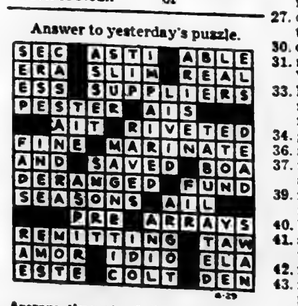


There has been no quarrel between the director and me—merely a misunderstanding as to the interpretation of the role of the wet-nurse which I was rehearsing.

When I tried out for the part, I was under the impression that the classroom version of the play was to be used. When the director insisted that the original unexpurgated version was to be played "to the hilt," my sense of propriety compelled me to withdraw.

I am not a prude, and I admire the comic genius of Moliere. However, it must be admitted that in certain bawdy scenes he violated good taste and even common decency.

Anyone familiar with the uncut "Doctor in Spite of Himself" must agree with me.



Jean Riden

HORIZONTAL
1. in what manner
4. city in Egypt
9. vehicle
12. topaz humming-bird
13. medicinal plants
14. wing
15. operates
17. festive gathering
19. expires
20. heraldic bearing
21. Hebrew measures
23. anticipated with fear
26. planet
27. supplicates
28. behold!
29. public conveyance
30. inland bodies of water
31. male sheep
32. diminutive for Edward
33. nonsense (colloq.)
34. head
35. keeps
37. sign of zodiac
38. the dill
39. savage beast
40. converses
42. golf attendants
45. ogle
46. vestige
48. twilight
49. Roman coins
50. gluts
51. uncooked

VERTICAL
1. son of Noah
2. eggs
3. strays
4. catcher's masks
5. malt drinks
6. bombycid moths
7. note in scale
8. American hawks
9. was mindful of
10. high, in music
11. beam
16. ventilates
18. woe is me
20. papal veil
21. game of chance (Sp.)
22. feminine name
23. falls
24. puff up
25. rounded roofs
27. direct toward
30. clergymen
31. mount in Washington
33. large receptacle for fluids
34. goad
36. narratives
37. military assistants
39. fine network fabric
40. beverage
41. affirmative vote
42. feline
43. feminine name
44. stitch
47. sun god

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 25 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Coed Column

Big Party Weekend

Harriet Williamson

What's been going on lately at old Chapel Collich? You'd be surprised to know the true scoop of last weekend's May Frolics success. . . . When a number of disheartened collegiates saw their parties threatened by nasty weather, a delegation of students led by Nelson Taylor stormed the Weather Bureau and negotiated for the sunshine. It seems the bribe included a bona fide invite to all the P J parties at Hogan's!

Then there were those who thought the weekend could be most enjoyable at the beach. One Charles Vernon met a delightful conversationalist at the Surf Inn—a Polly parrot by the name of Polly. Charlie would converse in intimate words of "Hello Polly!" whereupon the parrot would reply, "Hello Charlie — Awwk! Awwk!" Did you know that there was a parrot in the London museum named Robert who laid an egg at the age of 127 years—whereupon the Bobbies changed her name to Roberta.

If you happen to notice eight girls crawling upstairs to classes and eating off mantlepieces instead of sitting as per usual, it is just Charlotte Wilson, Jimmie Faust, Ann Green, Marilyn Stanley, Julia McHenry, Jody Armstrong, Zo Donnan, or Anita Gates who have been in training for cheerleaders next year. What are you doing to them, Norm?

Recently there was a fire that gutted out a colored home in Chapel Hill so that everything was totally destroyed. At the suggestion of Becky Otter, the girls in McIver dorm took up a collection and went shopping with the six little girls of the family. After purchasing little dresses and toys, the troop ended up at Sutton's Drug Store for double dip chocolate ice cream cones. One little girl named Marie got more chocolate down the front of her dress than in her mouth, and it took B. A. Austin a long time to repair the damages.

After Valkyrie Sing the other night, one of the black-faced Chi Omega chorus girls was overheard giving her date a hard time. Nell Lee Greening couldn't understand why he did not particularly want his face black, too.

Fiendish chuckles have accompanied the dark secrets of the plans for the beeg Carnival this Friday night. . . . it is rumored about that the Chi Phis are really going to have a squirrel shooting game, the Phi Delts a penny-pitching booth, and the Kappa Alphas a sidewalk cafe.

These surprise fire drills are enough to drive a coed mad! During the latest one, a house president reported a most successful evacuation of her dormitory with one casualty. It seems that one girl wouldn't be awakened even if it were judgement day, and consequently would have roasted alive if a real fire had broken out. One helpful suggestion was to borrow the gong the Valkyries use at tapping and run through the halls screaming, "Foo Man Choo is loose in the dorm!"

Wasn't it a shame that due to lack of coordination of campus activities Dr. Polgar's magic show was scheduled for the same night as the Carolina Independent Coed Association's fashion show. Although a lot of care and preparation went into the fashion show by CICA and the Chapel Hill merchants, the show was a financial failure besides being poorly attended.

Golfers Face Virginia Today; Netmen Head North

Linksmen Seek 7th Win of Season At Hope Valley

Back to strictly collegiate circles after a week in Pinehurst, Carolina's once-beaten golf team swings clubs with the linksmen of Virginia this afternoon at the Hope Valley Country Club. The first foursome will tee off around 1 30.

The Tar Heels will be seeking their seventh win of the season with a lone loss to State the only blemish on the record. The visiting Cavaliers have one of their best teams in years and should give the locals battle over the 6,800 par-70 Durham course.

Harvie Ward, runner-up to Frank Stranahan in the North and South Amateur at Pinehurst last week, will be back at his old No. 1 spot for the Tar Heels and will probably be accompanied by his usual partner in the person of Bob Cox. Cox is beginning to play some of his best golf.

The second foursome should be Roy McKenzie at the No. 3 post along with Jack Brantley at the No. 4 position. Brantley scored well in the early rounds of the North and South, and looks to be nearing the peak of his game.

The back foursome will pair Frank Brooks and Oliver (Stub) Sapp to complete the Tar Heel sextet. This pair has proved to be the leading point getter foursome for the Carolinians thus far this season and are expected to bring in a fair share of today's Tar Heel points.

Tar Baby Netters Lose to Duke 6-3 Will Play Monday

The freshman netters of Coach Jack Kenfield dropped a hard-fought meet to the Duke frosh by a score of 6-3 on the varsity courts yesterday afternoon.

It was the Tar Babies' third defeat, and two of them were at the hands of the Blue Imps.

At the end of the singles matches the score was tied with Bret Smith, Cecil Milton and Bob Litton having won for Carolina. In last week's meet in Durham, Milton and Jimmy Hammerstein were the only winners. Hammerstein lost his match yesterday to Hal Lipton of Duke.

The Tar Babies boasted no winners in the doubles matches. Both teams seemed at a disadvantage because of soft courts.

The third team to beat the frosh this year is the Davidson freshmen. The Tar Babies have wins over Goldsboro High, Danville High, William and Mary Norfolk Division, and the Wolf Cubs of State. Their next meet is slated for Monday with Greensboro High.

Singles: Hal Lipton (D) defeated Jim Hammerstein 6-0, 6-1; Charles Lott (D) defeated Charles Duval 7-5, 1-6, 6-3; Bret Smith (C) defeated Curtis Laughlin 3-6, 6-2, 6-3; Cecil Milton (C) defeated Simpson 3-6, 6-1, 6-2; Bob Litton (C) defeated Wright Hugus 3-6, 8-6, 6-2; Gerald Morton (D) defeated Frank Redding 3-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Doubles: Lipton and Simpson (D) defeated Hammerstein and Smith 9-7, 6-4; Lott and Laughlin (D) defeated Litton and Redding 4-6, 6-4, 6-1; Hugus and Morton (D) defeated Milton and Sheets 6-0, 6-3.

COED SOFTBALL

Results of yesterday's games: AD Pi 31, Chi O 2; Alderman ... forfeited to the Tri Delts.

'Blues,' 'White' End Preparations; 20,000 Expected on Saturday

Both the "Blue" and "White" football squads will wind up training today with light workouts for the annual squad game Saturday at 2 p.m., which is open to the public and may draw a crowd of 20,000 or more spectators.

Meanwhile, "Laddie" Terrell of Richmond, Va., president of the sponsoring Monogram Club, said all preparations had been completed for the big day. High school students from throughout the state, along with faculty members, have been invited to the game and other sports attractions in a revival of "North Carolina High School Day."

A track meet between Carolina and N. C. State is scheduled at 11 a.m., and the Tar Heel baseballers meet Wake Forest at 4 p.m.

Interest in the football game is unusually keen. It will be a contest between freshman squad members, with Crowell Little as head coach, and the upperclassmen, with Russ Murphy heading the board of strategy. Coaches, as well as the players, have been divided into two groups.

CHARLIE JUSTICE
. . . and no bellyache

The upperclassmen, "Blues" have been established as favorites, chiefly because back Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice and end Art Weiner, both All-Americans, are on their side. They are expected to engineer a passing attack which the yearlings will find hard to break up.

Dick Wiess, 185 - pound fullback from Philadelphia, and Dalton Ruffin, 215-pound blocking back from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., are the two backfield "big wheels" on the "White" team.

The "Whites" are conceded the edge in line strength, with tackle Bill Kuhn of Wilmington, guard Joe Dudeck of Hazelton and end Bill O'Brien of Portsmouth, Va., among the standouts. Only one letterman, Weiner, is in the starting "Blue" forward wall although center Irvin Holdash is a prominent star on the "Blue" defensive team.

Among the many events of the day will be an informal buffet supper for Educational Foundation members at the Carolina Inn following the game when the ticket distribution plan for this fall will be explained. Foundation members again will get first priority on football tickets, with orders being accepted from June 1 on.

Same Old Story

Varsity, Frosh Rained Out; To Meet State Again Today

Old Man Weather had the last word again yesterday as both varsity and freshman baseball teams were forced to postpone their engagements with the N. C. State Wolfpack and Cub nines because of the rain. Both games have been rescheduled for this afternoon, with the varsity nines slated to take the field at 4 o'clock at Emerson Stadium, and the frosh nines will try again at Raleigh.

Wake Forest's victory over the Wolfpack on Wednesday threw the Raleigh diamonders into a deadlock with the Tar Heels for second place in the Big Four standings. The winner of today's tilt will be in undisputed possession of second place by a full game.

Andy Tranavitch will get the starting nod on the mound for the Tar Heels, while Ernie Johnson is expected to hurl for the Wolfpack.

State and Carolina both have 2-2 records in Big Four play. One of State's victories was over Carolina, 10-6, and the other over Duke. Wake Forest has edged the Wolfpack in two close sessions.

Carolina's two wins have both been at the expense of Duke's Blue Devils, while Wake Forest and State have each posted a win over the locals.

The Tar Heels' probable starting infield should see Sid Varney behind the plate, Will Hobbs on first, Stan Goodman holding down second, John Senter at third, and Rip Ryan at shortstop. In the outer gardens, Don Ward, Zero Allen, and Ed Lamb will be on duty.

The local freshman nine, coached by Henry House, still has a perfect record, with victories over the Wake Forest, Duke, and State frosh outfits, and Greensboro High School. —JOE CHERRY

FRESHMAN TRACK MEET

The freshman tracksters will run against the cinder squad from Durham High School today. Field events will begin at 3:00 with the track events slated to start at 3:30.

MAJOR League Results

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	W	L	PCT	GB
New York	8	2	800	—
Cleveland	5	2	714	1½
Detroit	5	4	556	2½
Boston	5	4	556	2½
Chicago	5	5	500	3
Philadelphia	5	6	455	3½
St. Louis	3	7	300	5
Washington	2	8	200	6

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	W	L	PCT	GB
Brooklyn	6	4	600	—
Boston	6	4	600	—
Pittsburgh	5	4	556	½
New York	5	4	556	½
St. Louis	4	4	500	1
Cincinnati	4	4	500	1
Chicago	4	5	444	1½
Philadelphia	3	8	272	3

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

National League

Cincinnati 7, Chicago 0
Boston 6, Philadelphia 1
Brooklyn 15, New York 2
St. Louis 7, Pittsburgh 2

American League

Boston 11, Philadelphia 5
New York 6, Washington 2
St. Louis 5, Detroit 3

FREE DELIVERY
on orders from
THE COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
Monday —— Friday
at
9:15 And 10:15
DIAL 6061

GOLD! and the Men who lived for it!
loved for it!
killed for it!

—Also—
LATEST NEWS
TODAY
VILLAGE

Racqueteers Off For Week-Long Invasion Tour

In quest of greater glory and in hopes of enhancing the impressive winning streak that now stands at 15 straight, Carolina's varsity tennis representatives, seven stalwarts plus Coach John Kenfield, will leave this morning for a nine day tour of seven of the northern racquet strongholds.

The first stop on the trip into Yankeeland will be Saturday when the Tar Heels clash with the undefeated netmen of Princeton. From this New Jersey college, the Carolina crew will then journey into New England for matches with Williams, Harvard, Brown, Wesleyan and Yale. The Williams meet is on May 2 and after that the Tar Heels have matches scheduled for five consecutive days against New England schools.

The laststop-off on the slated itinerary will be a match with the West Side Tennis Club of Forest Hills, N. Y. on May 7. At this writing, this latter fray appears to be the toughest for the Tar Heels.

Upon returning from this road trip, the disciples of mentor Kenfield will buckle down to serious work in preparation for the Southern Conference Tennis championships and a pair of gruelling dual matches with Davidson and William and Mary.

Leading the Carolina contingent into the northern atmosphere will be the one and only Seixas, closely followed by his net mate, Clark Taylor. These two are expected to carry the brunt of the Carolina attack, especially against the West Side club. Stan Gruner goes along as number three man and Charley Rice, Duke Wilder and Jim Winstead compose the remainder of the great Carolina team. LEW CHAPMAN.

Today's Sports

Baseball

Varsity Baseball—Carolina vs. State at 4 o'clock on Emerson Stadium. Passbooks required for admission.

Freshman Baseball—Carolina vs State at Raleigh.

Golf

Varsity Golf—Carolina vs. Virginia beginning about 1:30 at Hope Valley Country Club.

Track

Annual Penn Relays at Philadelphia. (Call 3339 after 8 o'clock for results.)

Freshman Track—Carolina vs. Durham High School at 3 o'clock on eFtzer Field.

Mural Roundup

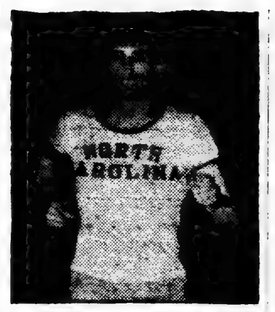
SOFTBALL RESULTS

26	PiKA 2	ZBT	1
6	Phi Delt 2	Chi Psi 1	3
16	Sig Chi 2	Kappa Sig 1	1
13	Delta Sig	TEP 1	6
29	Lamb Chi 1	Zeta 1	3
25	KA 2	Pi Kap Phi 2	4
17	Sig Chi 3	DKE 2	6
7	WWhitehead	Atoms	0
12	Pi Lamb 1	Kap Sig 2	7
18	Zeta 2	DKE 1	6
21	Phi Gam 1	Chi Phi 2	16
13	Phi Gam 3	Sig Eps	10
18	Phi Delt 1	Kappa Psi 1	9
6	Kappa Psi 2	TEP 2	3
18	Lamb Chi 2	Pi Lamb 2	13

half price sale!

TUSSY
CREAM DEODORANT
big $1 jar 50¢ plus tax
Save on this delightful-to-use deodorant! It banishes perspiration odor, checks perspiration moisture, gives longer lasting protection. Fragrant Tussy Deodorant is gentle to skin and clothing. Stays creamy smooth till the last bit is gone!

SUTTON'S DRUG STORE



Carolina Hurdlers Seek New Mark In Penn Relays Today At Philly

PHILADELPHIA, April 28 —One of the best races at the 55th running of the Penn Relays starting here tomorrow will be the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay race which the Carolina entry is expected to win and set a new record.

The four Tar Heel timbertoppers, Bill Albans, Dick Taylor, Bob Morrow and Jack Moody leave Chapel Hill tonight along with the other three competing Carolina tracksters.

Each of the Carolina hurdlers can get his times under 15 seconds for his 120-yard lap of the four-lap high hurdle event. If each turns in a performance of less than 15 seconds, the quartet will break the existing Relays record of 1:01.4.

Providing competition for the Tar Heels will be such teams as Penn State, Ohio State, Indiana and Army. All of these teams sport top knotch hurdlers and should make the event interesting.

JULIAN MACKENZIE
. . . will stick around

Other Tar Heels making the Philadelphia journey are Bob Seligman in the discus; Bob Kirk, the javelin and Sam Magill, the two-mile.

The rest of the team meanwhile will remain in Chapel Hill to run N. C. State in a dual meet as part of the Blue-White program. The meet is scheduled for Fetzer Field and will begin at 11 o'clock.

The team will naturally be weakened by the loss of seven of its top point-makers, but Coach Dale Ranson will be able to fall back on his depth in order to insure victory.

Co-captains Julian MacKenzie and Billy Joyner will be in for a share of the points here. MacKenzie is expected to be a standout in the distances while Joyner, Southern Conference high jump champ, should take his event without any trouble.

Other Tar Heel stars remaining behind are pole valuters Bob House and Bill Paterson, sprinter Bill Crimmins, distance men Jerry Lewis, John Ross and Frank Hooper and broad jumper Laddie Terrell.

One Mad Rush

Hurry, hurry, hurry! Step right up and get your tickets to the greatest show at Kenan since the Texas massacre! Don't delay, get 'e mtoday! For after one o'clock today, prices to the annual Blue-White football game will be jacked up to one dollar. Students who are wise will buy them at the Y today between nine and one for the amazingly small sum of fifty cents, just one-half a dollar.

The big show gets under way at two p.m. tomorrow afternoon an promises to be two full hours of fun and excitement. Bring your friends, wives and teachers!

NC

We're changing our menus to suit the weather — Spring Is Here!

We now have a variety of Spring Salads, Cold Plates, Fresh Vegetable, Meat Dishes, Desserts & Cold Drinks

Closed on Sundays

CAFETERIA

CAMPUS CAPERS LAFF 'N LEARN

JOHNNY HELPS TOM PROTECT PRIMOGENITOR'S PROWESS

Use These Words With Tongue in Cheek!
(Plan to use ONE every week!)

EUPHORIC (u-fó-ric)—Feeling "In the Groove".
FEBRIFUGE (feb-ri-fuj)—A "Fever Reliever".
LACHRYMATORY (lak-ri-má-to-ri) — Cup of tears, not cheers.
LAGNIAPPE (lan-yap)—A trifling gift.
NO CIGARETTE HANGOVER— No stale smoked-out taste; no tight dry feeling in your throat due to smoking.
PRIMOGENITOR (pri-mo-jén-i-tor) — Forebear; the "Check-book" to you.
PROLEGOMENOUS (pro-leg-óm-o-nus) —Prefatory.
PROLIXITY (pro-lik-si-ti) — Long-winded.
PUTATIVE (pú-ta-tiv) — Reputed, supposed — it sez here.
RECIDIVISM (re-sid-i-vism) — Falling back into bad habits.
TONICITY (to-nís-i-ti)—Vigor, health.

NO CIGARETTE HANGOVER
when you smoke
PHILIP MORRIS
That's the reason over 2 MILLION MORE Smokers SWITCHED to PHILIP MORRIS!

Get Acquainted Offer
Mercury Club
10 OUNCE DRAFT BEER 10 CENTS
BOTTLE BEER — 20c
ARROW BEER — 15c bottle
16 Acres to drink it in
HOURS 4-7
MERCURY CLUB
Your only student night club operated by students
For students

Zionists Will Celebrate Independence Of Israel

Israel Independence Week will be inaugurated with the Jewish religious service today in Horace Williams Lounge. Rabbi Simon Glustrom of Durham will officiate in a program dedicated to the role of Israel in Jewish religious life.

The membership of the Intercollegiate Zionist Federation of America chapter on campus is putting on an Independence playlet, and there will be an Oneg Shabat (celebration of the sabbath) featuring Palestinian singing and dancing.

Sixty student Zionists from Chapel Hill, Greensboro, Durham, Raleigh, and Columbia, South Carolina, will convene at the YMCA Building for the first Carolina IZFA subregional conclave to be held in this area. Rabbi Samuel Perlman, Hillel Director at UNC, will speak on "Israel as a Liberal Force in the Middle East." Rabbi Simon Glustrom of Durham will speak on, "What Does Zionism Mean to Us Now?" Besides these addresses and the discussions that will follow, the local IZFA chapter is planning a series of workshops on Zionism, Israel, and chapter techniques.

The social aspects of the conclave will include refreshments, supplied by the Jewish Women's Organization of Chapel Hill, and Palestinian singing and dancing. The conclave will terminate with the organization of an IZFA subregional organization and election of officers for 1949-1950.

Carolina IZFA and Hillel Foundation are sponsoring an Independence Dance in the main lounge of Graham Memorial Saturday night. Servicemen from military camps in this vicinity, as well as students and interested adults from the Greater University, Duke, and the University of South Carolina, will participate in this aspect of the Israel Independence Week celebration. The Jewish Sisterhood of Durham is supplying all the refreshments for the dance, and merchants in Chapel Hill have donated door-prizes.

A bagel and lox breakfast will be held Sunday in the Rendezvous room. Carolina IZFA-ites and guests will gather at 10:30 in the morning, and there will be a movie on present life in Israel.

Special programs are being presented in cooperation with campus organizations during the celebration of Israel's first anniversary of Independence. Rabbi Samuel Perlman, UNC Hillel Director, will talk on the Emerging Culture of Israel at the Sunday afternoon meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club in Horace Williams Lounge, Graham Memorial. There will also be movies on present activities in Israel.

On Tuesday night, Rabbi Perlman will lead a discussion on Israel as a Liberal Force in the Middle East at a joint A.V.C.-S.D.A. meeting in the Presbyterian church. The meeting will begin at 7:30, and movies on Israel will also be shown.

Israel Independence Week activities will be brought to several fraternities on campus on Monday and Wednesday nights. Mr. E. J. Evans, president of the Durham synagogue, will speak at the Tau Epsilon Phi and Zeta Beta Tau houses. Mr. E. J. Evans, president of the Durham Zionist Youth Commission will address the Pi Lambda Phi fraternity. Rabbi Benjamin Sinoff of Greensboro will be a guest at the Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity. At all these meetings there will be movies and discussion about the function of Israel and Zionism in American Jewish life.

Israel Independence Week will culminate in a party on Wednesday, the first anniversary of the birth of Israel. The UNC IZFA chapter will celebrate with Palestinian singing and dancing on the second floor of the YMCA Building at 4:00 in the afternoon.

BLIND SINCE BIRTH, seven-months old Kenny (left) and Denny arrive with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hoffman, at Teterboro airport, N. J., from New Orleans. The tots will be examined at Presbyterian Medical Center, in New York, to determine if an operation will restore their sight. Hoffman's fellow telephone workers rasied $1,156 for the trip. Two ex-army fliers flew them east gratis.

Law Fraternity Chapters Hold Initiation Ceremony, Banquet

N.C. Court Judges Take Part in Meet

Vance Inn of Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity at Chapel Hill held a joint initiation ceremony and banquet last night with Ruffin Inn of Wake Forest College and Hughes Inn of Duke University. The initiation was held in the Wake County Superior Courtroom in Raleigh with Supreme Court Justices Devin, Barnhill, Winborne, Seawell, and Denny and members of the three Inns participating. T. Lamar Caudle, North Carolina native and Assistant Attorney General of the United States, was taken in as an honorary member of Ruffin Inn.

Following the initiation ceremony, a banquet honoring the new members was held at the Sir Walter Hotel. Assistant North Carolina Attorney General John R. Jordon, Jr. was toastmaster and the North Carolina Supreme Court Justices who are members of Phi Delta Phi and Attorney General Harry McMullan were guests of the fraternities. Mr. Caudle delivered the banquet address and spoke on the topic, "Self Discipline of the Young Lawyer." He was introduced by Professor Menard of the Wake Forest Law School faculty.

The following Carolina law students were initiated into Vance Inn of the University of North Carolina: Hubert B. Humphrey, Jr., Lumberton; Monroe M. Redden, Jr., Hendersonville; Kenneth R. Hoyle, Sanford; Jesse C. Johnson, Jr., Mayodan; Lindsay Carter Warren, Jr., Washington, D. C.; W. Braxton Schell, Raleigh; Thomas R. Eller, Jr., Salisbury; Thomas M. D. O'Shea, Durham; Robert M. Wiley, Charlotte.

Don T. Evans, Enfield; William H. Watson, Winston-Salem; Mason P. Thomas, Jr., Siler City; Robert Louis Emanuel, Raleigh; Robert B. Broughton, Raleigh; Marvin V. Horton, Jr., Farmville; Walter C. Clark, Canton; Willis C. Bumbarner, Plumtree; Roddey M. Ligon, Jr., Spindale; Andrew G. Williamson, Lumberton; Charles E. Knox, Davidson; Max O. Cogburn, Candler; and Jess S. Moore, Jr., Reidsville.

NSLI Warns Vets To Verify Checks

A number of veterans each month run the risk of allowing their National Service Life Insurance to elapse because they fail to take a second look before mailing their premium payments, Veterans Administration said today.

Checks, money orders or postal notes should be made payable to the Treasurer of the United States. If, for any reason, the veteran does not have a VA premium envelope and does not know his insurance number, he should make certain his payment is accompanied by his full name, address and armed forces serial number.

Polar bears are found only at the South Pole. Their only commercial use is for food.

'Can Only Delay War,' Brandis Says Of Pact

"The North Atlantic Pact cannot prevent war, it can only delay it," Dr. Henry Brandis, dean of the Law School told a joint meeting of the Cosmopolitan club and the CCUN Wednesday night in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

Dr. Brandis said that the Pact was strictly a military alliance and that as such the best that could be expected of it was to delay a third world war. He said that the pact was not proposed merely for the military security of the United States but that all the other nations who had signed the pact saw in it a measure of their own military security.

"Most people believe that communism thrives under unstable conditions," Dr. Brandis said, "and the Marshall Plan is an attempt to create stable conditions favorable to retarding the growth of communism. I believe that the North Atlantic Pact is an attempt to supplement the Marshall Plan."

Dr. Brandis discussed the Pact and the United Nations by posing a series of questions and then giving his own interpretation of the questions. He said that the United States would be expected to supplement the Pact with military aid if "we expect it to be fully effective for the purpose for which it was created."

The Pact is not in contravention with the provisions of the charter of the United Nations, Dr. Brandis states. This can be shown by citing the provisions of Article 51 of the UN charter which recognizes the right of individual nations to oganize singly or collectively for security, he said. He went on to say that in his opinion the pact did not strengthen or weaken the UN as an organization for making and keeping the peace.

He pointed out that the pact would probably delay the onset of a third world war but that time so gained would not materially affect the UN's peace making ability without some fundamental change in the UN itself. The pact is only a temporary arrangement for securing the peace, he said. "While we are moving along temporary lines we should be moving along more permanent lines also.

"The only way to do this is to move in the direction of a limited world federal government. In order to accomplish this we must strengthen the UN charter by amending it."

Dr. Brandis said that he was opposed to the members of the North Atlantic Pact attempting to organize such a limited world federal government and excluding all other nations. "This would divide the world into first and second class citizens, with the first class citizens deciding where the lines were to be drawn.

"The United States should be assuming the leadership in proposing amendments to the UN charter. These proposals should be in the direction of a limited world federal government," he concluded.

Dr. Brandis was introduced by Roberta Sterling, state director of the CCUN.

Nineteen members of the Cosmopolitan club at North Carolina State College were guests at the meeting.

-Mitchell-

(Continued from page 1)

from the committee, and the body passed a bill to give gavels to the retiring speaker and speaker pro tempore for their services to the Legislature.

Four new bills were introduced on the floor last night. They were (1) Bill to set up the Campus Chest, introduced by Herb Mitchell, (2) Bill to name the annual student government banquet "The Frank Porter Graham Inaugural Banquet," introduced by Ed Best, (3) Bill to establish a committee to investigate the NSA purchase card system, introduced by Sheldon Plager (UP), and (4) Bill to establish a committee to investigate the possibility of increased parking space on campus, introduced by Bill Jones (CP).

Officer Elections Scheduled by UVA

Election of officers of the University Veterans Association will be held Wednesday, May 9, it was announced yesterday by outgoing president Gene Newton.

All members of the Association are urged to take part in the election.

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 9:00-5
Saturday 9:00-1:0

NOW CAROLINA
EVERYBODY LOVES . . . 'Little Women'
MGM's NEW TECHNICOLOR PRODUCTION starring
JUNE ALLYSON · PETER LAWFORD
MARGARET O'BRIEN · ELIZABETH TAYLOR
JANET LEIGH · ROSSANO BRAZZI
Mary ASTOR
with LUCILE WATSON SIR C. AUBREY SMITH HARRY DAVENPORT

Dining And Dancing
In An Atmosphere Of
COMPLETE ENJOYMENT
Delicious Dinners — $1.30 And Up
At The
SADDLE CLUB
Two Miles Out On Hillsboro Road
Open Every Evening except Monday

Beginning May 2
STORE HOURS FOR THE BABY SHOP
Will Be
Monday Through Friday
9:30 A.M. to 5:30 P.M.
SATURDAY
9 A.M. to 6 P.M.

Eastern Carolina's Biggest Race
6 Big Events 6
FEATURING TOP DRIVERS OF CONTRY
OCCONEECHEE SPEEDWAY
Hillsboro, N. C.
SUNDAY MAY 1
Time Trials ..... 1:00 P.M.
First Race ..... 2:30 P.M.
ADMISSION
Infield $2.00
Grandstand $3.00
(Tax Included)
Children under 12 Free with paid escorts.

DRIVE-IN THEATRE • CHAPEL HILL BLVD
TODAY
FOUR FEATHERS
In Color
With
Ralph Richardson
C. Aubrey Smith
Also
Selected Shorts
75c Per Car
Shows at 7:15 & 9:15

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY
School Of Law
New York
Three-Year Day Course
Four-Year Evening Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
Member of Assn. of American Law Schools
Matriculants must be College graduates and present full transcript of College record
Classes Begin Sept. 26, 1949
For Further Information Address
Registrar
Fordham Univ. School of Law
302 Broadway,
New York 7, N. Y.

Why Wear It If it does Not Fit?
JERRY the Tailor
Over
Lee's 5 &10c Store

The ORIENTAL
116 E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.
CHINESE-AMERICAN RESTAURANT

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

Picnic Specials!
BUY THEM HERE NOW
FOWLER'S FOOD STORE
— Phone F-416 —
WE DELIVER

BIG DATE THIS WEEKEND?
LET US Help You Prepare For It
UNIVERSITY CLEANERS
Your Sanitone Dry Cleaners

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

WHY PLAY A PIANO THAT'S OUT of tune? Let me tune it for you. Reasonable rates. Call Tom Potter at 9336 between 2-5 p. m. (3-6718-1)

PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. FOR a small charge we can relieve you of all details connected with renting your property. Our service includes selection of desirable tenants, supervision of upkeep and collection of rents. Consult us today regarding this service. Service Insurance & Realty Co., Henderson Street. Phone F-419. (ch 1x2)

HELP WANTED 8

UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds, athletics, and other camp activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment, room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

LOST 12

MALE TOY MANCHESTER DOG without collar. Black with brownish-red face and feet. Answers to name of Chester. Call Mr. Fox at F-3966 or 7151. (ch 1x1)

WANTED 24

A VERY QUIET DOUBLE ROOM FOR graduate student and wife. Write "Graduate Student," c/o The Daily Tar Heel. (1-c6720-1)

YOU ASKED FOR IT HERE IT IS:
Introducing New Daily Dinner Values
1. HUNGARIAN BEEF GOULASCH With Parsleyed Potatoes Pickles Bread, Butter 70c
2. IMPORTED & DOMESTIC SARDINES With Butter, Bread or Crackers 35c & 60c
3. ½ CHICKEN in Basket $1.10
4. 10c BEER From 4-6 P.M.
RAMSHEAD RATHSKELLER
Ice Cold Ballantine Draft ½ Keg $20.–

Tasty — Tangy — Spring Salads — at HARRY'S

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
8-31-49

EDITORIALS

Welcome Seniors
Need More Males
Play Is Solid Hit

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Cloudy and mild; possible rain.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SATURDAY, APRIL 30, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 156

High School Seniors Tour Campus Today

Blue-White Contest Will Feature Today's Sports Schedule

Afternoon Clash At Kenan Stadium

Dual Track Meet With State in Morning; Wake Forest Ball Game Follows Football

By Buddy Vaden

The Fourth Annual Blue-White Football game, sponsored by the University's Monogram Club will get under way at Kenan Stadium this afternoon at 2 o'clock. One of the features of "North Carolina High School Day," the program will include a presentation by the sponsors to the outstanding coaches of the year.

It will be freshmen against upperclassmen in today's gridiron battle that culminates five weeks of spring football drills. Crowell Little, who piloted the frosh team through an unbeaten season last fall, will mastermind the freshmen "White" squad. Russ Murphy, veteran varsity backfield coach, will coach the upperclassmen "Blue" team.

Although the Blues are rated a three-touchdown favorite, the freshman contingent will present an attack based on Fullback Dick Wiess, Skeeter Hesmer, 170-pound tailback, and flashy Ends Bill O'Brien and Joe McIntyre.

The Blues will offer as their main dish All-American Charlie Justice, with running mates Eddie Knox, Johnny Clements, and Billy Hayes spotted in the backfield. In addition, they will have flankers Art Weiner and Kenny Powell, as well as top flight defensive Center Irv Holdash.

The frosh line that played so well last fall will have nothing but trouble for any running attack the Blues might offer. With a pair of tackles who tote a total of 420 pounds stuck in the middle, the White line might well show the Blues that crossing the line is dangerous business. Supporting tackles Julian King and guards in Dic
Bill Kuhn is a pair of hefty guards in Dick Bestwick and Joe Dudeck.

But with Justice, Fullback Hayes, and Wingback Clements doing the ball-toting for the Blues, the White line is going to have its hands full. In addi-

(See BLUE-WHITE, page 4)

Hirsch's Comedy To Be Held Over For One Showing

Sam Hirsch's "Repple Depple" will be held over for an extra performance this evening at the Playmakers Theatre at 7:30, announced Samuel Selden, director of the Playmakers. The overflow audiences at this farce-comedy of life in a replacement depot overseas were responsible for the decision to extend the run of the show, originally scheduled for Thursday and Friday nights only. Mr. Selden said. Admission is free.

A unique feature of the original experimental series by the Playmakers is the discussion session after the performance. The audience is invited to talk back to the author and give him criticism, suggestions, and objections to aid him in his re-write of the play. Since these performances are the first opportunity the playwright has to see his play on a stage it is an ideal time to see where his play succeeds and fails before an audience. In addition to comments to the author, the audience also has the privilege of jotting down additional remarks on cards distributed with the programs.

"Repple Depple" is the third original play of the new series of student-written full-length plays started by Mr. Selden this year. This is part of a plan to encourage beginning playwrights to write in the longer form.

Grade Children Exhibit Is Set In Person Hall

New Display Includes Painting, Sculpture

The North Carolina School Art Exhibition opens here at Person Hall Art Gallery Sunday and will feature some 300 works in painting and sculpture done by elementary school children (first through sixth grades), from 32 towns throughout the state.

Gallery hours will be from 2 to 5 Sundays and 9 to 5 weekdays.

There were approximately 3,000 entries sent here for the exhibition. Mervin Jules selected those which will be displayed in Person Hall until May 19. The exhibition will then be available for circulation as a traveling exhibition to the schools of North Carolina for the year of 1949-50.

There were no prizes given, but each pupil whose work was selected for the exhibition will receive a certificate. The certificates were donated by the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs.

In addition to 257 paintings, the exhibition includes sculpture work of ceramics, paper-mache, wood, and chalk, and linoleum block prints on textiles.

This is the 12th annual exhibition of school art of the elementary schools of the state under the sponsorship of the women's clubs and the American Association of University Women.

YM Installs Officers At Carolina Inn Dinner

The 90th annual YMCA installation banquet in the Carolina Inn Thursday evening saw four officers and 16 cabinet members take office for the coming year.

Warren Ashby of the Philosophy department charged the new officers, Sam Magill, president, Charlie Gibson, vice-president, Charlie Bartlett, secretary, and A. C. Mangum, treasurer, and the cabinet to their responsibility.

Appointed by Magill to the Cabinet, with the committees they will head, are, Rod Glasgow, building and office; Pete Burks, church relations; Charlie Fox, conferences; Davis Byrd, finance; Ben Jones, freshman camp; Gene Turner, house discussions for fraternities; George Miller, house discussions for the dormitories; Ed McLeod, membership; Dick Messenger, publications; John Eason, program; Sam McKeel, publicity; Bob Williams, recreation; Bob Messner, social action; Buddy Crone, vocational guidance; Tom Donnelly, world relations; and Ted Sellers, worship.

Sam Magill, making his inaugural address, talked on a "Christian Challenge." He said "the fact that the YMCA has pioneered in race relations, coeducational work, the world church, economic and political questions, and many other fields has created one of the finest traditions that a student Christian organization could possibly have. I feel that a tradition such as this presents a great challenge to the YMCA of UNC—a challenge to pioneer in creating on this campus, in this state, and in the nation a society which will be conscious of its heritage as a Christian nation and which will want to fulfill its duties as a Christian society.

"I call on each and every member of the YMCA and every Christian student to join in this pioneering move to make a true Christian society of the world in which we live," Magill said.

Toastmaster at the banquet was Bill Brown. Other speakers besides Ashby and Magill were Pete Burks; Reverend Henry Ruark, who gave "the Challenge to Christian Students;" Mr. J. C. Herrin; and Dean Fred Weaver, who gave a "Charge to Christian Responsibility."

Chicago Says Red Charges Are All False

Trustee Chairman Answers Reporter

CHICAGO, April 29—(UP)—The University of Chicago today denied 49 of 50 charges that some of its professors, including atomic scientist Harold C. Urey, were connected with "Communist-front" groups.

Laird Bell, chairman of the University Board of Trustees, said that the allegations either were "false or no longer applicable."

Bell attacked the testimony of Howard Rushmore, New York Journal-American reporter, before the Illinois Seditious Activities Committee. Rushmore claimed seven Chicago faculty members held a total of 50 memberships in organizations he said were "Communist fronts."

The committee heard Rushmore last week in its investigation of alleged subversive activities at Chicago and Roosevelt College, Chicago.

Bell branded Rushmore's charges as "irresponsible" and said that only 11 of 38 organizations he listed were identified by the U. S. Attorney General as "suspected" Communist fronts.

Sworn affidavits were submitted by the faculty members either denying membership in the groups listed by Rushmore or saying that membership had been terminated.

The lone exception was Wayne McMillen, professor of social service administration, who admitted membership in the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, but denied other connections listed by Rushmore.

Affidavits were prepared for all the faculty members named except Dr. Maude Slye, who retired five years ago. Bell did not explain the absence of her rebuttal.

Urey, who played a leading role in development of the atom bomb, denied membership in four groups with which Rushmore's testimony identified him. In four others he said his activity ended before or during World War II.

21 UNC Students To Go To NCSSL

Selection Committee to Meet Monday To Name Delegates to Mock Assembly

Gran Childress, Interim Council Secretary-Treasurer for the State Student Legislature, said yesterday that a 10-man committee had been named to select University delegates to the 13th annual mock General Assembly.

Childress pointed out that the University will send 18 representatives and three senators to the session. He will attend as a voting representative through his position as Secretary-Treasurer.

The selection committee will meet Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Graham Memorial. All persons who wish to represent the University at the meeting on May 13 and 14 have been asked to either be at the meeting Monday or submit an application listing their qualifications and reasons for wanting to attend sessions to any member of the committee.

The 10 members of the selection committee are:

Bill Duncan for the Philanthropic Assembly, Don Shropshire for the Dialectic Senate, Dave Pittman for the Debate Council, Herb Alexander for the Carolina Political Union, Ted Leonard for the Student Legislature, Dortch Warriner and Gran Childress for the State Student Legislature Interim Council, Al Lowenstein for the executive branch of student government, Patricia Denning for the Coed Senate, and Ann Chandler for the YWCA.

Aquinas Breakfast Set for Tomorrow

A communion breakfast sponsored by the University Aquinas Club will be held in the Carolina Inn immediately following the 8 o'clock Catholic mass in Gerrard Hall tomorrow morning, Aquinas Club vice president Dan McLaughlin said yesterday.

Tickets for the communion breakfast are available from all members of the Club, and will be sold for 85 cents each, he said. McLaughlin urged all members to attend the breakfast.

Truman Won't Get Paycheck on Time

WASHINGTON, April 29—(UP)—President Truman won't get his $12,500 April pay check on schedule tomorrow, and it's all the fault of Congress.

The lawmakers raised Mr. Truman's salary in January to $100,000 a year, plus a $90,000 taxree expense account. But thus far they have neglected to appropriate the money.

The April check ordinarily would be due at the White House no later than tomorrow, the last day of the month. However, there's only $4,167 in the presidential payroll fund, with no chance for Congress to add more this month since it's not in session tomorrow.

Emperor's Birthday Ignored by Papers

TOKYO, April 29—(UP)—Tokyo's biggest newspapers ignored today the 48th birthday of Emperor Hirohito. One paper published a six-line story. Before the end of the war, all newspapers used to publish four-column birthday pictures of the emperor on their first pages, with descriptions of his health and his concern for the people's welfare.

Nachman Is New Tarnation Managing Ed.

Carmichael Reelected To Board Presidency

Herb Nachman, rising junior from Augusta, Ga., will serve as Tarnation's managing editor for the coming year, editor Tom Kerr announced yesterday.

Nachman, who is a journalism major, has been a member of the Daily Tar Heel staff since he entered the University in the fall of 1947.

Before taking over as Tarnation managing editor, he served as DTH reporter, night editor, news editor, town and city editors.

His other experience in journalism include a summer as a reporter on the Augusta Chronicle and a summer in the continuity department of an Augusta radio station. At present he is also the International News Service correspondent for Orange county.

Nachman was approved for the Tarnation job by the Publications Board at a meeting Thursday. At the same meeting, Bill Carmichael III, DTH sports editor, was re-elected president of the board. Charlie Gibson, Tarnation staffer and DTH columnist, was elected vice-president; Dick Jenrette, editor of the DTH, treasurer; and Tom Wharton, former Tarnation editor, coordinator.

Keynote Address To Mark Opening Of Zionist Meet

Rabbi Samuel Perlman, Director of the University Hillel Foundation, and Rabbi Simon Glustrom of Durham will be the keynote speakers at the Intercollegiate Zionist Federation of America subregional conclave to be held here this afternoon. The conclave scheduled for 1:30 today on the second floor of the Y.

The assembly is part of a weekend celebration of the first anniversary of the independence of Israel and will see students from five colleges participating. The University chapter of IZFA will play host to representatives from North Carolina State College, the Women's College, Duke University and the University of South Carolina.

Rabbi Perlman's topic before the delegates will be "Israel as a Liberal Force in the Middle East." Rabbi Glustrom will speak on "What Does Zionism Mean to Us Now?"

The IZFA conclave will conclude its program with the formation of a sub-regional executive and election of officers.

The weekend program began yesterday with evening religious services. An Independence dance will be held tonight in the Main Lounge, Graham Memorial. Refreshments are being furnished by the Jewish Sisterhood of Durham, and door prizes will be provided by Chapel Hill merchants.

Publications In Discussion At NSA Meet

Students Register From 10 Colleges

The regional National Students Association publications clinic opened on campus yesterday with some 35 students attending from more than 10 colleges and universities in North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

Schools in South Carolina, also a member of the regional NSA, are holding their own collegiate press convention this weekend, and were not able to attend the meeting here.

Schools represented, besides the University are Concord College of Athens, W. Va., Virginia Union University of Richmond, Bennett College of Greensboro, Atlantic Christian College of Wilson, Johnson C. Smith of Charlotte, West Virginia State College, North Carolina College of Durham, Duke University, Sweet Briar College of Lynchburg, and North Carolina State College.

Bill Mackie, president of the student body, and Dick Jenrette, editor of the Daily Tar Heel, made short welcoming speeches to the delegates at their first meeting early yesterday afternoon. Pete Gerns, who is chairman of the regional publications clinic, presided at the meeting. Gerns handled all preparations for the clinic.

The students held two sets of panel discussions yesterday, ate dinner at the Presbyterian Church, and traveled out to Colonial Press, Inc., to watch the Daily Tar Heel being put to press.

This morning another set of panel discusions will be held, followed by lunch at 1 o'clock. This evening a picnic will be held for the delegates at University Lake.

The final session of the clinic will be held tomorrow morning in Graham Memorial to hear consolidated reports and discussion of the weekend. Dean Fred Weaver will speak to the delegates at a final dinner session at noon.

Playhouse Offers Stage Scholarship

Robroy Farquhar, Director of the Lake Summit Playhouse near Hendersonville, has offered a scholarship, valued at $350, for this summer season to an enthusiastic, skilled theater man. The scholarship includes the ten weeks course and maintenance at the Playhouse. "I would like for him to be above all a very congenial fellow," Mr. Farquhar said, "someone with a well-rounded interest in the theater arts, as both actor and technician."

The Lake Summit Playhouse is operated by the Vagabond Players, Inc., an Equity "A" Company, which formerly played at the Cherry Lane Theater in New York. This is their fourth season in the Lake Summit Playhouse. Last summer they produced eleven plays and toured.

Chase Will Lecture On Music Tomorrow

Gilbert Chase, well-known critic and musicologist, will be in Chapel Hill Sunday and Monday to give lectures on "Latin-American Music" and "Latest Trends in Recording and Television." The lectures will be held in Hill hall Sunday evening at 8 o'clock and Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the public is cordially invited.

5,000 Expected To 'Invade' UNC

Mackie Extends Welcome to Visitors Who Will Attend Blue-White Game

Some 5,000 high school seniors from all corners of North Carolina will invade the Carolina campus today to try to find out what makes a big University tick.

The high schoolers will tour the campus, watch a track meet, and see a spring-time football game when the Tar Heel team puts on its annual Blue-White grid battle.

The day's activities will begin when the seniors arrive between 9 and 11 o'clock this morning. Their busses will unload at the Old Well, where members of the University Club will be on hand to welcome the boys and girls to the University.

At 11 o'clock, the track meet between the Tar Heels and State College will take place on Fetzer Field, from where the high school students will go to eat lunch on campus and in town. The group will split up, some going to the Monogram Club, some to Lenoir Hall, some to the Carolina Inn and some to restaurants downtown.

By 1:30, most of the seniors will be in Kenan Stadium, watching the University band conduct marching maneuvers prior to the football game, which will begin at 2:30.

Bill Mackie, president of the student body, yesterday said he extended "a sincere welcome" to the visiting high schoolers.

"I hope that you will enjoy the game, be pleased with the campus, and more important, be able to sense the informal friendliness that is our way of life here," Mackie said.

"Your impression of the University is very important," the student body president continued, "for many of you will return soon—to stay. So make yourselves at home and find out all you can about your University. Enjoy yourselves here today as I know you will next fall."

Graduation Schedule Set By Saunders

Dr. Repp to Speak For Baccalaureate

Dr. Walter Mark Depp, pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, Winston-Salem, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon in Memorial Hall on Sunday, June 5, J. Maryon Saunders, alumni secretary said yesterday. Degree candidates dressed in caps and gowns, iwll assemble at the Old Well, and will go from there to Memorial Hall.

The 155th Commencement program will begin Saturday, May 4, ending with graduation exercises Monday night at 7 o'clock in Kenan Stadium.

Saturday's program will feature a "dutch" luncheon for seniors and their guests at Lenoir Hall at 1 o'clock. After the luncheon Dr. Roy K. Marshall, director of the Morehead Planetarium, will give the first show at the Planetarium. That night at 8:30 he will repeat the performance. Marshall will give three shows Sunday and three graduation day.

Saturday's program also includes Alumni Class Reunion Suppers at 7 o'clock and an open air reception and orchestra concert that night at 9:30 at the Kessing Pool.

Sunday afternoon at 4:30 the University band, under the direction of Earl Slocum, will give a concert under the Davie Poplar. Following the concert, Person Hall Art Gallery has scheduled a gallery talk to be given in conjunction with the 14th Annual Exhibit of Student Art.

Sunday night's program also includes Alumni Class Reunion Suppers and a program by the Chapel Hill Choral Club and the University Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Paul Young.

The last class meeting of the graduating students will be held in Gerrard Hall at 10 o'clock Monday morning. Seniors will wear their caps and gowns. At 11 o'clock a faculty reception for Commencement guests at the Davie Poplar is planned.

An Alumni luncheon scheduled for 1 o'clock Monday at Lenoir Hall will feature Henry L. Stevens, Jr., Class of 1917, as toastmaster. Installation of new Alumni officers, presentation of "Golden Anniversary Certificates" to the Class of '99, and the induction of Alumni Class officers of the Class of 1949 will be included on the program.

The Carolina Playmakers Theater at 2:30, and will give a repeat performance again at 4 o'clock.

A band concert, beginning at 6:30 will be given in Kenan Stadium just before Graduation exercises at 7. As yet, plans for the commencement speaker have not yet been released. In case of rain, exercises will be held in Woollen Gymnasium.

Gardner Outlines YDC Mass Rally

Plans for a Young Democrats mass rally to be held Tuesday, May 10, were outlined Thusday by O. Max Gardner, Jr., club president, at an open executive committee meeting held in Graham Memorial.

Gardner stated that the meeting will be held in the main lounge of Graham Memorial with H. Clifton Blue of Aberdeen, State YDC president as the featured speaker. Stormy Weathers and his orchestra will provide music for the occasion and refreshments will be furnished by the Farmer's Dairy Co-op. Gardner said. A resume of the activities of the State Legislature will be presented by a member of the Institute of Government, Gardner added.

Gardner announced the names of four members who have been approved by the organizations' officers to be members of the executive council. Those selected are Hugh Wells, Ed Tenney, Jess Dedmond and Bill Buchan

Square Dance Slated Tonight in Tin Can

A square dance will be held tonight at 8:30 in the Tin Can, sponsored by the Montreat Social Committee.

There will be no admission and everyone, stag or couples, is invited to join in the fun. The Chatham Ramblers will furnish the music.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $4.00 per year, $2.00 per quarter.

Editor ... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. ... Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ... Buddy Vahue
Society Editor ... Caroline Brunet
Ads. Mgr. ... Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. ... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ... David Woodruff, Wade Hilker
Bus. Office Mgr. ... Bill Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Night Editor: Chas. McCorkle Night Sports: Lew Chapman

Welcome to High School Seniors

Today is High School Day at Carolina, and the campus doubtless will be flooded with sight-seers throughout the day. The Daily Tar Heel, in conjunction with the rest of the campus, wishes to take this opportunity to welcome all the North Carolina high school seniors to Chapel Hill for a day. And to any aspiring journalists in the group of visitors, the Daily Tar Heel will be glad for you to make a tour of the paper's offices in Graham Memorial.

One of the principal purposes of High School Day is to acquaint the seniors with life at Carolina. This brief visit to the Hill gives the students who already have decided to attend this University something of an insight into what the school is like. It also should prove helpful to those who have not yet decided what college they will attend.

Here at Carolina, the students have a great deal more freedom than at many other colleges. The students have their own government which plays a vital role in determining the policies of the administration. Cases involving cheating are tried by an honor council, composed of students rather than faculty members. There is no faculty supervision of such organizations as the Daily Tar Heel, the Yackety Yack, or Tarnation, the campus humor magazine. The students write just what they want to say in these publications.

On the recreation front, Carolina offers about the most complete athletic plant available anywhere in the South. And University students benefit from a well-rounded intramural athletic program which breaks up the monotony of going to classes and participating in the numerous extra-curricular activities around campus.

Carolina dances usually attract the best bands in the country, and there is a well rounded student entertainment program throughout the year. As is not the case at many schools, fraternities at this University operate under relatively few restrictions.

There is a great deal to be gained from Carolina that is not available in classes. Perhaps it is a general friendly spirit among the students, the many privileges the University offers, or the traditions which surround its history. At any rate, life at Carolina is a pleasure. Each year most of the graduating seniors really hate to leave Chapel Hill, and they usually take every opportunity available to some back for visits.

One day here probably won't convey this spirit to the high school seniors. But, barring more of Chapel Hill's most unpleasant feature, rain, today should be an eventful one for the visitors.

More Male Participation Wanted

The Valkyrie sing held this week showed a marked improvement over the one held last year. The originality and the manner in which the skits were presented plainly showed that much time and effort were expended by the groups participating. Such groups should be commended on their splendid performances.

The most noticable thing about the sing was the lack of a sufficient number of men's groups participating. It is often said that competition is the essence of living. It also brings the thought "Are the Sigma Chi's too much competition?" Too much competition is not the answer. It only goes to show what hard work and originality can do.

Most organizations let the sing slip up on them. Before they know it, it is too late to accomplish much. If the organizations will begin to work on their presentation in the fall of the year, by the time spring rolls around, an excellent performance can be given even with mediocre talent.

More male groups are needed to participate. If the Dormitories and Fraternities will keep the sing in mind next fall and elect a committee to work on the skit to be presented, then the next Valkyrie sing will be an overwhelming success.—J.M.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon
(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, April 29.—My social secretary, Mrs. Tabitha Talcott Pratt, came in today and said wasn't it wonderful about President Truman's national health program because now she could have her niece Bettina's adenoids removed for nothing.

"If it's going to be on the cuff," sneered Miss Reid, "why don't you also have one of her heads and a dozen of her tentalcles removed at the same time? Almost anything you could slice off that horsefaced niece of yours would be an improvement."

Mr. Grover Whitney McKeister, the distinguished legislative consultant, hastened to avoid a case of broadicide by observing that he didn't think the Administration would be able to put over its National Compulsory Health Insurance Program—not unless, he added, it could command the services of a lobbying master-mind.

"Meaning yourself, I suppose?" sniffed Miss Reid. "I thought you were against socialized medicine."

"I am," replied Mr. McKeister, "But I have not been approached by either side. If the proper representations were made to me, I might feel that the sacred cause of duty transcended any personal prejudices."

"That is the most cynical and iniquitous statement I ever head!" yelled Miss Reid. "But it is typical of you lobbyists. You'd lobby your mother into Alcatraz for money."

My senior naval aide, machinist's mate Michelangelo Rembrandt Kelly, said he had been talking to his doctor and had been convinced that any form of nationalized medicine was a bad thing.

"My croaker," he said, "is a very sensible guy. I have a lot of confidence in him. He says the President's program would destroy the initiative of doctors and set the science of medicine back a thousand years, or maybe longer."

"I got a lot of faith in croakers," cut in Mr. Clarence W. (Slats) Rafferty, the retired safecracker. "If they say a thing is lousy I'm agin' it. I wouldn't be here today if a croaker hadn't been very good at removing lead from the carcass."

"He performed no service for humanity there," snorted Tabby Pratt, "this national health program will be a wonderful thing. "It will be such a relief not having to pay doctors' bills."

"Whaddaya mean, won't have to pay doctors' bills?" cried Machinist's Mate Kelly. "The American Medical Association estimates Truman's thing will cost between 10 and 18 billion dollars a year. You call that nothing?"

Mrs. Pratt said it would come in taxes from everybody, not just the sick, and Machinist's Mate Kelly declared she was bloody well right.

An Operation to Talk About—If the Patient Survives!

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Play Review

Play Is Solid Hit

By "Wink" Locklair

The best news that can be reported this morning is that "Repple Depple" is going to be given another performance this evening at 7:30 in the Playmakers Theatre. The largest first night audience to see a full-length experimental here for many years greeted with genuine enthusiasm Sam Hirsch's three-act farce about some officers and men who find themselves victims of red tape and organized confusion in Camp Coca Cola, a Replacement Depot if France. Popular demand has made necessary an extra showing.

As was expected, a large portion of the opening night audience as well as last night's crowd, had served in the armed forces during World War II, and they had come to see if "Repple Depple" was the Army they had known. Undoubtedly it was. They saw again the poor, unwanted, forever-bitching enlisted men; the rank-happy, hopelessly befuddled, glory-for-me officers; and the persistent, Yankee-loving (and looting) natives of the liberated countries.

Mr. Hirsch, who spent much of his own Army time in settings such as the one he created for the stage, has made all these people so realistic that, no doubt, "Repple Depple" for some in the audience, is a pleasant, nostalgic memoir.

Of course a thing like this could bog down and become pretty tiresome. But the playwright has given his actors such audience - appealing speeches, and director W. P. Covington, III, keeps them moving about at such a rapid pace, no one—if they find fault at all—could say that the play moves slowly.

Perhaps the one thing which caused such tumult and shouting the past two nights is the remarkably talented, yet inexperienced cast Mr. Covington rounded up. With the major exception of Dave Samples, the rest of the players were new to the boards or had played only bit parts. Joe Borello as Pvt. Antonino, Michael Pochna who played Pvt Apple, Frank Echols as Pvt Saul and Ed Lassiter as Pvt Burroughs were the most entertaining group of men seen on the Playmaker stage this season.

Needless to say there can be little argument that Mr. Samples, who has acted in and written plays of a very serious and tragic nature, is a rare comedian who made the role of Captain Spratt the star of the play. Mr. Samples mugged, burlesqued, worried and pratt-fell his way into the audience's affection from that dramatic moment when he burst in looking for the officers latrine until the fine second act curtain when Capt. Spratt goes off his nut, a mental state which seemed to be the fate of all Personnel Officers.

One of the surprises of the show was Erle Hall's Lt. Underwood. Before "Repple Depple," Mr. Hall had shown himself to no good advantage as a dancer in "The Beggar's Opera." However his business in the first two acts o fthe current play, climaxed by some really violent action in the closing moments of the final act, was something to see.

George Upchurch, as Sgt. Dowdy, handled nicely the role of the only sane member of the cast, and some of the best laughs came from or were instigated by Jim Byrd as Lt. MacPherson, and John Kirkman as Lt. Allen. There was also a diverting bit in the final act by a couple of French peddlers played by Lois Latham and Frederick Young. Others who contributed to the highly successful production were John Shercin, John Beshara, Dan McIntyre and Margie Cameron, who, in addition to playing a young French girl, Maie, was also responsible for the effective lighting.

Pete Strader's sets are always interesting to see for he usually does much research to get exactly what he wants. His backdrops were excellent. And although you don't have too much of a costume problem in an Army play, Marty Jacobs turned out a pretty skirt and blouse for Miss Cameron to wear. The uniforms would pass inspection, too.

As always the students who worked backstage added much to the style and appearance of "Repple Depple." They were Chuck Morrell, Fran Neal, Mac Shaw, John Constable, Ellen Smith, Ruth Groce, Gwen Finley, Mary Berker, Helen Brown, Colbert Leonard and Bill Sanders.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

OPEN LETTER TO ROSS

Dear Mr. Ross,

You seem uncommonly eager to ally yourself (in a single tremendous effort) with those people who believe they discharge their civic responsibilities with occasional blasts at "Communists" and/or the person of some alleged "Communist." The only explanation of your behavior which seems to stand up under careful examination is so disturbing that I am compelled to remark upon it:

I maintain that it is far more logical to suspect you of being the agent of a power interested in the downfall of the United States than it is to suspect the same of Mr. Freistadt. What could be more farsighted on the part of a nation anticipating war with this country than the planting in our midst of agents who pretend to be the most bigoted reactionaries?

While awaiting their opportunity to put a knife in our backs they slip poison in our cups in the form of intolerance, race hatred, and hypercapitalism. (If I am right, Mr. Ross, the Kremlin may be very displeased with you for having over-acted your role.)

Of course, I am discounting the possibility that, in spite of your brilliance as a mathematics student, you are so "pitifully wet" in other lines of reasoning as to believe it profits our country for us, in resentment, to "invite" citizens to leave simply because their ideas differ from our own.

And I have ignored the further possibility that you took the tack you did, merely through a belief that the forces of reaction are in ascendancy, and that you would profit personally from being in their camp. To believe either of these alternatives of you would be an injustice to your fine consecrated intellect.

At any rate, if your mission keeps you in America, I hope we can preserve your right to invite a citizen to leave—since your manners permit it.

A. H. Payne

RIDICULE

Editor:

Really, Sir, is it proper to ridicule persons whose letters appear on your editorial page?

Mr. Cherry's most recent letter doubtlessly was given much thought and, while some of the fruits of his strenuous cogitations may have been lost in the transcription, still your treatment was inexcusable.

To insert a quotation from Shakespeare (The great iconoclast?) which implied that Mr. Cherry's letter like Graziano's speech was all chaff and little wheat was very rude of you, sir.

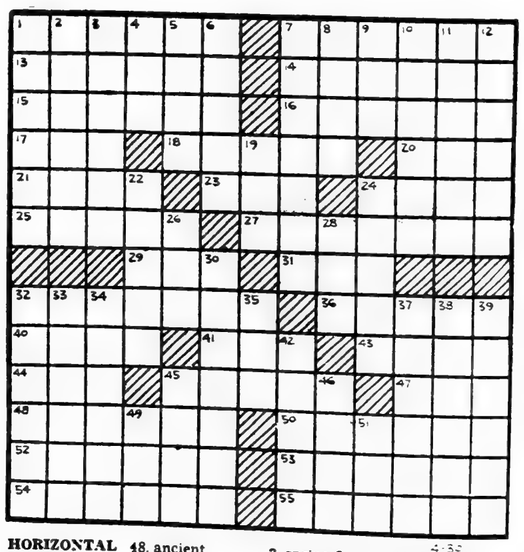
If Mr. Cherry becomes offended and ceases to lend his ready writing services, it will serve you right; you and the student body which was stupid enough to elect you; it will serve us all very right.

In the future, sir, it would behoove you, no matter how much chaff the letter of this unselfish mentor may appear to your unpracticed eye to contain, to refrain from calling attention to the fact. Let the student body be the judge.

R. Fowler, G. Cunningham,
B. Leckie

(Editor's note: The quotation from the "Merchant of Venice" which preceeded Mr. Cherry's letter was part of the letter and was not inserted by the editor.)

TERRIFIED



To Miss Addle,

A recent issue of the Tar Heel carried the story of the two young damsels who have been parading through the men's dorms here on the campus. Ever since I read this story, I have not been able to sleep at night. It seems that we aren't safe in our own rooms at night, not knowing who will barge in on us.

I am writing to you, hoping that you will be able to advise us of a way to cope with this situation.

Please send help.

Terrified

HORIZONTAL
1. gorge
7. slag
13. comes up
14. sots
15. armies
16. Biblical character
17. sesame
18. twilled woolen fabric
20. cyprinoid fish
21. level
23. pester continually
24. English architect
25. hold back
27. closest
29. seed container
31. narrow inlet
32. ointments
36. show mercy
40. accessory seed covering
41. soggy mass
43. gastropod
44. adult male
45. Canadian physician
47. hog
48. ancient Jewish ascetic
50. salty
52. staggerer
53. conjecturer
54. help
55. spirited horses

VERTICAL
1. hunted rats
2. reach
3. spring flower
4. equal: comb. form
5. cotton fiber knots
6. city in Germany
7. walk drunkenly
8. heart
9. unclose (poet.)
10. go to bed
11. Turkish decrees
12. acquiesce
19. wife of Aegir
22. Asiatic kingdom
24. outer garments
26. decay
28. three-toed sloths
31. sweets course
32. chamber, as of heart
33. effaces
34. washes lightly
35. the sun
37. relating to the Alps
38. devastated
39. European moths
42. Mexican coins
45. single individuals
46. enchanted
49. Hebrew high priest
51. prevarication

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 22 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Cool — Comforting — Beer — at HARRY'S

Baseballers Lose, 8-6, in 9th; Golfers Nip Virginia

Wolfpack Breaks Deadlock With Rally In Last Frame

By Lew Chapman

The ball clubs of Carolina and State indulged in another of their typical slugfests yesterday at Emerson Stadium and after nine frantic innings of play, the boys from Raleigh emerged with the most productive afternoon's work and edged the locals in a tight contest, 8-6.

It was a bitter pill that the boys from State forced down the local's throat because it marked a serious blow to the Tar Heels aspirations of retaining the Big Four crown that Carolina won last year. The Tar Heel's record in the present Big Four standings now rests at two wins and three losses with a tough row to hoe in the future.

This afternoon the Carolina diamonders will have an excellent opportunity to get back in the running when they entertain the Deacons of Wake Forest, the present pace-setters, in a clash slated to get underway at 4 o'clock at Emerson Stadium. Ray Blair has been nominated by Coach Bunn Hearn to do the mound work for the Tar Heels.

A Real Thriller

Yesterday's clash was a thriller in every sense of the word with the Wolfpack only insuring the contest with a solid two run outburst in the last inning. Up until the fateful ninth, Carolina chucker Andy Tranavitch had kept the Raleigh collegians pretty well in hand.

The Wolfpack took advantage of Tranavitch's wildness in the first frame by scoring three runs and gaining a lead that they held until the seventh when a Tar Heel uprising knotted the count at 6-6.

But in the ninth State's heavy artillery came into play. Big Hank Utley led off and promptly belted a double into the left-field corner. Despite this initial blow, the outlook still was favorable for the Tar Heels when catcher Bill Fowler slapped a grounder to Rip Ryan which the Carolina shortstop converted into force-play on Utley at third.

State's Jack McComas popped up for the second out and Carolina fans breathed easier. But Don Cheek poked out a long triple to right center to score Fowler and then Cheek came riding home on Mark Livingston's fourth hit of the day. That was the ball game as Ernie Johnson, the Wolfpack's workhorse right-hander, set the locals down in short order.

Ward Triples

Carolina began pecking away at the State lead in the second inning by scoring a pair of tallies to make the score 3-2 at that point. These runs were affected by a triple by Don Ward that chased in John Senter and a bingle by Tranavitch that scored Ward.

State lengthened their lead in the fourth when secondsacker Livingston deposited one of Tranavitch's offerings into the hedges bordering Lenoir hall for a home run with one mate on.

After State dented the plate once in the top of the seventh the Tar Heels came back with three big runs to tie the score. Zero Allen started the parade with a single to center and moved to second when Stan Goodman walked. Rop Ryan lined a hit to center to score Allen and then on a pair of wild throws by the Wolfpack shortstop McComas, on two Carolina ground balls, Ryan and Sid Varney went all the way round to tie the count and set the stage for the disasterous ninth.

And State to Boot!

Carolina	ab	r	h	po	a	e
Allen, cf	5	1	1	2	0	1
Goodman, 2b	3	1	3	2	2	0
Ryan, ss	4	1	0	3	5	1
Varney, c	5	1	0	4	3	1
Lamb, rf	4	0	0	1	0	0
Senter, 3b	4	1	1	5	1	1
Ward, lf	3	2	1	0	0	0
Hobbs, 1b	4	0	1	0	2	0
Tranavitch, p	4	0	2	0	6	1
Totals	36	6	9	27	19	4

State	ab	r	h	po	a	e
Evans, cf	4	0	2	2	0	0
Utley, 3b	3	1	1	3	3	0
Fowler, c	5	3	0	2	1	0
McComas, ss	4	1	1	2	6	3
Cheek, lf	3	2	1	1	0	0
Livingstone, 2b	5	1	1	4	7	3
Massack, rf	4	0	1	3	0	0
Council, 1b	5	0	1	8	1	0
Johnson, P	4	0	1	0	3	0
Totals	38	8	12	27	17	3

Runs batted in—Livingstone 5, Cheek 2, Tranavitch 2, Ryan, Ward. Doubles Utley. Triples—Ward, Cheek. Home runs—Livingstone. Stolen bases—Evans, Livingstone. Double plays—McComas, Livingstone,—Council. Left on bases—Carolina 7, State 8. Strikeouts—Tranavitch 4, Johnson 1. Bases on balls—Tranavitch 5, Johnson 4. Hit batter—by Tranavitch (McComas). Passed ball—Fowler. Time—2:03. Umpires—Bello and Bedenfield.

Today's Sports

Baseball

Varsity baseball—Carolina vs Wake Forest at Emerson Stadium at 4 o'clock.

Freshman baseball—Carolina vs Wake Forest at Wake Forest.

Football

Annual Blue-White game at Kenan Stadium at 2 o'clock.

Tennis

Varsity tennis—Carolina vs Princeton at Princeton.

Lacrosse

Varsity lacrosse—Carolina vs Annapolis Lacrosse Club on Navy Field at 11 o'clock.

Track

Varsity—Carolina vs N. C. State on Fetzer Field 11 o'clock.

Annual Penn Relays at Philadelphia.

MAJOR League Results

National League

Boston	6	4	.600
New York	5	4	.566	½
Pittsburgh	5	4	.566	½
Brooklyn	6	5	.545	½
Cincinnati	4	4	.500	1
Chicago	5	5	.500	1
St. Louis	4	5	.444	1½
Philadelphia	4	8	.333	2½

American League

New York	9	2	.818
Cleveland	6	2	.750	1½
Philadelphia	6	6	.500	3½
Chicago	5	5	.500	3½
Boston	5	5	.500	3½
Detroit	5	5	.500	3½
St. Louis	3	7	.300	5½
Washington	2	9	.182	7

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

National League

Philadelphia 5, Brooklyn 2
Chicago 5, St. Louis 4

American League

New York 7, Boston 1
Philadelphia 6, Washington 5
Cleveland 4, Detroit 1

TODAY'S GAMES

American League

Boston (Dobson 0-2) at New York (Byrne 1-0)

Washington (Calvert 0-2) at Philadelphia (Coleman 1-1)

Cleveland (Paige 0-0) at Detroit (Trucks 2-0)

Chicago (Gumbert 1-1) at St. Louis (Starr 0-2)

National League

New York (Jansen 0-1) at Boston (Sain 0-2)

Philadelphia (Borowy 0-1) at Brooklyn (Banta 0-0)

Pittsburgh (Chambers 1-0) at Cincinnati (Wehmeier 0-0)

St. Louis (Hearn 0-0) at Chicago (Rush 1-1)

Stickmen Play

Rounding out the athletic program for today is a lacrosse game between Carolina and the Annapolis Lacrosse Club which is set for 11 o'clock this morning.

The visiting team, which has posted wins against Washington College and the Maryland Lacrosse Club thus far this season, is expected to come out on top in this morning's game. Coached by Eddie Turner of St. John's College in Annapolis, the squad is composed of former college lacrosse players.

The game will be played on Navy Field at the same time on Navy iFeld at the same time as the State-Carolina track meet is being run of Fetzer Field.

Bob Seligman, Sam Magill Take Seconds in Penn Relays

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

PHILADELPHIA, April 29—Weight man Bob Seligman and two-miler Sam Magill, both of the University of North Carolina posted seconds here today in the opening of the annual Penn Relays.

With the feature 480 yard shuttle hurdles relay scheduled for tomorrow, all other Tar Heels from the University of North Carolina remained idle today.

Seligman placed second to Yale's Victor Frank who tossed the discus 170 feet, 7 3-4 inches. Seligman's throw was good for 159 feet, 4 1-4 inches and a new University of North Carolina record.

Magill finished the two-mile close behind Penn State's Ashenfelter who completed the eight lap course in 9:21.5. Magill's time was 9:25.6, the best he has ever done while at the University.

Tomorrow afternoon the crack shuttle hurdles relay team of freshman sensation sensation Bill Albans, Bob Morrow, Dick Taylor and Jack Moody will compete and are top favorites in that event. The Tar Heel timber-toppers ran the 480 yards in 61.5 seconds in the Carolina Relays at Chapel Hill last month.

Bob Kirk, holder of the University record for the javelin throw, will also compete tomorrow. Kirk set the University record against Princeton April 9 with a toss of 195 feet.

Billy Joyner, Carolina's ace high-jumper, will also see action tomorrw, Joyner and Albans have been consistant winners in this event in previous meets this year.

A near capacity crowd was on hand today to witness the 55th annual running of the largest track and field event in and around Philadelphia. The event, sponsored by the University of Pennsylvania, is being held in the heart of Philadelphia on the University's Franklin Field.

'Happy' Suspends Leo Indefinitely For Striking Fan

NEW YORK, April 29.—(UP)—Lippy Leo Durocher, fiery manager of the New York Giants was suspended from Baseball indefinitely today by Commissioner A. B. Chandler in a move that could presage the end of his flamboyant diamond career.

The suspension, second meted out to "The Lip" by Chandler, was ordered on the heels of an "altercation" at the Polo Grounds yesterday. Durocher was accused of striking and kicking a spectator after the New York Giants had dropped a 15 to 2 game to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Durocher's suspension was effective immediately and he was not allowed to manage the Giants n tonight's game at Boston against the Braves. Frankie Frisch, 51, Giant coach with managerial experience at St. Louis and Pittsburgh, was named temporary manager.

Durocher was suspended by Chandler for a year in 1947 for conduct detrimental to Baseball. Chandler never explained what he based the charges on, but the expulsion took place after Durocher quarreled bitterly and in public with Larry MacPhail, then head of the New York Yankees over the presence of alleged gamblers at a spring training game in Florida.

Durocher's new suspension was to last while Chandler investigated the charge that he struck and kicked Fred Boysen, 22, ardent Dodger fan. Durocher emphatically denied the charge by saying: I didn't hit him. . . I didn't hit him."

In Boston, the stunned Durocher said he has not been officially notified by Chandler of the suspension or of the hearing. He said, however, that he has been ordered by President Horace Stoneham of the Giants to return to New York immediately.

Frosh Tracksters Beat Durham High 75-46 on Fetzer

In something of a walkaway, the Tar Baby tracksters of Coach Dick Hollander copped their second win of the season by capturing top honors 75-46 in a meet with the cidermen of Durham High on Fetzer Field yesterday. wins and two losses to their credit.

Gene Brigham was by far the outstanding runner of the afternoon amassing two first places and a third for a total of thirteen points. His winning times in the 220 and 440 were excellent; his third victory came in the 100-yard dash.

Timber-topper Cecil Pless was also at his best taking firsts in both hurdle events. Romas White took a first and two thirds while Gordon Hamrick remained undefeated in the mile.

Summary:

The Summary:

100 yard dash: 1. McDaniel (D), 2. Brigham (C), 3. Rigsbee (D). 10.3.

220-yard dash: 1. Brigham (C), 2. McDaniel (D), 3. Winslow (C). 22.6.

440-yard run: 1. Brigham (C), 2. Solaski (C), 3. Wolf (D). 51.6.

880-yard run: 1. Hines (D), 2. Williams (C), 3. Townsend (D). 2:06.3.

120 yard high hurdles: 1. Pless (C), 2. Woolcott (C), 3. Landron (D). 15.8.

200-yard low hurdles: 1. Pless (C), 2. Landron (D) 3. White (C). 23.3.

Mile run: 1. Hamrick (C), 2. Byrd (D), 3. Veasey (D). 4:39.3.

Pole vault: 1. White (C), 2. Whitfield (D). 9' 6".

High jump: 1. Winsor (C), 2. Wolfe (D), 3. White (C). 5' 8".

Discus: 1. Council (C), 2. Whitfield (D), 3. Byrd (D). 113' 9".

Shot put: 1. Berry (D), 2. O'Brien (C), 3. Whitfield (D). 46' 6 3-4".

Javelin: 1. Smitherman (D), 2. Foy (C), 3. Tulloch (C). 153'.

Mile Relay: Won by Durham. 3:45.

Ward, Cox Pace Local Linkmen To 14-13 Victory

By Billy Carmichael III

A couple of points salvaged from the final foursome proved the one tally margin necessary for victory at Hope Valley Country Club yesterday afternoon when the golfers of Carolina edged by the visiting linksmen of Virginia, 14-13, for their seventh win of the season.

Harvie Ward and Bob Cox, playing in the first foursome for the Tar Heels, delivered the best golf performed during the course of the match and provided a majority of the local points. Ward, visibly tired from a grueling week at Pinehurst, nevertheless carded a three-under-par 34-33—67 to best Cavalier ace Pat Janssen.

Ward matched 15 pars with birdies on the 8th, 14th and 17th holes. He had three other putts for birdies lip out of the hole in one of the better displays of putting he has shown on the Durham course all season.

Cox, too, had a great deal of hard luck in disposing of Bud Lovnig in the No. 2 match. The footballer had a 34-37—71 total.

Roy McKenzie and Oliver Sapp were the other winners of the day for the Tar Heels. McKenzie won all but one half of a point while shooting a 73. Sapp had a 77.

The summary:

Ward (C) defeated Janssen, 3-0. Cox (C) defeated Loving, 2-1. Best ball to Carolina, 2½-½.

McKenzie (C) defeated Leonard, 2½-½. McHenry (V) defeated Brantley, 3-0. Best ball halved, 1½-1½.

Phillips (V) defeated Brooks, 3-0. Sapp (C) defeated Miller 2-1. Best ball to Virginia, 2½-½.

Ward's and Cox's cards:

Par	343	443	345—35
Ward	434	443	444—34
Cox	335	343	454—34
Par	444	435	443—35-34—70
Ward	444	425	433—33-34—67
Cox	455	435	443—37-34—71

POOL CLOSED

Bowman Gray pool will be closed all day today because of the Blue-White football game.

Netmen To Engage Princeton; Both Squads Are Undefeated

The University of North Carolina's potent Tar Heel tennis team will meet the undefeated Princeton Wildcats here this afternoon in a match that will bounce one of the teams from the unbeaten ranks.

The Tar Heels, long recognized as one of the top college contingents in the nation, are riding the crest of a 15-game winning streak that started with their opening match against Michigan State College back in March.

Until earlier this week the University of North Carolina squad, under the coaching of veteran John Kenfield, held the national collegiate record for number of successive wins without defeat. William and Mary broke the record of 67 wins during the past week.

The Tar Heels will offer Vic Seixas as their best in the singles matches. Seixas is unbeaten this year and is the defending Southern Conference singles champion. Seixas plays in doubles matches with Carolina's number two man, Clark Taylor.

Taylor, one of New England's top amateurs, is also among the undefeated ranks. So far he has tallied 15 wins during the course of the season.

The rest of the Carolina lineup is as follows: Stan Gruner number three, Charlie Rice at the fourth spot, Duke Wilder playing number five, and Jim Winstead in the sixth spot.

The first meet on tab for the Tar Heels when they return to the Old North State is with the strong Davidson crew. Then the locals will play host for the Southern Conference championships. Coach Kenfield's tennismen will close their season against the power-laden William and Mary aggregation at Chapel Hill.

Frosh Suffer First Defeat, 7-4

Like their bigger brothers on the varsity, the freshmen baseball team didn't fare too well in their meeting with the State frosh baseballers over in Raleigh and succumbed to the Wolfcubs yesterday in a loosely played contest, 7-4.

It was a sad blow that the Tar Babies suffered, for it marked the first defeat of the season for the charges of coaches Henry House and Jim Hamilton. Before game-time the Carolina yearlings had won four games, including a well earned victory over the State first yearmen in a fray held last Saturday here in Chapel Hill.

The Carolina frosh "brain trust" nominated their ace hurler, Monroe Johnson, to pitch in hopes of extending their winning streak, but loose play afield proved to be the downfall of the Tar Babies as six of the seven Wolfcub tallies were unearned. Johnson chucked a creditable ballgame in sustaining his first setback of the year, allowing only one untainted run, but his usually dependable mates experienced a bad day on the defense.

State scored early and often and had a comfortable 7-1 lead going into the top of the last frame when the Tar Babies made a last ditch attempt to overcome the deficit and win the game. The Tar Babies grouped four hits and several walks to push across three runs but the fire was put out when State rushed in a new pitcher. The last out was affected when the State third-sacker pulled in a vicious line drive off the bat of Tar Baby Ben Smith.

Several freshmen starred in the losing cause as Bill Reaves Mark Herring and Russell Whiteheart kept up their excellent hitting by pacing the team at the plate.

This afternoon the Tar Babies will journey to Wake Forest and seek their second victory over the Baby Deacons. Last week the freshmen opened their season with a triumph over the highly touted yearlings of Baptist Hollow.

FREE DELIVERY
on orders from
THE COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
Monday — Friday
at
9:15 And 10:15
DIAL 6061

THE STORY OF THE BRIDE WHO KISSED... AND KILLED!
Fabulous in splendor and blood-stirring adventure!
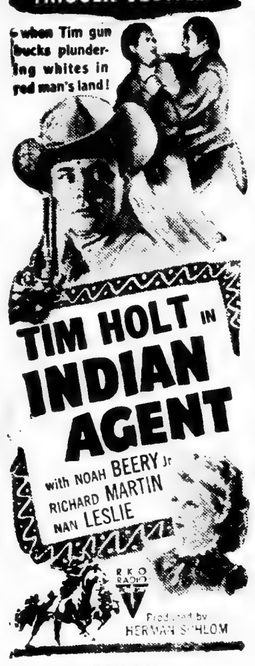
"Bride of Vengeance" with ALBERT DEKKER JOHN SUTTON • RAYMOND BURR
Produced by RICHARD MAIBAUM
Directed by MITCHELL LEISEN
A Paramount Picture starring
PAULETTE GODDARD • JOHN LUND • MACDONALD CAREY
A MITCHELL LEISEN production
LATE SHOW TONIGHT
SUNDAY — MONDAY
CAROLINA



AUTO PARTS
New . Used . Rebuilt
Open Saturday Afternoon And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

Carolina Sport Shop presents
the NEW 45 R.P.M. (REVOLUTIONS PER MINUTE) Record Players
by Motorola
PERFECT RADIO RECEPTION
NEW Motorola 45 R.P.M. PORTABLE
Automatic RADIO-PHONOGRAPH
COMPACT—LIGHT—PORTABLE
A trim, self-contained unit that's light — easy to carry — small — as small as a lady's vanity case.
Now! Enjoy a brilliant new standard of recorded entertainment! Marvelous tone reproduction — swiftest, silent automatic changer — new low cost records! Plays unbreakable 7-inch records (5 minutes per side) on AC current. Storage space holds 27 records. Leather-effect mahogany colored case, bronze-gold trim. See it! Hear it, now!
$59.95
Marvelous tone, distortion-free — amazingly life-like!
New unbreakable 7-inch records cost less — play as much as 12-inch records.
Swiftest, most silent record changer now available for the first time!
5 minutes of music per side — 50 minutes of music before turning records.
NEW Motorola 45 R.P.M. ATTACHMENT FOR YOUR PRESENT RADIO
Thrill to flawless, distortion-free record reproduction through your present radio! The new Motorola 45 R.P.M. automatic radio-phonograph attachment works through any home radio—you simply plug it in—then sit back and relax to 50 minutes of music before turning records. So excitingly different, you'll have to see and hear it to believe it!
$24.95
Carolina Sport Shop

TERRACE VIEW SUPPER CLUB
Refreshments For Any Occasion
REASONABLE RATES
— Fried Chicken — Seafoods —
Draft Beer By The Pitcher
BEER CHILLED CORRECTLY
— Sizzling Steaks — Chops —
BANQUET ROOM FOR PRIVATE PARTIES
No Cover Charge — Open 3:00 P.M. Till — $1.00 Minimum on Weekends

HE HELD A LOADED GUN AT THE HEART OF A GREAT CITY!
He Walked by Night
FROM THE HOMICIDE FILES OF THE LOS ANGELES POLICE
BROUGHT THRILLINGLY TO LIFE BY THE MAKERS OF "CANON CITY"
Starring RICHARD BASEHART SCOTT "CANON CITY" BRADY with Roy Roberts Whit Bissell James Cardwell Jack Webb Produced by Robert T. Kane
Directed by Alfred Werker Screenplay by John C. Higgins and Crane Wilbur
Additional dialogue by Harry Essex Original story by Crane Wilbur
A Bryan Foy Production An EAGLE LION FILMS Presentation
Also
SPOTLIGHT — NOVELTY
TODAY
CAROLINA

For The
NEWEST FASHIONS
in MENS CLOTHING
visit
THE Sport SHOP
120 E. MAIN ST.
Durham

TRIGGER JUSTICE
when Tim gun bucks plundering whites in red man's land!

TIM HOLT IN INDIAN AGENT
with NOAH BEERY Jr
RICHARD MARTIN
NAN LESLIE
RKO RADIO
Produced by HERMAN SCHLOM
TODAY
VILLAGE

CAMPUS CALENDAR

9:00—NATIONAL Student Association. Roland Parker 1, 2, 3. Grail, GM. (Continues throughout day)
11:00—TRACK Meet. Fetzer Field
1:30—BAND Maneuvers. Kenan Stadium.
2:00 — BLUE - WHITE Football game. Kenan Stadium.
4:00—BASEBALL game. Wake Forest vs Carolina. Emerson Field.
8:00—SQUARE DANCE. Tin Can
8:00 — HILLEL Dance. Main lounge. GM.
8:00—GENERAL Partying. All over campus.

-Blue-White-

(Continued from page 1)

tion to the running power of the Blues, they boast the stronger passing outfit. Justice, Hayes and Dick Bunting will probably make the most of an air attack that will see Weiner and Powell on the receiving end.

With only 19 regulars returning for next year's season, today's game might well be a big determining factor in deciding starting positions for next year. Coach Carl Snavely, who directed the Tar Heels of 1948 to a season blemished with only one tie, will play a non-partisan role in today's show and will be just a spectator in the stands for the game.

At halftime the Monogram Club will present awards to the outstanding coach of the year as well as the outstanding assistant coach. The practice was started two years ago when tennis mentor John Kenfield was presented the award for producing great tennis teams, the like of which are hard to equal. The second award to the top assistant went to Jim "Chief" Gill, assistant to Coach Snavely. Last year Snavely and Swimming Coach Ralph Casey won the awards.

Also, as a part of the halftime extravaganza, sponsors of the two teams will be presented by Monogram Moguls. Expected to be on hand for the gala show are 10,000 high school students from throughout the state who are guests of the University.

NURSE VIRGINIA VUKOVICH administers oxygen to Richard Johnson, 13, at a Bronx, N. Y. hospital, as the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, and the Reverend Alfred Pannacker, look on. Richard was stabbed through the lung from the rear by a thirteen-year-old classmate because he could not lend his assailant a penny.

Rhodes Scholarships Are Open To Students

Rhodes Scholarships for 1949 will be awarded to scholars elected to enter the University of Oxford in October, 1950, C. P. Spruill, chairman of the scholarship committee, said yesterday.

The basic value of a Rhodes Scholarship is $1,600 per year, but this sum is for the present supplemented by a special allowance of $400 per year. This special allowance, however, is subject to periodic review by the Trustees in the light of economic conditions and may be reduced or discontinued.

To be eligible for scholarship, a candidate must be male citizen of this country, unmarried, and between the ages of 19 and 25 on October 1, 1950. The candidate must have completed at least his Sophomore year by the time of application.

Written applications must be filed next fall, where they will be judged by the University Committee and the best ones will be forwarded to the State Committee. This Committee will select two candidates to go to the Regional Committee which will be held in Atlanta, Ga., or Columbia, S. C.

Four candidates will be awarded Rhodes Scholarships by this Committee. Candidates from six states will be reviewed by the Committee. These states are North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, Tennessee, and Florida.

News Policy Outlined For Daily Tar Heel

Bill Buchan, managing editor of the Daily Tar Heel, today informed every department, club, and organization on the campus that coverage would be given every activity. Buchan also invited any organization that felt it wasn't receiving enough publicity to either see him or notify the news office so that the matter could be corrected.

"The Daily Tar Heel has every intention of giving maximum coverage to every organization," Buchan asserted, "but a critical shortage of reporters makes it impossible for us to attend every one of the meetings held on the campus each day. Our staff members and reporters are hard-working and conscientious but they are still students with daily assignments to prepare for their regular courses. This makes it impossible for the staff to cover personnally everything that goes on.

"If the groups who are receiving inadequate coverage in the DTH will either come by the news office in Graham Memorial, or call us, we will see that they get the desired publicity."

Buchan also stressed the importance of addressing mail to the Daily Tar Heel in the proper manner. Letters to the Editor or any other correspondence to the paper should be addressed to The Daily Tar Heel, Box 1080, Chapel Hill if sent through the mails. If sent by campus messenger, it should be addressed The Daily Tar Heel, Room 209, Graham Memorial.

Roadbed Collapses; Mishap Kills Three

MANCHESTER, Ga., April 29 —(UP)—A rain-weakened roadbed collapsed under an Atlantic Coast Line freight today and three died in the telescoping wreckage.

The engine and tender plunged into the hole and the crewmen were trapped and buried under tons of coal from the tender. They were listed as J. G. Pressley, engineer; John Hill, Negro, brakeman, and Frank Perry, Negro, fireman.

Dog Vaccinations To Be Given Today

Dr. Chrisman of the public health department will hold a rabies clinic for all dogs at the elementary school this afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock. He will also be at Rob Hackney's store near the University laundry on Cameron Ave. from 4:30 to 5:30.

DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL BLVD
TODAY
DILLINGER
With
Lawrence Tierney
Also
Selected Shorts
75c Per Car
Shows at 7:15 & 9:15

STARTING MONDAY
K & M
BEER DELIVERY SERVICE
Will Be Located Under Milton's Clothing Cupboard
on
West Franklin Street
SAME QUICK DELIVERY
Of All Brands of ICE-COLD BEER
NEW PHONE — F-5347

Get Acquainted Offer
Mercury Club
10 OUNCE DRAFT BEER 10 CENTS
BOTTLE BEER — 20c
ARROW BEER — 15c bottle
16 Acres to drink it in
HOURS 4-7
MERCURY CLUB
Your only student night club operated by students
For students

N. C. SYMPHONY
Benjamin Swalin, conducting
with Josephine Cunningham
soprano soloist
MONDAY — 8:30 — MAY 2
MEMORIAL HALL
Tickets on sale at
Ab's Bookshop — Y — Ledbetter-Pickard
ADULTS $2.40 STUDENTS & WIVES $1.20

ELECTRICAL REPAIR SERVICE
FOR
All Makes Of Refrigerators
Electric Fans
Electric And Gas Ranges
Oil Burners
All Types Of Motors
And Small Appliances
AT
BENNETT & BLOCKSIDGE
105 E. Franklin St.
PHONE 6161

BIG DATE THIS WEEKEND?

LET US
Help You Prepare For It
UNIVERSITY CLEANERS
Your Sanitone Dry Cleaners

CLASSIFIED

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

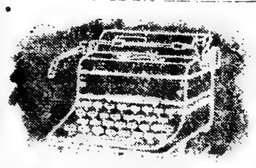
ALL MAKES OF LAWN MOWERS repaired, machine sharpened. Axes, hatchets, scythes also sharpened. Tripps Lawn Mower Repair Shop or see John Tripp, Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1x1)

WHY PLAY A PIANO THAT'S OUT of tune? Let me tune it for you. Reasonable rates. Call Tom Potter at 9536 between 2-5 p. m. (3-6718-1)

FOR SALE 6B

THREE USED FRIGIDAIRE REFRIGerators, two used Kelvinator refrigerators, two used electric ranges. Call Bennett & Blocksidge. 6161. (ch1x1)

FOR SALE: 18 FT. TRAILER WITH electric hot water heater and refrigerator. Butane gas stove and heater. 38-A Trailer Ct. Pittsboro road. (3-6725-1)



HELP WANTED 8

UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds, athletics, and other camp activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment, room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable dining quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

WANTED 24

HOME FOR TWO YEAR OLD MALE cocker spaniel. Would prefer [illegible] little boy or girl [illegible] but would like one with mother's permission. Contact Bill Buchan, DTH office. (4-1200-1)

Gibbs secretarial training gives college women "early-bird" start toward a satisfying business career. For illustrated catalog write College Course Dean.
KATHARINE GIBBS
[illegible] NEW YORK 17 90 Marlborough St. BOSTON 16

Always Buy CHESTERFIELD
MAKE YOURS THE MILDER CIGARETTE

The TOP MEN of AMERICA'S SPORTS smoke CHESTERFIELD
WHITEY LOCKMAN says..."It's Chesterfields for me everytime. I smoke 'em because they're really milder and better-tasting."
MORE COLLEGE STUDENTS SMOKE CHESTERFIELDS THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE
BY LATEST NATIONAL SURVEY
Copyright 1949, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

PRIL 30, 1949
DAY
ICE
lton's
VERY
BEER
-5347
Offer
ub
CENTS
20c bottle
in LUB
d by students
ELD
GARETTE
ITS SMOKE
HER CIGARETTE

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

EDITORIALS

Meet Jenrette and Claybrook
Spiritual Orientation
On Fraternity Rushing

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Cloudy and mild: possible rain.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, MAY 1, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 157

Clinic To Hear Dean Weaver At Final Meet

Business Session To Precede Talk

Dean Fred Weaver will address the final session of this week-end's NSA Publications clinic at a dinner set for 12:45 today at the Presbyterian church.

Although no subject has been announced for his speech, the dean is expected to devote most of his talk to a discussion of the advantages of close interschool relations in the publications field and elsewhere.

Previous to the dinner, a last business session will be held this morning at 9:30 in Graham Memorial. At this meeting, the delegates will review the three panels, one each on yearbook, the editorial side of newspapers, and publications business offices, which the clinic has held.

Ten schools from the states of West Virginia, Virginia, and North Carolina have participated in the clinic. However, report of its work including a summary of the panels held, will be sent to all schools in the tri-state area.

Gerns said last night that he would like to thank Bill Mackie, Dick Jenrette, Ed Joyner, Bill Claybrook, Bill Buchan, Tom Holden, and C. B. Mendenhall for what he termed "their splendid co-operation in planning and conducting the clinic." Gerns also commented that most of the delegates feel the meetings have been highly successful and that they learned much which they will take back to their own schools.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

9:00 to 12:00—NATIONAL Students Association. Roland Parker 1, 2, 3, GM.
8:00 & 10:00—CATHOLIC MASS. Gerrard Hall.
9:00—HILLEL BREAKFAST. Rendezvous room, GM.
4:00—COSMOPOLITAN CLUB. Horace Williams Lounge, GM.
5.00—UNC BAND Lawn Concert.
8:00—CAROLINA POLITICAL Union. Grail room, GM.
8:00—LECTURE. Gilbert Chase will speak. Hill Hall.

TOMORROW

4:00—DEBATES COUNCIL. Grail room, GM.
5:00—CAMPUS PARTY. Roland Parker 2, GM.
7:00—MEDICAL FRATERNITY. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
7:00—STUDENT PARTY. Roland Parker 3, GM.
7:00—UNIVERSITY CLUB. Roland Parker 1, GM.
7:15— IFC, Alumni Building.
7:30—KARL MARX Study Society. Roland Parker 2, GM.
8:15—DANCE COMMITTEE. Grail room, GM.
8:30—NORTH CAROLINA Symphony Orchestra Concert. Memorial Hall.

Just an Oversight; Everyone's Happy

HUNTERSVILLE, April 30—(UP)—This is a friendly community where even the politicians get along happily.

Jack Ranson, a candidate for mayor, forgot to file officially to get on the ballot.

Mayor Lee Mullen and another mayoral candidate, Gene Hager, agreed it would be all right to let him in the race anyway if he will pay for printing a new set of ballots.

Scene of Carnival Must be Policed

Navy field, the scene of the Friday night Blue-White Carnival, must be cleaned of the litter caused by the participating organizations by Monday, University Club President Ik Rolader announced yesterday.

University Band To Give Concert

Marks Opening of National Music Week; Six Seniors in Music Department to Direct

In a lawn concert to be presented this afternoon by the combined University Bands at 5 o'clock near Davie poplar, six graduating seniors in the Music Department who are becoming band directors in various high schools of the state will direct.

Band directors for this afternoon's concert are as follows: Harry Hall, Edwin Litaker, Dwight Price, James Rodgers, Kenneth Stroup, and Gene Stryker.

The program is dedicated to the observance of Music Week. This week, May 1 through May 8, has been proclaimed as National Music Week for the purpose of broadening the contribution of music to the public welfare.

Among the compositions to be featured on this afternoon's program are "Orlando Palandrino," by Haydn; "Fable," Gillette; Offenbach's "The Lantern Marriage"; Yoder's "Mountain Majesty"; and several other numbers including marches.

"Orlando Palandrino" is the overture to one of Haydn's many operatic works which were commissioned by the Austrian court for private and informal presentation. The work was written in 1789, and has been transcribed for the modern symphonic band just last year.

Also to be featured is "Fable," by James R. Gillette, eminent American composer. This work with its gay, dance-like beginning, lyrical main theme, and sombre march for brass choir, suggests the portrayal of some mythical story.

Jacques Offenbach's "The Lantern Marriage" was the overture to his favorite opera, written in 1857. Offenbach's scores are known for a delicacy, grace, and poetic feeling perfectly adapted to the fanciful imagination, without being too pretentious as music.

The musical content of "Mountain Majesty" is intended to portray the majesty and grandeur of mountain scenery. The opening tympani roll and succeeding chords suggest the clouds rolling away to reveal the rugged outlines of a mountain range against the sky. The chorale reflects man's reverence in the face of nature's mighty works.

The public is cordially invited, and in the event of rain, the concert will be held in Hill Hall auditorium.

Annual Derby Dance Slated By Sigma Chi

Fraternity Selects Court Participants

The Sigma Chi Fraternity chose eleven girls in their chapter meeting Wednesday night who will constitute the court for their annual Sweetheart Ball to be held May 7th in the Pine Room of Lenoir Hall. Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra will play for the affair. The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi will be chosen from these eleven girls but her name will not be disclosed until intermission at the dance.

The girls selected to be in the court are: Estelle Suddreth, Gene Francis Caraher, Pattie Ann Frizzel, Peggy Martin, Norma Jean Dew, Jane Gower, Ann Royster, Charleen Greer, Betty Smith, Mike Merker, and Patricia Denning.

In addition to the ball the fifth annual Sigma Chi Derby will be held in Kenan Stadium that Saturday afternoon. The five sororities and the C. L. C.A will participate in various events as well as a skit and a "Miss Modern Venus" Contest. The events will include the co-ed's Decathalon, Egg and I, Adams Apple—Coed's Orange, Cheek to Cheek, and April Showers. The exact nature of these events will not be disclosed until the afternoon of the Derby.

A cup is given to the organization winning the largest number of points in all the events. The girl named "Miss Modern Venus" also receives an individual cup.

Community Sing Is Called Off

The University Club sponsored Community Sing, scheduled for tonight, will not be held, President Ike Rolader announced yesterday. Difficulty was encountered when the Club attempted to obtain the use of the Forest Theater and Memorial Hall. Both are in use tonight, Rolader said.

Campus Party Plans Meeting Tomorrow

The Campus party will meet tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in Roland Parker Lounge 2, Vestal Taylor, chairman, said yesterday. All party members are urged to be present, Taylor said.

Orange County Cancer Drive Over the Top

Is First In State To Exceed Quota

Colonel G. B. Cline, chairman of the Cancer Fund campaign in Orange county, yesterday announced that this county was the first in the state to exceed its assigned fund quota.

Workers went over the top by $150, accunulating a total of $1,860. The Orange County goal was $1,710 for this year. Returns are still incomplete, Col. Cline said, there are still some workers to report in, and it is expected that the total will go even higher.

The Colonel explained that "there was probably less contributed per person this year, but there has been better coverage of the community. More people have been contacted by our workers, and probably more people contributed this year."

Several of the Campus organizations represented at the Blue-White Carnival Friday night donated the proceeds from their concessions of the Cancer Fund, Ike Rolader, University Club president said yesterday. Exact figures were not available at that time.

Member Drive To End Monday

Monday will mark the final day of the Chi Delta Phi literary sorority membership drive, president Phylis Ann Gentry announced yesterday.

All coeds who plan to attend the University next year are eligible for entry into the sorority, she said. Manuscripts for judging by Chi Phi members are to be sumitted to the information desk of Graham Memorial. The manuscripts will be at a closed meeting Monday night.

DeMerath to Speak To Marxian Group

Prof. N. J. DeMerath of the Sociology Department will speak tomorrow night on "Karl Marx and Scientific Sociology" at a meeting of the Karl Marx Study Society. The meeting wil be at 7:30 in Roland Parker Lounge 2 of Graham Memorial. The public is invited to attend.

Senior Invitations Available Tuesday

Senior graduation invitations will be distributed in the Y lobby Tuesday from 9 to 4 o'clock, Ray Jeffries, spokesman from the Grail, said yesterday. Jeffries urged all students who ordered invitations to pick them up Tuesday.

RETIRING SECRETARY OF THE ARMY Kenneth Royal (right) and John L. Sullivan, who resigned as Secretary of the Navy, have an informal farewell chat at the Pentagon Building in Washington. Sullivan left the Cabinet in protest against the abandonment of plans to build the Navy's 65,000-ton aircraft carrier United States.

Chi Phi's, Tri-Delts Join; Take Carnival Honors

Barker's Blood and Customer Curiosity Overcome Weather, Produce Big Crowd

By Don Maynard

The University Club-sponsored Blue and White Carnival Friday night got under way on schedule despite threatening skies and frantic efforts by clubbers to find the Cat Girl and a canvas large enough to suspend over damp Navy field.

Seventeen concessions were erected by various campus organizations, with fraternities, sororities and men and women's dorms sponsoring booths containing attractions such as "the original" Dixieland Band, a freak show, and squirrel-shooting.

The joint concession of Chi Phi and Tri-Delt took first honors for the most original booth, one called "Hit the Squirrel." June Crockett, Mary Ainsley McNease and Caroline Harrill alternated lying in a bed rigged to a squirrel target-trigger which dumped the coeds each time it was hit by a pitched baseball.

Place and show were won by the PiKAs and Betas respectively with their side show and "Slam Sam" booths.

Announcement of the award to the joint concession, a loving cup, was made before the crowds present at the inter-squad football game yesterday at Kenan Stadium.

Outstanding among the groups were the Chi Omega coeds who collected $51.15 from a bingo concession. Except for the entry fee, the Chi O booth cost the sorority not a penny, said Chi O Ida Constable. Prizes for the bingo players were donated by the Merchants' Association of Chapel Hill.

Among other organizations represented were KA's with a traditionally Southern open air patio and Dixieland jazz band, and ADPi had a shooting gallery at which funsters attempted to shoot out candles with water-guns.

Phi Delts' contribution was a penny-pitching display, Sigma Nu had a baseball throwing booth, Alderman dormitory a slingshot shooting concession and Pi Lambda Chi another penny-pitching attraction.

Sigma Nu had a baseball throwing booth, Alderman dormitory a slingshot shooting concession and Pi Lambda Chi a penny-pitching attraction.

Chi Psi featured a prize-fishing booth, ATO a muffin pan game of chance, Mangum dormitory had another shooting gallery where participants shot at moving squirrels with air guns, and SPE sponsored a fortune-telling booth.

'Merrily We Love' Tickets on Sale

Advance ticket sales for Sound and Fury's "Merrily We Love" will open in the lobby of the "Y" tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock according to an announcement made yesterday by LeRoy Milks, chairman of the ticket sales committee.

All tickets will be general admission for both nights, However any fraternities, sororities or other organizations or groups who wish to purchase blocks of tickets for ten or more may have a reserved section set aside for the mby contacting Milks early this week. Sale price on the tickets is $.75 per person.

"Merrily We Love" was written by Forrest Covington with music by Frank Matthews. The show will run for two nights beginning next Thursday evening. Curtain time has been set at 8:15.

Well-Dressed Ladies

Latest Fashions Modeled By Coeds At Show; Beachwear, School, Bridal Clothes Featured

By Betty Poirson

Beachwear, school clothes, "stepping-out" clothes, and even bridal finery were featured at the CICA fashion show held here Tuesday evening at the Carolina Theatre. What the well dressed college student will be wearing this spring was modeled by representatives from the five sororities, the Town Girls' Association, and CICA, while members of the Monogram Club served as escorts.

With graduation not far away, the program appropriately opened with a selection of clothes for that big event. Marty Hinkle modeled a white waffle pique, two-piece dress, which featured a batteau neckline. The simple lines of the dress were repeated in a matching hat topped with pique flowers.

For traveling, Jean Sloanc's pure silk Chantung of cliff stone beige was very striking. Its soft lines and cool appearance were contrasted by a bright gipsy scarf at the neck. A pleasing variation of the travel standby was a navy blue suit modeled by Mary Ann Harper. The double - breasted, smartly tailored jacket was enhanced by the neat appearance of the pencil slim skirt.

Now that warm weather is here, and those picnics and beach parties are getting under way, minds naturally turn to sports wear. Barbara DeWitt solved the problem of what to wear with her rose and white print sundress. The elastic shirred top created a fitted bodice which was accentuated by the full gathered skirt. The always good, always comfortable shorts and shirt, this time a light blue T shirt and domingo blue corduroy shorts, were worn by Mary Ann Harper. Just about the best looking strapless bathing suit imaginable was modeled by Betty Long.

"Dress-up" clothes featured Betsy Ross in a grey worsted suit with raglan sleeves, smartly designed with an unpressed pleated back, accented by a belt. The checked jacket was trimmed at the cuffs and collar with the lighter skirt material. Barbara Dalton wore a cool, sand colored, crush resistant linen dress complemented by a swirling polka dot sash of brown and white silk.

For formal parties, several lovely creations were shown. Jean Sloane wore a dove grey gown of mousseline-de-soie with flamingo streamers. Patty Frizzell looked lovely in a dress of eyelet organdy worn over gold faille, as did Pat Chandler in a dress of white moiene and taffeta, its full skirt draped in back and tied up with a bow bustle of aqua satin.

The final scene and one of the loveliest in the show was that featuring the bridal party. Madge Crawford as one of the visitors, was wearing a creation of black lace over crepe. The skirt cascaded into a rippling flounce and the neck was finished with a peter pan collar underlined with pink. The two bridesmaids, Betty Long and Patty Frizzell, wore identical gowns of lemon yellow and mint green mousseline-desoie. Barbara Dalton, as maid of honor, wore a ruffled pink marquisette dress.

Betsy Ross, the bride, wore a lovely dress of white marquisette, with a ruffled train consisting of thirty tiers. It was a most unusual creation, but one that would be perfectly suited to the hot weather of a June wedding.

Other models for the show included Peggy Martin, Barbara Crawford, Jackie Lewis, Becky Huggins, Dick Nunis, Laddie Terrel John Bipport, Will Hobbs, Coy Carson, Norm Sper, Andy Tranavitch, Bill Lyons, Dan Breeder, Dan Nyimicz, Bob Kennedy, Joe Gurtis, Bob Hutton, Sherman Nearman, Irv Holdash, Dean Cassell, Johnny Clements, Jerry Lewis, Joe Neikirk, Jack Moody, and Bob House.

Blues Win, 21-6 Over Frosh Team In Annual Contest

Justice Standout As Veterans Romp

By Buddy Vaden

It was Blue-White day yesterday according to the Monogram Club, sponsors of the annual intrasquad football game, but it was the same old Charlie Justice Saturday according to the estimated 12,000 fans on hand for the fourth annual running of the colorful event.

Just for the records, the Justice-led Blues won the ball game almost as scheduled, 21-6. The pregame dopesters had them set as three touchdown favorites, but the best they could do under soggy operating conditions was two touchdowns, an extra point, and a safety.

It looked like a tight ball game going into the second quarter. During the first period monsoon neither team threatened seriously to score.

The freshman White squad started things off by kicking off to Charlie Choo Choo—a fatal way to start any ball game. Justice and Fullback Billy Hayes (Of Washington and Lee fame) alternated at carrying the ball up the field until Justice fumbled on the White 22. The elusive ball turned up in the hands of a White team member and they carried on from there.

Then the rains came, the Whites kicked out to the Blues and the Blues, without any originality at all, turned right around and kicked right back to the Whites, who took over on the Blue 40. Bob Gantt carried for 10 and Skeet Hesmer plunged for 11. Fullback Dick Wiess toted for nine, making it White's ball, first and 10 on the Blue 12.

Then, amidst rain that utterly stymied the Geography department, a White back dropped the ball. A White man pounced on it. It slipped out from under him. A Blue jumped on it. It slipped again. Finally Wingback Johnny Clements got his mitts on it for good. It was Blue's ball first and ten on their own 30.

The Blues worked it back to the White 25 where another fumble caused the ball to change hands as the quarter ended.

Justice set to work in the opening minutes of the second period and after an exchange of punts that put the Blues in possession on the White two as a result of a blocked kick, Justice trotted over the right side of the line for the first tally.

But the Whites weren't to be denied. They came right back with an attack of their own that culminated in a one-yard plunge by George Verchick that ended in the Blue end zone. During the course of the attack, Skeet Hesmer got off on a 60-yard jaunt through right tackle that placed the ball on the Blue 5

The half ended with an even ball game, six-all.

Opening the third period Joe

(See FOOTBALL, page 3)

First in Series Of Job Forums Is Tommorrow

Interview Problems Will be Discussed

Problems concerned with the first interview will be presented and discussed by Miss Twig Branch, personnel director in the Dean of Women's office and Richard Calhoun of the Commerce School in Roland Parker Lounge No. 3 Graham Memorial tomorrow night at 7 o'clock.

This is the first in a series of Job Forums presented by the Careers Committee of the YWCA to orient girls, who will be working after graduation or during the summer months, into some of the problems and situations they will encounter. Each forum will feature a brief talk by outstanding people in the fields presented, followed by a question period.

Miss Branch, who worked in B. Altman's Store in New York before coming to the University, will speak on personal experience concerned with the interview for a job. She will present the applicants point of view, and Calhoun, former manager of the Kendall Mills, will present the employer's point of view.

Job Forums to follow, presented each Monday night during May, will feature discussions on "Dressing on a Salary" by Mrs. Randolph of the Little Shoppe here, "The Use of Make-Up" by Mrs. Sutton of Sutton's Drug Store, and "The Inner Personality" by Dr. Arnold Nash, head of the University's department of religion.

Discussions lead by Mrs. Randolph and Mrs. Sutton will be based mostly on demonstration. Dr. Nash will present the attitude taken toward other people while working.

Critic to Speak Tonight in Hill

In two lectures to be given this evening at 8 o'clock and Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Choral room, Hill Hall, Gilbert Chase, critic and musicologist, will speak on "Latin-American Music" and "Latest Trends in Recording and Television" respectively.

Mr. Chase was born in Havana, Cuba, and has studied extensively in Europe and in this country. For six years Chase was music critic for the London "Daily Mail," Continental Edition, in Paris. He was also the Paris correspondent for Musical American and Musical Times.

For two years he was associate editor of the International Cyclopedia of Music and Musicians' in New York. He has been a contributor to Musical Quarterly, Music and Letters and the author of "The Music of Spain," published in 1940. Chase is now Educational Director of the RCA Victor Company.

The public is cordially invited to both lectures.

Naval Air Unit Sets Open House

An open house for the general public will be held by the University Naval Reserve Air Unit at their regular meeting Monday night at 7:30 in the main auditorium of the Zoology Building.

Lt. (jg) E. C. Jones will preside at the meeting. A discussion of the purpose and benefits of the Reserve organization will be briefly presented for the benefit of the visitors and prospective recruits. Following will be a movie entitled "The Fighting Lady."

Lt. Simpson requested all members to report to the meeting in uniform.

Roberts to Speak In Phillips Hall

The University Chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon, national mathematics fraternity, announced today that Professor J. H. Roberts, of the Mathematics Department of Duke University, would be their guest speaker for the Spring Quarter. Prof. Roberts is a well-known topologist, and was the principal speaker at the recent meeting of the American Mathematical Society in Durham

Prof. Roberts topic will be "Continuous Transformations—an elementary preview". He will speak on Tuesday, May 3, at 7:30 p.m., in room 320, Phillips hall. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $5.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ... T. E. HOLDEN
Managing Editor ... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ... Billy Carmichael III
Associate Editors ... Jack Bivens, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. ... Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ... Caroline Brunet
Adv. Mgr. ... Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. ... Shirley Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ... C. B. Mendenhall
Staff Photographer ... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Night Editor: Don Maynard Night Sports: Frank Allston, Jr.

Spiritual Orientation

The Church's Chance in the State School is essentially One. It is that of Orientation. It is Spiritual. It can confront Students and Faculty alike with the place of the Spiritual in the full and abundant life. It can challenge the Campus Community to become a Worshiping Community. It can center its Worship in Preaching and Teaching the Bible as The Revealed Word of God. It can instill the habit of regular worship in the lives of its own students. Where such habit has already been formed, the Church can strengthen its hold during the formative period of the college career. The Christian Groups jointly working to this end can veer the trend in the thinking and outlook of many. To restore Worship to the Program of Activities on the campus is the unique function of the Church.

Separation of Church and State has led many to suppose that the atmosphere in the State School should be that of silent indifference to matters religious. Thus there has been created an attitude of prejudice and in some instances of insinuated if not open hostility to the teachings of the Church. This is due to a misunderstanding of the Principle of the Separation of Church and State. The Principle is sound. But the application has been misconstrued. The Fathers were through with a Church-dominated-State and equally so with a State-dominated-Church. But they had no remote intention that any or all the Citizens of the New Republic should be deprived of the Moral and Spiritual Values of the Christian Religion. It is one thing for the State as an organization to be separate from the Church as an organization. It is quite a different matter for the State to be deprived of the knowledge and strength of the moral and spiritual values of The Word of God. The State for its well-being is dependent upon moral and spiritual truth, and in this country, upon the moral and spiritual truth as set forth in the Bible. The Fathers who enunciated the Principle understood this. They were deeply Religious themselves. It was a Christian Republic they were founding. Church and State were to grow and expand side by side, each sustaining the other with the blessings it had to give. In pursuit of this Principle, Secular interests have long been in the saddle and have driven hard in their demands for the State. It is late now for the Church to try to regain the side-by-side partnership in the development of the People of this great land.

The Church Availing itself of its Chance in the State School is of even more concern just now because of Two Developments. First, there is the trend toward the choice of Secular Pursuits in College Specialization. In the Quarter System, the student buries himself in 3 subjects, Monday through Friday. He is jealous of his time except for his pet sports, amusements, and sins. On week-ends, he hies away to distant places, mostly pleasure-bent. The Second is the growing tendency for the State to take over the responsibility for the education of the youth of the Nation. In this Undertaking and on the basis of the Freedom of Democracy, the State is committed to the Principle of giving the Student an awareness of the whole Truth as it is known in the Annals of Man. At this point the Church can in its own right and successfully contend for the inclusion in the State's Curricula, for unprejudiced Presentation, two sets of data as parts of the Whole Truth, The Historical Facts of the Bible and Its Moral and Spiritual Ideals. Israel's History is as authentically based on human experience as are the 'Histories of other Races and Nations'. It can be taught as objectively. "Moral and Spiritual Ideals" constitute a "body of Truth" and are Basic in all human thinking. They also can be presented objectively and with fairness. This sort of Background Orientation and Awareness Inclusion in the Presentation of the Wholeness of Truth is distinctly within the Province of the State in its stepped-up interest in human welfare.

E. C. Cooper,
Lutheran Student Pastor
Chapel Hill, N. C.

Wax Fax

By Nelson Taylor

Klassification Key
 Stupendous
 Swell
\ Stupid
 Stinks

Chubby Jackson and Bill Harris
 Harris-Jackson Septet Album

An album of fine be-bop played as it should be with some coherence. Flip Phillips, Pete Condoli, Dave Tough, Howard McGhee, Ralph Burns and others from the old Woody Herman orchestra are featured in this selection of some of the bands old tunes. The sides include Northwest Passage, Cross Country, Mean to Me, Characteristically B.H., She's Funny that Way, and Crying Sands. The terrific drive exhibited in these numbers is seldom heard on any platters. The music is definitely of the be-bop type, but in style, it is much superior to the regular insane bop. There has never been a band before or since the old Herman Herd that can compare with it, and this is essentially the old Herd.

Jazz at The Philharmonic
 Bell Boy Blues

Again Flip Phillips gets off a wonderful bit of work, but this time with a different outfit consisting of Buck Carter on trumpet, Willie Smith on alto sax, and Buddy Rich on drums. Willie starts things off with a fine ride on that old alto on this two sided disk. Phillips solo starts off with a bang, but fades out as he seems to back away from the make and the rest of the group gets too loud as they catch fire with the driving background provided by Rich on the tubs. Even then there are some fine kicks gotten off at a burning pace.

Doris Day
 If I Could be With You
\ How it Lies, How it Lies, How it Lies

The first side is a dreamy, dancable rendition of this ever popular tune. The backing provided by the orchestra of George Sirave is just right for this gal's pleasing voice. The reverse is rather disappointing because of the tune and the 1890 choral backing.

(All records appearing in this column are reviewed through the cooperation of the Carolina Sport Shop.)

DICK JENRETTE, LEFT, and Bill Claybrook, right, are the newly elected editors of the Daily Tar Heel and the Yackety Yack, respectively.

Campus Personalities

Meet Jenrette And Claybrook

By Frank Allston, Jr.

When Carolina's voting students made their way to the polls three weeks ago, they found only Dick Jenrette's name on the ballot for editor of the Daily Tar Heel.

It was no wonder that no one opposed the blonde, likeable rising junior from Raleigh. He has been finding new and varied fields to conquer ever since he entered Carolina in the fall of 1947.

One of the few candidates to receive a triple endorsement during the elections, Jenrette was the only logical candidate for the post and several interested independent candidates were scared off.

Dick began his journalistic career back in his home town of Raleigh where he was one of the most popular students in Needham Broughton High School. He was sports editor of the Broughton school paper and he also worked on the sports staff of the News and Observer. When he came to Carolina he served on the sports staff of the DTH and then moved up to associate sports editor, a position which he held until his recent election.

Not limiting his interests to journalism only, Dick makes top grades and likes to stay in shape by playing mural football, basketball, softball, soccer and tennis.

Dick has an "A" average and was a member of Phi Eta Sigma, the freshman honor society. Dick, not yet decided whether he will major in commerce or journalism, is proudest of his grades and is hoping to become a member of Phi Beta Kappa soon.

A member of Chi Psi social fraternity, the new editor says most of his outside interests concern fraternity matters. Until his recent election Dick served as rushing chairman for Chi Psi, but his new duties demanded his relinquishing that position.

In addition to his editorship and his great interest in his frat, Dick is also a member of the Publications Board, a sports writer for the Yackety Yack, University Party publicity chairman, a member of the UP's steering and executive committees and a member of the Raleigh-Carolina Club.

Among the other things which Dick likes to do are play golf, lie in the sun or "read when I'm not required to."

Dick is looking forward to making the Daily Tar Heel the best that it has ever been. He's made a definite start in the right direction and should go far.

"To get the Yack out on time next year," answered Bill Claybrook to the question of his future plans for the Yackety Yack as we started off with the second of this week's "Campus Personalities."

Bill, who hails from the bustling little town of Reidsville, has been working on the Yack for the last two years as editor of the fraternity section and he will now get a chance to put into effect his ideas for a bigger and better yearbook.

A member of Kappa Sigma social fraternity, Claybrook spends a good deal of his spare time playing intramural sports for his frat. Bill likes football best, but participates in "all of 'em." Last year he played on the Kappa Sig basketball team which got into the finals.

Bill is a senior and a commerce major, making what he describes as "fair" grades. "B's" and "C's." If everything goes according to schedule, he will graduate next March.

During the recent war, Bill put in 28 months wearing the olive drab of Uncle Sam's Air Force. During most of that time he manned the tail gun post on a B-29 heavy bomber.

Claybrook participated in 22 missions in the Pacific Theatre, most of them over Japan. One of the most exciting experiences connected with his service was seeing Tokyo for the first time.

Bill returned from the wars in the Spring of 1946 and immediately came back to the Chapelina campus.

Besides working hard on his studies and the Yackety Yack and participating in all the Kappa Sig functions, the new editor likes to shoot an occasional round of golf. Golf, incidentally, is Bill's favorite past time.

Other than getting next year's Yack out on time, Claybrook has several other plans in mind which he hopes will make for more efficiency and give the students a better Yack, sooner.

Although most of the plans will be made later on, Bill did mention two of his ideas concerning individual pictures. First he said that each person must have his photo taken within a certain specified length of time next year. Then he wants to take all the freshman shots during orientation next fall.

If the job he did on the fraternity section of the last two Yacks are indication, Bill will put out one of the best Yacks in in the history of its publication.

Stumping It

On Fraternity Rushing

By John Stump

Fraternity rushing policies have come up again for consideration in the Interfraternity council. For the third straight year, the crux of the discussion is the possibility of delayed rushing.

We believe that this problem concerns not only fraternity men but the campus as a whole. Accordingly, we approached Andy Cornish, one of the Fraternity leaders, to get a summary of how thought is running on the proposition.

Here is what Cornish had to say:

He told us first that by no means has any decision been reached on rushing, and that at this early date it was difficult to say how opinion among the council members was running.

However, discussion centers around two general programs. Under the first, rushing would be conducted during October with strict silence observed until it would begin. The various fraternities would rush on every other night for one week and every night from Monday to Thursday of the following week. At the end of that period, invitations would be issued those men which each fraternity desired to pledge.

Under the second plan, the same time schedule would be observed except that it would be held in January rather than in October. Under this plan, strict silence would be observed up until rushing began except for a possible few parties which fraternities would be permitted to hold for new men previous to the opening of the rushing period.

Strict silence, Cornish explained, would probably be construed to mean no discussion of fraternities between their members and the new men. He emphasized that neither of the two plans outlined above was in anything like final form. They are, he said, being used as a basis for discussion of the program, and went on to outline some of the arguments which have been made for and against each.

One of the principal objections to the January plan or delayed rushing is the many possibilities for dirty rushing which it offers. With a full quarter during which legal rushing would be virtually non-existent, many fraternity leaders fear that some men would resort to what would then be illegal methods of presenting their fraternity to some prospective member.

There are several other objections to the delayed plan, but this is the foremost practical one, because, as Cornish observed, if dirty rushing were widespread the system just would not work. Other considerations operating against institution of delayed rushing are desire of many younger men to have their friends pledged as soon as possible, the need of a few of the chapters here for a large membership to share the cost of food and other expenses, and plain unwillingness to experiment.

On the other side of the picture, advocates of delayed rushing maintain that it will give the new men an opportunity to become accustomed to college life before going through a two week period of being principally concerned with fraternities.

Others, Cornish said, believe that a delay in pledging would give new men a better chance to know what place the fraternity system holds on the campus and how the fraternity they prefer stands in that system.

Opposing this, however, is the fact that many men who first "went fraternity" in their second year in college say they know nothing about fraternities after a full year on campus.

Other benefits which might accrue from delayed rushing have been pointed out by other fraternity men. Principally, these men contend that the knowledge that they were being observed closely by potential initiates would keep many a chapter group on the ball. They say that each fraternity would, for example, under such circumstances have a definite group interest in keeping the chapter scholastic average at a high level.

They also point out that delayed rushing would give future fraternity men a chance to become associated with dormitory men and so contribute to unity on the campus.

All of these things, Cornish said, are being carefully considered by the interfraternity group. "I think it is a very encouraging commentary on the fraternities here," he concluded, "that they are surveying this problem from the stand-point of what is best for the whole campus and are playing particular attention to the welfare of the new men."

This column has no set ideas on what would be the best plan to follow. But we do believe that rushing is a very important matter to everyone interested in the welfare of the collitch, and we hope that the high level of consideration being maintained by Cornish, Ted Young, Charlie Loudermilk, Jim Johnson, and other IFC leaders will be continued until a workable solution can be found.

This 'n That

Data On People, Things

By Bill Buchan

For the past two days students from colleges in states as far (pardon the expression) north as West Virginia and as far (long may it live) South as North Carolina have been in session in Graham Memorial discussing the various and numerous problems of college newspaper.

The fact that the students assembled here for the convention is nothing unusual but some eyebrows (a minority few, mind you) were lifted when the colored students outnumbered the whites. What is even more amazing to some is the fact that the group, as one united body, has had a successful series of discussions on newspapers, magazines and yearbooks. Such conferences as this one are nothing new to our campus and as far as has been known they have always been a success. Only through such get-togethers can the so-called racial problems in which we are inclined to become involved be eliminated.

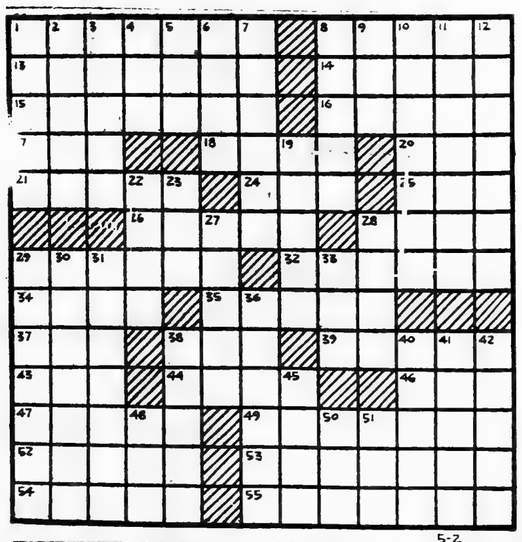
• • •

It is the sincere hope of "publications row" at Carolina that the students who came here have received something beneficial from the conference. We also hope that they have received a favorable impression of our University.

Organizations, we fear, are not following the call of the Campus Calender committee to schedule their assemblies through it. For example, last Wednesday night, the Carolina Political Union scheduled a debate on Communism for 9 o'clock, the CCUN had a discussion of the Atlantic Pact at 8:30 and the Thomas Wolfe Club heard Richard Walser, a Wolfe scholar at 8 o'clock.

Two of the topics were identical, a third was similar and the fourth was of interest to numerous persons, yet they were all slated within the same hour. As a result, Wednesday night was packed and jammed with possibilities for entertainment. Repetition in programs can be eliminated through the Calender committee if organization chairmen will bother to clear through Mary Godbee at the Y.

• • •

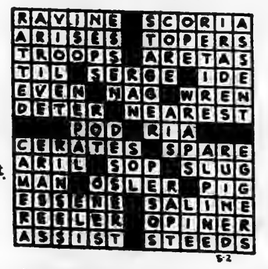


And a hearty welcome to Jim Rathburn, new director of Graham Memorial. Good friend, you've got a job on your hands that is a job. But again, there is always the fact that you'll be doing a great job for the students. Welcome, we repeat, to Graham Memorial and luck to you.

And to Bob Watson who's been patient, congenial and understanding in a difficult job under difficult circumstances thanks for a job well done. B took over as temporary director last summer and temporary has expanded into months and months. With a full load studies, he's carried one of the most responsible campus jobs on his shoulders. We appreciate it, Bob, regardless of the complaints and trouble we've caused you.

• • •

It's a dull rainy dreary Saturday morning, everybody is either in bed or dressing for the game this afternoon and a few of us completely uninspired, are attempting to produce a newspaper. Production is scheduled to stop in a few minutes for the football game and no one knows when—or if—the Daily Tar Heel will go to press. We hope we're gonna make it, though. Of course, if you read this tripe you'll know we did. Matter of fact, this tripe is tripe 'cause there's supposed to be a column 22 inches "on the nose" according to associate ed Jack Brown by yours truly and so twenty two inches it will be. But confidentially, you should have stopped reading at the beginning of the last paragraph. It certainly has been, though, and a happy St. Walpurgus night to you too.



Incidentally, today (Sunday) is Russian army day, therefore, today is Blood Red Sunday (You know, Green Thursday, Orange Friday, Hangover Saturday, and stuff like that there

HORIZONTAL
1. of layers
8. cubic meter
13. make ready
14. part of coat
15. riving
16. a resin
17. unit
18. hop kiln
20. gear tooth
21. concise
24. short pipe
25. pulpy fruit
26. longer used
28. small bird
29. chromium
32. coldest
34. fervency
35. artificial waterway
37. fortify
38. watch-pocket
39. blight
43. apex
44. harp-like instrument
46. pooh!
47. crown
9 strong monacid base
52. tedium
53. separator
54. hinder
55. what-not

VERTICAL
1. California surf fish
2. haul up and lash
3. attribute
4. inclined
5. Japanese porgy
6. river in Tuscany
7. envoy
8. dark bluish gray
9. embrown
10. gourmet
11. displaces
12. tasteful
19. finch
22. black substance
23. tough wood
27. lure
28. volition
29. talked familiarly
30. brave girl
31. unchecked
33. public vehicle
36. wear off
38. aptitude
40. stay
41. sounder
42. soothing exclamation
45. outpour
48. repent
50. yellow bugle
51. excavate

Answer to Saturday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 27 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Tracksters Star At Relays, Beat State Runners Here

Shuttle Hurdle Quartet Breaks Relays Record; Bob Kirk Wins

PHILADELPHIA, April 30—The University of North Carolina 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay team set a new Penn Relays record of 59.3 seconds today before a capacity crowd of 60,000 in Franklin Field here for the 55th annual running of the famous relay meet.

Bob Kirk, Carolina's ace javelin tosser, also captured a first place for the invaders from Dixie when he threw the spear 198 feet 5½ inches to defeat some of the best javelin experts in the East.

The performances by the Carolina hurdle relay team and by Kirk followed up the performances turned in by Tar Heel two-miler Sam Magill and discus-thrower Bob Seligman yesterday.

Magill finished second to Penn State's Bob Ashenfelter, who won the gruelling eight-lap stint in 9:21.5. Magill crossed the finish line in 9:25.6. Last night after his fine showing in the two-mile, Sam flew back to Chapel Hill, N. C., where he was scheduled to compete in a dual meet.

Seligman threw the discus 159 feet 4¼ inches yesterday to take second behind Yale's Victor Frank, who flipped the iron platter 170 feet 7¾ inches.

In this morning's action, Kirk, making only his eighth competitive throw of the year, heaved the javelin three feet further than his best previous throw of the year to win that event.

The shuttle hurdle relay team, composed of Bill Albans, Bob Morrow, Dick Taylor and Jack Moody, broke the existing Relays record in the trials earlier in the afternoon when they sped the 480 yards in 1:00.1. Yale's 1940 team was the holder of the old record of 1:00.8.

Then in the finals an hour later, the Carolina quartet came back to slice almost a full second off the record they had just set.

MAJOR League Results

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Team	W	L	Pct.	G.B.
New York	10	2	.833
Cleveland	6	3	.689	2½
Detroit	6	5	.545	3½
Chicago	6	5	.545	3½
Philadelphia	6	7	.461	4½
Boston	5	6	.455	4½
St. Louis	3	8	.273	6½
Washington	3	9	.250	7

Yesterday's Results

Washington 4, Philadelphia 3
New York 4, Boston 3
Chicago 5, St. Louis 4
Detroit 7, Cleveland 5

Today's Games

Boston (Dobson 0-2) at New York (Byrne 1-9)
Washington (Calvert 0-2) at Philadelphia (Coleman 1-1)
Cleveland (Paige 0-0) at Detroit (Trucks 2-0)
Chicago (Gumbert 1-1) at St. Louis (Starr 0-2)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Team	W	L	Pct.	G.B.
Cincinnati	6	4	.600
Boston	7	5	.583
New York	6	5	.545	½
St. Louis	5	5	.500	1
Brooklyn	5	5	.500	1
Pittsburgh	5	6	.455	1½
Chicago	5	6	.455	1½
Philadelphia	5	8	.384	2½

Yesterday's Results

Boston 4, New York 0
Philadelphia 12, Brooklyn 4
St. Louis 4, Chicago 3
Cincinnati 8, Pittsburgh 4

Today's Games

New York (Jansen 0-1) at Boston (Sain 0-2)
Philadelphia (Borowy 0-1) at Brooklyn (Banta 0-0)
Pittsburgh (Riddle 0-0) at Cincinnati (Wehmeier 0-0)
St. Louis (Hearn 0-0) at Chicago (Rush 1-1)

-Football-

(Continued from page 1)

Neikirk kicked off to the Whites who were by this time getting water-logged. The Whites were holed up deep in their own territory and Hesmer attempted to kick out. Kenny Powell, upperclassman left end, charged in, blocked the kick, and kicked it out of the end zone for a safety and two points for the Blues.

The Whites kicked off from their 20 to the Blue 35. Clements carried for six on a reverse and then Justice kicked to Hesmer on the 13. Hesmer did everything but tap dance in advancing the ball to the 18. But it was to no avail as a White was caught in the act of clipping.

Hesmer kicked from the three to Dick Bunting, who looked more like Justice as the day poured down, returned the ball to the White 18. From there Justice uncorked the first of a pair of touchdown passes this time to Art Weiner. Jim Hendrick's extra point try was good and the Blues were nine points in front.

After more punt exchanges the Blues, with the aid of excellent running by Joe Gurtis, were on the Blue 45. Justice carried one, passed to Bilpuch for 13, darted around end for 10 more and then passed to Kenny Powell for the third and final tally.

INTRAMURAL ROUNDUP

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00, Field 1, AEPi vs Chi Psi 1; 2, TEP 2 vs PHi Delt 3; 3, Emer Misfits vs Alexander; 4, Law School vs Atoms; 5, Steele vs Town 2; 6, DKE 1 vs Chi Phi 2; 7, KA 3 vs Sig Chi 3; 8, ZBT vs Phi Delt 2.

5:00, Field 1, Kap Sig 2 vs ATO 2; 2, Sig Chi 1 vs Chi Psi 2; 3, Kappa Psi 1 vs Phi Gam 3; 4, Ruffin vs Med Sch 2; 5, Med Sch 1 vs Town 1; 6, Manly vs Emerson 2; 7 Stacy vs Graham.

TENNIS SCHEDULE

4:00, Courts 1-4: Kap Sig 2 vs Delta Sig; 5-8: Phi Gam 2 vs Pi KA 3; 9-11: Town 1 vs A-Dorm 2.

5:00, 1-4, DKE 1 vs Phi Delt; 5-8: KA 1 vs Pi Lamb 1; 9-11: Lamb Chi vs PiKA 4.

Record for the 100

BATON ROUGE, La., April 30—(UP)—C. Neely, a speedster from Mississippi State, ran the 100-yard dash at Louisiana State University in 9.2 seconds, a second under the official world's record of 9.3 held by Mel Patton of Southern California.

Meely was clocked by five timers and all reported the time of 9.2 seconds. However officials said they doubted the record would be recognized because Meely was running with a 14-mile-an-hour wind behind him.

The spectacular run came during a dual meet between State and LSU, which the home team won, 79-39.

Carolina Netters Defeat Princeton For 16th Straight

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

PRINCETON, N. J., April 30—Coach John Kenfield's University of North Carolina tennis team opened its Northern tour with a bang here today by handing previously unbeaten Princeton a 7-2 defeat before a large crowd. It was Carolina's sixteenth straight victory against all comers.

Playing on fast, but slippery courts in good weather, the Tar Heels dropped only one of their six singles matches and won two of their three doubles contests for their convincing victory.

Captain Victor Seixas came through as usual in the top singles match, defeating Gaines of Princeton, 6-3, 6-3. Clark Taylor followed with a 6-4, 6-1 win over Raleigh in the second singles tilt.

Gruner Wins

Stan Gruner polished off Parmalee in a long match, 6-4, 1-6, 7-5 and the Tar Heels were in front, 3-0. Princeton rallied at this point when Blair came from behind in the third set to top Charlie Rice of Carolina, 6-4, 5-7, 8-6. This match kept the spectators attention all the way, furnishing plenty of thrills. Rice was leading the last set, five games to two, when Blair suddenly got hot and overtook his opponent to win.

Duke Wilder put the visitors back on the right track by posting a fairly easy 6-2, 6-3 victory over Highley, and Jim Winstead cinched a Carolina victory by stopping Bucknell, 6-1, 6-4, in the final singles contest.

Seixas-Taylor Victors

Seixas and Taylor opened the doubles with a 7-5, 6-1 win over Raleigh-Blair of Princeton. However, the home team managed to score again when Gaines and Parmalee combined to defeat Gruner and Winstead in three sets, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

Rice and Wilder teamed up to defeat Princeton's Bucknell and Highley, 8-6, 6-3, for the winners' seventh and final point of the afternoon.

Rough Schedule

The Tar Heels will face a rough week of play beginning tomorrow afternoon when they journey to Williamstown, Mass., for a return contest with the Williams College netters. Carolina stopped the Williams tennismen in two meets earlier in the season at Chapel Hill.

Coach Kenfield's netmen trounced them, 12-2, in the first meet at Chapel Hill, but in the second engagement, the Williams outfit almost upset the Tar Heels before bowing, 8-7.

On Tuesday Carolina will meet Harvard University at Cambridge, and on Wednesday they invade Providence, R. I., for a contest with Brown's netters.

The Summaries

Singles: Seixas (C) defeated Gaines, 6-3 6-3; Taylor (C) defeated Raleigh, 6-4, 6-1; Grunner (C) defeated Parmalee, 6-4, 1-6, 7-5; Blair (P) defeated Rice, 6-4, 5-7, 8-6; Wilder (C) defeated Highley, 6-2, 6-3; Winstead (C) defeated Bucknell, 6-1, 6-4.

Doubles: Seixas-Taylor defeated Raleigh-Blair, 7-5, 6-1; Gaines-Parmalee (P) defeated Grunner-Winstead, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4; Rice-Wilder (C) defeated Bucknell-Highley, 8-6, 6-3.

Crimmins Shines in 81-45 Rout; Tar Heels Sweep Eleven Firsts

By Frank Allston, Jr.

Despite the absence of six of their top point-makers, the Carolina tracksters swamped the North Carolina State cinder-beaters, 81-45 in a dual meet on Fetzer Field here yesterday morning beore 4,000 spectators.

Carolina's amazing thin-clads uncovered new talent here and set observers to wondering just how good Coach Dale Ranson's boys are.

Running without the services of Bill Albans, Dick Taylor, Bob Morrow, Jack Moody, Bob Kirk and Bob Seligman, the Tar Heels captured 11 out of 14 places to make a rout of the expected close meet. The Tar Heels took an early lead and pulled away from State with each succeeding event.

Surprise star of the meet was sophomore sprinter Bill Crimmins. The speedy blonde ran off with both the 100 and 220-yard dashes in the fast time of 10 flat and 22.2 seconds to upset State's Golberg.

Fast Quarter

Co-captain Julian MacKenzie, won the 440-yard dash for the Tar Heels and finished only a step behind teammate Halsted Holden in the half mile. MacKenzie's winning time for the quarter was a fast 49.9 seconds.

Ace distance man Sam Magill flew back a few hours before the meet from the Penn Relays where he had run second in the two-mile less than 20 hours before. Sam grabbed the lead on the first lap and was never headed, winning in 4:32.4.

Ross Wins Two-mile

John Ross beat out State's favored John Hunter to post a win for the Tar Heels in the two-mile event. Ross's winning time was 10:40.4.

State showed some strength in the field events where they picked up 23 of their points. Byler copped the shot put, Davis the broad jump and Blue tied for first in the pole vault. Carolina took all three places in the javelin.

State took first and second in the shot and the 220-yard low hurdles. The best State performances of the day were turned in by broad jumper Jimmy Davis who won the broad jump and the 220-yard low hurdles.

Today's win was the second for Carolina in two attempts at dual meet competition. Next Saturday the Tar Heels will entertain Duke here in a doubleheader meet with both the varsity and freshmen runners competing.

Meet Notes

Although Carolina's four top hurdlers, Albans, Morrow, Taylor and Moody were in Philly yesterday, the Tar Heels still managed to take one-two in the 120-yard highs. Tom Fitzgibbons and Bill Byatt did the honors for the locals.

In winning the mile run yesterday, Sam Magill not only had to fight off his State opponents and traces of fatigue from his overnight return from Philly, but he also had to cope with two dogs who insisted on nipping at his heels during the first lap of the race.

Julian MacKenzie turned in a fine performance in winning the quarter in 49.9, but his time would probably have been better had he not tripped on the start.

Today's meet marked the first competition for veteran quarter miler and broad jumper Laddie Terrell since he pulled a leg muscle broad jumping in the Conference indoor meet.

SUMMARIES

TRACK EVENTS

100-yard dash—1. Crimmins (UNC), 2. Goldberg (NCS), 3. Marshall (UNC). Time: 10.0.

220-yard dash—1. Crimmins (UNC), 2. Goldberg (NCS), 3. White (UNC). Time: 22.2.

440-yard dash—1. MacKenzie (UNC), 2. Terrell (UNC), 3. Orrmans (NCS). Time: 49.9.

880-1 yard run—1. Holden (UNC), 2. MacKenzie (UNC), 3. Rassburry (NCS). Time: 2:02.4.

Mile run—1. Magill (UNC), 2. Hunter (NCS), 3. Hooper (UNC). Time: 4:32.4.

Two-mile run—1. Ross (UNC), 2. Hunter (NCS), 3. Dayenport (NCS). Time: 10:40.4.

120-yard high hurdles—1. Fitzgibbons (UNC), 2. Byatt (UNC), 3. Sexton (NCS). Time: 15.5.

220-yard low hurdles—1. Davis (NCS) 2. Sexton (NCS), 3. Byatt (UNC). Time: 26.0.

Mile relay—Not run.

FIELD EVENTS

Shot put—1. Byler (NCS), 2. Dostanko (NCS), 3. Ogden (UNC). Distance: 46 ft. 3 in.

Discus throw—1. Ogden (UNC), 2. McLeod (NCS), 3. Byler (NCS). Distance: 129 ft. 10 in.

Javelin throw—1. Baldwin (UNC), 2. House (UNC), 3. Harris (UNC). Distance: 162 ft. 3 ¾ in.

High jump—1. Saunders (UNC), 2. Tie between Peebles (UNC) and Pickett (NCS). Distance: 6 ft.

Broad Jump—1. Davis (NCS), 2. Cowles (UNC), 3. Briley (UNC). Distance: 20 ft. 8 ¼ in.

Pole vault—1. Tie between House (UNC) and Blue (NCS), 3. Russell (UNC). Distance: 12 ft.

Carolina Stickmen Bow to Annapolis For 9-3 Defeat

Skies weren't Blue and clouds weren't White, but the annual Blue-White weekend went off as scheduled. And as scheduled the Annapolis Lacrosse Club added another victim to its already impressive string by defeating the Carolina stickmen 9-3 on Navy field.

Although the Tar Heels almost drew blood in the opening period they were never quite able to score. Annapolis, on the other hand, found the net immediately and began a scoring attack that lasted throughout the game.

Sandrock scored the first point of the game when he ran the length of the field and tossed in the pellet. Soon after the second quarter began Berger took a feed from behind the goal and tossed in another point.

Stevens Tallies

At 10:30 Stevens took advantage of a loose ball and flipped it through the net. Connell then added a point to end the scoring of the first half.

The second half was 9:32 old when Ripley took a pass from behind the goal and the score became 5-0. Stevens then began a scoring spree which resulted in three more points for the Annapolismen. Shallowitz took a feed from Deems and scored the last Annapolis goal of the game.

From here on the Tar Heels had command of the situation. On a passed ball Taylor scored Carolina's first point and a few minutes later he took the ball at the midfield stripe and raced down to the goal where he made the score 9-2.

Two minutes later Murchison took a pass and hit the net for the last point of the day.

The Summaries

The line-ups—Carolina—Best, Cavanaugh, Debnan, Lynch, Winious, Nunis, Timberlake, Durham, Bennett, Murchison, Manning, Swiggert, Dietzel, Zahren, Poisson, Bolgiano, Somner, Taylor and Greenbaum.

Annapolis—Russel, Traband, Fowler, Sandrock, Atwell, Deem, Ripley, Stevens, Connell, Shallowitz, Berger, Panoff, Hantske and Shaldwitz.

—WUFF NEWELL

Tar Heels, Deacons Rained Out Third Time; Two Nines Will Try Luck Again Monday

The only unwelcome visitor at Carolina yesterday appeared in the form of ole man Jupiter Pluvius. His coming was threatened throughout Friday and his arrival yesterday was just in time to cause the cancellation of the Wake Forest baseball game slated to be played on Emerson Field at 4 o'clock.

This is the third time that the weather has forbidden the playing of a game between the two teams. The Tar Heels were first scheduled to play Wake Forest in Chapel Hill on April 12; that game was called on account of rain, rescheduled and cancelled again, it will be played on April 8. Yesterday's game was a part of the original schedule the two teams will attempt to play again on Monday. Carolina has managed to get in one contest with the Deacons, it was played in Wake Forest and the Tar Heels lost 6-5.

The Tar Baby nine, scheduled yesterday to meet the Deacon frosh at Wake Forest, will play Monday instead. The game is carded for 3:30 o'clock.

Lefthander Henry Schacht, winner of his first start against State last week, will take the mound for Coach Henry House's charges as they seek to repeat the victory gained over the Baby Deacs here earlier.

FLOWERS for the Queen of May
NEXT SUNDAY IS MOTHER'S DAY
Order Early From West William Flower Shop
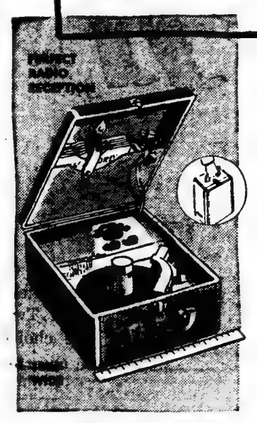
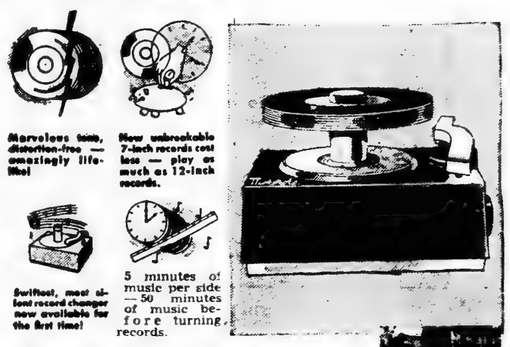
CARRBORO, N. C. —— PHONE 9906
CORSAGES BOUQUETS POTTED PLANTS





ELECTRICAL REPAIR SERVICE
FOR
All Makes Of Refrigerators
Electric Fans
Electric And Gas Ranges
Oil Burners
All Types Of Motors
And Small Appliances
AT
BENNETT & BLOCKSIDGE
105 E. Franklin St.
PHONE 6161

Durham Optical Co
215 W. MAIN ST.
TEL. F 3141
OPTICIANS

1949 SILVER PARADE
SEE OUR wide showing of patterns that lead the 1949 Silver Parade..
...Gorham Sterling designs that win acclaim of America's discriminating hostesses!
Gorham STERLING
"English Gadroon" $26.00
"Greenbrier" $35.50
"King Edward" $36.00
"Lyric" $25.50
Price is for one 6-piece place-setting, Federal Tax Incl.
*TRADE MARK
WENTWORTH & SLOAN
It's Smart To Shop in Chapel Hill

introducing— Van Dual

the shirt that knows how to relax!
First, it's a regular shirt—as dressy, as collar-right as any shirt you ever wore. (Naturally—it's a Van Heusen!) But here's the difference: take off your tie and presto—you're leisure-right. For this dual-personality shirt is made to be worn and look correct, either way. That means you can wear it anywhere—any time! See Van Dual at your dealer's, in whites and colors, $3.95.
Other Van Heusen shirts $2.95 and up.
A new shirt free if your Van Heusen shrinks out of size
Van Heusen® shirts
the world's smartest
PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., NEW YORK 1, N. Y.

Carolina Sport Shop presents the NEW 45 R.P.M. (REVOLUTIONS PER MINUTE) Record Players by Motorola

NEW Motorola 45 R.P.M. PORTABLE Automatic RADIO-PHONOGRAPH
COMPACT—LIGHT—PORTABLE
A trim, self-contained unit that's light — easy to carry — small — as small as a lady's vanity case.
Now! Enjoy a brilliant new standard of recorded entertainment! Marvelous tone reproduction — swiftest, silent automatic changer — new low cost records! Plays unbreakable 7-inch records (5 minutes per side) on AC current. Storage space holds 27 records. Leather-effect mahogany colored case, bronze-gold trim. See it! Hear it, now!
$59.95

Marvelous tone, distortion-free — amazingly lifelike!
New unbreakable 7-inch records cost less — play as much as 12-inch records.
Swiftest, most silent record changer now available for the first time!
5 minutes of music per side — 50 minutes of music before turning records.
NEW Motorola 45 R.P.M. ATTACHMENT FOR YOUR PRESENT RADIO
Thrill to flawless, distortion-free record reproduction through your present radio! The new Motorola 45 R.P.M. automatic radio-phonograph attachment works through any home radio—you simply plug it in—then sit back and relax to 50 minutes of music before turning records. So excitingly different, you'll have to see and hear it to believe it!
$24.95
Carolina Sport Shop

CAROLINA THEATRE
DURHAM, N. C.
FRIDAY NITE, MAY 13th at 8:20 P. M.
TWO FAMOUS STARS! On Stage! In Person!
SYLVIA SIDNEY · JOHN LODER
"O Mistress Mine"
TERENCE RATTIGAN'S LONDON and NEW YORK COMEDY HIT
Don't Wait Until Box Office Opens!
MAIL YOUR ORDER NOW!
Address your mail order to Carolina Theatre and make check or money order payable to Carolina Theatre. BE SURE TO ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED, STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS.
PRICES INCL. 20% FED. TAX
Orch. ..... 3.00 & 2.60— Mezzanine 2.50
Bal. ..... 2.50 & 2.40— Col. Bal. 1.50

DRIVE-IN THEATRE • CHAPEL HILL BLVD.
SUN & MONDAY
Ali Bab And The Forty Thieves
In Color
Jon Hall
Sabu
Also
Selected Shorts
75c Per Car
Shows at 7:15 & 9:15

MOTHER'S DAY CARDS

— For Everyone —

— Also Gifts Recommended For Her —

Beautiful Stationery
Lady Buxton Billfolds
Parker & Sheaffer Pen Sets
Hi-Jac Coaster Sets
Congress Bridge Cards

Mother's Day — Sunday, May 8th

LEDBETTER-PICKARD

NOW IS THE TIME

To  Buy

Your Mother's Day Box Of

Whitman's Sampler
Nunally's Candy
Norris Candy

We will wrap and mail free your candy purchases from us.

VILLAGE PHARMACY
306 W. FRANKLIN ST.
Across From Bus Station
PHONE F-3966

BIG DATE THIS WEEKEND?

LET US
Help You Prepare For It

UNIVERSITY CLEANERS

Your Sanitone Dry Cleaners

Lambda Chi's Hold State Ball

Five hundred Lambda Chi's and their guests greeted the fraternity "Crescent Girl" Yvonne Switzer, a Duke coed from Greensboro during intermission ceremonies this Friday night at the four chapter state-wide dance at the Hope Valley Country Club in Durnam. The formal dance, for members of the State, Wake Forest, Duke, and the Carolina chapters was held from 9 until 1 p.m.

Hollywood movie and radio star Bing Crosby made the selection of the dance queen from photographs submitted by members of the four North Carolina chapters. The "Crescent Girl" was crowned during intermission by former Lt. Governor L. H. Ballentine, who is the present North Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture. Music for the dance was furnished by Johnny Bothwell and his orchestra.

Members of the social committee in charge of the dance included: Pat Gill, Duke; John Hammond, State; Steve Cole, Carolina; and Beverly Barge, Wake Forest. The four men are the social chairmen of their fraternities.

Correction

Miss Ann Carlton of Atlanta, Ga. recently became pinned to Bob Williams, a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha at the University. Miss Carlton is a member of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

THE EIGHT ATTRACTIVE COED sponsors of the Monogram Club sponsored Blue-White intrasquad football game held in Kenan Stadium yesterday shown above were presented to the spectators during the half-time entertainment. They are, reading clockwise from the upper left hand corner: Louise Horner, Sanford; Patty Ann Frizzell, Bristol, Conn.; Charleen Greer, Tulsa, Okla.; Betty Ann Cooper, Greensboro; Gene Hines, Greenwood, S. C.; Betty Smith, Charleston, W. Va.; Gene Frances Caraher, Clearwater, Fla.; and Betsy Ross, Chapel Hill.

Patronize Our Advertisers

Weekend Festivities End In Gay Parties

The Carolina football spirit was renewed this weekend with numerous fraternity parties given in celebration of the annual Blue-White football game.

The Alpha Alpha chapter of the Chi Phi fraternity celebrated this first football weekend of the year with its Alumni Homecoming this weekend. Beginning Friday night with a smoker for the early arrivals, the affair continued Saturday morning with registration followed by a lunch at Hogan's Lake. After the Blue-White game Saturday afternoon, alumni and their wives were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Westervelt for an informal gathering. A banquet was held at the house last night.

The Alpha Tau Omega's, who began the weekend with attending the University Club Carnival Friday night, made a real football weekend out of it. Satuday at 10 o'clock the ATO's held a party at Watts Grill, where sack races and other contests with prizes were held.

The weekend continued after the Blue-White game and supper with a dance at the chapter house, featuring the music of the Town Talk Trio.

The Alpha Pi chapter of Zeta Beta Tau held a dance at Terrace View last night with Frank Wright and his Bull-City Nighthawks furnishing the music. Previous to the dance an out-door steak fry was held at the h[illegible].

The newly elected offic[illegible] Zeta Beta Tau are: Jake R[illegible] bloom, president; Herb Nachm[illegible] vice-president; Bill Benjam[illegible] secretary; Bob Goodman, tre[illegible] urer; and Don Mendel, historia[illegible]

The ZBT's recently initiated five boys. They are: Billy Kare[illegible] Don Mendel; Bob Goodm[illegible] Jerry Sternberg, and Bob He[illegible]

For Your Flower Needs—
—Call—
West-Williams Flower Shop
PH. 9906—P.O. BLDG.—CARRBORO
Flowers Wired Anywhere

Rare Opportunity!
STUDY . . . TRAVEL IN SPAIN
Castilian Group . Andalusian Group
Basque-Catalan Group
65 DAYS $975.00
Departures June 29 to July 2
Sponsored by:
UNIVERSITY of MADRID
For Descriptive Folder Write:
Spanish Student Tours
500 Fifth Ave., N. Y. 18, N. Y.

BETSY ROSS
LOUISE HORNER
GENE FRANCES CARAHER
BETTY SMITH
PATTY ANN FRIZELL
GENE HINES
PEGGE MISENHEIMER
PEGGY MARTIN
BOBBIE BESS
LORAINE HOWARD

FREE DELIVERY
on orders from
THE COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
Monday — Friday
at
9:15 And 10:15
DIAL 6061

Graham Memorial Plans to Sponsor Series of Spring Musicals This Month

First in a series of musical entertainments to be presented at Graham Memorial this month is a performance by the Ambassador Male Quartette. This program, scheduled for Sunday, May 8, will feature the "Singers of Merit" in a variety of classics and songs of a lighter vein.

Besides solo and ensemble singing, the group will present their interpretation of negro spirituals, and novelty numbers done with a large set of Swiss bells.

The next program in this Graham Memorial series will be a free concert by Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra on Sunday, May 15, at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

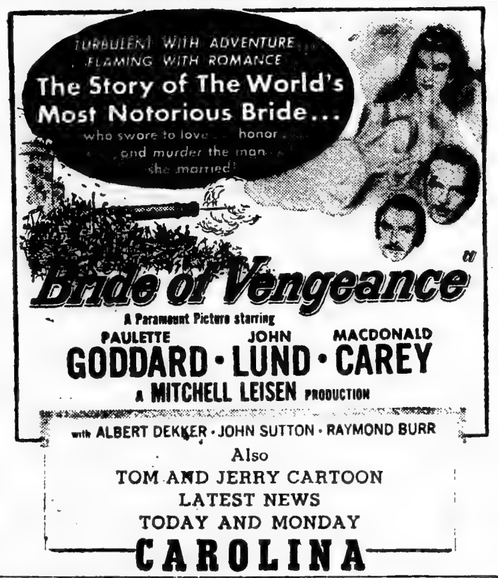
CLASSIFIEDS

NEW FURNISHED APARTMENT-3 rooms-pine paneled. Phone F-5167 Sunday after 5:30 P. M. on weekdays.

FOR SALE 6B

THREE USED FRIGIDAIRE REFRIGerators, two used Kelvinator refrigerators, two used electric ranges. Call Bennett & Blocksidge. 6161. (ch1x1)

FOR SALE: 18 FT. TRAILER WITH electric hot water heater and refrigerator. Butane gas stove and heater. 58-A Trailer Ct. Pittsboro road. (3-6723-1)



HELP WANTED 8

UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds, athletics, and other camp activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment, room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

WANTED 24

HOME FOR TWO YEAR OLD [illegible] red cocker spaniel. Would prefer giving him to some little boy or girl who has no puppy but would like one with his Mother's permission. Contact Bill Buchan, DTH office. (1-1200-1)

Also
TOM AND JERRY CARTOON
LATEST NEWS
TODAY AND MONDAY
CAROLINA

VILLAGE
TODAY

MONDAY

In Chapel Hill
Every College Man Should Know One Thing — That JACK LIPMAN CARRIES
Manhattan Shirts

Have you cast your ballot for your "Miss Fashion Plate of 1949"?

Time is running out! Have you cast your vote for your very own "Miss Fashion Plate of 1949"?

If not, you'd better clip your ballot now! This Revlon contest closes midnight, May 6th.

Here's a review of the prizes! First! The candidate you pick will have a chance at the Grand Prize (one week expense-free trip to New York plus a Revlon make-up course) ...or one of the 9 runner-up prizes . . . an opportunity to represent Revlon on campus next fall, plus a year's supply of cosmetics.

Choose your candidate on 4 counts only . . . grooming, dress, poise, and personality.

Clip your ballot today! Drop in ballot box in this newspaper office or other locations on campus. There's a panel of beauty authorities all ready and waiting to see if your candidate will be the national Grand Prize winner.

I nominate..... for "MISS FASHION PLATE of 1949," a contest sponsored by the Revlon Products Corporation.

NAME.....

All ballots become the property of the Revlon Products Corporation

GRAND PRIZE

One week's expense-free trip to New York, plus a training course by REVLON, plus a chance to become a glamorous model!

for all
REVLON PRODUCTS
in Chapel Hill
See
SUTTON'S Drug Store
"A Complete Drug Store"
Walgreen Agency

Steaks — Chicken — in — a Basket — at HARRY'S

SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

EDITORIALS

Political Front
Rain, Sidewalks
Washington Scene

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Cloudy and mild.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. TUESDAY, MAY 3, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 158

Goldenthal Elected CPU Head Sunday

Freerks, Goldstein Tomblin Win Posts

In executive session Sunday night, the Carolina Political Union elected four new top officers for the coming six-month term. Marcy Goldenthal, incoming CPU Chairman announced.

Elected to the remaining offices were: Edlyn Freerks, Vice Chairman; Mary Tomblin, Secretary; and Henry Goldstein, Treasurer.

Taking office, Goldenthal said that the Carolina Political Union, acting as a non-partisan student organization, has a "vital and special function to fulfill for the University in stimulating interest and study in current political and economic questions. The CPU also provides opportunities for active student participation in group discussions," he continued. Goldenthal announced that the Union has several vacancies for new members and invited interested students to attend the weekly CPU roundtable discussions, held each Sunday night at 8 o'clock in the Grail Room, Graham Memorial. The meetings are open to the general public.

Next Sunday's topic for discussion, he said, will be on a case of the American-Russian relationship, "Ending the Cold War."

Retiring officers of the Union were Herbert Alexander, Robert Giles, Richard Simpson and Edlyn Freerks, who left his position as Treasurer to become Vice Chairman.

Bryant Committee Meets In Raleigh

RALEIGH, May 2—(UP)—The nine-man committee of Trustees of the University of North Carolina appointed to select a successor to Dr. Frank P. Graham as president of the Greater University will meet here Friday.

Victor Bryant of Durham, chairman of the group, said the committee will meet in the office of Chancellor J. W. Harrelson of North Carolina State College. It will be a preliminary meeting, he said, to organize for the job of finding Graham's successor.

Pharmacy School Elections Slated

The Pharmacy School will hold its primary election in Howell Hall on tomorrow, May 4, it was announced yesterday.

The election will be for the School of Pharmacy Student body officers, NCPA Student Branch officers, and the Honor Council representative.

The polls will be open from 9 to 4:30 in Howell Hall. Runoffs will be held on the following Monday, May 9, from 8:30 until 5.

De Vyver to Speak To Delta Sigma Pi

Delta Sigma Pi professional Commerce fraternity will hear Dr. Faustin de Vyver, professor of banking at Duke, and vice-president of Erwin Cotton Mills, speak tonight.

The program will take place at the Delta Sigma Pi House, 211 East Rosemary Street at 7:30.

Theta Chi Inactives Should See Wheeler

Any inactive members of Theta Chi national social fraternity who are in school here were requested yesterday to contact Bill Wheeler at the fraternity. Wheeler also requested that any Theta Chi alumni in the University or in Chapel Hill to get in touch with him.

—Photo Courtesy Durham Herald

SENATOR FRANK PORTER GRAHAM, in the first picture taken of him since his release from Emergency Hospital in Washington, D. C., more than a week ago, is shown relaxing at the home of his wife's sister, Mrs. Cheshire Webb, in Hillsboro. The senator was stricken with an attack of pneumonia shortly after being sworn in. He said he did not know when he would be able to return to Washington and his senatorial duties.

Legislature Delegates Chosen By Committee

Twenty-one students were chosen yesterday from a large group of applicants to represent the University in the North Carolina State Student Legislature to be held in the state capitol in Raleigh May 13 and 14.

No distinction was made as to which students would serve in the Senate and which would serve in the House of Representatives. Ten alternates were chosen to replace delegates who may drop out of the legislative line-up.

All delegates and alternates will meet tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in Graham Memorial, along with Interim Council officers Gran Childress and Dortch Warriner. Childress will be a member of the House at the mock General Assembly because of his office.

Warriner said yesterday that any delegates or alternates who cannot attend tomorrow's meeting should inform him at the Kappa Alpha house before the meeting. He said anyone not notifying him of their intended absence will relinquish his seat to an alternate.

The delegates chosen yesterday were:

Graham Jones, Al Lowenstein, John Sanders, Don Shropshire, Bob Giles, Hurshell Keener, Emily Baker, Patricia Denning, Bill Duncan, Rita Adams, Joe Leary, Ted Leonard, Iris Bost, Herb Mitchell, Edie Knight, Bill Mackie, Nat Williams, Dave Sharpe, Bill Prince, John Stump and Warriner.

Alternates picked were:

Dan Bell, Pete Gerns, Dick Allsbrook, Charlie Gibson, Charleen Greer, Ed Joyner, Banks Talley, Russell Baldwin, Cam West and Ted Young.

The delegates to the mock General Assembly were chosen by a committee composed of representatives from the Student Legislature, the Dialectic Senate the Philanthropic Assembly, the Debate Council, and other campus organizations.

'Merrily We Love,' S&F Spring Show, Opens Thursday

The labors of two university students who set their sights on Broadway are finally bearing fruit this week when the curtain rises on the Matthews-Covington original "Merrily We Love." The new show, called a musical production revue by the co-authors, is being produced by Sound and Fury, the campus musical comedy group.

Scheduled for Thursday and Friday nights at 8:15 in Memorial Hall, "Merrily We Love" is entirely student written, directed and produced. The cast is composed altogether of students from all classes and fields of interest.

Matthews and Covington became interested in the idea of this show sometime back when they found that one had an idea for a book, the other had a filing cabinet filled with musical numbers that he had written over a period of ten years. It is said of Matthews that he has written a song each week for the past 520 weeks.

The two men took their work to New York during the past Christmas holidays and put it before Tennessee Williams' agent who was interested, but not sufficiently interested to give them a billing as the show stood.

Undaunted, Matthews and Covington brought their script back to Chapel Hill and presented it to the members of Sound and Fury for consideration. This body voted unanimously to accept the show as it stood and use it in their spring production.

Factotom Release on Campus Scheduled Within Few Days

Factotum, a "little magazine" published by University students, will appear on campus today or tomorrow. The new issue is devoted to Goethe in conjunction with the Goethe bicentennial anniversary celebration. Available in Abernathy's, Danziger's, Lenoir Hall, the Bullshead bookshop and other stores, the copies will sell for forty cents.

This issue of "Factotum" will include criticism by Norman Foerster and Herbert Reichert of the University German department, and translations from Goethe's "Aphorisms" by Richard Jente, head of the department. It will also contain short stories and poetry by Morton Seif, Bob Fowler and others. Past issues have featured articles and poetry by such nationally known names as Kenneth Rexroth, Peter Vierck, and Norman Foerster.

Factotum is distributed throughout the nation and has outlets in New York, Boston, Chicago and Berkeley. It has created interest in literary circles in these cities. Its main support is drawn from the Chapel Hill area where it is expected that half the cost of publication will be obtained. The editors expressed their gratitude for the past support from the student body and their hope that it will continue.

Forum Names John Sanders New Chairman

Takes New Position As Mitchell Quits

John Sanders was elected to the chairmanship of the Carolina Forum last week in a major shake-up of the organization precipitated by the resignation of Herb Mitchell from the position of Chairman.

At the same time Charlie Kauffman was elected to serve as the Forum's secretary in addition to his post of publicity director.

Sanders, the recently defeated Student party nominee for Secretary-Treasurer of the Student body, made this statement in taking over the leadership of the Forum: "There is but one criterion by which the success of the Carolina Forum can be measured by the student, in whose interest it was created—by the number of interesting, informed and informative speakers which it presents to the campus.

The first year of the Forum's existance has necessarily been spent to a great extent in solving the unavoidable problems of organization, procedure and finance. In addition to this, there has been a series of cancellations of scheduled speakers, as well as some unfavorable publicity, all of which have handicapped the Forum in the fulfillment of its purpose.

With a year of experience behind it and several months ahead in which to plan and arrange next year's calendar the Forum is in a position to promise the students a full and interesting program of speakers on timely national, international and special topics of interest to the campus as a whole."

"The Forum is in good hands," stated Mitchell, the resigning Chairman. "I have found it necessary to withdraw," he continued, "as I don't feel I will in the future have the great amount of time and energy which the Forum Chairmanship demands. However, having worked with Sanders during the past four months, I feel confident that the Forum is not left without an able and conscientious leader."

Harris Succeeds Johnston As Head Of Grail At Fete

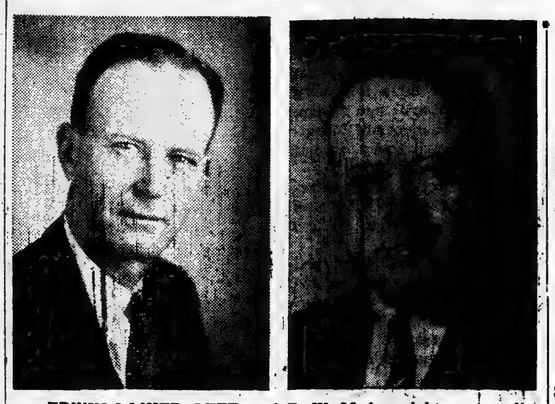
New officers and new members were officially installed by the Order of the Grail last night when the men's honorary group met at banquet in the Carolina Inn Ballroom.

The new officers were: Page Harris, delegata, Ed Washington, scribe; Dave Sharpe, exchequer; and Herb Yates, ring chairman.

New members were: Richard Gordon, Ben Kilpatrick, Ted Leonard, Sam Magill, Herb Mitchell, Bill Roth, Dave Sharpe, Charles Smith, Ed Tenney, Fred Thompson, Dortch Warriner, Ed Washington, and Herb Yates.

Judge E. E. Rives of Greensboro was the guest speaker for the occasion. He was introduced by outgoing delegata, Gus Johnston.

Many old graduates returned for the banquet.



CRIL to Collect Old Clothes Here

A clothing drive sponsored by the Council for Religion In Life will be held on the campus from May 9 until May 12.

Boxes will be placed in each dormitory, fraternity and sorority house and a collection will be made each morning.

The students working on the CRIL committee will be: Peggy McKinley, in charge of collections in sororities; Kitty Altizer, in the women's dormitories; Charlie Gibson, in the fraternities; Ben Duke, in the men's dormitories; and Ed McLeod, in charge of transporation.

Nine Candidates On Ballot In Chapel Hill Election Today

EDWIN LANIER, LEFT, and R. W. Madry, right, are candidates for mayor of Chapel Hill in the municipal election to be held today. Lanier, is director of the University Central Records office. Madry, the incumbent, is director of the University News Bureau.

Madry and Lanier in Opposition; Votes to Be Cast at Fire Station

By Charles McCorkle

Two candidates for mayor, two for judge of Recorder's Court, and five for three seats on the Board of Aldermen will have their political careers for the next year decided at the polls today as Chapel Hill's municipal election begins at 6:30 this morning.

The single polling place, at the fire station in town hall, will remain open until 6:30 this evening. A town hall official said yesterday that a "rather large" vote was expected.

Mayor Robert W. Madry and Alderman Edwin S. Lanier are the two candidates for mayor. Madry is also director of the University News Bureau and Lanier is director of Central Records.

Judge Henry Whitfield, the incumbent, and attorney John Manning are seeking the post of judge of Recorder's Court.

For the three vacancies on the Board of Aldermen, these five persons will battle it out at the polls: Incumbents R. B. Fitch and R. L. Fowler, Mrs. Roland McClamroch, Kenneth Putnam, and Rev. J. H. Jones.

Candidate Lanier had no comment to make on the election yesterday. He said he saw no need for further discussion of the issues, and that everything would be settled at the polls.

Mayor Madry said yesterday that he had taken a positive stand on all issues presented and had tried to make his position clear.

"If you approve in general the record of town government since it has been my privilege to serve this community as mayor," Madry continued, "then I hope you will express your approval by voting for me in Tuesday's election. If re-elected, I shall continue to work for a program of sane, sound, steady progress for all the people of Chapel Hill."

Madry said he found it necessary to disagree with his opponent on one major issue.

"My opponent says," Madry started, "that if he is elected he will seek to amend the town's charter so that the mayor will be elected by the Board of Aldermen. I shall have to oppose this plan because I am convinced the people of Chapel Hill have the wisdom and intelligence to choose the head of their town government by popular vote.

"It has been my privilege to live in Chapel Hill 31 years, and for 26 of those years I have been writing about and boasting about the people, the organizations and institutions of this community.

"I feel that my work as newspaper representative for the University and town has given me a realistic understanding of the many problems confronting Chapel Hill and a deep and abiding affection for the community. It has been my aim at all times to represent not any particular group but to work for the advancement and welfare of all the people.

"Certainly one of the major responsibilities of a mayor is to promote his community, and I feel that I have been able to dovetail and tie together effectively my two jobs as publicity director and mayor in promoting the best interests of our community. Promotion and publicity go hand in hand."

Pre-Registration Dates Are Listed By Officials

Preregistration dates for the Summer Session, 1949, for all students now registered for the Spring Quarter as announced yesterday are as follows:

Arts and Sciences, Graduate School, and School of Education: May 9-14. School of Pharmacy: May 9-12. General College: May 9-14. School of Commerce: May 4-14.

Students should see their faculty advisers between these dates to have their Green Forms prepared the announcement said, Positively no Summer Session Green Forms will be accepted in the Registration Hall at Venable "X" after Saturday, May 14.

Preregistration for the summer may be for either term or both terms. Students who register for the first term only and later decide to register for the second term must wait until July 21 to register for the second session.

Students who do not plan to attend the Summer School, but who will return for the Fall Quarter, may preregister for the fall later in May.

All General College students who plan to attend Summer School may make appointments with their advisers by signing an appointment sheet in the main lobby of Memorial Hall Wednesday, May 4, or at the information Desk, first floor of South Building, Thursday, May 5, through Saturday morning, May 7.

Mumford Talk Slated For Hill Hall Tonight

By Jack English

Lewis Mumford will give the last in a series of addresses here this evening, May 3rd, at 8 o'clock in Hill Hall. The title of the address will be "The Foundations of World Order." Mr. Mumford will be presented by Fred H. Weaver, president of the Chapel Hill chapter of the United World Federalists.

Mr. Mumford is Visiting Professor in the School of Design at the North Carolina State College and is presented here through the courtesy of that school. His final address here is being sponsored by the United World Federalists of Chapel Hill.

In an interview yesterday afternoon, Mr. Mumford stated that an effective world government is the only real way that peace can be made permanent. Until such time as this government is realized, he said, the aim of the peoples of the world must be to keep war from breaking out.

"The United States did itself and the rest of the world serious damage when it demobilized its military forces so rapidly after the late war," Mr. Mumford averred. "When we did that, all we had left was a threat—the threat of using the atomic bomb. Now, the Atlantic Pact and the rebuilding of America's land and air forces have shown any would-be aggressor that the democracies mean to defend themselves in a manner that the aggressors understand.

"However," Mr. Mumford continued," these military measures are only negative ones. What is needed are positive measures to offer the world, especially to the Russians. Those positive measures will be found in World Government."

Mr. Mumford went on to point out that if there is another war, it will be one of extermination. "We should have the brilliant minds that created the A-bomb hard at work on the structure of World Government. It has been only too obvious that many men in our State Department have been mediocre."

When requested as to his opinion concerning war in the near future, Mumford replied that war was a serious threat a year ago.

"At that time, I believed that the Russians wanted war and would occupy Europe. Why they didn't, I don't know. Perhaps Truman's re-election was a factor.

(See SHOW page 4)

Gerns, Alexander Named With Ross To Clinic Group

The regional National Students Association publications clinic, which closed up shop Sunday after three days of meetings here, elected Pete Gerns of the University, Gloria Alexander of Bennett College and Clay Ross of North Carolina College as an Interim Committee.

The committee will plan a publications clinic for this fall, to be held, if possible, in conjunction with the student government clinic scheduled by the regional executive committee, Gerns said.

The committee will also send a copy of all panel reports from this clinic on newspapers, business problems, and yearbooks to the editors of all college publications in North Carolina. Virginia, West Virginia, and South Carolina.

Dean Fred Weaver addressed the final dinner session of the clinic Sunday noon at the Presbyterian Church. He stressed faculty-student relationships and discussed the advantages to colleges of working together to solve mutual problems.

The publications clinic conducted panels in Graham Memorial from Friday afternoon through Sunday morning. Several members of the Daily Tar Heel staff joined in the discussions, while Editor Dick Jenrette addressed the first meeting of the clinic.

Vets' Checks Due Early This Week

Veteran's subsistence checks should be in the first part of this week, C. F. Shepherd, veteran's advisor, announced yesterday.

However, veterans are requested not to come by the veteran's office in South building if their checks are late before May 10, for a tracer will not be put on delinquent checks before that time.

Ministers Invited To Planetarium

Bill Mackie, president of the student body, announced yesterday that the student government, the YMCA and the YWCA were jointly inviting the ministers of North Carolina to a special showing of the Morehead Planetarium on Thursday, May 12.

Over 4,000 invitations will be sent to all parts of the state, Mackie said, and about 1,200 ministers are expected to attend. Because of the large number, several tours of the planetarium will be held. The ministers will be entertained also at a dinner on Thursday evening.

Final Exam Schedule

Sat., May 28	8:30	All 12 o'clock classes
Sat., May 28	2:00	All 2 o'clock classes
Mon., May 30	8:30	All 8 o'clock classes
Mon., May 30	2:00	All 3 o'clock classes and Commerce 71
Tues., May 31	8:30	All 9 o'clock classes.
Tues., May 31	2:00	Commerce 72, Zoology 104, and all other classes not otherwise provided for.
Wed., June 1	8:30	Common examinations. (All French, German, and Spanish classes numbered 1, 2, 3, and 4)
Wed., June 1	2:00	All 10 o'clock classes.
Thurs., June 2	8:30	All 11 o'clock classes
Thurs., June 2	2:00	All 1 o'clock classes

By action of the faculty, the time of no examination may be changed after it has been fixed in the schedule.

No student may be excused from a scheduled examination except by the University Infirmary, in case of illness; or by his General College faculty adviser or by his dean, in case of any other emergency compelling his absence.

'Moon' Announcer Fired by Station

JACKSON, Miss., May 2.—(UP)—A radio announcer who cooked up a report last night that the "moon has escaped its orbit" was fired today.

Announcer Bob McKee, of Stacast that the moon would collide tion WJXN, added in his broadwith the sun and that earthquakes could be expected in the Mississippi Valley within 48 hours.

McKee said he was surprised at the reaction, since he had prefaced his stunt by explaining that he was putting on a fictitious program.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $4.00 per year, $2.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JEWETT
Business Manager ..... C. B. MENDENHALL

Managing Editor ..... Bill Burhan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. ..... Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins

Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Haldor
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff-Photographer ..... James A. Mills

Editorial Board—Banks Talley, Ed Tenney, Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis.

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Mail, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor, Ronald Tilley.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Deaning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Night Editor: Chas. McCorkle — Night Sports: Joe Cherry

Rain and Sidewalks

The heavy rains which have descended on the campus during the last few weeks have brought to mind the very pressing need for more brick sidewalks on campus. The seasonal downpour which annually hits Chapel Hill has turned most of the sand and composition walks into beds of mud. In the last few years the grounds committee has succeeded in securing money to put in a few brick sidewalks around the campus. The walks that have been bricked so far are those which are used most. But the heavy rains have pointed out the need for more bricked walks.

According to Director of Operation J. S. Bennett, an overall plan calls for bricking of all sidewalks on campus within the next ten years. The plan, however, can not be successfully carried out until the funds are made available. The sidewalks are very expensive in both labor and materials and consequently only a few can be put in each year. The thing that people do not realize is that there is much work to be done before the bricks can be put in place. The ground has to be graded, drains installed, and a layer of sand put down. Only then can the tedious and time consuming job of laying bricks be started.

Bennett says that his department hopes to complete three sidewalks by the end of the summer if the funds are available. The first walk on the agenda is the walk which runs from Old East down past Alumni to where it connects with the present Planetarium walk and will then continue from the Planetarium, past Graham Memorial to Franklin Street. The second walk is from the Planetarium walk to Battle-Vance-Pettigrew and the final job will be from Saunders to Lenoir.

Although improvement is being made slowly, it looks like the students will have to put up with muddy shoes until the funds become available to finish the bricking of all the sidewalks on campus.—F.A.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon
(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, May 2.—I can't help feeling that this fellow Paul Makushak who bricked himself up in a New York tenement to keep out the world, isn't particularly unique.

I know scores of politicians who for a much greater length of time than Makushak have bricked up their minds against any intrusion of ideas.

* * *

I was told in New York, by people who are in a position to know, that there is a very good chance that Joseph Nunan, former Commissioner of Internal Revenue, will throw his hat into the mayorality ring.

Joe Nunan has long entertained ambitions to be the Big City's chief executive. He has strong "if" backing.

This is all predicated on Mayor O'Dwyer's refusing to run for reelection. Under no circumstances will Nunan put up a fight against O'Dwyer. But he's prepared to battle anybody else.

O'Dwyer has confided to Democratic bigwigs that he will not be a candidate for reelection. He has had a heart condition for a long time.

Joe Nunan is popular. He was popular even when he was with Internal Revenue. And any man who can stay that way while engaged in taking most of the voters' dough away from them is quite a guy.

* * *

Senator Sheridan Downey, of California, has received a letter from a feminine constituent saying that Congress "simply must" remove the 20 per cent excise tax on cosmetics so she can hold "my Bill."

Added the woman: "I am deeply in love and cannot live without my Bill, but he has a weakness for attractive women. I am attractive, but I am no chicken any longer, and want to avoid the furrow of wrinkles."

The lady went on to explain to Senator Downey that it is now possible to obtain hemone oil to keep the skin smooth, but that it is too expensive on account of the 20 per cent impost.

She said that by the time she pay all her other taxes she can't afford the additional tax on loveliness.

This is one debate I suppose I shouldn't get into, but if a lot of our dames can be made better looking by means of taxless cosmetics it might be a good idea to remove the tax and find some substitute way of obtaining revenue.

A Direct Hit

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

CPU Inquiring Reporter

U. S. Chinese Policy

By Murray Goldenthal

The opinions expressed in this column are those of the individual only and are not to be interpreted as representing the opinion of any organization.

Question: What is your opinion regarding United States policy in China?

Henry Adams, 406-C Dormitory: "U. S. foreign policy in China has been a prize exhibition of stupidity. If we had wanted to prevent the communists from taking over, the logical thing would have been to push progressive social reforms in the Chinese social order.

Instead we sent billions of dollars worth of arms and equipment to bolster a dying, corrupt, and unpopular regime. Little was done to correct abuses in the Kuomintang policies. So it is not surprising that the communists were able to appeal to the Chinese masses by blasting away at glaring evils under the status quo.

Our billions accomplished little except to serve as exhibit "A" in the communist gallery of anti-American propaganda. All that cash has gone down the drain and with it the good will we wanted to buy. The commies are taking over, mostly because State Department stupidity and bungling played right into their hands."

Mogens Blegvad, 262 Glandon Drive: "In general I approve of the present policy policy of the U. S. towards China. In the present situation a 'hands off' policy, perhaps combined with humanitarian program of relief, seems to me to be the wisest. It has been a mistake to try to back up the corrupt Nationalist regime and even large scale economic and military asistance will not now have any chance of changing the final outcome of the civil war. Any aggressive move against communist China will tend to strengthen its ties with Soviet Russia. China needs peace and economic reform, and there is at least the faint hope that some brand of Titoism will eventually develop and make a Communist China less dangerous for the democratic powers in world politics."

Roy Sofaski, 125 North Street: "If we accept the fact that the world today is divided into two camps, one communistic and one democratic, then we must condemn our policy in China. The foothold being gained by the Communists in China will threaten eventually the very security of the land we live in, so I believe in acting now to stop this impending threat. If we aided the Chinese Nationalists with direct force, we would be no better than the Communists because we would be using their own methods. Our alternative is to send money and materials to the Nationalists enabling them to fight back and to defeat the Reds. Those Americans who complain that this would be a terrific drain on the tax payer do not realize that we must be willing to sacrifice part of our economic holdings in order to guarantee a safe democratic America for our children."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

COMMUNIST TEACHERS

Editor:

Mr. Marvin Luther's comment regarding Communist teachers in our Universities is very timely and strikes at the core of the question. Truly, Communists are incapable of teaching "from an objective point of view" in any field where Marxists concepts are concerned. Why is this true?

It is well known that real party liners are obsessed with fanaticism. There are no passive members of the Communist Party because the statutes of memberships define a party member as one who, among other things, is "active in party work." Inactivity, as well as disagreement with the decisions of any party organization are grounds for expulsion.

The idea that the prohibition of Communist teachers is a violation of "academic freedom" is absurd. Communist don't even believe it themselves. This hypocrisy is clearly implied in the following from The Communist Magazine: "Communist teachers must take advantage of their positions, without exposing themselves to give their students a working class education. They must be thoroughly grounded in Marxism-leninism. . . inject it into their teaching at the least risk of exposure, and at the same time, conduct struggles around the schools in a truly Bolshevik manner."

Another instance of Communist treachery is evidenced in their rabid devotion to what they call "a legitimate American political party"—a party that would quickly eliminate other parties if a majority were obtained. Bewhiskered Joseph Stalin in his "Problems of Lenin" specifically tells us that "the leader within the system of the dictatorship of the proletariat is a single party, the party of the proletariat, the party of the communists, which DOES NOT AND CANNOT SHARE THAT LEADERSHIP WITH OTHER PARTIES."

Democrats, Republicans, Socialists, Vegetarians, etc, etc.! Let us do unto the Communists as they WOULD do unto us—not as we would have them do. The Communist rape of Central Europe admonishes us to be sensible! Let's begin by literally kicking the Communists out of our schools! Our academic freedom must be preserved!

J. R. Cherry, Jr.

ATLANTIC PACT

Editor:

Our press, in connection with the Atlantic Pact and similar matters, constantly tells us that our government is leading the "free Peoples of the world" against any and all aggressors. It seems to me that we ought to think a bit about how free all these people are and whether our leadership is strengthening the forces of democracy in the world.

Secretary Acheson, Cardinal Spellman and others protest loudly when someone is tried for espionage in those countries in whose governments, as now constituted, they do not approve of. But look at some of the things they do not protest.

The Syrian government was overthrown by a military clique. The government of Venezuela, fairly democratic, was likewise overthrown. A short time ago, Portugal had a definitely unfree election to keep its clerical-fascist dictatorship in power.

The Greek government, admittedly a puppet of the United States, grows daily more repressive and brutal. Franco continues his bitter oppression of the Spanish people while the press in this country and men in high station apply the whitewash. France, Great Britian, and the Netherlands wage war against peoples striving for liberation from colonial status. The Western Allies maneuver to return African peoples to Italian domination.

Six Negroes in New Jersey are awaiting execution for a crime which unimpeachable witnesses say they could not have committed. Dozens of nations in Latin America, the Near East, and elsewhere continue to live under repressive governments.

Perhaps what we need is some sincere efforts to make the "free peoples of the world" somewhat freer rather than a plan to give their rulers more arms to use in strike-breaking, coups and colonial wars.

By the way, I hear the Swedes are getting along fairly well.

Albert W. Williams

On The Political Front

By Charles McCorkle

COUNCILS—The rumor mill was disseminating some interesting information last week—especially interesting if true.

The rumors concerned a Men's Honor Council case which was appealed to the Student Council on the grounds that the defendant's constitutional rights were violated. The two clinchers were:

1. The defendant received notification that he was to appear before the Men's Council some 36 hours before the trial. He asked for an extension of time to prepare his case, and was refused.

2. A member of the Men's Council said in sworn testimony before the Student Council, that he was prejudiced against the defendant before the trial started, by members of the retiring council.

In any decent court of law, either one of the above facts would throw a case out immediately, if they were proven. And obviously neither one of them would be hard to prove if true. Reports received here say the higher court upheld the earlier decision.

We hereby appeal to the Student Council, in the interests of a better court system here at Carolina, to release all the facts of this case to the student body, naturally withholding the names of the participants.

Because if you don't, the students who have heard the facts listed above rumored about the campus are going to have an awfully sour impression of the student judiciary. Too many people have that sour impression already.

LEGISLATURE—The Seventh Student Legislature ran true to form last Thursday night, with the University and Campus Parties combining to (almost) elect their picked slate of officers. They fouled up on one office, that of chairman of the Rules Committee.

The UP-CP coalition backed Bob Smith for the post, while the Student Party nominated Johnnie O'Neal, who recently switched to the SP from the CP. O'Neal, the former committee chairman, got the office by a vote of 23 to 13, a thumping victory considering the coalition he was bucking.

Herb Mitchell, the UP floor leader, easily walked into the speaker pro tempore's job, as he deserved to, since nobody could find a worthwhile candidate to oppose him. The SP's Sanders was a half-hearted opponent, and certainly there were no legislative veterans in the body from any party to effectively oppose him. We look forward to seeing him do a good job.

Nat Williams had some interesting things to say about Emily Sewell's remarks about the coalition. She said, "Why not just combine the UP and the CP, if they are going to vote together? Why have three parties?"

To which Mr. Williams answered, "Why have three parties? Well, I ask you, why have two sexes? It makes life more interesting."

Nat prefaced his remarks, incidentally, by saying that he was rather nervous about answering Emily, since he knew it wasn't smart "to tangle with an angry woman."

To The Editor

PECULIARITY

Editor:

After reading Mr. Ross's letter to Mr. Freistadt, I would like to pass along to them and to any others a short, concise, and adequate paragraph concerning the subject.

One of the peculiarities of our economic system is the manner in which certain folks support ideologies and practices which are unfriendly to the system on which their own material well-being depends.

W. J. L.

Pitching Overshoes

'Leetle Automobeel'

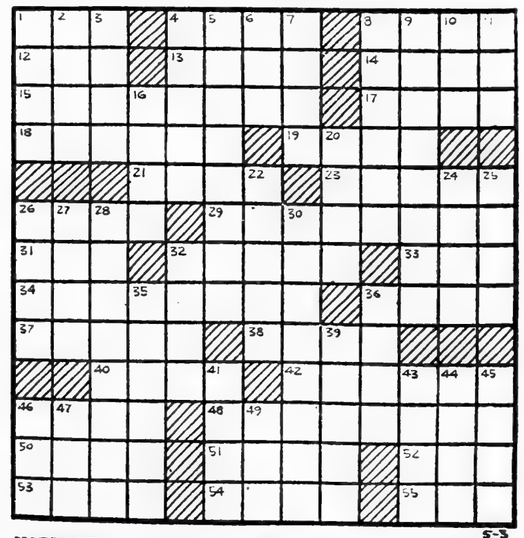
By Tom Wharton

Some of us are wondering what happended to the little man who was so avidly plugging sales for the little French-built "Renault" automobile around here several weeks ago. It was a cute little monster for $1395 although some listeners to the spiel of sales-talk wondered why one shouldn't go ahead and buy a car as long as one puts that much money in a thing.

This little Renault carries baggage under the hood in front and carries its four-cylinder, valve-in-head engine in the rear. This engine developes 19 horsepower and according to the dial of the speedometer cruises at 50 miles per hour and will attain 80 miles per hour in a pinch, or just before a pinch as the case may be. The whole thing only weighs twelve hundred pounds over all.

Among its other selling points, this little "modder" will get 60.5 miles to a gallon of gas and two quarts of oil, has hydraulic brakes all around and requires only three days for delivery. The little man said that he would sell the first few in Chapel Hill for only $1300 in round figures, but picked up his car and stalked away when asked what was the trade-in value on "ze leetle automobeel."

* * *



Peace-loving residents of the south side of Whitehead Dormitory were deprived of their God-given right to sleep through their traditional Sunday afternoon siesta this past Sunday by an unidentifiable noise wafting over from the Chi Phi house across the road. Some observers, in an effort to find out just what the trouble was over there, noticed that one or two persons could be seen carrying musical instruments in and out of the house, and so deducted that the Chi Phis must have greatly admired the Old South Dixieland music produced by the little Kappa Alpha combo that has been heard lately in the Vets' Club and at the Carnival Friday night. The Chi Phis' efforts to steal the K. A.'s thunder show promise and talent but lacked the real spirit of the thing, according to some of the critics.

* * *

There is a great deal of hopeful speculation in Graham Memorial's catacombs regarding the question of Tarnation's business management. Editor Kerr and the Publications Board are hopeful that they can secure someone to take Pete Gerns place as Business Manager of Tarnation when lovable ol' D. Gerns retires from that post at the end of this quarter. It seems strange that there have been so few applicants for this job since of all the many extra-curricula positions on this campus, this job is probably one of the most interesting and educational, not to mention the fact that it is probably the most lucrative job around here for the amount of man-hours on the job. The annual salary of Tarnation's business manager is estimated to be something like $640 more or less on the basis of advertising sales commissions. The only prerequisites for fulfillment of this position are possibly an elementary working knowledge of book-keeping and a little familiarity with advertising and printshop routine.

Possibly one thing that may account for the lack of applicants for the job is the erroneous idea of many students on the campus that all the jobs worth having around here are politically sewed up. That is certainly far from the truth. One rather adverse condition that is often experienced by students in extra-curricula activities is the antagonism of some of the more stupid faculty members who seem to think that their students are here for only their particular, narrow field of education and no other knowledge or experience.

On this point we may expound further. It might be interesting to know just how many people on this campus realize that a college campus, this one in particular, is the only place where a college-age person may get into a good wholesome and valuable job and gain a lot of experience in a wide variety of fields without going through a lot of channels and employment offices and without joining unions and signing three-year contracts and such as one would have to do in outside life. Take this business post on the Tarnation staff for example. Some smart fellow, or a girl for that matter, can step right into this job for a couple of hours in the afternoons and learn a lot of things about working with people that can't ever be taught in the Sociology Department or in the Commerce School.

HORIZONTAL
1. legendary bird
4. ship officer
8. detail
12. mountain in Crete
13. iridescent gem
14. Anglo-Indian weight
15. liberal
17. unite by compact
18. starry
19. capable
21. dilatory
23. ventilated
26. English poet
29. metal housing for machine gears
31. anger
32. varieties
33. direction of wind (abbr.)
34. lover's evening song
36. walk
37. living
38. lath
40. dregs
42. diverts
46. ill-bred fellow
48. game of cards
50. adjoin
51. military assistant
52. falsehood
53. exclamation of disapproval
54. former heavyweight champion
55. S-shaped worm

VERTICAL
1. capital of Latvia
2. lyric poems
3. tilt
4. ethical
5. justification
6. Greek letter
7. Wagnerian heroine
8. style of type
9. indulgent
10. house addition
11. spring month
16. Gaelic
20. obstructs
22. goes
24. serf
25. profound
26. town in Italy
27. city in Russia
28. dangerous
30. feminine name
32. leg joint
35. turns inside out
36. root out
39. fossilized vegetable resin
41. wound incrustation
43. auction
44. shield
45. observes
46. expression of derision
47. Japanese sash
49. narrow inlet

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

S	T	R	A	T	A	L		S	T	E
P	R	E	P	A	R	E		L	A	P
R	I	F	T	I	N	G		A	N	I
A	C	E		O	A	S	T		C	O
T	E	R	S	E		T	E	E		U
		O	L	D	E	R		W	R	E
C	H	R	O	M	E		I	C	I	E
H	E	A	T		C	A	N	A	L
A	R	M		F	O	B		B	L	A
T	O	P		L	Y	R	E		B	A
T	I	A	R	A		A	M	I	D	I
E	N	N	U	I		D	I	V	I	D
D	E	T	E	R		E	T	A	G	E

Average time of solution: 25 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Tar Heel Nine Meets Duke Today

Strictly Ad Lib

By Zane Robbins

About Favorite Sons

THROUGHOUT THIS GREAT NATION of ours there are colleges, large and small, with athletic heroes all their own. Some of 'em are great stars, men who will be remembered by generations to come. Others are guys named Joe who merely play the game for what it is worth to them and their school. Rarely is it, however, that an aggregation of great sportsmen, such as the current Tar Heel crop, come together on a single campus.

Southern Methodist fans swear by a football playing-cowpoke by the name of Doak Walker; California rooters get their kicks from husky Jackie Jensen; Wisconsin folk smile when Gerhmann runs the mile; and the people up Philadelphia way can recite Joe Verduer's swim record along with the catechisms of the Quaker Church. The good people of Kentucky take time out from horse racing long enough in the winter to go inside and rave about the hardwood antics of Alex Groza and Ralph Beard; and the friendly folk across the way in Baptist Hollow wouldn't trade their waterboy for most of the baseball players in the country.

They all have their favorite sons and wouldn't swap 'em for a barrel of nickles, but, in our humble opinion, Carolina has them all beat—in quality and quantity.

Two Of A Kind

THERE ARE FEW, OTHER THAN an old gent by the name of Grantland Rice, who will deny the greatness of Tar Heel Charlie Justice. Magazines and newspapers all over the country have featured the elite little hip-waver, and all agree that his action on the gridiron this fall should mark him as one of the game's all-time immortals. Bill Stern said of the Asheville Ambler, "There may have been greater runners in history, greater passers, and greater kickers, but never has there been a player with as much all-around ability as Charlie Justice."

The Chapel Collitch campus is also graced by a young man who is perhaps the top college netter in the country, Vic Seixas. Vic has long been ranked high among the nation's racquet-swingers, but during the past year he moved up the ladder, and is now the seventh-ranking amateur in the United States.

Sport magazine recently carried a lengthy article on "Gracious Seixas and his talking racquet," and tabbed the likable Philadelphian as the new matinee idol of the game. The story went to great lengths in describing the recent activities of the Tar Heel netter, and predicted that he would rise to even greater heights in years to come.

Albans is the Name

A 24-YEAR OLD FRESHMAN, veteran of a number of years active duty with Uncle Sam's wartime navy, entered the University last fall without the blare of trumpets (which very probably will accompany his exit in a few years). Little had been heard of him other than the fact that he had captured the hop, skip and jump event for the United Sates in the summer Olympic battling.

Carolina athletic fans soon learned, however, that Albans is the name. A name that has since struck fear into the hearts of opposing trackmen all over the South and in parts of Yankeeland.

Big Bill captured 19 firsts in 20 starts (was injured when he slipped up and took second), and has since captured the fancy of sports-loving fans throughout the country. He was featured in a recent edition of Newsweek, and other national rave notices are sure to follow.

Hugo Kappler and Coy Carson, although not the greatest ballhawks in the country, have added much to the Tar Heel basketball prestige. The gold-dust twins paced their Carolina mates to a top spot in the Southern Conference last season, and opened the eyes of a number of Southern basketball enthusiasts. Great things have been predicted for the two.

Shades of Bobby Jones

ONE OF THE MOST CONSISTENT Tar Heel winners throughout the past few years has been a little guy with a big club, Harvie Ward. Ward has been heralded all over the nation as one of the top young golfers of the day, and has been tabbed as the greatest thing to come out of the South since Bobby Jones left Atlanta back in the thirties to burn up the country's links.

Ward has won numerous amateur events throughout the country, the most notable of which was his 1948 victory over Frank Stranahan in the North-South Open. And he almost did it again this year.

Jim Thomas is probably the best of the current lot of Carolina swim stars, and may in years to come turn into one of the top aquabats around. His fine showings in the not-too-long-gone AAU and NCAA swim festivals marked him as a top-notch prospect.

The Milky Way

AFTER THIS QUICK GLANCE at a few of the Carolina athletic luminaries, it would seem that with all those stars, the local Monogram Club meetings would look more like the milky way than anything else.

And these are only a few of the brighter stars on the Carolina horizon. There's All-American Art Weiner to be reckoned with along with Irv Holdash and a batch of other pigskin stars. Norm Sper, Dick Twining and a few others are still around to help Thomas with the swimming chores, and Clark Taylor, one of New England's top amateurs, is on hand to aid Seixas on the court.

Up-and-coming Oliver "Stub" Sapp and Bob Cox are a couple of the finest young golfers around, and Coaches Bunn Hearn and Walter Rabb have a batch of grade-A baseball players to throw at anybody that dares dispute the Southern baseball supremacy. So all in all it seems that good ol' Carolina will be able to hold its own with anybody anywhere in any sport. Care for a game of jack rocks?

Carolina-Deacon Tilt Postponed; At Duke Today

Maybe it's written in the stars that Wake Forest College and the University of North Carolina are never to meet again on the baseball field at Chapel Hill. Yesterday the scheduled Carolina-Deacon game was rained out for the fourth straight time. So this afternoon, weather providing, the Tar Heels will journey to Duke University for their sixth Big Four game of the season.

Ray Blair, who was scheduled to go against the Deacs yesterday, will pitch against the Blue Devils today for the third time this year. So far he has a record of two wins over the hapless Blue Dukes.

The Tar Heels, who suffered their third Big Four loss of the schedule last week in a slugfest against State College, are currently riding down in third place among the Big Four schools with a two-three record. Only the Blue Devils are behind the Carolinians in the Big Four race. Currently Duke has only one win to its credit—a 7-4 victory over State yesterday. The Durham club had previously dropped five straight loop tilts.

In Conference play the Tar Heels are fairing better. In the 16-team circuit the local club is currently in the number five spot. All Conference losses the Tar Heels have suffered have come in Big Four play.

With four of the top hitters in the circuit in their starting lineup the Tar Heels will offer the Blue Devils a strong hitting attack. With loop leader Sid Varney behind the plate and sluggers Don Ward, Stan Goodman, and Ed Lamb in the lineup, the Carolinians will offer nothing but trouble for Duke's starting pitcher. Coach Jack Coombs will probably start veteran Al Curtis against the Tar Heels in an effort to cop their second win of the season against Big Four competition.

After the Duke contest, Coaches Bunn Hearn and Walter Rabb will take the tribe on a two-game road trip up through Virginia. On Thursday the local boys will face Washington and Lee at Lexington and will move over to Charlottesville on Saturday for their second game with the Cavaliers of Virginia.

MAJOR League Results

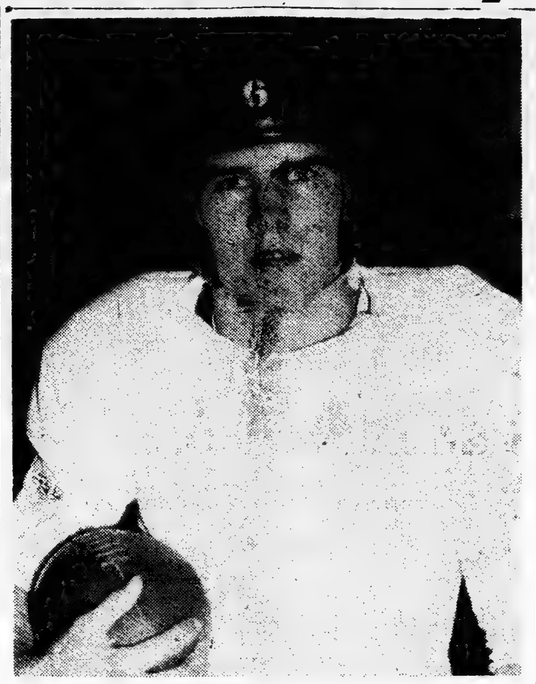
NATIONAL LEAGUE

Boston	9	5	.643
Cincinnati	7	5	.583	1
St. Louis	6	5	.545	1½
New York	6	7	.462	2½
Brooklyn	6	7	.462	2½
Pittsburgh	6	7	.462	2½
Philadelphia	6	8	.429	3
Chicago	5	7	.417	3

Today's Games

Cincinnati (Raffensbarger 2-1) at Brooklyn (Branca 3-0)
Chicago (Dubiel 0-1) at Boston (Brickford 2-1) (night)
Pittsburgh (Dickson 1-1) at New York (Hartung 2-1) (night)
St. Louis (Pollet 0-2) at Philadelphia (Roberts 0-2) (night)

AMERICAN LEAGUE



New York	10	3	.769
Chicago	8	5	.615	2
Cleveland	6	4	.600	2½
Detroit	7	5	.583	2½
Philadelphia	8	7	.533	3
Boston	6	6	.500	3½
St. Louis	3	10	.231	7
Washington	3	11	.214	7½

Today's Games

Washington (Scarborourg 1-2) at at Chicago (Pieretti 1-0)
New York (Lopat 3-0) at St. Louis (Carver 1-1)
Boston (Kinder 1-1) at Detroit (Kretlow 0-1)

HORSESHOE DEADLINE

Today is the last day for that entries will be accepted for the Mural horseshoe tournament.

DICK WIESS, FRESHMAN FULLBACK who bore the brunt of the frosh ground attack last fall and who teamed with tailback Skeet Hesmer in the Blue-White game to make life miserable for the varsity linemen. He will be one of the top contenders for the fullback position on next year's Tar Heel eleven.

Ted Haigler Hurls Hitless Game In Intramural Softball Contest

With the intramural softball season only two weeks old. Ted Haigler of the Law School team has already chalked up a no-hit, no-run game.

He accomplished this feat Tuesday afternoon when the Law School played Whitehead. In addition to allowing no hits, Haigler struck out seven of the batters who faced him and walked only three.

But his expert pitching wasn't the only factor in the 11-0 victory of the law boys. In four trips to the plate Haigler collected a single and a double. These two hits added to the 12 contributed by his teammates spelled victory for the Law School.

According to mural director Gales Perry, several good games have been played thus far in the mural circuit. Haigler, however, is the only pitcher who has been able to score a shut-out.

MONOGRAM MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Monogram Club at 7:30 tomorrow night at the club house. Further plans for the beach party will be discussed and all members are urged to attend.

MANAGERS MEET

There will be a meeting of all Intramural managers tomorrow night at 7:30 in room 304 Woollen Gym.

TENNIS SCHEDULE

4:00, courts 1-4: Old East vs Emerson 1; courts 5-8: Town 3 vs Emerson 3; courts 9-11: Kap Sig 1 vs A-Dorm 1. 5:00, courts 1-4: Sig Eps vs Chi Phi 2; courts 5-8: Steele vs Law School; courts 9-11: St. Anth. vs ZBT.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00—Field 1, Lewis 1 vs Old West; 2, Law School vs BVP; 3, Sig Nu 2 vs DKE 3; 4, PiKa 1 vs KA 1; 5, Phi Sig 1 vs ATO 1; 6, PiKA 2 vs Phi Delt 2; 7, Pi Lamb 1 vs Zeta 1; 8, TEP 1 vs Lamb Chi 1.
5:00—Field 1, Phi Delt Chi Pi Kap Phi 1; 2, Kap Psi 2 vs SAE 2; 3, Wes Rockets vs Emerson 1; 4, Chi Phi 1 vs Sig Chi 1; 5, Sig Nu 1 vs SAE 1;6, Beta 2 vs Zeta 2; 7, Pi Kap Phi 2 vs Phi Gam 1.

TODAY'S SPORTS

Baseball

Varsity baseball—Carolina vs Duke at Durham.
Freshman baseball—Carolina vs Duke at Emerson Stadium at 4 o'clock.

Tennis

Varsity tennis—Carolina vs Harvard at Cambridge, Massachusetts. Call 3339 after 8 o'clock for results.

Practice Sessions

Daily practice sessions continue in track, lacrosse, soccer and golf.

Touring Netters Top Williams, 7-2; Face Harvard At Cambridge Today

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. May 2—North Carolina's barnstorming tennis team netted another victim here today as the visiting Tar Heels stroked out a 7-2 victory over the hometown lads of Williams College, in a match played between intermittent showers.

It was the second win of the tour for the lads from the South, who dumped Princeton on Saturday by a similiar score. And it was the 17th consecutive win of the season for the charges of Coach John Kenfield.

The largest crowd ever to witness a college match in Williamstown was on hand to see Tar Heel Seixas knock off Williams' Robbie Robinson in the No. 1 match of the day. The scores were 6-3, 6-3.

The winner proved to be too much of an adversary for Robinson, as Seixas broke his opponent's service twice in each set while winning an even ten games with his own.

The Tar Heel dropped but one singles and one doubles match on the nine-match program. Stan Gruner battled Paul Scribner through two gruelling sets before losing 9-7, 6-4. It was the top singles engagement of the day.

The best match of the afternoon though, was the doubles match in which the Williams' team of Thurber and Robinson outlasted the Carolina pair of Gruner Winstead. The final tally read 6-3, 6-4.

Other Tar Heel victories in the singles were turned in by Clark Taylor, Charlie Rice, Duke Wilder, and Jim Winstead. Doubles wins were posted by the teams of Seixas and Taylor and Rice and Wilder.

The rain did its best to break up the match at several points in the afternoon. But the top-condition Williams' courts drained quickly from each downpour and the teams continued action.

Tomorrow the Tar Heels move on to Cambridge where they will meet Harvard.

The summary:

Seixas (C) defeated Robinson, 6-3, 6-3. Taylor (C) defeated Schaaf, 6-4, 7-5. Scribner (W) defeated Gruner, 9-7, 6-4. Rice (C) defeated Palmer, 6-3, 6-3. Wilder (C) defeated Treman, 7-5, 6-1. Winstead (C) defeated Thurber, 6-4, 6-2.

Seixas-Taylor defeated Schaaf-Scribner, 6-1, 6-3. Thurber-Robinson defeated Gruner-Winstead, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4. Rice-Wilder defeated Palmer-Takamine, 8-6, 6-3.

Frosh Baseballers To Meet Blue Imps At Emerson Today

Carolina's freshman baseballers, washed out against Wake Forest yesterday, will meet Duke University's yearling diamonders at Emerson Stadium this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Coach Henry House has named lefthander Henry Schacht as the locals' starting hurler.

The Tar Babies have an impressive record of four wins and one loss. Their lone defeat came at the hands of the State fresh nine, a team the locals had previously shut out, 4-0.

The Carolina Frosh beat Duke, 14-6, last week. They also hold wins over Greensboro High School and the Baby Deacs of Wake Forest.

DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL
Tues. & Wed.
PHANTOM OF THE OPERA
In Color
Nelson Eddy, Claude Rains, Suzanna Foster
And Also
WALT DISNEY COLOR CARTOON
75c Per Car
Shows at 7:15 & 9:15

THE CURVE
Now Serves
Rupperts Delicious 20 Cent Beer
CURB SERVICE —— 11 A.M. - 'TIL

RAIN OR SHINE IT'S
"Stormy" Weathers
AND HIS ORCHESTRA

FOR THE SMOOTHEST IN DANCE MUSIC
SPECIALIZING IN SORORITY AND FRATERNITY DANCES
Write 310 Pritchard Ave.
PHONE 3746

For A Friendly Get Together Stop At IVEY'S
(New Building On Curve In Carrboro
★ SANDWICHES • BEER • WINE ★
★ SOFT DRINKS • MAGAZINES ★
Serving Carrboro and Vicinity for 23 Years
MR. AND MRS. M. C. IVEY, PROPRIETORS

The Durham Theatre Guild Inc.
PRESENTS
Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize Play
OUR TOWN
Directed By Suzanne Marden Davis
STARRING
Fred Haseltine, Edna Dooley, Gordon Argo
Carr Junior High School, Durham, May 4, 5, & 6
Evenings at 8:15 Admission 1.00, Students .75
Tickets at Godwin's Jewelry Store, Under Sutton's Drug Store

Mother's Day Dream COME TRUE
RONSON Table Lighters
WORLD'S GREATEST LIGHTER
No gift more sure of pleasing—for every smart hostess wants at least one Ronson to grace her favorite table—plus as many more as a generous family can give, for every room in the home. Every model is fashioned in heavy silver plate—and boasts the famous one-finger one-motion Ronson action:
Press, it's lit!
Release, it's out!
Safely out the instant you lift your finger!

Ronson "Crown" for desk or table . . . in heavy silver plate ..... $11.00 (tax extra)

Exquisite Ronson Table Lighters from $8.50 to $16.50 (Plus Tax)..... at
SUTTONS' DRUG STORE
A Complete Drug Store
Your WALGREEN AGENCY

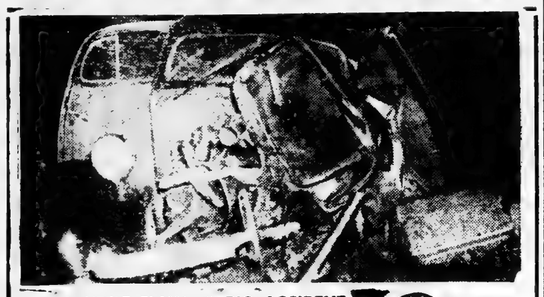
SUNDAY IS MOTHER'S DAY. . .

Give *
* Candy
We Wrap and Mail
Eubanks' Drug Store

LET US PAY YOUR HOSPITAL BILLS
ACCIDENTS — SICKNESS
CHILD BIRTH

Individual and Family Group Plan
PAYS IN FULL REGARDLESS OF ANY OTHER INSURANCE YOU HAVE LIBERAL CASH BENEFITS FOR POLIO PROTECTION
$5000
Hospital Room, Operating Room, Anesthesia, X-Ray, Medicines, Laboratory Expense, and Ambulance. Pays Surgeon's Fees for Operations Due to Accidents or Sickness. Costs Only a Few Cents Per Day for Whole Family. Choose Your Own Doctor.
BENEFITS ARE NOT REDUCED FOR CHILDREN OR ELDERLY DEPENDENTS
AGE LIMIT 1 DAY TO 80 YRS.
Mail Coupon Today for Interview
PLEASE GIVE CORRECT ADDRESS
RESERVE LIFE INSURANCE CO.
511 Commercial Bldg., Raleigh, N. C.
Please send me information about your Hospital Plan. No obligations.
NAME ..... AGE .....
STREET .....
CITY ..... STATE .....

For QUICK RESULTS Use The DAILY TAR HEEL CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING SECTION



BULL'S HEAD BOOKSHOP
"THE BRAVE BULLS"
by Tom Lea
BROWSE • BUY • RENT

GROSSMAN'S THRIFT SHOP
buys your clothes in good condition
E. Franklin St.

VILLAGE Now Playing

A LITTLE FLAW—A BIG ACCIDENT

Worn out brakes, inadequate lights and threadbare tires contributed directly to an average of 6 traffic deaths daily during 1948. Have your car checked regularly by a qualified mechanic. Your life may depend on the safety of your car.

Be Careful—the life you save may be your own!

This advertisement is published in the public interest by

HAZZARD MOTOR CO.

MYSTERIOUS LITTLE MAN POPS UP ALL OVER TOWN

Chapel Hill, May 3, 1949—Detectives can't explain the mystery of a little man dressed in red, with lather all over his face, who has been popping up in local bathrooms while men are shaving. He hands the shaver a Pal Hollow Ground Razor Blade, and disappears. He does no harm; in fact, the men report that Pal is the best blade they've ever used. Yesterday he showed up in this office and left a note reading: "Pal Hollow Ground is the slickest, quickest blade going. They're in all good stores—you still get 4 for 10¢, 10 for 25¢, 21 for 49¢, 44 for 98¢—Double or Single Edge." Strange case, isn't it?

PAL BLADES?
WE HAVE THEM
AT
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE
"A Complete Drug Store"
WALGREEN AGENCY

Tri-School Fete Honors Initiates In Legal Groups

Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity honored its new initiates and their guests last Thursday with a dinner dance at the Club Bon Air in Raleigh. The combined memberships of Wiley Rutledge Chapter, Duke University; Ruffin Chapter, University of North Carolina; and Timberlake Chapter, Wake Forest College joined with legal dignitaries from throughout the state and nation to make the occasion a memorable one.

Following the dinner, the respective chapters from the three schools presented their new members to the gathering. Those from the Carolina Law School are:

Lester Chalmers, Raleigh; Robert Covington, Laurel, Miss.; Blair Daily, Burlington; Glade Fiske, Washington, D. C.; John Giles; Glen Alpine; Gene Hall, Brevard; Perry Henson, Franklin; Peter Lavin, Chapel Hill; William Talton, Oxford; Parker Whedon, Charlotte; Franklin Winfree, Summerfield; Ben Dinkins, Chapel Hill; and Horace Hayworth, High Point.

Several distinguished visitors were present as guests of the three chapters and included: Justice Douglas Edmonds, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of California, who delivered the principal address of the evening; Dean Harold Shepherd, resigning Dean of the Duke Law School; Dr. I. Beverly Lake, Wake Forest Law School; Hon. Thad Eure, Secretary of State of North Carolina, and Mrs. Eure; Dean Robert E. Lee of the Wake Forest Law School and Mrs. Lee; Professor Edward W. Timberlake of Wake Forest Law School, in whose honor the Wake Forest chapter was named; Dr. and Mrs. Maurice T. Van Hecke of the UNC Law School; Mr. Edward Cannon, Secretary of the North Carolina Board of Bar Examiners, and Mrs. Cannon.

Invitations to Be Distributed Today

Commencement invitations will be distributed in the Y lobby today from 9 to 4 o'clock, Ray Jeffries, spokesman from the Grail, said yesterday. Jeffries urged that all students bring their receipts to show that they have ordered graduation invitations.

DIRECTOR OF THE WOMEN'S Royal Air Force, Air Commandant Felicity H. Hanbury (right) is greeted on her arrival at Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., by Colonel Geraldine P. May, director of women in the U. S. Air Force. The W.R.A.F. chief is in the United States for a fifteen-day tour of the American Air Force bases.

Literary Critics Note Quality Of Quarterly

By Leonard Dudley

Literary critics throughout the state and nation are hailing the Carolina Quarterly as "a definite contribution to the literature of North Carolina and the South today." Such comments have been received from newspaper editors, radio commentators, columnists, book reviewers and even from the "Office for the Correction of Mistakes and the Solution of Social Problems," in the Russian zone of Germany.

After almost a year of publication and with an underwrite of $2,000 provided by the student legislature, the publication is about ready to stand alone, Roy Moose, editor said. So far the Quarterly has used only $500 of its allotted funds and next year it plans to survive on only contributions, donations, and subscriptions, Moose said.

William Rose Benet, noted author and critic, writing in the Saturday Review of Literature on April 9 drew a parallel between the beginning of the Quarterly and the Carolina Playmakers, stating: "all of you will remember the Carolina Playmakers in the days of Tom Wolfe and 'Proff' Koch. Here is another cultural venture—a chance for poems and stories and a high standard of writing."

Sam Ragan, columnist for the News and Observer said in his column, "The editors of the Quarterly are doing a fine job, and the publication is a definite contribution to the literature of North Carolina and the South."

Don Shoemaker, editor of the Asheville Citizen, said: "I think the winter issue of the Quarterly is the best evidence yet of what Chapel Hill, and North Carolina can and should do in the way of adequate literature production.

Perhaps the most interesting comment on the new magazine is a five page single-spaced typewritten letter received from Max Dittrich in the Russian zone of Germany. Dittrich said that he had heard of the Quarterly on the Voice of America broadcast and that he was writing to ask if the editors were interested in "articles with a philosophical theme." The letter was written from the "Office for the Correction of Mistakes and Solution of Social Problems." According to Editor Moose, who had the letter translated by Josef Ryberg of the German Department, Dittrich seems to espouse Russian communism. The "mistake" that he wants to "correct" is capitalism, Moose said.

The first two issues of the magazine have published works by such well-known people as Paul Green, Dr. Archibald Henderson, Dr. Hardin Craig, Walter Pritchard Eaton, Dr. William M. Coppridge, Richard Walser, Agatha Boud Adams, Charles Eaton, and M. Jacques Hardre.

Outdoor Frat Meet Tonight Cancelled

The outdoor meeting of the Alpha Phi Omega scheduled for tonight has been cancelled. The meeting as usual will be held in Roland Parker Lounge 3 at 7 o'clock.

Irving Silver Elected President Of University Men's Glee Club

Irving Silver, second year voice major from High Point, N. C. was elected president of the Men's Glee Club last Wednesday at the Club's regular rehearsal. Silver, who served the Glee Club last year in the capacity of secretary, succeeds Cary Perry of Schoolfield, Va.

Other officers elected were Ernest Douglass, Raleigh, N. C., vice - president, Milton Bliss, Thomasville, N. C., secretary, and Herschel Snuggs, Winston-Salem, N. C., business manager-treasurer.

Present plans for the Glee Club include an appearance at Randolph Macon College this month and a Carnegie Hall concert Notre Dame weekend.

-SHOW-

(Continued from page 1)

or perhaps the Russians were weaker than we thought, or that might not have been their intention in the first place," Mumford stated.

For the next ten years the Russians will grow militarily weaker as the Western nations grow stronger, but their political strength among the Asiatic countries will continue to be stronger than ours for a long time. There are reasons for this.

"The idea of practicing private enterprise for profit does not appeal to the peasant who doesn't even own an acre of land," Mr. Mumford pointed out. "We must practice social democracy such as Truman's health program, which will eventually go through. To win Europe we must first change their idea that capitalism and democracy are synonymous terms. Already movements have begun in this direction. Now the capitalist must bargain with his employees through labor unions.

"We must have an inspection force that is so strong that no little group of gangsters can ever hope to dominate the world through force. Every citizen in every country must be a part of this inspection force—it is the only way to permanent peace."

O'Neal Lists Solons Absent in Meeting

Johnny O'Neal, Rules Chairman of the Student Legislature, announced that the following members were absent from the legislature meeting April 28:

Walt Carnes, Bill Guest, Al Winn, and Bob Smith.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

6:30—FRENCH CLUB WILL meet at Carolina Inn for dinner.
7:00—ALPHA PHI OMEGA. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
7:00—DANCE COMMITTEE. Grail room, GM.
7:30—DANCING CLASS. RENdezvous room, GM.
7:30—YOUNG DEMOCRATS Club. Murphey Hall.
7:30—PHI ASSEMBLY. PHI Hall.
7:30—PHILILOGICAL CLUB. Gerrard Hall.
7:30—AMERICAN VETERANS Committee. Rabbi Samuel Perlman will speak on "Israel as a Liberal Force in the Near East." Presbyterian church.
7:30—BRIDGE TOURNAMENT. Roland Parker 1.2.GM.
7:30—FRENCH CLUB. CALDwell Y.
7:30—PI MU EPSILON. MATH Fraternity.
8:00—LIBRARY STAFF. MAIN lounge, GM.
8:00—LECTURE BY LEWIS Mumford. Hill Hall.
9:00—DEBATE COUNCIL Grail room, GM.

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

ALL MAKES OF LAWN MOWERS repaired, machine sharpened. Axes, hatchets, scythes also sharpened. Tripps Lawn Mower Repair Shop or see John Tripp, Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1xf)

PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. FOR A small charge we can relieve you of all details connected with renting your property. Our service includes selection of desirable tenants, supervision of upkeep and collection of rents. Consult us today regarding this service. Service Insurance & Realty Co., Henderson Street. Phone F-419. (ch 1x2)

A VERY QUIET DOUBLE ROOM FOR graduate student and wife. Write "Graduate Student," c/o The Daily Tar Heel. (1-c6720-1)

FOR RENT 5A

TRAILER WITH LARGE PORCH. Completely furnished including electric Refrigerator. Summer Months. Trailer No. 17 University Trailer Court. Pittsboro Road. See after 1 o'clock. (3-6725-1)

NEW FURNISHED APARTMENT-3 rooms-pine paneled. Phone F-5167 Sunday after 5:30 P. M. on weekdays.

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

1937 CONVERTIBLE PLYMOUTH New seat covers and top. Sealed beam lights, heater. $250. See Dick Taylor, Track Field House (behind Woollen Gym) (nc)

HELP WANTED 8

UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds, athletics, and other camp activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment, room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

AL CAPP
L'il Abner

Let us SQUEEZE you — some FRESH ORANGE Juice — at HARRY'S

Milton Caniff
Steve Canyon

FREE DELIVERY
on orders from
THE COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
Monday — Friday
at
9:15 And 10:15
DIAL 6061

AUTO PARTS
New . Used . Rebuilt
Open Saturday Afternoon
And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

Kept Fresh
By Refrigeration
SUTTON'S
Drug Store
A Complete Drug Store
Walgreen Agency

CAROLINA THEATRE
DURHAM, N. C.
FRIDAY NITE, MAY 13th at 8:20 P. M.

TWO FAMOUS STARS!
On Stage! In Person!

SYLVIA SIDNEY · JOHN LODER
"O Mistress Mine"
TERENCE RATTIGAN'S LONDON and NEW YORK COMEDY HIT
Don't Wait Until Box Office Opens!
MAIL YOUR ORDER NOW!

Address your mail order to Carolina Theatre and make check or money order payable to Carolina Theatre. BE SURE TO ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED, STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS.

PRICES INCL. 20% FED. TAX

Orch. 3.60 & 3.00— Mezzanine 3.60
Bal. 3.00 & 2.40— Col. Bal. 1.20

MOTHER'S DAY SUGGESTIONS
at
ANDREWS-HENNINGER
DEPARTMENT STORE

Barbizon Slips & Gowns
Nely - Don Dresses
Handkerchiefs
Scarfs
Nylon Hose
Kaysi and Flatterknit
Costume Jewelry
Hand - Bags & Gloves

All These Items And Many More Wonderful and Economical Buys At ANDREWS-HENNINGER

Y, MAY 3, 1949

ELIVERY
lers from
OLONIAL SYSTEM
— Friday
at nd 10:15
L 6061

R'S DAY
Y 8TH
R HER WITH
tman's
CHOCOLATES
Sampler
Fresh
rigeration
TON'S
g Store
te Drug Store
en Agency

ATRE
20 P. M.
R line"
COMEDY HIT
Opens!
NOW! and make check
BE SURE TO NVELOPE FOR
3.60
1.20
AY
S
INGER
Gowns
es
ves
NGER

EDITORIALS

Forgotten Statue
First Birthday
Tennis Courts

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER
Warm and cloudy.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, MAY 4, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 159

Weaver, Dedmond To Make Speeches

Will Talk at University of Mississippi On Problems of Student Governments

Fred Weaver, Dean of Students, and Jess Dedmond, retired president of the Student Body, leave tomorrow for the University of Mississippi, where they will discuss student life on a college campus.

R. Malcolm Guess, Dean of Men at the University of Mississippi, invited Weaver and Dedmond to this weekend's meeting, which he calls "Resource Study of Student Life." Weaver, as a resource leader, will speak on "Student Government Philosophy" at a banquet Saturday night.

Guess sent Weaver an outline of 21 problems that have arisen at Old Miss, and he was asked to discuss them at the meeting. These problems include such items as attendance, amendments to constitutions, the honor system, exemption of seniors from final examinations the last semester, and the problem of a paid secretary for the student body president.

Guess said he hoped to study and rework a student life program in the following areas: student government's scope and function; fraternities and sororities, their councils, rushing regulations, housing projects, social life, etc.; the independent students; and social affairs.

Silvia Sommer, president of the Women's Student Government Association at Duke University, will attend the meeting with Weaver and Dedmond.

The University representatives both said they hoped to gain invaluable knowledge from the meeting. They will return to the University Sunday.

Joint Recital Slated for Hill Tomorrow Night

A joint student recital will be presented tomorrow evening at 8:30 in Hill Hall when Miss Barbara Young, soprano, and Milton Bliss, baritone, will be featured.

Miss Young is a junior in the Music Department and is now a native of Chapel Hill, though originally from New Jersey. Having entered the University in her freshman year, Miss Young has been active in both the dramatic and music fields. As a freshman, she had a leading role in the Playmakers' production of "The Skin of our Teeth," by Thornton Wilder, and appeared in several one-act experimentals.

Milton Bliss is a junior music major from Thomasville. He transferred as a sophomore from Mars Hill Junior College where he studied voice with Miss Elizabeth L. Souther and was baritone soloist in the Glee Club at that school.

Bliss is performing a group of early Italian songs, which include works by Scarlatti, Handel, Caccini, Cavalli, and Durante. Debussy's "Beau Soir" and "Mandoline" open the French group followed by other representative neo-French composers.

Mr. Bliss and Miss Young will close their program with two operatic duets, Mozart's "La Ci Darem La Mano" (Don Giovanni) and Ambroise Thomas' "legeres Hirondelles" (Mignon).

Legislature Solons Will Convene Today

Carolina's delegation to the State Student Legislative Assembly will meet at 5 p.m. today in Graham Memorial. Any person not attending the meeting should send an excuse to Dortch Warriner at the KA House. Any person who doesn't attend or doesn't send in an excuse will be considered not interested in going.

Sings To End; Stars' Music Will Continue

University Club Makes New Plans

The University Club Monday night voted to discontinue the Community Sing sponsored by the Club. Tentative plans are now underway for continuation of the Music Under the Stars series, a club spokesman said.

The outdoor series has met with inclement weather during the past few weeks, and recently it was learned that the Forest Theater, planned to be the location of the Sunday evening music presentation, would not be available for further use by the club. The Theater is now in use for Playmaker spring rehearsals.

A motion to change the club meeting date from Monday evening at 7:30 to Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock was defeated.

New members of the club were present for the first time Monday night to familiarize themselves with the workings of the organizations in preparation for the fall, when they will become voting members.

Two committees were appointed at the meeting; one to complete plans for the University Club party May 16, and the other assigned to work with the Interfraternity Council in a move to organize the student body when it visits New York next fall for the Carolina-Notre Dame football game.

The club voted that a member of the Daily Tar Heel staff be accepted for membership and given voting power in the club. This move is subject to approval by the Student Legislature, the club spokesman said.

Campus Party Calls Caucus for Tonight

There will be a caucus meeting of all Campus Party legislators in Roland Parker No. 3 tonight at 7:30, according to an announcement made today by Chairman Vestal C. Taylor.

It is urgent that all members be present and on time, Taylor said.

MAKING A TOUR of the tiny Italian island of Stromboli, just north of Sicily, film star Ingrid Bergman and director Roberto Rossellini walk hand-in-hand as they check over the setting for their forthcoming picture. Miss Bergman's husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, went to Italy to join his famous actress wife on the island.

'Le Theatre Francais' Stages Play Tomorrow

Le Theatre Francais, a small, select acting group on the University campus, will stage a Moliere Festival as the 10th production of the group since 1934. The production will be staged in the Playmakers theater tomorrow night, at 8:30. The play to be presented is "Le Medicin Malgre Lui" written by Moliere.

On Sunday night, May 7, the Duke University French Club, under the direction of Mrs. Neal Dow, will join with the Carolina group in presenting two Moliere plays. Beginning at 8 o'clock the Duke players will present "Bourgeois Gentil Homme" and the Carolina club will repeat its Thursday night performance.

There is no admission charge for any of the three productions, but to create the atmosphere of the French theater, pretty usherettes will sell programs, which contain full English synopses of the plays, for whatever price the customer wishes to pay. Proceeds go for the benefit of American Aid to France.

Le Theatre Francais was organized back in 1934 by Prof. Walter Creech of the Department of Romance Languages for the purpose of aiding students of French in their pronunciation by giving them an opportunity to meet together to speak the language and put on a French play each year.

Zionists to Hold Celebration Party

A party to celebrate the first anniversary of Israel's independence will be held by the International Zionist Foundation of America this afternoon in the YMCA from 4 until 6 o'clock. Palestinian singing and dancing will feature the program.

Tonight Rabbi Simon Gulstrom of Durham will speak to the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity on "Zionism and the American Jewish Scene."

The two events will bring to an end the independence celebrations which began last Saturday afternoon when 40 delegates of the IZFA met in Graham Memorial to form a subregion of the IZFA, the purpose of which is to coordinate student Zionisf educational activities. Elaine Naiman was elected president of the local organization and Elaine Fischer was chosen as the group's secretary.

Formal Debate Is Scheduled Wednesday

Outlawing Reds To Be Subject

Professor E. J. Woodhouse of the Political Science Department will lock horns wiith graduate physics student Hans Freistadt, self-styled member of the Communist Party, in formal debate on "Should the Communist Party Be Outlawed?" next Wednesday at 8 o'clock in Gerrard Hall.

Freistadt challenged Woodhouse to the debate after the same subject was debated by Woodhouse and student Bill Duncan for the affirmative, Paul Guthrie and student Dortch Warriner for the negative, last Wednesday in Gerrard. The debate was sponsored by the Carolina Political Union.

Freistadt, president of the Karl Marx Study Society, revealed himself as a member of the local Communist Party some time ago. He came to this campus from the University of Chicago, where he was reportedly president of the student Communist Club.

John Sanders will preside over Wednesday's debate, and graduate student W. E. Haisley will act as time-keeper. The debate is being sponsored by the Karl Marx Study Society.

Each speaker will have 10 minutes of rebuttal time. Then an informal discussion period will be held, followed by questions from the audience. The speakers will conclude the program with short summaries.

Language Society Takes 20 Initiates

In an impressive ceremony last week, 20 students who have achieved outstanding success in the study of the German language were initiated into Delta Phi Alpha, the German honorary fraternity.

President David Ball conducted the ceremonies which are followed by a program of songs, a German play and an excerpt from Mark Twain's views on the German language.

Richard E. Cofield, Harvey J. Cohen, William G. Cowan, Lillian Dillard, George Dysart, Willis J. Grant, Roy G. Hall, Jr., Hartzel Z. Leged, Harry T. Lewis, Claude F. McCuiston.

Arnold L. McPeters, Morris E. Merritt, Ernest E. Montgomery, Charles A. Northend, Blackwell Sawyer, Jr., Lloyd B. Stanley, Edward K. Washington, David A. White, Noah Wilson and J. A. Wolhar.

Ed Lanier Is Elected Mayor In Record Turnout Of 1,442

Nine Faculty Names Approved By Trustees

Talbert, Holman, Mann, Noland, Camp, Chapin, Davis, Penich, Hill Approved

By Margaret Gaston

Seven appointments to the University faculty were approved by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees in a meeting last Monday, Chancellor Robert House said yesterday.

Ernest Williams Talbert has been appointed as a professor in the English Department. Dr. Talbert received his AB degree from San Jose State College, and his MA and Ph.D. from Stanford University. He will begin his work at the University next fall.

Hugh Holman will enter the University as an assistant professor in English beginning next fall. He received his BS and BA degree at the Presbyterian College, and will receive his Ph.D. here in June.

William Robert Mann will join the Mathematics Department next September as an instructor. Mann received his AB from the University of Rochester and will receive his Ph.D. at the University of California this June.

Reuben Hill and Edward William Noland will become professors of Sociology and Research professors in the Institute for Research in Social Science. Hill received his BS at Utah State Agricultural College and his Ph.M. and Ph.D. at the University of Wisconsin. Noland received his AB and MA at the West Virginia University, and his Ph.D. at Cornell University. He has done additional work at the University of Chicago.

F. Stuart Chapin, Jr., will join the Department of City and Regional Planning as an associate professor. He received his AB, cum laude, at the University of Minnesota and his Bachelor of Architecture in City Planning Master of City Planning at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Kenneth R. Davis was appointed assistant professor in the Department of Economics and Commerce. He received his Ph.B. and M.B.A. at the University of Wisconsin and he will receive his Ph.D. in 1951 at the University of Chicago.

The Executive Committee also approved the appointment of Jim Camp as an assistant Varsity Football coach.

Another appointment approved was that of Dr. George Penich as an instructor in the Medical School.

A leave of absence was approved for Dr. James W. Fesler, of the Department of Political Science, for work at the University of California next year.

Policy Meet By State YPC Set Saturday

Plan to Discuss Stand on Issues

Republicans from throughout North Carolina will invade Chapel Hill Saturday, May 7, for the third in a series of newly-initiated, monthly Young Republicans policy meetings.

The meeting will be presided over by State Young Republican president, Worth Little of Albemarle. It will get under way immediately following a banquet at 6 p.m., tentatively scheduled for the Carolina Inn.

The purpose of the policy meetings, Little explained, is to find out what Young Republicans in the State think about current issues and to formulate public policy statements on these vital State and National issues. Little listed a second aim of the policy meetings as "the building of a revitalized Republican party in North Carolina."

The policy meeting will be preceded by a meeting of college Republicans at 3 p.m., at which time a federation of all college Republican clubs in North Carolina will be formed. Bill Hipple president of the UNC club, will be in charge of all arrangements.

Village Residents Buy Co-op Stock

Victory Village residents have invested over $900 in their co-operative grocery during the last six weeks. Purchase of capital stock to this amount has followed success of a pledge campaign during which store patrons promised to invest $1,200 during April and May. Directors of the "co-op" were pleased that most persons already have fulfilled their entire pledge. They pointed out, however that the whole $1,200 is needed to insure continuance of the store, and urged the fifty persons with outstanding pledges to purchase their stock within the next few days.

The new capital is needed to match withdrawals by graduating students leaving Chapel Hill.

Manning Defeats Henry Whitfield For Court Seat

Ed Lanier, genial director of the University Central Records Office, waltzed into the Chapel Hill mayor's office yesterday as a record turn-out of 1,442 voters created a turnover in the municipal government of this University town.

Lanier captured a total of 811 votes to defeat R. W. Madry with 589 votes. Madry has served as mayor for the last seven years and spent three years on the Board of Aldermen before that.

Physically Fit

Chapel Hill's mayor-elect proved himself physically fit yesterday morning as he turned up well before 6:30 in the fire station at town hall to be the first person in line to cast his ballot.

But that wasn't how Ed Lanier proved himself physically fit.

Whimsical early - morning poll - keepers told him he couldn't ever be mayor unless he proved himself in top physical condition. And to prove it he would have to climb to the top of the slick 20-foot firemen's pole in the station.

Which is just exactly what the "physically fit" Mr. Lanier did—and he slid back down without bodily injury, too!

Lanier resigned his post on the Board recently when he entered the race for mayor.

John T. Manning, local attorney, won the post of Recorder's Court judge with 830 votes over seven-year incumbent Henry A. Whitfield with 575.

Kenneth E. Putnam, high man with 850 votes, R. B. Fitch with 842 and R. L. Fowler with 815 won the three vacant seats on the Board of Aldermen, while Mrs. Roland McClamroch with 706 and Rev. J. H. Jones with 607 were left out in the cold. Fitch and Fowler were re-elected to their seats.

The 1,442-vote election set a new record in Chapel Hill for election turn-outs. Slightly over 1,700 voters were registered and eligible to vote. The last highest Chapel Hill vote was 941 in 1945.

The new officers will be sworn in at the next meeting of the Board of Aldermen next Wednesday night.

Mayor-elect Lanier had this comment on the election results

(See ELECTIONS, page 4)

'Merrily' Staff Winds Up Work

Signs of bustling activity are in evidence around Memorial Hall, the scene shop and the Sound and Fury work shop as the last minute touches are applied to "Merrily We Love." Time is closing in on the cast of the new musical production revue and as is the case in any production there is plenty yet to be done before curtain time tomorrow night.

The entire staff consisting of writers, producer and director have tried all through the rehearsals to remember the gripes heard following the last two Sound and Fury production and stick to the idea of pure and simple entertainment. Forrest Covington has written a simple plot that has just enough story in it to give the show a sequence and no more. He has purposely avoided complicated entanglements and sub-plots that are likely to make the main plot bog down and over shadow the music.

Frank Matthews has written 25 songs for the show, some of which are certain to be show stoppers. He has painstakingly written a variety of numbers in order to please everyone in the audience.

Efthimios Mariakakis Is His Name

From Rags To Riches, Or Out-Algering Horatio, Such Is The Saga Of Our 'Ptomaine Tommy'

By Jack English

When Efthimios Mariakakis was born in Cheyenne, Wyo., in 1914, there was little indication that some day his life would out-Alger Horatio or that Efthimios would ever come to be affectionately and otherwise known as "Ptomaine Tommy" to thousands of students at the University of North Carolina.

When young Efthimios (let's call him Tommy) was five years old, World War I ended and the Mariakakis family, which had come to America to escape the conflict, moved back to Crete.

Back on the island, young Tommy was sent to school and eventually succeeded in finishing the European equivalent of the American junior college before he was bitten with the idea of returning to the land of his birth to finish his education. In 1934, a 20-year-old Tommy stepped from a ship onto Ellis Island. Although he was a natural-born American citizen, he could speak no English and knew no one in America save an uncle in New York and one in Virginia, both of whom he had never seen.

In Crete, Tommy had been told that in America one could shovel gold from the streets of New York, and one of his first recollections is seeing the street-cleaners at work on the corner of 34th Street and Seventh Avenue and rushing to buy a shovel for himself. His New York uncle soon set him straight and after showing him over the city put Tommy on a train headed for Wytheville, Va., and Uncle Archie Gillas.

For Tommy the train trip was a ride of torture. Since he could speak no English, his Uncle Tony had written instructions in Greek for him to follow on how to change trains, and other incidentals like going to the men's room. When Tommy reached Washington at 4 a.m., he was bursting with anxiety lest he miss his train. He was also bursting to get to the men's room.

Tommy says that now the incident is humorous but back in 1934 it was worse than pathetic. When he got to the rest room, he tried every door only to find every one locked. Pay toilets were unknown on Crete. In a burst of desperation he scaled the barrier only to find himself jerked back by a platform guard. The guard showed him by signs that a nickle must be used. Tommy just made it.

In Wytheville, Uncle Archie put Tommie to work washing dishes the same night that he got there. He was unhappy in Virginia, mainly because of the language barrier and because of the depression that prevented him from going back to school. Instead, his uncle began to teach him the restaurant business and "cafe" English, such as "cup of coffee," "ham and eggs," and other phrases he must know in order to wait on the customers.

After a week in the town, Tommy met some fellows his own age, and one of them got him a date, but Tommy was still only to smile and say, "Cup of coffee?"

Uncle Archie wasn't too good as an English teacher and once when Tommy was alone in the cafe one morning, a customer came in and asked for a bowl of Post Toasties. Tommy nodded brightly and answered:

"Just around the corner, sir."

The customer was amazed. "Where?"

Tommy led the man to the door and pointed out the post-office. He'd gotten the "post" part right anyway.

Two years later Tommy went back to New York and when he arrived he was broke. Finally after six months of trudging the streets and sponging off of his Uncle Tony, he finally found a job. It paid $12 a week, and Tommy worked 12 hours a day, seven days a week, but he was glad to get it. Many such jobs followed interrupted only by unemployment and in 1938 Tommy fell in love.

Her name was Virginia and her

(See RAGS, page 4)

Student Will Turn Farmer To Aid Brethern in Israel

Conquest of the deserts and swamps of Israel, and fulfillment of the biblical name, "The Land of Milk and Honey," is the goal of Morton Rubin, University graduate student and over 40 other college students throughout the nation.

Rubin and his colleagues are planning to establish an agricultural collective settlement in the lately freed nation, which celebrates the first anniversary of its freedom today, to practice cooperative living and working together with the people of Israel.

Rubin, 26, a native of Boston, and now working on his doctor's degree in Sociology and Anthropology, is the head of this social science research team. He hopes to obtain about 10 students from the United States to travel with him to Israel to study the nature of cooperative living in the Palestinian area. They plan to do this in the fall of 1950.

Members of the Intercollegiate Zionist Federation of America, to which Rubin belongs, have formed a group called Haoleh (Ascending), which at present numbers more than 200 students. Its purpose is to organize collegians all over the country so they may effectively settle on farms in Israel, to guide and aid returning displaced persons in getting back on their feet.

Rubin rebutted critics who say the plan is "un-American."

"It is very important to establish Democracies in the far corners of the world," he said, "and Americans are the best carriers of Democracy."

Rubin has been a Zionist all his life, and feels that by combining his social science work

(See STUDENT, page 4)

The Daily Tar Heel

The ... Carolina ... the Univ... vacation ... semi-week... Hill, N... year $3.0...

... Monday's examination ... terms when published ... the post office of Chapel ... subscription price $3.00 per ...

Editor ... DICK JENNETTE
Business Manage ... C. B. MENDENHALL

Managing Edi... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ... Jack Brown ... Buddy Vaden
Circ. Mgr ... Shasta Bryant
Asst. Circ. Mgrs ... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
News Office M... Sall... Woodruff
Asst. Sports Ed...
Society Edi...
Adv. Mgr ... Ed Williams
Bus. Office Mgr ... C. B. Mendenhall
Asst. Bus. Mgr ...
Staff Photogra... James A. Mills
Editorial Boa... Dave Sharp, Severn Wallis

Night Editor: Roy Parker, Jr. Night Sports: Joseph R. Parker

Israel's First Birthday

The State of Israel is celebrating its first birthday anniversary today.

Let us note what has happened to the Israelis in the twelve months since that fateful day in May last year. They have had war—the birth pains of a freedom-loving people. They have held an election in the midst of war. Even Arab nationals participated and elected members to the Constituent Assembly. The Israelis have fought off the forces of five neighboring countries and the efforts of a mighty empire to destroy them. The peace terms are about to be settled at Lausanne. Two hundred thousand Jewish refugees have poured into the little country of 650,000 people already mobilized for full scale war on all fronts.

As much as one may agree or disagree with the motives of the Zionists, one cannot help but wonder at the vitality which has created the miracle of Israel.

From Wilson to Truman, the United States government has favored the settlement of the Jews in Palestine. Americans admire the fellow who fights against seemingly hopeless odds. Israel has fought and won. But we must consider the future—what does the Israel of 1949 stand for, judged by American standards of democracy?

Consider Israel's democratic constitution. It provides for full equality between the sexes. It signifies the intent of the authorities to guarantee minimum social insurances to cover the basic needs of its citizens. It guarantees the right of the Arab and other ethnic groups to complete cultural autonomy, and it encourages the same by providing for support of schools and other institutions to create such autonomy. The Israeli constitution, in last analysis, makes liberal provisions for all the groups and classes, without the dictatorship of any one group or class.

The Israelis have struggled doggedly with their desert land, and they have made it blossom. They have guaranteed a refuge and a new life to hundreds of thousands of the remnants of decimated world Jewry. The Israelis have given promise of a new order in the Middle East—the emergence of social democracy where only feudalism and colonialism traditionally have predominated.

Israel is a good risk for democratic America. The prospects on this first anniversary date argue well for liberal democracy.

Happy birthday, Israel!

Morton Rubin

The Forgotten Statue

While the Universty Ground Department continually does an excellent job in keeping the campus in good shape (with the exception of the papers and garbage thrown away by thoughtless students), there is one minor incident on campus that seems to have been accidentally overlooked in the cleaning process.

The forgotten object is the memorial statue in the middle of McCorkle Place that was erected some years ago in memory of Joseph Caldwell, the first president of the University. The memorial is located about halfway between the Confederate Soldier and Davie Poplar.

While the famed Soldier statue is kept in spotless condition, the other one seems to have been neglected. This could easily have been done inasmuch as it is located in a spot which is seldom noticed by students or faculty members passing by. However, before the hundreds of expected guests arrive next week for the opening of the Morehead Plentarium, the Caldwell Memorial could use a good, thorough cleaning job.

Tennis Courts Need Improvement

With warm weather apparently here to stay, one of the most pressing needs of this University is more and better tennis courts. The present courts are far from adequate in number, and the majority of these are in disgraceful playing condition. The asphalt courts, which comprise more than half the total, are in particularly bad shape. Asphalt does not make a very satisfactory playing surface for tennis under any conditions, but the local courts are so cracked up as to make an enjoyable set of tennis impossible.

In addition to repairing the asphalt courts, the remaining quonset huts should be removed as soon as possible and more courts put up in their place.

There is a tremendous interest in tennis as a sport at Carolina. But every day, many students are being turned away for lack of courts. It is usually necessary to reserve a court at Woollen Gymnasium in order to be sure of a place in which to play. Also the sorry condition of the courts discourage many persons who enjoy an afternoon of tennis.

Most of the University's athletic facilities are kept in A-1 condition. It is to be hoped that the tennis courts will no longer be neglected.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon

(Copyright 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, May 3—Now that Britain is extending its free socialized medicine to visiting foreigners, let's run weekly ache-and-pain excursions over there.

In other words, a Mayflower in reverse:

* * *

This is a wonderful idea for getting some use out of the dough we sent to dear old Britannia. Instead of lousing up our own medical set-up with nationalized medicine, let's run junkets of our ailing to Britain for free treatments.

The boat ride alone would do many of our sick a world of good. And they wouldn't need to consider themselves objects of British charity because they've paid for most of it in taxes.

It'd certainly be cheaper and less ruinous than stringing along with President Truman's National Compulsory Health Insurance Program.

* * *

Mr. George Sokolsky, the eminent columnist, is a gentleman of uniform build, being almost as wide as he is high. He is also a stickler for the correct pronunciation of his name.

The other day, in introducing Mr. Sokolsky to the American Newspaper Publishers at the Banshees luncheon in New York, toastmaster Bugs Baer called him "Mr. Sokolovsky."

"Sokolsky!" yelled the columnist.

"All right," beamed Mr. Baer. "Both of you stand up and take a bow."

* * *

But toastmaster Baer's error was nothing compared with the bloomer committed here a couple of days ago by Robert S. Peelle, President of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. Mr. Peelle could hit himself for his blunder.

At a big luncheon in the House restaurant he got up to introduce the speaker, Rep. Stephen M. Young, of Ohio.

"It is a great privilege," he said. "To present Rep. Stephen M. Bender."

This was about as bad as you could make it because the Democratic Rep. Young happens to be in office by virtue of having trounced the G.O.P. pride, Ex-Rep. George H. Bender, last November.

But Mr. Young endeavored to lift the toastmaster's embarrassment. He made reference to the bitter battle in which he had emerged victor, and added:

"As you know, Mr. Bender is much heavier from the neck down than I am, but I contend that, from the neck up, I am much heavier than he."

* * *

Barnee, the old maestro, is inconsolable. He is no longer an honorary motorcycle cop of the state of Washington.

The fact that Barnee has never been in the state of Washington and never expects to be, makes no difference. He cherished the badge of office.

It had been presented to him by Mon Wallgren, when that controversial gentleman was Governor. It seems, however, that the generous Mr. Wallgren had conferred similar honors on 9,000 or 10,000 others.

Apparently the current Governor, Arthur B. Langlie, is not as generous as his predecessor—or has a different set of favorites he wishes to honor—because Barnee has just received this letter, signed by Roy F. Carlson, acting Chief of the Washington State Patrol:

"Dear Sir: In conformance with administrative policy all special patrol badges are being recalled. We would appreciate receiving your badge and commission at the earliest possible date."

Mourned Bance: "I feel badly enough about being fired as an honorary copper without them rubbing it in with that part about 'administrative policy.'"

Walking Into Trouble

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Music Review

NC Group Excellent

By "Wink" Locklair

Although it looked for a time like Memorial Hall was going to float right on down past the Library during that rain storm Monday evening, a surprisingly-large number of students and townspeople managed one way or another to get in there for a concert by the North Carolina Symphony orchestra under the direction of Benjamin Swalin.

This loyalty and support on such a night to Dr. Swalin and the men and women of the first State-supported symphony in the United States is proof that the organization is no slip-shod, thrown-together orchestra. The music they performed here was given a most professional interpretation, something which may have surprised some in the audience who had expected the playing to be mediocre, at best.

Opening the program was a bright and engaging Ballet Suite by Gluck, in an arrangement by Mottl. The three sections were Introduction, Musette, and Air. This was followed by the principal item of the evening: the Sibelius First Symphony. Less than a week ago, the Philadelphia Orchestra had given a stunning performance of his Second Symphony at Duke University and, naturally, anyone who had been over there was anxious to see what the North Carolina orchestra could do with the Finnish master's Opus 39.

Sibelius was only 34 years old when he wrote it and it placed him in the forefront of his country's fight for independence against Russia. Although people like to read political significance into it, Sibelius considers it a self-portrait. The first movement opens with a rumbling of drums, followed by a lonely melody played by the clarinet. Then the string choir introduces a beautiful theme which swells in volume and intensity to a great climax.

The second section has a brooding characteristic about it, almost Oriental in quality, but the next part is a fast-moving, savage-like scherzo. The final movement has the theme stated immediately and builds from it to a surging conclusion. Mr. Swalin gave a polished, energetic, dramatic reading of the symphony and he was recalled to the stage four times to acknowledge the applause.

Josephine Cunningham, a young very pretty soprano from Asheville, sang two operatic arias after intermission, Voi Che Sapete from The Marriage of Figaro, and that old Lily Pons chestnut, The Shadow Song from Dinorah by Meyerbeer. Miss Cunningham has a sweet voice, but it is also a small voice which was not able to fully cope with the vastness of the Hall.

A novelty on the program was the first Chapel Hill performance of Edwin Stringham's Nocturne No II. As Dr. Swalin stated, there are no written notes interpreting the music and the listener is left to hear in it what he pleases. Dr. Stringham, who is now living in Chapel Hill, was in the audience and Dr. Swalin requested him to come down front and share in the applause given his music.

After a couple of announcements from Norman Cordon, the list continued with George Enesco's Roumanian Rhapsody No. 1. During the opening bars of it several women in the first violin section were shaken somewhat by the discovery of a toad hopping dangerously close to their feet, but other than that everything was fine.

The concert ended with three selections from Wagner's Die Meistersinger. These pieces had been selected by Phi Gamma Delta, the only fraternity or sorority to pledge 100% to the symphony's campaign drive.

It was a great two hours of music the orchestra played and the audience had conductor and orchestra bowing a half dozen times when it was over. A "Pop" Concert is scheduled for Thursday evening, May 19, and it should be given before a full house.

Entertainment Front

On 'Merrily We Love'

By Vestal Taylor

As the applause dies on "Repple Depple," the spotlight swings up the street to play on the opening of "Merrily We Love," Sound and Fury's new spring show to be presented next Thursday and Friday nights in Memorial Hall. The new show written by Forrest Covington, with music by Frank Matthews, was originally written for presentation on the Great Whiteway.

Tennessee Williams' agent showed some interest in the play but was not willing at the moment to commit herself on producing the show as it stood. The co-authors returned to Chapel Hill after the Christmas holidays and submitted their script to the members of Sound and Fury for consideration as their spring show. That is briefly the history of the production.

The book of "Merrily We Love" is good if not absolutely sensational. It is the story of a young Bostonian who comes to B-way to seek her fortune on the stage. Shy and reserved, she finds her affections divided between two men who want her very much. One is wealthy; the other is an ordinary fellow with good qualities, who finally wins her love.

The plot is good, but it is the music that makes "Merrily We Love" an excellent piece of entertainment, and the show very definately has a generous portion of entertainment value for the audience.

Not to be overlooked are the dance routines appearing all through the show. These numbers were worked out by Lib Stoney, Bill Hooks and Tommy Thompson. They include a chorus line number, South American and specialty numbers. As may be expected, when Miss Stoney is responsible for anything, it is well done.

The cast, directors and crews all agree that this time they have a real hit that will please the attending audience.

Judging from the attendance, Sam Hirsch has written a winner. His "Repple Depple" played to a packed house all three nights of its appearance and as yet no serious criticism has been heard from the spectators. This may be partly due to the fact that no admission was charged at the door, but that could not be a primary consideration since there are many instances of individuals returning to see his show for the second and even third time.

Hirsch has offered something that includes an important factor that many of the organizations on campus have been prone to forget, including the Playmakers. That factor is pure and simple entertainment. Even Sound and Fury was guilty of this error for a while and tried to combine too much of the drama with a curious sort of comedy. Perhaps the musical comedy group did not lead the way, but they were among the very first to realize their error and switch to more music and comedy.

But before this gets too involved, the important thing to remember about "Repple Depple" is that Hirsch did afford the audience some laughs—some real, honest belly laughs with his production.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CLUB ORANGE FRIDAY

Editor:

A column appearing in your paper has recently come to our attention. This column describes the Club Orange Friday, Inc. which came into being during the NCCPA Conference in Raleigh, April 22.

The Guilford College delegation to this conference is sincerely incensed at the intimidations directed against them in the column. We wish to state now in refutance to the charge leveled against us re: "The cashier of the establishment, namely this columnist, was unable to collect the customary cover charge from the customers namely the Guilford College. . . . . delegations, ..."

The Guilford College delegation was under the impression that, as was the W. C. delegation, they were invited to Room 909 and were in no way financially responsible for the landed resources of the establishment. Nevertheless, we contributed in total to the coffer of this worthy enterprise, $4 plus $.50 for the colorful ingrediant of the beverage in question.

We were assured that our contributions were gratefully accepted. We were at no time asked to contribute money, liquids, or talent to the success of the enterprise.

Credit for the collection of capital should be given to the capable, efficient, hard-working "Wild" Bill Buchan. Is it possible that the illustrious scribe who penned the aforementioned column is peeved at the fact that Brother Bill was not elected president of the NCCPA, due to the politicing of the Guilford and Duke delegations?

The Guilford College Delegation to the NCCPA

(Editor's note: The Orange Friday Inc. cover charges applied only to Carolina students. The Guilford delegation was not asked to donate to the fund. They and the gracious WC delegation were the guests of the Chapel Hill group. We ain't peeved at nobody.)

KA KAMBO

Editor:

I would like to apologize for the dastardly deed that we have committed. It seems from Mr. Wharton's column of May 3rd that the Chi Phis in one stroke have made Whitehead dorm uninhabitable; and, sin of sins, have trodden on another fraternity's inalienable right to use a combo, or is it spelled KAmbo, for entertainment.

"Stealing their thunder" is the way he puts it. Nor is this the first offense, our records show that back in 1925, the Chi Phis fiendishly sneaked a combo into their house in violation of all patented and monopolistic rights held by the KAs. All this came about through jealous admiration.

The fact that last weekend was our alumni homecoming and entertainment lasted thru Sunday afternoon was purely coincidental. It was just more than we "peasants in the holler" could stand when the KA combo walked off with all honors for being the most original concesssion at the Carnival last Friday night, where Mr. Wharton claims they played. Not since we crossed the KKK, also an old distinguished southern order, have we been in such hot water.

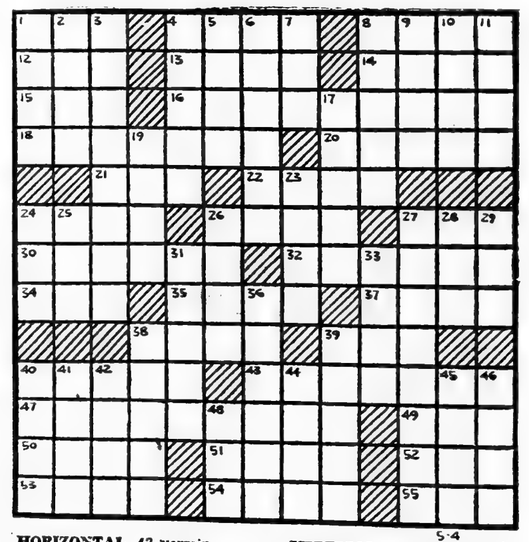
To avoid stepping out of our place in the future we are immediately canceling plans for our "Old Sut Brawl" and celebation of Ulysses S. Grant's birthday.

One Question remains in my mind. Was the famous original Dixieland Band of Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey at the Carnival or did they also have their thunder stolen?

an envious Chi Phi

PEARLS TO SWINE

Editor:



Due to my lack of knowledge about dramatics I desired to stay for the question period on "Repple Depple." Again someone observed that Colonel King should have been more involved with the tank. Other suggestions recurred.

I was shocked that no one (namely me) raised the question. "Is the profanity necessary?"

Now I would be the first to admit that neither Al Capp nor Sam Hirsch need below board humor to be funny. And any GI knows that the Army is a place wherein the way to begin a lecture is to tell a dirty joke.

Mr. Hirsch gave us what we wanted. Doubtless he does not believe one should cast pearls to swine. "Repple Depple" could be both clean and good. It is a solemn indictment that we prefer to stay in the wallow.

(Editor's note: This is not the George McLeod that lives at the Phi Kappa Sigma House. Will the writer of this letter please include his address from now on so as to avoid any confusion of identities.)

HORIZONTAL
1. cut off short
4. coy
8. snow vehicle
12. malt drink
13. nude
14. air: comb. form
15. fondle
16. repeating
18. struck
20. increases in force
21. born
22. sacred picture
24. feminine name
26. detail
27. river in Scotland
30. lessened
32. badger-like animals
34. prefix: apart
35. painful
37. slender finials
38. island (poet.)
39. river in Switzerland
40. American author
43. vermin (dial. var.)
47. predominant
49. compete
50. sly look
51. Great Lake
52. street railways (abbr.)
53. beech tree fruit
54. excellently
55. harden

VERTICAL
1. folds over
2. oil: comb. form
3. flowers of nightshade family
4. dwell
5. scold
6. trust
7. personal pronoun
8. glossy silk fabric
9. Hawaiian garlands
10. eagle
11. hounds
17. scent
19. cozy retreat
23. area around parrot's bill
24. youth
25. Japanese sash
26. heathen god
27. dispossesses
28. Hebrew high priest
29. S-shaped worm
31. Prussian city
33. baseball nine
36. American silversmith
38. lifeless
39. independent Russian union
40. tropical tree
41. aboard ship
42. frosts
44. dye indigo
45. river in Egypt
46. experiment
48. minute drops of moisture

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

R	O	C		M	A	T	E		I	T	E	M
I	D	A		O	P	A	L		T	O	L	A
G	E	N	E	R	O	U	S		A	L	L	Y
A	S	T	R	A	L		A	B	L	E
		S	L	O	W		A	I	R	E	D
P	O	P	E		G	E	A	R	C	A	S	E
I	R	E		K	I	N	D	S		N	N	E
S	E	R	E	N	A	D	E		S	T	E	P
A	L	I	V	E		S	L	A	T
		L	E	E	S		A	M	U	S	E	S
B	O	O	R		C	R	I	B	B	A	G	E
A	B	U	T		A	I	D	E		L	I	E
H	I	S	S		B	A	E	R		E	S	S

Average time of solution: 26 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Varsity Baseballers Whip Duke; Tar Babies Tie Imps

Two Tallies in 8th Bring Blair Year's Third Win Over Devils

By Lew Chapman

COOMBS' PARK, DURHAM, May 3—It was a perfect day for baseball here today in the Duke baseball stadium and apparently the elements agreed with the University of North Carolina nine as the Tar Heels overcame a one run deficit in the late innings and nip the Duke University baseballers by the score of 4-3.

The victory was the third of the season over the collegians from Durham for the Carolina squad and pitcher Ray Blair, the number one Blue Devil nemisis. The Tar Heel record in the Big Four competition now stands at three wins and three defeats while the Blue Devils are at the bottom of the pile with only one triumph in seven conference games.

Blair was nominated by Carolina coach Bunn Hearn in hopes that he could maintain his pitching mastery over the Dukesters and except for one shaky inning, the portly Carolina right-hander responded with a materfully-twirled game. His bad inning was the seventh in which the Blue Devils edged him for four hits and three runs. But in the other eight innings Blair was the master as he allowed only four widely spaced hits, fanned two and walked nary a batter.

Five Carolina Doubles

Paul Karukstis toed the rubber for the lads from Durham and the Carolina lineup found him to their liking as they clouted him for 11 base-knocks, five of which were long doubles.

Despite the prowess of the Carolina hitters with the offerings of Karukstis, the Tar Heels only gathered a pair of tallies in the first frame on doubles by Sid Varney and Ed Lamb and after the three run Duke outburst in the seventh, the Carolina nine found themselves on the wrong end of a 3-2 count.

Two Run Rally

Again Tar Heel hitting asserted itself as the Carolina ball players pushed across two runs in the top of the eighth that proved to be the margin of victory. Lamb started the inning off on the right foot with a single to center and was advanced to second on John Senter's perfect sacrifice.

Don Ward's infield single kept the rally alive and Will Hobbs became the hero of the day by chasing in the tying and winning runs with a long double to left center. Blair then assumed the load of holding the Dukesters and set them down with not too much trouble in the two remaining frames.

The usually dependable Carolina infield committeed six errors but Blair, despite the troublesome miscues, had the game well in hand .

Third of Five

Carolina	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Allen, cf	5	0	1	1	0	0
Goodman, 2b	5	1	2	4	2	2
Ryan, ss	5	0	0	1	2	2
Varney, c	5	1	1	2	0	0
Lamb, rf	4	1	2	2	0	0
Senter, 3b	3	0	1	1	5	0
Ward, lf	4	1	2	6	0	0
Hobbs, 1b	4	0	2	7	0	0
Blair, p	4	0	2	4	0	0
Totals	39	4	11	27	13	6

Duke	AB	H	R	PO	A	E
Hancock, 1b	5	0	1	7	2	0
Bergeron, ss	4	1	1	1	2	1
Folger, cf	5	0	1	4	0	0
Sires, c	5	0	3	6	0	0
Erickson, lf	4	0	0	4	0	0
Falkell, 3b	4	0	0	1	0	1
Lucas, rf	4	0	1	0	0	0
Frye, 2b	4	1	1	2	3	0
Karukstis, p	3	1	0	2	3	0
Curtis, p	0	0	0	0	1	0
a-D'Alanzo	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	38	3	9	27	12	2

a-Grounded out for Karukstis in 9th

Score by innings:

Carolina	200	000	020—4
Duke	000	000	300—3

Runs batted in-Hobbs 2, Lamb 2, Hancock, Folger, Doubles-Hobbs 2, Varney, Lamb, Ward, Frye. Triples-Allen, Bergeron. Sacrifices-Senter, Bergeron. Double plays-Senter, Goodman to Hobbs. Hits-off Karukstis, 11 in 8, off Curtis, 0 in 1. Strikeouts-Karukstis 2, Blair 2, Curtis 1. Wild pitches-Blair. Passed ball-Varney. Losing pitcher-Karukstis. Umpires-Carr and Beddingfield. Time: 2:05.

Varney Retains Lead in Big Four Batting Race

DURHAM—The University of North Carolina may be in third place in the Big Four League pennant chase, but a trio of Tar Heel sluggers are running one-two-three in the batting department, according to statistics released today by the loop's statistical bureau.

Catcher Sid Varney, last week's batting leader, remained in front of the pack although he slipped below the .500 mark to .435. Hot on his trail are teammates Stan Goodman at .429 and Rip Ryan at .381.

Greatly improved pitching by all four clubs has taken its toll of the .400 hitters, and if that good pitching continues, the season may wind up with the smallest number of .300 hitters in the league's history. Only ten regulars are over the .300 mark this week. Four are from Carolina, three from Duke, two from Wake Forest, and one from N. C. State.

Eight players are tied with two doubles, and seven batters have hit one triple. Varney has the most hits, 10, and Duke's LeRoy Sires is tops in stolen bases with four. Bill Fowler, of N. C. State, and Deacons Dick Vander Clute and Russ Batchelor have contributed the most sacrifices, two.

(Compiled through Saturday, April 30)

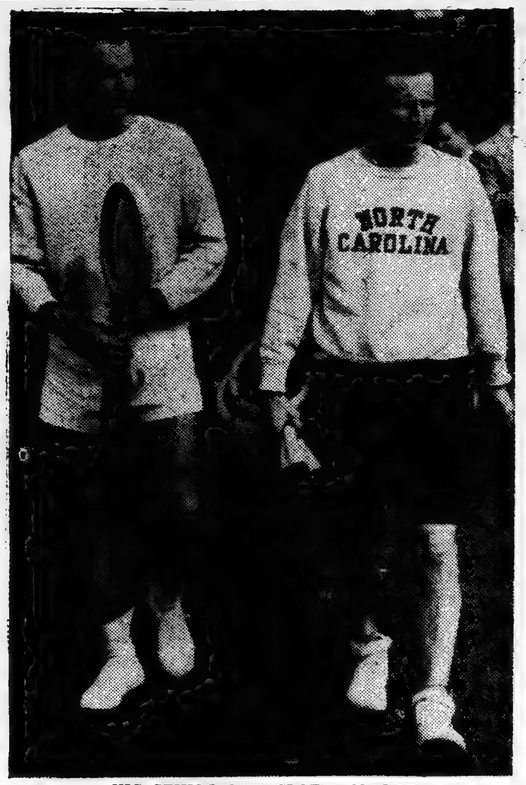
Name, School	G	AB	R	H	RBI	Pct.
Varney (C)	5	23	4	10	4	.435
Goodman (C)	5	21	5	9	1	.429
Ryan (C)	5	21	4	8	5	.381
B. Livingston (S)	4	16	1	6	5	.375
Lucas (D)	6	22	1	8	2	.364
Clower (D)	5	14	1	5	4	.357
Ward (C)	5	17	3	6	3	.353
Bergeron (D)	6	26	3	9	1	.346
Teague (WF)	6	24	2	8	7	.333
Frye (D)	6	22	2	7	1	.318
Warren (WF)	6	22	2	7	1	.318
Fulghum (WF)	6	25	3	7	5	.280
Sires (D)	6	22	3	6	5	.273
Lamb (C)	5	22	2	6	3	.273
Litrick (WF)	5	19	2	5	5	.263
Hoch (WF)	6	23	7	6	3	.261
Senter (C)	5	20	4	5	3	.250
Evans (S)	5	20	3	5	2	.250
Hobbs (C)	5	15	2	3	3	.200
Allen (C)	5	23	4	4	0	.174

Mural Results

SOFTBALL RESULTS

17	Old West	Lewis 1	10
6	BVP	Law School	2
24	Sigma Nu 2	DKE 3	8
17	PiKA 1	KA 1	12
15	Phi Kap Sig 1	ATO 1	7
7	PiKA 2	Phi Delt 2	5
7	Pi Lamb 1	Zeta 1	0
16	Lambda Chi 1	TEP 1	9
17	Phi Delta Chi	Pi Kap Phi 1	12
14	Kappa Psi 2	SAE 2	13
17	Emerson 1	Wesley Rockets	15
7	Sigma Chi 1	Chi Phi 1	6
9	Sigma Nu 1	SAE 1	7
9	Zeta 2	Beta 2	2
7	Phi Gam 1	Pi Kap Phi 2	0

TENNIS RESULTS



5	Town 3	Emerson 3	0
3	St. Anthony	ZBT	0

COED SOFTBALL

6	Chi Omega	Tri Delt	0

Attention Fencers

All persons interested in trying out for a fencing team or attending classes in fencing have been requested to attend a meeting tonight at 7:30 in Woollen Gym.

VIC SEIXAS AND CLARK TAYLOR
. . . Pacing netters on Northern tour

Netters Whitewash Harvard; Battle Brown at Providence

BROOKLINE, Mass, May 3—A tennis match originally scheduled for Cambridge between Harvard and North Carolina ended up being played here today, but the visiting Tar Heels from the South proved the geographical location didn't make much difference as they notched a 9-0 shutout.

It was the 18th straight win of the season for the Carolinians who moved on to Providence, R. I., tomorrow to face Brown University.

In today's match, the change in scenery was a measure forced by a hard rain that flooded the Harvard courts. The opening two singles matches were played indoors at the Badminton and Tennis Club while the remaining encounters were reeled off on the covered court of the Brookline Country Club.

In the feature No. 1 singles match, Carolina Captain Vic Seixas beat Bob Bullard, the Harvard leader, 6-3, 6-4. Seixas broke the Crimson's service twice in the first set and once in the second to provide the difference.

Seixas (C) defeated Bullard, 6-4, 6-3. Taylor (C) defeated Ames, 6-1, 6-1. Gruner (C) defeated Fry, 6-2, 6-2. Rice (C) defeated Robb, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3. Wilder (C) defeated Tobias, 8-6, 6-3. Winstead (C) defeated Key, 6-2, 6-3.

Seixas-Taylor defeated Ager-Bullard, 7-5, 6-1. Gruner-Winstead defeated Robb-Key, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3. Rice-Wilder defeated Reese-Bramhall, 6-0, 6-0.

FROSH NETTERS WIN

Carolina's freshman tennis team won its fifth victory of the season on Monday,, defeating the netmen of Greensboro High School by 9-0 score.

Chapel Hill Nine Edges Oxford, 1-0

OXFORD, May 3—Chapel Hill High School scored a single run in the first inning here today and that proved to be the eventually margin of victory as the visiting Wildcats topped the Oxford baseballers, 1-0.

Ivalee Hill and Bill Butler were the big hitters for the winners, Hill collecting two doubles for three trips while Butler notched a triple and a single in three appearances. The game was seven innings by agreement.

The line score:

				R	H	E
Chapel Hill	100	000	0	1	5	3
Oxford	000	000	0	0	3	0

Batteries: Mann and Maultsby; Hobgood, Barnes, and Parham.

TODAY'S SPORTS
Tennis

Varsity tennis — Carolina vs Brown at Providence, R. I.

MAJOR League Results

NATIONAL LEAGUE

x-Boston	9	5	.643 —
Cincinnati	7	6	.538 2
x-St. Louis	6	5	.545 1½
Brooklyn	7	7	.500 2
x-New York	6	7	.462 2½
x-Pittsburgh	6	7	.462 2½
x-Philadelphia	6	8	.429 3
x-Chicago	5	7	.417 3

Yesterday's Results

Brooklyn 3, Cincinnati 0
Chicago at Boston (Night)
Pittsburgh at New York (Night)
St. Louis at Philadelphia (Night)

Today's Games

Cincinnati (Wehmeier 1-0) at Brooklyn (Hatten 1-1)
Pittsburgh (Muncrief 0-1) at New York (Jansen 0-2)
Chicago (Schmitz 0-1) at Boston (Voiselle 1-0)—Night
St. Louis (Brazle 2-0) at Philadelphia (Thompson 0-1)-Night

AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York	11	3	.785 —
Chicago	8	6	.581 3
Cleveland	6	4	.600 3
Detroit	7	5	.533 3
Philadelphia	8	7	.533 3½
Boston	6	6	.500 4
Washington	4	11	.266 7½
St. Louis	3	11	.214 9

x-Night games not included in standings.

Yesterday's Results

Washington 14, Chicago 12 (10 in.)
New York 5, St. Louis 3
Boston 14, Detroit 14 (Called after 13 innings—Darkness)

Today's Games

Washington (Hudson 0-2) at Chicago (Pieretti 1-0)
New York (Raschi 3-0) at St. Louis (Kennedy 0-0)
Boston (Harris 1-0) at Detroit (Kretlow 0-1)
Philadelphia (Fowler 1-2) at Cleveland (Gromek 1-0)

INTRAMURAL ROUNDUP

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00, Field 1. Ruffin vs Alexander; 2. Mangum vs Graham; 3. Manly vs Old West; 4. Aycock vs Town 1; 5. Wes Rockets vs Law Sch; 6. Pi Lamb 2 vs Chi Psi 2; 7. Sig Eps vs Phi Delt 1; 8. Sig Nu 2 vs Sig Chi 1.

5:00, Field 1. Stacy vs Lewis 1; 2. Lewis 2 vs Med Sch 1; 3. Whitehead vs BVP; 4. Grads vs Town 2; 5. Pill Rollers vs Steele; 6. ATO 2 vs Delta Sig; 7. DKE 2 vs Kap Psi 1.

COED SOFTBALL

4:00—AD Pi vs Grads; Pi Phi No. 2 vs McIver at Kenan fields.

TENNIS SCHEDULE

4:00, courts 1-4: Zeta 3 vs Beta; courts 5-8: Gam vs KA 3; courts 9-11: Chi Phi 1 vs Phi Kap Sig. 5:00, courts 1-4: PiKA 1 vs Chi Psi 3 vs TEP; courts 9-11: KA 2 vs Sig Nu 1.

MANAGER'S MEET

There will be a meeting of all intramural managers tonight at 7:330 in room 304 Woollen Gym.

Game Called in 10th Because Of Darkness After Both Rally

By Joe Cherry

Coach Henry House's Tar Baby nine and Duke's Blue Imps fought to a 6-6 deadlock in a wild battle called at the end of 10 innings because of darkness in Emerson Stadium yesterday afternoon.

The Carolina frosh, who had previously beaten the Duke yearlings, 14-6, were forced to stage a two-run rally in the last half of the 10th in order to gain a tie with the visitors.

Duke had pushed across two runs in its half of the 10th in what looked like a game-winning rally, but the locals came right back for a pair of scores and a tie ball game.

With two men out and no one on base, Duke relief pitcher Bill Joyce lost his control and walked Russell Whiteheart and Bob Stewart. Ben Smith fillowed with a single, scoring Whiteheart. Stewart advanced to third on Bill Lambert's infield grounder and crossed the plate with the tying run when Duke catcher Bob Simpson let one of Joyce's pitches get by him for a passed ball. Then came the darkness.

Henry Schacht started on the mound for the locals, but gave way to Monroe Johnson in the tenth frame.

Charlie Overman slashed out a triple and a single to pace the Tar Babies at the plate. Stu Macht hit a two-run double for the visitors, and Dick Groat had three singles for the Blue Imps.

Time and Ties

Carolina	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Herring, 2b	3	0	0	3	1	0
Whiteheart, 3b	4	2	2	3	5	1
Stewart, cf	4	2	0	3	0	0
Smith, 1b	5	2	3	7	3	0
Lambert, rf	5	0	2	1	0	0
Overman, c	5	0	2	8	0	1
Reeves, lf	5	0	1	3	1	0
Norris, ss	3	0	0	2	3	0
a-Bridger,	1	0	0	0	0	0
Smith, ss	0	0	0	0	0	0
Schacht, p	4	0	1	0	1	0
Johnson, p	0	0	0	0	0	0
b-G. Smith	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	50	6	11	30	14	2

a-Flied out for Norris in ninth
b-Doubled for Schacht in tenth

Duke	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Lyons, rf	3	2	2	3	0	0
Macht, lf	5	0	1	4	0	0
Carroll, cf	5	0	1	2	1	0
Groat, ss	5	1	3	2	3	1
Myers, 2b	5	1	2	2	1	0
Lenhart, 3b	3	0	1	5	2	0
Genberg, 1b, p	5	0	1	6	1	0
Denny, c	3	0	0	5	1	0
a-Petruchik	1	0	0	0	0	0
Simpson, c	1	0	0	1	0	0
Davis, p	3	1	1	0	2	0
Joyce, p 1b	0	0	0	0	0	0
b-Pike	1	1	1	0	0	0
Totals	40	5	13	30	11	1

a-struck out for Denny in ninth
b-singled for Davis in ninth

The score by innings:

Duke	000	020	002 2—6
Carolina	300	000	100 2—6

Runs batted in: Macht 2, Carroll 2, Genberg, Simpson, Smith 2, Lambert, Overman, Reeves. Doubles: Macht, Gene Smith; triples: Overman; stolen bases: Lyons, Herring; double plays: Whiteheart-Smith-Whiteheart, Myers-Genberg; Passed ball: Simpson; Bases on Balls: Denny (6), Joyce (3), Schacht (3); hit by: Denny; Stewart. Strike outs: Denny (4), Schacht (7); hit off: Denny (9) in eight innings, Joyce (1) in one and two-third innings, Genberg (0) in one-third inning, Schacht (12) in nine innings, Johnson (0) in one inning. Time: 2:46.

Durocher Exonerated

CINCINNATI, O., May 3—(UP)—Commissioner A. B. Chandler today exonerated Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants of charges that he struck and assaulted a baseball fan and ordered the suspension against him lifted immediately.

Durocher, who kept repeating, "I'm happy, I'm awfully happy," when informed of the decision, will rejoin his club in New York tomorrow.

Formal Wear
FOR RENT
Full Dress $5.00
Tuxedos 4.00
White Jackets 4.00
Tuxedo Junction
601 E. Trinity Ave. — J-1373
DURHAM, N. C.

Practice Sessions
Daily practice sessions continue in track, baseball, golf, lacrosse and soccer.

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
OVER CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

PLANNING A WEEKEND at the BEACH THIS SPRING?
Wrightsville Beach has become a popular weekend spot for COLLEGE STUDENTS
We offer ideal accomodations for HOUSE PARTIES or any size group with our 16 Apartments and large 12 bedroom house. We can offer housekeeping facilities or hotel accomodations.
CALL, WIRE or WRITE
ALLEN BARBEE
Spring Hope, N. C. or
Wrightsville Beach on weekends

MAY 8th is MOTHER'S DAY
Remember your Mother on her day
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Scott Bldg. Phone 4851
We Wire Orders Anywhere

Campus Champ!
You know what it takes to be a champion on the playing field: Speed! Stamina! Performance!
On your study desk, you'll thrill to those same winning qualities in your own Underwood Champion Portable Typewriter.
You'll get along better with neatly typed homework and classroom papers.
You'll win the admiration of friends with your legibly-typed letters. You'll win more leisure for sports and other activities with the help of this speedy classmate.
So put this Campus Champ on your team. Don't delay . . . ask your Dad to get you a Champion now! Tell him to see your local Authorized Underwood Portable Typewriter Dealer or write a post card for free folder.

For illustrated, descriptive folder write to:
Underwood Corporation
Dept. C-1, One Park Avenue, New York 16, N. Y.
Typewriters . . . Adding Machines . . . Accounting Machines . . . Carbon Paper . . . Ribbons and other Supplies
Underwood Limited, 135 Victoria St., Toronto 1, Canada
Sales and Service Everywhere
Underwood . . . TYPEWRITER LEADER OF THE WORLD

A White Shirt Tops Off Any Outfit
Are Yours As Clean And Fresh As They Should Be?
3 Day Service
Pick Up And Delivery
We Specialize In Shirts. We Also Mend Your Clothes. Sew on Buttons, Turn Collars — With No Extra Charge
TWIN VILLAGE LAUNDRY & CLEANERS
PHONE F-3541
CARRBORO

DANCE OUTDOORS AT THE CURVE INN'S PATIO
Draft Beer —— 50 and 75 Cent Pitchers

Don't Forget MOTHER
on
MOTHER'S DAY
May 8, 1949
Fine Feather Hosiery
Lingerie – Miss Elaine
And Society Brands
A New Shipment Of
MOTHER'S DAY
Costume Jewelry
BERMAN'S
DEPARTMENT STORE
All Packages Bought In This Store Will Be Wrapped Free For Mailing

DRIVE-IN THEATRE
Today
PHANTOM OF THE OPERA
In Color
Nelson Eddy, Claude Rains, Suzanna Foster
And Also
WALT DISNEY COLOR CARTOON
75c Per Car
Shows at 7:15 & 9:15

– Election –

(Continued from page 1)

last night:

"To me the most significant thing about this election is the size of the vote. In the past years there has been a growing and alarming apathy on the part of eligible voters. This reversal—and it appears general in North Carolina's municipal elections this spring—is encouraging to all who believe in representative, democratic government.

"Chapel Hill has, by this vote, challenged its representatives to work alertly and steadily for good, efficinet, economical municipal service. s one of those representatives I pledge to all the people of Chapel Hill a steady effort to make the people proud of their town government."

Retiring Mayor Bob Madry said last night, "I extend to Ed Lanier my congratulations and best wishes for a successful administration. I deeply appreciate the support of those who worked and voted for me."

MOTHER'S DAY
May 8
Lovely flowers locally-or by Wire
UNIVERSITY FLORIST
Pick Theatre Bldg.

AROTC Unit Here Gets New Course

Dr. R. W. Linker, professor of French in the Romance Language Department, is now teaching a special course in military intelligence for advanced students in the Air ROTC unit, Col. Byron R. Switzer, unit commander, announced.

The course has been added as a regular part of the curriculum for advanced students in military science, Col. Switzer said. The classes meet for one hour a day six days a week, he said.

"Dr. Linker, who is a Major in the United States Air Force Reserve, is especially qualified to teach the course," Capt. Francie S. Holmes, public information officer for the unit, said.

TAR HEEL BARBER SHOP
Amber Avenue
For
HAIRCUTS SHAVES SHAMPOOS

The Durham Theatre Guild Inc.
PRESENTS
Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize Play
OUR TOWN
Directed By Suzanne Marden Davis
STARRING
Fred Haseltine, Edna Dooley, Gordon Argo
Carr Junior High School, Durham, May 4, 5, & 6
Evenings at 8:15 Admission 1.00, Students .75
Tickets at Godwin's Jewelry Store, Under Sutton's Drug Store

You Can't Afford To Be Uncomfortable At These Prices!
Wool & Rayon Vertical Stripe Sport Slacks 6.50
Crease Resistant BurMil Slacks 6.95
All Wool Gabardine Slacks 13.95
T-Shirts, Fine Combed Cotton ..... .79
Sanforized Cord Sport Jackets 14.50
Pastel Oxford Cloth Sport Shirts with Long Sleeves, Regular Sleeve Length ..3.95
All White Buck Shoes 9.95
NEW LOW PRICES ON TAILORED SUITS
We are never knowingly undersold
MILTON'S CLOTHING CUPBOARD
Across From Farmers Dairy,
One Block Beyond New Bus Station
Free Delivery Service on All Purchases

Squar' Dancing Holds Spotlight For Weekend

By Sally Woodhull

It was "Swing yore own honey baby" for a large part of the Carolina campus this weekend as square dancing was featured at two weekend festivities.

Friday night's Rendezvous Room program and a Saturday night square dance in the Tin Can found the Greenwood team exhibiting the style of square dancing that has won them acclaim throughout the state with hundreds of amateurs swinging and sachezing just for fun.

The Saturday night dance was sponsored by the Montreat Social Commission, in their attempt to provide recreation for the campus as a whole at little expense. Bob Williams in chairman of the committee, formed at the joint YM-YW winter retreat at Montreat. This was the second campus-wide square dance the group sponsored, and another is planned for the near future.

The Greenwood team, a group of square dancers from Asheville, was formed last summer to dance in the first annual Carolina Folk Festival held in Kenan Stadium. They came in second to a group from Burlington, and Bascombe Lamar Lunsford, folklore expert from Turkey Creek, has called the Greenwood team's caller, Arnold Wilson, "one of the best I've ever heard."

Another member of the team, Nick Fisher, presented a solo "buck-wing" dance at Saturday night's affair. Described as a sort of country-style tap dance, done with the whole foot and much body movement, the buck is featured at folk festivals in Asheville. Nick learned it from Sam Queen, probably the best known dance caller in the country, according to a recent article in the Saturday Evening Post.

The Montreat commission's dances are paid for entirely by contributions to "the hat." Saturday night's contributions amounted to a little more than $25—just enough to pay for music, janitor service, and other small expenses. Any excess contributions received go to a fund for more and better parties.

Music Saturday night was furnished by the Chatham Ramblers, a group of employees of Woollen gym, who get together to play just for fun. Following the dance, the musicians were so wound up, and spirits among the dancers were so high, that a general community sing developed, with the musicians leading in the singing of everything from "Mountain Dew" to "Seeing Nellie Home."

–Rags–

(Continued from Page 1)

father wanted her to marry a man of means. Tommy owed his Uncle Tony and had no means at all, but his employer at the time was a good friend and swore for the benefit of a loan company that Tommy managed a restaurant. Actually Tommy was a cook's helper, but he convinced Virginia's father and married the girl on the loan company's funds.

After the wedding Tommy told his wife the truth and they both began working night and day to pay the debts and to save enough for a down payment on a house. (From behind the counter of the Marathon, Virginia says she's been working night and day ever since.)

Then Virginia became a mother and Tommy just couldn't make ends meet no matter how long he worked. By this time Uncle Archie had moved from Wytheville to set up a hotdog and hamburger spot in Chapel Hill so in 1940 Tommy set out for North Carolina and a half-interest in the Marathon.

After working for a month in the Marathon, Tommy knew that Chapel Hill was his place in America. He liked the students; they reminded him of his old college days and his aspiration that had brought his back to the States. Before he had been in Chapel Hill for two months Tommy returned to New York to bring his family to North Carolina—much to the surprise of his father-in-law.

Before long Uncle Archie went back to Virginia to start a tourist camp and in his absence, Tommy renovated the Marathon and business increased 200 per cent. With business so good Tommy decided to take a flyer, and he mortgaged his socks to set up a cafe in Carrboro.

For the first three months business was awful and Tommy was $4,000 in debt. Then it happened. A munitions plant was built near Carrboro and Tommy was in the chips. It finally looked as if he'd found the shovel that scooped gold from American streets.

Just when Tommy could afford to sit back and smile and mean it, he received a letter. The first line read: "Greetings . . ." It also told him to report to Fort Bragg for a physical exam before induction into the Army. Tommy didn't know what to do. He didn't mind killing German for they hadn't been very nice to his folks back on Crete, but what about his wife and his two businesses?

It had to be, so Tommy sold the mint in Carrboro and went to Fort Bragg. The medics labeled him "Limited Service" and sent him back to Chapel Hill and the Marathon.

Business kept booming and in 1943 Tommy, at the advice of his student friends, began to build a road house on the Greensboro highway. The roadhouse, which Tommy now leases, is called the Terrace View Supper Club.

The Terrace View was the extent of Tommy's flyers during the war, but in 1948 he was back at it again. This time it was the Cafe Seville and the Seafood Grill, two new and up-to-date restaurants.

When asked about any new business project, Tommy just leans back and smiles.

"I'm going to coast now," he says, "and wait until by boy is old enough to enter the University. Then my project is going to be to teach him how to drink beer, make love, and still graduate with honors."

–Student–

(Continued from Page 1)

with Zionism he may better help the people of Israel.

"Israel is a laboratory for social science," he said. "It is a wonderful opportunity for us to put into use what I have studied in books, and at the same time help humanity," he went on, speaking of the adventure before him.

"I am tired of living in large cities, not knowing what I will do next.

"Those of us attending school at Carolina may wonder at the motives which bring American college students to 'sacrifice' material comforts for the hardships of farming in semi-arid Israel," Rubin said. "The answer to this seeming enigma is an ideal—the ideal of pioneering."

CAMPUS CALENDAR

4:00—UNIVERSITY PARTY. Roland Parker 2, GM.
4:00—PAN-HEL Workshop. Tenny's Meadow.
5:00—PAN-HEL Council. Grail room, GM.
5:00—STUDENT PARTY Caucus. GM.
7:00—TOWN GIRL'S Association. Town Girl's room, YMCA.
7:00—SIGMA KAPPA Epsilon. Roland Parker 2, GM.
8:00—CHEMISTRY WIVES. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

Founder's Banquet

Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity has scheduled it's annual Founder's Day Banquet for 6 o'clock Friday May 6th.

FREE DELIVERY
on orders from
THE COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
Monday —— Friday
at
9:15 And 10:15
DIAL 6061

For The NEWEST FASHIONS in MENS CLOTHING visit
THE Sport SHOP
120 E. MAIN ST.
Durham

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

THE PUBLICATIONS BOARD IS NOW accepting seal-bid competitive contracts through May 15 for the posts of circulation managers for the Daily Tar Heel for the summer and coming year; and for Tarnation for the coming year. Those interested should contact Billy Carmichael III, DTH sports office any afternoon for information and sample contracts. (1-1200-1)

FOR RENT 6A

TRAILER WITH LARGE PORCH. Completely furnished including electric Refrigerator. Summer Months. Trailer No. 17 University Trailer Court. Pittsboro Road. See after 1 o'clock. (3-6725-1)

2 FURNISHED DOUBLE BEDROOMS. One immediate possession, other end of spring quarter. Call F-3878. (2-6729-1)

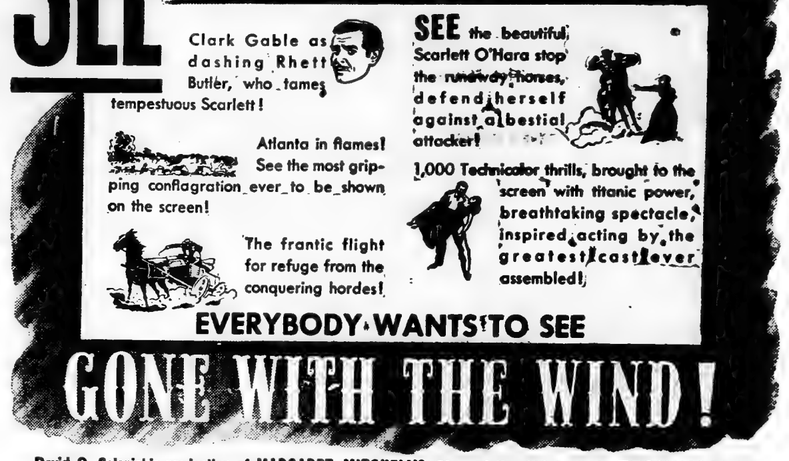
FOR SALE 6B

BOY'S, GIRL'S BICYCLES: Together $50. Cushman Motor Scooter. All good condition. See Emmett Cheek, Route No. 1. (3-6726-1)

TWO USED FRIGIDAIRE REFRIGERATORS in good condition. Also one used Electric Range. See Bennett & Blocksidge, phone 6161. (ch 1x1)

FUR COAT, SIZE 16, $20. Electric table model sewing machine $80. Chester drawers, blond maple $15. 220 McCauley St. (3-c6727-1)

HELP WANTED 8



UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds, athletics, and other camp activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment, room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

TIRED AND HUNGRY? AFTER THAT GAME OF TENNIS? Enjoy
Crisp Fried Chicken and Juicy Tender Steaks at UNIVERSITY RESTAURANT

Easy to clean ... and keep clean!

FLORSHEIM
Lightning Whites
$17.95
Just enough Genuine White Buckskin for refreshing coolness. It's hemmed in with brown calfskin to protect the white from soiling.
ROSCOE GRIFFIN
114 W. Main St.
DURHAM, N. C.

SEE THE GREATEST OF THE GREAT!

David O. Selznick's production of MARGARET MITCHELL'S Story of the Old South in TECHNICOLOR
"GONE WITH THE WIND" starring CLARK GABLE · VIVIEN LEIGH · LESLIE HOWARD · OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND
VILLAGE THEATRE WED. THURS. Hours of Shows 1:00—4:55—8:45 Box office closed at 8:50

Thalhimers
COMPLETE
MEN'S STORE
UNIVERSITY SHOP Thalhimers
Thalhimers Men's Store brings you the finest in men's university apparel.
• Shoes for campus or dress wear!
• Hats to top off a well groomed suit!
• Shirts, ties, suits, socks, everything!
Thalhimers University Shop brings you a display of men's fine apparel . . . styled in the University Manner. Come see the new fashions, new colors in everything from slacks to hats. Come talk with our representative. No fee or obligation, ever.
Dates: May 4 & 5
Time: 9:00 a.m. on
Place: BETA HOUSE
SUMPTER PRIDDY
Thalhimers Traveling Representative

CHEESE BLINTZES today — at HARRY'S

DAY, MAY 4, 1949

er's Banquet
eta Phi Law Fratern-cheduled it's annual
Day Banquet for 8
day May 6th.

E DELIVERY
orders from
E COLONIAL
USE SYSTEM
ay — Friday
at
And 10:15
IAL 6061

EST FASHIONS
in
S CLOTHING
visit
ort SHOP
E. MAIN ST.
Durham

REAT!
ught to the nic power,
pectacle,
g by the stlever
ND!
TECHNICOLOR
OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND
Hours of Shows
1:00—4:55—8:45
Office closed at 8:50

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
3-31-49

EDITORIALS

Coeds Best Dressed
Worthwhile Job
Student Legislature

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER
Fair and warmer

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. THURSDAY, MAY 5, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 160

Golden Fleece Taps Pritchard; 18th This Year

Graduate Started Blue-White Series

Bill Pritchard, former president of the Monogram Club who graduated last March, was tapped into the Order of the Golden Fleece this week, Fleece spokesmen announced yesterday.

As president of the Monogram Club, Pritchard inaugurated the series of Blue-White games, the most recent of which was held last weekend.

The Fleece neophite was initiated just one week after the men's honorary society took in 17 new members, a week ago Monday night. The organization took 16 students and one faculty member at that time, also retapping John J. Pritchard of Charlotte, a distinguished Fleece alumnus.

Pritchard has served as the student representative on the Athletic Council, the governing board of the entire University athletic program.

He played end on the Tar Heel football squad from 1945 to 1947, and also participated in varsity swimming.

Pritchard was tapped at the regular annual Fleece function more than a week ago since he was away from the campus on a Naval cruise.

EMILY BAKER

EMILY SEWELL

HELEN EPPES

ANN CHANDLER

BARBARA STOCKTON

PATRICIA DENNING

SALLY OSBORNE

'Fashion Plate' Contest to End On Friday at 1

The "Miss Fashion Plate" contest, which has been underway on the campus for the past several weeks, will end Friday at 1 p. m. when the ballot boxes will be sealed.

The contest, which is being held on ten college campuses throughout the nation, is sponsored by the House of Revlon, a cosmetic concern of New York City.

The Carolina winner—and the nine other winners—will receive a one-week vacation trip to New York with training in fashion, style and makeup at the House of Revlon. In New York she will compete with the other winners for the national title of "Miss Fashion Plate." The finals will be judged by a board of prominent judges, all famous beauty and fashion authorities.

The girls on the Carolina campus who are now competing for the local title are:

Gene Frances Caraher, Gene Hines, Patty Ann Frizzell, Betsy Ross, Pegge Misenheimer, Bobbie Bess, Peggy Martin, Lorraine Howard, Betty Smith, and Louise Horner.

These girls were all chosen by a board of selection composed of students on the campus. All registered coeds, with the exception of seniors, are eligible. The candidates were chosen on a basis of personal grooming, individuality of dress, poise, personality, popularity and general appearance.

There are two ballot boxes for the contest: one in the lobby of Graham Memorial and the other in the Y lobby. Each voter must use the ballots that have been published in the Tar Heel and each voter must sign his name to his ballot.

YRC Elections Slated Tonight

The Young Republican Club will meet in the Grail Room tonight at 7 o'clock to elect officers for the coming school year, according to a statement released yesterday by Bill Hipple, present president of the club.

The offices to be voted on are president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. Committee chairmen will also be named, Hipple said.

In addition to the election of officers, the club will choose a representative to the State Young Republican policy meeting which will be held in Chapel Hill Saturday, May 7. The group will also discuss and vote on the policy questions on the agenda for the Saturday policy meeting.

Coed Advisors To Hold Meet

Nearly 50 student advisors for next year's entering women students will hold the first session of a three week training program tonight in room 206 Phillips from 7 to 8 o'clock. Student adviser chairman Charleen Greer has emphasized the importance of each girl's attending.

Bill Miller, chairman of men's orientation last year, will discuss the overall program; Teenie Royal, last year's student adviser head, will discuss the role of the student adviser, and Miss Greer will outline what is expected of an adviser.

A secretary and a publicity chairman for the advisers will be elected at tonight's meeting, and each dorm group will choose a dormitory chairman. Meetings will also be held on the two succeeding Thursday nights in order to train the advisers.

Seven Coeds Tapped By Valkyries At Dawn

Stockton, Baker, Chandler, Osborne, Denning, Sewell, Eppes Are Chosen

Seven women students were tapped by Valkyries, highest honorary for women on the campus, in an impressive ceremony beginning before dawn this morning.

Black robed and hooded figures, carrying lighted candles and tolling gongs, invaded women's dormitories to tap girls outstanding for their leadership, scholarship, character, and sound judgment.

One honorary member, law student Barbara Stockton, was chosen, and others include Emily Baker, Ann Chandler, Patricia Denning, Helen Eppes, Sally Osborne and Emily Sewell.

Emily Baker, a graduating senior from Asheville, has served as speaker of the Coed Senate, Y cabinet, critic and speaker pro tem of the Phi, and social chairman of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Ann Chandler is a rising senior from Macon, Ga., and will act as president of the YWCA next year. She has served on Woman's Council, Religious Emphasis week committee, Y worship committee, and is a Pi Beta Phi.

Newly elected speaker of Coed Senate, Patricia Denning is a rising senior hailing from Coral Gables, Fla. She has been a member of the business staff of the Daily Tar Heel and is an Alpha Delta Pi.

Helen Eppes will serve as chairman of Woman's Council next year. She was beauty editor for the Yackety Yack this year and is a member of Chi Omega sorority. Her home town is Henderson.

A native of Jacksonville, Ill., Sally Osborne is chairman of women's orientation, a member of student council, program chairman for the Y and a member of Alpha Gamma Delta.

Emily Sewell, business manager of the Carolina Quarterly, is from Norfolk, Va. She is a member of Chi Delta Phi and of the Student Legislature.

Honorary member Barbara Stockton is a second year law student and has worked with the Y, Coed Senate and the alumnae group of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Present members of Valkyries include Sally Woodhull, president; Jo Butler, vice president; Teenie Royall, secretary; Fran Angas, treasurer, Mary Ann Daniel, alumnae secretary, and Ann Carlton, Lil Hotard, Randy Hudson, Eloise Jacobi, Edie Knight and Sue Stokes. Honorary and

(See VALKYRIES, page 4)

Phi Beta Kappa's Will Hear Craig Speak Thursday

Dr. Hardin Craig of the English Department will give the annual Phi Beta Kappa address at the University Convocation scheduled for next Thursday at 11 o'clock, Dean E. L. Mackie of student awards and scholarships, said yesterday. This is the third time Dr. Craig has delivered the Convocation address. He will speak on "The Problem of Progress."

Initiation of new members will be held next Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Gerrard Hall, Mackie said. Dean Dudley D. Carroll of the Commerce School will be guest speaker at a banquet that night at 7 o'clock in the Carolina Inn.

The public is invited to the Convocation address, and 11 o'clock classes will not meet that day. The student and faculty members of Phi Beta Kappa are invited to the initiation of new members and to the banquet. Those attending the banquet must make reservations before noon Monday by seeing the General College secretary in 308 South, or by calling her at 9861.

Summer Session Registration Is Scheduled for May 4 to 14

Final notice on the preregistration dates for the Summer Session was announced today as follows:

Arts and Sciences, Graduate School, and School of Education; May 9-14, School of Pharmacy; May 9-12. General College: May 9-14. School of Commerce: May 4-14.

All students should see their faculty advisers between these dates to have the Green Forms prepared. Green Forms should be turned in to Registration Hall, Venable "X", no later than Saturday, May 14.

Summer preregistration may be for either term or both terms. Students who register for the first term only and later decide to register for the second term must wait until July 21 to register for the second session.

Students who do not plan to attend the Summer School, but who will return for the Fall Quarter, may preregister for the fall later in May.

All General College students who plan to attend one or both terms of the Summer School may make appointments with their advisers by signing an appointment sheet at the Information Desk, first floor of the South building today through Saturday morning, May 7.

Mackie Makes Appointments To 30 Government Positions

Four Debaters To Make Six-Day Southern Tour

Yates, Keener, Hurst, Dixon to Leave Tonight; Frosh to Talk at Davidson

Four members of the varsity debate team will leave tonight for a six-day Southern tour which will bring them in contact with debaters of the University of South Carolina. the University of Miami, and the University of Tampa.

Herb Yates and Hurshell Keener will make up the affirmative team for the tour and J. D. Hurst and Charles Dixon will compose the negative team.

At the same time members of the freshman debate squad will journey to Davidson College to debate the Davidson varsity. Bob Evans and Robert Hutchinson, both of whom have debated on the varsity, are the members of the affirmative team and Jack Rock and Bill Prince will debate the negative.

At a meeting of the Debate Council last night, Dave Pittman was installed as the new president, replacing the retiring president, Earl Fitzgerald.

New council members were also installed. These included: Dave Pittman, Robert Hutchinson, Blanton Miller, Don Shropshire, Herb Yates and Hurshell Keener. The outgoing council consisted of Jim Taylor, Dave Pittman, Herb Mitchell, Blanton Miller, Don Shropshire and Pete Gerns.

During the past season the debaters rated third at the Agnas Scott Tournament, and high among the nation's top debating teams at the Georgetown Invitational Tournament. Two weeks ago the entire forensic team mustered enough points to take second place at the Grand National Tournamnt. Bob Evans, Bob Giles, Blanton Miller, and Sam Manning were members of this group.

Y Jobs Forum Is Scheduled This Evening

Series Planned For May Mondays

The first in a series of Job Forums sponsored by the Careers Committee of the YWCA, which was postponed due to a conflict of meetings, will be held tonight in the Roland Parker Lounge No. 3, Graham Memorial at 7 o'clock. The other Job Forums in this series will be presented each Monday night of May.

The first job interview and its problems will be the topic under discussion on this first meeting, which will be conducted by Miss Twig Branch, personnel director in the Dean of Women's office and by Richard Calhoun of the Commerce School. Girls who will graduate and go in to the business world proper and girls who will be working at temporary summer jobs will be enlightened about problems and business situations which they may encounter and the most effective solutions.

The applicants point of view will be presented by Twig Branch, who worked at B. Altman's store in New York and at Rich's Inc. in Atlanta, Ga. She will speak on personal experience concerned with the interview and Mr. Calhoun, former manager of the Kendall Mills will present the employer's point of view.

Topics under consideration in the following Monday night sessions will be: "Dressing on a Salary," discussed by Mrs. Randolph of the Little Shop here, "The Use of Make-Up," described by Mrs. Sutton of Sutton's Drug Store, and "The Inner Personality" discussed by Dr. Arnold Nash of the University's department of religion.

Laundry Director Dies on Tuesday Of Heart Attack

Leonard B. "Spot" Collins, who for seven years was superintendent of the University laundry, died last Tuesday morning at his home in Carrboro of a heart attack.

Collins, who was 41 at the time of his death, was a deacon in the Carrboro Baptist Church and the Master of the University Masonic Lodge, No. 408. He was connected with the University laundry for the past 25 years. Collins was a candidate in the race for mayor of Carrboro and was runner-up in the election when he died.

The fatal attack occurred at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning in the laundry, and Collins was immediately taken to his home where he died shortly after his arrival.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth Blackwell Collins; one daughter, Betty; one son, Bernard; his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Collins of Rockingham; and one brother, Walter L. Collins, also of Rockingham.

TMA Elections Set for Today

Election of Town Men's Association officers for the school year beginning September, 1949, will be held today at the regular bi-weekly meeting of the TMA in Graham Memorial, secretary Dan McLaughlin said yesterday.

Up for election will be the positions of president, vice president, secretary and treasurer.

Also at this time, final arrangements for the TMA-Town Girl's Association picnic at Hogan's Lake Friday will be released.

McLaughlin urged that all members be present at the 4:30 meeting.

Compulsory Meeting Called by Monogram

There will be a compulsory meeting at 2 o'clock today of all Monogram men who plan to attend the beach party this weekend, May 6, 7, Coy Carson, Social Chairman, said today.

If it will be impossible to be present, a valid excuse must be presented to Laddie Terrell or Coy Carson before two o'clock.

President Names Committee Heads For Budget, Audit, NSA, SEC, GSC

Appointments of four chairmen and 26 members of various student government executive committees were released yesterday afternoon by Student Body President Bill Mackie.

The four chairmen and their committees are: Jim Gywnn, chairman of the Elections Board; Andy Cornish, chairman of the Student Audit Board; Charlie Gibson, chairman of the Student Entertainment Committee; and Gran Childress, chairman of the NSA committee.

Members of the Budget committee, of which Nat Williams, Student Body Secretary-Treasurer will serve as chairman are: Dick Gordon, Ted Fussell, Andy Cornish, Emily Sewell, Neal Partrick, Marie Nussbaum, John Saunders, Bob Kirby and Bill Hipple.

Named to serve with Cornish on the Audit Board were Anies Daye, Tim Borda, Dick Ferguson and Ellis Hall. Billy Carmichael, Ann Sawyer and Dick Allsbrook were selected to work with Gibson on the Entertainment Committee.

To work with Childress in NSA, Mackie chose Ben Jones, Charles Fox and Jean Menshew. Members appointed to the Dance Committee are Noah Wilson, Buck Blankenship and Tom Boney.

Carolina's representatives on the Greater University Student Council, also appointed by Mackie, are Jess Dedmond, Dortch Warriner and Sam McKeel.

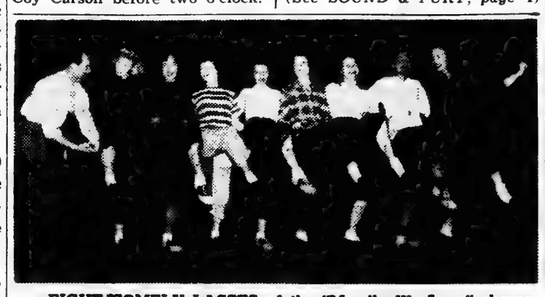
The various committee appointments will be considered for approval by the Legislature Appointments Committee, of which Bob Kirby is chairman, and then will be formally approved by the entire Student Legislature.

S&F Comedy Opens Tonight In Memorial

'Merrily We Love' Has Veteran Cast

"Merrily We Love," a Sound and Fury Musical production revue, opens tonight for a two night stand in Memorial Hall. The show, a full-length production, was authored by Forrest Covington, with music by Frank Matthews.

Included in the cast are many student actors who are well known for their performances in past productions. In the lead roles there are Betty Lokey, of Raleigh, who appeared in "Egypt Lan," and "Inherit The Wind" and Bill Sanders, from Roanoke Rapids, who has been seen in leading roles of "Mardi Gras," "H. M. S. Pinafore" and Apple Tree Farm." Sanders and Miss Lokey are cast opposite each other in "Merrily We Love." To complete the love triangel Mark Barker president of the organization and director of this production is cast as a wealthy New Yorker. Barker is well known in town as the genial annnouncer in the WDUK "fish-bowl" situated in the Strowd building.



Others who are cast in "Merrily We Love" and who have been seen in major presentations on campus are Lee Noll, seen in "Egypt Lan," "H. M. S. Pinafore" and "Beggar's Opera;" Forrest Covington, the author of the book, has appeared in "Sweep It Clean" and as a member of the "Lost Colony" troupe playing at Manteo and Estelle Ritchie. Miss Ritchie is well remembered for her part in the female comedy lead in "Apple Tree Farm." She is again appearing in a comedy role in "Merrily We Love."

Author Covington has kept the plot simple. It is the story of a stage struck young lady from Boston who comes to New York to seek her fortune on Broadway. Being attractive, she soon finds two very acceptable young men vying with each other for her attention. After due complications she is able to make her choice and all ends happily for everyone concerned except the jilted suitor.

The show contains 25 original songs written by Frank Matthews, some few of the numbers have been recorded by Johnnie Satterfield and his orchestra for use on the University Hour. Matthews and Covington have succeeded in writing a musical that is primarily based on musical backgrounds. In no place is there more than five minutes of running dialogue.

Director Barker has included a number of dance and chorus

(See SOUND & FURY, page 4)

EIGHT COMELY LASSES of the "Merrily We Love" chorus work out in a rehearsal under the watchful eye of Choreographer Tommy Thompson. They are, reading from right to left: Jean Hillman, Gladys Levinson, Jim Barker, Jimmy Faust, Anita Gates, Betty Hubbard, Nancy Young and Virginia Hamilton. The Sound and Fury production opens tonight at 8:15 in Memorial.

Mackie Requests Students To Ask Ministers Here

The following open letter from Bill Mackie, President of the Student Body was received too late yesterday for inclusion on the editorial page:

Fellow students:

Through the courtesy of Dr. Roy K. Marshall and Controller W. D. Carmichael, Jr., a special showing of the planetarium's first feature. "Let There Be Light," has been arranged by members of the student body for all ministers in the state, to be given on Thursday, May 12, at 2 o'clock. Several thousand invitations have been sent out by students from lists which have been compiled in an attempt to get the names of all ministers, so that none will be omitted. We know, however, that any attempt to get a complete list of all ministers of the more than sixty denominations represented in the state will fall short some where.

Since this event is being organized and prepared by students, I want to urge all of you who will be in contact with your ministers over the weekend to personally invite them to be here. This is the first chance in a very long time for the religious leaders of the state to be in Chapel Hill together, and we want the occasion to be a great success in terms of the number of people attending as well as the good will which can be engendered at the time. A luncheon will be held at 12 noon, the showing to begin at 2.

A personal invitation is the surest way to guarantee a successful occasion.

Bill Mackie
President Student Body

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $5.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... C. B. MENDENHALL

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors — Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. — Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. — Buddy Vaden
Society Editor — Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. — Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. — Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. — David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. — Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. — C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer — James A. Mills

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor, Ronald Tilley.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Night News Editor: Ed Joyner Night Sports: Lew Chapman

A Worthwhile Job

During these days when most students are busily engaged in watching baseball games, playing golf, or just plain sacking in, it is extremely refreshing to see two organizations like the Monogram Club and the University Club expend such great effort for the betterment of the school.

We would, along with Mr. Roy Armstrong, Director of Admissions, like to publicly thank these organizations and especially Ike Rolater, President of the University Club; Laddie Terrell, President, and Dan Breeden, Vice President of the Monogram Club; Coach Bob Fetzer, Athletic director, and the entire Athletic Department; and the entire Buildings Department.

In the opinion of Mr. Armstrong and the Administration, the Annual High School Day was an overwhelming success. The day was generally marred by rain, but the High School Seniors were able to tour the Campus and attend most of the functions planned before the rain set in.

We personally consulted a great number of the attending students at the end of the day, and they expressed gratitude for the hospitality shown them by both the University and the students.

The Carnival held on Friday night under the sponsorship of the University Club was also a success. We think it would be a good idea to make this an annual affair. Who knows, in two or three years, some organization will probably have a riding device or two.—J.M.

Coeds Are Best Dressed

One irate Carolina coed, after reading some of the numerous jibes and remarks which frequently are directed at the local female scholars, came to the conclusion the other day that it is the males who should bear the brunt of the criticism. What prompted her remarks was the sloppy clothing which the men of Carolina are accustomed to wearing to class.

It was her contention that the girls always are well-dressed and trim looking when they come to class, regardless of the weather outside. On the other hand, the boys frequently are attired in T-shirts, dungarees, and brogans. To top this off, she says they don't shave often enough or keep their hair decently combed. Although this certainly does not hold true for all the men, a little observation will furnish ample proof that the coed's charges are based on fact.

So it seems the girls excel in the matter of general class room appearance. No one is advocating a tradition like that at Virginia, where the boys always wear coats to class, but a well-dressed Carolina gentleman should come in something a little dressier than a T-shirt.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, May 3 — I want to approach this objectively, without too much comment or opinion on my part, but it would seem that a censorship far more absolute than anything ever attempted in wartime has been quietly imposed by the National Military Establishment.

Strangely, the censorship order, which, in effect, would put a gag on everyone but the Secretary of Defense himself, was circulated throughout the top brass with the scantiest possible leakage. Only a few mild references, almost meaningless, have gotten into print.

This is even stranger in light of the fact that it represents the first major order issued by Louis Johnson on replacing James V. Forrestal as Defense Secretary. It is entitled: "Consolidation directive no. 1."

At the outset, it reveals the establishment of an "Office of Public Information" under the military establishment's security review branch. It begins in comparatively mild terms—but its net effect would seem to be as absolute as anything ever issued by the soviet cominform.

It appears so despotic and dictatorial, I scarcely trust my own judgement. Consequently I am going to set forth the principal provisions, exactly as given in "consolidation directive no. 1" and let you form your own opinions.

"In the performance of its mission," the directive begins, "Security Review Branch will review for security, policy and propriety (note that 'propriety'):

"(1) Informational material of any nature, including material for use in press conferences or interviews, and including books, magazine or newspaper articles, speeches, radio scripts, still and motion pictures etc. from military sources, including individual military personnel.

"(2) Informational material dealing with military matters prepared by retired military personnel for publication." (Note: under this order there'd be no more "Howling Mad" Smith pieces, or other fault-pointing-out articles by ex-warriors. Stretched far enough it could even apply to Ike Eisenhower and his book).

This would seem to put the blanket on just about everybody. Carried a step further it could mean that no one could so much as utter a criticism of the military without an okay from Louie Johnson.

Remodeled For New Tenants

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

—Passing Sentence—

Post War World Council

By Jonathan Marshall

The Post War World Council held a very interesting and significant "off-the-record" conference in New York last week.

The subject under discussion and under fire was America's foreign policy, and the idea was to find out where the areas of agreement were between representatives from many groups.

The Democrats, Republicans and Socialists were all represented at the conference. There were members of Congress, a high State Department official, UN officials, educators, writers, commentators, labor leaders, and many other people from various groups.

There were too many people in attendence for any program to be drawn up, or for any unanimous conclusions to be reached, but it was very encouraging to see a group such as this able to sit down calmly and discuss the world's problems intelligently.

Probably the point of greatest disagreement was the Atlantic Pact. Many people felt that the Pact was a negative approach, and that instead of trying to defeat communism by creating a new "maginot line," it can only be beaten by strengthening the economics and governments of the so-called democratic nations.

There was almost unanimous agreement, surprisingly, that American foreign policy should be oriented towards Asia. It was brought out that there wasn't a single Senator from the West Coast on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and that the members had little experience or knowledge in Far Eastern affairs.

Unless something is done soon, it was felt, all of Asia may go communist. We cannot minimize the importance of a billion people, for Asia is beginning to awaken.

When the United States gives the Dutch as much money through ECA as that nation spends in fighting the Indonesians, it is only common sense to realize that the Indonesians must feel they are fighting America. Instead of remembering our own revolutionary past, we sit by and watch the democratic leaders put in jail.

One of the highlights of the conference was a talk by a representative of India. He told the meeting that democratic forces are rapidly disappearing in the Orient—they are our most powerful allies.

It was interesting to note that even the Republicans strongly supported President Truman's "fourth point"—technical aid for the less developed countries. It was felt by everyone that this was one of the most essential approaches to foreign policy.

The greatest asset that Russia has at present is the ability to talk; however, action in the Far East by America would speak far louder than words.

Although many people have given up hope for the UN, the conferees felt that it is essential to work with and try to strengthen the world organization. It was pointed out that the recent negotiations to end the Berlin blockade were not being conducted through normal diplomatic channels, but through the UN.

Everyone agreed that we cannot abandon the idea of disarmament or inspection of military potentials, for they are essential to world peace. And world peace must be obtained, for "no nation can now afford war." The immediate issue is how to avoid a third world war, and the bigger problem is how to build a lasting peace.

It was appropriate that such a conference should have been held at the Woodrow Wilson Peace Foundation in a room that contained a full-length picture of President Wilson.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PHD IN PHILOSOPHY

Editor:

A couple of weeks ago I challenged the local communist's problem child, Willie Robertson, to a debate in this column regarding the force and violence intent of the Communist Party. I cited a quote from the Communist International as a piece of evidence. Although Willie "struck colors" without firing a shot, his affectionate big brother and protector," Herr Freistadt, stepped into the arena firing away as subtly, but evasively, as ever in an effort to meet this impudent bourgeois's advance.

However, not only did the latter fail to cough up a "reasonable" explanation to my quote, but he gave no explanation at all. Instead, he substituted the general for the specific and tossed the burden of what he thinks is proof onto the shoulders of poor old Justice Murphy (Schneiderman Case).

Now understand, as far as I know Murphy's a pretty good fellow—at least he supplied me with ammunition in a recent article. But how he was able to scrape up such a far-fetched alibi for the force and violence doctrine, only the Chief Justice "up yonder" knows!

Willie's protector next gives us a tricky and ambiguous quote by Lenin which I'm anxious to take a crack at when more space is available. The primary objection to my challenge and the use of quotes by Communist Authorities is, in effect, that I'm not a bonafide "Harvard Philosopher" and therefore, incapable of telling when force and violence means what it says, or when it doesn't mean what it says.

Nevertheless, comrade, I'm gonna keep tossing them at you—and if you ever expect to "do your duty" in influencing students with your red rubbish—you'll have to answer them—reasonably and unequivocally.

The burden of placing the quotes in context rests with you. I'm satisfied that the meaning of those I select will stand as quoted, and I'll risk the possibility of not proving to a reasonable degree of satisfaction that they will. In the interim, you'll learn that a PHD in philosophy ain't a prerequisite for doing the job!

J. R. (Bourgeois) Cherry Jr.

HAUSER-McCORKLE

Editor:

Chuck Hauser (Charles McCorkle) in his column "On the Political Front" which appeared in Tuesday's Daily Tar Heel, discussed a rumor which he felt was creating "a sour impression" of the student judiciary on the campus. However, this rumor is partially unfounded and Chuck has made the mistake of printing pure hearsay which he has apparently not made any attempt to investigate or substantiate. For if he had investigated, he would have found that as is usually the case, the rumor was an incomplete and distorted report.

As to the actual facts in this case and the decision, which really was handed down, these details are printed elsewhere in this paper and are, I feel, completely justifiable.

It is unfortunate that the Council didn't have a chance to publish the facts in this case before Chuck printed his column. However, the council is new and although they are sincere in their efforts, they are handicapped by lack of proper orientation and did not realize until a few days after the case that it would be best to publish the decision. As soon as it was suggested, it was done.

I, as a member of the Council, and I feel the others would agree with me, appreciate criticism and help in our work. But I don't feel that the publication of false and unchecked rumors is the way to accomplish this.

Roy W. Holsten

—The Sounding Board—

Local Profanity, Notes

By "Wink" Locklair

In a letter to the editor yesterday, George McLeod asked if the profanity used in Sam Hirsch's Army farce "Repple Depple" was necessary. He also stated that the play could be both clean and good and that he was shocked that no question was raised about cursing in the comedy during a question period following the performance.

A couple of days before "Repple Depple" opened, we remarked to a friend, who had just read The Young Lions and was then plowing through The Naked and the Dead, that we preferred the soldier language in the new experimental play to that found in the books by Mr. Shaw and Mr. Mailer. The obscenity and vulgarity in those two novels seemed to be out of proportion, overdone, and gave the impression that everyone in the Army was partial to if not entirely dependent upon four - letter words.

The soldiers in Mr. Hirsch's play utter a generous sprinkling of expected "damns" and "hells," but certainly that should not have been upsetting for Mr. McLeod or anyone else in the audience who spent time in service or to anyone, for that matter, who has ever been hunting, or to a ball game or in bull sessions with college-age boys.

Lt. Underwood used "God damn" once, and that was probably the most disturbing oath in the entire show. And, as we remember the play, better than ¾s of the profanity was given off by the officers, not by the enlisted men, which struck some people as being unusual.

Right now Playwright Hirsch is busy making several suggested changes in the script. He is writing Captain Spratt into the tank scene in the final act. And that argument between the French peddlers in the third act will be pushed into the background. When these changes are completed, the script will be farmed out to a number of producers. Repple Depple would be ideal for the summer theatre circuit and the tremendous reception it received here ought to help in selling it, also.

* * *

During the many years that the Playmakers have been in the Forest Theatre, this May 20, 21 and 22 marks the first time they have ever done The Merchant of Venice. There is another "first" in connection with the local production in that this will be Ka. Jurgensen's initial opportunity to direct one of The Bard's shows, although he has been teaching it, and other Shakespearean works for a number of years.

The cast for the play is a large one and the scope of the drama requires many individual rehearsals. However most of the people in it have acted before, some of them in classical drama. The entire list is as follows: Bill McIlwinen, Sam Greene, Chuck Williamson, Hal Shadwell, Mac Shaw, Bill Hardy, Anne Martin, Martha Grattan, Fred Young, Frank Grosclose, Harry Davis, Lou Blenker and W. P. Covington.

Also Violet LaRue, John Kirkman, Edsel Hughes, John Sherin, Lynn Gault, Tommy Rezzuto, Erle Hall, Ruth Groce, Mary Cameron, Ethelyn Reaben, Edna Dooley, Gynn Finley, Iantha Smart, Colbert Leonard, Pete Strader, John Morgan, Ed Lassiter, Frank Moore, Danny Hughes, John Beshara.

And Caroline Green, Kristi Pendergraft, Peggy Hinson, Patricia Shores and Gene Huddle. Irene Smart is preparing the costumes, Lynn Gault the set and Jim Geiger is the assistant director, which is also something new for major Playmaker productions Mr. Geiger was one of the stars of The Little Foxes given here in March, but he is interested in staging as well as acting.

We might mention that Mr. Jurgensen's book of "Fourteen Religious Plays for the Church" which he co-authored with Bob Schenkkan of the Communications Center, had a nice sale during the Easter season. And Josephina Niggli, who has just returned from Mexico City, learned that the book was on sale there. She hurried down to the bookshops only to learn that they had already sold all their copies!

We had our say about the Monday night North Carolina Symphony concert on this page yesterday morning, but the concert the orchestra gave for approximately 1,000 children from local and county school Monday afternoon was also an excellent and certainly a different kind of program.

—This 'n That—

About Student Legislature

By "Wink" Locklair

THIS 'N THAT ....

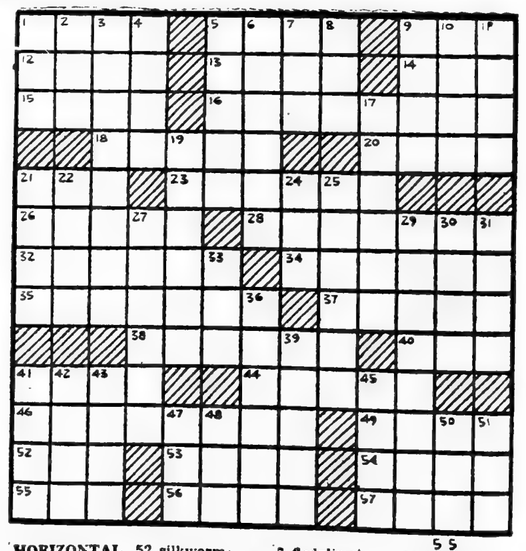
Some folks here and there have been discussing the selections of the 31 delegates and alternates who are to represent this school at the North Carolina State Student Legislature next week. Many have indicated their disapproval of the selections, many have given them their approval.

Therefore, with a few side comments, we thought we'd break down the delegates into various and sundry catagories and let you form your own opinions from there.

First of all, of the 21 delegates and 10 alternates, 18 are native North Carolinians (this as a mock NC state legislature, you know), 13 are from other states as far west as Oklahoma, as far south as Florida and as far north as New York.

Charges have been made (by members of the selection committee) that partisanship was shown in the selection towards the campus political parties. That may or may not be, but 14 of those selected are SP men, 11 are UP, 1 is CP, two more are nearer CP than anything else and 2 are what might be termed independents.

The committee which picked the men and women was composed of (those who actually sat on the committee and those who were listed earlier were slightly different) 5 SP, 3 UP, 1 questionable CP and 2 independents.

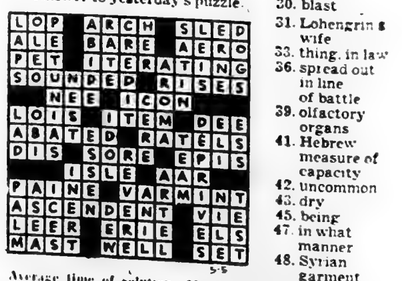


I'm not saying that the political makeup of the selection committee had any particular thing to do with the selecting, but there might be a slight connection in the comparison of figures.

In still another catagory, 10 of those picked are seniors (according to the student directory), 13 are juniors, 5 are sophomores, 1 is a freshman and 2 are either graduate or special students. Next year, it might be a wise precedent if the committee set a ruling that only juniors and seniors who had distinguished themselves in public speaking, etc, on the campus would be selected for the honor.

Another point which is being bashed back and forth is the question of the number of persons who applied for approval to attend the assembly. Two members have set the number at 50, another said that only 10 people showed up for interviews. News releases stated that anyone who wanted to attend had to apply in advance and appear for an interview. Yet, at least two of the people selected as alternates, namely Charlie Gibson and Charleen Greer did not apply, evidently were not interested and only found out that they had been selected after the story was published in the Daily Tar Heel. Still, there were persons who applied and who put in an appearance at the committe meeting but who were still not selected as delegates or even as alternates.

There may be some valid explanation for the various unconnected links in the whole thing, but investigation the day after the announcement showed otherwise. One member of the committee even accused another of injecting a bit of local political prejudice in the selection process, despite that person's stated intention beforehand of preventing anyone else from doing just that.



Right or wrong, there are some questions which should be answered because somewhere in the middle there's a slight mix-up on the part of somebody.

HORIZONTAL
1. confined
5. hastened
9. policeman (colloq.)
12. the maple
13. unadulterated
14. topaz hummingbird
15. stratagem
16. stemmed
18. tries out
20. eternities
21. sesame
23. seesaw
26. get up
28. backward
32. rager
34. book of Old Testament
35. made irate
37. French painter
38. ancient Jewish ascetic
40. Anglo-Saxon money
41. spoken
44. puzzling proposition
46. assembles
49. alkaline compound
52. silkworm
53. musical instrument
54. petitions
55. primary color
56. procedures
57. serf

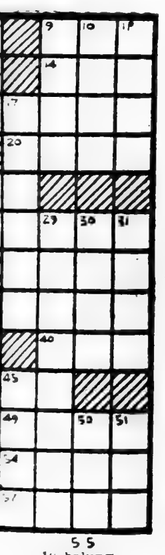
VERTICAL
1. equivalence
2. former European coin
3. fledgling
4. English actor-manager
5. freshet
6. ship's accounting officer
7. stray
8. river in Scotland
9. early Roman statesman
10. baking chamber
11. cushions
17. peaceful
19. guides
21. ancient Gaelic capital
22. Persia
24. spread for drying
25. shuns
27. hardens
29. strict
30. blast
31. Lohengrin's wife
33. thing, in law
36. spread out in line of battle
39. olfactory organs
41. Hebrew measure of capacity
42. uncommon
43. dry
45. being
47. in what manner
48. Syrian garment
50. lair
51. ashes (Scot.)

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution, 22 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Notes

...this May 20, 21
...the first time they
...e The Merchant of
...is another "first"
...with the local pro-
...at this will be Kai
...ital opportunity
...of The Bard's
...gh he has been
...d other Shakes-
...es for a number of



...or the play is a
...the scope of the
...es many individu-
...However most of
...t have acted be-
...f them in classical
...ntire list is as
...McIlwinen, Sam
...k Williamson, Hal
...e Shaw, Bill Hardy,
...Martha Grattan,
...Frank Grosclose,
...Lou Blenker and

...LaRue, John Kirk-
...ughes, John Sherin,
...Tommy Rezzuto,
...Ruth Groce, Margie
...helyn Reaben, Ed-
...ivnn Finley, Lantha
...Leonard, Pete
...Morgan, Ed Las-
...Danny Hugh-

...dine Green, Kristy
...Peggy Hinson, Pa-
...and Gene Huddle.
...s preparing the
...nn Gault the sets.
...er is the assistant
...ch is also something
...or Playmaker pro-
...Geiger was one of
...The Little Foxes giv-
...March, but he is in-
...staging as well as

...t mention that Mr.
...s book of "Fourteen
...us Plays for the
...hich he co-authored
...Schenkkan of the
...ations Center, had
...during the Easter
...d Josephina Niggli,
...just returned from
...y. learned that the
...on sale there. She
...wn to the bookshops
...rn that they had al-
...all their copies!

...our say about the
...ght North Carolina
...convert on this page
...morning, but the con-
...chestra gave for ap-
...1,000 children from
...public school Monday
...was also an excellent
...ply a different kind

5 5
10 baking chamber
11 cushions
17 peaceful
19 guides
21 ancient Gaelic capital
22 Persia
24 spread for drying
25 shuns
27 hardens
29 strict
30 blast
31 Lohengrin's wife
33 thing, in law
36 spread out in line of battle
39 olfactory organs
41 Hebrew measure of capacity
42 uncommon
44 dry
45 being
47 in what manner
48 Syrian garment
49 lair
51 ashes (Scot.)

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

On the Blue and White

THE BLUE AND WHITE game, the greatest thing in Battles of Brothers since the coming of the Yankee hordes, settled about as few arguments last Saturday as the Civil War did. The Big Question Mark of what will the Tar Heels have in the manner and form of a football team next year still looms as large as the Bell Tower, with many of those who care to know feeling it best to wait until fall and be surprised by the results rather than possibly disappointed.

There was a definite result of Saturday's game—the 21-6 numerical advantage that the Blues rolled up over the Whites. And there were times when no one in the pine-panelled stadium had any doubt that Charlie Justice is still the greatest thing on cleats. But a spring practice game remains a spring practice game despite the holiday trimmings supplied by the Monogram and University clubs in the way of sponsors, bands, peanuts and programs.

The unscheduled rain, it would seem, was probably the most effective one thing on hand. In its biggest moments, it went through everything in sight. The precipitation, though, received some serious competition as a penetrator from Justice, Dick Bunting, Skeet Hesmer and a host of others. but one still left scenic Kenan late that afternoon with a lot of doubts about a lot of new footballers and the lack of a lot of old ones.

Gone Are the Mainstays

GONE WERE MANY STARS of the past season who left gapping holes to be filled and for opponents to run through come September. The replacements had one thing in their favor to begin with—their names, on the whole were fairly easy for the layman to pronounce. And as the first half danced along, the freshmen added another, a creditable job for a group of young men who supposedly had a great deal to learn.

The yearlings had a spirit that hadn't been seen in such a mass effort in Kenan for a long while. For a half, they held their own on their ability and spirit, but then a third quantity called experience caught up with them. Experience—or in their case, inexperience—proved the eventual downfall of the first year men.

That created the big doubt in many minds since come fall there would be no Blue and White separation. The Blue and White will have to be blended into a scheme that is supposed to win ball games. That boils down to the fact that a great number of these new men will be called up to the ranks of the first and second teams where both spirit and experience are necessary for winning football teams. One begins to wonder if an excess of one can make up for a deficiency of the other.

On Typewriter Dreams

THERE WERE BRIGHT SPOTS and a bright side to all the thoughts of the pessimists. All the new faces would not have to come from the ranks of last year's freshmen. Some like Joe Gurtis and Pete Rywak, who have been around for several years waiting to show their respective stuff, are now ready for the Big Time. Publicitist Jake Wade's last season claims of positions three and four deep were now proving more than typewriter dreams. The only hold-up had been the rule preventing the use of more than 11 players at a time.

It is all a reflection upon quite a bridge builder and architect in the person of Carl Snavely, who builds great football teams and then adds the bridges across the games between seasons. A football coach must always have an eye to the future when the Charlie Justices become legends and win games for Carolina only with locker room fight talks of "Win this one for the old Choo Choo!"

Coach Snavely must have realized Saturday that if another championship team is to be ready for a rigorous 1949 schedule, construction will have to be stepped up considerably. Some headaches seem to be solving themselves such as the blocking back problem that plagued the Tar Heels last fall. Their quality and quantity has increased greatly indicating a strong skipper should be at the helm come kickoff time.

A Unit Citation

AS A PROMOTIONAL AFFAIR, the Blue and White venture was quite a success considering the weather. The Monogram Club deserves a unit cited "NC" for their undertaking. And as an afternoon's entertainment, football is still unbeatable in any season of the year.

Charlie Justice, amazingly enough, continues to improve as a football player. Though playing at some 15 pounds more than he will haul about next fall, the Choo Choo had a gauge full of the usual steam up for the occasion and romped about a muddily-elusive field with his regular abandon. He had as much trouble keeping the ground under his feet as he did keeping his feet in general. Justice's passing, his weakness on first arriving at Carolina, was his standard bearer Saturday, especially when he hit Weiner. covered front and back for a touchdown, with the skill of a man who could throw a lamb chop past a wolf.

Bunting was another on Saturday who showed the type of improvement that can win ball games both with his offensive running ability and his defensive talents personified when he dragged well-handicapped Hesmer from behind in a second quarter rat-race for the goal line. Hesmer, the newcomer, ran excessively well from scrimmage and the pair will probably battle it out like Toni Twins to see who plays second fiddle to Charlie Justice, the All-American, next season.

The summation of which means that there are only 191 blocking and tackling days left until the Notre Dame game, a contest in which the men should be definitely separated from the boys. The question is: Will the Tar Heels come of age?

Baseballers To Battle VPI There Today

Tar Heel Outfit Opens Three-Day Virginia Series

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

BLACKSBURG, Va., May 4—The University of North Carolina baseball squad arrived here this evening and bedded down to get a good night's rest before meeting Virginia Tech here tomorrow in the first contest of the Tar Heels' three-game series in the Old Dominion.

After the VPI encounter tomorrow, Carolina moves on to Lexington to play Washington and Lee, winding up the tour in Charlottesville against the University of Virginia Saturday.

The Tar Heels left Chapel Hill early this afternoon and will play here tomorrow. That will be the pattern of the trip for the visitors who will leave here right after the game for Lexington. The Carolina outfit will spend the night in Charlottesville and then return home after the Virginia contest.

According to the schedule, the Tar Heels were to have met all three teams, but suprisingly it rained the day Carolina was to play host to Washington and Lee. The visitors, however, hold victories over both the Gobblers and Cavaliers.

VPI offered the Hearnmen little trouble on Emerson Stadium as the Tar Heels blasted to an easy 12-4 triumph, but Virginia was a little more stubborn, forcing Carolina to come from behind to squeek out a 6-5 decision.

With only one game being played in the last six days, the Carolina pitching staff should be well rested for the three encounters, two of which are Southern Conference affairs. Ray Blair, the ace of the Carolina mound crew, went the route against Duke yesterday and so if he does pitch it will probably be against the Cavaliers. He's done most of the Big Four hurling for Carolina and he'd have enough rest to go against State next Wednesday.

Coach Bunn Hearn, however, still has a strong trio of right-handers in Tommy Andrew, Dean Cassell, and Andy Tranavitch and the Tar Heel mentor can also call on southpaw Bill McGinn to take over one of the starting roles.

Frosh Nine Seeking Fifth Win In Greensboro Game Today

While their varsity brothers are invading the Old Dominion, Carolina's freshman baseball team will furnish the local diamond entertainment by meeting Greensboro High School at Emerson Stadium this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Coach Henry House's young baseballers and Duke University's yearlings fought to a ten-inning, 6-6 tie here Tuesday. The locals have a record of four wins and one loss in addition to their tie with the Blue Imps.

Coach House is expected to start ace righthander Monroe Johnson on the mound for the Tar Babies.

The locals defeated the Greensboro nine earlier in the season, and also hold wins over State, Duke, and Wake Forest. Their one defeat was at the hands of the State aggregation.

Todays starting lineup for the local outfit will probably be as follows: Charlie Overman, catcher; Ben Smith, first base; Mark Herring, second base; Russell Whiteheart, third base; Ed Norris, shortstop; Bill Reeves, leftfield; Bob Stewart, centerfield; Bill Overman, rightfield.

Doubleheader!!

Tar Heel Trackmen Meet Duke Here Saturday in Dual Meet

Things will be popping down at Fetzer Field Saturday. Beginning at 2:00 o'clock the local track will be the scene of a big double-header between both the varsity and the freshmen of Carolina and Duke.

According to Coach Dale Ranson, it is expected to be the fastest dual meet to be held at Carolina since prior to the war.

Many of the top performers from both schools will be featured. Starring for Duke will be Tommy Reeves, the top man at the Blue Devil stronghold this year, who will run in the 100 yard dash and the 220 against Carolina's Bill Albans in what should be one of the most interesting events of the day.

The Quarter mile may also prove of interest with Southern Conference champ Buddy Grisso running for Duke against Julian MacKenzie and Laddie Terrell.

In the field events, indoor and outdoor conference champion O'Leary will be on hand for Duke in the shot put and discus throw, with outdoor champion Dunham hurling the javelin.

In the field for Carolina will be several of the Penn Relay men, including Seligman, who has a discus throw of 159.5½ to his credit, also in the shot put, and Bob Kirk winner of the Penn Relay Javelin event.

The high jump will feature Albans, Moody, Joyner, and Saunders, with Albans and Moody also in the broad jump. Bob House should be the top man for the Tar Heels in the pole vault.

—TILLEY

MAJOR League Results

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	W	L	Pct.	GB
x-Boston	9	6	.600	—
New York	8	7	.533	1
Brooklyn	8	7	.533	1
x-St. Louis	6	6	.500	1½
Cincinnati	7	7	.500	1½
x-Philadelphia	7	8	.467	2
x-Chicago	6	7	.462	2
Pittsburgh	6	9	.400	3

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	W	L	Pct.	GB
New York	12	3	.800	—
Cleveland	7	4	.636	3
x-Detroit	7	5	.583	3½
Chicago	8	7	.533	4
x-Boston	6	6	.500	4½
Philadelphia	8	8	.500	4½
Washington	5	11	.313	7½
St. Louis	3	12	.200	9

x—Night games not included in standings.

Yesterday's Results

Brooklyn 5, Cincinnati 1
New York 11, Pittsburgh 4
Chicago at Boston (night)
St. Louis at Philadelphia (night)

Today's Games

Cincinnati (Wehmeier 1-0) at Brooklyn (Banta 0-1)
Pittsburgh (Sewell 2-0) at New York (Jones 2-3)
St. Louis (Munger 0-0) at Philadelphia (Borowy 1-1)
(Only games scheduled).

Yesterday's Results

Cleveland 4, Philadelphia 3
Washington 3, Chicago 7
New York 10, St. Louis 5

Today's Games

New York (Reynolds 1-1) at Chicago (Pierce 2-0)
Philadelphia (Brissie 3-0) at Detroit (Gray 0-0)
Washington (Haefner 0-1) at St. Louis (Embree 0-1)—night

Touring Netsters Blank Brown, 9-0; Seixas, Taylor Pace Mates To 19th

PROVIDENCE, May 4th—The invading tennis squad of the University of North Carolina stopped off here this afternoon to play a highly successful Brown University squad but at the end of an afternoon's work, the touring Tar Heels posted an easy 9-0 shutout over the Bruins.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Carolina team in their nine day northern excursion and the 19th of the season for the potent six from Chapel Hill.

Tennis is taken very seriously here in the north and a large crowd turned out on a perfect day to witness the match. The fans were duly impressed with the Carolina squad, especially the two northerners that compose the one-two punch for the netters of Carolina coach John Kenfield.

It was the local fans' first opportunity to see the Carolina's ace and captain, Vic Seixas, play and after the Tar Heel star polished off Brown's number one man, Joe Gonzales, in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1, it was not hard for them to realize why Pennsylvania bred Seixas is ranked number seven in the national amateur rankings.

Carolina's number two man, Clark Taylor whose home is in Massachusetts, also experienced no trouble with his opponent as he added another point to the Carolina total with a 6-1, 6-1 victory over Jim Briggs.

From then on it was still all Carolina as the hapless locals were pitifully inept against the well-rounded visitors from the South. Carolina swept the remaining singles matches and the three doubles contests to make the rout complete.

Brown did threaten to salvage a point in the second doubles matches when Brown's Alsop-Crofts took the second set from Carolina's Gruner-Winstead but the Tar Heel pair turned on the steam to take the third set and win the day's closest match.

Seixas (C) defeated Gonzales, 6-0, 6-1; Taylor (C) defeated Briggs, 6-0, 6-1; Gruner (C) defeated Herst, 6-0, 6-0; Rice (C) defeated Love, 6-3, 6-3; Wilder (C) defeated Curbelo, 7-5, 6-3; Dameron (C) defeated Croft, 6-4, 7-5.

Seixas-Taylor defeated Love-Herst, 6-0, 6-0; Gruner-Winstead defeated Alsop-Croft, 6-2, 3-6, 6-1; Rice-Wilder defeated Kennedy-Curbelo, 6-1, 6-2.

Frosh Netters Play

Boasting a record of five wins and three losses, the Tar Baby netters of coach Jack Kenfield will engage the frosh from Presbyterian Junior College at 3 o'clock this afternoon on varsity courts.

As a result of yesterday's intersquad competition, there will be a change in the position of the players; Cecil Milton will take the number three spot with Bret Smith moving to the fifth position. The frosh will end a busy week by playing host to teams on both Friday and Saturday.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00—Field 1, Ruffin vs Alexander; 2, Mangum vs Graham; 3, Manly vs Old West; 4, Aycock vs Town 1; 5, Wes Rockets vs Law School; 6, Pi Lamb 2 vs Chi Psi 2; 7, Sig Eps vs Phi Delt 1; 8, Sig Nu 2 vs Sig Chi 1.

5:00—Field 1, Stacy vs Lewis 1; 2, Lewis 2 vs Med School 1; 3, Whitehead vs BVP; 4, Old Grads vs Town 2; Pill Rollers vs Steele; 6, ATO 2 vs Delta Sig; 7, DKE 2 vs Kap Psi 1.

CAROLINA – DUKE
DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL BLDV.
Today and Tomorrow
THRILLING!... DEATH VALLEY IN Color
75c Per Car
Shows at 7:15 & 9:15

TEEN-AGE

"It's a sure cure for Spring Fever ... simply let it possess you."
Hot Weather Specials
BUCCANEER
Cold Plates — 60c & 85c
THE BUCCANEER

INTRAMURAL ROUNDUP

SOFTBALL RESULTS

14	Ruffin	Alexander	12
4	Law School	Wes Rockets	2
9	Phi Delt 1	Sig Eps	3
11	Sig Chi 1	Sig Nu 2	10
19	Stacy	Lewis 1	7
5	BVP	Whitehead	4
8	Steele	Pill Rollers	6

TENNIS RESULTS

5	Beta	Zeta	3 0
4	KA 3	Phi Gam	3 1
4	Phi Kap Sig	Chi Phi 1	1
3	KA 2	Sig Nu 1	2

TENNIS SCHEDULE

4:00, courts 1-4; Sig Nu 2 vs Zeta 4; cts 5-8: Phi Gam 2 vs Pi KA 3; cts 9-11: Kap Sig 2 vs Delta Sig.

5:00, courts 1-4: Emerson 2 vs Med Sch; cts 5-8: Steele 2 vs Town 2; cts 9-11: Kappa Psi vs ATO 2.

COED SOFTBALL
Results

29 Grads ADPI 1 3

Schedule

4:00—Kenan Stadium, ADPi 2 vs Town

Chapel Hill Wins For 7th Straight

Chapel Hill High School's high-riding baseball team smothered Siler City's nine, 26-2, yesterday afternoon on the local field for its seventh win of the season.

Fenno McGinty paced the winners at the plate with a pair of homers and a single. Bill Butler also had two four-baggers for the Wildcats, while Russell Perry and Milton Cheek had one round-tripper each.

The score by innings:

Siler City	002	000	0	2	3	5
Chapel Hill	216	863	x	26	25	2

PLANNING A WEEKEND at the BEACH THIS SPRING?
Wrightsville Beach has become a popular weekend spot for COLLEGE STUDENTS
We offer ideal accomodations for HOUSE PARTIES or any size group with our 16 Apartments and large 12 bedroom house. We can offer housekeeping facilities or hotel accomodations.
CALL, WIRE or WRITE
ALLEN BARBEE
Spring Hope, N. C. or
Wrightsville Beach on weekends

AGAIN SOMETHING FREE AT THE Ramshead Rathskeller's
From 6-8 P.M. DAILY
FREE FRENCH FRIED POTATOES
all we can make — all you can eat — with your beer
AND INTRODUCING
½ lb. ASST. COLD CUT PLATE 70c
W. Potato Salad, Pickles, Butter & Ryebread
ALL BEEF FRANKS (None Better) 25c
STILL GOING STRONG FROM 4-6 P.M.
10c BALLANTINE DRAFT
FOR YOUR PARTIES: DELIVERED ICE COLD
¼ Keg Ballantine $11.— ½ Keg $20.—
CASE BEER (All Brands) $4.70

Starts TODAY
CAROLINA

A TERROR-STALKED SEARCH...
The secret of the desert's treasure brought together these adventurers...ne'er-do-wells... outcasts...with a woman their uninvited guest...
COLUMBIA PICTURES presents
RANDOLPH SCOTT · ELLA RAINES
in THE WALKING HILLS with WILLIAM BISHOP · EDGAR BUCHANAN
ARTHUR KENNEDY · JOHN IRELAND
JEROME COURTLAND · JOSH WHITE
Story and screenplay by Allan Lullay · Additional Dialogue by Virginia Reddick
Directed by JOHN STURGES · Produced by HARRY JOE BROWN
Also
CARTOON — SPORTLIGHT

Thalhimers
COMPLETE MEN'S STORE
University Shop Thalhimers
Thalhimers Men's Store brings you the finest in men's university apparel.
- Shoes for campus or dress wear!
- Hats to top off a well groomed suit!
- Shirts, ties, suits, socks, everything!
Thalhimers University Shop brings you a display of men's fine apparel . . . styled in the University Manner. Come see the new fashions, new colors in everything from slacks to hats. Come talk with our representative. No fee or obligation, ever.
Date: May 5th
Time: 9:00 a.m. on
Place: BETA HOUSE
SUMPTER PRIDDY
Thalhimers Traveling Representative

Shoes Ruined By the Rain?
HAVE YOURS
Cleaned and Repairs
They'll look like new
at
COLLEGE SHU-FIXERY

AUTO PARTS
New . Used . Rebuilt
Open Saturday Afternoon
And Sunday
AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

ALL KINDS 24 HOUR SERVICE
Radio Repairs
Ogburn Furn. Co.

Durham Optical Co
215 W. MAIN ST.
TEL. F 2141
OPTICIANS

SEE
Clark Gable as dashing Rhett Butler, who tames tempestuous Scarlett O'Hara!
The greatest love story ever on the screen!
EVERYBODY WANTS TO SEE
GONE WITH THE WIND!
HOURS OF SHOWS
1:00 4:55 8:45
Box Office Closed at 3:50
Today
VILLAGE

Student Council Cases Are Released To Public

The Student Council met at 7:45 on April 26 to hear an appeal from the Men's Council on a sentence of indefinite suspension for violation of the Honor Code, with recommendation that leniency be shown upon application for readmission.

The appellant was accorded the privilege of having a counsel to aid him in his defense. The appellant appeared before the Student Council and requested that his appeal be accepted on the grounds that there was insufficient evidence to warrant the harsh sentence of the Men's Council.

His counsel then appeared before the Student Council and offered the following additional grounds for appeal: 1) three former members of the Men's Council were unofficially present during the trial; 2) a plea for a defense counsel was refused; 3) the defendant was denied an extended period of time by the Chairman of the Men's Council; 4) rules of procedure were not given to the defendant regarding the right of having a member of the Men's Council act in his defense; 5) the defendant did not receive an official summons by registered mail; 6) and the counsel felt that his remarks in the Men's Council room prior to the questioning of the defendant created prejudice among the Council members and that the defendant was ill-advised by him.

After discussion, a motion was made and passed that the Student Council accept the appeal on the grounds that the appellant was denied his constitutional right of having sufficient time, under the conditions, to prepare his evidence. A motion was then made and passed that the Student Council adjourn, as it was then 10 o'clock, and hear the appeal on the following night.

The Student Council met at 8 p. m. on April 27. After hearing the testimony of the appellant, his counsel, two members of Men's Council, and three character witnesses, the Student Council discussed the evidence. A motion that the sentence of the Men's Council not be upheld, as it stood, was made and passed because the members of the Student Council decided that the additional evidence presented, warranted mitigation of the original sentence. (Article II, Section 9 of the Student Constitution).

A second motion was made and passed that the appellant be suspended for the remainder of the quarter with the recommendation that he be shown leniency upon application for reinstatement, after the end of this quarter. The Student Council adjourned at 12:35 a. m.

Roy Will Continue Lectures on Math

S. N. Roy, of the University of Calcutta, now Visiting Professor at Columbia University, will continue his series of lectures in Chapel Hill under the auspices of the Department of Mathematical Statistics on the general subject of testing composite hypotheses in multivariate analysis. The lectures will be in 206 Phillips Hall, Chapel Hill.

The first lecture is slated for Friday, May 6th at 4 o'clock, second lecture, Saturday, May 7th, at 10 o'clock.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

9:00—PRE-SCHOOL Clinic. Elementary school building.
2:30—TOWN MEN'S Association. Main Lounge, GM.
7:00—HILLEL FOUNDATION. Roland Parker 1, GM.
7:00—BRIDGE TOURNAMENT. Main lounge, GM.
7:00—TOWN GIRLS, YMCA.
7:00—YOUNG REPUBLICANS. Grail room, GM.
8:00—LAW WIVES. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
8:00—LECTURE. Ralph Linton will speak. Gerrard Hall.
8:30—VOICE RECITAL. Barbara Young and Milton Bliss will sing. Hill Hall.
8:30—SOUND AND Fury Production. Memorial Hall.

– S&F –

(Continued from Page 1)

routines to make a well rounded production. The dance numbers include waltzes and South American and specialty numbers in addition to the traditional chorus line numbers. Choreographers for the dance routines are Elizabeth Stoney, Bill Hooks and Tommy Thompson, all of whom are known for their work in past productions.

Tickets are available for tonight's performance at the Carolina Sport Shop, The "Y" lobby and from members of the "Merrily We Love" cast.

PL 16 Veterans Must File Papers

All Public Law 16 veterans who plan to re-enter training this summer and have not turned in their schedules to the veteran's office are requested by Wilson Honeycutt, training officer, to bring their schedules to the veteran's office in Peabody Hall.

Over 100 public law 16 veterans have not given their schedules for summer to the training officer. Consequently, their checks will be delayed during the summer training office.

The veteran's office for public law 16 veterans is located on the first floor of Peabody Hall and is open on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week.

– Valkyries –

(Continued from page 1)

alumnae members include Twig Branch, Katherine Carmichael, Gay Currie, Meg Healy and Mary Francis Kellam.

Valkyrie membership is limited to two per cent of the undergraduate women students.

Sarah Pegram Elected President of Pharmacy Sorority

Sarah Pegram, Sophomore from Apex, was elected president of Kappa Epsilon, national honorary pharmaceutical sorority, at the meeting on Tuesday night.

Other officers elected were vice-presiednt Doris Sauls from Raleigh, secretary-treasurer Betsy Sparks from Draper, and Pledge Mistress Allene Warren from Dunn. The delegates chosen to attend the National Kappa Epsilon convention which is being held in Philadelphia on May 5-8 are Allene Warren and Sara Pegram.

Sarah has recently been elected as president of the Pharma Girl's Association and is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority

Who are America's Most Successful YOUNG Men?
In anybody's book, one of them is Joseph H. Axelrod. Said TIME last year:

Joseph H. Axelrod, 31, was one of the first New Englanders to have a telephone in his automobile. He needed it. As boss of six textile mills in four cities in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, plump, hustling Joe Axelrod made the rounds every day, and he liked to keep in touch. Last week, Joe

J. R. KELLY, Woonsocket, Rhode Island
JOE AXELROD
A car telephone is needed.

Axelrod added a fifth city (Providence) to his tour, a seventh plant (the Damar Wool Combing Co.) to his holdings. Even for a young man who likes to keep moving, Axelrod had moved far. In 9½ years he had parlayed $5,500 into an integrated textile empire worth $16 million.

Joe started to work in 1938, when he was just out of the University of Pennsylvania. To his $500 savings, his father, James, a textile jobber, added $5,000. With the money, they formed Airedale Worsted Mills, Inc. with Joe as president. They rented a loft in the Woonsocket (R.I.) mill, bought some secondhand machinery, hired two workers and started weaving worsted fabrics.

The Team. Joe made the goods; his father sold them. Selling was no trick when war came; the trick was production. Joe turned it by picking up the newest textile machines, applying the newest techniques, and plowing all profits back into more plants. Joe's aim was integration—enough plants to handle wool virtually from the sheep's back to finished cloth. In 1942 Airedale Worsted Mills, Inc. was healthy enough to take over Woonsocket's Bernon. In the next three years the Axelrods wove the Jeffrey Finishing Co., Woonsocket's Lippitt Worsted Mills and Dorlexa Dyeing & Finishing Co. and Pawtucket's Crown Manufacturing Co. into their empire. Last spring they got control of New Bedford's old, famed Wamsutta Mills (sheetings, broadcloths, specialty fabrics). Joe and his dad, who is treasurer, now have 3,150 men & women (including Wamsutta) working for them, and with last week's buy, they reached Joe's goal of integration.

TIME
Successful Businessman Axelrod reads TIME each week—as do more than 1,500,000 other U.S. college graduates who find in TIME the news they can't afford to miss.

To enter your subscription to The Weekly Newsmagazine, see any of TIME'S representatives at Univ. of N. C. — University Book Exchange — Herb Alexander, 7 Battle Dorm.

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

THE PUBLICATIONS BOARD IS NOW accepting seal-bid competitive contracts through May 15 for the posts of circulation managers for the Daily Tar Heel for the summer and coming year: and for Tarnation for the coming year. Those interested should contact Billy Carmichael III, DTH sports office any afternoon for information and sample contracts. (1-1200-1)

FOR RENT 6A

TRAILER WITH LARGE PORCH. Completely furnished including electric Refrigerator. Summer Months. Trailer No. 17 University Trailer Court, Pittsboro Road. See after 1 o'clock. (3-6725-1)

2 FURNISHED DOUBLE BEDROOMS. One immediate possession, other end of spring quarter. Call F-3878. (2-6729-1)

NICELY FURNISHED APARTMENT close to campus, post office and down town. Available about June first. See S. H. Basnight, phone F-458. (4-c6738-1)

ONE AND ONE HALF ROOMS, COOL with a private entrance and connecting bath. For the summer only. Phone 4506. (1-c6730-1)

FOR SALE 6B

BOY'S, GIRL'S BICYCLES: Together $50. Cushman Motor Scooter. All good condition. See Emmett Cheek, Route No. 1. (3-6726-1)

FUR COAT, SIZE 16, $20. Electric table model sewing machine $80. Chester drawers, blond maple $15. 220 McCauley St. (3-c6727-1)

SPALDING & REACH BASEBALL gloves; Louisville & Harwood softball equipment. Wholesaler's prices, which is 50 per cent below retail, will prevail. (Gloves $5 up) All wool shrinkless sweat sox, 50c pair. Miscellaneous items. Contact Bill Kucyk, Rec. Room No. 2, Whitehead Dorm, 3-6 daily. (2-6734-2)

BLACK AND WHITE FEMALE PUPS. Part Spitz, other parts doubtful. Call F-5426 anytime. (1-6732-1)

HELP WANTED 8

UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds athletics, and other camp activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

LOST 12

THREE KEYS ON A CHAIN LAST Friday morning. Finder please return to Peggy McKinley, McIver Dorm., phone 7066. (3-6735-1)

RONSON LIGHTER WITH INITIALS H. E. D. on it. Finder please contact H. E. Davis, 302 Grimes. (3-6728-1)

LOST IN MY APARTMENT LAST fall quarter—a ladies wrist watch. See Katherine Carmichael. (1-c6736-1)

RIDERS WANTED 18A

WANT TO RIDE TO NORFOLK FRIday? Call T. L. Patrick at 212 "B" Dorm. (2-6733-1)

WANTED TO RENT 24B

A FURNISHED APARTMENT OR house for summer only—by graduate student and wife. No children. Contact E. M. Lander, Jr., 192 Woodridge, Clemson, S. C. (4-c6737-1)

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
OVER CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

Larger Loans on Anything of Value
DURHAM'S NEWEST AND BEST PAWN SHOP
MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Located 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

Get Acquainted Offer
Mercury Club
10 OUNCE DRAFT BEER 10 CENTS
BOTTLE BEER — 20c
ARROW BEER — 15c bottle
16 Acres to drink it in
HOURS 4-7
MERCURY CLUB
Durham's only student night club operated by students
For students
3 Miles Out On Greensboro Highway

You'll Say
"BEST TEA FOR ME!"
A&P
YET MANY WHO PREFER A&P TEAS
SAVE UP TO 15¢
ON A POUND
SUPER MARKETS

Mild American CHEESE Lb. 41c

A&P TEAS
NECTAR TEA Rich and Flavorful ½-Lb. Pkg. 49c
NECTAR TEA BAGS 48-Ct. Pkg. 43c
OUR OWN TEA Healty and Vigorous ½-Lb. Pkg. 47c
OUR OWN TEA BAGS 48-Ct. Pkg. 39c

FARM FRESH PRODUCE
Apples, Western Winesap 2 for 25c
Tomatoes, Fancy Carton 3 lb. 39c
Carrots, Green Top 2 bunches 15c
Corn, Golden Bantam 4 ears 39c
Lettuce, Large Head 2 for 39c
Onions, Yellow Texas 2 lb. 13c

Jane Parker Mother's Day Cake 8-In. Layer 85c
Marvel Bread SANDWICH 1½-lb. Loaf 18c
Jane Parker DESSERT Shells Pkg. Of Four 13c
Marvel DINNER ROLLS Pkg. of Nine 10c
Jane Parker MOTHER'S DAY CUP CAKES Pkg. of Six 39c

A&P COFFEE
Mild & Mellow 8 O'CLOCK 1-Lb. Bag 40c
3 LB. BAG $1.15
Rich & Full Bodied RED CIRCLE 1-lb. Bag 44c
3 LB. BAG $1.27
Vigorous & Winey BOKAR 1-lb. Bag 47c
3 LB. BAG $1.35

Iona Peas 3 No. 2 Cans 29c
Niblets Brand Corn 2 12-Oz. Cans 35c
Iona Sliced or Halves Peaches No. 2½ Can 27c
Lang's Sweet Mixed Pickles Qt. Bot. 23c
Perfect Strike Chum Salmon No. 1 Can 45c
Iona Tomato Juice 2 No. 2 Cans 19c
Libby's Fruit Cocktail No. 1 Can 23c
A&P Grape Juice Pt. Bot. 19c
Golden Maid Uncolored Margarine 2 1-Lb. Pkgs. 43c
Ann Page Salad Dressing Pt. Jar 25c
Ann Page Strawberry Preserves 1-Lb. Jar 33c
Ann Page—with Pork & Tom. Sauce Beans 16-Oz. Car. 10c
Ann Page Gelatin Desserts Sparkle 3 Pkgs. 20c

"SUPER-RIGHT" MEATS
Sunnyfield Small, Skinned, Whole or Half HAMS lb. .55
Boned and Rolled CHUCK ROAST lb. .59
Morrell's Pride, No. 10 or 12 BACON lb. .49
Center Cuts PORK CHOPS lb. .65
Loin or Rib End PORK ROAST lb. .49
BEEF SHORT RIBS lb. .29
Swift's Premium, 1 lb. cello FRANKS Pkg. .49
FRYERS lb. .50
Large Green SHRIMP lb. .65

FILLETS
PERCH lb. .33
HADDOCK lb. .39
FLOUNDER lb. .49
H & G WHITING lb. .21

SWEETHEART SOAP Bar 8c
CASHMERE BOUQUET SOAP 3 Bars 25c
VEL Pkg. 28c
LUX TOILET SOAP Reg. Bar 8c
SPIC & SPAN 2 Pkgs. 45c
OCTAGON SOAP POWDER Lge. Pkg. 20c
LIFEBUOY SOAP Bar 8c
BLU WHITE FLAKES Pkg. 9c
CRISCO 3-Lb. Can 99c
Roast Meat Thermometer Offer
FLIT Insecticide Pt. Can 23c
Uncle Ben's RICE 1-Lb. Pkg. 22c
Swanson Chicken FRICASSEE 1-Lb. Can 53c
Whitehouse Evap. MILK 3 Tall Cans 34c

EDITOR P.A. Gregory
Serials Dept.
Reason Chapel Hill, N. C.
Check Problem
Poor Subject

The Daily Tar Heel

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. FRIDAY, MAY 6, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 161

WEATHER

Cloudy, not much change in temperature.

Clothes Drive Is Scheduled Here Sunday

BSA to Collect Relief Bundles

"A bundle on every doorstep" might be the slogan of the Used Clothing Campaign this year. Chapel Hill townspeople will have an opportunity to contribute bundles of old clothing to World Relief Sunday afternoon, May 15.

The Boy Scouts, under the leadership of S. Y. Tyree and William Hammett, will collect the clothing in trucks donated by some of the local merchants.

A. C. Howell, chairman of the drive this year, says, "Hundreds of thousands of displaced persons in Europe, victims of war and floods in the Far East and in the islands of the Pacific still need the used clothing of prosperous America. You, through your church, are asked to give what you can in the annual Used Clothing Campaign of the Chapel Hill churches.

"Sunday afternoon, May 15, the Boy Scouts will call at your home to collect any articles of clothing you can give in this worthy cause. Baby's clothing, men's work clothes, suits, overcoats and shoes are most needed. Any articles will be accepted."

Material collected here will be sent to the Warehouse of the Church World Service in New Windsor, Maryland, for shipment abroad.

Bill Freeman has rounded up trucks from the Electric Construction Company, Bennet and Blocksidge, Farmer's Dairy, and Ogburn Furniture which will begin the rounds of the town at 2:30 Sunday afternoon.

The students' drive will begin May 15 and last a week.

School Officials Get Federal Fine In Racial Dispute

RICHMOND, Va., May 5—(UP)—Four Gloucester county school officials were fined $250 each yesterday afternoon for contempt of a federal court order to end racial discrimination in the county school system.

The fines were the result of a suit against the officials sponsored by the national association for the advancement of colored people.

"This case," said Martin A. Martin, local attorney and spokesman for the NAACP, "may help avoid the necessity of our having to file similar suits against other counties."

Martin expressed satisfaction with the fines imposed by Judge Sterling Hutcheson. Martin has asked that a "substantial" fine be levied against the school board.

Judge Hutcheson said his court order against discrimination would continue in effect. He issued the injunction in April 1948.

The suit brought by the NAACP charged that Negro pupils in Gloucester county were not given educational opportunities equal to those given white children. Hutcheson ordered the county to equalize education and the school officials were cited for contempt in January.

Fines were levied yesterday against Stanley T. Gray, school board chairman; J. Walter Kenney, division school superintendent; and board members Wallace Fletcher and Otis Hogge.

Defense attorneys said the school officials were doing everything in their power to equalize education but were hampered by lack of funds.

DURING a recess of her spy trial in Washington, Judith Copton, former Justice Department employee, sits outside the District court and studies a law book. The 27-year old New York woman is accused of stealing national security secrets from the Department of Justice.

Bishop to Speak Here on Sunday For Centennial

The Rt. Rev. Edwin A. Penick, D. D., Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of North Carolina, will deliver the principal address at the Chapel of the Cross here Sunday morning at 11 o'clock when the church celebrates the centennial of its consecration.

Rev. David Yates, rector of the parish, will assist Bishop Penick in the service and will read one lesson. Dr. Archibald Henderson, who serves as church historian, plans to give a brief account of its early years and Dean William Wells, senior warden, will report on present conditions and plans for the future of the parish. A special offering to be taken at the service will be used to repair and improve parts of the old church building.

In honor of the centennial, Mrs. William F. Chester of New York City recently gave the church two silver pitchers in memory of her father Rev. John Joseph Roberts (1819-1908), first supply rector of the Church of the Atonement.

Tom Wolfe Group To Solicit Funds

ASHEVILLE, May 5—(UP)—The State gave the green light today to a fund-raising drive by the Thomas Wolfe Memorial Association in its campaign to commemorate North Carolina's most famous novelist.

The Association got a license from the State Board of Public Welfare to conduct public solicitation. The group plans to purchase the famous home of Wolfe's mother here and turn it into a museum.

Ban on 'Slow Boat' Lifted in England

LONDON, My 5.—(UP)—A ban imposed by the British Broadcasting Company on the song "Slow Boat to China" after British warships were shelled by Chinese Communists on the Yanngtze River was lifted tonight after an American musician called it "absurd."

Larry Adler, an American harmonica artist who has had big successes on British tours, said he could not understand the ban, and he insisted on plying it on a recorded radio show for release Saturday.

BBC officials reluctantly lifted the restriction after Adler's protest wase supported by listeners and critics.

Entries Deadline Extended By TMA

Stunt Night Set for May 16, 17; Groups Have Until Monday to Submit Programs

The deadline on entries for the Town Men's Association stunt night has been extended to 6 p.m. Monday, May 9, Nelson Taylor, TMA president, said yesterday.

Taylor asks that new entries call 7821 or send a check for the $2.50 entrance fee to the Town Men's Association, in care of Graham Memorial.

The admission free stunt night will be staged Monday, May 16 in Memorial Hall. A second performance will be held, if necessary, Tuesday May 17. Special cups will be awarded to the winning stunts.

All sororities, fraternities, dormitories, and any non-theatrical campus organization are eligible to enter a stunt. All stunts must not be over 10 minutes long and may be musical, comedy, tragedy, or develop any theme. No organization may spend more than five dollars on its stunt.

The TMA proposes to make the stunt night an annual affair similar to the stunt nights given by campus organizations at other colleges.

Stryker to Lead Rendezvous Play; To Feature Trio

"Gene" Stryer, Bass man in the Town Talk Trio, will be the writer, announcer, and producer for tonight's Rendezvous radio show.

"Gene," a vet student, and an instructor in the Music Department, has had experience doing radio and floor shows.

Ruth Justice wil sing and the Town Talk Trio will feature special numbers.

Tommy Thomas and Bailey Hobgood, students in the Radio Department, will entertain after the program goes off the air.

Other members of the Town Talk Trio are Jack Sturgill, pianist, and Ed Gaston, clarinettist.

Usual announcer Mark Barker, and director Lib Stoney will be away due to being involved in the Sound and Fury production.

The radio program will begin at 9:30.

Cigarette Award Won by Williams

The winner of the Guess-the-Number - of - Chesterfields - in-the-Jar Contest at the University Restaurant is Thomas J. Williams, junior from Spencer. There were 217 Chesterfields in the jar in the University window.

The contest ran one week and Williams' 219 was the closest guess turned in. He may pick up his prize, two cartons of Chesterfields, by calling Alice Denham, campus Chesterfield representative, at 8066.

New S&F Show To Play Again In Memorial

'Merrily We Love' Continues Tonight

"Merrily We Love," the Sound and Fury musical production review opened last night to an appreciative audience in Memorial hall.

Forrest Covington, author of the all-student show has written "Merrily We Love" to form a framework for the 25 musical numbers written especially for the production by Composer-arranger Frank Matthews.

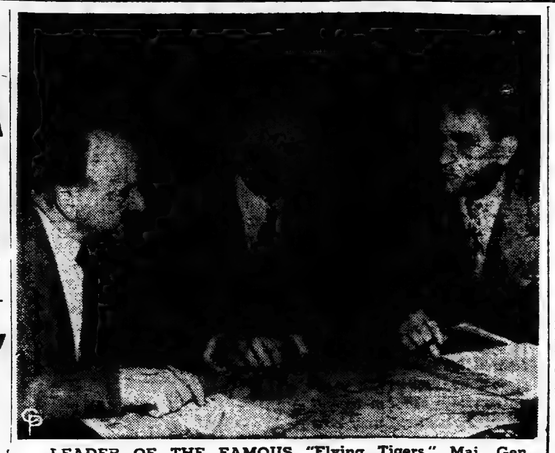
The two have combined their talents to give the audience a show with a light plot, just sufficient to give the story a sequence, and a variety of musical numbers ranging from comic numbers and specialty songs to serious romantic ballads. Matthews has taken one of Robert Burn's best liked poems, "John Anderson My Jo," and set it to music for the show.

A second performance is scheduled for tonight at 8:15.

The cast of the new show is composed of many of the most familiar faces in campus show business. Among these are Betty Lokey from Raleigh, cast as Nancy, the female lead; Mark Barker, from Durham, president of Sound and Fury and director of the show, cast as Quincy, the male lead; William Saunders from Roanoke Rapids, cast as the other male lead.

Miss Lokey has been seen in "Inherit The Wind" and "Egypt Lan." Sanders has appeared in "Beggars Opera," "Egypt Lan," "Apple Tree Farm," and "Mardi Gras."

Others who have appeared in other campus productions are: Lee Noll, Berea, Ky., cast in "Beggar's Opera," Forrest Covington, Washington, who appeared in "Sweep It Clean," and Estelle Ritchie, Boston, who played the comic lead in "Apple Tree Farm."



McAllister Picked On State Board

RALEIGH, May 5—(UP)—Gov. Kerr Scott late yesterday commissioned Harmon Carlyle McAllister of Chapel Hill as a member of the State Board of Pharmacy for a term ending April 28, 1954. McAllister was reelected by the board to succeed himself.

Scott also commissioned Robert Neal Watson of Jonesboro, who was elected by the Board to fill the term of J. G. Ballew of Lenoir, who resigned. The term expires April 28, 1950.

ESTELLE RITCHIE LOOKS ON, above, as Bill Saunders pleads with Betty Lokey in "Merrily We Love," Sound and Fury show which opened in Memorial Hall last night. The show will play again tonight. Curtain time is 8:15.

LEADER OF THE FAMOUS "Flying Tigers," Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault (right), former air force commander in China, confers in Washington with Sen. Harry Byrd (D-Va.), left, and chairman Millard Tydings (D-Md.), of the Senate Armed Services Committee. Testifying before a closed hearing, Chennault declared that $350,000,000 in U. S. aid at once would save the interior of China from Communist domination.

French To Give Address In Hill Thursday Night

Forum to Sponsor NAM Relations Chief; Will Speak on Management-Labor Views

Carroll E. French, Director of Industrial Relations of the National Association of Manufacturers will speak in Hill Hall next Thursday evening, May 12, at 8:30 o'clock, John Sanders, Chairman of the Carolina Forum announced yesterday.

Mr. French, who has held his position since March 8, 1946, has chosen as his subject "Management Views the National Labor Policy," one which will be of timely interest to students as Mr. French is highly qualified to give an authoritative picture of the side of management in the important fields of Labor-Management relations and policy.

Upon completion of graduate work in the field of labor economics at Johns Hopkins University, French entered the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey where, for a period of twelve years, he was engaged in various capacities in the field of industrial relations and personnel work.

In 1935 he joined Industrial Relations Counselors, Inc., and for nine years was engaged in research, counselling, and survey work with this organization. For a period of two years during the war, he was Director of Industrial Relations for Boeing Aircraft Company in Seattle, Washington, after which time he assumed his present position with N.A.M.

Newsome Article In Encyclopedia

Albert Ray Newsome, head of the history department at the University is among the contributors to the 1949 Book of the Year, according to Walter Yust, editor-in-chief of the Encyclopædia Britannica publications. Professor Newsome contributed the article on North Carolina.

The Britannica Book of the Year is the annual summary of the preceding year's major events and discoveries published by the Encyclopædia Britannica, Inc. It is a source book of current information and is an aid to owners of the Encyclopædia Britannica in keeping up to date.

Talk Cancelled

The lecture by Professor Linton in Alumni building last night was called off yesterday after the speaker suffered a heart attack. The Institute of Research in Social Science, which was to sponsor Linton, received word of his illness yesterday morning.

Professor Linton was to discuss "Recent Trends in the Study of Man." He is Professor of anthropology at Yale University, and is the leading anthropologist in the U.S.

Phi to Debate On Abolishment Of Government

Speaker pro-tem Emily Baker announced yesterday that the Philanthropic Assembly will conduct a forum type debate on abolishing student government in Phi Hall, New East from 7:30 until 9:00 next Monday night.

Dean D. D. Carroll and Bob Coulter have been invited to lead the affirmative and Dean Fred Weaver and Charlie Britt have asked to support the present self-governing system.

The forum has been scheduled in conjuncture with a membership rally. Miss Baker urged all members, inactive members, former members, and future members to attend the assembly.

The recent action taken by dissatisfied students at Elon College in dissolving their student government was the origin of the idea by some Carolina students that U.N.C. take similar steps, according to one Phi member.

Due to the Young Democratic Club rally on Tuesday night the Assembly voted to move the debate up to Monday evening. Speaker Bill Duncan will serve as moderator of the forum.

Senators Reject New Amendment To Education Aid

WASHINGTON, May 5—(UP)—The Senate today rejected by voice vote a proposal to write into its education-aid bill a provision to make school transportation funds available for students of private and parochial schools, as well as public schools.

Sen. Brien McMahon (D.-Conn.) offered the unsuccessful amendment as the Senate pushed toward passage of the bill to provide $300,000,000 a year in federal education grants to states.

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R.-O.) said the McMahon proposal conflicted with "the basic theory of the bill"—that the federal government will not interfere with the states in their administration of education programs.

McMahon countered that Congress did not "discriminate" in its school lunch and school health programs. He said use of federal funds for school transportation costs does not violate the constitutional separation of church and state under Supreme Court constitutional separation of church and state under Supreme Court rulings.

He pointed out that the formula for determining state allotments under the bill itself is determined by a census of all children in each state 5 to 17 years old.

Solons Squabble On Appointment Of Gran Childress

Presidential Appointment of Childress To Head NSA Committee Is Postponed

A dull session of the Student Legislature woke up last night to find itself in the middle of a verbal brawl over President Bill Mackie's appointment of Gran Childress as chairman of the campus National Students Association Committee.

Childress, chairman of the Student Party, was called "a man who has taken charge of certain things only to kill them" by Jim Southerland, a former member of the Legislature (CP) who obtained the privileges of the floor to attack the Mackie appointee.

The student solons finally voted to postpone consideration of the appointment until next week's session, after more than one-half hour of squabbling over several related motions.

Southerland took the floor to state that he had been working on the NSA purchase card system for some time, and he did not want to see it get into the hands of anyone who did not have its best interests at heart.

"I have seen Mr. Childress put personal gain over the good of the student body," Southerland concluded.

Speaker Ted Leonard, ruling last night's session with an iron hand, then recognized several legislators, including Bill Prince, Sol Kimerling, Graham Jones, all SP, and Marshall Roberts (UP), who spoke in defense of Childress and urged the immediate approval of the appointment.

Dave Sharpe (UP) moved to postpone consideration of the appointment until the next legislative session, the motion which was later passed to end the appointment fight.

Emily Sewell (SP) made an out-of-order motion for a closed session, which she repeated even after Sharpe's motion was passed. She charged that legislator Hal Darden (CP), an ardent protagonist of the move to postpone consideration, was receiving "cues

(See LEGISLATURE, page 4)

Eight Members Picked by Di Wednesday

Initiation Slated For Next Meeting

One coed and eight men were elected to membership in the Dialectic Senate during its executive session Wednesday night, Don Shropshire, Di president, announced yesterday.

The new members are Betty Pleasants, Bob Clampitt, Archie Myatt, Edgar Williams, Joe Clark, Ed Hatch, Jack Roland, Bill Roth, and J. C. Rush.

The new members will be initiated in a public ceremony next Wednesday night.

The Di voted down its regular discussion bill which would have put the Di on record as favoring a federal Fair Employment Practices Commission. There was considerable heated discussion with strong support for both sides, but the bill was defeated by a large majority.

Supporting the bill were John Sanders, Cliff Horton, Toby Selby, Bill Harding, and Murry Goldenthal. Opposing FEPC were Joe Clark, J. C. Rush, Artie Murphey, Tom Mayfield, Edgar Williams, Jim Southerland, Jim McLean, and Bill Roth.

A substitute bill introduced by Sam Manning was also defeated. The substitute favored a FEPC with powers to investigate but not regulate employment.

A resolution which favored the granting of United Nations membership and economic aid to the state of Israel was discussed briefly but heatedly. It was refered back to the Ways and Means Committee with the recommendation that it be made the topic for the next discussion meeting.

Morehead Ducats Will Go on Sale

Advanced ticket sales for Morehead Planetarium shows will go on sale Monday, it was announced yesterday by Director Roy K. Marshall.

The heavy demand for tickets to the initial shows at the building is expected to make it difficult to obtain seats without buying tickets now. Admission charges are 38 cents for adults and 18 cents for children under 12.

Requests for tickets should be addressed to ticket sales at the planetarium and must be accompanied by remittance to cover cost of the tickets requested.

Pi Lambda Plans Sunday Program

A special Mother's Day program will be featured at the Pi Lambda Phi house this Sunday. Mothers of all brothers and pledges have been invited to attend an open house. Many have indicated that they will attend. A tour of the campus is one of several activities planned.

Parents will be presented with flowers, and will be feted at a special dinner Sunday evening. Parents are expected from many sections of the State and several will arrive from more distant parts. The arrangements are under the direction of a committee headed by Alan Susman, and including Bill Kingoff, Lennis Guyes, Irv Fox, Stan Fox, Paul Roth and Barry Farber.

TMA Elects Hebb To Presidency; Others Elected

Ralph K. Hebb, junior from Auburndale, Fla., yesterday was elected to the position of President of the Town Men's Association by acclamation, succeeding incumbent Nelson Taylor. Elections were held at the regular bi-weekly meeting of the Association.

Ben James, of Jacksonville, Fla., won out in the vice presidental race over Tom Carter, and Skip Hoyle of Chapel Hill defeated Alex Sessons for the post of treasurer. Harry Pendergraft, also of Chapel Hill, was elected secretary. Pendergraft was opposed by incumbent Dan McLaughlin.

Nominations subject to review by the TMA Executive Committee at its next session on Tuesday are: Ben James, University Club representative; Dave Sharpe, Graham Memorial Board of Directors and Bob Padrick as TMA representative to the Dance Committee.

Members-at-large to the TMA Executive Committee, elected by acclamation: Alex Sessons, Bob Padrick and Nelson Taylor.

All newly elected officers will be inaugurated at the next regular meeting of the Association, Thursday, May 19.

Plans were completed at the meeting for the combined TMA-Town Girl's Association picnic to be held this afternoon. Both new and old members who desire transportation to Hogan's Lake should assemble outside Graham Memorial at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Rides will be available at that time, publicity director Don Maynard said yesterday.

There will be a softball game preceeding the picnic.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... C. B. MENDENHALL

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. - Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ... Caroline Bruner
Ads. Mgr. ... Oliver Watkins

Circ. Mgr. ... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ... James A. Mills

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack Engelhardt, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor, Ronald Tilley.

Business Staff—Jane Griffin, Betty Huston, Jackie Burke, Trish Denning, Ann Green, Neal Cadieu, Bootsie Taylor, Alan Susman, Erwin Goldman, John DeLoach, John Ross, Sonny Smith, Blake Leckie, Don Stanford.

Circulation Staff—Neill Clegg, Asst.; M. J. White, Joe Wratten, Andy Symmes, Robert Graham.

Society Staff—Lynn Hammock, Jane Gower, Gloria McLeroy.

Night Editor: Roy Parker, Jr. Night Sports: Buddy Vaden

Poor Subject For Debate

Student government at the University of North Carolina is steadily spreading its fame throughout the Southern states. Recently, Dean of Students Fred Weaver and former Student Body President Jess Dedmond were called to nearby Elon College to discuss the success of our student government before the student body there.

A week or so later, the students at Elon drew up and approved a new student constitution which is "a replica of the one now in operation at the University of North Carolina", according to a news release. The faculty members have approved the proposed constitution and it is expected that the Elon trustees will approve it at a Board meeting May 30.

Now, Weaver and Dedmond have been invited to the University of Mississippi to discuss student life on the college campus. Dean Weaver will speak on "Student Government Philosphy". The purpose of the meeting is to rework a program in student government, fraternity and sorority life, honor system, housing problems and other forms of student life.

Students at the University here can take pride that our student government has been so successful and effective that other schools are seeking our advice.

It is with a touch of irony, then, that students will read of a proposed debate before the Philanthropic Assembly Monday night for the purpose of debating whether or not student government should be abolished here. One Phi member has been reported as starting that the idea for debate sprang from the action at Elon which abolished their limited government. Before the Phi members plan their debate, they should realize that that argument is a bit ridiculous, since the new Elon government is based on Carolina's.

Check Cashing Problem

Here it is the first of the month and again checks from the Veterans' Administration and home are pouring into the campus. And the usual rush is being made to the "Y" to get those checks cashed in order to pay bills and buy the necessities of college life.

Hundreds of students, who have heavy schedules with classes from nine until one and can't get to the bank, must rely on the check-cashing service at the "Y".

This service is usually very good and, of course, is very convenient. However, the last few days have seen the check-cashing window run out of money several times a day. Some students have been forced to borrow money from friends or bother local merchants, who do not as a rule like to cash checks, in order to get a little cash on hand.

If the "Y" check-cashing service would forsee the big runs on their cash, the window probably wouldn't run out of money as often. As long as people are going to rely on the "Y" and the service continues to be offered, the powers that be should see to it that enough money is drawn each day to cover the checks that are presented. —F.A

Reason For It All

It seems that yesterday's editorial criticizing the male students for sloppy dressing and praising the neat attire of the coeds has precipitated considerable comment. The column was designed merely to express the coed viewpoint on the matter of wearing T-shirts, dungarees, not-shaving, and not-combing one's hair for class.

But today, one Y-court wag provided the best retort which the boys have turned up with yet. His laconic answer was, "The women are trying to get married. We ain't!"

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, May 4—After shopping around, trying to find a trap large enough and classy enough, Attroney General Tom Clark is going to throw his big annual birthday party for President Truman Saturday night in a museum.

As previously reported in this splendid pillar of information, the Attorney General had originally reserved the 1925 F Street Club for the Presidential natal whooperoo. But, as political heat caused the guest list to expand, he had to search around for more spacious quarters.

Now it isn't publicized, but there's a museum in this great Capital which the top executives of government may borrow for an evening if they can convince the Board of Trustees the function they are about to use it for is sufficiently. And feeding and feting Mr. Truman is considered of triple-A priority importance.

This elegant repository is known as the Anderson House, having been built by Larz Anderson, former ambassador to Japan and minister to Belgium, who departed this life in March, 1937. His widow presented it to the Sons of the Cincinnati, national patriotic society, which turned it into a museum for revolutionary relics.

It seems only fair that our servants of the people have the use of the place, other than to stare at the old swords, because us taxpayers are carrying some of the freight. Congress passed a law in 1938 exempting it from taxation.

The magnificent mansion—a palace, really—is located at 2118 Massachusetts Ave. N.W., on Embassy Row, in case you are invited there Saturday night and want to tell the bus driver where to let you off.

Some of the irreverent refer to it as the "Plow House" because the Sons of the Cincinnati took the name from the Roman general, Lucius Quintus Cincinnati, who returned to his plow after fighting victoriously for the Roman Empire, instead of sticking around to be heaped with honors.

If you have been able to apply sufficient pressure upon the Attorney General to wangle an invitation—and you must be practically a Republican if you haven't—here are some of the things you will see after entering the white-marble mausoleum:

A heroic-sized Buddha in the doorway; 15th Century Flemish tapestries; a set of ancient Italian choir stalls; a lacquer and gold box presented by The emperor of Japan (not the current one).

Gold - encrusted uniforms, cloaks and swords; and a collection of hats of the world hung at intervals along the rear staircase. The one Mr. Truman threw in the ring last year has not been added to the collection.

The Shock Was Too Great

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

— Trivia and Tripe —

Hollywood Again

By Bob Sturdivant

Hollywood has done it again! That "Little Women" is without a doubt the number one atrocity to come out of the mill in quite some time. After sitting through two soggy, clinging hours because he "wasn't gonna let that movie get the best of him," Andy Shveda announced plans for an annual Margaret O'Brien Day to be celebrated by dancing in the streets to the music of Johnny Bothwell and his orchestra.

He seems to think Bothwell and O'Brien would merit one another. Frank Moore, Chesterfield representative and iminent contemporary of Tookie Hodgson, took issue with Shveda and defended la O'Brien with gallantry. What else could you expect from Moore, though, he's such a boor!

* * *

We understand that the Alpha Gams are looking for a low-salaried custodian to keep their swing in good repair. That poor swing must have a hard time; seems to stay broken about half the time. They might also try cutting the grass. It's getting so tall that when someone strays off the beaten path, they have to send out search parties to find the search parties. For this they'll probably make me cut it.

* * *

There seems to be some dissention in the Tar Heel ranks between the sports staff and the editorial staff over the briefness of several of the recent editorials. If the condition isn't remedied, Billy Carmichael threatens to follow the lead of those fearless letter writers and under the sports staff heading put, "names withheld by requests." A member of the other faction keeps wanting to know who this guy Jupiter Pluvius is and why he insists on calling off all the ball games.

* * *

We hear that the budding young travel agency of Jim Blanchard and Don Latta is on the rocks after certain escapades this past weekend. It seems that they left for the beach early in the morning, but became separated near Raleigh and didn't see each other again for a couple of days.

Reports have it that one of the partners smelled salt water as far up as our cap. city and didn't deem it necessary, to continue while others maintain that the Carolina Hotel was mistaken for its beach name sake and served as a harbor in the storm. Whatever the reason, the Lambda Chis are taking steps to prevent the reoccurrence of such a mistake by briefing all members on beach roads before every weekend.

* * *

In order to settle the controversy over the KA and Chi Phi fraternity bands (if the latter does have a band. And if not, they should get one; it might prove embarrassing,) as to which came firstess with the bestess, we would like to suggest a contest to be held somewhere far away from Chapel Hill. Then make it sort of a field day, but let us know when it happens so we can head for Montreal.

To The Editor

NC SYMPHONY

Editor:

The North Carolina Symphony Orchestra has established a spirit of deep appreciation for music within this state. For the orchestra to know that their performances bring to people some joy, beauty, inspiration is, no doubt, a source of great comfort and satisfaction to each of them.

One wishes that one could express one's gratitude for the presence of so serious an organization. It is no use fooling anyone; music is a hard profession; few people realizing that even ordinary players in any decent orchestra have studied for years and years.

It is not essential that one be a musician to get out of music all that music can give. There are "amateurs," whose joys are absolute, who are such just because they listen to the music they want when they want, who read so often professionals, to a certain extent, take a "blase" attitude towards an art that cannot be approached without complete enthusiasm, without complete love.

It is heartening to realize the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, the very existence of which is living expression of democratic intelligence, refinement, simplicity.

Bryan Bray

In case you haven't heard it here is one of the latest making the rounds: Mary had a little lamb, both are doing as well as can be expected. What drives us to print these things?

— Stumping It —

Attack On Byrd

By John Stump

Harry F. Byrd, Virginia's senior United States senator was the victim of an undeserved and canine-like attack in the Raleigh News and Observer's edition of Wednesday morning.

Apparently looking for the most odorous name, he could attach to Byrd, the Raleigh rag's editorial writer came up with Republican. The provocation seemed to be the Senator's courageous refusal to be blackmailed by Tom Pendergast's boy Harry, which, to any employee of Harry's friend Jonathan Daniels, must have seemed heresy.

The background of the controversy is this:

Our President became incensed a short while ago at the refusal of the Southland's statesmen to rubber stamp his legislative program.

Feeling that he had a mandate from whatever fraction of the minority of the voting citizens of the last election had favored his planned economy and that that mandate compelled him to take orders from Lewis, Petrillo, Murray, Curran, Brieges, and company, Mr. Truman was unable to understand that most of the Congress received its support from the non-Socialist majority of the working people of the country.

Accordingly, he reverted to his Pendergast days and, in one of the most shocking statements made by a President since his predecessor declared his intention to purge Senators Norris, George, and others in 1938, Truman declared that the Southern senators would come into line or receive not one drop of the patronage of the Federal government.

Shortly after this proclamation, Senator Byrd announced that no one including the President of the United tSates could either buy him off or blackmail him and that he would continue to serve his nation and the people of Virginia not those of Kansas City or New York or wherever President Truman thinks his directors live.

If Josephus Daniels were still living, it is doubtful that the News and Observer would ever have printed such an editorial as the one referred to. However, his son is no Wilsonian Democrat and would seem to be unable to see the difference between the Democratic party and the New Deal.

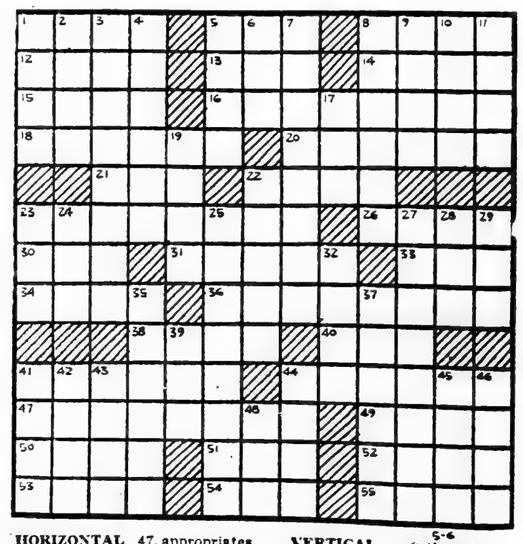
But regardless of one's stand on the program presented by Mr. Truman to the senate, we do not see how any intelligent Southerner can disagree with Senator Byrd's refusal to cheat his state and its people out of honest and true representation in Washington in return for a cheap political payoff.

* * *

Judging from the protest coming from members of the councils and other interested parties, colleague Charles McCorkle fouled up a tad bit his report of the "rumors" surrounding the recent disputed honor case.

Specifically, his statement that any decent court would throw out a case of any of the miscarriages of justice he referred to had occurred was sound. However, the student council did just that by entertaining a motion for a retrial and then rehearing the case.

Student council chairman Dan Bell has made an attempt to round up the other facts tangled by McCorkle's report of the controversial case. Pending his report, we won't risk continuing the flow of misinformation.



However, we would like to observe in connection with McCorkle's expressed fear that his "rumors" would sour students on the judiciary that if is just such cavalier disregard of the facts as he exhibited which sours the student body on many of student government's operations.

But, in any event, yesterday's news story and Bell's report when it comes out will, we hope, clear the air and unsour those students who have begun to wonder just what is going on in the councils.

* * *

Nat Williams and Andy Cornish were, as this column was being written, preparing a bill to introduce to the Legislature which, if passed, would appropriate about $4,000 to the student activities office for bookkeeping machinery.

Although this is a large appropriation, it is hard to question its merits. It will lighten the load on Mr. Kear and his associates in the Activities fund office and lessen the chance of financial mix-ups.

HORIZONTAL
1. European mountains
5. distant
8. Irish playwright
12. sharp
13. cyprinoid fish
14. gait
15. god of love
16. mended
18. altar seat
20. pierces
21. grape
22. poker stake
23. person deceased
26. hit with open hand
30. grow old
31. more rational
33. palm leaf (var.)
34. bog (Scot.)
36. makes less dense
38. snares
40. river island
41. Flathead Indian
44. seniors
47. appropriates (hyphen.)
49. fall in drops
50. dye indigo
51. goddess of dawn
52. smooth
53. fling about
54. reverential fear
55. rim

VERTICAL
1. Luzon Negritos
2. crippled
3. yields
4. endeavor
5. conflagration
6. American humorist
7. sorrower for sin
8. thwarts
9. rabbit
10. the maple
11. marries
17. insect
19. youths
22. British-Indian monetary units
23. female parent
24. personality
25. a fabaceous vine
27. delayed
28. malt beverage
29. dance step
32. Mexican coin
35. long speeche (colloq.)
37. violin
39. doctrine
41. gaiter
42. river in Italy
43. Hawaiian garlands
44. being
45. resound
46. German Admiral
48. pull along

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 25 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate Inc.

AL CAPP
L'il Abner

Steve Canyon
MILTON CANIFF

Beerology Class Tonight — at HARRY'S

Varsity, Freshman Nines Post Wins

Cassell Credited With 6-3 Victory; Meet W & L Today

BLACKSBURG, Va., May 5—The University of North Carolina defending Southern Conference champion baseball team today blasted the Gobblers of Virginia Tech to a 6-3 defeat. Curve-Balling Dean Cassell was credited with the win.

Tomorrow afternoon the Tar Heels will move to Lexington where they will meet the Generals of Washington and Lee.

Shortstop Ripper Ryan was the big wheel in the Tar Heel attack as he literally ripped the Tech pitchers apart for four costly hits in four official trips to the plate.

The Carolinians scored early at the expense of starting pitcher Troy Moore. Stan Goodman and Ryan singled and executed a double steal. Catcher Sid Varney singled to drive in the first pair of runs. Before the day was over, he knocked in two more and collected two hits, one of them a double. Ed Lamb followed Varney with a single that brought the Tar Heel receiver across the plate for the third run.

In the next inning the Tar Heels scored again when Zero Allen was walked and went to third on a two-base error by Catcher John Hawes. Goodman was put out at first and Allen scored on the play. Ryan walked and Varney doubled him in.

Tech came back in the fifth with a run after Bill Kean had homered with none on in the second. Singles by Payne and Kean and a double play ball hit by Slayton scored Payne.

Kean collected his second homer of the day with none on in the seventh to finish the Gobblers for the day.

In the top of the ninth Ryan tripled and then came home when Woodie Slayton started to play jackstones with the ball out in left field.

Ripper Rips!

Carolina	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Allen, cf	3	1	0	2	0	0
Goodman, 2b	3	1	1	2	0	1
Ryan, ss	4	3	4	1	4	0
Varney, c	5	1	2	10	0	0
Lamb, rf	4	0	1	4	0	0
Senter, 3b	0	0	0	0	0	0
Brookshire, 3b	3	0	0	0	1	0
Ward, lf	3	0	0	2	0	0
Hobbs, 1b	3	0	0	6	0	0
Cassell, p	3	0	0	0	1	0
TOTALS	32	6	8	27	8	1

V.P.I.	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Payne, 3b	5	1	1	0	1	0
Kean, ss	5	2	4	1	2	0
Slayton, lf	5	0	2	3	0	1
Mervin, rf	2	0	0	1	0	0
Smith, cf	4	0	0	6	0	0
Clayton, 2b	4	0	1	2	2	0
Struhan, 1b	1	0	0	2	0	0
Vassar, 1b	2	0	0	4	0	0
Hawes, c	3	0	1	7	0	2
Moore, p	0	0	0	1	0	0
Nolan, p	2	0	0	0	1	0
a—Schadel	1	0	0	0	0	0
b—Barlow	1	0	1	0	0	0
TOTALS	35	3	10	27	6	3

a—Struck out for Vassar in 5th.
b—Singled for Nolan in 9th.

Score by innings:

CAROLINA	320	000	001—6
V.P.I.	001	010	100—3

Runs batted in: Varney 4, Goodman, Kean 2, Slayton; two-base hits: Varney, Ryan; three-base hits: Ryan; home runs: Kean 2; stolen bases: Goodman, Ryan 2, Allen, Slayton, Ward; double plays: Goodman-Hoobs Ryan-Goodman-Hobbs (2); left on base: V.P.I. (7), North Carolina (7); bases on balls: Moore 3, Cassell 3; strike outs: Nolan 7, Cassell 8; hits off: Moore 5 in 1 2-3 innings, Nolan 3 in 7 1-3 innings; hit by: Cassell (Slayton, Mervin); wild pitches: Nolan, Cassell; passed ball: Varney; losing pitcher: Moore; umpires: Stevens and Teberall; time: 2:45; attendance: 750.

State Pistol Tourney Scheduled for Durham

All of the top-ranking small marksmen in the state will journey to Durham over May 21 and 22 to participate in the Third Annual North Carolina Pistol and Revolver Championship matches that will be held in a two day tourney at the Durham Pistol and Rifle Club range on the Pickett Road, seven miles west of Durham.

The Durham organization is sponsoring the meet and has issued an invitation to all who would like to participate. The entry fee is only a dollar and all local students interested in the competition should contact Jim Copperidge, 205 W. University Drive, for further information.

Tar Babys Collect Fifth Win, 6-4; Meet Salisbury

By Wuff Newell

A four hit three run rally in the last of the seventh put the Tar Heel freshman baseball team sufficiently ahead yesterday to defeat Greensboro High School, 6-4, for their fifth win of the season.

The visitors completely dominated the first three innings. Stanley, the first batter to face pitcher Charles Bridger reached first on the left fielder's error. Brown struck out and Hale hit a single to Stanley on second. After Burtner had popped out to Reeves, Johnson got a single which scored Stanley. Beasley then singled to score Johnson and end the Greensboro scoring until the seventh.

Carolina's first run came as a result of singles by Mark Herring and Russell Whiteheart. Herring singled, advanced to second on an error by Burtner, and later scored when Stewart flew out to rightfield.

In the fourth inning, Edward Norris reached first on an error, advanced to second on a sacrifice hit by Bridger, and scored when Whiteheart was put out at first.

In the sixth inning Monroe Johnson replaced Bridger on the mound for Carolina.

The Tar Babies didn't score again until the seventh. Ben Smith, Bill Lambert, Charles Overman and Bill Reeves all singled and the first three came in home for a three run rally which brought to a close Carolina's scoring and won the game for the Tar Heel yearlings.

Greensboro scored again in the seventh when Johnson singled, stole second and was put out on a fielder's choice. Beasley, who reached first on the fielder's choice, came in home when Enochs reached third on an error by Lambert.

Murrey then was put out on a short hit to the pitcher to end the ball game.

Big Seventh!

Greensboro	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Stanley, 3b	4	1	1	6	1	0
Lewis, ss	3	0	0	4	1	0
Brown, ss	1	0	0	0	0	0
Hale, lf	4	1	0	1	4	0
Burtner, cf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Johnson, p	4	1	2	2	0	1
Beasley, c	4	1	1	4	0	0
Enochs, 1b	3	1	0	1	0	1
Murrey, rf	4	0	1	5	0	0
Butler, 2b	3	0	0	0	1	0
TOTALS	36	5	5	27	8	2

Carolina	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Herring, 2b	4	2	2	7	0	0
Whiteheart, 3b	3	0	2	0	2	0
Stewart, cf	4	0	0	1	0	2
Smith, 1b	5	1	1	1	0	2
Lambert, rf	4	1	0	3	0	1
Overman, c	4	1	0	2	0	1
Reeves, lf	4	0	1	1	0	0
Norris, ss	4	0	0	8	0	0
Bridger, p	2	0	0	0	0	0
Johnson, p	1	0	0	1	1	0
TOTALS	35	5	6	24	3	6

Score by innings:

GREENSBORO	200	000	101—4
NORTH CAROLINA	001	200	30x—6

Runs batted in: Johnson, Beasley, Enochs, Murray, Herring, Whiteheart, Stewart, Overman, Reeves. Three base hit: Herring. Left on bases: Carolina 12, Greensboro 4. Stolen bases: Reeves 2, Stewart, Enochs. Hit by pitcher, by—Johnson (Stewart). Bases on balls: off Johnson, S. 5, Bridger, 1. Strike outs: S. Johnson 8, Bridger 2, M. Johnson 3. Winning pitcher: M. Johnson. Losing pitcher: S. Johnson. Umpires: Murray and Williams. Time: 2:10.

Large Turnout Opens New Fencing Program

The first meeting of the University fencing club was deemed a success last Wednesday night when over 30 aspirants turned out for the introductory session.

Classes will be held beginning next week each Monday and Wednesday night at 7:30 on the main floor of Woollen Gym, it was announced by director Franz Ross. All persons, from beginners up, are invited.

Next Wednesday night a special demonstration by a group of fencers from Raleigh will be held.

TRACK PICTURE

The Track team will have its picture made this afternoon at 4:15 on Fetzer Field. Instruction track movies will be shown from 2 until 4 o'clock today in 304 Woollen.

Golfers Seeking Revenge in Match With State Today

A round of revenge will be the effort of the Carolina gof team this afternoon at Hope Valley when the local linksmen attempt to even the score with State College for a 17-10 defeat inflicted early this season.

The first foursome will go out at 1:30.

The Tar Heels, playing their home course, should be afforded the same advantage today that the Wolfpack had in the first match played over the rocky Raleigh Country Club layout. That factor makes the Carolinians slight favorites.

Harvie Ward, the perennial No. 1 man for the Tar Heels, will lead off the first foursome this afternoon playing with Bob Cox, his regular partner.

The second foursome will also include the same two Carolina swingers that have started every match this season—Roy McKenzie at No. 3 and Jack Brantley at No. 4.

Oliver Sapp at No. 5 and Frank Brooks at the No. 6 post finish out the Carolina sextet. Sapp is the biggest Tar Heel point winner next to Ward for the season.

The Wake Forest match scheduled for yesterday at Raleigh will be played tomorrow at the Old Town Country Club in Winston-Salem.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

Varsity Netters Blank Wesleyan; Yearlings Shutout Presbyterian

MIDDLETOWN, CONN., MAY 5—The powerful University of North Carolina tennis team blanked Wesleyan College here today, 9-0. The touring Carolinians will leave here tonight and move over to New Haven for a match with Yale University there tomorrow afternoon.

Playing in excellent weather before a large crowd the Tar Heels made it win number 20 without defeat. However, the Carolina win streak will meet its strongest test day after tomorrow when the face the West Side Tennis Club at Long Island, N. Y.

The Tar Heels were never pushed in winning their second victory of the year over Wesleyan. No match went to three sets and no set lasted more than ten games.

The summary:

Singles: Seixas defeated Salaun 6-1, 6-4; Taylor defeated Buschmann 6-2, 6-2; Gruner defeated Phillips 6-4, 6-2; Rice defeated Young 6-1, 6-4; Wilder defeated Schliemann 6-3, 6-2; Dameron defeated Haller 6-1, 6-3.

Doubles: Seixas and Taylor defeated Salaun and Buschmann 6-2, 6-1; Gruner and Winstead defeated Norton and Phillips 6-1, 6-4; Rice and Wilder defeated Haller and Young 6-1, 6-0.

Weightlifters Meet

Carolina's weightlifting team will make its home debut tonight at 8 o'clock in Woollen Gym against Davidson College's musclemen. This is the first meet of its kind ever to be held at Carolina.

The locals invaded Davidson last week, but returned on the short end of a 2,775-2,730 score. However, the Tar Heels will be out for revenge tonight, and a close meet can be expected.

The starting five for the locals are: Charlie Ufen, Darrell Byerly, David Littlejohn, Ronald Sullivan, and Keg Wheeler.

MAJOR LEAGUE SCORES

National League

Brooklyn 7, Cincinnati 5
St. Louis 3, Philadelphia 2
New York 3, Pittsburgh 1

American League

Cleveland 7, Boston 3
New York 7, Chicago 5
Detroit 6 Philadelphia 5
Washington at St. Louis (night)

CAROLINA – DUKE
DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL BLDV
TODAY
THRILLING!... DEATH VALLEY IN Color
75c Per Car
Shows at 7:15 & 9:15

It was a perfect day for tennis here at Chapel Hill yesterday, but it was a bad day all around for the Presbyterian Junior College netters. They were shut out 9-0 by Coach Jack Kenfield's freshman squad.

In the singles Jim Hammerstein started off Carolina's perfect day by beating James Toney, 6-1, 6-3, but he received a slight ankle injury in the process and was unable to compete in the doubles.

Charlie Duval followed with a 6-3, 6-2 win over Runyan, while Cecil Milton came through 6-0, 6-3 over Boovy.

Shahen Haroutunian, Carolina freshman from Iran and rated as the number two tennis man in that country, handed Calhoun a 6-0, 6-1 defeat. Bret Smith and Bob Litton added the other two singles wins.

Hammerstein defeated Toney, 6-1, 6-3. Duval defeated Runyan, 6-3, 6-2. Milton defeated Boovy 6-0, 6-3. Haroutunian defeated Calhoun, 6-0 6-1. Smith defeated Macduffie, 6-0, 6-1. Litton defeated Baggatt, 6-0, 6-2.

Smith - Haroutunian defeated Toney-Calhoun, 6-2, 10-8. Milton-Duval defeated Runyan-Macduffie, 6-1, 6-3. Redding-Litton defeated Baggatt-Boovy, 1-6, 6-4, 6-1.

BETSY ROSS
LOUISE HORNER
GENE FRANCES CARAHER
BETTY SMITH
PATTY ANN FRIZELL
GENE HINES
PEGGE MISENHEIMER
PEGGY MARTIN
BOBBIE BESS
LORAINE HOWARD

Have you cast your ballot for your "Miss Fashion Plate of 1949"?

Time is running out! Have you cast your vote for your very own "Miss Fashion Plate of 1949"?

If not, you'd better clip your ballot now! This Revlon contest closes midnight, May 6th.

Here's a review of the prizes! First! The candidate you pick will have a chance at the Grand Prize (one week expense-free trip to New York plus a Revlon make-up course) ...or one of the 9 runner-up prizes ... an opportunity to represent Revlon on campus next fall, plus a year's supply of cosmetics.

Choose your candidate on 4 counts only ... grooming, dress, poise, and personality.

Clip your ballot today! Drop in ballot box in this newspaper office or other locations on campus. There's a panel of beauty authorities all ready and waiting to see if your candidate will be the national Grand Prize winner.

I nominate .....
for "MISS FASHION PLATE of 1949," a contest sponsored by the Revlon Products Corporation.
NAME .....
All ballots become the property of the Revlon Products Corporation

GRAND PRIZE
One week's expense-free trip to New York, plus a training course by REVLON, plus a chance to become a glamorous model!

for all
REVLON PRODUCTS
in Chapel Hill
See
SUTTON'S Drug Store
"A Complete Drug Store"
Walgreen Agency

It's an Elgin for graduate
William Carlton Mitchell
M.I.T. '49

"HE'LL BE PROUD OF ITS SMART STYLING," says his MOTHER. "He wants an Elgin ... and this Elgin is the handsomest man's watch I've ever seen."

"HE'S SURE TO APPRECIATE THE VALUE OF THAT MAINSPRING," says his FATHER. "New, better, the DuraPower Mainspring is exactly the kind of thing that appeals to Bill."

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Robie L. Mitchell, of Garden City, New York, Bill is majoring in Civil Engineering, is Chairman of the Budget Committee, and Treasurer of the Institute Committee.

Lord and Lady Elgins are priced from $67.50 to $5,000. Elgin De Luxe from $47.50 to $67.50. Other Elgins at low as $29.75, including Federal Tax

This year it will be an Elgin for thousands of graduates. For these new Elgins are truly style leaders ... thrillingly distinctive. And only an Elgin has the DuraPower Mainspring that eliminates 99% of watch repairs due to steel mainspring failures.

For a top graduation gift, suggest that you'd like an Elgin ... an Elgin with the DuraPower symbol on the dial.

The genius of America to wear on your wrist

Only an ELGIN has the DuraPower Mainspring

Pending. Made of "Elgiloy" metal.

West's Culture Assailed As Soviet Schools Open

LONDON, Sept. 1—A new school year began in Russia today and Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, exhorted teachers to fill their students with "profound contempt for bowing and scraping before the bourgeois culture of the West."

A Pravda editorial, broadcast by the Moscow radio, said teachers had failed in the past to "reveal the advantages of the Socialist system" in history and geography lessons. It charged the teachers with "passing over in silence the priority of inventions and discoveries by Russian scientists."

Pravda also said that too many children in the lower grades were failing to pass their courses. "Serious

Dear Soviet Teachers:

We note that you have been discreetly silent on some aspects of the Communist system. And that you have been urged by Pravda to fill your students with "profound contempt" for the admiration given to ours.

May we respectfully suggest a few more things that you'd better keep quiet about if you want the young Russians to grow up convinced Communists.

Don't tell them that in America the opportunity for advancement is unlimited—that here a man can work where he pleases and change his job when he pleases, and that he has the right to organize and bargain collectively.

Don't say anything about the competitive system, with rewards for initiative and enterprise in free markets—the same system which has produced a standard of living about ten times higher than yours.

Don't mention that here people can own things and manage their own businesses ... and invest money in new undertakings.

Don't breathe a word about the American urge to invent better machines—and more productive ways to use them.

Don't refer to a dynamic way of life that keeps on turning out more and better goods—keeps on lowering costs and raising wages with shorter working hours.

In other words, don't give them any of the facts about what happens when free people, governing themselves and spurred by ambition, go all-out to build a new kind of country—different from any the world has ever seen.

We don't say our way is perfect—far from it. We still have our ups and downs of prices and jobs. But we know what's wrong and we're free to do something about it. Change is our middle name. And in the long run, our system always changes for the better.

P.S. About that "priority of inventions," the point isn't whether the Russian scientist Lodygin invented electric light before Edison, but what happened after it was invented. Which system—yours or ours—has mass-produced for more people the daily benefits of such inventions as the automobile, telephone, radio, refrigeration, central heating, modern plumbing and better farm machinery? The world knows that it is our system!

John Q. Public, U.S.A.

The better we produce the better we live!

approved for the PUBLIC POLICY COMMITTEE of The Advertising Council by:

EVANS CLARK, Executive Director, Twentieth Century Fund
PAUL G. HOFFMAN, Formerly President, Studebaker Corporation
BORIS SHISHKIN, Economist, American Federation of Labor

Published in the Public Interest by:
THE PURE OIL COMPANY
General Offices, Chicago

Wesley Bike Hike Slated For Saturday Afternoon

The annual Bike Hike to Hillsboro sponsored by the Wesley Foundation will be held Saturday afternoon, May 14, J. D. Foust, recreational chairman, said yesterday.

The cyclers will leave from the Methodist Church Saturday afternoon and arrive in Hillsboro in time for supper at the homes of Hillsboro hostesses. There will be a "get-together" after supper with the hostesses.

The group plans to return Sunday morning, stopping along the way for a short worship service and for a fried chicken dinner at R. A. Davis' farm. R. T. Thompson, fried chicken specialist from Burlington, will cook the dinner.

All students are invited to join the Bike Hike, Mr. Foust stated. Wednesday, May 11, is the deadline for making reservations at the Wesley Foundation office in the Methodist Church. The cost of the trip will be $2.00 for the three meals. Those going on the hike must provide their own bicycles.

Patterson's Bicycle Shop has agreed to rent as many bicycles as will be needed for a nominal charge, Mr. Foust said.

Quartet Concert Set for Sunday

The Ambassador male quartet will present a concert in the main lounge of Graham Memorial Sunday night. The program is being sponsored by the Memorial.

The quartet, nationally known harmony group, will present a varied program of classical and negro spiritual music. They will also perform their swiss bell specialty on such tunes as "Belle of Saint Mary" and "Sunday Morning in London."

The program will begin at 6:30 and is free to all students and townspeople.

Invitation Sales To Be Continued In YMCA Today

Graduation invitations will be given out in the Y lobby again today, Ray Jeffries, spokesman from the Grail, said yesterday. Jeffries urged all students who have ordered invitations and who have not picked them up to do so between 9 and 12 o'clock today. He also urged students to bring their receipts, adding that this will facilitate distributing the commencement announcements.

Students who failed to order invitations will have the opportunity to purchase some Tuesday in the lobby of the Y. There will be a limited number of them on sale from 9 to 12 o'clock.

– Legislature –

(Continued from Page 1)

for everything he says from Mr. Southerland." Miss Sewell's motion was killed.

All other presidential appointments made by Mackie were passed by the assembly.

New business introduced to the floor and referred to committee last night included:

1. Nat Williams (UP-CP)—a bill to appropriate $4,759.90 out of the surplus to the Student Activities Office, to buy a posting machine, adding machine, typewriter filing cabinets.

2. Dan Ashby (CP)—a bill to set up a committee of five legislators to plan for the selection of members of a constitutional convention.

3. Jim Montague (CP)—a bill to set up a committee of three legislators to investigate the possibility of restoring recreation rooms to each men's dormitory.

4. Emily Sewell (SP)—a bill to give the Carolina Quarterly $1,500, the rest of its original $2,000 legislative underwrite, to complete its third issue this year and set it on a sound financial basis to start operations next year.

Four important bills still hanging fire in the Ways and Means Committee did not hit the Legislature floor last night, although they are expected to next week.

ARRIVING IN CINCINNATI, Ohio, for a meeting with baseball Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler, New York Giants' manager Leo Durocher (left) smiles confidently as he leaves airport accompanied by Giants' President Horace Stoneham (center), and club secretary Eddie Brannik. Durocher had been summoned before Chandler to explain the part he played in his alleged battle with a fan.

Farm Budget Bill Gets Big Addition

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(UP)—A Senate Appropriations subcommittee today added $21,319,000 to House-approved funds for the Agriculture Department after rejecting a Republican move aimed at trimming the overall total by 10 per cent.

They are (1) the Campus Chest bill, (2) the NSA purchase card investigating committee. (3) the committee to investigate additional campus parking space, and (4) the bill to name the student government inaugural banquet after Sen. Frank Porter Graham.

Presidential appointments approved last night were:

Ann Sawyer to replace Barbara Lowe on the Women's Honor Council.

Jim Gwynn as chairman of the Elections Board; Student Audit Board, Andy Cornish, chairman, Anies Daye, Tim Borda, Dick Ferguson, Ellis Hall; Student Entertainment Committee, Charlie Gibson, chairman, Dick Allsbrook, Ann Sawyer, Billy Carmichael; Dance Committee, Noah Wilson, Buck Blankenship, Tom Boney; Greater University Student Council, Jess Dedmond, Dortch Warriner, Sam McKeel; Budget Committee, Nat Williams, chairman, Dick Gordon, Ted Fussell, Andy Cornish, Emily Sewell, Neil Partrick, Marie Nussbaum, John Sanders, Bob Kirby, Bill Hipple; NSA Committee, Ben Jones, Charlie Fox, Jean Menshew, Fred Blair, Bill McLendon.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

7:00—HILLEL FOUNDATION. Roland Parker 1, 2, GM.
8:00—YOUNG PROGRESSIVES. Grail room, GM.
8:15—"MERRILY WE LOVE". Memorial Hall
9:30—RENDEZVOUS SHOW, Graham Memorial.

Senators to Get Collier' Award

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(UP)—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, (R.—Mich.) and Speaker Sam Rayburn, (D.—Tex.) today were announced winners of Collier's magazine awards for distinguished congressional service during 1948.

It was Vandenberg's second win. As in 1945, he was honored for his key role in foreign affairs.

Rayburn, who returned to the speakership when the Democrats regained control of Congress last January, was honored for "his high performance as minority leader in 1948 and for his party loyalty, a fundamental quality if our two-pary system is to survive."

The two will receive engraved silver plaques from the hands of President Truman in special ceremonies at the White House aSturday.

The Oriental
116 E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.
CHINESE-AMERICAN RESTAURANT

SURPLUS SALES
425 W. Main Street
DURHAM, N. C.
ARMY TYPE KHAKI PANTS
(Wonderful for School)
NAVY TYPE CHINO GREY PANTS
PAIR $3.45
FOOT LOCKERS — GENUINE G.I. — Now $2.95 ea.

Mother's Day Is Sunday
Remember The Occasion With Pictures FILM – CAMERAS – PRINTING
at
FOISTER'S CAMERA STORE

NOW PLAYING
CAROLINA
9 MEN AT EACH OTHER'S THROATS... over treasure... and a woman...
COLUMBIA PICTURES presents
RANDOLPH SCOTT · ELLA RAINES
THE WALKING HILLS
with
WILLIAM BISHOP · EDGAR BUCHANAN
ARTHUR KENNEDY · JOHN IRELAND · JEROME COURTLAND · JOSH WHITE
Story and screenplay by Alan LeMay · Additional Dialogue by Virginia Reddick
Directed by JOHN STURGES · Produced by HARRY JOE BROWN

Picnic Specials!
BUY THEM HERE NOW
FOWLER'S FOOD STORE
— Phone F-416 —
WE DELIVER

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

THE PUBLICATIONS BOARD IS NOW accepting seal-bid competitive contracts through May 15 for the posts of circulation managers for the Daily Tar Heel for the summer and coming year: and for Tarnation for the coming year. Those interested should contact Billy Carmichael III, DTH sports office any afternoon for information and sample contracts. (1-1200-1)

PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. FOR a small charge we can relieve you of all details connected with renting your property. Our service includes selection of desirable tenants, supervision of upkeep and collection of rents. Consult us today regarding this service. Service Insurance & Realty Co., Henderson Street. Phone F-419. (ch 1x2)

FOR RENT 6A

FOUR ROOM FURNISHED APARTment for summer only. Call F-3567 or write M. P. Ferris, Box 943, Chapel Hill. (1-6731-1)

FOR SALE 6B

BOY'S, GIRL'S BICYCLES: TOgether $50. Cushman Motor Scooter. All good condition. See Emmett Cheek, Route No. 1. (3-6726-1)

FUR COAT, SIZE 16, $20. Electric table model sewing machine $80. Chester drawers, blond maple $15. 220 McCauley St. (3-c6727-1)

SPALDING & REACH BASEBALL gloves; Louisville & Harwood softball equipment. Wholesaler's prices, which is 50 per cent below retail, will prevail. (Gloves $5 up) All wool shrinkless sweat sox, 50c pair. Miscellaneous items. Contact Bill Kucyk, Rec. Room No. 2, Whitehead Dorm, 3-6 daily. (2-6734-2)

GARDEN PLANTS ASTERS, AGERatum, petunias, marigolds, foxglove, Canterbury bells, feverfew, Chrysanthemums, pinks, zinnias, egg plants, peppers and tomatoes. Call at Homestead Gardens, 322 West Rosemary—Tel. 9496. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

1937 CHEVROLET TWO DOOR SEdan. Good tires, good motor—priced low for fast sale. $250.00. Call 9617. (3-6739-1)

FOUND 6C

FOUND IN MY APARTMENT LAST fall quarter—a ladies wrist watch. See Katherine Carmichael. (1-c6736-1)

HELP WANTED 8

UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds athletics, and other camp activities Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

LOST 12

SMALL GOLD BULOVA WRIST watch last Friday on Franklin Street. Finder please call Mary Lee Lambert at 4486. (1-6742-1)

WHO EVER RETURNED MY LIGHTer—much obliged. H. E. Davis. (2-6728-1)

RIDERS WANTED 18A

WANT TO RIDE TO NORFOLK FRIday? Call T. L. Patrick at 212 "B" Dorm. (2-6733-1)

WANTED 24

USED CHILD'S PLAY PEN IN GOOD condition. Call F-5211. (2-6741-1)

Get Acquainted Offer
Mercury Club
10 OUNCE DRAFT BEER 10 CENTS
BOTTLE BEER — 20c
ARROW BEER — 15c bottle
16 Acres to drink it in
For Parties And Picnics Too
HOURS 4-7
MERCURY CLUB
3 Miles Out On Greensboro Highway
Your only student night club operated by students For students

Why Wear It If it does Not Fit?
JERRY the Tailor
Over Lee's 5 &10c Store

FREE DELIVERY
on orders from
THE COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
Monday — Friday
at
9:15 And 10:15
DIAL 6061

THE INSIDE STORY

OF YOUR FAMILY...

EVERY MAN'S FAMILY.

THE INSIDE STORY
Marsha Hunt · William Lundigan
Charles Winninger · Gail Patrick with Gene Lockhart · Florence Bates · Hobart Cavanaugh Allen Jenkins · Roscoe Karns · Robert Sterling
ALSO
CARTOON — NOVELTY
Today
VILLAGE

You'll Say
"BEST TEA FOR ME!"
A&P SUPER MARKETS
YET MANY WHO PREFER A&P TEAS SAVE UP TO 15¢ ON A POUND
Based on National Shopping Estimates
Mild American CHEESE Lb. 41c
A&P TEAS
NECTAR TEA Rich and Flavorful ½-Lb. Pkg. 49c
NECTAR TEA BAGS 48-Ct. Pkg. 43c
OUR OWN TEA Healty and Vigorous ½-Lb. Pkg. 47c
OUR OWN TEA BAGS 48-Ct. Pkg. 39c

FARM FRESH PRODUCE
Apples, Western Winesap 3 lb. 39c
Tomatoes, Fancy Carton 2 for 39c
Carrots, Green Top 2 bunches 15c
Corn, Golden Bantam 4 ears 29c
Lettuce, Large Head 2 for 25c
Onions, Yellow Texas 2 lb. 13c

Jane Parker Mother's Day Cake 8-In. Layer 85c

Marvel Bread SANDWICH 1½-lb. Loaf 18c
Jane Parker DESSERT Shells Pkg. Of Four 13c
Marvel DINNER ROLLS Pkg. of Nine 10c
Jane Parker MOTHER'S DAY CUP CAKES Pkg. of Six 39c

A&P COFFEE
Mild & Mellow 8 O'CLOCK 1-lb. Bag 40c
3 LB. BAG $1.15
Rich & Full Bodied RED CIRCLE 1-lb. Bag 44c
3 LB. BAG $1.27
Vigorous & Winey BOKAR 1-lb. Bag 47c
3 LB. BAG $1.35

Iona Peas 3 No. 2 Cans 29c
Niblets Brand Corn 2 12-Oz. Cans 35c
Iona Sliced or Halves Peaches No. 2½ Can 27c
Lang's Sweet Mixed Pickles Qt. Bot. 23c
Perfect Strike Chum Salmon No. 1 Can 45c
Iona Tomato Juice 2 No. 2 Cans 19c
Libby's Fruit Cocktail No. 1 Can 23c
A&P Grape Juice Pt. Bot. 19c
Golden Maid Uncolored Margarine 2 1-Lb. Pkgs. 43c
Ann Page Salad Dressing Pt. Jar 25c
Ann Page Strawberry Preserves 1-Lb. Jar 33c
Ann Page—with Pork & Tom. Sauce Beans 16-Oz. Can 10c
Ann Page Gelatin Desserts Sparkle 3 Pkgs. 20c

"SUPER-RIGHT" MEATS
Sunnyfield Small, Skinned, Whole or Half HAMS lb. .55
Boned and Rolled CHUCK ROAST lb. .59
Morrell's Pride, No. 10 or 12 BACON lb. .49
Center Cuts PORK CHOPS lb. .65
Loin or Rib End PORK ROAST lb. .49
BEEF SHORT RIBS lb. .29
Swift's Premium, 1 lb. cello FRANKS Pkg. .49
FRYERS lb. .50
Large Green SHRIMP lb. .65
FILLETS
PERCH lb. .33
HADDOCK lb. .39
FLOUNDER lb. .49
H & G WHITING lb. .21

SWEETHEART SOAP Bar 8c
CASHMERE BOUQUET SOAP 3 Bars 25c
VEL Pkg. 28c
LUX TOILET SOAP Reg. Bar 8c
SPIC & SPAN 2 Pkgs. 45c
OCTAGON SOAP POWDER Lge. Pkg. 20c
LIFEBUOY SOAP Bar 8c
BLU WHITE FLAKES Pkg. 9c
CRISCO 3-Lb. Can 99c
Roast Meat Thermometer Offer
FLIT Insecticide Pt. Can 23c
Uncle Ben's RICE 1-Lb. Pkg. 22c
Swanson Chicken FRICASSEE 1-Lb. Can 53c.
Whitehouse Evap. MILK 3 Tall Cans 34c

Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
8-31-49

EDITORIALS

Open the Pool
Study the Problem
Need More Halls

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER
Cloudy and warm.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SATURDAY, MAY 7, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 162

Hoey's Committee To Check On CCC

Senate Group to Investigate Charge Of Discrepancy in Wartime Auditing

WASHINGTON, May 6—(UP)—Chairman Clyde R. Hoey, announced today that his Senate investigating committee will look into an alleged discrepancy of $366,000,000 in the wartime books of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

He said the senators will carry out the "full and complete" inquiry demanded in a resolution filed with the Senate on April 1 by Sen. John L. Williams, (R.—Del.) and eight other Republicans.

Williams' demand was based on a letter from Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren informing Congress that Commodity Credit Corporation could not supply the names of addresses of account owners who owed the government agency that much in 1943-45.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan conceded in a letter to Senate Democratic leader Scott W.Lucas on March 29 that CCC had been unable to supply the records. They involved a wartime program under which the government supplied agricultural commodities to its allies and the armed forces.

Brannan said the issue is now moot, however; since the government collected all the money coming to it and actually had closed out the program at a substantial profit.

He said the Government Accounting Office was satisfied with the agency's explanation. GAO later issued a report which, in effect, confirmed Brannan's statement although it criticized the Commodity Credit Corporation's wartime auditing and bookkeep- procedures.

Officials of the agency explained that the records apparently were lost or mislaid during a period when the government was finding it extremely hard to obtain experienced personnel because of the war.

There have been other investigations of the question, including one by the House Appropriations Committee.

Striking Union Masses Workers At Rouge Gates

DETROIT, May 6—(UP)—Eight thousand strikers massed at the main gate of the Ford Motor Company's giant River Rouge plant today as the CIO United Auto, Workers girded for a prolonged strike that could paralyze the company's multi-million dollar operations.

There was no violence on the second day of this second great UAW strike against Ford. But neither was there the slightest glimmer of a prospect of settlement in the near future.

The union blocked the passage of cars of non-strikers into the plant and they peered as those who did not join the walkout parked their cars on the outside and walked through the plant gates.

The Ford strike had idled 62,000 workers at the Rouge and Lincoln Mercury plants and other walkouts and layoffs in the industry brought the total to 133,200.

Some 71,000 other workers were idle at Bendix, Nash, Hudson, Briggs and Chrysler plants. About half this number was expected to return to work next week but other strikers and layoff were threatened.

Auto production, meanwhile, had fallen an estimated 8,000 cars in a week.

Commerce Group Visits Factory

Last Tuesday, members of Alpha Tau Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional commerce fraternity, were guests of the Tomlinson Furniture Company of High Point. Thirty of the members were conducted through the plant by members of the company staff. During the morning, the group was shown the processes necessary to complete the high grade furniture produced by Tomlinson.

Mr. O. Arthur Kirkman, railroad executive and past National President of the fraternity, spoke briefly to the group.

In the afternoon a general discussion panel was held with several of the plant's officials leading the informal talks.

Senate Will Look Into China Policy

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(UP)—Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson was advised today that a Senate appropriations sub-committee plans a full-dress investigation of the administration's China policy.

Groundwork for the inquiry was laid by Sens. Styles Bridges, (R.—N. H.) and Pat McCarran, (D.—Nev.) while Acheson sat across from them at the subcommittee witness table. They notified him to return later.

At the same time, Bridges said the group had information that a White House aide, Edwin A. Locke, blocked an army plan to send captured German arms to nationalist China after the European war.

Boysen to Drop Assault Charge

NEW YORK, May 6—(UP)—Fred Boysen, a 22-year-old Brooklyn fan, announced today that he will ask permission Monday Manager Leo Durocher of the to withdraw the simple assalt charges which he sought against New York Giants.

Paging Diogenes

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., May 6—(UP)—Diogenes, the crusty old Greek philosopher, searched all over the place for an honest man.

He should have gone to Rutgers University.

Yesterday a crisp dollar bill was pinned to a "lost and found" notice on a campus bulletin board. The notice read:

"Found in telephone booth. Loser please take."

At last report, the dollar bill was still there.

YDC Finishes Preparations For Mass Rally

Meet Is Planned For Tuesday Night

Final plans for a mass political rally, sponsored by the campus Young Democrats, which will be held Tuesday night were announced yesterday by O. Max Gardner, Jr., president of the group.

The rally, which will be held in the Main Lounge of Graham Memorial, is scheduled to begin at 7:30. Featured on the program are Henry Lewis, assistant director of the Institute of Government and H. Clifton Blue, president of the State YDC.

Lewis will review the work of the past General Assembly for the group. Blue, editor of the Sandhill Citizen in Aberdeen, will talk on the relation of the campus YDC to the state organization.

Free ice cream will be served and Stormy Weathers and his band will furnish music before and after the speakers, Gardner said.

A short business meeting, the president added, will be necessary to have YDC members elect members to the club executive committee. Those nominated by the officers to serve are Jess Dedmond, Joe Leary, Hugh Wells, Ed Tenney, Amecia Eure, Graham Jones and Bill Buchan.

The group will also be asked to vote on a proposed constitutional amendment which would allow student wives and University staff members to have membership in the organization.

A campus wide drive this week has enlarged the clubs membership to over 160 members, Gardner said.

Members of the group are urged to be present in order to vote on proposed changes in the local chapter's constitution.

McLeod Elected To Plans Group

Ed McLeod, rising senior from Maxton, last weekend was elected chairman of the Planning Committee for 1950 for the State Student Conference.

McLeod was elected to the committee along with one representative from each of the 12 North Carolina colleges at the conference. Mary Frances Preston, of the YWCA of the Woman's College was elected secretary of the Committee.

The YWCA, YMCA, and SCA Conference, which met at Nawakwa the weekend of April 29 and May 1, had as its theme "Faith Without Works is Dead."

Mr. Paul Dering, of the VPI YMCA, Miss Marie Edwards, of the University of South Carolina YWCA, Mr. Bill Smith, of the Davidson College YMCA, and Mr. Claude Shotts, of the Carolina YM, led discussion groups.

GRUNT AND GROAN CHAMPION Frank S. Leavitt, better known as "Man Mountain Dean" takes on his toughest opponent as he finds himself booked for a college education at the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia. A veteran of both World Wars, the famous wrestler heads for his first class, accompanied by several coeds.

Ferguson Says Wallace Under Red Domination

Senator Speaks at Subcommittee Meet Discussing Communist Control Measure

WASHINGTON, May 6—(UP)—Sen. Homer Ferguson, R., Mich., said today that while Henry Wallace is not a Communist, "Most of his thought is controlled by Communist organizations."

Ferguson made the remark while a Senate judiciary subcommittee was questioning witnesses on proposed legislation to clamp strict curbs on the activities of Communists and other subversives.

Spokesmen for the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Amvets generally endorsed the legislation. But two other witnesses, including a woman representing a group on the Attorney General's subversive list, said it would do more harm than good.

Ferguson's comment on Wallace was prompted by the former new deal official's testimony in opposition to the North Atlantic Security Alliance before the Senate Foreign Relations committee yesterday.

Wallace tagged the Communist-control proposals as a move toward thought-control in the United States.

Ferguson accused the Communist Party of building up a "tremendous" war chest under a cloak of secrecy to finance its alleged conspiracy to overtrow the government.

"Much of the money collected has been poured into iron curtain countries and is undoubtedly part of the war chest which finances conspiratorial activities against us," he said.

Each witness was asked if he were a Communist or a member of any Communist front groups. When the question was put to Mrs. Ada B. Jackson, Brooklyn, N. Y., a Negro, representing the Congress of American Women, she said no, she was not.

Victims Die

DONORA, Pa., May 6.—(UP)—Two Donora residents who went to North Carolina last fall to "recuperate" from the ill effects suffered in last October's smog tragedy here, have died.

Mrs. Mary Rozik, 65, died Wednesday in Charleroi-Monessen hospital. Her family said Mrs. Rozik's death was not caused by air pollution. Doctors said she died from pypostatic pneumonia.

The other fatality was Clifford Devore, 48, found dead in his home here yesterday. Devore's brother, Ernest Devore, said the victim "seemed all right" during the recent four day fest.

Pharmacy School Plans Weekend Of Festivities

The School of Pharmacy weekend festivities planned to begin next Friday will feature the first appearance on this campus of Bill Knauff and his 16-piece orchestra. Knauff will play for a Friday afternoon tea, and the Saturday right formal dance in Woollen Gymnasium.

The weekend will open with a picnic for students, faculty and guests Friday afternoon at Hogan's Lake. Among the activities planned will be the opening game of a series to determine the softball champions in the Pharmacy School. The opening pitch will be thrown at 4:30.

Also scheduled is the first in a volley ball series in which the faculty-graduate team will participate to determine the School's volley ball champions.

Saturday afternoon will see a tea dance held in the Pine Room of Lenoir Hall, beginning at 3 o'clock. A novelty act during the tea dance will highlight the afternoon's entertainment.

There are 750 bids prepared for the Woollen Gym Saturday night formal dance, and 450 for the afternoon tea. All information regarding bids and invitations may be obtained from students in the School.

Kappa Psi, the pharmaceutical fraternity, is extending an invitation to the pharmacy group and their guests to a "come as you are" open house at the Kappa Psi house following the Friday afternoon picnic.

VA to Release 8,000 Workers

WASHINGTON, May 6—(UP)—The Veterans Administration announced today it will send 30-day dismissal notices to 8,000 employes on Monday in order to live within its probable budget in the new fiscal year starting July 1.

In a letter to members of Congress informing them of the pending action, Gray said that "every effort" will be made to maintain essential services on the highest level.

Students Get Special Rate To 'Red Shoes'

Fairy Tale Opens In Raleigh Sunday

"The Red Shoes," a Technicolor romance inspired by the Hans Christian Anderson fairy tale, will open tomorrow at the Colony Theater in Raleigh for an entire week at the special student rate of $1. All seats are reserved for the film which will be presented twice daily.

"The Red Shoes" follows in the footsteps of such other memoriable fairy tales made into motion pictures as "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," "Alice in Wonderland" and "Bambi."

"The Red Shoes" is claimed the "first motion picture to depart from the convential approach to the past." The film presents in an entirely different ratio and relationship the elements of story, direction, spectacle, color, romance, drama, suspense, movement, action and a distinguished cast, say the producers.

One example of the elements hitherto regarded as of minor importance now recognized as being of major significance is the ballet of "The Red Shoes."

This ballet, the first ever to be presented in its entirety as part of a film story, is enacted by a corps of 53 internationally famous dancers. It is shown in full, say the producers, not only bceause it furnishes the pivitol theme of the film, but because they know that the spectacle's "beauty, movement, music and color will delight, thrill and entertain patrons of any age and either sex."

"The Red Shoes," written, produced and directed for the screen by Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger, contains a cast headed by Anton Walbrook, Marius Goring, Moira Shearer, Robert Helpman, Leonide Massine, Albert Basserman, Ludmilla Tcherina and Esmond Knight.

Pan-Hel Workshop Discusses Plans

At the Pan-Hellenic Workshop picnic held last Wednesday in Tenny's meadow, the group discussed the rushing compact and completed plans for the rushing schedule for fall quarter, Lucile Riley, chairman of the Pan-Hell Council, said yesterday.

Mrs. Guy Johnson, an adviser to the faculty committee on sororities and fraternities, spoke informally to the members of the Pan-Hell Council. The group discussed the most important problems facing the Council and sororities, such as "limited silence" and an appropriate program for rush week. Sue Stokes headed a committee who has been studying these problems all year.

Coeds Will Battle In Sigma Chi Derby Today In Stadium

Five Sororities Entered in Events; Miss Modern Venus Will Be Chosen

Coeds from the five sororities will be put through their paces in a variety of games and events this afternoon in Kenan Stadium when the fifth annual Sigma Chi Derby gets underway at 2 o'clock.

Taft, Donnell Take Opposites In Pact Hearing

WASHINGTON, May 6—(UP)—Charles P. Taft, brother of the Ohio Senator, and Sen. Forrest C. Donnell, R., Mo., disagreed today on whether the North Atlantic Security pact increases the chances for another war.

Donnell told a Senate Foreign Relations committee hearing on the treaty that Congress would have no alternative but to declare war if the President used force against an aggressor under the pact.

Taft, a former State Department official, maintained that the Alliance gives the President no powers he doesn't already have under the Constitution to use force to defend the country.

Taft and James W. Gerard, World War I Ambassador to Germany, said that failure of the Senate to ratify the pact might lead to war. Gerard said it would mean "War, the end of democracies everywhere and the domination of the world" by Russia.

Former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts also urged approval of the Treaty and suggested that President Truman call a convention of Atlantic Pact sponsors to discuss formation of a federal union of the western democracies.

Roberts, President of the "Atlantic Union Committee," said such a federation would bring "savings in defense costs hand-in-hand with increased military protection."

Donnell, who has been a "guest" at the committee hearings, said he believed the President could send out bombers in event of a Russian attack on Norway, for example. This, he said, would bind congress to declare war since "the President has already involved us in war."

Taft said the President merely could take action for a "defense in depth" until Congress declared war. Donnell countered that the President might have to send planes before Congress could act.

Rivalry will run high as the six groups battle for the cup awarded the group acquiring the most points in seven events. Both Tri Delt and AD Pi have won the cup two years, and if either group wins this year, the cup will be theirs permanently.

At 9 o'clock tomorrow evening the annual Sigma Chi Sweetheart Ball will be held in the Pine Room of Lenoir Hall. During intermission the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, chosen by chapter members from a court of 11 finalists, will be presented. Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra will play for the formal dance, which is open to the entire campus with no admission charge.

Included in the schedule of events is a contest to choose Miss Modern Venus, for which the judges will be Bill Friday, assistant dean of students; Roy Armstrong, director of admissions, and Norm Sper, head cheerleader. Last year's title holder is Sara Jane Farlow, AD Pi from Augusta, Ga.

Coeds entered in event number four, entitled "April Showers," will not be informed of the nature of the race until they appear to participate. Other events include "Adams Apple" or Coed's Orange" in which each entrant will tuck an orange beneath her chin, run to her partner, and transfer it, all without the use of hands; "Egg and I," in which two girls will toss a fresh egg back and forth to each other, the pair keeping the egg whole the longest being the winner.

"Cheek to Cheek" is actually a back to back race, with two girls tied together to race 20 yards, one running backwards, the other forward.

"Coed's Decathlon" is a composite of six events, including some fancy handling of a cherry without using hands, a wheelbarrow race, four legged race, and a sack race. The idea is stolen from the Greeks, and their Olmpic games, where the Decathlon was a group of ten games.

Each sorority will also present a skit during th course of the afternoon. AD Pi will give "Washed with the Rain," or "Lay those Brick Walks Down, Babe;" Alpha Gam. "Wh' Happened;" Chi Omega, "A Peek at Peekaboo College," Delta Delta Delta. "Sleeping Cutie;" and Pi Phi, "O Those Sigs."

All Kinds of Music

State Folk Festival Scheduled In Kenan Stadium on June 9-11

By Bill Johnson

Clog dancers, the Highland Fling, and good old-fashioned mountain music will be the order of the day in Chapel Hill on June 9, 10, and 11, when 15 or more folk dance groups converge on Kenan Stadium to participate in the Second Annual Carolina Folk Festival.

The festival, sponsored by the Folklore Council of the University of North Carolina, will feature string bands, ballad singers, "buck and wing" artists, and spiritual singers in addition to the larger dance groups. The "buck and wing" type of dancing is described by Bascom Lamar Lunsford, director of the festival, as an "exaggerated and old-fashioned type of tap dancing."

According to Lunsford, the purpose of the festival is to "recapture the cultural values of our traditional American music, dancing and balladry, and to present them at their unspoiled best in a fast-moving, three-evening event, free of caricature mockery or ridicule." The festival is a presentation of the ballads, songs and dances "which the people of our region and their forebearers have transmitted orally for centuries."

One of the largest groups expected to attend this year's festival will come from Valdese, N. C. The group will bring with them the traditional religious music which their ancestors brought from Italy when they settled in Burke County in 1890. They will present the actual songs which were sung when the settlers left Italy and also the spiritual music used in the first church they built after reaching the United States.

An effort has been made by Lunsford to arrange a varied program for the festival which will include performances from all sections of the state and from all classes of society. Industrial districts, small country communities, churches, farming sections

(See FESTIVAL, page 4)

Search Begun

RALEIGH, May 6—(UP—A nine-member committee of the North Carolina University Board of Trustees began its search today for a successor to Dr. Frank Porter Graham as president of the Greater University.

The post has been vacant since Graham stepped down March 29 to become North Carolina's junior senator. A spokesman said months might pass before the committee reached any decision on the candidates under consideration for the job.

Faculty members of N. C. State College were invited to make suggestions to the committee on Graham's successor. Victor Bryant of Durham chairman of the group, said suggestions would be requested at later meetings from faculty members of the University at Chapel Hill and Woman's College at Greensboro.

VICE PRESIDENT Alben Barkley places the crown on the head of Miss Margaret Thors, who will reign as queen of the twenty-second Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Va. She is the daughter of Iceland's Minister to the United States. At left is Senator Harry F. Byrd, Democrat of Virginia.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... C. B. MENDENHALL

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. - Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins

Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryan
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Hall, Sam Whitehall.

Sports—Wuff Newell, Joe Cherry, Lew Chapman, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Zane Robbins, Andy Taylor, Ronald Tilley.

Night Editor: Roy Parker, Jr. Night Sports: Andy Taylor

Report on the Telephone Problem

Ever pick up a telephone around here and catch a couple of strange voices humming away? Chances are they're not on your line and you can go ahead with your call—if you don't get a busy signal before you finish dialing. Nevertheless it's annoying.

Such is the situation of the unfortunate University student who tries to make use of Mr. Bell's favorite invention.

Things are bad enough when you're trying to make a local call, but the plight of the poor guy who tries to call home is even worse. With all the rumbling that accompanies the operator's voice and the jingle of Junior's nickles, the folks back home in Saskahtawan can't tell if sonny has a frog in his throat or is merely calling from a rock quarry.

Things are in a sad state at present and show no signs of improving in the immediate future. It's time for University officials to take some action along definite lines in order to insure students and townspeople of a modern telephone system here in Chapel Hill.

A number of the phones in dorms and fraternity houses on campus have, according to unofficial reports, been in use here for some 15 years.

Since the University owns and operates the local telephone system, it would be indeed fitting to return here next fall and find a new, and better system at our disposal. This, is some measure, would help erase the bitterness felt by the majority of students because of the recent hike in tuition rates. A lot of us don't mind paying a little extra when we get something for it.

One of the more laughable parts of the whole story is the fact that the University bought out a private concern here some 23 years ago in order to insure students of "good, up-to-date telephone service."

It seems that the then owners of the company were giving inadequate service and, in the face of complaints from all sides, refused to do anything about the situation. It was then that State officials stepped in and bought the concern in behalf of the University.

The system was repaired and brought up to date at that time, but little has been done to improve service since. The University barely managed to keep in step with progress for a great while and, in recent years, it has lagged behind.

A great, progressive university such as our own is certainly no place for an outmoded telephone system. The citizens of this community deserve better service and should demand it.—Z. R.

Need for More Study Halls

With exam week rapidly approaching, many students are finding it necessary to spend more time with their studies. This brings to mind the perennial problem of finding a quiet place in which to study. It is virtually impossible for many students to study in a dormitory, for with three people in a room there is bound to be a certain amount of confusion. Also there are always a number of visitors that drop in for "bull sessions." In short, if one has a quiz to study for, his dormitory room is not suitable.

The library affords one adequate place for study but simply is not big enough to handle all the demands. One good way to relieve the crowded condition would be to keep the small annex structures behind Caldwell and other buildings open at night. Also, some arrangement should be worked out to keep more of the regular class rooms open during the nights. Some students find that they can study better with a class mate than alone. They need one of the class rooms or annex buildings so they can get together and discuss their studies without disturbing others. Such is not possible in the library or in a dormitory room.

A quiet study place is essential to good scholarship. The Daily Tar Heel can see no reason why the students should have to cope with crowded conditions when there are plenty of study sites—locked up.

Open the Outdoor Pool

Now that warm weather has really hit the campus, one of the most pleasurable features is that of an afternoon of swimming. The indoor pool at Woollen Gymnasium is crowded every day with students desiring a respite from the heat, and Hogan's Lake and the beaches have also been receiving many customers.

But what probably ranks as the best place in these parts for outdoor swimming is the beautiful pool located to the rear of Woollen Gymnasium. However, despite the hot weather, it has not yet been cleaned and opened for swimming. It is a shame for a fine recreation site like this pool to stand unused while the students are dashing about the state for a place to cool off. It should be opened immediately while the current perfect swimming weather contnues.

French Play Is Success

By Roy Mason

Moliere's "Le Medecin Malgre Lui" presented by Le Theatre Francais de l'Universite de North Carolina at the Playmakers' Theatre Thursday night was a distinct success. I am not basing this statement merely on the prolonged applause from the full audience at the end of the play, but on the laugh-score which I kept throughout the performance.

The laughs were all sympathetic and ranged in intensity from ripples to roars, and it seemed to me interesting that the same humor which entertained the French public so mightily in 1666 caused the Chapel Hill public in 1949 to laugh 20 times during the first act, 34 during the second and 23 during the short final act. I am no human comptometer so these figures may be wrong; at any rate there were lots of laughs.

The production was complete, as an 18th century revival of the comedy, down to the six noblemen who sat on the stage, as was the custom in those days, and Effie Westervelt as an audacious and irresistible orange girl who sat on the noblemen.

Florence McCulloch was charming and most convincing as the wife of the wood cutter, Jacques Hardre, who was the most sophisticated woodcutter with the courtliest manners on record. Edward Draper-Savage was vivid and amusing in his character part, and an individual who appeared on the program as Huguette Ex-Laxe (I don't believe it) was responsible in the role of the wet nurse for many of the multiplicity of laughs.

You couldn't blame Otis Beeson who was the lover, Leandre, for any subterfuge he had to resort to to gain the hand of the exquisite Yvonne Picard Creech who took the part of Lucinde. Mr. Holmes was sonorous and satisfying as her father, and the whole production was directed by Walter D'Evreux Creech.

To The Editor

LAST STRAW

Editor:

During my four years at Carolina, I've had plenty of peeves all of which remained silent and suppressed. But last Sunday produced the straw that broke my bank.

Walking down Franklin Street with date on arm, The sun peeking through the clouds for the first time in days, my date and I felt the need of a little "Old World Culture and atmosphere," "Lets go to Danzigers," I said, and we proceeded to step thru the door to take a seat. "Eddie," the waiter eventually came up and took our order. . . . five brownies, one iced tea, and a Viennese coffee. After a brief interval, we left. I stopped by the cash drawer, and amid grunts, gee-haws, and some Viennese jibber-jabber, I finally pulled the amount of the bill from the cashiers pursed lips. "Vifty-zeben zents," every penny of which I paid. . . . I even remember the exact amount of change I placed in her hand. Two quarters, one nickle and two pennies. "Zank you," said she, and we proceeded on down Franklin.

Presently, our good friend "Eddie" came running up, and his deep voice said "Ah knows yo all paid yo bill, but. . . ." and that "but" was all I needed. We walked back to the establishment, and after being practically called a thief, a liar, and a cheat, I pulled out a bill. . . . this time making sure she rang up the correct amount, also making sure she would remember my face. She'll never see it again in that place!

Never before have I been so insulted—never before have I come in contact with such rude "business people." Slowly I walked out of the door, wondering if others thought me a thief. If this is the kind of people we have to deal with in Chapel Hill it certainly is a pity. . . and certainly brings discredit to the other merchants of the Village.

A. C. Early

A Little More Pressure Would Help

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

This 'n That

In Bad With Joe

By Bill Buchan

By Bill Buchan

I haven't been able to locate Mr. Archibald Williams but I'm afraid he's in for some rough sledding with ole Uncle Joe Stalin. He's in trouble cause he was careless with his Communist membership card and now it has fallen into the hands of the dirty old capitalist press.

Mr. Williams (No. 98166 according to his card) lost his card in the stacks of the University library sometime ago. The card is an interesting little thing, 2½" by 3½" and is blue instead of red as one might suspect.

It is folded in the middle (enabling a member to slip it in his wallet very easily). On the front side, the members registration number, in this case, No. 98166, is printed in the right hand corner. Below that we find the year of the card and a neat little phrase "Communist Party of the U. S. A." Then, there's his name, Archibald Williams and his address which is simply Chapel Hill, N. C. The date and the year follow and at the very bottom is the signed name of Sam Hall who was formerly state Communist chairman. However, Hall's name was signed by someone else with the initials as J. S. who just might happen to be Comrade Junius.

On the inside of the card there are nice little blocks for stamps indicating that the carrier has paid his dues. Archibald obviously was a very good member for he only paid up for the months of August, September and October. Also on the inside is a chart of the dues rates. The Communists carried their share alike plan out there, by allotting dues according to the members income.

Those with an income of over $60 per week pay $2 a month, those between $25 and $60 pay $1 a month, those under $25 pay 35c a month (comrade Archibald is in this catagory) and those members who are unemployed pay a mere 10c.

At the bottom of these pages is a nice advertisement, "Read the DAILY WORKER and the WORKER. Read our Monthly Magazine POLITICAL AFFAIRS.

On the back side of the membership card are the "Rights and Duties of Party Members" as follows:

To at all times loyally defend the interests of the working class against the forces of fascism and reaction.

To fight against all forms of national oppression, discrimination and segregation, and all ideological influences and practices of "racial" theories.

To fight for the full social, political and economic equality of the Negro people, for Negro and white unity.

To attend club meetings, read the Party press and literature, pay dues regularly and be active in behalf of the program and policies of the Party.

To participate in working out all policies and tasks of the club and to regularly examine the execution of such policies.

To vote for all officers, committees an delegates, and be elected to any office or committee in accord with the provisions of the Constitution.

To appeal any decision with which there is disagreement to the next higher body, carrying out the decision while appeal is pending.

To strive to master the program and policies of the Party, the principles of Marxism and Leninism.

Now, brother Archibald (if that is really your name), we don't mean to get you in trouble with Junius or Hans or any of the boys, but we Capitalist money-mad fiends do sorta enjoy looking into your enviable way of life occasionally.

To The Editor

EVENTS IN CHINA

Editor:

In view of the present happy turn of events in China, I wish to call to the attention of the readers of the Tar Heel the following statement, made by V. I. Lenin, on March 2, 1923:

"In the last analysis, the upshot of the struggle will be determined by the fact that Russia, India, China, etc., account for the overwhelming majority of the population of the globe. And it is precisely this majority that, during the past few years, has been drawn into the struggle for emancipation with extraordinary rapidity, so that in this respect there cannot be the slightest shadow of doubt what the final outcome of the world struggle will be. In this sense, the complete victory of Socialism is fully and absolutely assured."

After the ranting and raving of the atomic lunatics, with their grotesque stories of annihilation, it is good to see concrete evidence of the scientific foresight of Lenin, of the growing strength of those forces struggling for peace, and of the approaching liberation of all mankind from an outworn social system.

Bill Robertson

Music Review

Duo-Recital Held

By "Wink" Locklair

Barbara Young, soprano, and Milton Bliss, baritone, sang two operatic duets and separate solo groups of early Italian, French and English songs as well as German lieder in a recital Thursday evening in Hill Hall.

It was a very warm, sultry night and competition from "Merrily We Love" and a French comedy at The Playmakers Theatre kept many people from the joint recital. Mr. Bliss, a junior music major, opened the program with 17th and early 18th century songs by Durante, Cavalli, Handel and A. Scarlatti. Most pleasing and most difficult to sing of the group was Caccini's Amarilli.

For her first offerings Miss Young chose lieder by Schumann and Schubert, opening with the former's The Ring. This was followed by Der Arme Peter in three parts: not fast, moderately fast, and slowly. Better sung and perhaps even better songs were The Curious One and Impatience by Schubert. Schubert, who wrote over 600 songs, is the acknowledged master of the lied and is one of the greatest melodic geniuses of all time. Impatience was beautifully sung by Miss Young.

After intermission Mr. Bliss presented four French songs, two by Debussy and the other two by Paladilhe and Delibes. The Delibes Bonjour, Suzon is an engagingly light tune and baritone Bliss who, incidentally, really knows how to come on and off a stage, made it seem so to the audience. For her last group of pieces Miss Young gave a Handel aria from The Messiah, The Road to Derry, Kountz; I Send My Heart Up to Thee, Beac; and A Feast of Lanterns, Bentock. We were disappointed in Handel's Rejoice Greatly, Oh Daughter of Jerusalem, not because of Miss Young, but because her accompanist did not play the piano part with the dignity, splendor and grace that Handel gave it.

The program closed with two duets. The first the Don Juan and Zerlina first act vis-a-vis from Don Giovanni, and the last from Thomas' Mignon. It was very pleasant to hear Miss Young and Mr. Bliss in a program such as this. Both of them were heard in H.M.S. Pinafore last January and Miss Young is going to play Joyce Archard in The Lost Colony at Manteo this summer. William Waters played for Mr. Bliss's songs and Barbara Young was accompanied by Barbara Tritt. . . . .

'Merrily We Love'

Restoring Prestige

By Jonathan Marshall

Sound and Fury took a big step Thursday night towards restoring their lost prestige. An enthusiastic audience saw the opening of "Merrily We Love" which was given by the most spirited cast that has been seen here in a long time. Because of the popular demand, the show will be given again on Monday night.

There were many weaknesses in the musical comedy due to the speed with which the play was produced; however, it was surprising that "Merrily We Love" was even acceptable, and an excellent second act more than made up for the technical faults.

This was one of those rare plays in which the chorus outshone the leads; whether this was due to the unusual talent and looks of the nine chorines or to the weak characterization and dialogue of the main parts is hard to say.

Nancy, a stage struck gal from Boston, played by Betty Lokey, agrees to marry Quincy if she can't get a lead in two weeks. However, she is really in love with publicity agent Johnny, who doesn't want her to act either. As the sweet young thing, Miss Lokey was very sweet, and she played Nancy as though she meant it.

Bill Sanders, who played Johnny, gave an outstanding performance in his first major role on campus, and his singing had great warmth and feeling.

Nancy is given a part understudying the fiery Maria, who agrees with Quincy to ruin the debut. Maria was undoubtedly one of the most positive parts in the show, and it gave Lee Knoll an opportunity to display some high and sultry comedy with one of the best individual performances of the evening.

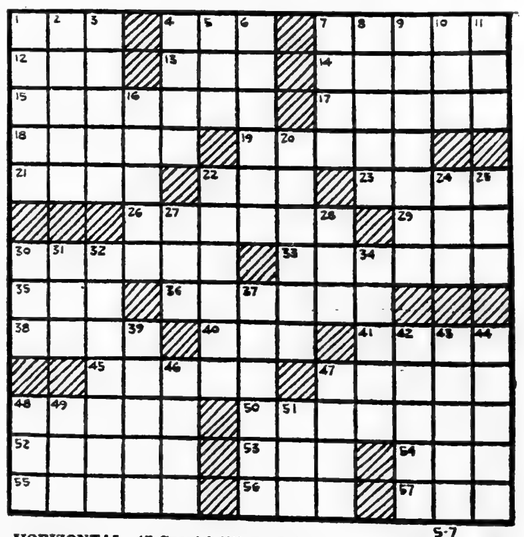
"Merrily We Love," like most musicals, may have lacked plot, but it more than made up for it in triangle situations. Maria's night club partner, Matador, was tailored to fit Frank Forrest's talents. Not only was he given the opportunity to display the finest singing voice on stage, but his acting as the wolfish, conceited prima donna was outstanding.

The Matador finally wins Nancy's sophisticated friend Belle, who wants "a man with muscles." Estelle Ritchie as Belle again proved herself to be one of the most natural and versatile actresses on campus.

Of course, Nancy eventually chooses Johnny and quits the stage, but while she was deciding everyone had a chance to sing, and the songs were really worth coming to hear. Frank Matthews has composed an outstanding original score for "Merrily We Love" which did much to compensate for the rather weak script and sloppy technical work.

Such things as curtains going up too soon and actors being seen before their entrances, however, only seemed to add to the audience's enjoyment.

Leaving the best for last, the highlights of the show were provided by two dance groups and the chorus. Foster Fitz-Simons' Modern Dance Club put on the most original and interesting dance that has been seen here in a long while.



The waltz duet by Lib Stoney and John Lehman came just in time to revive the audience during the slow first act; Miss Stoney and Mr. Lehman gave a professional performance.

The chorus was given two encores, with more wanted for "I Wanted To Sing At The Opera," sung by Jean Hillman. In a scene that stole the show, chorines Hillman, Jimmie Foust, and Anita Gates sang, and Virginia Hamilton, Gladys Levenson, Nancy Young, Jim Barker, and Betty Hubbard regaled the audience with their interpretation of a chorus back stage, and their rendition of "We Are The Girls Of The Chorus Kick!"

Mark Barker as Quincy, and Pete Strader as the night club proprietor also gave good performances.

It is unfortunate the Sound and Fury did not allow more time for preparing "Merrily We Love," for with another week's of work they could have had a really smooth musical. Considering the time element, the show was amazing; however, an audience pays for a finished performance and deserves it.

Without some excellent direction "Merrily We Love" probably would have been a flop, but the background effects and pantomine that were put in gave the production the necessary continuity to be successful.

HORIZONTAL
1. dexterity
4. definite article
7. herringlike fish
12. personal pronoun
13. thing, in law
14. declaim
15. deters
17. dwelt
18. follow
19. species of lyric poem
21. necessity
22. anecdotes
23. ancient Grecian country
26. church officials
29. before
30. analyzed grammatically
33. sluggish
35. Hebrew high priest
36. large sea ducks
38. Hindu deity
40. Napoleonic marshal
41. one of two equal parts
45. effigy
47. Spanish title of address
48. mountain nymph
50. thoughtful
52. menu card
53. epoch
54. allow
55. vehemently
56. tear violently
57. bitter vetch

VERTICAL
1. pale
2. river in Germany
3. taut
4. woody plant
5. personal pronoun
6. ancient Jewish ascetic
7. alone
8. self-respect
9. disentangled
10. goddess of malicious mischief
11. spread for drying
16. fops
20. mutual discourse
22. annexing
24. wrath
25. Japanese coin
27. shelter
28. Anglo-Indian weight (var.)
30. foot-like organ
31. fourth caliph
32. Italian-French seacoast
34. powdery residues from burning
37. more penetrating
39. Italian-make violin
42. feeble-minded
43. sweetheart
44. chafes
46. British Arabian colony
47. flip
48. Peruvian plant
49. constellation
51. silkworm

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

A	L	P	S		F	A	R		S	H	A	W
T	A	R	T		I	D	E		P	A	C	E
A	M	O	R		R	E	P	A	I	R	E	D
S	E	D	I	L	E		E	N	T	E	R	S
		U	V	A		A	N	T	E
D	E	C	E	D	E	N	T		S	L	A	P
A	G	E		S	A	N	E	R		O	L	A
M	O	S	S		R	A	R	E	F	I	E	S
			P	I	T	S		A	I	T
S	A	L	I	S	H		E	L	D	E	R	S
P	R	E	E	M	P	T	S		D	R	I	P
A	N	I	L		E	O	S		L	E	N	E
T	O	S	S		A	W	E		E	D	G	E

Average time of solution: 21 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Varsity Baseballers, Golf, Tennis Teams Take Wins

Tar Heels Blast W & L, 14 to 6; Meet Cavaliers

LEXINGTON, Va., May 6—North Carolina's hard - hitting baseball team won its second straight victory at the expense of Old Dominion nines here today by stopping the Generals of Washington and Lee University, 14-6, in a free-scoring Southern Conference contest.

Tomorrow Tar Heels will invade Charlottesville for a tilt with the strong University of Virginia nine. The Carolinians edged the Cavaliers, 6-5, in a game at Chapel Hill earlier in the season. Yesterday the Tar Heels defeated Virginia Tech, 6-3, at Blacksburg.

Given a commanding lead by his mates in the first three innings, Carolina hurler Ed Gaston was never in serious danger. This was Gaston's second victory of the season against no defeats.

For the second straight day, Rip Ryan was the big man at the plate for the Tar Heels, hitting a two-run homer in the second frame and a single, driving in a total of five runs. Sid Varney, Stan Goodman, and Don Ward also had a pair of hits for the winners, with Goodman scoring five times.

The visitors jumped on W and L starter Ed Leslie for a trio of runs in the first stanza. Joe Brookshire and Goodman opened the frame by drawing bases on balls, and Brookshire crossed home plate when Ryan's grounder was errored. Varney followed with a single, scoring Goodman and the Ripper, to start the Tar Heels off on the right track.

Carolina added two more markers in the second inning when Goodman reached first on a single and Ryan hit his roundtripper, a long drive to deep centerfield.

The Tar Heels tallied once in the third and cinched the tilt in the fourth when Goodman scored from second on Ed Lamb's single with run number seven.

The Generals threw a scoring party of their own in the third

(See BASEBALL, page 4)

Out-Maneuvered!

Carolina	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Brookshire, 3b	5	2	1	3	1	0
Goodman, 2b	3	5	2	2	1	1
Ryan, ss	6	3	2	0	1	0
Varney, c	6	0	2	9	0	0
Lamb, rf	5	0	1	0	0	1
Couch, cf	3	1	0	2	0	0
Eldridge, cf	1	0	1	1	0	0
Ward, lf	3	1	2	2	0	0
Hobbs, 1b	2	2	0	7	1	0
Gaston, p	3	0	0	1	3	0
TOTALS	37	14	11	27	7	2

W & L	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Vinson, 2b	5	1	1	2	2	0
Woods, cf	3	1	1	2	0	0
Bell, 1b	5	1	4	10	0	1
Puthey, ss		5	2	3	1	1
Penney, 3b	5	0	2	1	3	1
Thomas, rf	5	0	1	1	0	0
Cahey, f	2	0	0	1	0	0
Wheater, p	2	0	0	0	0	0
Radcliffe, c	3	0	0	9	0	1
Leslie, p, lf	4	1	1	1	2	0
TOTALS	39	6	13	27	8	4

Score by innings:
North Carolina 321 140 003—14
Washington & Lee 002 030 001— 6

Runs batted in: Brookshire, Goodman, Ryan 5, Varney 3, Lamb 2, Ward, Puthey 2, Bell, Radcliffe, Vinson, Two-base hits: Vinson, Bell. Three-base hits: Puthey. Home Runs: Ryan. Stolen bases: Couch, Ryan, Ward, Brookshire, Goodman. Sacrifices: Gaston 2. Left on base: Carolina 8, W & L 10. Basses on Balls: Gaston 4, Leslie 7, Wheater 1. Strike outs: Gaston 8, Leslie 5, Wheater 3. Hits off: Leslie (7) in 5 innings. Hit by pitcher: by Leslie (Hobbs 2). Wild pitches: Gaston, Wheater 2. Losing pitcher: Leslie. Umpires: Milam and Neofotis. Time: 2:45. Attendance: apprx. 350.

Frosh Nine Wins Over Salisbury

In a seesaw game on Emerson Field yesterday, the Tar Baby baseballers captured their sixth win of the season by downing Salisbury 8-6.

First baseman Ben Smith was the undisputed hero of the afternoon, accounting for six of the frosh runs and smashing two home runs, one of which broke up the ninth inning tie and gave the frosh their two run margin.

Salisbury scored once in the first as pitcher Roger Paschal gave up three walks and hit a batter. But Carolina came forth with a four-run rally in the bottom of the inning. They scored on three singles, two errors and a walk. The Tar Babies went scoreless in the next three innings while Salisbury gathered three in the second and one each in the third and fourth.

Carolina scored on Smith's homer in the fifth and again in the sixth. Smith homered again in the ninth to win the ball game.

Frosh Netters Win; Down Goldsboro 9-0

The freshman charges of coach Jack Kenfield copped their seventh victory against three losses by shutting out the Goldsboro Highs team on the varsity courts yesterday, 9-0

The frosh will play host to the netters of Maury High of Norfolk this afternoon.

Singles: Hammerstein defeated Wallace 6-1, 6-3; Duval defeated Winslow 6-1, 6-2; Milton defeated Hallow 6-3, 6-2; Haroutunian defeated Noble 6-1, 7-5; Smith defeated Pate 6-3, 6-1; Litton defeated Norwood 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Doubles: Hammerstein and Smith defeated Winslow and Wallace 7-9, 6-3, 6-4; Sheets and Booker defeated Pate and Hallow 12-10, 7-5; Redding and Caarson defeated Knight and Hill 6-3, 6-4.

Wolfpack Dumped By Local Golfers In Easy Victory

There ain't no place like home! Or at least so the Carolina golfers say. For yesterday afternoon they sufficiently thumped State College, 22½-4½, to gain ample revenge for their lone defeat handed them by the Wolfpack in Raleigh not long ago.

This afternoon the Carplina Country Clubbers will hop over to Winston-Salem's Old Town Country Club to meet Wake Forest and at the same time take a look over the course that they will be fighting on a few weeks hence for the Conference Championship.

Feature of today's battle of the woods and irons is the number one round between Carolina's Champion Harvie Ward and Wake's Almost Champion Arnold Palmer. Palmer was defeated by Frank Stranahan in the semi-finals of the North-South Amateur at Pinehurst last month and Ward was edged in the finals of the same match by the same Stranahan.

In yesterday's walkathon Ward, as usual, walked off with medal honors with a carded 70. He defeated Gibson, 3-0. In the second half of the first foursome Tar Heel Bob Cox was defeated by State's Turnbull, 3-0.

Ward (C) defeated Gibson, 3-0; Turnbull (S) defeated Cox, 3-0. Best ball to Carolina 3-0.

MacKenzie (C) defeated Brackett, 3-0; Brantley (C) defeated Isenhour, 2½-½. Best Ball to Carolina 3-0.

Brooks (C) defeated Preisinger, 2-1; Sapp (C) defeated Wood, 3-0. Best ball to Carolina 3-0.

FREE DELIVERY
on orders from
THE COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
Monday — Friday
at
9:15 And 10:15
DIAL 6061

MAJOR League Results

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Yesterday's Results

New York 3, St. Louis 0
Chicago at Brooklyn (night)
Cincinnati at Boston (night)
Pittsburgh at Philadelphia (night)

Today's Games

Cincinnati (Raffensberger 2-2) at Boston (Antonelli 1-0)
Chicago (Rush 1-2) at Brooklyn (Roe 1-2)
St. Louis (Brecheen 2-1) at New York (Hartung 3-0)
Pittsburgh (Chambers 1-0) at Philadelphia (Roberts 1-2)

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Yesterday's Results

Chicago 6, New York 2
Philadelphia 5, Detroit 4

Today's Games

Washington at St. Louis (night)
Boston (Parnell 3-0) at Cleveland (Lemon 2-1)
Philadelphia (Brissie 3-0) at Detroit (Hutchinson 0-1)
Washington (Masterson 1-0) at St. Louis (Garver 1-1)
New York (Porterfield 0-0) at Chicago (Gettel 0-2)

Wildcats Win, 13-0 Over Oxford Orphans

Chapel Hill High School's strong Wildcat nine racked up another win on the local field yesterday afternoon by blanking Oxford Orphanage, 13-0, behind the four hit pitching of Tommy Gravitt.

The score by innings:
Oxford Orph. 000 000 000—0 4 3
Chapel Hill 013 017 01x—13 11 1

Netters Edge Eli In 5-4 Thriller; WSTC Next Stop

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 6—Another win was posted on the growing University of North Carolina tennis team victory list here today as the Touring Tar Heels from Chapel Hill were forced to go the limit to defeat Yale University, 5-4.

Tomorrow the Carolinians face the West Side Tennis Club of Long Island and a possibility that their 21-game win streak may come to a screetching halt.

Charlie Rice was the difference here today as both teams fought almost evenly in perfect tennis weather before a large crowd, which was surprisingly pro-Tar Heels. Rice dropped his first set to Del Corral, 2-6, but snapped back in the second to take a 7-5 win. Then with the outcome of the match hanging in the balance, he settled down and took Corral in the last canto, 6-0.

Stan Gruner, the Tar Heel iron horse, stuck it out for 44 games (and only two sets) before losing the number three match to Ray Norris, 9-7, 15-13. It was the longest match played by a Carolinian this season.

The summary: Singles—Seixas (C) defeated Ray, 6-1, 6-3; Taylor (C) defeated Lynch, 6-1, 6-2; Norris (Y) defeated Gruner, 9-7, 15-13; Rice (C) defeated Corral, 2-6, 7-5, 6-0; Hunt (Y) defeated Wilder, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1; Winstead (C) defeated Carr, 6-3, 6-3.

Doubles: Seixas-Taylor (C) defeated Ray-Hands, 2-6, 6-0, 6-3; Norris-Lynch (Y) defeated Gruner-Winstead, 6-3, 6-3; Hunt-Carr (Y) defeated Rice-Wilder, 3-6, 10-8, 6-3.

AUTO PARTS
New . Used . Rebuilt
Open Saturday Afternoon
And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

Carolina Trackmen Face Duke In Meet at Fetzer Field Today

The fastest dual track meet since the war is expected here this afternoon when the Tar Heel tracksters are hosts to Duke University in a double-header meet on Fetzer Field starting at 2 o'clock.

Coach Dale Ranson's varsity team, operating without the services of star performer Bill Albans, is expected to be in for its toughest dual meet competition of the year in the Dukesters. Coach Dick Hollander's freshman crew has already bowed to the Blue Imp cinderbeaters and the Tar Babies will be running in the role of underdogs today.

Without Albans, who pulled a leg muscle Thursday, the Tar Heels will be in for a too-close-for-comfort meet.

Duke will bring a well-balanced crew to Chapel Hill and Coach Red Lewis has several standout performers on his team. Duke track supporters claim that they have one of the South's foremost performers in Tommy Reeves.

Reeves, who has run the 100 in 10 flat and the 220 in 21.6, will be favored in both those events today. Bill Crimmins, who performed so well for Carolina last week, will be Reeves' chief competition.

In the javelin throw Carolina's Penn Relays champion Bob Kirk will be favored over Duke's 1948 conference champion Jack Dunham. Kirk last week threw the spear well over 198 feet and has improved with each performance this year.

Carolina will have plenty of strength in the hurdles with Dick Taylor, Bob Morrow, Jack Moody, Tom Fitzgibbons, Bill Byatt and Merl Norcross among the probable starters. Reeves again is the top Duke man.

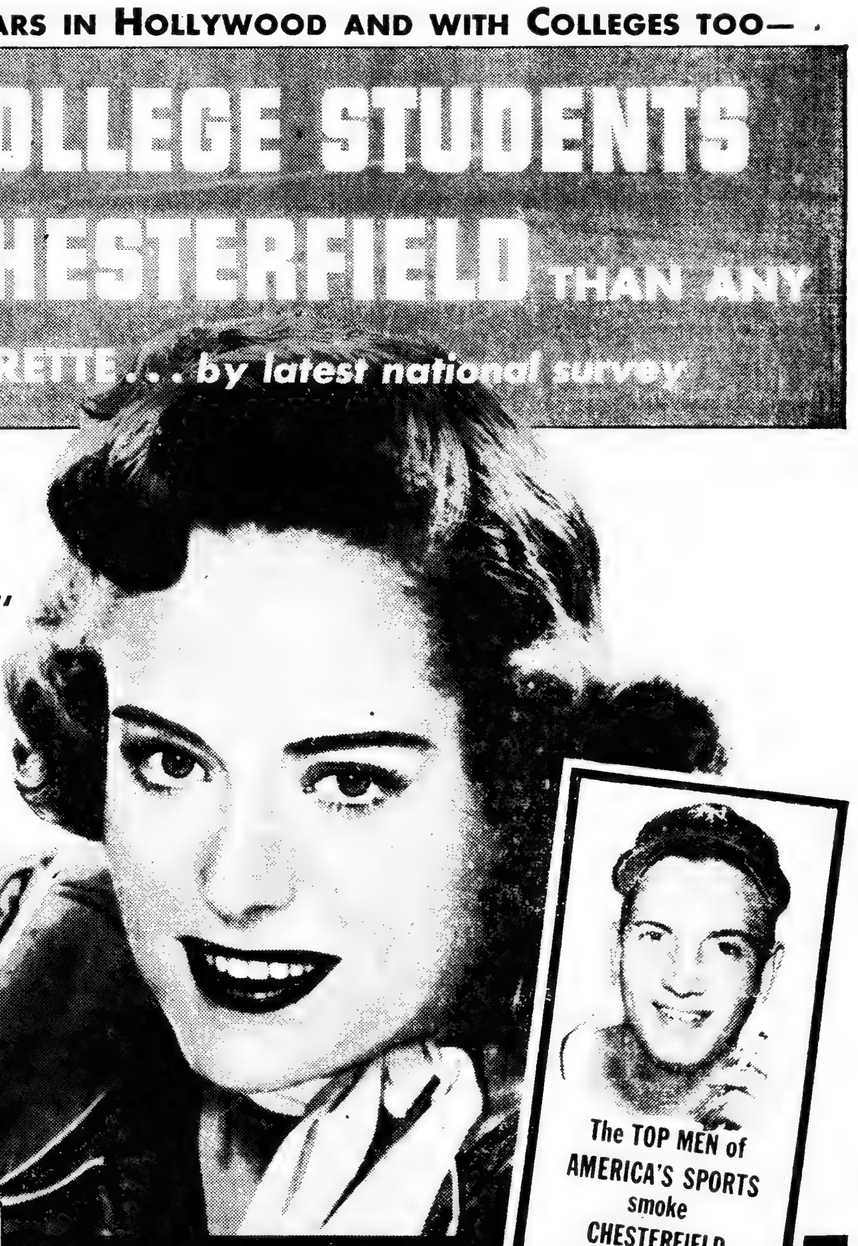
All qualified officials are needed at today's meet.

Stickmen Play

LYNCHBURG, Va. May 7—The University of North Carolina lacrosse team arrived here yesterday for a game with Virginia Tech's stick team.

Coach Bill Darden brought a squad of about 20 players with him for the game which will mark the first out-of-state encounter for his charges.

Previously this spring the Tar Heels have lost to the University of Delaware, Duke University, William and Mary, and the Annapolis Lacrosse Club.



For The
NEWEST FASHIONS
in MENS CLOTHING
visit
THE Sport SHOP
120 E. MAIN ST.
Durham

Let Us Relieve You Of Long Hair
For Warmer Weather
CAROLINA BARBER SHOP
E. FRANKLIN STREET

THOSE HILARIOUS "EGG and I" KETTLES ARE BACK
...In Another Rip-Roaring Comedy!

The Further Adventures of...
"MA and PA KETTLE"
starring
Marjorie MAIN
Percy KILBRIDE
...based on the Hilarious characters from "The EGG and I" by BETTY MacDONALD with RICHARD LONG
MEG RANDALL
Screenplay by Herbert Margolis, Louis Morheim and Al Lewis
CAROLINA NOW PLAYING

TOPS WITH THE TOP STARS IN HOLLYWOOD AND WITH COLLEGES TOO—
MORE COLLEGE STUDENTS SMOKE CHESTERFIELD THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE... by latest national survey
"For me there's only one cigarette that's really Milder and that's CHESTERFIELD"
Alexis Smith
STARRING IN
"ONE LAST FLING"
A WARNER BROS. PRODUCTION

The TOP MEN of AMERICA'S SPORTS smoke CHESTERFIELD

"Chesterfield is my idea of a Mild, satisfying smoke. When you light up a Chesterfield you know they're Milder, much Milder."
Sheldon Jones
PITCHER FOR THE NEW YORK GIANTS
Always Buy CHESTERFIELD
The Best Cigarette for YOU to Smoke
Copyright 1949, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Daily Tar Heel Classified Ads

Get Results

EAT in AIRCONDITIONED
COOL COMFORT

OUR UNSURPASSED
HOT WEATHER SPECIALS

•Cold Plates •Fresh Fruit Bowls
•Spring Salads •Lobster Salad •Smorgasbourg•

Danziger's
Old World
Restaurant

Newest Idea in Recorded Dance Music!

Columbia's "DANCE PARADE" RECORDS

Give you all the greatest dance hits by famous and favorite bands!

Roll up the rugs! Nothing will interrupt your dancing pleasure. Up to 25 minutes of music on one record! Hours of continuous music on automatic changers!

JUST RELEASED!

All These Great "DANCE PARADE" Records! 6 to 8 full-length hits by the band that made them famous on each record—and only $2.85 each. (Fed. Tax Incl.)

Harry James — Gene Krupa
Frankie Carle — Duke Ellington
Xavier Cugat — Benny Goodman
Les Brown — Woody Herman
Claude Thornhill

Hear These New Records—You'll marvel at their magnificent tone!

AT YOUR DEALER'S TODAY!

COLUMBIA LP RECORDS

(lp) the ultimate in Recorded Music . . . the finest phonograph record ever manufactured.

Trade Marks "Columbia" and (lp) Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

COLUMBIA LP RECORDS
at
ABERNATHY'S BOOK SHOP
Complete Stocks Of All LP Records
SEE THE NEW ATTACHMENTS

Neptune Neighbor Is New Discovery

CHICAGO, May 6—(UP)—The University of Chicago announced tonight the discovery of a "possible" new satellite of the planet Neptune.

The discovery was made May 1 at the McDonald observatory, Fort Davis, Tex., by Director Gerard P. Kuiper, the announcement said. The observatory is operated jointly by the University of Chicago and Texas University.

The school said that Neptune up to now has had only one known satellite, Triton, discovered in 1846. It viewed Kuiper's find as important if it is verified by further research.

The new body was said to be extremely faint, about a million times fainter than the faintest star than can be seen with the naked eye.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

10:00—PUBLICATIONS BOARD. Roland Parker 1, GM.
2:00—SIGMA CHI DERBY. KENan Stadium.
3:00—YOUNG REPUBLICANS. Roland Parker 1, 2, GM.
7:30—YOUNG REPUBLICANS. Roland Parker 1, 2, GM.
9:00—SIGMA CHI BALL. PINE Room, Lenior Hall.

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

ALL MAKES OF LAWN MOWERS repaired, machine sharpened. Axes, hatchets, scythes also sharpened. Tripps Lawn Mower Repair Shop or see John Tripp, Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1x1)

THE PUBLICATIONS BOARD IS NOW accepting seal-bid competitive contracts through May 15 for the posts of circulation managers for the Daily Tar Heel for the summer and coming year: and for Tarnation for the coming year. Those interested should contact Billy Carmichael III, DTH sports office any afternoon for information and sample contracts. (1-1200-1)

FOR SALE 6B

GARDEN PLANTS ASTERS, AGERatum, petunias, marigolds, foxglove, Canterbury bells, feverfew, Chrysanthemums, pinks, zinnias, egg plants, peppers and tomatoes. Call at Homestead Gardens, 322 West Rosemary—Tel. 9496. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

1937 CHEVROLET TWO DOOR SEdan. Good tires, good motor—priced low for fast sale. $250.00. Call 9617. (3-6739-1)

1937 PLYMOUTH CONVERTIBLE IN fair condition. Heater, sealed beam lights. Cheap—$250 or best offer. See Dick Taylor at Track Field House (behind Woollen Gym) (4-6747-1)

HELP WANTED 8

UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds athletics, and other camp activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

RIDES WANTED 18A

RIDE WANTED TO WASHINGTON, D. C. on Thursday May 12—to leave after 7 p.m. See Charlie Aderholt, 203 A Dorm, phone F-401. (1-6744-1)

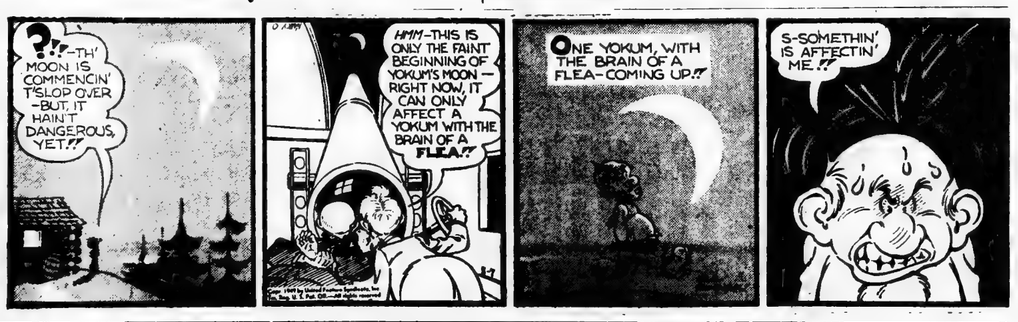
WANTED 24

APARTMENT WANTED NOW FOR graduate student and wife for summer and next year, or will sublease for summer. Call Betty Belk, Smith Dorm, 6051. (3-6743-1)

USED CHILD'S PLAY PEN IN GOOD condition. Call F-5211. (2-6741-1)

LOST 12

BROWN WALLET, PROBABLY IN Village Theater, Thursday night. Finder please contact owner, Fred Sager, 156 E. Rosemary. Phone F-3191.



For a successful summer—job seeking or vacationing—you'll make a good impression anywhere with a cool Ara Cool ensemble.

See your Arrow dealer today! Ara Cool shirts come in white and solid colors and are accompanied by harmonizing Arrow ties and Arrow handkerchiefs.

ARROW
SHIRTS and TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

ARROW DARTS — $3.65
ARROW GORDON FENWAY — $3.98
(Button- Down)
ARROW GORDON DOUBLER — $2.95
at
BERMAN'S
Department Store

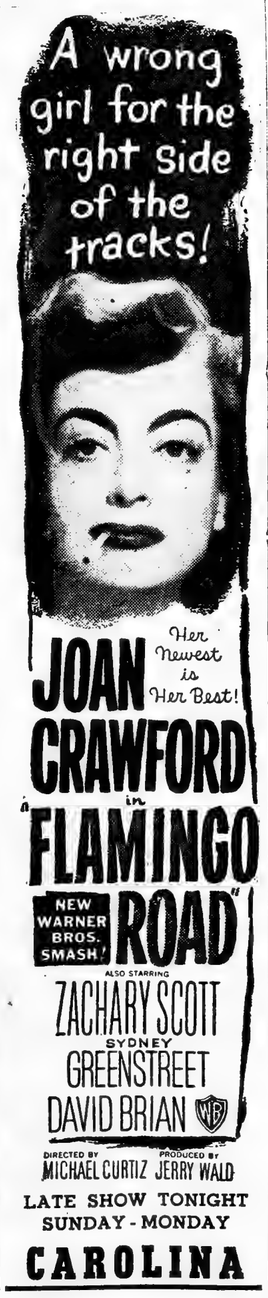
Let's all Meet — at HARRY'S

CHOSEN from 1,500 boys in Mexico City to be Mexican Boys' Good Will Ambassador, Javier Najera Torres, 13, is shown some of the New York sights by Robert Marchi, 14. Javier arrived by plane for National Boys and Girls Week ceremonies at New York's City Hall. Robert, chosen U. S. "good Will" envoy, will go to Mexico with Javier.

-Festival-

(Continued from Page 1)

and mountain villages will all be represented by folk dances and singing characteristic of their particular location and tradition.



Lunsford hopes that the participants will come to regard the annual festicals as reunions, informal enough to afford enjoyment to the performers, and entertaining enough to give the audiences three full evenings of interesting folklore.

-Baseball-

(Continued from page 3)

when Fred Vinson doubled home Leslie, who had singled, and Brian Bell followed with a single to chase Vinson across the plate.

The home team added three more in the fifth on two hits and three walks. Lacy Putney scored the final run for the losers in the ninth when he tripled into right field and came home on an overthrow at third.

Frosty Publicity Stunt

Keep Cool In A Knox, But Don't Lick The Ice

By Don Maynard

The fleet's not in, but you can walk downtown and see a sailor on ice sitting directly in front of the Varsity shop, cool as a cucumber even in this swelter.

The sailor is trapped within a 300-pound cake of ice, and will remain there until the ice block melts to the ground.

Bloodcurdling? Not at all. It's all just part of a contest sponsored by the Varsity. Frozen within the ice cake is a $5 Knox straw sailor, and it is up to anyone interested to guess when the ice will melt sufficiently to allow the brim to touch the ground.

The person who most nearly guesses the time it will do that will win his choice of any of the $5 straw skimmers in the store.

The window-shoppers-stopping display was first placed on the sidewalk at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. By 2 that afternoon, the 90-degree heat had melted the ice down only a few inches.

Over 250 students and townspeople alike had flocked to submit their hot guesses Friday. Among some of the long shots submitted were Sunday, Monday morning, and Wednesday afternoon. The majority have the block melted some time Saturday.

One student strode confidently from the store yesterday, a smirk frozen upon his face.

"I've got that prize on ice," he cooly boasted, mopping the sweat from his forehead. His guess was 5 o'clock the afternoon of May 29. Another student at his elbow shrugged.

"Hell," he said, "you ought to know it'll be melted before noon of the 29th. Any fool knows that is the hottest time of day. Ask any geography professor . . ."

The frozen wa[illegible] will remain outside the Varsity during store hours. After hours, it will be moved to the Chapel Hill Ice Company's ice house for its nightly siesta. That is, until it melts away.

Another student who had entered as his estimated time of melting closing time yesterday afternoon was seen crouched beside the 300-pound mass. He had a large blowtorch and was helping ol' Sol do his job.

Irate competitors angrily hauled him away. They wanted him to play fairly and give them all a chance. "I still think it's hot stuff, why get hot under the collar?" he grinned.

Here's a tip: the weather man forecasts blue skies and continued WARM weather for this area over the weekend.

Take the hint and act accordingly, for this is your chance to win an ice hat. Remember, a chance like this comes only once in an ice-time. . .

CAROLINA DUKE DRIVE-IN THEATRE
CHAPEL HILL BLVD.

Playing tonight only is "Down Texas Way" — a wild and wooly Western with Buck Jones and Tim McCoy. There cattle ruslin', horse ridin', barefist fightin', twelve-shot six guns, and stuff like that there. Man, it's at least a 'three boxes of popcorn and six fingernail picture. But we're 'specially proud of our shorts. You'll cheer to the one in color — it's a hum-Disney!! — and jeer to the other, titled (pardon the expression) "Hail Notre Dame" (Notre Dame — rumored a school in Yankeeland. We'll make sure next fall). Anyway, fill up the jitney tonight, 'cause for only 75 cents a car you'll find out if it's really "Hail Notre Dame" or only H——l Notre Dame.

By George

P.S. Added attraction for freshmen: 1st chapter of the greatest serial ever made — "The Phantom Empire" with Gene Autry and Smiley Burnette. It'll keep you the edge of your pogo stick.

Bye now.

Get Acquainted Offer
Mercury Club
10 OUNCE DRAFT BEER 10 CENTS
BOTTLE BEER — 20c
ARROW BEER — 15c bottle
16 Acres to drink it in
For Parties And Picnics Too
HOURS 4-7
MERCURY CLUB
3 Miles Out On Greensboro Highway
Your only student night club operated by students
For students

"If safety records were news"...

If safety were spectacular, it would be front-page news that Bill Jones and other telephone men drive 55,000 vehicles more than a million miles a day—with one of the nation's lowest accident rates.

Today, for example, Bill will drive a lot of miles. He'll guide his familiar green telephone truck through the heavy traffic of shopping centers, he'll go along quiet streets where children play, he'll travel lanes and highways at the edge of town. And every mile, every turn, will always be driven steadily and carefully.

You see, Bill and the telephone company consider good driving as much a part of his job as installing a telephone. The truck which Bill drives is checked and serviced regularly, so it's always safety-perfect. And Bill gets a lot of training in safety—training that covers all phases of his work.

Bill has helped put together one of the best safety records in the country. It's a record we're proud of—and so is Bill.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

U N C Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

EDITORIALS

Meet Kerr and Moose
What We Believe
Big Man, No Ticket

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Occasional thundershowers.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, MAY 8, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 163

NBC To Carry Planetarium Story Monday

Morehead, Graham, Dryselius to Speak

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 the National Broadcasting Company will carry a program originating in the auditorium of the newly-erected Morehead Planetarium.

Featured speakers on the coast-to-coast broadcast will be John Motley Morehead, donor of the Planetaruim; Senator Frank P. Graham, former president of the University; and Gunnar Dryselius, Swedish Consul to the United States.

Morehead is in Chapel Hill for the formal dedication of the Morehead Building on Tuesday, May 10. He will speak on tomorrow's broadcast about the purpose of his gift and the establishment of the John Motley Morehead Foundation with its provisions for endowed scholarships.

A graduate of the class of 1891 at the University, Morehead originated the plan for the Morehead Building and Planetarium in February of 1946, because, "It is my ardent desire to perpetuate, as far as possible, the great service which the University has rendered to the State of North Carolina, the South, and the Nation."

The radio broadcast can be heard on any of the NBC stations.

Housing Group Ends Meet Here

The Social Science Research Council Committee on Housing Research ended a two-day meeting in Chapel Hill yesterday.

"The Challenge of Housing Research" was discussed by Richard U. Ratcliff of the University of Wisconsin at the opening session Friday at the Carolina Inn. Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell, director of the Institute for Research in Social Science at the University, presided.

Coleman Woodbury of the Urban Redevelopment Study Committee addressed the group on "Housing Research Progress." Howard G. Brunsman of the Bureau of Census, Gerald Breese of the Social Science Research Council, and Charles Ascher, Brooklyn College, were other speakers on the program.

Gastonia Group To Meet Tuesday

The Gastonia-Carolina Club has scheduled its annual "empty the treasurer meeting" Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in the Grail Room, Graham Memorial. President Bruce Sanborn urged all members to attend the meeting, as it is important to get the Club's books straight before the end of the year.

Sanborn also said that plans for the summer activities in Gastonia to be sponsored by the club would be made. The group will discuss a number of amendments to the Gastonia-Carolina Club's constitution. "This business must be taken care of as soon as possible," the President said.

YDC Mass Rally Set For Amendment Vote

A mass political rally, scheduled for Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Main Lounge of Graham Memorial and backed by the Young Democrats Club, will hear Henry Lewis, assistant director of the Institute of Government review the work of the last General Assembly. Also at the rally will be H. Clifton Blue, President of the State YDC, to speak on the relation of the campus YDC to the state organization.

The group will also be asked to vote on a proposed amendment to the chapter's constitution. If passed, the amendment will allow student wives and University staff members to have membership in the organization.

Free ice cream will be served and Stormy Weathers and his band will furnish music before and after the speakers.

MISS MIKE MERKER, above, was crowned "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" at the social fraternity's annual dance held last night. Miss Merker won out in a group of 11 coeds. The other girls formed her court for the dance.

Claudia Lee Chosen Miss Modern Venus

Alpha Delta Pi Takes First Place At Annual Sigma Chi Derby in Kenan

It was ladies' day in Kenan Stadium yesterday afternoon for the 300 spectators who sat through three hours of feminine horseplay at the fifth Annual Sigma Chi Derby to see the feature event of the day, the naming of Miss Claudia Lee, Alpha Delta Pi senior from Marshallville, Ga., as "Miss Modern Venus" of 1949. Varsity footballer Bill Macekyo presented the gold loving cup to Miss Lee.

Miss Betty Smith, junior from Charleston, W. Va., and Miss Patty Ann Frizzell, junior from Bristol, Tenn., both sisters in Delta Delta Delta, took second and third places respectively.

Nineteen beauties were entered by the five sororities for the title. Judges Roy Armstrong, Norm Sper and Bert Lyle of Duke University, deliberated for nearly 10 minutes before eliminating all but 10 entrants. After further deliberation, the field was narrowed to the three finalists.

The Alpha Delta Pi sorority won first place for accumulating the most points in the seven featured events of the derby, thereby gaining the gold cup for permanent possession. ADPi had won the cup for two years previous. Delta Delta Delta and Chi Omega placed second and third.

ADPi won in the first of the afternoon's events, "Adams Apple or Coed's Orange." Tri-Delt and Alpha Gam ran second and third. The Chi O's took first and tied with Tri-Delt in the "Egg and I," egg-throwing contest. "Cheek to Cheek," actually a back to back Siamese race, was won by Tri-Delt. ADPi and Chi O placed and showed respectively.

"April Showers," a surprise event which was kept secret until the moment of the event, was a hit-the-bull's-eye type affair, in which a balloon filled with water tumbled upon "Rubberhead" Joe Augustine when the bull's eye was hit. ADPi and Chi O took first and second places.

The "Coed's Decathlon" a hilarious combination of 10 "tests of skill," coke chug-a-lugging, pie eating, sack race and four legged race among them, again saw ADPi the winner. Chi O and Tri-Delt ran second and third.

Tri-Delt won the sixth event, the sorority skit, with the presentation of "Pleeping Cutie," a takeoff on the classic "Sleeping Beauty."

The Sigma Chi weekend continued last night with the Sigma Chi Sweetheart Ball and selection of Miss Mike Merker as the "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi."

Scouts to Man Collection Drive For War Needy

Trucks loaned by local merchants and manned by the Boy Scouts will cover Chapel Hill this afternoon in a used clothing drive for World Relief. A three-day drive on campus will begin Monday sponsored by the Council for Religion In Life.

A. C. Howell, chairman of the Used Clothing Campaign this year, says, "Hundreds of thousands of displaced persons in Europe, victims of war and floods in the Far East and in the islands of the Pacific still need the used clothing of prosperous America. You, through your church, are asked to give what you can in the annual Used Clothing Campaign of the Chapel Hill churches."

The Boy Scouts, under the leadership of S. Y. Tyree and William Hammett, will begin dood-to-door collecting of bundles at 2:30 this afternoon. Baby's clothing, men's work clothes, suits, overcoats and shoes are most needed but any article will be accepted.

Bill Freeman has rounded up the trucks from the Electric Construction Company, Bennet and Blocksidge, Farmer's Dairy, and Ogburn Furniture Company.

During the campus drive, boxes will be placed in each dormitory, fraternity and sorority house and a collection will be made each morning.

The students working on the CRIL collection committee will be: Peggy McKinley, in charge of collections in sororities; Kitty Altizer, in the women's dormitories; Charlie Gibson, in the fraternities; Ben Duke, in the men's dormitories; and Ed McLeod, in charge of transportation.

Material collected here will be sent to the Warehouse of the Church World Service in New Windsor, Maryland, for shipment abroad.

Quarterly Will Begin New Subscription Drive

Moose Expresses Hope That Magazine Can Be Self-Sufficient By Next Year

The Carolina Quarterly, campus literary magazine, completing its first successful year of operation, will begin taking subscriptions tomorrow for the coming year announced Editor Roy C. Moose.

A booth will be set up at the registration line for the convienence of all persons pre-registering for the summer quarter.

Subscriptions may also be mailed to the Quarterly at Box 1117, Chapel Hill.

"We are especially anxious to contact the graduating seniors for subscriptions at once in order that they may not miss the issues of the Quarterly for the coming year," Moose said.

Subscription rates for the coming year have been set at $1.50, an increase designed to make the Quarterly completely self-supporting in the future. Moose stated that increased costs of printing and mailing along with the failure of the budget to subsidize the Quarterly have necessitated the added cost. Most of the increase is to be used to expand the size of the publication.

"We are going to 80 pages in the spring and hope eventually to become in size and content a quarterly on par with the Yale Review anid the Virginia Quarterly as funds become available," Moose added.

During the past year the Quarterly has published works by such outstanding writers and authorities as Paul Green, Dr. Archibald Henderson, Richard Walser, Walter Pritchard Eaton, Dr. Hardin Craig, Charles Eaton, and Agatha Boyd Adams.

Contracted to appear in future issues are articles by Norman Cordon, Dr. I. G. Greer, Phillips Russell, Dr. J. B. Rhine, Hugh Holman, and Dr. Wallace Caldwell.

Also appearing in the Quarterly have been such outstanding student writers as Frank Groseclose, John Forest West, Charles Brockman, Nancy Murphy, Ruth Wolfe, Betty Peirson, Nancy Norman, Lois Latham, John Lawler, and Pinckney Williams.

Critics throughout the state and nation have hailed the Quarterly's progress in its first year of publication. Salutes have been received from the Saturday Review of Literature, Don Shoemaker, editor of the Asheville Citizen, Sam Ragan, and Kemp D. Battle.

41 Men Up For UNC President

RALEIGH, May 7—(UP)—Forty-one nominees already were suggested for the presidency of the Greater University of North Carolina, University trustees said today.

The nine-member committee of trustees appointed to select a new president met here Friday, but a spokesman refused to name those suggested for the post.

The committee will meet at Chapel Hill and Greensboro within the next two weeks to hear suggestions from faculty and students at the University and Woman's College.

Twin City Bank Will Sue Cordon

WINSTON-SALEM, May 7—Norman C. Cordon, Jr., former Metropolitan Opera singer, today was defendant in a suit filed by Forsyth Superior Court by the Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. for collection of $4,380.80.

Cordon is now connected with the Extension Department of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

The suit said that the bank was awarded a $6,915.39 judgment in Superior Court here July 17, 1939 and Cordon still owed $4,380.80. It added that no payment had been made since Sept. 8, 1948 and that the new complaint was filed to prevent the 10-year statute of limitations from barring indebtedness of the defendant.

French Students Continue Moliere Festival Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock is the time for the Moliere Festival at the Playmaker Theatre when the campus Theatre Francais will repeat "Le Medecin Malgre Lui" and Duke students will present "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme" on the same program. There will be no admission charge but programs containing synopses of the plays in English will be sold for the benefit of American Aid to France.

With these two popular comedies of the great French comic genius, the local audience will have an unusual opportunity to observe two different styles of Moliere; the farce, represented by "The Doctor in Spite of Himself" first produced in 1666 and the later more sophisticated comedy, "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme" written in 1670.

The Carolina players presenting "Le Medecin Malgre Lui" under the direction of Walter D. Creech are: Florence McCulloch, Yvonne Picard Creech, Urban T. Holmes, Ed Draper-Savage, Jacques Hardre, Bob Hooper, Bill Rutherford, Walter Paramore, Otis Beeson and the guest "artiste" Huguette Ex-Laxe.

"Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme" will be presented by the following members of the Duke University French fraternity, Tau Psi Omega, under the direction of Mrs. Neal Dow: Laura Mead Morris, Claire Naylor, Guy Satge, Mary Wimberly, Marie Brown, Jo Reynolds, Eugenia Eichman, Ed Berne, Lee Butler, Leslie Stallings, Bill Douglas, Dan Patterson, Don McCullen, Roger Upchurch, Morris Lehman, Alex McFadden, Jack Monts, and Fred Friedman.

Lewis Will Talk On Legislature

"What Happened in Raleigh?" will be the topic of a speech by Henry Lewis of the Institute of Government at a public meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Town Hall.

Lewis will give a review of the work of the 1949 Legislature, discussing bills that were passed in regard to the coming road bond issue election and the one cent gasoline tax. Other measures to be discussed include education bills and the raise for all state employees.

U.S. Not To Withdraw Army From Germany

New Musical Slated For Return Showing

'Merrily We Love' Hit Scene Stars Levinson, Gates, Faust, and Hillman

Plans have been completed for a return showing tomorrow night of the Sound and Fury musical "Merrily We Love," according to an announcement made yesterday by Mark Barker, president of the organization.

The enthusiasm shown by those attending the show Thursday and Friday nights plus the fact that many persons who have expressed a desire to see the performance but who had made plans to be absent from town due to Mother's Day, were the reasons given by Barker for the repeat performance.

Particular interest has been shown in the musical score written for the show by Frank Matthews. Matthews, a song writer with ten years composing experience behind him, chose 27 of what he considered his best numbers for the score.

The vocal talents of Lee Noll, Jimmy Faust, Betty Lokey and particularly Jean Hillman have also attracted wide spread attention on campus since the show opened Thursday night. The most popular scene in the entire show is the scene taken in the dressing room of the chorus girls. In this scene Gladys Levinson, Anita Gates, Jimmy Faust and Jean Hillman have an opportunity to give the audience the full benefit of their interpretation of what they think a chorus girl goes through in her struggle for stardom on the great whiteway. "I Wanted to Sing in the Opera" sung by Jean Hillman and backed by the entire chorus line drew curtain calls at each of the two performances.

Tickets for the return engagement will remain on sale in the "Y" lobby, Carolina Sport Shop and with members of the cast through Monday afternoon before the show reopens.

SP to Elect New Officers Monday

The Student Party will hold one of the most important meetings of the year tomorrow night at 9 o'clock in Roland Parker 3, Graham Memorial, said chairman Gran Childress yesterday. A complete slate of officers will be elected, and all members are asked to make a special effort to be present.

Quartet Concert To Be Presented In GM Tonight

The Ambassador Male Quartette, which will appear in the Main Lounge of Graham Memorial tonight at 8:30, will present a program of ensemble singing and selection played on the Swiss Bells.

Included in their repertoire are such numbers as Brahm's "Mount Your Horses," Schubert's "Ave Maria," Schuman's "Dreaming Lake," Youmans's "Without a Song," and numbers by Kerns, Doles, Sibelius and Koshetz.

Featured on the program will be their unusual interpretation of Negro spirituals and their renditions on the Swiss Bells. "The Bells of St. Mary's" and "Sunday Morning in London" have proved especially popular with many audiences.

Tonight's program is part of Graham Memorial's entertainment series, which has included in the past string quartets from the University and surrounding colleges, the Latin American Trio, and the Deep River Singers.

The programs are free to all students and townspeople. Bob Watson, director of the student union, explained that they are held in the Main Lounge in order to provide a comfortable, informal atmosphere for enjoyment.

Next Sunday evening Graham Memorial will sponsor a concert by Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra featuring both popular and original numbers. Friday night there will be a dance in the Main Lounge with music by Stormy Weathers and his orchestra. The affair will include a floor show and radio broadcast.

Naval Reserve Unit To Meet Tomorrow

The Naval Reserve Air Unit will hold its final meeting of the season Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the NROTC annex.

Red Proposals To Be Blocked At Paris Meet

WASHINGTON, May 7—(UP)—The United States will reject flatly any Soviet proposals for quick withdrawal of occupation troops from Germany, a high American diplomat said today.

He disclosed that the State Department is drafting counter-proposals to be ready in event the Soviets make such a demand at the Paris meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers. He said the United States is still committed to a long-term occupation policy.

This view was regarded as authoritative since this official is one of Secretary of State Dean Acheson's top advisers. He is certain to be a member of the United Nations delegation at the Paris Big Four meeting and is currently engaged in drafting American strategy for that meeting.

There has been evidence from behind the iron curtain that Soviet strategy at Paris will be directed toward winning support of German Nationalists, with a view to wrecking western plans for a west-German state, and that this strategy will hinge on a proposal to withdraw all occupation forces.

This official said the United States is confident that any such Soviet plan will fail. He said that, in the first place, it would align western Europe nations, notably France, even closer with the U. S. viewpoint because of their fears or renewed German aggression.

Secondly, he said, "a lot of Germans don't want it (U. S. troop withdrawal). They know Russia, they don't trust her, and they value the protection of our forces."

This official warned that "we do not expect an overall solution of the German problem to emerge from the Paris meeting."

"The German problem, like the poor, will be with us for a long time," he added.

Top State Department brains are working up "position" papers on a multitude of Greman issues. These "positions" will be "harmonized" with British and French views at preliminary three-power talks in Paris before the ministers start meeting.

The State Department announced today that ambassador-at-large Philip C. Jessup and department counselor Charles Bohlen will leave Washington for this preliminary meeting before the end of next week. It is anticipated that the three power conversations will last at least a week.

The diplomatic informant made it clear that the United States is approaching the four-power talks with extreme caution. He said that in the lifting of the Berlin blockade, "We won a battle."

Now, he said, "The main idea is to avoid loosing a campaign."

He said that while Acheson has set no "deadline" for conclusion of the Paris meeting, "still we feel that by June 15 we should know where we stand" and whether it will be worthwhile to continue the talks.

"Mr. Acheson cannot afford to remain away from Washington too long," he said.

This official denied reports that the United States will propose a new separate currency for Berlin when the involved Berlin currency problem is taken up by the foreign ministers.

Former Professor Here Is Awed By The University's Great Growth

By R. W. Madry

Back in Chapel Hill this week for his first visit of any length since he resigned as head of the University Journalism Department 23 years ago to join the editorial staff of the Baltimore Evening Sun, Gerald Johnson, noted author and newspaperman, expressed amazement at the growth of University and town since his faculty days.

"Chapel Hill is bigger, handsomer, and commoner, but I hate to see many of the beautiful views blocked off by the new buildings, many of them of a temporary nature, constructed in recent years," said Author Johnson.

"When I first came here 23 years ago the University was as poor as Job's turkey but very proud. There was so much land available that you could throw away 10 acres of building sites and still have plenty left. Things are so crowded now that about the only unobstructed view is the front part of the campus facing Franklin Street.

The prestige and reputation of the University of North Carolina have increased by leaps and bounds throughout the country in recent years and "the University is now regarded everywhere as the most modern and progressive collegiate institution below the Potomac," Johnson said. "No doubt Dr. Frank Graham's work in the national field has contributed in large measure to this reputation.

"It's much to the credit of the State that the University has been able to introduce new ideas without being gagged," he added. Johnson was pleased to note that the big increase in the output of Southern writers in recent years. Recalling that Henry L. Mencken once referred to the South as the Sahara of the Beaux Arts, he said the section could now be called the Vale of Tempo.

"The intellectual ferment of the South is startling," he said. "In Chapel Hill, for instance, everybody seems to be writing a book or on the verge of writing one. The University Press ranks high all over the country as one of the best, and there are other good university presses at Duke, Oklahoma, and Louisiana State.

"The South is still a pretty dismal section, however, for booksellers, with the exception of Texas."

Noting that newspapermen now make much larger salaries than they did when he was a younster, Johnson remarked that "they don't seem to be any better off and they don't work nearly as hard as they used to. It used to be nothing to put in 12 to 15 hours a day."

He was greatly pleased at the Colonial style of architecture that is being used more and more on the fronts of establishments in the Chapel Hill business section.

Aquinas Committee Meeting Set Monday

A meeting of the Aquinas Club Executive Committee will be held tomorrow on the second floor of the YMCA, a Club spokesman stated yesterday.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... C. B. MENDENHALL

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. - Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Yaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Bruner
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins

Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall

Night Editor: Don Maynard

Betting on What We Believe

One of life's self-evident truths is that history is a real fight. We see in both the world of nature and of man contending forces that we variously call creative and destructive or good and evil. And, unless we adopt a completely nihilistic attitude, we believe that struggle is important. This fact confronts us with a choice. Scripturally, the issue is stated in Deutoronomy: "I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore choose life."

The choice is to be made on philosophical level. Is life essentially good, or essentially evil? On which side of the battle are the ultimate forces of the universe arrayed?

Here any choice that we may make presents problems. If we say that the universe is indifferent, we are under the necessity of explaining the reality of the struggle. If the cosmic process supports the good, how do we account for the presence of evil? If the primal forces are by nature destructive, what is the source of "life" and "blessing"?

For these questions, so far as I know, there is no final answer. I personally believe that the existence of evil in an essentially good universe can be more satisfactorily explained than the other way around. And here I find myself in some quite respectable intellectual company. But only a shallow mind would dismiss the fact of mystery and tragedy in life. When we have said all that we can to make intelligible the presence of pain and error, there is still a vast amount of suffering and injustice that seems quite senseless and useless. It is not possible to prove beyond dispute that God is good. The choice we make then is essentially, as Pascal said, a wager. This, I think, is what faith means. It is placing our bet on what we believe is true, staking our lives on the things we want to see triumphant.

Which leads to the observation that the choice is moral as well as intellectual, practical as much as philosophical. A man can delay making up his mind, but he cannot put off making up his life. Here, incidentally, is one of the real dangers of life in a university community. Since this is in a sense a period of preparation, one is apt to have the feeling that time is standing still, that our real decisions and actions are to take place in the future. But the truth is that the present is the only time we have. And what we do with this present contributes either to the tendency that is lifting life up or to that which is tearing it down. Every moment of our existence we do choose between selfishness and unselfishness, purity and impurity, doing our part or shirking the job. And in those choices we ally ourselves with one side or another in the battle between good and evil.

It is an interesting fact that men do not always make the same choice intellectually and morally. Principal L. P. Jacks described a shoemaker friend of his who "spent his breath in proving that God did not exist, but spent his life in proving that He did." There are people who do not consciously believe that life is basically good, yet devote their lives to making it as good as they can. One must admire their high-mindedness and integrity. Certainly they ought not to choose faith in a good God simply because they want it to be so, because it would be more comfortable to believe. They must be rigorously honest, even if that means to fight on without faith. Of such people one can well imagine God saying, as He is represented in Dr. Moffatt's translation of the Bible, "Ye know me not, but I delight in you."

Nevertheless, if a man has made the moral choice, if he has determined to throw "the stubborn ounces of his weight" on the side of good in the struggle against evil, the question of faith is no mere academic one. If we are devoted to a cause, it is a matter of personal urgency whether that cause is supported by cosmic forces. We do not wish to deceive ourselves. But if it is true that there is a Power beyond ourselves who works for good, it would be a pity if we did not recognize Him and ally ourselves with Him.

Henry G. Ruark

Big Man, No Ticket

Policemen frequently have a knack for making the public angry, and the Chapel Hill force is no exception. It seems that certain students and professors have accumulated a large number of tickets for illegal parking in and around Bynum Hall. One professor was considerably put out for receiving a ticket for stopping a few minutes in an illegal place during a big rain one day. He admitted his error, but under the circumstances felt his use of the no-parking space justified.

But this week, it was with a great deal of amusement that we observed the local policeman who patrols that area get in a bit of hot water attempting to tag another car parked in this same place. The weather was fine, and there were available places to park nearby, but it seems that the car belonged to a certain high official of the state and university. The policeman first started to tag the car—before he knew who it belonged to. When he was so informed, the car was left unmolested and the policeman went serenely on his way.

Mouth-Fools

On Bridge

By Jimmy Rutherford

While hundreds of eager sports - minded students are flocking to Lenoir's backyard to witness rip-roaring baseball contests, there are hundreds of others just as sports-minded that are staying in their cool rooms in the afternoon engaging in another sport that is beginning to seriously rival the local nine in the daytime and the local theatres at night. This in steadily increasing game that is creeping into the realm of college life is the renowned card game of bridge. Bridge is a game where a good deal depends on a good deal.

This is a type of game that requires skill. One has to have a thorough knowledge in this particular entertainment before his playing will be appreciated. It has to be played carefully and shrewdly because if one relaxes for a hand one will encounter humorous results and awful language from their partner. On one jack, two queens, three kings and four drinks, one cannot imagine the results.

Bridge is a game that will make almost as many friends as it will enemies. It was only yesterday that I happened to see a fooball player hobbling around with two shin splints on his legs. I asked him if football scrimmage had been getting him down, but it seemed that the gridiron wasn't the cause for him misfortune. He had been playing bridge with his girl the day before and had kept leading back in her weak suit.

Bridge is a good way to make new friends, if you want to make new friends. It is a good ice breaker, but then so is a hammer. You can always, however, invite a girl up for a bridge game and a scotch and sofa.

I must warn you now against playing for money. Most of us may play for it but usually wind up playing without it. It is dangerous to play with a bad loser, but I had much rather play against a bad loser than a good winner. Yesterday I was cleaned of seventy-five cents and though I wasn't very dirty, you can see how that would add up.

Let me relate another incident on what playing for money in bridge will do for you. I saw an old friend of mine last week with a terrible frown upon his face.

"What's wrong Pete?" I asked and he answered: "It's my wife! She won $500 in a bridge game and split with me." "Well," I said, "Why should you be so upset about that?" "I said she split with me," Pete answered, "She packed her bag and left!"

In closing I would like to tell a little story about Ely Culbertson, the world's most famous bridge expert. Probably fictious, the story goes that Culbertson was playing with some European count who considered himself pretty good and who was playing against him and had kept looking into Culbertson's hand the entire evening. Becoming somewhat agitated at this, Culbertson drew a kind of sorry hand one would only play under an assumed name. The Count had drawn a whopper and had promptly bid five diamonds.

Now Culbertson had two diamonds in his hand, the King and three. He hid the three in the back of his hand and let the Count look into his hand and see only the King.

The Count, apparentally satisfied, raised the bid to seven diamonds. When the Count gained the lead, he smugly dropped down the ace of diamonds expecting to snag the single King but his chin hit the table when he saw the three pop on the board. Rising up from the table in a rage, he shouted: "I will not play with crooks!"

Moral: Don't ever look into Ely Culbertson's hand or when you have thirteen of one suit in a hand, bid a no-trump.

ROY MOOSE, left, and Tom Kerr discuss their publications. —Staff photo by Mills

Campus Personalities

Meet Kerr And Moose

By Frank Allston, Jr.

For the second of this week's "Campus Personalities" we shift the spotlight to the little room on the south mezanine of Graham Memorial where the bright beam picks out Roy C. Moose, the editor of the Carolina Quarterly.

Roy, a native of Mooresville, will graduate in June and will go to England in August to take advantage of a $2,450 Rotary International fellowship to Oxford University, where he will do graduate work in English.

An English major, Roy made Phi Beta Kappa in his junior year and has maintained the 95.5% average which qualified him for membership in that outstanding honor fraternity.

Moose says he has always been interested in writing. He studied for a year under Phillips Russell and worked on the Daily Tar Heel when he entered Carolina.

He was elected to the editorship of the Quarterly in the fall elections and has put out an edition in each of the quarters he has held the office. The present plans call for the spring quarter edition to hit the newsstands around May 20, if not sooner.

For his fine work on campus publications, Roy was recently honored by being tapped and initiated into the Golden Fleece.

During the recent war Moose served as a lieutenant in the Army Air Force. Lt. Moose was in the service almost four years and he spent a good deal of time in Italy.

After doing some free lance writing, Roy entered Carolina in January 1946.

Moose sees a great future for the Carolina Quarterly. He says that he "personally feels that this campus is big enough for both Tarnation and the Quarterly" and that someday the campus " will definitely be large enough to support both."

Someday he hopes to see the Quarterly rated along with the Yale magazine and the Virginia Quarterly.

The new editor hopes to continue in writing and publication and if he has the success he has had at Carolina, the name of Roy C. Moose will become well known in the publications field.

* * *

The man behind the cover of the new Tarnation scheduled to come out next week is Tom Kerr, the first of our "Campus Personalities" of the week and editor of the Carolina humor magazine.

Pasadena, California, was elected Tom, a rising Junior from to his new position in the April elections, by a 13-vote margin.

Kerr (pronounced like "car," please) has been interested in Tarnation ever since he arrived on the Carolina campus back in the fall of 1947. A week after coming to Chapel Hill, Tom was appointed managing editor of Tarnation, a position he held until his election to the job of head man in the Tarnation house hold.

Presently planning to major in philosophy, Kerr intends to keep right on with his magazine work. Although he doesn't have any definite plans, he is pretty sure he'll find something in the magazine line when he graduates.

An interesting point about the new editor is the fact that he has never written an article for Tarnation. Although he has written a few editorials, cutlines and the like, Kerr claims he has only been the boss.

Kerr came to Carolina from Webb School in Claremont in his native California, where he was editor of his prep school paper. After graduation, he worked a year in New York City on the Inter-American Magazine.

Tom served in the Student Legislature for a year and six months of that time he was SP floor leader. But now, he insists, there will be no more politics.

The new editor's plans for the future call for a pocket-sized (5x7 inches) trial edition next fall. If it meets with student and staff approval, the 1949-'50 Tarnation may take on a "new look."

Another reform planned by Kerr for his magazine is more emphasis on campus activities and better balanced copy. Other reforms are dependent on printing costs and the effect the $1,000 budget cut which the Student Legislature recently voted will have.

Tom says he doubts if he'll run for editor again next April, but will reserve his definite decision until later.

He says he wants to devote his senior year to studying in order to raise his average before graduation. Tom made Phi Eta Sigma in his first quarter, but since that time his grades have "dropped beautifully thanks to extra-curricular activities."

But during the next year he'll have the job of giving the Tar Heel campus a bigger and better Tarnation.

Coed Column

Whistles Below Par

By Harriet Williamson

What can make a poor coed feel more conspicuous than walking alone past a large crowd of the opposite sex? A new twist to this story occurred the other day when Candy Jonas was peacefully ambling past the back steps of South building where a number of males were drinking their morning cup of coffee. A loud mass whistle of appreciation came forth, whereupon Candy turned and looking right at the offending parties said, "Well is that the best you can do!"

Everyone agrees that the Blue and White game last Saturday would not have been a success without the heavenly deluge, but when a treasure hunt is scheduled in such weather, it's a different thing. Some of the enterprising treasure seekers were Ann Keane and "Sody Pop" Heath who sought their clues everywhere from the Forest Theater to the second trash pile down a lonesome road. Mud was the prize for all—thick, sloshy, nasty mud.

The Interdormitory Council frowns on softball games while the girls are sunbathing on the dorm roofs. Also taboo for the 2nd degree burn candidates are weight lifting, boxing, and handball. If you must do something while sunbathing, it has been suggested that tiddley-winks and Old Maid are two exciting sports.

In case people might jump to the conclusion that the iniquity and vice at old Chaple Hill has at last brought a delegation of clergy to stage a revival, the influx of the white collars next Thursday is due to an invitation extended by the YMCA and the YWCA for ministers to see the planetarium and other sights of the campus.

Early Monday morning while most people were scurrying to classes, a cheerful sight was beheld on the wall outside of McIver dorm. Buddy Peirce and Don MacIntosh among others still in jeans, and shorts, and bathing suits were continuing their beach party with a few last minute snapshots. They claimed a record speed back to the Hill, too.

The plutocrats all may be at the Kentucky this weekend, but the rest of us will be at the Sigma Chi's own "Darby" Saturday. Instead of bourgeoisie old horse races, they have devised more fiendish varieties like sack races and egg races—also, if you've overheard screams of "Oh no, not me!" lately, it is just one of the candidates up for Miss Modern Venus to be chosen at the Sig-shindig Saturday. Bashful girls!

A professor in the Journalism Department recently complained bitterly of the sad state of affairs when a poor teacher cannot find parking space for his humble Ford because of all the students' Buicks monopolizing the lots. For shame on you Buick drivers!

Its really not a lobster walking down the street, it is merely Judy Nunnally who baked a little more than "over-light" in Old Sol's rays.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

POOR SUBJECT

Editor:

In an editorial entitled "Poor Subject For Debate" appearing in Friday's (May 6) Daily Tar Heel, Mr. Dick Jenrette expressed his opinion that the Phi debate, scheduled for Monday night on abolishment of student government, will be ironic and "ridiculous."

For the students' information not one member of the Phi Assembly is advocating abolishment of student government except for the purpose of debate.

The present roll of the Phi includes leaders in every field: In the recent elections four Phi men were elected to the Student Legislature and one to the Men's Honor Council. The Grail has just initiated two members of the Phi and the Golden Fleece tapped one this spring.

The chairman of the Men's Interdorm Council is in the Phi.

The past speaker of the Coed Senate is in the Phi. The Gramattius of the Fleece is in the Phi.

Chancellor R. B. House, Dean Fred Weaver, (one of those invited to the debate), Governors Max Gardner, Charles B. Aycock, Vance and Craig, General Pettigrew, and Vice-President Rufus King were Phi men. Many of the past editors of the Daily Tar Heel were Phi men before they were journalists.

The Phi Assembly along with its cousin the Di Senate are largely responsible for the birth of student government at U.N.C.? (If anyone doubts this, let him ask Dr. Frank.)

Many years before The Daily Tar Heel, whose past record is distinguished, first went to press the Phi Assembly was successfully fighting the good fight for student self-government. Witness for example the lead story of The Daily Tar Heel of Jan. 5, 1936 as evidence of one of the many benefits reaped for Chapel Hill students through the efforts of the Phi.

Something is wrong with student government when only three of every ten students care enough to vote. There definitely ARE STUDENTS AND PROFESSORS who think student government is so much hogwash.

In an effort to stimulate interest in student government (and in the Phi) Monday's debate was scheduled.

Over the years the Phi has debated such topics as: "Which is more dangerous, fire or coeds?," "Is there a God?," and one sponsored by Charles B. Aycock, "Should N. C. provide its children free education?"

Mr. Jenrette has shown his proficiency as an editor. The Phi believes he woul make a good debater. He is cordially invited to come Monday night and challenge the "ridiculous" arguments.

Graham Jones,
Publicity Chairman

TIME WANTED

Editor:

Although I am writing this from the floor of Bowman Gray Memorial Indoor Swimming Pool with my "it-writes-under-water" fountain pen, regretfully I do not possess a WATER PROOF, shockproof, non-magnetic wrist watch.

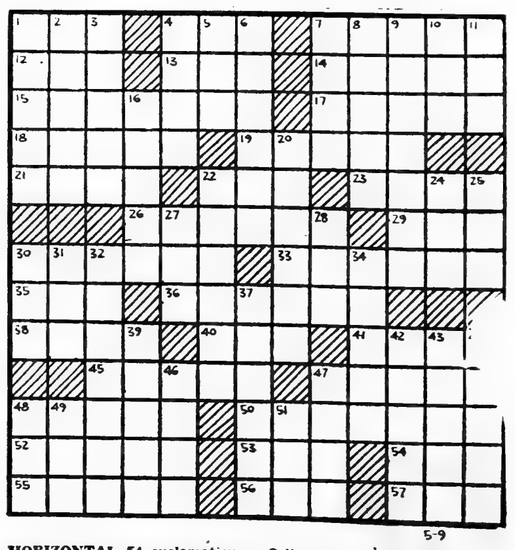
Consequently it would be very beneficial to me—and to 6,999 other students I hope—if the University would obligingly install a clock (or clocks) in the Bowman Gray Swimming Pool building. In view of the number of other clocks in assorted places about the campus, I can see no more practical or more needed place for a clock (or clocks).

If no time pieces of the usual sort are available, since the pool has a translucent roof, maybe the University could at least install a sun dial.

Name Withheld by Request

POLICY FORTHCOMING

(Sometime during the next week the Daily Tar Heel will print in this column a policy regarding letters to the editor; and after this column appears, only those letters which conform with this policy will be printed.



If you plan to write letters to the editor, then watch for this and follow the policy so that your letters may be printed.)

Short, Short Edit

Folks went to the beach, to Hogans and home for Mother's Day this week, leaving Chapel Hill practically deserted except for a few stay-at-homes who had other things to do in town.

Those who stayed here had plenty of entertainment, however, with "Merrily We Love" featured in Memorial Hall, a good entertaining program in the Rendezvous Room and the usual available "tea rooms" downtown which didn't suffer too much insofar as business was concerned.

More attractive entertainment on Friday and Saturday nights will serve to keep even more people in town. A good start is being made, we only hope that it will continue to improve in the weeks to come.

HORIZONTAL
1. anchor tackle
4. dove note
7. palm
12. seniority
13. acknowledge
14. take exception
15. flavor
17. avoid
18. revise
19. of the cheeks
21. recent
22. lamprey
23. gape
26. misgiving
29. likewise
30. incarnation
33. overlay
35. chisel for breaking ore
36. compound in fir-wood
38. auditory
40. transgress
41. gait
45. crowd
47. finch
48. concerning
50. conceal
52. lariat
53. pulpy fruit
54. exclamation
55. dress with beak
56. even, poetic
57. induced

VERTICAL
1. large and hollow
2. lizard
3. principle
4. frigid
5. bird of prey
6. wild ass
7. seaport of Arabia
8. fresh set
9. rival
10. rumen
11. live
16. passive
20. cricket team
22. departure
24. sorrow
25. and not
27. lug
28. denary
30. past
31. large vessel
32. fatty
34. later
37. fabrication
39. oil jar
42. of a plane surface
43. limber
44. work and press into a mass
46. town on Thames
47. scrutinize
48. high mountain
49. hindrance
51. twilight, poetic

Answer to Saturday's puzzle.

A	R	T		T	H	E		S	P	R	A	T
S	H	E		R	E	S		O	R	A	T	E
H	I	N	D	E	R	S		L	I	V	E	D
E	N	S	U	E		E	P	O	D	E
N	E	E	D		A	N	A		E	L	I	S
		E	L	D	E	R	S		F	R	E
P	A	R	S	E	D		L	E	A	D	E	N
E	L	I		F	I	D	E	R	S
S	I	V	A		N	E	Y		H	A	D	E
	I	M	A	G	E		S	E	N	O	R
O	R	E	A	D		P	E	N	S	I	V	E
C	A	R	T	E		E	R	A		L	E	T
A	M	A	I	N		R	I	P		E	R	S

Average time of solution: 17 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Baseballers Tie Virginia; Track, Net Teams Get Wins

Ninth Inning Showers Stop Game With Score at 6-All

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., May 7—Old Jupiter Pluvius horned in again today and caused the Carolina and Virginia baseball teams to stop play in the ninth with the score tied at 6-6

The Cavaliers started things rolling in the first inning. Force walked and then advanced to second on a sacrifice hit by Winn. When Tanvak singled, Force scored and Virginia took a lead which she didn't relinquish until the sixth.

In the third the Cavaliers scored again. Winn gained first on an error by Andy Tranavitch. Tranvak went to first on an error by Brookshire. Phillips then hit a long ball to leftfield and scored both runners.

But the Tar Heels were not to be outdone. In the first of the fifth Jim Ballou hit a double to Leftfielder Carr, who fell down in an attempt to make the catch and lost the ball. Ballou took advantage of the situation, and while the befuddled Carr was hunting the ball, rounded third and came in home for the first Carolina score.

Virginia retaliated in the bottom of the fifth when Phillips tripled to leftfield and scored on a double by Bill Berner, making the score five for Virginia and one for Carolina.

The sixth inning was all Carolina's. The Cavaliers, who had had the game on ice up to this point, suddenly fell apart and the Tar Heels scored four runs on three errors.

Will Hobbs started the inning off with a single. Tranavitch walked, and Joe Brookshire went to first on a fielder's choice. Goodman then singled to fill the bases. Rip Ryan, went to first on an error by pitcher Buddy Charles, and in the resulting confusion the four runners all came in home to put the Tar Heels back in the ball game.

But Virginia wasn't ready to give up yet and in the last of the sixth Force hit a home run to tie the score once again.

With rain already beginning to threaten the game, Carolina scored one last run and took a short-lived lead. Ryan, who has been a consistent hitter, singled. Ed Lamb then showed his prowess with a bat by hitting a double and scoring the Ripper for the visitors' last run of the day.

Following their policy set in the fifth whereby for every inning in which the Tar Heels scored there must be at least one Virginia run, the Cavaliers scored and tied up the game for the second time. Elliot, who hadn't hit all afternoon, connected for a single. Jack Leachman, who had taken the mound for Charles, found his range and singled to score Elliot.

Stormy Weather!

Carolina	AB	R	H	E
Brookshire, 3b	5	1	0	1
Goodman, 2b	4	1	1	0
Ryan, ss	4	1	1	0
Varney, c	4	0	2	0
Lamb, rf	4	0	2	0
Ballou, cf	4	1	1	0
Ward, lf	3	0	1	0
Hobbs, 1b	2	1	1	0
Tranavitch, p	4	1	0	1
McGinn, p	0	0	0	0
Blair, p	0	0	0	0
TOTALS	34	6	7	2
Virginia	AB	R	H	E
Force, 2b	4	1	1	0
Winn, cf	4	1	0	0
Tanvak, 3b	4	1	1	1
Phillips, rf	4	0	2	0
Carr, lf	5	1	0	1
Berner, c	3	1	2	0
Elliott, 1b	4	1	1	0
Patton, ss	4	0	0	2
Huff, 3b	1	0	0	0
Charles, p	2	0	0	1
Leachman, p	1	0	1	0
TOTALS	36	6	8	5

Score by innings:

NORTH CAROLINA	000	014	010—6
VIRGINIA	102	011	010—6

Runs batted in: Brookline, Goodman, Varney, Lamb, Force, Phillips 2, Carr, Berner, Leachman. Two base hits: Lamb, Berner. Three-base hits: Phillips. Home Runs: Force. Strike outs: Tranavitch 5, Charles 5, Leach 4. Basses on balls: Tranavitch 5, McGinn 1, Leachman 3.

INTRAMURAL ROUNDUP

FRAT WATER POLO

Monday will be the only day for entries into mural water polo. Only fraternity teams will play and entries must be in by 6 o'clock.

HORSESHOE SCHEDULE

4:00, courts 1-2: Sig Chi 1 vs ATO 1; 3-4: Pi Lamb 1 vs Sig Eps 1; 5-6: PiKA 2 vs Pi Lamb 2.

5:00, courts 1-2: Beta 1 vs Phi Kap Sig 1; 3-4: Phi Delt 1 vs Zeta 2; 5-6: Delta Sig 1 vs Sig Nu 1.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00, field 1—AEPi vs Chi Psi 1; 2—TEP 2 vs Phi Delt 3; 3—Emer Mems vs Alexander; 4—Law Sch vs Alums; 5—Steele vs Town 2; 6—DKE 1 vs Chi Phi 2; 7—KA 3 vs Sig Chi 3; 8—ZBT vs Phi Delt 2.

5:00, field 1—Kappa Sig 2 vs ATO 2; 2—Sig Chi 1 vs Chi Psi 2; 3—Kappa Psi 1 vs Phi Gam 3; 4—Ruffin vs Med Sch 2; 5. Med Sch 1 vs Town 1; 6—Manly vs Emerson 2; 7—Stacy vs Graham; 8—Kap Sig 1 vs SAE 2.

TENNIS SCHEDULE

4:00, courts 1-4: Kap Sig 1 vs Pi Kap Phi; courts 5-8: Town 1 vs A-Dorm 2; courts 9-11: Zeta 2 vs Phi Gam 2.

5:00, courts 1-4: DKE 1 vs Phi Delts; courts 5-8: KA 1 vs Pi Lamb 1; courts 9-11: Lamb Chi vs PiKA 4.

The teams were still tied in the ninth when the rain proved too much for even two such old rivals as Virginia and Carolina and in spite of the score the umpire was forced to call the game.

Tomorrow the Tar Heels will take on Wake Forest at Chapel Hill in an attempt to outwit Ole Jupe who has taken over the last four times the teams have been supposed to meet.

Ponder Wins Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 7—(UP)—Calumet's Ponder, a 17 to 1 shot, broke through in the last fifty yards to capture the blanket of roses in this year's Kentucky Derby. Capot was second and Palestinian was third while Olympia, the pre-race favorite, gave out of gas at the head of the stretch and crossed the line in sixth place. Ponder was ridden by Steve Brooks and netted $91,600.

Tar Heel Golfers Tie Demon Deacs

WINSTON-SALEM, May 7—The golf teams of the University of North Carolina and Wake Forest College fought to a 13½-13½ tie here today in one of the best college matches of the season. Wake Forest's Bud Worsham won medal honors of the day with a 33-34—67.

Roy MacKenzie was the Tar Heel medalist with a 37-31—68. MacKenzie played a steady game, carding an eagle three on the 18th hole to drop one stroke behind Worsham.

The summary: Ward (C) 1½, Palmer 1½; Worsham (WF) 3, Cox 0. Best ball Wake Forest 3-0.

MacKenzie (C) 3, Harris 0; Brantley (C) 3, Agner 0. Best ball to Carolina 3-0.

Brooks (C) 2½, Mills ½, Sapp (C) ½, Randolph 2½. Best ball to Wake Forest, 3-0.

Frosh Netmen Win Over Maury, 12-0

The University of North Carolina freshman tennis team copped its eighth win of the season yesterday as they shut out Maury High School of Norfolk, Va. 12-0.

The summary:

Singles: Hammerstein defeated Jett, 6-4, 6-3; Duval defeated Redfern, 6-0, 6-0; Milton defeated Berkely, 6-2, 6-0; Haroutunian defeated Lingamfelter, 6-1, 6-1; Smith defeated Adams, 8-6, 7-5; Litton defeated Zfass, 6-2, 6-2; Redding defeated Drake 6-0, 6-1; Carson defeated Melton, 6-1, 6-0.

Doubles: Hammerstein-Smith defeated Jett-Berkley, 6-1, 6-3; Duval-Milton defeated Lingamfelter-Zfass, 6-2, 6-1; Redding-Litton defeated Melton-Redfern, 6-0, 6-4; Haroutunian-Whitlock defeated Adams-Drake, 6-0, 6-4.

For Your Flower Needs—
—Call—
West-Williams Flower Shop
PH. 9906—P.O. BLDG.—CARRBORO
Flowers Wired Anywhere

In Varsity Meet; Freshmen Downed MacKenzie Stars

The Carolina track squad showed talent to burn yesterday as the local cinderman walked away from the Blue Devils of Duke to the tune of a 81½-49½ Tar Heel victory. In the freshman meet, run simultaneously, the Blue Imps defeated the Tar Babys, 50-30.

Julian MacKenzie, Tar Heel distance man, was the star of the show. The speedy ("How many points do we need now") MacKenzie copped the 880, tied for first in the mile with Sam Magill, and turned in a flashy final leg on the Carolina mile relay team.

The relay, which was the feature race of day, was, according to the books, a Duke specialty. However, MacKenzie had different ideas. Coming into the last lap the Tar Heels were 15 yards behind, but it didn't much matter for the meet was already a Tar Heel victory. MacKenzie took the baton from Marshall and took off in hot pursuit of Duke's Laurin Young. He caught him five yards ahead of the tape, and with a final burst of speed finished just ahead of Young for the victory.

Bob Seligman, Carolina weight specialist, and Jack Moody were the only dual winners of the day. Seligman took the shot and discus as usual, and Moody set a new record in the high jump and easily copped the broad jump.

Hurdler Dick Taylor turned in a top performance in the highs to defeat highly-touted Tommy Reeves of Duke with a time of 14.9. Reeves came back in the low hurdles, however, to win. He placed a few yards of Taylor who finished second.

In all, the Carolinians captured 11 firsts and tied for first in the pole vault. Duke had three wins to their credit.

Coed Archery

Entries for the coed archery tournament must be turned in to Dot Casey in Women's Gym by Tuesday at 12 noon.

Durham Optical Co.
215 W. MAIN ST.
TEL: F 2141
OPTICIANS

Here 'Tis!!!

The varsity summary:

Shot put: 1—Seligman (C) 48'5½"; 2—O'Leary (D), 48'1⅛"; 3—Friedlund (D), 43'6¾".

Mile run: 1—Tie between MacKenzie (C) and Magill (C); 3—Hooper (C). Time: 4:27.5.

Javelin: 1—Kirk (C), 190'10"; 2—Dunham (D), 175'1"; 3—Baldwin (C), 171'4".

440-Yd. dash: 1—Young (D); 2—Terrell (C); 3—Carr (D). Time 49.6.

100-Yd. dash: 1—Davis (D); 2—Crimmins (C); 3—Marshall (C). Time: 10.0.

High jump: 1—Moody (C), 6' 2¾"; 2—Joyner (C), 6'2"; 3—Tie between Colvin (D) and Saunders (C), 6'. (New dual meet record.)

120-Yd. high hurdles: 1—Taylor (C); 2—Reeves (D); 3—Morrow (C). Time: 14.9.

880-Yd. run: 1—MacKenzie (C); 2—Bullock (D); 3—Miller (D). Time: 1:55.3.

Pole Vault: 1—Tie between House (C) and Bowles (D), 12'6"; 3—Colvin (D), 12'.

Discus: 1—Seligman (C), 156'1½"; 2—O'Leary (D), 139'11½"; 3—Ogden (C), 136'11½".

220-Yd. dash: 1—Crimmins (C); 2—Young (D); 3—Davis (D). Time: 22.1

Two Mile: Magill (C); 2—Griffith (D); 3—Marshall (D). Time: 10:40.4.

Broad Jump: 1—Moody (C), 22'10½"; 2—Bridge (D), 21'9¾"; 3—Briley (C), 21'.

220-Yd. low hurdles: 1—Reeves (D); 2—Taylor (C); 3—Moody (C). Time: 24.2.

Mile Relay: Won by Carolina (Shields, White, Marshall, MacKenzie). Time: 3:26.8.

The freshman summary:

High Jump: 1—Nichols (D), 6'2"; 2—Winsor (C), 6'1"; 3—Moore (C), 5'8".

Discus: 1—Earon (D), 112'7½"; 2—Pearson (D), 111'9"; 3—Council (C), 110'9½".

Mile run: 1—Hamrick (C); 2—Varellan (D); 3—Thurber (C). Time: 4:36.6

440-Yd. dash: Brigham (C); 2—Loub (D); 3—Kulpan (D). Time: 50.9.

100-Yd. dash: 1—Poss (D); 2—Wimslow (C); 3—Gupp (D). Time: 10.1.

120-Yd. high hurdles: 1—McDonald (D); 2—White (C); 3—Woolcott (C). Time: 15.5.

880-Yd. run: 1—Salazer (D); Fullmer (D); 3—Williams (C). Time: 2:03.2.

Javelin: 1—Smitherman (C), 153'5"; 2—Earon (D), 151'7"; 3—Foy (C), 148'8".

220-Yd. dash: 1—Poss (D); 2—Brigham (C); 3—Winslow (C). Time: 22.3.

Pole vault: 1—White (C), 11'; 2—Nichols (D), 10'6". (Only two finished.)

220-Yd. low hurdles: 1—McDonald (D); 2—Pless (C); 3—White (C). Time: 25.5.

Broad jump: 1—Poss (D), 21'11"; 2—Nichols (D), 21'9¼"; 3—White (C), 20'9".

Two-mile: 1—Tomlinson (D); 2—Dickson (C); 3—Spangler (C). Time: 10:16.

Mile relay: Won by Duke (Fullmer, Salazar, Varellan, Loub). Time: 3:31.1.

Shot put: 1—Earon (D), 38'7½"; 2—O'Brien (C), 36'8"; 3—Allison (D), 35'10".

BASEBALL RESULTS

National League

Cincinnati 4, Boston 2
Brooklyn 10, Chicago 4
Pittsburgh 6, Philadelphia 4
New York 9, St. Louis 1

American League

Cleveland 4, Boston 3
New York 8, Chicago 1
Detroit 4, Philadelphia 2
Washington 6, St. Louis 4

Europe
ROUND TRIP $280 UP
Tickets available now for steamship accommodations
SUMMER 1949
Personally Conducted Tours $700 up
UNIVERSITY TRAVEL CO.
Harvard Sq., Cambridge, Mass.

Netmen Gain Win Over West Side In 5-4 Contest

LONG ISLAND, N. Y., May 7—The University of North Carolina tennis team today defeated the powerful West Side Tennis Club, 5-4, on windy courts before a large crowd.

As they entered the match, the Tar Heels were rated only a fair chance to defeat the potent amateurs of New York. Playing for the West Siders were two former Carolina tennis captains—Rider and Rood.

Vic Seixas extended his winning streak to 21 matches as he defeated Masterson in 28 games, 6-4, 10-8. Clark Taylor followed in Seixas' footsteps with an impressive win over Tully, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Charlie Rice defeated McGrath in three sets. 4-6, 6-2, 6-3. Duke Wilder followed with an 8-6, 5-7, 6-1 win over Rider.

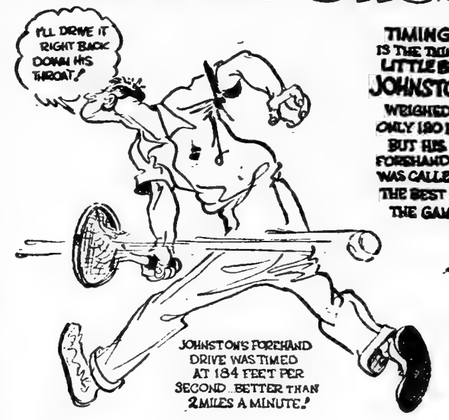
The top doubles duet of Taylor-Seixas were the only Carolina doubles winners.

The touring Carolinians will return to Chapel Hill over the weekend to begin preparations for the Southern Conference championships to be held at the University of North Carolina next week.

The summary—Singles: Seixas (C) defeated Masterson, 6-4, 10-8; Taylor (C) defeated Tully, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2; Seely (WS) defeated Gruner, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2; Rice (C) defeated McGrath, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3; Wilder (C) defeated Rider, 8-6, 5-7, 6-1; Rood (WS) defeated Winstead, 6-3, 6-3.

Doubles: Seixas-Taylor (C) defeated Masterson-Tully, 6-4, 6-1. McGrath-Seeler (WS) defeated Gruner-Winstead, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2; Rider-Davenport (WS) defeated Rice-Wilder, 5-7, 6-3, 6-3.

SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT



The winner of the coed softball tournament will be determined tomorrow afternoon when Chi O I meets the Graduates at Kenan Stadium at 4 o'clock. Both teams are undefeated, and tomorrow's game will decide the 1949 champion.

At the same time Pi Phi 2 will battle Town in the consolation game.

VILLAGE
TODAY
BLONDE FIANCEE... by day!
BRUNETTE WIFE... by night!
Between them both, he didn't know what time it was!
"Hired Wife"
starring
ROSALIND RUSSELL • BRIAN AHERNE
VIRGINIA BRUCE
A REALART PICTURE
Re-Released by EAGLE LION FILMS

MONDAY
ALL ITS FUN FOR EVERYONE AT REGULAR PRICES!
WARNER BROS. present
Clarence Day's LIFE WITH FATHER
COLOR BY Technicolor
WILLIAM POWELL • IRENE DUNNE with ELIZABETH TAYLOR

SPALDING
SPORTS SHOW

CHAMPIONSHIP TENNIS TWINS
The Wright & Ditson and its twin the Spalding Tennis Ball lead the field in official adoptions for Major Tournaments, including the U.S. Davis Cup and National Championships.

SPALDING
SETS THE PACE (MVM) IN SPORTS

IT PAYS TO PLAY — with good equipment
TENNIS
SHOES SHORTS SHIRTS SWEATERS
Carolina Sport Shop

Two things every college man should know!

1. This is a draftee. Wonders if he'll enjoy private life. Thinks Manual of Arms is a Mexican novel. Hates to give up school ties— "Manhattan," of course.

2. This is a "Manhattan" Necktie. Right dress for civilians . . . brings co-eds to attention. Full complement of broad bold stripes, and gay figures.

CAMPUS-FAVORITE
Manhattan
THE MANHATTAN SHIRT COMPANY
Copr. 1949, The Manhattan Shirt Co.

Every College Man Should Know One Thing — That JACK LIPMAN
is
THE HEADQUARTERS FOR
Manhattan Shirts
In Chapel Hill

For Rhythm and Romance... Martha Tilton in "I'll Remember April"
(A CAPITOL RECORDING)

• Martha Tilton invites romantic memories in this easy-paced dream number! Martha picks her songs with care. And she's particular about her cigarettes, too! "It's Camels for me!" says Martha. "They're my choice for flavor—and Camels are so mild!"

for Taste and Mildness—
Camels!

In a recent coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for 30 days, noted throat specialists, making weekly examinations, reported

NOT ONE SINGLE CASE OF THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking CAMELS

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

lightweight sport shirts... washable wonders!

Van Heusen sport shirts are washable wonders! They love water, and you know what that means—more service, better looks, no dry cleaning bills! Colors are fast—sizes stay right. Smart new models with short or long sleeves, in cottons, rayons and blends . . . sheers and breezeweights. Tailored with Van Heusen magic sewmanship to please you and your campus queen. Stock up now for summer. $3.25 and up.

Van Heusen® shirts
the world's smartest
PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., NEW YORK 1, N. Y.

Parties, Banquets Feature Social Life

The Kappa Alpha's entertained the Alpha Delta Pi's with a party at their house Monday night from 7:30 until 9:00 o'clock.

The KA's presented a variety show which consisted of skits and games in which everyone participated. The KA Combo furnished the music for the party.

Sigma Phi Epsilon, at its annual banquet honoring the pledges last Saturday night, awarded the plaque for its outstanding pledge of the year, to R. Sterling Hennis, Jr.

Hennis, who has maintained a "B" average for his work at Carolina, has served on the Yackety Yack staff and has distinguished himself in intramurals and other fraternity activities.

The plaque was awarded by Pledgemaster, Charles R. Linville, also of Winston-Salem.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon pledge class held a house party at the Miramar, at Myrtle Beach last weekend. Pledges, along with their dates that attended, were: Zack Bacon, John DeLoach, Eddie Gant, Bill Gvest, Bobby Nutt, Fraser Perry, Jim Reuning, Henry Turner, and Ed. Williams.

During the weekend Omega Chapter of Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity held its annual spring celebration.

On Friday evening the Spring Installations Banquet was held, after which everyone attended the Sound and Fury production at Memorial Hall.

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

THE PUBLICATIONS BOARD IS NOW accepting seal-bid competitive contracts through May 15 for the posts of circulation managers for the Daily Tar Heel for the summer and coming year; and for Tarnation for the coming year. Those interested should contact Billy Carmichael III, DTH sports office any afternoon for information and sample contracts. (1-1200-1)

FOR SALE 6B

GARDEN PLANTS ASTERS, AGERatum, petunias, marigolds, foxglove, Canterbury bells, feverfew, Chrysanthemums, pinks, zinnias, egg plants, peppers and tomatoes. Call at Homestead Gardens, 322 West Rosemary—Tel. 9496. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

1937 CHEVROLET TWO DOOR SEdan. Good tires, good motor—priced low for fast sale. $250.00. Call 9617. (3-6739-1)

1937 PLYMOUTH CONVERTIBLE IN fair condition. Heater, sealed beam lights. Cheap—$250 or best offer. See Dick Taylor at Track Field House (behind Woollen Gym) (4-6747-1)

FREE DELIVERY
on orders from
THE COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
Monday —— Friday
at
9:15 And 10:15
DIAL 6061

HELP WANTED 8

UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds athletics, and other camp activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment, room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

LOST 12

BROWN LOOSELEAF NOTEBOOK from radiator in main entrance Bingham Tuesday 12-1. Contents valueless to finder, irreplaceable to owner. Reward. Ruth Hall, B-302 or phone 9052. (1-6748-1)

RIDES WANTED 18A

RIDE WANTED TO WASHINGTON, D. C. on Thursday May 12—to leave after 7 p.m. See Charlie Aderholt, 203 A Dorm, phone F-401. (1-6744-1)

WANTED TO RENT 24B

A FURNISHED APARTMENT OR house for summer only—by graduate student and wife. No children. Contact E. M. Lander, Jr., 192 Woodridge, Clemson, S. C. (4-6737-1)

APARTMENT WANTED NOW FOR graduate student and wife for summer and next year, or will sublease for summer. Call Betty Belk, Smith Dorm, 6051. (3-6743-1)

Be "DAISY FRESH"!

In Clothes Dry Cleaned Our Better Way

Yes, your precious clothes deserve "guess-free" dry cleaning care. Our Sanitone Service is scientifically controlled. You look better, feel better in clothes you know are fresh and clean. Try Sanitone today. Costs no more than regular dry cleaning.

APPROVED SANITONE SERVICE

UNIVERSITY CLEANERS
ACROSS FROM THE POST OFFICE

CAROLINA
TODAY AND MONDAY

JOAN CRAWFORD "FLAMINGO ROAD"
Her Newest is Her Best!
NEW WARNER BROS. SMASH!
ZACHARY SCOTT SYDNEY GREENSTREET DAVID BRIAN
Screen Play by ROBERT WILDER — Additional Dialogue by EDMUND H. NORTH — Based on a Play by ROBERT WILDER and SALLY WILDER
DIRECTED BY MICHAEL CURTIZ
PRODUCED BY JERRY WALD

ALSO
LATEST NEWS

AL CAPP — L'il Abner

Steak — Chicken - in - a - Basket — at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon — MILTON CANIFF

Sigma Chi Holds Pledge Banquet; Honors Godfrey

A formal pledge banquet was held last Sunday night at Terrace View for the nineteen new initiates of Sigma Chi.

The banquet was also given in honor of Dr. J. L. Godfrey, campus adviser for the Alpha Tau Chapter for the past thirteen years, and Dr. Roy B. McKnight, Grand Praetor of the North-South Carolina Province of Sigma Chi. Dr. Godfrey and Dr. McKnight were both presented plaques from the chapter in honor of their services to Sigma Chi.

The new initiates are: James Ronald Adams, Coconut Grove, Fla; Julian Albergoth, Charlotte; James A. Bell, Jr., Greensboro; Charles D. Berger, Winston-Salem; Mike Carver, Morristown, Tenn.; Skeet Hesmer, Roanoke, Va.:

Hardy Hardison, Washington, D. C.; Rodney McKnight, Charlotte; Tad Riley, Pottstown, Pa.; Jacy Rush, Rocky Mount; Baird Sills, Winston-Salem; Lem Smith, Clarkton; Rabbit Smitherman, Winston-Salem; Jack Thompson, Salisbury; Ken Tilley, Morehead City; Kenny Wright, Miami, Fla.

Vestry Officers Elected Monday

Officers of the Episcopal Student Vestry for next year were elected Monday night at the Parish House and reports of the Vestry's service during the past year and plans for next year were presented. The student officers elected are: Joel Bourne, Chairman; Wally Vreeland, Vice-Chairman; Edith Winslow, Secretary; Red Glasgow, Treasurer; and John Denham, assistant Treasurer.

The outstanding report of the evening was that concerning the lack of pledge fulfillment.

Social Lights

By Caroline Bruner

The engagement of Miss Louise Alsup of Dublin, Ga. to Fred Houser of Atlanta, Ga. was announced yesterday. Miss Alsup, a junior at the University, is a member of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority. Houser is a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

The wedding of Miss Pat Muirhead, a University alumna, to William Thomas Hobbs took place at the First Presbyterian Church in Durham April 30. Miss Bootsy Lyons, a Chi Omega at the University was a bridesmaid in the wedding.

Miss Barbara Thomas, an Alpha Gamma Delta from Winston-Salem, was married in Winston-Salem last night to Harry Horton, a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha.

CAROLINA DUKE DRIVE-IN THEATRE
CHAPEL HILL BLVD.
SUN. & MON.
BLACK GOLD
with Catherine DeMille
and
Anthony Quinn
ALSO
KENTUCKY BASKETEERS
Short and Walt Disney Color Cartoon

WRONG WAY TO GET THE RIGHT OF WAY!
Why risk your neck insisting on the right of way? Every motorist makes a mistake once in a while, so take it easy. Give other drivers and pedestrians a break—even when they're in the wrong. Be a "Golden Rule" driver—it's safer.
Be Careful—the life you save may be your own!
This advertisement is published in the public interest by Caston Motor Co.

ON TOP
OF ALL THE OTHER
EXCELLENT SERVICES
We Offer You
We Are Now Presenting Choice USED CAR Values
on
WELL-CONDITIONED
REASONABLY PRICED
CHOICE SELECTION
OF
Used Cars
POE-MANGUM
W. FRANKLIN ST.

Smoke a LUCKY to feel your LEVEL best!

Luckies' fine tobacco picks you up when you're low . . . calms you down when you're tense—puts you on the Lucky level! That's why it's so important to remember that LUCKY STRIKE MEANS FINE TOBACCO—mild, ripe, light tobacco. No wonder more independent tobacco experts—auctioneers, buyers and warehousemen—smoke Luckies regularly than the next two leading brands combined! Get a carton of Luckies today!

L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco

So round, so firm, so fully packed — so free and easy on the draw

COPR., THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

U N C Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

EDITORIALS

Grail History
Columnist's Dilemma
Contribution to Progress

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Cloudy and mild; possible rain.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. TUESDAY, MAY 10, 1949 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 164

Morehead Planetarium To Open Today

Young Democrats Plan Rally Tonight

Blue, Lewis Will Address YDC Members; Constitutional Amendment Up For Vote

H. Clifton Blue, President of the State Young Democrats, and Henry Lewis, assistant Director of the Institute of Government will be featured speakers at a mass YDC rally tonight in the main lounge of Graham Memorial at 7:30.

O. Max Gardner, Jr., president of the UNC YDC said yesterday that Stormy Weathers and his band will furnish music before and after the speakers. Refreshments will be served at the end of the rally, he added.

Lewis, who worked closely with the past State General Assembly will review the work of that group. Blue, editor of the Sandhill Citizen in Aberdeen, will discuss the relation of campus YDC groups to the state organization.

A short business meeting, the president said, will be conducted also to consider a constitutional amendment and the election of members to the Executive Committee of the group.

The proposed amendment would change the constitution to allow student wives and University staff members to have membership in the organization.

Candidates for the Executive Committee, nominated by the officers last week are Jess Dedmond, Joe Leary, Hugh Wells, Ed Tenney, Amecia Eure, Graham Jones and Bill Buchan. Other nominations will be received from the floor, Graham said.

CRIL Frat Agents For Clothes Drive Named by Gibson

The clothing drive sponsored by the Council for Religion in Life enters its third day this morning and will continue through Thursday, Charlie Britt, CRIL President announced yesterday.

Boxes have been placed in each dormitory, fraternity and sorority house. Collections have been scheduled for Wednesday and Friday morning. The Scout service fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega, working with Ed McLeod, will facilitate collections.

Charlie Gibson, in charge of collections in fraternities, released the following names of men charged with individual fraternity collections:

Joe Lefkowitz, Alpha Epsilon Pi; Bob Plumb, ATO; Marshall Roberts, Beta; Les Davis, Chi Phi; Banks Talley, Chi Psi; Roy Holsten, DKE; Charley Fox, Delta Psi; John Russell, Delta Sig; Wellborn Phillips, KA; Earnest Rabil, Kappa Psi; Chris Carpenter, Kappa Sig; Kenneth Lineback, Lambda Chi; J. P. Horton, Phi Delta Chi.

Bunny Davis, Phi Delt; Clay Irby, Phi Gam; Morris Knudsen, Phi Kap; Bob Williams, PiKA; Walter Moore, Pi Kappa Phi; Bob Kaufman, Pi Lamb; Frank Hill, SAE; Fletcher Harris, Sigma Chi; Tucker McDaniel, Sigma Nu; Charlie Foley, Sig Ep; Aubrey Bronstein, TEP; Dick Fishel, ZBT, and Gurney Boren, Zeta Psi.

Tickets Are Now Selling for Show In Forest Theater

Tickets are now on sale for The Carolina Playmakers' outdoor production of "The Merchant of Venice" by William Shakespeare, to be presented in the Forest Theatre, May 20, 21, and 22 at 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be secured at the Playmaker Business Office in Swain Hall, or at Ledbetter-Pickard's downtown.

Director Kai Jurgensen, assisted by James Geiger, has based his Forest Theatre production on the Orson Welles' Mercury Theatre radio version of "The Merchant of Venice" and Lynn Gault has designed an exciting plastic setting using three turntables. Costumes in the period of Renaissance Italy have been designed and made by Irene Smart and her staff.

Cast in the principal roles are: Frederick W. Young, Monroe, La., as Shylock; Anne Gilliam Martin, Cherokee, as Portia; Mac Shaw, Ridgewood, N. J., as Lorenzo; William M. Hardy, Durham, as Gratiano; William Lee MacIlwinen, Fayetteville, as Antonio; Martha Grattan, Durham, as Nerissa; Hal Shadwell, Wilson, as Bassanio; Larry Peerce, New Rochelle, N. Y. as Launcelot Gobbo; Charles H. Williamson, Kennet Square, Pa., as Salanio; Sam Greene, Mooresboro, as Salirino; Edsel Hughes, East Orange, N. J., as the Duke of Venice; and Violet Virginia La Rue, Raleigh, as Jessica. Joseph G. Stockdale of Allegan, Michigan, is the stage manager.

Extra Invitations On Sale Two Days

It was announced yesterday that extra graduation invitations would be on sale today and Wednesday from 9 until 4 o'clock. Seniors who have not picked up their invitations are urged to do so by 4 o'clock Wednesday as that is the final day that the invitations will be available.

Baity to Address Faculty Club Meet

The Faculty Club will hear Dr. H. G. Baity of the School of Public Health discuss the upper Amazon region of Brazil at their regular meeting today at 1:00 o'clock in the Carolina Inn.

Dr. Baity will show color slides to illustrate his talk.

Foreign Policy Leaders Refuse Invite To Paris

Senators Prefer To Work For Pact

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(UP)—Sens. Tom Connally and Arthur H. Vandenberg today turned down an invitation from Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson to attend the Big Four Foreign Ministers meeting on Germany.

They said they preferred to stay here and push for Senate approval of the North Atlantic Pact and its accompanying arms-for-Europe program.

Acheson said after a meeting with the two Congressional foreign policy leaders that they would attend the sessions in Paris, which start May 23, if there is an "urgent need" for their presence. Acheson said he concurred in their decision to come only if needed.

Authoritative sources said President Truman joined Acheson in suggesting that Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Vandenberg, Senate Republican foreign policy leader, attend the east-west discussions.

Connally said he would strive for both Senate ratification of the pact and final action on the $1,130,000,000 arms program before Congress adjourns for the summer.

Congressional leaders previously had voiced doubts that the controversial arms bill would be approved at this session.

Local Businesses Get A, B Ratings

Dr. David O. Garvin, district health officer, has announced that 27 restaurants, 13 meat markets, and two hotels in Chapel Hill have been given "A" ratings for the quarter ending April 30.

The only restaurants used by students that did not get "A" ratings were the Marathon Sandwich Shop and Harry's Grill. They received "B" ratings. There are no "C" restaurants operating in Chapel Hill at the present time.

The only meat market to make a "B" rating was Powers Market. No market in the area received less than a "B" grade.

The only hotels in Chapel Hill, the Carolina Inn and the Brockwell Hotel, received "A" ratings.

Originals Are Planned For Satterfield Concert

By Bob Barnes

Original compositions and arrangements of standard, popular American dance music will be featured by Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra in a concert for students, faculty and townspeople at 8:15 Sunday, May 15, in Memorial Hall, under the sponsorship of Graham Memorial.

The orchestra has been praised by several of the country's foremost authorities on jazz, including John Hammond and George Simon. The concert next Sunday is the second in a series planned for annual presentation, the first of which was reviewed by George Nimen last year.

Satterfield hesiteutly categorizes the original compositions set for the program as "concert jazz." He explained that the compositions are not primarily dance music, and he dislikes any inference that tends to separate "concert jazz" from so-called "serious" music. He and his arrangers and musicians are very much concerned with the results of their efforts.

There have been several efforts toward concertizing jazz in America such as those made by Charlie Barnet, Stan Kenton and Woody Herman, but they were unsuccessful financially. Duke Ellington is the leader of a small movement in this direction.

Although several people who heard the concert last year by the Satterfield Orchestra have compared the type of program given to those prominent bands mentioned above, but local audiences have pretty well agreed that Satterfield's ideas are distinctly individual and not imitative.

Five original compositions and an arrangement of an old German round will make up the first half of the program. The original works include: a prelude for orchestra composed by Carolyn Satterfield; a tone poem by baritone saxophonist Thomas Allred, a sophomore from Greensboro; suites by tenor saxophonist Samuel Andrews, a junior from Durham, alto saxophonist Frank Justice, a graduate from Raleigh, and pianist-leader Satterfield, a senior from Spencer.

CARROLL E. FRENCH

Forum to Present Carroll E. French, N.A.M. Official

Carroll E. French, Director of Industrial Relations of the National Association of Manufacturers, will deliver an address at 8:30 Thursday evening in Hill Hall, under the auspices of the Carolina Forum.

French will be the first speaker presented by the Forum under the chairmanship of John Sanders, who was just recently elected to the post.

French, an outstanding figure in the N.A.M. since early in 1946, will speak on "Management Views the National Labor Policy." He will attempt to offer a broad outlook on the position of management as related to the attempts now being made in Congress to take labor-management relations back to the days of the Wagner Act.

The Forum, under its past chairmen, Charlie Long and Herb Mitchell, has brought to the campus such outstanding speakers as Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the States Rights Party presidential candidate; Ohio's Sen. Robert A. Taft; John Stanley Grauel, leading Zionist author and radio commentator; John Gates, editor of The Daily Worker; and Marriner Eccles of the president's Economic Advisory Board.

Merchants Elect Kutz as President

Wilbur S. Kutz, owner of the Varsity was elected president of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants Association last Wednesday night.

James H. Davis, of the University Florists, was named vice-president, and Mrs. Mildred Cartee was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The elections were held after a banquet for the Merchants Association, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Altrusa Club, and the Rotary, Kiwanis, and Lions clubs.

Kutz succeeds Vic Huggins, of Huggins Hardware, who has served as president for the past year.

N.C. Club Invites Talkers for Trip

The North Carolina Club of Arlington, Va., has invited winners of the Aycock Memorial Trophy for high school debating in North Carolina, as well as the runners-up in the contest and the coaches, to be the club's guests on a four-day visit to the Washington area, May 19-22.

Members of the winning team are James E. Ramsay of Roxboro and John E. Fetherston of Woodsdale and their coach, Mrs. A. F. Nichols of Roxboro. The runners-up are Frederick Brooks and Rodney Fulcher of Greenville and coach, R. B. Starling.

Daniels Says Thumbs Down On Navy Job

Publisher Gives Reply to Truman

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(UP)—Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh News & Observer, has informed President Truman he cannot accept appointment as Secretary of Navy it was learned today.

Daniels, who worked closely with Mr. Truman during his successful election campaign, was offered the job by the President after John L. Sullivan resigned. Daniels' father was secretary of Navy under President Wilson.

Daniels conferred with Defense Secretary Louis Johnson Saturday. He then met with the President and informed Mr. Truman that he could not accept the Navy post because of his business commitments.

Johnson reportedly preferred someone other than Daniels for the Navy job, but the President definitely wanted Daniels.

It was Daniels who removed himself from consideration for the post.

Daniels was an administrative assistant and later Press Secretary under the late President Roosevelt. When Mr. Truman succeeded Mr. Roosevelt, Daniels stayed on briefly as Press Secretary. During the 1948 campaign, he accompanied Mr. Truman on most of his vote-seeking trips around the country.

Daniels' rejection of the Navy job still leaves Mr. Truman looking for successors to Sullivan and Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall, who quit last month.

Sullivan resigned in angry protest against Johnson's order halting construction of the Navy's super aircraft carrier. The Army post has been offered to Curtis Calder, utilities magnate, who has said he is not interested. But Mr. Truman has expressed hope that Calder will take the job.

'Dixieland' to Be Memorial May 15

ASHEVILLE, May 9—(UP)—"Dixieland," the rambling boarding house Thomas Wolfe made famous in his novels of Western North Carolina will become a memorial to the young author May 15.

Don Shoemaker, president of the Thomas Wolfe Memorial Association, announced today that the house, bought from heirs of Wolfe's mother last February, will be taken over on that date.

As soon as possible afterward, he said, the big house will be opened to the public as a museum.

For two weeks Wolfe's sister Mrs. Mabel Wolfe Wheaton, and her husband have been busy restoring the home to the shape it was in when Wolfe was brought up there as a boy.

He called it "Dixieland" in his novels although his mother labeled it "Old Kentucky Home" during the days when a boarding house was a bonanza in the resort city.

Wolfe died in 1938 after a skyrocketing literary career.

Young Is Elected Glee Club Prexy

At a recent meeting of the Women's Glee Club the election of officers for the coming year was held. Barbara Young, rising senior in the music department from Chapel Hill was elected President. Other officers elected at this meeting are: Jean Serpell, Vice-President; Peggy Neal, Secretary; and Effie Westervelt, Business Manager. The Women's Glee Club was recently heard in their annual spring concert.

JOHN MOTLEY MOREhead, donor of the $3,000,000 Morehead Planetarium and Art Gallery, will present the building to Gov. Kerr Scott for the people of North Carolina this afternoon. The building will open to the public tonight.

Fall Registration To Be Conducted During May 16-21

Students in all schools who do not plan to attend the Summer School, but who will return for the Fall Quarter, may preregister May 16-May 21.

All General College students who plan to preregister for the Fall Quarter may make appointments with their advisers by signing an appointment sheet in the main lobby of Memorial Hall Wednesday, May 11, or at the Information Desk, first floor of South Building, Thursday, May 12 through Saturday morning, May 14.

Preregistration for either or both sessions of Summer School is now in progress. Any students wishing to preregister must see their advisers and turn in their Green Forms not later than Saturday, May 14. Students attending Summer School will be given an opportunity to preregister during the summer for the Fall Quarter at a date to be announced later.

Bunche Comments On Negro Situation

NEW YORK, May 9.—(UP)—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the American Negro educator who mediated between Jews and Arabs in Palestine, said tonight that the denial of political, economic and social equality to American Negroes is a mockery of the U. S. constitution and the United Nations charter.

Senator Graham Featured Speaker

Governor Scott to Accept Building; 500 Will Attend Ceremonies, Show

By Margaret Gaston

Senator Frank Porter Graham, former president of the University, will be guest speaker at the dedication ceremonies of the Morehead Building and Planetarium scheduled for today at 3 o'clock.

Chancellor Robert B. House will preside over the ceremonies, which will be held in the Planetarium room. After the invocation by Dr. Issac G. Greer, executive vice-president of the Business Foundation, Sen. Graham will speak to an audience of 500 invited guests. These include State and University officials, members of the University Board of Trustees, and friends of John Motley Morehead.

After Dr. Graham's address, Morehead will formally present the Morehead Building and Planetarium. Following the dedication, Governor Kerr Scott will give the speech of acceptance for the University and the State.

The group will then observe the premier showing of the Planetarium, "Let There Be Light," by Dr. Roy Marshall, director of the Planetarium. The performance will last approximately one hour, Marshall said.

Before the ceremonies, the guests will attend a luncheon given by Morehead in the dining room of the Planetarium at 1 o'clock. After the luncheon the group will be taken on a tour of the entire building, which will end in the Planetarium room, where dedication ceremonies will begin at 3 o'clock.

Gunnar Dryselius, Swedish council, will be present for the ceremonies. During the Hoover administration Morehead was Minister to Sweden.

Costs of the Planetarium was (See PLANETARIUM, page 4)

Chuikov Promises Blockade Lifting Thursday Morning

BERLIN, May 9.—(UP)—Gen. Vassily Chuikov, Soviet commander in Germany, announced tonight the Berlin blockade will be lifted at one minute after midnight Thursday morning and from then on 16 allied freight trains a day will be allowed to bring supplies into the city.

The allies are ready, and traffic will begin to roll at once by rail, canal and autobahn for the first time since the Russians closed all land routes 11 months ago and tried to starve the western powers out of Berlin.

Chuikov's order also decreed the end of police restrictions between the eastern and western sectors of Berlin. However, he said the Western Mark will continue to be banned in the Soviet zone "pending the decision on the question of currency in Berlin."

The first rail traffic into Berlin will be a British military passenger train. Next, by a few minutes, will be the crack Berliner Express from Frankfurt.

British officials said all technical arrangements for resumption of traffic between Berlin and Germany's western zones are being handled by German traffic experts.

Red Debate Set For Wednesday

Prof. E. J. Woodhouse of the Political Science Department and Hans Freistadt, student from Stubbering, Austria, will engage in a formal debate Wednesday, May 11, at 8 o'clock in Gerrard Hall on the query, "Should the Communist Party Be Outlawed?"

John Sanders, Four Oaks, will preside over the debate, and W. E. Haisley, Chapel Hill, will act as timekeeper. An open forum session will follow the debate.

Student at Duke Startles Science

DURHAM, May 9—(UP)—A 19-year-old Duke pre-medical student went quietly back to his studies today after startling scientists with his dramatic discovery of a new organism which kills athlete's foot and other fungus growths.

Youthful Glen R. Gale, a slight, dark-haired junior from Mt. Croghan, S. C., said he stumbled onto the organism in a routine soil bacteria study in the University's botany laboratory. When he isolated it for study, the killer organism proved able to stop the growth of fungus.

Gale first told of his discovery Saturday before the annual North Carolina Academy of Science meeting at Chapel Hill. A Duke instructor, Dr. John R. Warren, said he advised and assisted Gale in his study.

"If the substance can be extracted—and we believe it can—it may have practically unlimited possibilities in the treatment of plant disease, and certainly in treating superficial fungus skin diseases in humans," Warren said.

Warren said the "killer" organism had been tested successfully against ringworm, athlete's foot and two lung infections.

Sunny Skies!

Neither Water Nor Telescopes Stop Coeds From Sunbathing

By Wuff Newell

Summer is here and Carolina's coeds are litterally up in the air about it.

To prove this point one must only stand at the proper distance from the proper roof of any girls' dorm. Then by looking skyward —or, more correctly, roofward— he may see anywhere from one to a dozen coeds peacefully sunning in the sun.

The coeds began their sunbathing during the first hot spell. But after several days of playing host to capacity crowds, the roof at the back of Spencer Hall was suddenly empty.

When asked why the popular roof was so quickly deserted, one coed said simply "Those damn pledges!"

The day before, it seems, some overly - energetic pledges had found that Hell Week "was not so bad after all." Armed with a long hose and the blessing of some Spencer cooks who willingly screwed the rubber weapon to a kitchen sink, the pledges went to work. What happened next is the one thing that keeps this story from being dry.

Slowly, carefully , one of the pledges moved a stepladder to within firing distance of the roof. Then he ascended and carefully took aim.

Throughout all the preparations the coeds had not heard a thing. But suddenly a whoosh of cold water told them that something was up. Grabbing towels, blankets and each others hair in the excitement, the wet, screaming coeds were adequate proof that Operations Water was a success.

This week, however, the roofs are once more the center of coed activity. The Spencer girls, remembering the Hell Week episode, have moved to another roof, but the boys are still making the most of the situation.

Complete evidence has not been (See SUNBATHERS, page 4)

Senior Committees Will Meet Tomorrow

Members of senior class committees will meet in Graham Memorial Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to discuss class activity plans, Ed Davenport said today.

They plan to complete arrangements for the commencement exercises, work on an Alumni association drive, and map out a class social program.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $4.00 per year, $2.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... DICK JENRETTE
Business Manager ..... C. B. MENDENHALL

Managing Editor ..... Bill Buchan
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael RT

Associate Editors ..... Jack Brown, Frank Allston, Jr.
News Office Mgr. ..... Sally Woodhull
Asst. Sports Ed. ..... Buddy Vaden
Society Editor ..... Caroline Brumer
Staff Photographer ..... James A. Mills
Adv. Mgr. ..... Oliver Watkins
Circ. Mgr. ..... Shasta Bryant
Subscrip. Mgrs. ..... David Woodruff, Wade Holder
Bus. Office Mgr. ..... Ed Williams

News Staff—Charles McCorkle, Margaret Gaston, Fred McGee, Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, Stewart McKeel, Jack English, Graham Jones, Art Xanthos, Mike McDaniels, Emily Baker, Wink Locklair, Virginia Forward, Bill Johnson, Henry Albright, Wiley Mail, Sam Whitehall.

Night News: Bill Buchan Night Sports: B.V., J.C., R.T.

A Contribution to Progress

John Motley Morehead's splendid gift to the University, the Morehead Planetarium, today will be formally dedicated and presented to the school. There will be innumerable important national figures on hand for the occasion, which will be broadcast over NBC. To them and those who have worked so hard to make the Planetarium a realization, the Daily Tar Heel and the entire University extend a hearty welcome to Chapel Hill.

The average student thus far has little conception of just what the Planetarium is like. To many, it probably means nothing more than the addition of a handsome, new building to the campus. It is to be hoped that this situation won't be long existent. For anyone who has attended the program "Let There Be Light," which is now being presented, cannot help feeling just a little prouder that he is a student at the University of North Carolina after witnessing the show.

After the formal opening today, the students should avail themselves of the opportunity to visit the Planetarium at the earliest possible time. It is a sight well worth seeing.

On Sunday, a large group of newspapermen and campus leaders were given a special preview of the Planetarium and the program "Let There Be Light." Everyone that attended was deeply impressed with Mr. Morehead's gift. Not only is it costly, but it required great care and planning in construction. When Mr. Morehead was introduced to the audience Sunday, he received a big ovation.

The Planetarium is the type gift which carries the University beyond the general class room theme of mathematics, language, economics, etc. It is features like the Planetarium which will solidify Carolina's claim as the leading cultural center of the South.

Today's special issue of the Daily Tar Heel is dedicated particularly to John Motley Morehead and the new Planetarium. It is our small way of expressing the thanks of the University and students to Mr. Morehead for his contribution to the State, South, and to Progress.

Congratulating Mr. Huggins

Congratulations are in order for Mr. Vic Huggins, who retired last week as president of the Chapel Hill Merchants' Association. As the spokesman for the local merchants during the past year, Huggins proved to be a valuable link between the merchants and the University.

One of the most popular undertakings by Huggins and the Merchants' Association during the past year was the presentation of gifts and courtesy certificates to all freshmen entering the University in the fall. While this was a fine gesture in itself, it also did a great deal in convincing students to trade in Chapel Hill rather than to journey to the nearby cities and to strengthen relations between the students and merchants.

While president of the CHMA Huggins was always very cooperative and was always willing to go all out to do what he could for the University and for the students.

It is men like Vic Huggins who prove that you can make money and still make friends.—F.A.

On the Coming Bond Issue

On June 4, Governor Scott's proposed $200,000,000 Secondary Road Bond and $25,000,000 School Bond issue goes before the people of North Carolina in the form of a referendum. In most Cities and Towns, registration for this election will be on May 14, and May 21; both of these dates falling on Saturday.

It is the duty of every eligible voter in North Carolina to vote, whether he is for the proposed program, or against it. It is imperative that each Student make it a point to register and vote on this controversial issue.—J.M.

Praise for Work on Special Edition

While most of the Carolina students and the staff of the Daily Tar Heel headed for the beach and other points this past weekend, tireless Bill Buchan, managing editor of the paper, remained in Chapel Hill with a few assistants. Today's special edition dedicated to the new Planetarium is a tribute to their work.

Contributing largely to the section were Roy Parker, Don Maynard, Jack English, Margaret Gaston, Sally Woodhull, Bill Johnson, Leonard Dudley, and Jimmy Mills on the news staff, and Oliver Watkins, C. B. Mendenhall, and the entire business department. John Van Hecke also did yeoman work running copy to the DTH print shop in Carrboro and John B. Alcott and Dr. Roy K. Marshall contributed special features.

All deserve praise for spending their spare time in the interest of the paper and University.

The WASHINGTON SCENE

By George Dixon

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, May 9—The Early family which produced our new Undersecretary of Defense is both numerical and well-balanced. Steve Early is the eldest of eight children, four boys and four girls.

The eight Earlys are still with us, heaven be praised, and so is the mother of the brood, Mrs. Ida Virginia Early. Materfamilias Early is impartially proud of them all.

This can be attested by ex-Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan, who had a most unnerving encounter with the venerable lady. He was put straight in no uncertain terms.

Mother Early, who will celebrate her 80th birthday on May 31, still rules her flock with an iron hand—when she can catch up with them. In the order of their arrival on this mortal coil they are:

The Undersecretary of Defense Felix Early, of the Interstate Commerce Commission; Mrs. George R. Holmes, widow of the famous Washington correspondent; Mrs. Magnien McArdle, wife of a prominent Washington attorney; Mrs. James Hennessey, wife of the well-known Boston attorney; Mrs. Barry Faris, ever-loving Missus of the Editor-in-chief of International News Service; E. Eugene Early, of Washington, and Thomas J. Early Jr., also of Washington.

Mother Early attended the Hon. Steve's swearing in. After the ceremony ex-Secretary Sullivan went up to Mrs. Holmes and said: "I would like very much to meet your mother."

On being presented to the matriarch, Mr. Sullivan bowed and said: "I am most pleased to meet you. I am so fond of your son and your daughter."

"Humph!" retorted Mother Early. "I have others too."

"Is that so?" said Mr. Sullivan, politely.

"Yes," declared the venerable lady. "And they're all just as good!"

* * *

Rep. Paul W. Shafer, of Michigan, one of the Republican stalwarts of the House Armed Services Committee, celebrated his 56th birthday last week and most of the top brass, past and present, were there.

Although both of them are out, ex-Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall and ex-Navy Secretary Sullivan were present; also Secretary of the Air Force W. Stuart Symington, the only one of the triumvirate still holding on.

Secretary Symington took an almost continual ribbing. A fellow who looks something like me followed him around with a notebook asking if he would care to make a statement on how it feels to be the last of the Mohicans.

"Don't say a word," counseled Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force Chief of Staff, shooting sidewise glances at Army Chief of Staff Gen. Omar Bradley and Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Louis E. Denfeld.

"You don't need to warn me," replied Symington. "I had this lug up to my house for dinner one night and figured I needed a shave. I couldn't find my razor and had to borrow my wife's—and you ought to see what he did with that. I'm not giving him any last of the Mohicans stuff to play around with."

All in all, however, the Shafer party was pretty well unified, even if ex-Secretary Royall did keep the length of the room between himself and Secretary Symington. But it may have been that Mr. Royall had failed to read a card, prepared by Rep. Shafer, which was handed to all guests on entering. It read:

"Be merry and rub elbows. No special introductions. If you don't get acquainted it will be your own fault."

Nothing Like Having a Man Around the House

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

—Grail History—

Grail Started In 1920

By Dave Sharpe

In 1920, as students returned from the armed forces of the first World War, The Order of the Grail received its birth. Chapel Hill swelled with its rapid increase in population, student government was at a low ebb, campus organizations found themselves in a disorganized state, and intermingled with it all the menacing fangs of fraternity and non-fraternity antagonism flashed openly.

With the immediate purpose of bringing about better relations between fraternity and non fraternity men, the Grail was established, and dedicated itself to combating misunderstanding and hate through truth, honor, courage, and service.

The first meeting was held in the Cabinet Council room of the YMCA on Oct. 3, 1920. The young man named Leo Gregory who presided over the meeting became the first Most Worthy Delegata, and the Grail's activities were underway. The Sir Knights decided that, since dances were restricted by tradition and expense very largely to members of the exclusive German Club, informal dances open to all would help bring together all students in fellowship.

In February of 1921 the Grail approved a plan to give every member of the basketball squad a gold basketball, and sponsored a dance with proceeds going to the YMCA. The Order wrestled with the problem of "razzing" players of the opposing teams, instituted the placing of sanitary drinking cups at the Old Well, and put on a Freshman get-together.

The year 1922 found the Grail stepping up its social program by planning a dance every two weeks. Problems of recreational facilities, donations, tennis courts in ill repair, entertaining visiting teams, and immorality on the campus were treated as Grail projects.

Intramural athletics—getting underway in the early 'twenties—were encouraged by the Grail's offer of prizes and awards to dormitories, fraternities, and individuals excelling in intramural competition. Scholarship was encouraged by Grail awards given annually to students winning the highest scholastic averages in each of several freshman and varsity sports.

As World War II enveloped the campus, the Grail found increased opportunities for service. In September, 1940, the Naval ROTC was activated. Students left in droves to join the services and the problems of campus citizenship fell to the responsibility of relatively fewer students.

The Grail continued its work. Its members dug in and worked harder at the Order's long established job of fusing all groups in a Carolina community citizenship. Despite the suggestion of a few that student activities be frozen or curtailed for the duration of the war, the Grail determined to carry on. Outstanding leaders of the Naval ROTC, the Marine reserves, and Navy V-12 were among those initiated into the Grail. All—as the Grail saw them—were true Carolina men.

Now that the war is over and the student body has increased to 7,000, the Grail is, as ever, striving to render service on the campus where it may. Profits made by the Grail are still used in scholarships for worthy students, and the Grail Loan Fund ($3500) helps many students with "character" loans. Arising out of the crowded conditions and increased enrollment are many problems.

The Grail continues to work quietly to make the Carolina campus a better place to live.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FAULT FOUND

Editor:

For long I have found fault with your paper for its inclination to print, regardless of popular request and the many letters you have received in adverse criticism of your policy, the letters of those attacking, apparently for the merest childish pleasure and extrovertism, the standards by which we, as Americans, live. I often feel that you have overdone your interpretation of what we call "freedom of the press,"

It seems to me that the popular interpretation of this phrase is somewhat limited; for the average person seems to take this to mean the liberty we enjoy in printing whatever we like, outside the conventional and legal limitations of slander and decency. But I am sure that the meaning of the phrase is at least fourfold, the first interpretation of which phrase I mentioned just above.

The second meaning, it seems to me, is one implying that the reader has a right to read whatever he pleases, also within the limits of slander and decency, as I mentioned above,—and he, I suppose, even has the right to read these things, at the legal risk of those who write them.

Thirdly, it seems to me that the editor of whatever is printed has the right to select, from the material submitted to him, what he chooses to print, as modified and directed by his conscience, the views of his readers and those with whom he works, the dictates of popular feeling, and the standing policy of the periodical for which he works. What he rejects may very well be printed by those who have an equal right to the reverse of his opinions, and one may always submit his material elsewhere.

Fourthly—and just as importantly—it seems to me that the reader has a right to know who is addressing him; and this means, also, that the person who is the subject of a printed article has the also inalienable right to know, at least by name, his accuser.

And this brings me, at last, to my point: on Friday of last week you printed a letter attacking Vestal Taylor for the "putrefaction" of his articles appearing in your paper. Your writer, not content with disparaging the material of your columnist (which he has the greatest of rights to do), attacks him personally, but finds his principal point of condemnation in Vestal Taylor's name as such, playing (in very poor puns) upon the parts of his name, both of which names appear to me to be perfectly normal. But this correspondent lacks the manliness and the decency, not to mention the obvious right the accused has to know at least by name his accuser, of signing his own name to such a cowardly and spineless article.

Several explanations are possible: it may be that the author of the letter has such a name that he is ashamed of, something much worse than a harmless "Vestal Taylor." Or it may be that he has the simple name of "John Smith," and considers simplicity a defect; as witness his attack on Vestal's name.

And so I condemn him, friend or foe, as a coward. But I also condemn your paper and editor for daring to print, in spite of their supposed policy, a poison-pen letter that is unsigned and juvenille. I sincerely hope we will have none of this type of journalism in the future.

I offer to your correspondent the following information, hoping that he in the dark corners of his abortive mind will find some elfish jubilation in it: your columnist's full name, child, is Vestal Columbus Taylor. Does that make his columns even worse?

Name Printed by Request
Douglas H. Slicer.

—Chollie's Follies—

Columnist's Dilemma

By Charlie Gibson

Imagine yourself a DTH columnist, and how would you run your regular 22-inch show each week on an editorial page that already has more columns than a Greek ruin? The people you write about complain about what you say; the people you do not write about complain about your overlooking them. If you write about your friends, you are partial; if you write about your enemies, you are prejudiced.

If you consider serious topics, you are deemed too inexperienced to know what you are talking about; if you discuss just the lighter side of campus news, you are too flippant and gossipy. If you ever change your mind, you are inconsistant; if you stick by your Smith-Corona with your own opinion, you are stubborn. If you do not check the facts, you are inaccurate; if you do investigate the details, you are a nosey nuisance. If you take to explaining in your space all the difficulties of column writing, folks will try to say that you were just hard up for a subject that particular day; and they'll be right.

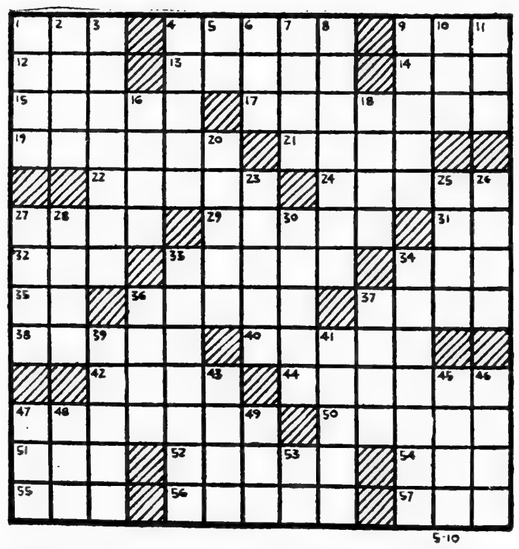
For the columnist, though, there is always Walter Lippman's expert consolation: "A newspaper column is the only accepted passkey for not minding your own business."

* * *

Congratulations to Ed Lanier, director of the University's Central Records office, owner of the most famous A-model in town, and newly-elected mayor of Chapel Hill. Someone raised the ridiculous question the other day as to who would have won the race for mayor last week if students had been allowed to vote.

Mr. Lanier's victory came as no surprise to most townspeople after his record of conscientious work as a member of the Board of Alderman here and after his hard-wrought campaign stressing friendly chats out among the voters. And among students, Mr. Lanier's popularity these days is a testimonial to the fact that University administrators who do what they consider best even under barages of student condemnation can sometimes prove themselves right.

This is the same industrious little man who was in charge of the registration lines that were the bone of much student contention about two years ago. But now that the preregistration program which skeptics first called "Lanier's Lottery" has turned out to be so expedient and practical, there can be no doubt that students who will cut their line-standing in two this week would have made it Lanier's 'lection last week.



* * *

Yes, the weather is at last staying hot enough to discard those winter clothes for good now. But why not give all your slightly worn or outgrown garments to CRIL's clothing drive this week? Collection boxes will be in all dormitories, fraternities, and sororities through Thursday; and next winter some desperate European might appreciate your thoughtfulness enough to say a prayer over nothing more identifiable than your laundry mark.

Much credit is due to Ed Davenport, senior class president, and his hard-working social committee for all the detailed plans for a gala graduation week which they hope to announce at a mass senior meeting soon. Now that the hand some graduation invitations are being passed around, many seniors wish that students had more to do with planning the actual commencement exercises, too.

Especially since the ceremony is to be an impressive affe dark affair this year, can't the powers-that-be see that a long list of speakers is only tedious and unnecessary? If another excellent surprise like last year's George C. Marshall does not happen to be available, the University will surely find someone appropriate for the one essential speech. For instance, why not Frank P. Graham making his first address here as a senator?

But must there be all the diploma diplomats as usual with a special one to waste time in predicting great things for these '49ers? Why, we know already that this is so promising a crew that we can imagine big accomplishments from them in, say, twenty years when they are '69ers.

5-10

HORIZONTAL
1. viper
4. characterizations
9. insane
12. extinct bird
13. likeness
14. employ
15. Russian independent union
17. multiform
19. navigated
21. antitoxins
22. comforts
24. religious ceremonies
27. founder of Pennsylvania
29. legendary king
31. Odin's brother
32. high, in music
33. ultimate
34. adult males
35. personal pronoun
36. metric unit of capacity
37. portion
38. unaspirates
40. surgical thread
42. mountain in Thessaly
44. swell
47. field for grazing
50. a beverage
51. be in debt
52. English author
54. printer's measures
55. those in power
56. National Park division
57. Scottish explorer

VERTICAL
1. wine vessels
2. American rail
3. exercising forbearance
4. vexes
5. mystic ejaculation
6. youth
7. shield
8. divers
9. French marshal
10. donkey
11. river in Scotland
16. dash
18. daughter of Nyx
20. dismiss (archaic)
23. functions in trigonometry
25. always
26. dispatched
27. an apostle
28. otherwise
30. hazarded
33. crevice
34. operator
36. for fear that
37. rod
39. olfactory organs
41. prongs
43. god of war
45. tropical American pear
46. being
47. Hawaiian food
48. beard
49. corrode
53. pecan: dial.

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

C	A	T		C	O	O		A	R	E	C	A
A	G	E		O	W	N		D	E	M	U	R
V	A	N	I	L	L	A		E	L	U	D	E
A	M	E	N	D		G	E	N	A	L
L	A	T	E		E	E	L		Y	A	W	N
			R	E	O	R	E	T		T	O	O
A	V	A	T	A	R		V	E	N	E	E	R
G	A	D		R	E	T	E	N	E
O	T	I	C		S	I	M		W	A	L	K
		P	R	E	S	S		S	E	R	I	N
A	B	O	U	T		S	E	C	R	E	T	E
L	A	S	S	O		U	V	A		A	H	A
P	R	E	F	E	N		E	E	N		L	E	D

5-10

Average time of solution: 23 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Wake Forest Downs Tar Heels, 4-2, Sets New Win Record

Mustian and Vander Clute Hold Carolinians to Six Hits

By Buddy Vaden

Wake Forest's baseball team came to Chapel Hill yesterday, scored four runs, held the Tar Heels to two, and walked off the field before the usual rains came with a new Southern Conference record for consecutive games won without defeat.

The Deacons started things off like they had a grudge against Losing Pitcher Ray Blair. First man up for the Deacs was Shortstop Art Hoch. He wasted no time in doubling to centerfield. Gene Hooks followed with his idea of how to hit a double. He blasted one down the third base line and the visitors were off to a one run advantage before the Tar Heel ball boys could rub up another ball.

Finding the offerings of Blair to their liking, the Big Four leaders added two more hits and one more run in the second inning. Centerfielder Charlie Kersh singled and went to third on Wiley Warren's one base effort. Kersh scored when Catcher Russ Batchelor hit into a double play.

Just Visions

Carolina came up in the third with visions of knocking the Deacon 19-game win streak to the moon. They didn't quite make it. Stan Goodman got to first when Shortstop Hoch played hide and seek with a ground ball. Ripper Ryan slammed one to deep center that shook the foundations of the Vets' Club to score Goodman. Ryan stayed on third.

However, Ryan wasn't long for home. Sid Varney walked and Ed Lamb followed with a single that scored Ryan. That was the end of the Tar Heels. They couldn't successfully touch the pitching of Vernon Mustian and Dick Vander Clute, and consequently left eight men stranded on bases.

But the Deacs, who, according to Durham Herald Sports Editor Jack Horner should be playing Class A ball, had two more runs up their bats. They scored one in the fifth and added one for good luck in the ninth.

One More Run

Warren scored in the fifth after he reached second on a double and was brought in after a sacrifice and a fly ball to deep left.

In the ninth Kersh added the final tally after singling. He went to third on two successive walks and came home on a double play that put Vander Clute and Warren out.

In the second inning Centerfielder Jim Ballou made a valiant attempt to put the Tar Heels in the ball game as he tried to block a throw from second to first. He had got on on an error and went to second on Don Ward's grounder to short. On the play Charlie Teague put Ballou out at second and then threw to first baseman Warren. But Ballou leaped high in the air and intercepted the ball with his head, allowing Ward to reach first safely.

Had To Leave

He was later taken out of the ball game as a result of the injury incurred in the second inning.

Ray Blair went all the way for the Tar Heels, allowing nine scattered hits. But the Deacons took advantage of every break to win their 20th game this year without defeat.

It was the Carolina club of 1948 that handed the Deacs their last defeat. Since that final game last year the boys from Deacon Hollow has been the talk of the town, taking every opponent in their stride.

Wednesday the Carolinians will move over to Raleigh where they will face the Wolfpack for the third time this season. So far the Red Dogs haven't allowed the Tar Heels a game. Here's hoping!

Follow your favorite professional baseball team in the Daily Tar Heel. Every day the DTH carries the latest standings and results of both the American and National Leagues.

Where was the Rain?

Carolina	L	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Brookshire, 3b		4	0	0	4	2	0
a-Gurganus		1	0	0	0	0	0
Goodman, 2b		4	1	2	3	1	0
Ryan, ss		3	1	1	0	6	0
Varney, c		3	0	0	2	0	0
Lamb, rf		4	0	1	0	0	0
Ballou, cf		3	0	1	3	0	0
Eldridge, cf		1	0	0	1	0	0
Ward, lf		3	0	0	5	1	0
Hobbs, 1b		4	0	0	9	1	0
Blair, p		3	0	1	0	2	0
Totals		33	2	6	27	13	0

a—Grounded out for Brookshire in 9th

Wake Forest	L	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Hoch, ss		4	1	1	4	4	1
Hooks, 3b		4	0	1	0	4	0
Teague, 2b		4	0	1	5	5	1
Fulghum, lf		4	0	0	2	0	0
Livick, cf		4	0	1	1	0	0
Kersh, cf		4	2	2	1	0	0
Warren, 1b		3	1	3	9	0	0
Batchelor, c		1	0	0	5	0	0
Mustian, p		1	0	0	0	1	0
a-Wrenn		1	0	0	0	0	0
Vander Clute, p		1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals		31	4	9	27	14	2

a—Flied out for Mustian in 7th.

Score by innings:

Wake Forest	110	010	001—4
Carolina	002	000	000—2

Runs batted in: Ryan, Lamb, Hoch, Hooks. Two-base hits: Hoch, Hooks, Warren. Three-base hit: Ryan. Sacrifices: Ward, Batchelor 2. Double plays: Ryan-Goodman-Hobbs, Brookshire-Hobbs, Eldridge - Ryan - Brookshire, Hoch-Warren. Left on bases: Carolina 8, Wake Forest 4. Bases on balls—off: Mustian 3, Blair 3. Struck out—By: Mustian 2, Vander Clute 2, Blair 2. Hits—off: Mustian 6 in 6 inn., Vander Clute 0 in 3 inn. Winning pitcher: Mustian. Umpires: Weaver and Murray. Time: 2:05.

Boysen Withdraws Charges Against Leo Durocher

NEW YORK, May 9.—(UP)—Fred Boysen, 22-year-old Brooklyn fan, today withdrew his summons charging Leo Durocher with simple assault and then publicly apologized to the New York Giants manager in Upper Manhattan magistrates court.

DUROCHER
...All smiles

Boysen was late in appearing in court and judge Doris I. Byrne had just dismissed the complaint as Boysen arrived. The young Peurto Rican then asked the judge formally to withdraw his complaint.

After that Boysen turned to Durocher, shook his hand, and said, "I'm sorry about the whole thing."

Durocher's only comment was, "I'm glad it's all over."

Boysen last Monday obtained a summons charging that Durocher punched and kicked him after the Giants-Brooklyn Dodgers game at the Polo Grounds, April 23. The summons was served on Durocher last Wednesday.

Durocher was accompanied in the court room by Edgar Feeley, New York Giants attorney, and Eddie Brannick, club secretary.

Racqueteers Back For Davidson Meet And SC Tourney

One would think that after winning 21 consecutive tennis matches in the brief span of six weeks the Carolina netters could take a well-earned vacation but apparently the shop-worn axiom of "no rest for the weary" can be more directly applied to the powerful disciples of Tar Heel coach John Kenfield.

Because upon returning from the highly successful jaunt through the northern regions of the country, the local racqueteers have on tap for this week a tough dual meet with Davidson and the annual Southern Conference Tennis Championships.

The Davidson contest promises to be a real test for the unbeaten netsters as the Wildcats have surprised the experts by chalking up a winning season, mainly through the pace-setting efforts of the Wildcat ace, Dick Roddey.

Roddey ranks up high in the tentative conference seedings along with two other prominent conference netmen, W & M's Fred Kovaleski and the local star, Vic Seixas. Seixas, the well-known Carolina pride and joy, is sporting a skein of 21 victories in individual competition and the match between Roddey and the Carolina ace should be well worth the trouble of a short walk to the varsity courts Wednesday afternoon.

Following the Davidson match, the conference singles and doubles tourney will hold place in the sports agenda for three days as well over 60 men from most the conference schools will engage in the sudden-death competition from whence the 1949 champs will arise.

The local's season will come to a close next Tuesday with a match with William and Mary that will no doubt provide some excellent tennis for the local fans and also decide the conference champion in team competition.

Frosh Meet Durham

Coach Hollander's freshman track team will run against Durham High School's cindermen this afternoon on Fetzer Field, with the field events scheduled to start at 3 o'clock and the running events slated to get under way at 3:30.

Today's meet will be the final warmup for the locals before the big statewide freshman meet at State College Monday. The Tar Babies defeated the Durham tracksters earlier in the season.

Plenty of hot competition and some good times are expected in this afternoon's affair.

Annual Big Four Sports Day Planned for This Thursday

Not to be outdone by such lucrative attractions as the Southern Conference Tennis Tourney and several Big Four baseball games, the ever endeavoring mural department has come up with a gigantic Sports Day to be held here this Thursday with student competition emulating from Carolina, Duke, Wake Forest and State and the Big Four mural championship the eventual goal.

The local mural chiefs, headed by director Walter Rabb and ably assisted by assistants Gayles Perry and Dave Burney are conducting the meet and have announced that there will be competition in softball, horseshoes, badminton, volleyball, handball, and table tennis.

Just conceived two years ago, this idea of promoting an intramural championship among the Big Four schools has met with great success and abounding enthusiasm and the officials of Carolina, as host school this year, are confident that the local students will co-operate with the tentative plans to make the coming show an even greater success.

The gala production gets underway at 2:00 Thursday afternoon with events slated for both Woollen Gym and Fetzer Field and competition will not be completed until each sport has a winner and a new Big Four champ has been crowned.

Grads Take Coed Softball Honors, Defeating Chi O

The Grads won the Coed Softball Championship yesterday afternoon when they defeated the other tournament finalist, Chi Omega, 11-5, on Kenan Field.

A big second inning proved the difference between the two teams as the winners pushed across seven runs in that frame to sew up the ball game.

The losers rallied strongly in the bottom of the fourth for three runs, but the Grads put out the fire before the Chi O's could get back into the ball game.

The winning Grad team was composed of Jane Tuitt, Mary Barron, Ann Dysant, Dot Casey, Erna Paden, Lib Browning, Jo Haynes, Flo Morris, and Billie Crawford.

The consolation finals saw Pi Phi 2 win by forfeit from the Town Girls.

The Championship score by innings:

Grads	272 00—11
Chi O	110 30—5

Batteries: Crawford and Casey; Durham and Conley.

Mural Softball In Last Stages; Finals Next Week

With intramural softball going into its final week, close races are promised in most leagues to determine the candidates for the playoffs which will begin next week.

In the fraternity league, it seems to be the teams of Sigma Chi that claim the best records. In two of the leagues, their teams hold top honors in the won-lost standings. Pressing close behind them are the Phi Delts who hold a first and a second in league percentages. Also leading their respective leagues are Delta Sig, Zeta, PiKA, and Phi Kap Sig. In most cases, however, the leaders are closely pressed by the second and third place teams.

In the domitory division, which only has five leagues, the various teams from Emerson hold the best record. They have a team in each of the top three positions. Town is next with a first and a second place rating. Other league leaders are Stacy, BVP, and Steele.

Many of the outstanding men on both the dormitory and fraternity teams will be chosen to make up a team that will represent Carolina in the Big Four Sports Day play.

'Cats Meet Orphans In Game at Oxford

Chapel Hill High School's potent baseball team, a leading contender for the conference championship, opens a busy week of play this afternoon against the Oxford Orphanage diamonders on the Oxford field.

The Widcats have waded through all loop opposition thus far, and are favored in today's game on the strength of an earlier, one-sided win over the Orphans.

Tomorrow the Durham County nine will invade the local diamond, and Friday Roxboro will furnish the opposition in a doubleheader, with the first game tabbed for the home field at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and the second slated to be played under the arcs at Roxboro. Game time for the second tilt is 8 o'clock.

Carolina, Duke Golfers to Meet This Afternoon at Hope Valley

Carolina, which has taken to the habit of beating Duke in most every sport but golf, will seek to acquire that art this afternoon at Hope Valley Country Club when the Tar Heel and Duke Devil linksmen tangle beginning at 1:30.

The locals besides being out to even a great number of old scores with their Durham rivals, will be seeking their ninth victory of the season with a loss to State, since avenged, and a tie with Wake Forest being the only blemishes on the card.

The Blue Devils are sporting an equally fine round, having also lost to State at Raleigh where they seem unbeatable, and to the Deacons in a very close match.

The feature individual engagement of the day will pit Carolina's Harvie Ward, unbeaten in college competition this year, but twice halved with, against Duke's Art Wall, who has lost only to Arnold Palmer of Wake Forest. Palmer split with Ward last Saturday at Old Town in Winston Salem.

HARVIE WARD
...Leads mates against Duke

The Wall-Ward match will probably fall with the breaks since both are playing their home course. Wall has had a 65 on the par-70 Hope Valley layout this year while Ward's best effort has been a 67. The two have never met in college competition.

Playing with Ward for the Tar Heels will be Bob Cox, filling the No. 2 role. In the second foursome will find Roy McKenzie at the No. 3 position paired with Jack Brantley at No. 4. Stub Sapp and Frank Brooks will complete the Carolina lineup.

Against this formidable array of talent Duke's Coach Dumpy Haigler will send an equally as talented group which finished up in second place for team honors in the recent Southern Intercollegiate at Athens, Ga. The Tar Heels did not take part in that tournament.

The match will be the last of the season for both teams before the annual Conference event to be played at the forementioned Old Town Club in the Twin City. The majority of the Conference schools are expected to send teams.

MAJOR League Results

TIGERS, CARDINALS WIN

NEW YORK, May 9—(UP)—Ted Gray, who has been looked upon as a potential pitching bigwig for three seasons, demonstrated again today that he may be ready to fill the role when he pitched a five-hit, 4 to 1 Detroit Tiger victory over the New York Yankees.

The St. Louis Cardinals came out of a three game losing streak with vengeance, getting 15 hits including two homers in a 14 to 5 triumph over the Dodgers in Brooklyn. Rookie Eddie Kazak hit a grand slam homer and drove in another run with a double.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.	GB
New York	14	5	.736	—
Detroit	11	7	.611	2½
Cleveland	9	6	.600	3
Chicago	10	10	.500	4½
Boston	9	9	.500	4½
Washington	10	11	.476	5
Philadelphia	10	11	.476	5
St. Louis	3	17	.150	11½

Today's Games

New York (Reynolds 2-1) at Detroit (Newhouser 3-1).

Washington (Haefner 1-1) at Cleveland (Wynn 0-0).

Boston (Harris 1-1) at St. Louis (Kennedy 0-1).

Philadelphia (Coleman 2-3) at Chicago (Pierce 2-1) (night)

Yesterday's Results

Detroit 4, New York 1
(Only game scheduled)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.	GB
*New York	12	7	.632	—
Brooklyn	11	9	.550	1½
*Boston	11	9	.550	1½
*Philadelphia	10	11	.476	3
*Cincinnati	9	10	.474	3
St. Louis	8	10	.444	3½
*Pittsburgh	9	11	.450	3½
*Chicago	7	10	.412	4
*Played last night

Today's Games

Chicago (Leonard 0-3) at New York (Kennedy 2-1).

St. Louis (Munger 1-10) at Brooklyn (Banta 0-1).

Cincinnati (Wehmeier 1-0 at Philadelphia.

(Only games scheduled.)

Yesterday's Results

St. Louis 14, Brooklyn 5

Pittsburgh at Boston (night)

Chicago at New York (night)

Cincinnati at Philadelphia (night)

TEEN-AGE

"...something about a debutante... it's all part of her 'coming out'."

BALLENTINE'S on tap 10c

THE BUCCANEER

MURAL SCOREBOARD

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00—field 1, Lamb Chi 2 vs Chi Phi 1; 2, Kap Sig 1 vs Phi Delta 3; 3, Pi Kap Phi 1 vs SAE 2; 4, Phi Delta Chi vs TEP 2; 5, SAE 1 vs St. Anthony; 6, KA 1 vs ATO 1; 7, Beta 1 vs Phi Kap Sig 1; 8, PiKA 1 vs Sig Nu 1.

5:00 — Field 1, ATO 2 vs Pi Lamb 1; 2, Kappa Psi 1 vs Sig Eps; 3, DKE 3 vs Sig Chi 1; 4, DKE 1 vs Beta 2; 5, Phi Kap Sig 2 vs ZBT; 6, Whitehead vs Wes Rockets; 7, Sig Chi 2 vs Kap Psi 2; 8, Beachcombers vs Steele.

TENNIS SCHEDULE

4:00 — Courts 1-4, SAE 1 vs winner (Kap Sig-Pi Kap Phi) 5-8, Steele 2 vs Alexander; 9-11, Sig Chi 3 vs winner (Sig Eps-Chi Phi 2).

5:00 — Courts 1-4, PiKA 5 vs TEP; 5-8, DKE 2 vs KA 3; 9-11, Emerson 2 vs Med School (5:30).

HORSESHOE SCHEDULE

4:00—Courts 1-2, Town 1 vs BVP 1; 3-4, Town 3 vs Emerson 5; 5-6, Beta 2 vs Chi Psi 2.

5:00—Courts 1-2, Alexander vs Town 2; 3-4, Emerson 3 vs Steele; 5-6, Delta Sig 2 vs ATO 4.

When School's Out, Go Home The Quick, Economical Way— GO BY TRAILWAYS

One Way Fares — from Chapel Hill

CHARLOTTE 9 trips	$3.15	ATLANTA 6 trips	$7.60
ASHEVILLE 10 trips	5.05	WILMINGTON 10 trips	3.60
NEW YORK 6 trips	8.85	RALEIGH 10 trips	.70
WINSTON-SALEM 9 trips	1.75	NORFOLK 10 trips	4.45

(Fares are net, fed. tax to be added)

For all schedules, call UNION BUS STATION 311 W. Franklin St. PHONE 4281

Carolina TRAILWAYS

Saddle Shoes Specials!!

Now $9.25 Were $12.95

GENUINE SOFT WHITE BUCKSKIN

WITH YOUR CHOICE OF CORDOVAN BROWN OR BLACK KID

— ● —

ONE GROUP OF WHITE KID with BLACK or BROWN

NOW $7.50 — were $10.95

Full Range Of Sizes

Get Yours Early

Jack Lipman's

A White Shirt Tops Off Any Outfit

Are Yours As Clean And Fresh As They Should Be?

3 Day Service

Pick Up And Delivery

We Specialize In Shirts. We Also Mend Your Clothes. Sew on Buttons, Turn Collars — With No Extra Charge

TWIN VILLAGE LAUNDRY & CLEANERS

PHONE F-3541

CARRBORO

CAROLINA – DUKE

DRIVE-IN THEATRE

Tues. & Wed.

Disney Color Cartoon

75c Per Car

Shows at 7:15 & 9:15

University Florist

"For the Best in Flowers"

Pick Theatre Bldg.

Chapel Hill, N. C.

Telephone 9216

-Planetarium-

(Continued from Page 1)

originally conservatively set at $1,000,000, but the estimated total costs will approach $3,000,000, W. B. Carmichael, controller of the University, said. The Planetarium is the first to be built in the South, and the only one owned by an educational institution. It is one of the six Planetaris in the country. The building itself will house one of the nation's finest private art collections, "The Genevieve B. Morehead Art Gallery," as a memorial to Mrs. Morehead.

A member of the Class of 1891, Morehead is an internationally known industrialist, engineer, scientist, philanthropist and ex-President of the University Alumni Association. He makes his home in Rye, N. Y., but is a native of Spray, N. C.

CAROLINA DUKE
DRIVE-IN THEATRE
CHAPEL HILL BLVD.
COMING
WALT DISNEY'S FANTASIA
IN TECHNICOLOR
with STOKOWSKI
RELEASED BY RKO RADIO PICTURES, INC.

GROSSMAN'S THRIFT SHOP
buys your clothes in good condition
E. Franklin St.

Monogram Club Dining Room
COUNTRY CLUB ROAD
AIR CONDITIONED
Open From 12 Noon 'Til 8:15 P.M.

RAIN OR SHINE IT'S
"Stormy" Weathers
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
FOR THE SMOOTHEST IN DANCE MUSIC
SPECIALIZING IN SORORITY AND FRATERNITY DANCES
Write 310 Pritchard Ave.
PHONE 3746

the news is just plain SENSATIONAL!
Everybody's been reading about the good food served at
THE UNIVERSITY RESTAURANT

Students Of Journalism To Make European Trip

NEW YORK, May 9—Final plans were completed today for the first post-war tour of Europe by American journalism students. As part of the nine-week "foreign assignment" sponsored by Travel & Study, Inc., of New York, more than fifty journalism students will leave for Europe by plane the end of June.

In Europe the students will observe current political, economic and social conditions in England, France, Switzerland, western Germany and Scandinavia. They will hear lectures at the University of London, the Sorbonne, the Universities of Stockholm and Uppsala.

In their "Foreign Assignment," the American students will first stop in London, travel by boat to France, and then go on by bus to Geneva, Basle, Frankfurt, Hamburg, Copenhagen, and Stockholm. As a windup to their "Clinical Experience in Foreign Correspondence," the students will write a 3,000-word article; winning papers will subsequently be published by leading newspapers in this country and abroad.

Students will pay the expenses which will total approximately $1,050.00.

Somers to Give Recital Sunday

Charles Somers, University senior from Reidsville, will give a piano recital in Hill Hall here next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Somers, a French major, has studied in New York under Helen Anderson, and since coming to Chapel Hill has studied with Virginia Hare and Dr. William S. Newman of the University faculty.

His program will include Variations in E Major by Handel, Prelude and Fugue in C Minor, Bach; Sonata in D Minor, Beethoven; Papillons, Schumann; Sorocaba and Ipanema, Milhaud, and Nocturne in D Flat Major and Scherzo in C Sharp Minor, Chopin.

The University Band will give a lawn concert at 5 o'clock Sunday.

Tallulah's Bones Feel FDR Victory

NEW YORK, May 9.—(UP)—Actress Tallulah Bankhead said tonight she had a "feeling in my bones" that Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., will win the special Congressional election to fill the seat of the late Rep. Sol Bloom (D.—N.Y.).

"And don't sell the Bankhead bones short," she said. "They've never failed me. Remember last November? I chortle every time I think of it."

Memorial Tablet To Victor Bryant Is Placed in Hall

A memorial tablet to the late Victor Silas Bryant, Sr., Durham attorney and University alumnus who died in 1920, was placed in a niche in the lobby of Memorial Hall at a ceremony Saturday morning.

Chancellor Robert B. House presided and delivered a short address.

Bryant, who received a Ph.D. degree from the University in 1890, was a member of the Board of Trustees from 1901 to 1920. He was a member of the North Carolina Senate in 1913, and of the House of Representatives in 1919-20.

In his will Bryant bequeathed $7.500 to the University here and $7,500 to the Woman's College in Greensboro to be used as a loan fund to needy students.

Retreat Planned For Officials of Y

Donning blue jeans and old clothes, the YWCA executive council, the cabinet, and the adult advisory board will spend next Sunday at New Hope Church, about 10 miles outside of Chapel Hill, in recreation and making plans for next year's Y program.

The Y council and cabinet will leave the Y building at 9:30 and will begin the annual spring retreat with a church service. Following a picnic lunch, commissions will be held and the program chairman and adult advisors of each committee will meet to discuss plans for next year.

A vesper service, following dinner, will conclude the day's activities.

SPONSORS FOR THE PI KAPPA PHI ROSE BALL, held Saturday night at the Carolina Inn, above, left to right were: Miss Bobby Lee Keeter with Leland Close; Miss Louise Wood with Robert Hickman; Miss Margaret Ellen with William Moore; Miss Phyllis Bradshaw with Robert Petit; Miss Betsy Lea Ware with James Thompson; Miss Dorothy Jones with Clell Bryant; and Miss Elgiva Dundas with Frank McNeil.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

1:00—FACULTY CLUB LUNCHeon, Herman G. Baity will show color movies and discuss "The Upper Amazon of Brazil." Carolina Inn.
4:00—STUDENT ENTERTAINment Committee. Grail room, GM.
6:30—FRENCH CLUB WILL meet for dinner at the Carolina Inn.
7:00—ALPHA PHI OMEGA. Roland Parker 3, GM.
7:00—COED SENATE. ROLAND Parker 2, GM.
7:30—YOUNG DEMOCRATS. Main lounge, GM.
7:30—BRIDGE TOURNAMENT. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
7:30—FRENCH CLUB. Plans for a picnic will be discussed. Caldwell Y.
7:30—DANCING CLASS. Rendezvous room, GM.
7:30—PHI ASSEMBLY. PHI Hall.
7:30—ELISHA MITCHELL Scientific Society. A. F. Chestnut will speak on "Some Studies of the Digestive Enzymes of the Oyster." Phillips Hall.

-Sunbathers-

(Continued from Page 1)

uncovered yet, but it is rumored that in one fraternity house the boys have taken up astronomy as a hobby. Or at least their upstairs window is now equipped with a telescope. The boys are using a slightly different method in their study, though, for, instead of being aimed at the wild blue yonder, the telescope is focused upon the roof with the sun-loving girls.

But roofs aren't the only places where the sun shines. The steps of South Building long renowned as a rendezvous for son-worshippers, are fast becoming a meeting place for sun-worshippers.

Sunback dresses, daintily pulled-up-to-the-knees skirts and such remarks as "Don't I look the least bit burned?" indicate that Old Man Winter has really left and summer is here at last.

And as one humor magazine puts it—a man in the moon isn't half so interesting as a lady in the sun.

Money-Maker for Shoppers Is Hat in Melting Block of Ice

Four Chapel Hill shoppers are richer by $1.25 in Varsity shop trade today because they correctly guessed the melting time of a 300-pound block of ice.

The block was placed on the sidewalk in front of the varsity at 11 o'clock Friday morning. Frozen inside was a $5 straw sailor. The object of the contest was to estimate the time it would take the block of ice to melt sufficiently for the sailor brim to touch the pavement. The prize: the winner's choice of any $5 straw hat in the shop.

Mrs. D. G. Grogan, Mrs. M. D. Keany, A. A. Pickard and Art Weiner all correctly placed the time at 10:30 Saturday morning. The $5 hat prize was then changed to the four-way split of $1.25 in trade.

Nearly 600 entries were submitted, some of them far from the mark. One hopeful guessed May 29 at 5 o'clock. The majority of guesses, however, had the ice melted sometime over the weekend and through this Wednesday.

The 300-pound block weathered the humid, sweltering sunshine until early Friday afternoon, when it toppled over. The block had only melted a few inches at that time. Though the ice block cracked, the hat frozen inside did not touch the ground. The contest continued.

Nearly 24 hours after the opening of the contest, the block once again fell over. This time, however, it split open and the straw skimmer hit the pavement.

The weather man was in a contest mood, also, for he granted sunny and warm weather during both days of the contest.

Dividend Goes Out To Co-op Holders

The Veteran's Co-op Store in Victory Village began yesterday, distributing a 3 per cent dividend on stock to members on record at the end of 1948.

Residents of the Village and the main trailer court will receive their dividends at the store and other stockholders will receive theirs by mail. Those who fall into the latter category and who have changed their addresses recently should get in touch with the store by mail or phone immediately.

The dividends represent interest on stockholder's investments during the year 1948.

FREE DELIVERY
on orders from
THE COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
Monday — Friday
at
9:15 And 10:15
DIAL 6061

AUTO PARTS
New . Used . Rebuilt
Open Saturday Afternoon And Sunday
.AA. AUTO WRECKERS
2 Miles Out New Raleigh Rd.
DURHAM J-8372

K & M
BEER
Delivery Service
NEW LOCATION
BENEATH
Milton's Clothing Cupboard
W. FRANKLIN ST.
PHONE F-5347
BEERS:
Pabst
Schlitz
Budweiser
Miller Highlife
Ballantine
Blatz
$4.75 A Case
2.50 ½ Case
½ Keg Barbarossa —$20.00
¼ Keg Barbarossa —$11.00
Over 3 Kegs
Over 5 Cases
5% Discount
DELIVERED ICE COLD
Also
Coca Colas
Pretzels
Potato Chips
Peanuts
Candies
Cigarettes
Phone F-5347

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

PROPERTY MANAGEMENT. FOR a small charge we can relieve you of all details connected with renting your property. Our service includes selection of desirable tenants, supervision of upkeep and collection of rents. Consult us today regarding this service. Servicee Insurance & Realty Co., Henderson Street. Phone F-419. (ch 1x2)

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

ALL MAKES OF LAWN MOWERS repaired, machine sharpened. Axes, hatchets, scythes also sharpened. Tripps Lawn Mower Repair Shop or see John Tripp, Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1x1)

THE PUBLICATIONS BOARD IS NOW accepting seal-bid competitive contracts through May 15 for the posts of circulation managers for the Daily Tar Heel for the summer and coming year: and for Tarnation for the coming year. Those interested should contact Billy Carmichael III, DTH sports office any afternoon for information and sample contracts. (1-1200-1)

FOR SALE 6B

FOR SALE OR LEASE — WEEKLY newspaper in Tabor City, N. C. Fair equipment. No competition. Good agricultural community. See W. Horace Carter, Colonial Press, Chapel Hill, N. C.

GARDEN PLANTS ASTERS, AGERatum, petunias, marigolds, foxglove, Canterbury bells, feverfew, Chrysanthemums, pinks, zinnias, egg plants, peppers and tomatoes. Call at Homestead Gardens, 322 West Rosemary—Tel. 9496. (ch 1x1)

TWO FEMALE GOLDEN HAMSTERS, with special cage. Entertaining pets. may be seen after 3 p.m. at Lot 67, University Trailer Court. (2-6750-1)

FOR SALE: Automotive 6BB

1937 PLYMOUTH CONVERTIBLE IN fair condition. Heater, sealed beam lights. Make an offer. See Dick Taylor at Track Field House (behind Woollen Gym) (4-6747-1)

HELP WANTED 8

UPPER-CLASSMEN SKILLED IN leadership, sailing, boating of all kinds athletics, and other camp activities. Must have good character references and ability to lead and work with boys for eight or ten weeks this summer as counselors on staff at Camp Sea Gull, wonderfully equipped coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Good pay, wonderful environment room and board. Only those with outstanding qualifications need apply. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director of Camp Sea Gull, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x3)

OUTSTANDING FACULTY MEMBER with expert ability in handicraft and woodwork to serve eight or ten weeks this summer on administrative staff of Camp Sea Gull, a coastal camp for boys, Arapahoe, N. C. Excellent pay, wonderful environment, comfortable living quarters, room and board. Apply Wyatt Taylor, Director, Raleigh YMCA, Raleigh, N. C. (ch 1x2)

CAMP COUNSELORS WANTED 4 week camp, June-July. Write Box 469 Chapel Hill, stating experience, interest, and age. (ch.1x2)

LOST 12

EASTON AUTOMATIC WRIST watch in wash room of Lenoir Hall. Sentimental value. Nominal reward. Joe Wratten, 206 Emerson Dorm. (1-6745-1)

RENTAL LIBRARY
BULL'S HEAD BOOKSHOP
The new brief Freud:
"Outline of Psychoanalysis"
BROWSE • BUY • RENT

AL CAPP
L'il Abner
TH' FIRST, FAINT, FEEBLE RAYS O' YOKUM'S MOON DONE CURDLED HIS PORE LI'L BRAINS!! HE'S GONNA ACK CONTRARIWISE TO HIS USUAL ACK-SHUNS!!
HE'S SCUTTLIN' FO' TH' WIDDER BROWN!! THET MEANS HE'LL KISS HER!!
HE DIDN'T KISS HER!!
SO THET'S CONTRARIWISE!!
5-10

Congratulations U.N.C. on the Morehead Planetarium — from HARRY'S

MILTON CANIFF
Steve Canyon
5-10
SNOW FLOWER, IF WE'VE CROSSED THE DAMMA BORDER AND YOU HAVE POLITICAL SANCTUARY IN THIS COUNTRY, HOW DO YOU GO ABOUT IT?
I MUST SEEK OUT THE HEAD OF THE VILLAGE—HE WILL SEND RIDERS TO INFORM THE RULER OF MY PRESENCE!
YOU STILL STICK TO THAT ROYALTY PITCH, DON'T YOU, SISTER?—WELL, I SUPPOSE A GAL IS ENTITLED TO A FEW FREE DREAMS HEADS UP! WHAT'S THAT RAZZAMATAZZ UP THE ROAD...? THE MOB DOESN'T SEEM TO BE ARMED!
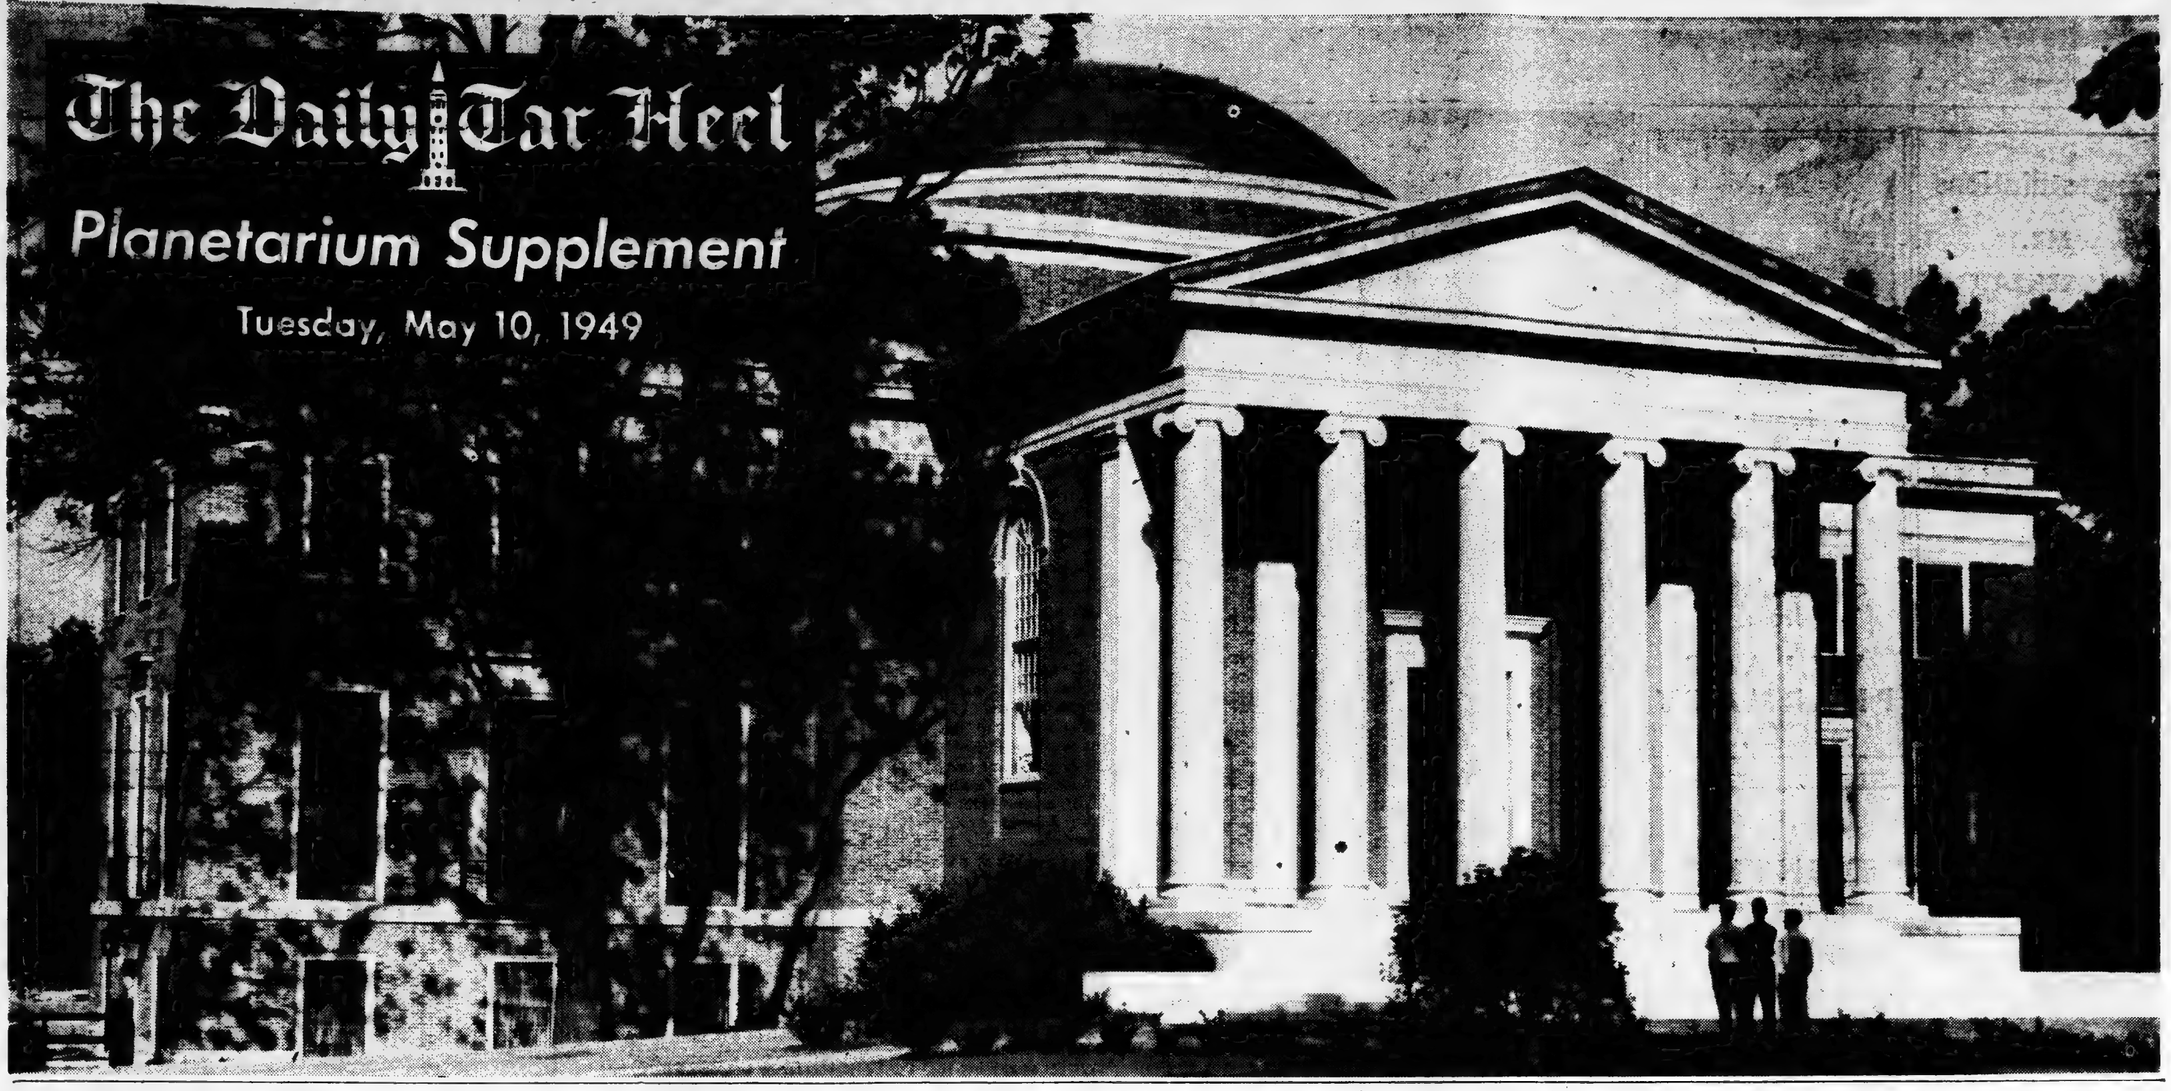
BEHOLD! IT IS THE PRINCESS SNOW FLOWER! THE CRAG HAG HAS BEEN SAVED FROM THE REBELS!
WE KISS YOUR HAND, PRINCESS!
HAIL THE PRINCESS!
YOUR LOYAL REFUGEE SUBJECTS SALUTE YOU!
GOT ANYTHING TO SAY FOR THE NEWSREELS, MR. HOGAN?

Beat The Heat With Our Summer Clothes
At Unusually Low Prices
CREASE RESISTANT RAYON SLACKS 6.95
BUR MIL RAYON GABARDINE SLACKS 7.95
ALL WHITE BUCK SHOES 9.95
ALL WOOL GABARDINE SLACKS 13.95
SANFORIZED CORD SUITS, in a nice full cut 19.50
SANFORIZED CORD SPORT COATS 14.50
New Shipment of Summer Suits
More Beautiful Than Ever
We Are Never Knowingly Undersold
MILTON'S CLOTHING CUPBOARD
One Block Beyond New Bus Station
Across From Farmers Dairy
FREE DELIVERY ON ALL PURCHASES

A Sure Bet

DELICIOUS, NUTRITIOUS, FRESH
STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM
A SURE bet for a family treat. When you serve DAIRYLAND'S STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM tonight after dinner, just watch their eyes light up, as they taste the full, rich flavor of a fine ice cream to which has been added fresh, ripe strawberries . . sweet and tempting. Get DAIRYLAND's STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM TODAY.
Farmers Dairy
"THE FINEST DAIRY PRODUCTS"
CALL F-414



AY 10, 1949

M
R
Service
—
A
T I O N
TH n's upboard
N ST.
r ghlife e se ase arbarossa
–$20.00
arbarossa
–$11.00
count
ERED
OLD
as hips es
-5347
t
, FRESH
Y
TODAY.
airy

The Daily Tar Heel

Planetarium Supplement

Tuesday, May 10, 1949

Planetarium's Young Life Is Filled With Adventure

Construction of Structure Moved Smoothly Except for Fire, Strike

By Don Maynard

The first planetarium built in the South, the sixth to be constructed in this country, and the most recent of the 20-odd planetariums believed remaining in the world opens on this campus today.

A gift of Mr. John Motley Morehead, the Morehead Planetarium is the first in the world to be a part of the equipment of an institution of higher learning.

First Built in 1655

History goes back to about 1655, when one of the first "planetariums" was devised. It was a globe about 11 feet in diameter with a platform at its center which could hold a dozen people at one time.

A lamp illuminated the stars painted on the inside of the sphere, and, by means of a water-powered engine, the sphere was rotated to simulate the daily westward motion of the celestial sphere. This globe was known to be still in existence as late as 1901, located in St. Petersburg, now Leningrad, Russia.

First Star Puncher Unknown

Since that yesteryear, star projectors have grown in complexity. No one knows when the first ball was punched with holes, a light inserted inside and the "stars" projected upon a surface. Development has culminated in the present day machine, such as the Zeiss projector containing 122 individual projectors capable of showing some 9,000 stars, the sun, moon and the planets.

The Morehead building cornerstone was laid on Nov. 29, 1947. The building was designed by the New York firm of Eggers and Huggins, the same firm that designed the Jefferson Memorial and the Mellon Art Gallery, both in Washington, D. C. Construction work was done by the J. A. Jones Construction Co. of Charlotte.

Original Cost, $1,000,000

Cost of the Planetarium was originally conservatively set at $1,000,000, then upped to more than $2,000,000. At present, the estimated total cost will be very nearly $3,000,000.

Almost phenomenal luck has been met with in the construction. Except for a walkout of union workers not long after work began, and a minor fire within the structure, the building has risen uninterrupted from the ground.

On May 11, 1948, almost six months after the cornerstone had been laid, 125 workers of the Jones Construction Co. walked away from their jobs. They demanded more pay. Eleven days later, they were back on the job. They had gained an increase of 11½ cents per hour, less than half the increase they had demanded.

One Small Fire

Things went smoothly until Feb. 16 of this year, when sparks from the blowtorch of a welder working above and behind the floating steel dome of the planetarium ignited a bit of acoustic material draped behind the dome. A flash fire resulted. Damage was not serious, most of it caused by the water used in extinguishing the fire.

In the middle of March of this year, the $75,000 Zeiss projector was installed. Dr. Roy K. Marshall, former director of the Fels Planetarium in Philadelphia, now director of the Morehead Planetarium and Professor of Astronomy here, and his chief technician, Tony Jenzano, assembled in 16 hours the 2½ tons of apparatus contained in 14 crates and boxes.

Wants No More Fires

Dr. Marshall was grateful for the good fortune that has accompanied construction of the Morehead Building. On the subject of pyrotechnics, Dr. Marshall had one comment:

"We are entitled to about 10 fires," he said. "An estimate of three fires per million dollars is usually made for a building and since this structure cost approximately $3,000,000," you can see my point."

But he certainly is not anxious to find an arsonist lurking in the corridors of the building.

Five Other Planetariums

The other five planetariums, scattered throughout the country—the first of which is located in Chicago, built in 1930—are all operated on the American idea that a planetarium should be a theater in which spectators may sit at ease and watch the heaven's actors, the stars and planets, perform.

Following the Chicago planetarium, another was built in 1933

(See BUILDINGS, page 3)

N.C. Ministers Will See Show In Planetarium

Special Preview Slated Thursday

Several thousand ministers from every section of North Carolina have been invited to attend a special showing at the Morehead Planetarium on Thursday, May 12, as guests of the student government, the YMCA, and the YWCA.

Following a luncheon at 12 o'clock, the ministers will be taken on a tour of the new building where they will be the Planetarium's first feature, "Let There Be Light." Dr. Roy K. Marshall, director of the Planetarium, will be on hand to explain the purpose of the building and to demonstrate some of the equipment. The visit will close with a dinner Thursday evening.

President of the student body, Bill Mackie, has asked all University students to contact the churchmen in their hometown areas and extend to them a personal invitation to attend the showing. In an open letter to the student body, Mackie explained that although thousands of invitations have already been sent, many ministers were not on the mailing list and it has been impossible to obtain their addresses.

Bell Tower's Face To Get Scrubbing

Structure Was First Memorial Given by John Motley Morehead

By Sally Woodhull

Eighteen years is a long time to go without having one's face washed. But that's what happened to the clock on the Morehead-Patterson bell tower. The clock was installed at the time the tower was built in 1931, and until a few days ago, nothing had been done about keeping its face clean.

But when representatives of the Howard Clock Sales and Service Corporation of New York City came to Chapel Hill to install the clock in the Morehead Planetarium, they also checked on the bell tower clock. They have removed the faces of the clock and taken them back to the factory for any needed repairs. Worn out parts will be replaced and the faces will be installed again in two weeks time.

The bell tower was given to the University by John Motely Morehead, Class of 1891, donor of the Morehead Planetarium, and Rufus Lenoir Patterson, class of 1893. It was dedicated at ceremonies on Thanksgiving Day, 1931, just two weeks after the inauguration of Dr. Frank Graham as president of the University. The dedication today of Morehead's second large gift to the University, the planetarium, comes just six weeks after Dr. Frank's swearing in as United States Senator.

Morehead is a connoisseur of bells and bell tones, and has experimented widely with many sorts of bells and chimes. He personally supervised plans for the bells and their tower.

The co-donor of the bell tower, Rufus Patterson, had a deep interest in landscaping, and offered the services of his landscape architect in laying out the plans for the bell tower grounds. The 800 box bushes averaging in age about 10 years when they were set out, arrived in Chapel Hill in two box cars. Although no one is interested in shipping them away now, it is estimated that at least 8 box cars would be needed to hold them.

The bells in the tower are duplicates of the famous West Point chime. They were cast and installed by the Meneely Bell Company, whose head, Chester Meneely, played the dedication concert. There are 12 bells, weighing a total of 14,350 pounds. Not all tunes can be played on a single chime, which consists of eight bells, but with 12 bells and by transposing in a limited number of cases practically any tune can be rendered on the University bells.

The tower was dedicated "in fitting memory to those members of the Morehead and Patterson families who have from the foundation of this University been associated with its activities as trustees, teachers or students." Their names are inscribed on plaques placed throughout the arcade of the tower, and are also engraved on the bells themselves.

Memorial Art Collection, Loaned N.C. Paintings, Prince Portraits Are Features Of Planetarium

By John V. Allcott

"The Morehead Building. . . dedicated to the enlightenment of all people through the Arts and Sciences. . ." These words in bronze just inside the entrance are the first things that a visitor to the Morehead Planetarium sees upon entering the building. This theme is carried out by several art displays throughout the newly-constructed planetarium.

Gallery Has 11 Paintings

The Genevieve B. Morehead Memorial Art Gallery, the circular and central room on the main floor, contains 11 portraits. In the two rooms flanking this central room are shown paintings loaned by North Carolinians and in the faculty lounge are a series of portraits of University professors and presidents done by William Meade Prince.

Named in honor of Mr. Morehead's late wife, The Genevieve B. Morehead Memorial Art Gallery is a somber and darkened room and carries out the memorial idea. A heavy colonnade encircles the gallery and the 11 portraits are hung between the columns on the circular walls. Placed opposite the main entrance is a painting of Mrs. Morehead by Arthur L. Halmi in 1924. Other portraits in the gallery represent 17th and 18th century Europe, in addition to several 19th century American works.

Four Dutch Paintings

Four of the paintings are by Dutch artists of the 17th century and give an idea of portrait painting in Holland about the time of Rembrandt. These paintings are: Portrait of a Lady by Jan Anthonisz Van Ravesteyn (1572-1657); Portrait of Paulus van Beresteyn by Michiel Jansz Van Mierevelt (1567-1641); Portrait of Liesbeth van Rijn, sister of Rembrandt Van Rijn (1606-1669) and painted by him about 1632, and The Scribe by Aart De Gelder (1645-1727).

Several of the paintings represent British portrait painting in the late 18th and early 19th centuries. One of these is of James Watt, who was the son of Agnes Morehead Watt, and an ancestor of Mr. Morehead. This painting was modeled after a portrait by Sir William Beechey. Other works representing this time are a Portrait of John Andrew MacDonnel Bonar, painted in 1920 by Sir Henry Raeburn (1756-1823), and a portrait by the German, Johann Tischbein (1751-1829).

Americans Represented

The last three paintings in the Gallery are by American artists

(See WORKS, page 3)

Morehead Building Is Cultural Experience

Planetarium Will Feature Theater, Art Gallery, Exhibition Lounges

By Jack English

Today when the Morehead Planetarium officially becomes the property of the people of North Carolina, the University will become the prond possessor of one of the most beautiful and nuusual buildings in the South, if not the nation.

The Planetarium, which is the first to be built at a university site in this country, was built at a cost of over $3,000,000 through the generosity of John Motley Morehead.

As visitors enter through the west entrance of the building they will pass through a six columned arch into the lobby, which is floored in white marble.

Rotunda Is Striking

Directly beyond the lobby is the most striking room in the installation—the rotunda. This circular room, panelled in walnut, is surrounded by 16 columns of Ozark Formoza marble set about three feet from the walls. To the right of the entrance, a great clock swings its pendulum majestically.

To the left of the entrance an English-made barometer matches the size of the clock within its niche in the walls. The instrument is an aneroid and is one of the largest of this type ever built. Both clock and barometer faces are encircled by ornamental bronze annular bands decorated by the zodiac signs as executed by Ricci.

Mrs. Morehead's Paintings

About the walls of the rotunda hang paintings by famous artists, including the portrait of Mrs. John M. Morehead by Halmi, Rembrant Van Ryan's portrait of his sister, and the porthole portrait of George Washington by Peale. The paintings formed the private collection of the late Mrs. Morehead.

To the left and right of the rotunda are other exibition rooms. These rooms are hung with famous paintings loaned by North Carolinians to provide a floating exhibition. In the North room hangs a Bruxelles tapestry which was woven about 1720 and is one of the famous series of nine that depict the adventures of Telemachus. It once belonged to Augustus the Strong of Saxony and Poland.

Downstairs, two more exhibition halls on the north and south sides of the planetarium hold models of the planets made to their true relative sizes. There is an unusual painting of a complete solar eclipse, and a number of early instruments originally in use in an observatory on the campus from 1831 to 1835.

Between the two exhibition rooms is the Copernican orrery. Within the orrery the six classical planets, ending with Saturn, are represented with the sun in the center of its system. Tracks are laid in the ceiling, and each planet has its own driving motor, so geared as to propel the planet at the proper relative speed around its own track, meanwhile picking up power from troley, strips attached between the rails of the track.

Year In 12 Minutes

While the spectators watch from the floor below, the planets revolve and circle about the sun in the center at such a rate that a year passes in 12 minutes.

From the orrery and the model exhibition halls, a long corridor extends along the north side of the basement level. Wall cases in the walls hold more models and pictures of meteor craters and fragments of meteors.

At the east end of the planetarium's first level is the main entrance of green leathered doors which leads into the heart of the building—the Planetarium Projector Room. To the left of this impressive entrance is the ticket office. A charge of 38c for adults and 18c for children under 12 has had to be levied, according to the Director, Dr. Roy Marshall, for maintenance of the building. The entrance fees were necessary in line with the idea that the building would be largely self-sustaining.

The public will not be allowed to enter the planetarium proper through those magnificent green leather doors, however, Dr. Marshall said. Only in emergencies will they be used.

This nerve center of the planetarium is dominated by the giant, 15-foot, Zeiss instrument, known as the Planetarium Projector, and the white, perforated, steel dome which is 68 feet in diameter.

About the cyclorama at just above eye level, the steel of the base of the dome is actually cut

(See PLANETARIUM, page 4)

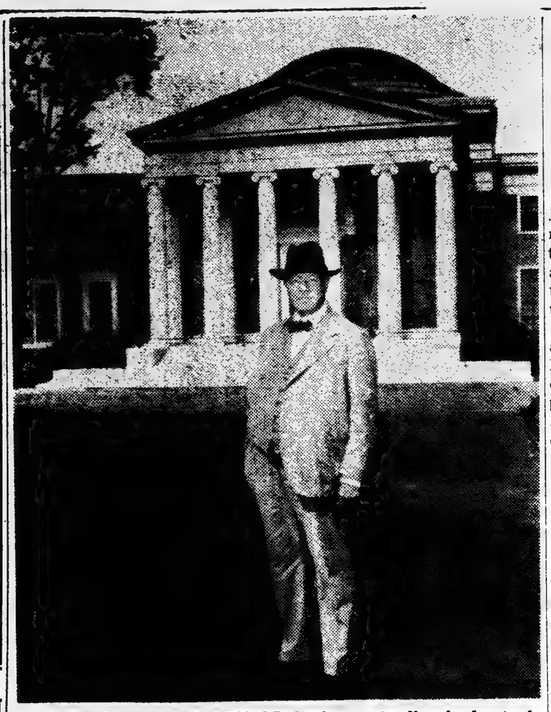
Special Show Will Be Given To Six Groups

Faculty, Press Get Star Preview Sunday

Dr. Roy K. Marshall, director of the Morehead Planetarium, announced a schedule of special performances for the new $3,000,000 University project yesterday.

Marshall said that a demonstration was given Saturday night for faculty members, and a second preview held Sunday afternoon for members of the North Carolina press and radio and for an invited list of approximately 60 students.

Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, a special show will be given for members of the University staff, not including the faculty. This show is to be repeated Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock and possibly again Saturday, if the demand warrants.



Two or three demonstrations will be conducted on Thursday after noon for ministers from all over North Carolina with some 1,500 expected to come to Chapel Hill to witness the show in the South's first planetarium.

Approximately 150 girl scouts are to attend the Saturday afternoon performance.

Congratulations
MR. MOREHEAD
for CAROLINA'S new PLANETARIUM
from
JOHNSON - STROWD - WARD
Furniture Company
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

means beauty
•
knowledge
•
opportunity
•
congratulatoins
from
VILLAGE PHARMACY CO.

JOHN MOTLEY MOREHEAD is shown standing in front of the $3,000,000 planetarium and building which he will present to the University in formal ceremonies this afternoon.

'It's Yours,' Asserts Building's Donor

By Margaret Gaston

"Consider it your own," were John Motley Morehead's sentiments when some students thanked him for the Planetarium and Art Gallery, after he had taken them on a tour through the building.

The students, looking rather amazed, thanked him again, and left with the feeling that they owned, at least in spirit, the only planetarium in the South, as well as the only one owned by an educational institution.

Class Of 1891

The jovial man, who says that "the very busy are the only ones that have time to do things," is a member of the University class of 1891, an internationally known industrialist, engineer, scientist, philanthropist and former Minister to Sweden.

He is one of the University's most distinguished sons and the scion of one of the State's oldest and foremost families of builders.

An ex-President of the University Alumni Association, Morehead makes his home in Rye, N. Y., but is a native of Spray, N. C. He is the grandson and namesake of the first John Motley Morehead, twice Governor of North Carolina, known as the "father of modern North Carolina."

Morehead first discussed plans for a building with former President Frank Graham in 1938. He said he wanted to give the University something that the Legislature would not, and something that would be of lasting interest and add to the public service of the University. He said he felt a deep sense of gratitude toward the University, for it was in the chemistry laboratory here that he and Francis Preston Venable, later president of the University, discovered calcium carbide and acetylene, while Morehead was a student.

When Morehead was Minister to Sweden, he heard that the rare Zeiss Planetarium instrument could be bought, and, after looking into the matter, decided to buy it immediately and have it brought back to the States. That was four years ago. He said the Royal Astronomical Society at Stockholm, Sweden, wanted to rent the instrument from him for a year, but he said no. "I was afraid the Russians might get it," he added.

Morehead, who served on the Board of Trustees of the Hayden Planetarium in New York at the time of its erection, will be chairman of the new Foundation set up to administer his three-million-dollar gift.

The philanthropist said he would not be in Chapel Hill much of the time, but that he would lead some men in charge of the "Morehead Scholarships." The scholarships, he said, will be awarded on the basis of demonstrated capability and leadership and promise of future distinction, similar to the Rhodes schorlarships of England.

This is not the first beneficance as he was the co-doner of the Morehead-Patterson Memorial Bell Tower and chimes in 1931. He also presented a set of chimes to one of the local churches.

Chief of the chemical research for Union Carbide for many years, he is the holder of many patents on improvements in electric furnaces, and he is still, at the advanced but active age of 75, one of the nation's most noted research chemists and consulting engineers.

Morehead has one great weakness, and that is for clocks. This is evidenced by the amazing clock in the rotunda, but also by his own personal pocket watch. This watch has 720 different combinations of time, and even has a small alarm attachment in it. He had the Planetarium clock built with the unique feature of having a different cathedral chime for every day in the week.

Marshall Knows Stars; Will Make Study Easy

"We can do here anything worthwhile done at any planetarium, and we can do it better!"

Those are the words of a man who knows what he is talking about, knows he knows it, and doesn't lose any opportunity to let his listeners know it—Dr. Roy Kenneth Marshall, new director of the University's $3,000,000 Morehead Planetarium.

Pleasant For Laymen

"We're not going to peddle pap or talk baby talk," Dr. Marshall continued. "But we're going to make it pleasant for laymen to learn things they would turn their noses up at if it were offered to them in dry lecture form."

Dr. Marshall, a 41-year-old, five-foot ten-inch, well-built man with dark hair streaked with gray and a small gray mustache, is one of two men in the world outside of employees of the Zeiss Optical Company in Germany who have ever assembled a planetarium instrument.

Jenzano, Chief Assistant

The other man is Tony Jenzano, superintendant of the planetarium building and Marshall's right-hand man, who helped the well-known former director of Philadelphia's Fels Planetarium dismantle and reassemble the local planetarium when a bearing deep in the delicate Zeiss mechanism jammed and had to be replaced.

"I hope some day," Dr. Marshall said "that we can dispel the myth of German superiority in mechanics. Assembling the planetarium is merely a packing job—a job of assembling known elements into a working machine."

Began In 1932

Dr. Marshall began his professional career lecturing in the Adler Planetarium in Chicago in 1932. He left Alder in 1934 and did research work at the Harvard Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., until 1935, when he took over a teaching job at Wilson College in Chambersburg, Pa., where he taught astronomy and mathematics to nothing but girls.

"I can't see these girls, schools," he pointed out. A man with the true Carolina male's attitude, he prefers co-educational schools where the "ratio between men and women is equal."

In 1939, Dr. Marshall went to the Fels Planetarium in Philadelphia, where he served as assistant director until 1945, when he took over as director, a job he held until the first of this year when he came to Chapel Hill.

DR. ROY K. MARSHALL

Shortly after he became the Fels director, he was handed the job of science editor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, a post he still holds. Another piece of outside work he continues doing is a weekly television show over the NBC network. He flies east every Monday to do the show, entitled "The Nature of Things." And the versatile Morehead Planetarium director does a good bit of writing for professional and semi-professional journals in his field.

Aided In War Effort

During the war, Dr. Marshall worked for the National Defense Research Council, designing airborne fire-control apparatus. He won the Naval Ordinance Development award in 1945 for his service.

Dr. Marshall was born in 1907 in Glen Carbon, Ill., "an almost non-existent coal-mining town." He was raised in Lebanon, Ohio, and went to Ohio Wesleyan where he received his A. B. degree in 1929 in mathematics and physics, with a minor in astronomy. He took his M. A. (1930) and his Ph.D (1932) in astronomy at the University of Michigan.

Has Three Sons

He married Mrs. Marshall, a native of Chicago, in 1934 and has three sons, Roy, Jr., 12, John, 7, and Bruce, 5. Mrs. Marshall, John and Bruce are in Narberth, Pa., waiting for the head of the family to fix up a new home here and send for them. Marshall and Roy, Jr., are here, living at the Carolina Inn.

Dr. Marshall said he will move into the Harold Myers home at the intersection of Pittsboro Road and Westwood Drive before long, and will bring his family to Chapel Hill to settle. His new home, he brags, "has 54 dogwood trees."

How does Dr. Marshall like Dixie after his life in the east?

"It's my first experience in the South," the director of the $3,000,000 planetarium said, "and I certainly like the people down here.

"I've cast my lot in the South, and I hope to stay around for awhile."

Good Wishes
To
The
MOREHEAD PLANETARIUM
And
The
MOREHEAD ART GALLERY
—★—
AGGIE'S
E. FRANKLIN ST.

Congratulations
To The
G. MOREHEAD ART GALLERY
For Its Advancement
Of
ART and BEAUTY
Best Wishes
From
LLOYD - RAY Hardware Co.
CARRBORO, N. C.

SEVENTH in the WORLD
the
MOREHEAD PLANETARIUM
grand opening May 10
Congratulations
From
CAROLINA SPORT SHOP
E. FRANKLIN ST.

CRISP, NEW and FRESH ON OUR CAMPUS
Are The
MOREHEAD PLANETARIUM
And The
MOREHEAD ART GALLERY
Welcome!
May You Continue To Help Keep The Spirit
Of
CAROLINA'S LIBERAL EDUCATION
Congratulations
From
UNIVERSITY CLEANERS
E. FRANKLIN ST.

CONGRATULATIONS
To The UNIVERSITY
And STATE of NORTH CAROLINA
On Their
New and Beautiful Addition
—★—
The
MOREHEAD PLANETARIUM
From
CAROLINA BARBER SHOP
E. FRANKLIN ST.

CONGRATULATIONS
Chapel Hill-U.N.C.-State of N.C.
On The Opening Of
Morehead Planetarium
A Project Long Needed
And A Credit To The State
Robbins
House of Fashion
Soon We Will Be Opening
A Fashion Center
in
CHAPEL HILL
For The Convenience of Chapel Hill
And U.N.C. Students
We Hope We Can Do This Store Justice
In Beauty And Appointments So That You Can Feel As Proud As
You Do Now over The
MOREHEAD PLANETARIUM

ANOTHER STEP FORWARD
Congratulations To The University
The Morehead Planetarium Is A Great Forward Step For North Carolina And Its University. Sincere Thanks To Mr. Morehead For Such A Generous Gift.

We Are Proud To Have Furnished The LUMBER
For This Project
GOLDSTON LUMBER COMPANY
PHONE F-3911 CARRBORO, N. C.

NORTH CAROLINA is Enriched Today By Two Gifts
The J. M. Morehead Planetarium for the study of the heavens
The G. Morehead Art Gallery for a study of paintings and fine arts
These will render great service to
The State, its people and its students
U.N.C. we salute you!
—★—
"Your General Motors Dealer"
HAZZARD MOTOR CO.
W. FRANKLIN ST. PHONE F-491

THE STUDY

Of The
SOLAR SYSTEM
Is Our Project
At The
MOREHEAD
PLANETARIUM
Congratulations
From CASTON
Motor Company
W. FRANKLIN ST.

MOREHEAD
PLANETARIUM
Congratulations
To
MR. MOREHEAD
The Uni. of N. C.
For Another Step
In Better Education
For The South
From Campus Cafe
Andrew's
Restaurant

AMONG THE PORTRAITS hanging in the Genevieve B. Morehead Memorial Art Gallery are these three portraits shown on this page. The portrait above is of Mrs. Morehead, painted in 1924 by Arthur L. Halmi. On the right are portraits of Martha and George Washington painted by Rembrandt Peale (1778-1860).

A STEP AHEAD
A tremendous stride in the progress of the South is taken today with the opening of the
MOREHEAD
PLANETARIUM
Congrats!
LACOCK'S
Shoe Shop
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

The Dedication
Today of The
MOREHEAD
PLANETARIUM
Is A Stride
Forward For
NORTH CAROLINA
And The
UNITED STATES
Toward A Land
Of Wider And Freer Education
Congratulation
U.N.C
For Helping To Show
The World The Way
Chapel Hill
Cleaners
W. FRANKLIN ST

Works of British, American, Dutch Artists Are on Display

(Continued from Page 1)

of the first half of the 19th century. There is a George Washington and a Martha Washington, done by Rembrandt Peale (1778-1860). These circular shaped "port-hole" canvasses were done by Peale to satisfy the demand for portraits of the Washingtons. The third painting is of John Bigelow, by Charles Loring Elliott (1812-1868).

An 18th century Brussels tapestry representing Venus appealing to Neptune to preserve Telemachus' ships is hung in an adjacent room. Although other objects from Mrs. Morehead's collection are not shown at present, it is expected that they will be displayed in the future.

Paintings Loaned

